

Here In HICO

Opening the mail of a morning sometimes develops into the most interesting talk of the day. Here in Hico, where the M-K-T railroad is the main means of mail transportation, and where the officials of that good road have seen fit to sneak all (both) their trains into town during the dark hours of the night, we receive mail only once a day. This at times seems a disadvantage, but after much thought and effort on the part of the Lions Club and the citizenship in general has been to no avail toward increasing the frequency of mail arrivals, we have just about gotten to the point where we are willing to accept what we get, and let it go at that.

One prominent business man of a nearby town slightly smaller than Hico gets the prize in our estimation for the philosophical way he accepts the condition, while it is our understanding that he is not against any plan that will give us better mail service, he is quoted as saying that the present system is best—that all the mail arrives in one lot early in the morning, and that he can sit at his desk in the cool part of the day and dig through it without interruption—and then that if he wants to get out of his place of business for the rest of the day he is free to do so. How's that for optimism and satisfaction?

As we started to say, opening the mail is an interesting task to this writer. Here are two letters that will receive our immediate attention. They have a familiar look that past experience leads us to believe they contain checks from foreign advertisers. Let's see, we were right. That is sufficient encouragement to carry us through the heat of the day. Readers of the News Review have probably noticed good-sized advertisements from Ford, Chevrolet, The Texas Company, the Gulf Refining Company, Sargon, Konjola, Southern Union Gas Company, Texas Louisiana patrons of country newspapers. As may have been guessed, these accounts are highly valued, and every effort is made to see that their money is well spent. When we get their remittances, we are reminded of the fact that advertising must pay, else these national advertisers would not be spending good money with us.

Here in Hico is not inclined to be mercenary in any sense of the word, but here are two more letters that bring joy to newspaper hearts. Two good subscribers sending in their remittances for subscriptions—several weeks before it is due.

Little personal mail that is quickly gone through, then two or three letters from good friends telling of some item of news within their knowledge which might escape our notice had they not called same to our attention. One carries good news concerning "seche", telling of additional credits granted. A letter from the Bureau of Vital Statistics urging cooperation of newspaper editors in efforts to get vital statistics work started in Texas. There is not a day passes but what we are solicited for cooperation in getting some item of public interest before the public. All too often there is a "nigger in the woodpile" especially at this time of the year when the political waters are stirred up as they are. We have had our turn at "saving the country" however, and refuse to get excited about alleged bad conditions of the government, national, or local. We don't mean that we are not interested in these things, but we do refuse to try to cram our personal views down the throats of our readers—as it were. You vote for your man and we'll try to take care of ours.

By this time the daily mail has about lost its interest for us. All that is left is direct-by-mail solicitation by someone who wants us to buy something (we make our purchases from newspaper advertisers), free publicity of various sorts, and letters telling us how to run a newspaper. We appreciate the fact that those sending the letters thought enough of us to waste two cents in stamps, but submit the proposition of newspaper advertising for their approval. A few Good Samaritans have plans whereby they will do all the editing required of an ordinary weekly paper, and all the editor has to do under their plan is to come down Saturday afternoons and take the Ghost for a walk. Sounds interesting when the thermometer is hovering around a hundred, but for our part we'll just keep on plugging the old-fashioned way.

Tramp: Just my luck, lady, I'm left-handed.

Additional Credit Given Work At Hico High School

C. G. Masterson, Superintendent of the Hico Public Schools for the past five years, and elected to serve again next year, is now in Austin assisting the Dean of Student Life at the University in chaperoning a boy's fraternity. A letter received from him the first of the week carried good news concerning Hico school work. He said in part:

"A letter forwarded from Hico to me here which came from the State Department of Education stated that we were given the entrance credit in Biology this year. Mr. Freeman deserves all the credit for this. Under his teachings we have played American History and Biology on the list of accredited subjects. Effort was made for several years to raise the History to standard work, but Mr. Freeman had to make only one effort. Somehow he gets the work out of his students. He is a conscientious, hard-working teacher, an expert on electricity, but modest of his own ability and accomplishments." Mr. Masterson had he not been so modest himself, might have gone a little further in his comments and added that a great work was being done up there on the hill by everyone concerned with school affairs, under his leadership. Hico High School now has twenty affiliated credits, distributed as follows:

- English 4.
 - Mathematics 4.
 - History and Social Science 4.
 - Latin and Spanish, 2 each.
- During his five years at Hico Mr. Masterson has been instrumental in adding five units to the affiliated credits. He and his co-workers are on the job in school affairs, criticisms from some patrons to the contrary notwithstanding. Any student who wants a good elementary schooling can get it at home, but he has to work and not play.

The school's affairs are in the best shape imaginable. We are informed that the finances are adequate, far above the average. The work is lined up in an intelligent way, and the teachers work together in a way that is unusual. Mr. Masterson has the unique faculty of mapping out a program of progress and getting that program carried out. He is well versed in school affairs, and at the same time finds time to mingle with the patrons and discuss matters freely with them, in this way making a harmony which is essential to progress.

Cards Being Sent For Reporting of Vital Statistics

The Bureau of Vital Statistics at Washington, D. C. writes the News Review asking our aid in getting their work before the public. A sample card is sent, and it is stated that like cards will be distributed to every family in Texas. It is requested that each family in which a birth or death has occurred during the past year fill out the card and mail it promptly. Special stress is laid upon the fact that it is desired that cards be filled out and returned even though the family knows the birth or death has already been registered.

The letter from the Bureau of the Census follows: "The importance of birth and death registration is now universally recognized. Vital records have become indispensable to the adjustment of problems involving heredity, legitimacy, property rights, and identity. In certain of our states and territories, the question of citizenship registration, however, is accomplished wholly through the cooperation of the states in furnishing transcripts of their records to the Bureau of the Census the Federal Government paying for the transcripts at an established rate.

"Texas and South Dakota are the only states not now included in the Federal Registration Area. This Bureau is now making tests to determine whether birth and death registration is sufficiently complete to justify the admission of these states into the Area. Post cards like the postmasters in the state who will see that they are distributed to all the private homes.

"To insure a large proportion of returns, it is earnestly requested that the public realize to the importance of the work. In this way you will render a valuable service to the state of Texas and to the Federal Government.

Guy Wallace, Dallas, cashier of a Dallas music store was relieved of $422 Tuesday by a lone holdup man, when he said he was alone counting the money. He looked up to find a pistol pointed at him by the man who addressing him said: "I'll take that, buddy." Wallace was marched to the rear of the store and forced to stand with his face to the wall while the robber backed out and made his getaway.

Lions of Group 40 Meet With Hico Club In Golf Tournament and Banquet

Last Thursday, June 19th, was a big day for Lions of this district, and especially for Hico Lions, when the latter had the honor of entertaining the various clubs comprising Group 40 of the State organization.

Entertainment in abundance was furnished, beginning in the afternoon with a golf tournament at the Bluebonnet Country Club grounds, followed by a banquet at 8:30 and finished off with a very enjoyable program furnished by local talent.

In the golf tournament, to which representatives from Lions Clubs in this district had been invited, two silver loving cups were given, one for the best score by an individual player, and another for the best score turned in by a club. H. N. Wolfe of the Hico Club got his clubs in action and kept the individual cup at home, turning in an extra good score. The Hamilton Club won the club trophy.

At 8:30 the five Lions Clubs in Group 40 met in the clubhouse at the Bluebonnet Country Club, with Group Chairman B. J. Pittman of De Leon presiding. In the absence of Group Chairman J. B. Tate, local Lion Secretary, E. H. Persons, of the Hico Club served as Secretary of the meeting. When the meeting was called to order, it was found that there were present six Lions from Comanche, four from DeLeon, eleven from Hamilton, eighteen from Hico and one from Stephenville.

An excellent dinner had been prepared at the hands of the ladies of the Hico Baptist Church, and there was more than enough for all present. Plates had been set for eighty, but owing to a combination of circumstances the attendance fell far below that number. It was a real old-fashioned square meal, augmented by many delicacies which added to the enjoyment of the occasion. The only regret was that there were not Lions enough present to enjoy all the excellent edibles the ladies had prepared.

Entertainment before, during and after the banquet was furnished by local talent, who put on a program that would do justice to professionals. The Lions Club Orchestra, directed by M. L. Knott, was on hand, and their selections throughout the evening were very much enjoyed.

Other numbers on the program included a cornet solo by Miss Mary Brown, a vocal duet by Miss Jean and Jane Wolfe, a reading by Miss Jane Wolfe, a three-minute talk by Lion W. W. Nance of DeLeon and cowboy songs and readings by Bob Knott. Music for the evening was furnished by Mrs. C. L. Woodward at the piano, who was also in charge of the smaller children on the program. She had arranged a well-balanced program, and saw that it was carried out to perfection.

Upon conclusion of the banquet, a general discussion of the benefits of Lions Clubs personally to the members and to their several communities was had.

It being the general understanding that a regrouping of clubs in Group 40 will soon be made, it was decided that the election of group officers should be deferred to the time of the next group meeting, hence no nominations were offered and no nominating committee was named.

Comanche and Hamilton were placed in nomination for the next group meeting with the result that Comanche received 23 votes and Hamilton received 16 votes. It was accordingly decided that the next group meeting shall be held with the Comanche Lions Club at such time and place as that club may hereafter designate.

Although it was rather disappointing that a representative number from all the towns could not be present, the club adjourned with the feeling of good fellowship strengthened, and it was the common opinion that Hico had taken care of the meeting in a most pleasing manner.

The guest register showed the following towns represented:

- De Leon: B. J. Pittman, W. W. Nance Sr., W. E. Howell Sr., F. T. Daniell; Hamilton: H. M. Fisher, Chas. Eck, C. B. James, A. J. Koen, Floyd Campbell, B. D. Curran, A. D. Foster, S. H. Clark, W. E. Meichner; Comanche: Geo. B. Black, W. P. Puckett, J. L. Brazelore, W. H. Rowland, Chas. H. Hoffman, A. D. Barnes; Stephenville: Fred L. Wolfe; Hico: J. C. Barrow, J. W. Richebourg, J. D. Currie, C. A. Thies, H. E. McCullough, H. Smith, H. C. Sadler, Earl R. Lynch, H. N. Wolfe, E. H. Elkins, E. F. Porter, H. F. Sellers, A. A. Brown, E. H. Persons, L. L. Hudson, Jack Leeth, Henry A. Wieser (a guest), T. A. Duncan, A. I. Pirtle (a guest), W. E. Petty.

Old-Timer Who Was Born Here Enjoys Birthday

Z. H. Medford, "Uncle Zach" as he is affectionately known in and around Hico, passed his seventy-third milestone on life's voyage Tuesday, June 24th. It was a quiet affair for Uncle Zach, and he did not go out of the way to celebrate the occasion, but did state afterward that the good eats prepared for him that day had had their effect and that he was afraid he indulged a little too heartily in same. However there were no serious results, and he seemed to have enjoyed the birthday to the utmost, especially the remembrances and kind words from friends and relatives.

The News Review editor met Uncle Zach shortly after coming to Hico, and was surprised to learn his age, judging him to be at least ten and maybe twenty years younger than he really is. He is spry as a kitten, and gets around better than many men half his age. It is always a pleasure to us to talk with him, as he is a very interesting character.

One of the most unique things about his life, to us, is the fact that he was born right here in Hico. Seventy-three years ago last Tuesday he first saw the light of this world, having been born in the southwest part of what is now the town of Hico. His father settled at the place where J. P. Rodgers Sr. now lives, in 1852, and Uncle Zach has lived in and around Hico since the time of his birth.

There has been a great change in this country during Mr. Medford's time. We could go into details on that subject and make a long article, but will let Mr. Medford tell about it in his own way, having obtained the following statement from him: "Today, Tuesday June 24, is my 73rd birthday. I was born in the year of 1857, where the town of Hico now stands. I have lived all my life, in and around Hico. There have been many changes in all these 73 years. I was born among the wild Indians, wild turkeys, antelope, buffalo and wild deer. I often wonder if our younger generation appreciated us old timers who blazed the trails for them.

"In these years I've seen many improvements. Saw the town when it started and watched its growth and development and its many improvements. "I have lived to see electricity, telephones, automobiles, airplanes and radio all come into use, and its quite different from the transportation that we used in earlier times, when we had to go to Beaumont after our flour in an ox wagon.

"I remember when my uncle was killed and scalped by the Indians on Blue Ridge in Hamilton County. I will guarantee that I can get on a horse. Rope and tie down a yearling quicker than any man within ten years of my age."

Miss Carmen Shelton, accompanied by W. W. Nance Jr., of DeLeon spent Sunday in Cisco.

Miniature Course Attracts Golfers, Prizes Awarded

The miniature golf course north of the News Review office which was recently opened by Messrs. Cheek and Brown, is drawing crowds from miles around to engage in this fascinating sport that is sweeping the country. Opening night was held last Friday, June 20, at which time several prizes were awarded.

H. E. McCullough, one of the best south-paw golfers in this part of the country, conquered "Mr. Par" opening night, turning in a score of 39 to win the box of cigars offered for low score for men.

Mrs. Mary Olson set a fast pace for the ladies with a 49, to win the silk hose given for the best score for the ladies.

Miss Zella Mirn Duncan won low score for the girls by shooting a 52. She was awarded a box of candy.

Jack Vickrey set a fast pace for the boys by shooting a 41 to win the tie given for low score for the boys.

Many Hico Stores Will Close Friday To Observe Fourth

A petition was circulated Thursday of this week, asking for signatures of those who would close their places of business on July Fourth, next Friday, and a representative number of Hico merchants signified their intentions of so doing.

The list was not complete at the time we go to press, but a majority of those seen were in favor of the plan, and it is probable that the entire business section will take off that day for celebration.

No program has been planned locally, and it is supposed that it will be a day of rest more than anything else.

Citizens of Hico and community are requested to take notice of the closing date, and lay in their supplies ahead of time, as there will be no inconvenience to the public if foresight is exercised.

Prizes Offered For Best Floats During Reunion

According to Manager S. J. Cheek, great plans are being made for this year's Hico Reunion, which will be the 48th time this affair has been held.

Among other features, the parade on the opening day will be one of the main points of interest. Prizes are being offered for the best decorated cars in the parade, as follows: $12.50 for the best decorated car from Hico, and $12.50 for the best decorated car from any community of town outside Hico. It is expected that there will be several entrants from the outlying communities, according to Mr. Cheek, and several are already making their plans to take a fling at the prize money.

A committee is in charge of getting speakers for the Reunion, headed by Lawrence Lane as chairman, who will be assisted by Supt. C. G. Masterson and Mayor J. C. Barrow. This being election year, it is thought that there will be several prominent men available for the occasion, and when the committee makes its selection visitors will probably have an opportunity to hear a very prominent man and maybe several of them.

The tire covers which were ordered some time ago have arrived, and are now decorating several cars. They are very beautiful pieces of work, and help in no little way in keeping the Reunion and the dates before the people of this section.

Already great plans are being made for the 7th, 8th and 9th of August, which will be an occasion for renewing friendships and making new acquaintances among the thousands who will be in attendance at Hico's 48th annual Reunion.

MRS. W. A. GUINN OF BLACK STUMP VALLEY PROFITS BY COW DAY

An unusually large crowd was in Hico Wednesday, June 25th, the occasion being the regular monthly Cow Day sponsored by the Hico Lions Club and cooperating merchants.

Mrs. W. A. Guinn of the Black Stump Valley community bought the 14-months old Jersey Heifer for $1.00.

Other premiums distributed by merchants consisted of stock powder, water, jug, silk hose, Wesson Oil set, can of coffee, percolator and fruit jars.

Don't Neglect to Keep Your Home Paper Coming On

The other day a visitor in the News Review office asked us about something or other that we thought he ought to know already, as we had carried a news item about it in the paper. Upon close questioning, however, he admitted that he did not take the paper, having let his subscription run out and failing to renew. Now he had gotten out of the habit of reading anything, and for that reason was not informed on many things that were happening around him. He apologized and repented, stating that he would not let it happen again.

The point we want to bring out is that you should be careful not to let the same thing happen to you. If it is necessary for us to make the rounds every few weeks and remind our readers that their subscription is due, we will do it. But the way most of them come in with their money or send it in seems to indicate that this will be hardly necessary.

H. D. Knight, Route 2, Hico, was in Saturday two weeks ago to renew their subscription. He spent a short time with us watching the job press and the linotype in operation, and seemed to think they performed miraculously. Mr. Knight was of the optimistic type, saying everything out their way looked "fine" only a little dry.

W. S. Patterson, Route 2, Hico, was in two Saturdays back and subscribed for the News Review. He said grain in their community was cut and would be ready to thresh the coming week. As the paper had not come to them in quite a while, he said they wanted it.

H. E. Wilson, Fairly, Route 1, sent his subscription in last week by W. E. Goynne who represents us at Fairly in no uncertain manner.

Mrs. Jim McAnelly at Wilson, Texas, twelve miles west of Post, will be a reader of the News Review for the next twelve months. Her father, J. J. Leeth, dropped in last week and gave us the money to pay for same, saying that his daughter would probably find lots of good home news to read. We hope conditions permit the Golden Wedding Celebration here that is planned for July, provided sickness in the family is over by that time.

Miss Juanita Blackburn, 2363 New York Ave., Fort Worth, sends a check for $1.50 with the request that we enter her name on our subscription list for a year. Her letter is written on stationery of the Exide Battery Station of Fort Worth, and her neat typing indicates that she holds an important position at that place. She was bookkeeper here for the Pirle Poultry & Egg Co. for sometime before moving with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Blackburn, to Fort Worth about two years ago.

R. A. Herrington, who gets his mail on Route 6, but who lives just beyond the city park around the turn, was in Saturday and renewed. He operates a grocery and filling station at the intersection of the Fairly and Hamilton roads, and was having us print him some stationery. We appreciate the subscription, as well as the job work.

Mrs. Vivian Haines of 2122 Browder St., Dallas, a sister of Mrs. Ed Ford, will receive the News Review at her address for a few months.

J. W. Wright of Caddo was in Friday morning and subscribed for the paper. He was reared here, and formerly lived in Hico, being a brother of Rucker and Jim D. Wright.

O. N. Lackey, Conway, Arkansas, sent $1.50 back to Hico by his brother, John Lackey, when the latter and his wife returned from a visit with him. John stated that his brother and sister, Miss Defie, enjoyed the News Review very much as they were reared here. They are well pleased with their new home at Conway. Mr. Lackey is teaching there.

M. J. Chaney, Hico Route 5, while in Hico for Cow Day, called in at the News Review office and gave us a dollar to mark his time up another year.

Baxter Orr, Idalou, Texas, out in Lubbock County, will keep up with Hico and Hamilton County during the coming year, since his father-in-law, Walter Lafon, subscribed for the News Review this week. Mr. Lafon was down here on a visit with old friends, of which he has many in this county, and we enjoyed a visit from him. He returned to Idalou, where he is at present making his home with his children. He reports Mr. Orr doing well and liking his West Texas home fine.

Mrs. Wilburn Sanders and children of Waco were here over the week end visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James M. Phillips.

Miss Margaret Mingus of the John Sealy Hospital, Galveston, and Dr. James Banknight of Wichita, Kansas, are guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Mingus.

In order to obtain this distinction, it is necessary for the student to make an average grade of 85 to 90 or better on all courses and examinations.

Having been buried alive for more than an hour, a baby girl, only several hours old, was rescued Tuesday from a hole near Fabens, in which two unidentified Mexican women are believed to have placed her. The child was very weak when taken from a sack but was carried to a hospital and later seemed none the worse for the experience. Children saw the women digging in a canal bank about noon and informed their father, who heard muffled wails saw fresh earth and found the baby.

An unidentified man, said to be a "hitch-hiker," was killed and four persons including two girls were injured when an automobile truck was struck by a Cotton Belt Railway passenger train in Fort Worth Tuesday afternoon. J. W. Cruise, De Leon, suffered internal injuries and his son-in-law, Robert Hammett, received cuts on the head and bruises. Cruise and Hammett had started to Oklahoma to secure work. They had picked up the "hitch-hiker" and later picked up the girls who were walking on the highway.

Quick thinking by Frank Morris, Lamesa mechanic, probably saved the life of Dyle K. Whitmer, Monday when the child fell from the third-story window of the court house. Morris caught the child's clothing as it fell toward a cement sidewalk and broke the fall. The little boy's arm was broken and he may have concussions, doctors said.

64-Year Old Man Makes Record In Chevrolet Drive

Chicago, Ill.—An outstanding achievement of the current motoring season was recorded here recently with the arrival of J. M. Griffith from Mexico City, in 138 hours of running time, in a 1922 Chevrolet touring car with five passengers.

Although nearing 64, Mr. Griffith drove every inch of the distance himself. After stopping off here two weeks, he proceeded to Detroit where he inspected several automobile plants and the General Motors proving ground, and then was impatient to be off on the trip home to resume his occupation as mechanical engineer.

Leaving Mexico City on April 30, the party covered the 929 miles to the Border, crossed at Laredo, and proceeded to Chicago and Detroit with no mishaps other than two stop-overs, one for tire repairs and one, at San Antonio, for carbon removal and replacement of three exhaust valves in the eight year old car. The log of the trip, as reported by Mr. Griffith, provides statistics of interest to those contemplating a lengthy tour this summer:

Distance (Mexico City to Chicago), 2514 miles; running time, 137.5 hours; average speed 18 to 28 miles per hour; gasoline consumption, 96.6 gallons; miles per gallon, 26; cost of gasoline, $33.75; oil and greasing, $6.25; repairs to car, including tire repairs, $11.50. The total cost of transportation, exclusive of meals, hotel expenses personal items, was $51.50, or at the rate of one-third cent a mile for each person in the car. Despite the age of his Chevrolet, Mr. Griffith said that he started on the tour with no doubt as to the venerable old-timer's ability to cover the distance without trouble. In driving around Mexico City, prior to the start of the tour, the car was constantly being called upon to climb mountain passes up to 12,000 feet.

The speedometer had registered 28,000 kilometers before leaving Mexico. After spending several days here, following his return from Detroit, Mr. Griffith nosed his car toward the South.

A DESTROYER OF YOUR FINEST WOOLENS

Like the goat, a moth has strange taste, says a local official of the Gulf Refining Company. But unlike the goat, the damage done by moths runs into millions of dollars every year.

Moths hide and breed in dark places. They are voracious eaters of your finest woolens, mohairs, and carpets.

A thorough and thrifty housewife will spray the cupboards, furniture, and carpets thoroughly every month with the modern type of insect spray, developed and marketed by the large oil refining companies during the past three or four years. The better grades of these insect sprays can be easily purchased from your grocer, hardware dealer, or druggist. They are advertised frequently in this paper. Regular spraying will save the new coat and that lovely fur - not to mention your husband's best suits.

LIVESTOCK DOING WELL ACCORDING TO REPORT

Austin, Texas.—General soaking rains followed by improvement in the condition of range animals was the most important development in the live stock situation during May, according to Bernard Nichols, editor of the Texas Business Review, monthly publication of the Bureau of Business Research of the University of Texas.

"Before the rains fell, droughty conditions had assumed such proportions that serious death loss threatened," Mr. Nichols said. "With the rains, ranges improved rapidly and losses were confined largely to calves, lambs and kids, although some mature animals were also lost. At the present time, animals are doing unusually well."

"Cattle ranges on June 1 were rated at 86 per cent of normal by the United States Department of Agriculture. This compares with 77 per cent on May 1 and a five-year average of 88 per cent. Ranges improved very rapidly over the month and are now in the best condition for almost a year. Shipments of cattle fell off sharply, but large numbers were sent to pastures of the State. Out-of-State movement has declined since the rains. Flies and screw worms are causing some trouble in a few areas, but complaints have not yet become general. Range trading in stock animals continues at a standstill.

"Sheep and goats improved some over the month, but despite the improvement, these animals in general are far below the normal condition for this season of the year. The drought coming after a severe winter caused deterioration and considerable death loss among mature animals. "Poultry and dairy markets were rather dull during the month and prices moved slightly lower levels. Production of butter and age holdings of these products continue at record levels. Markets for both live and frozen poultry were dull."

COTTON CO-OPERATIVE ASSOCIATION BEGINS WORK IN EARNEST

With Pat Hooks, Itasca banker and large-scale farmer, heading their district organization, more than 100 communities of Central Texas are beginning work this week to organize for a membership campaign which is expected to enroll more than ten thousand farmers as members for the Waco district of the Texas Cotton Co-operative Association.

At the district meeting in Waco Friday, Lawrence Westbrook, director of organization for the state, said that the "important part of this movement is to turn over a portion of the cotton crop to the Farm Board to be held off the market when there is a surplus. In our selling, we may be able to get the farmer 12-12 cents instead of the 12 cents he might otherwise get. But the farmer is as broke at 12-12 cents as at 12 cents. We must bring about an improvement in price that will be really worth while. If we turn over, for instance, every fourth bale, for the Farm Board to hold off the market as necessary, we should get as much for the three bales we sell as we would otherwise get for the whole four bales. And we would have the fourth bale left, and receive a substantial loan on it."

Judge Arthur R. Eidson, Hamilton, temporary chairman of the organization meeting, urged his audience to forget trivial details. "We must trust to our leadership," he said. "The Farm Board is composed of men who have ability, patriotism and integrity. We can make no mistake in following them."

Cattle Feeding Brings Profit. Colorado—That good beef calves properly fed will make farmers a good market for feed has been demonstrated again by W. R. Justice, Mitchell county farmer, who has completed a demonstration in cooperation with the county agent and reports a return of $47 per ton for ground maize that was worth only $30 to $34 on the local market. Figuring another way, the eight high grade Hereford calves fed four months paid full market price for their feed and returned a net profit of $45.40, in spite of the fact that they were bought on a 11.4 cent market and sold on a 12 cent market.

Profit From Turnips. Center—A row of turnips 160 feet long has netted $2.11 to Hazel Buckner, 4-H home demonstration club girl of Neuville Community, Shelby county. Breaking and planting the ground in February, Hazel is serving her family turnip salad in March, and since then has earned $2 worth and sold $2.10 worth at home. Her expense was $1.99.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

REVIEW-THE LIFE OF CHRIST

Matthew 16-28. Rev. Samuel D. Price, D. D. For six months the lessons have followed through the record of the life of Jesus as given by Matthew. During the past three months the period has been about nine months in length and marked a new method of teaching. Previously public address had been before crowds and many miracles had been wrought as seals upon His teachings. A new method followed the appeal of the crowd, after the feeding of the 5,000, that He become their bread-making King. Thence He began to train the Twelve for the ministry they must undertake after His departure.

A natural beginning in this review lesson is to read the portions in Matthew that are covered. They are chapters 16-28. The quarter opened with the quiz class near Mount Hermon when Jesus asked what people thought about Him. In reply to the direct question about the opinion of the disciples Peter gave the declaration in the Golden Text for to-day: "Thou art the Christ, the Son of the living God." It will be helpful if you will commit to memory the Golden Text for each of the thirteen lessons. They will also be very suggestive in reminding yourself of the central teachings in each of the lessons.

The territory covered is from Caesarea-Philippi back to Capernaum and then on the further side of Jordan, through Perea, to the fords of the Jordan opposite Jericho and thence the climb to Bethany and the Holy City. Either follow each place on a map as you read the above named chapters or, better still, draw an outline map of Palestine and fill in the details as you read. Draw lines to indicate the journey that was traversed.

Frequent use is made of parables in making the meaning of His profound teachings clear. There must have been many pauses by the wayside for special instruction during the three months spent in Perea. For additional incidents turn to Luke 13-19. A Harmony of the Gospel is invaluable in all such study. That by Dr. A. T. Robertson is recommended.

One of the outstanding principles enunciated by this Master Teacher was an indication of the place that a little child should have in the estimation of the people. Wreckage is found in adults but tremendous possibilities are latent in the average youth. He made a child the greatest in the Kingdom of Heaven, and the world has not caught up to that idea even now. Wonderful progress has been made, however, since Robert Raikes started the school in Gloucester, England, 150 years ago which has developed into the modern Sunday School with a membership throughout the world of over 33,000,000.

Then came the Last Week, centering around Jerusalem, which has become an anniversary season throughout the earth. Bethany was the headquarters for a number of days. From there the Triumphal Entry was made into Jerusalem. Teachings of abiding value were given at every opportunity. Even the most bitter enemy was not excluded from the instructions that were given in Temple area and on the Mount of Olives. The Jewish Passover was ceremoniously observed and then the Lord's Supper was instituted in the same upper room. Following the prayer season in the Garden of Gethsemane, Judas came with his dirty kiss, which all too soon brought the Savior to His work of atonement on the cross at Cavalry. But that was not the end as the disciples learned to their renewed joy on the day of resurrection. All these truths are for our good that we may live the Jesus way.

Inspections Help To Prolong Life Of An Automobile

Periodic inspection is the key to lower automobile maintenance costs according to S. E. Blair, manager of Blair's Chevrolet Sales & Service, representatives in this community of the national "Care Will Save Your Car" movement fostered by the Motor and Equipment Association.

"After an automobile has been driven a certain distance," he said, "some parts need tightening, others need adjustments, and some should be replaced. The driver who will follow our plan of bringing his car in for inspection every time he has added several thousand more miles on his speedometer, will find that his car will always be ready when he wants it, he will not have to worry about how it will respond in an emergency, and he will avoid serious repair bills."

Few owners are now getting the maximum amount of pleasure, comfort, and protection against possible accidents which the car manufacturers have built into their automobiles, it has been discovered. The driver who adopts a periodic inspection plan is saving money by conserving the investment he has made in his car.

IN MEMORY OF S. M. KELLER

A precious one from us has gone A voice we loved is still A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled.

God in His wisdom has recalled The boom his love has given And through the body slumbers here His soul is safe in heaven.

The golden gates were open wide A gentle voice said "Come!" The Savior on the other side Welcomed our loved one Home.

Do not mourn for your loved one Do not sigh anymore For I know he is happy On the peaceful golden shore.

Do not weep for him any more Though he has passed away He is now on the golden shore And will meet you there some day.

Many days we have wandered By the beautiful river stream Days when we were so happy Now seems but a dream.

Dear Old Pal, our fishing trips are over Those good times are all past Tho' you have gone to heaven Your memory shall last.

Never a truer or a better friend And pal Could ever be found Tho' no matter where you searched Even if you searched the world around.

Dear Pal, your memory lingers In a place upon my heart Tho' when we meet again It will be never to part.

There we all shall meet him In the mansions bright and fair We will all be together In a glad welcome there.

There'll be no more partings No sorrow or strife We'll be with our Savior In that beautiful city of life.

There's no disappointments in heaven No sorrow, worry or pain No hearts that are broken and bleeding No song with a minor refrain.

We will meet with our loved ones Never to part any more We will all sing our Savior's praises On the happy golden shore.

The clouds of earthly horizon Will never appear in the sky But all will be sunshine and gladness With never a sob nor a sigh.

Your dear friends will miss you While on this earth they roam But we'll all be together In that peaceful, heavenly Home.

SOWED PASTURE PAYS

WHARTON—Without counting the increased production of cows, nor the increased potato yield from the land next year, four acres of pasture seeded in by Walter Matths of Wharton Co., early in February has saved $32 in feed up to mid-April, and the pasture was expected to last until late in May. A mixture of oats, clover gave rich pasture within a month's time to 14 head of grown cattle and mules and four calves. Planted as a demonstration in cooperation with J. O. Graham, county agent, the pasture has been grazed alternate weeks to give chance for recuperation. Mr. Matths believing it better to put the maximum number of stock on for short periods rather than fewer seed in another grain mixture with the clover this fall for grazing before plowing up for a spring crop of potatoes.

Good eyesight—20c Reduced from $1.10 in 20 years

Twenty years ago only the wealthy man could afford good light. And he dug deep into his jeans and paid $1.10 for a 60 watt carbon lamp.

Ten years ago a 60 watt Mazda lamp cost no more than a few candles—and lasted years longer. Only 40c. Today! A 60 watt Mazda lamp costs only half of that. 20c.

With good eyesight as inexpensive as 20c, no home can afford not to have every room well lighted! Light on mother's embroidery. Light on Jerry's book. Light on dad's paper. Light on Mary's music. Good light means a family of bright and happy dispositions!

Good light means sharp eyes . . . good eyesight. Each of us has only one pair of eyes, that can never be replaced. One pair of eyes, that are over-worked already, without the added burden of poor light.

"KNOCKING" THE GOVERNMENT

The world is full of people who try to blame their own unsuccess unhappiness or incompetence upon somebody else. Everybody knows somebody like that. They are the same sort of people who are always "agin the Government."

The market for crops is good or bad because the Government at Washington is Republican or Democratic. Business is slow because the President did this or didn't do that. Let a few banks fail and immediately some of the chronic kickers rush to the front with the explanation that the Federal Reserve System is a failure.

Fair criticism of the Government is entirely proper and within the rights of every citizen. The tendency to hold the Government responsible for everything unpleasant without ever giving it credit when conditions are satisfactory is, however, just another manifestation of the childish impulse to shift the blame from one's own shoulders to that of somebody else.

The very people who make the most fuss about the Government's "failures" when things are not going to please them, would be the first to protest if the Federal Government should undertake to actually run the business of the Nation. The last thing that the vast majority of Americans want is a paternal government. We as a people firmly believe in the dictum, attributed to Thomas Jefferson, that that government is best which governs the least. It is probably true that most of the loose criticism of the Government is merely a form of "letting off steam." It doesn't hurt the government any and it relieves the emotional strain of the person doing this criticizing.

This year everybody is going to hear a great deal of criticism and defense of the Government. We are electing all the members of the next Congress, one-third of the Senators, and Governors and other officials of more than half of the States. Candidates and their friends are going to tell us how different things would be if they were in instead of the ones who are in, or how foolish it would be to put the other fellows in when they have made such good records. All that signifies, for the greater part, is the desire of the "ins" to stay in and of the "outs" to get in.

The only persons who will be fooled are the simple-minded ones who really think that the Government can change economic conditions over night and at will. All any Government at Washington can do, all it ought to try to do, is to remove any obstacles that exist to the free flow of business and industry, to the right of every American citizen to work out his own individual salvation, economically and otherwise in his own way, so long as he does not infringe upon the right of any other citizen to do the same thing.

A FEW FACTS ABOUT OURSELVES This is a great country. Uh-huh. We've heard that before. What about it?

Just this about it. Dr. Julius Klein, Assistant Secretary of Commerce, than whom there are few keener analysts in the world, has been figuring out how much better off we are than the rest of the world.

The United States has only 6 percent of the world's population, but we consume 15 percent of the world's wheat crop. That means that, of the rest of the world were able to buy and eat as much food as we do, the wheat crop would have to be two-and-one-half as large as it is.

We consume nearly a quarter of all the world's sugar, more than half of the world's coffee, more than a quarter of the world's cotton, one-sixth of all the wool, three-quarters, nearly, of all the silk, two-thirds of all the rubber, about two-fifths of all the iron and copper, lead, zinc and coal. We use three-fifths of the world's petroleum, two-fifths of all electrical power, more than three-quarters of all the automobiles and three-fifths of all telephones.

And we number less than one-sixteenth of the world's population! If the rest of the world was as well off as we are how prosperous we and all the rest would be. Our average family income is $3,000 a year. The British income is two-thirds of that, Canada's less than half, Sweden's still lower, Germany's only a little over one-third as large and France's about the same—personal income of the average man, that is. That's why we can, and do consume more of the world's raw materials than any other nation.

We have set an example to the rest of the world, which it is slowly beginning to follow, in spots. The farther and more rapidly it extends, the sooner and more surely will we reach the stage of human development in which people will no longer die of starvation, in which every human being will have his happiness in his own hands.

There are those who say that in seeking material prosperity humanity is losing its spiritual ideas. It does not seem that way to us. It is one thing to forego riches for the sake of the higher life; it is quite another thing to have no choice in the matter. Poverty in itself is not a virtue. It was a wise man who said that it was useless to preach idealism to a man who didn't know where his next day's dinner was coming from. And that is the condition of more than half of the people of the world today, while a still larger proportion live under conditions which make more than a bare living possible. This is a great country!

Sam Gillentine Dies Suddenly at Home in Dallas

Quite a shock to the town of Hico was the death of Sam Gillentine, who was found dead in his room at Dallas Tuesday when he failed to appear as usual that morning at the place where he roomed. He had passed away some time during the night.

Mr. Gillentine had spent most of last week with his mother, Mrs. M. A. Gillentine, here and also with old friends. After his visit here, his mother had remarked to friends that she was uneasy about him for he seemed in ill health. Even then his death was a shock to his mother and also to friends.

Mr. Gillentine was reared in Hico and had made many friends here. He has been away for the past few years, having been connected with the Lampson Carrier Co. at Dallas. Upon his frequent visits here with his mother, he always seemed to enjoy the mingling with old friends.

Besides his mother, he leaves two sisters, Mrs. Barney Cage of Stephenville, and Mrs. Perkins of California. Mrs. Cage was present at the funeral. Funeral services were held at the Hico cemetery Thursday morning at 10 o'clock by a Christian minister and interment made in the Hico cemetery.

"Tilly, you were entertaining a man in the kitchen last night, were you not?" "That's for him to say, ma'am. I did my best."

Even Uncle Sam Can't Please Everybody

By Albert T. Reid

THE FAMILY DOCTOR JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D. T. B.

My rural readers will pardon me I'm sure, for once more calling their attention to what is still one of man's fiercest, most unrelenting foes; it seems to me that good advice in the presence of an enemy is never out of place. Thoughtful men have been battling this scourge since the dawn of history; for its annihilation men of great wealth and greater hearts have spent countless millions in research, and the noble work still goes on. Just what measure of success has been achieved may be noted by an observing one who reads; and our recent decades have been singularly noted for advances made.

TOWAY of Life BRUCE BARTON

Do People Feel Better Because You Passed By? I was in a doctor's office by appointment at five-thirty when his telephone rang. A woman's voice at the other end of the wire asked him to call at the house that evening.

His voice betrayed his irritation but he promised to call. Then he snapped the receiver on the hook and exploded. "There is a woman who has nothing to do all day but gad about. She might just as easily have called me this morning or early in the afternoon. But, no, she has to put it off and spoil my evening."

"Nobody but a doctor has any idea of how inconsiderate people can be." On two recent trips with two different men I had an interesting opportunity to contrast their conduct toward their fellow beings.

One of them had made several million dollars in the past few years. Whenever he entered a dining car or a hotel he wanted every body to understand that he is rich and important. Waiters dislike him, even though he tips liberally. I sometimes felt embarrassed by his critical demands for attention.

The manner of the other man is the exact reverse. You would never guess that he is a power in world industry. He never gives orders, but makes suggestions or very courteous requests. He seems surprised that anybody should want to do him a favor. He can make a waiter or a station porter feel a new sense of self-respect merely by his smile.

A noted preacher once remarked that one of the finest of all the sayings of Jesus is this: "I have compassion on the multitude."

Canton.—Two hundred acres of Laredo soy beans are being grown by 10 Van Zandt county demonstrators this year as a dairy food, lasts demonstrations having shown that this feed when ground is at least the equal of alfalfa. AAA Contest Board Certified Test The Contest Board of the AAA took all the necessary steps to make sure that the oil used was the regular CONOCO Germ Processed Motor Oil.

Think how significant it is that Germ-Processed oil is the first, of all the regular motor oils in America, with the rugged stamina to withstand the searing punishment of racing motors. Previously, only special castor-blends, most of them from abroad, have survived this grueling test. And they are of such character as to be unsuited for everyday driving in an ordinary motor car. So it is that Germ-Processed oil is the first ever to "place" in this race that you can buy at service stations for use in your own motor!

Now CONOCO has proven its claims, confirmed its challenge, and justified this request of you: "If you value the life of your motor, if you would reduce your operating costs, if you want better lubrication than any other oil can give you, go to the Sign of the Red Triangle and ask for: CONOCO Germ Processed Paraffin Base Motor Oil

You might own an expensive car, wear a sable coat, costly diamonds, have a beautiful complexion, and a fifteen dollar permanent wave. Yet, if when you open your mouth to speak or smile, your teeth are irregular, discolored, diseased, or some are missing, or if you have unnatural looking artificial ones, all else are forgotten and only this affliction or deformity is remembered.

Gainesville—A portable pantry is the achievement of Mrs. E. E. Wallis who lives in Cooke county, and who wants to take her pantry with her when she moves from the rented farm they occupy. Besides this advantage she says that a pantry on rollers is handy in the winter because it can be moved into the kitchen where it's warm. Mrs. Wallis has a 4H pantry demonstrator in her home demonstration club. She grows and cans enough fruit and vegetables for winter use according to a definite budget, and so stocks and arranges her pantry to save steps and time in preparing the family meals which are planned in accordance with good health rules.

Miss Nobody from Nowhere

BY ELIZABETH JORDAN

WHAT HAS GONE BEFORE

A young woman who knows only that her name is "Eve" finds herself standing on a Fifth Avenue corner. She has no idea how she came there or even what city it is. There is nothing about her with which to identify herself. While a policeman is talking to her, a young man, Eric Hamilton, stops. Seeing that she is in trouble he tells her he has seen her at hotel where they are both stopping. He takes her to the hotel where they find that she had registered in French as "Miss Eve Nobody of Nowhere." Hamilton volunteers to call in his friend Dr. Carrington, a specialist in nervous troubles. Eve, terrified, eludes the doctor and through a French porter in the hotel, who says he once saw her in France but does not remember her name, she finds a cheap apartment in an obscure part of town.

In the next apartment lives Ivy Davenport, a cabaret dancer with a weak heart. She is friendly, and persuades Eve to go to "Jake's" and take her place until she is better. Her job at Jake's is to entertain men at the tables and to dance with them. The other girls there are crude but kindly and Eve finds the work not as difficult as she had expected. She meets a young man named Hunt, who frankly tells her that she doesn't belong there.

NOW GO WITH THE STORY

He asked the question with a twinkle, in tacit admission that he had no right to put it, and she smiled forgivingly.

"I've told you, I'm substituting for another girl. She's sick."

"All right," he said, accepting the rebuff. "We'll let it go at that. Shall we dance again?"

When they returned to their table Queenie rose.

"The best of friends gotta part," she announced.

"Hold on! What's the idea?"

It was the grinning youth who spoke—Jackson, his name had proved to be—his grin wiped from his face by the abrupt decision. Hunt looked equally serious, and Queenie regarded them with approving eyes.

"The idea is that you two ain't the only boys in the place," she explained. "and Jake has give me the high sign to move on."

"But, see here—" Jackson protested. "Now, Willie!" Miss Morris was almost maternally reproachful. "You don't wanta get my girl friend in bad with the boss the very first night she's on the job, do you?"

"Of course not," Hunt rose and bowed formally, and Queenie led Eve away.

Better get out while the gettin's good," she said, and added another helpful hint for the novice: "It's wise to leave guys before they want us to. That brings 'em back again."

She took Eve to another table on the short list Jake had sent her. Two men of a different type sat there, but they responded to Queenie's initial advance as readily as the first pair had done. They were middle-aged Canadian cattle-men out for a good time, and they had with Queenie, while Eve took such mild share as she could in the bantering dialogue and danced several times with each of them. Apparently this encounter was as successful as the first, for both men showed a flattering regret when it was over. But, before that, moreover, they had unconsciously helped Eve through the little matter of the first half of the special program. While this was in progress she remained with them, and Jake seemed content with the arrangement.

The long night wore on. At the end of it Jake sent for Eve.

"You're awri," he impersonally announced when she again confronted him in his office. It was half-past three and his staff was perceptibly wilting. So were his remaining guests, but Jake himself showed no sign of the night's strain. His lines were as flawless and his hair as pastily flax as they had been at eleven. "Take-y-on-reg-lar," he added.

"That's good of you," Eve said. More and more she liked what she had heard of "Jake." "But I won't take the work just now, thank you."

"Why not?"

"It really isn't in my line."

"More-money? Nothin' 'oin'." Fixed-rate.

"It isn't that," Eve hastened to explain. "The money side is quite all right." It was. She had earned eight dollars and some odd cents by her first night's work.

"Then-what's-eatin'-yeh?"

"I don't know, yet!"

"Awri!" Jake moved the remote eyes from her face as if this ended the matter, but when she walked to the door he asked a question: "How-bout-Ivy?"

Eve stopped and turned back. "Why... she'll be alright tomorrow night, won't she?"

"Nops. Means-three-four-week—lett'er rest. Might-fix-er-up."

There seemed nothing else to do. Eve agreed to the temporary job, to whom she reported when she reached home at four o'clock. Eve left her comfortable, and went back to her own quarters, tired but uplifted. She had put over what she had undertaken; she had been offered a job; she had been able to keep her walking nightmare at bay and to feel almost normal. Best of all, there was now no endless night to face, for the night was over. It might be worth while to accept Jake's offer, if only to do away with those awful nights in the court bedroom.

If she could kill another fortnight that way, and earn the money she so badly needed, Marcel would surely have his reply from Leon, and that reply might lead her out of the fog. She would think the matter over. However, she did not think then. She fell asleep at once from sheer exhaustion, and her dreams, when she recalled them in the morning, had to do with large buildings and blaring music and crowds of whirling figures.

Succeeding nights at Jake's seemed very much what the first one had been, with the difference that Eve had a fixed clientele as well as a floating one. The Canadian pair came regularly, and accepted without resentment her refusals of their invitations to luncheons and other diversions outside of the cabaret. Hunt and his friend Jackson also became what the girls called "re'glars," though Eve suspected that neither young man could long stand the financial strain of such frequent visits, for Jake's, as Ivy had boasted, was no "cheap joint."

Ivy was able to "get back on the job" on the fifth night and to go through her dances with amazing skill and pep. Her specialty was the "acrobatic waltz" Queenie had mentioned, and her performance was a revelation to Eve, who humbly told herself that as a "substitutoot" she had been a joke. Miss Davenport was a born dancer, which undoubtedly helped to explain her employer's patience with her attacks. The only employee that compared with her at Jake's was a young Italian, among the loose-ankle boys, whose version of the "Black Bottom" was the cabaret's best attraction. Queenie's high kicking was "good but not great," as Ivy had expressed it. Maizie, despite her beauty and her superb figure, did no solo-work at all, and was not above the average in the ordinary dancing.

Eve, decided that Ivy's "acrobatic waltz" explained Ivy's heart attacks, and she advised the dancer to drop some of its more taxing features. Ivy shook her head.

"Long's I do it, I'll do it right," she announced. Art came first with Ivy.

Ivy's popularity in the "artists room" was second only to Queenie's and as the two girls stood together on all important issues Queenie's rule was strengthened by her chum's return. So was Eve's position. Miss Davenport had a grateful nature. Loyal and loudly she assured the world nothing was wrong with Berson. She demanded Queenie's continued interest in her protegee, and after a brief contest of wills she received it. The "head hostess," it appeared, had a horror of being "high-tattled" by any one; and from the first she had cherished a dark fear that the new-comer was "high-tattin'" and "up-stagin'" all Jake's artists. Ivy was finally able to "Jake wants you to go an' meet that guy over in the corner," she said eagerly. "I forget his name, but he's O. K."

explain Eve's manner and dictation to Queenie's satisfaction.

"She can't help it," she pointed out. "She's ed-jicated! My Gawd! what can a poor kid do when her folks put her in schools an' has her learned all those things?"

A little later Eve unconsciously helped her own cause.

"Where you from, anyhow, Berson?" Queenie demanded one night, when the novice had been at Jake's a week. It was the first directly personal question that had been put to Eve, and Eve flushed under it.

"I? Oh, I've lived abroad a good deal," she stammered.

"Where?"

"In France."

Queenie nodded. Living abroad accounted for anything.

"Can you talk French?" she inquired with sudden interest.

"Yes."

"Honest? Say! Jake'll be glad of that! Some Frenchman blew in here last week and none of us could pally with 'em. An' only the night before you came—Say, I'll tell Jake," Queenie added excitedly.

She told him, with all the pride of the discoverer, and Jake again sent for Eve.

"Doin' fine," he announced.

"Thank you, I'm glad of that."

"S'earyou'French."

"I beg your pardon?"

"Talksome'French."

"Now?"

"Sure."

"Do you speak French?"

"Nope. But I know 'fyou do."

Eve laughed. It was the first time Jake had heard her do it, and it appealed to him. His remote look changed slightly.

"Tha'shestuff," he approved.

"Smiling in'sgoodforbusiness. You oughtta laugh more."

Eve answered in French that no doubt this was true, but that she couldn't promise to keep on smiling indefinitely, though she would do her best. Finding it necessary to translate this, she did so, and Jake nodded.

"How'boutstayin'on?"

"I haven't quite decided yet."

"Can'taisersatesbutgiveyusame-guar'ntee'sMorris."

"Thank you, I'll stay two weeks longer, anyway, unless something unexpected happens."

"S'allri."

The arrangement simplified Eve's bookkeeping. Instead of being paid nightly as a "substitutoot," she was on Jake's weekly pay-roll at a twenty-five-dollar salary, which was augmented by the dance cards she turned in.

A week later when Eve and Hunt returned to their table after a midnight Charleston, Queenie hurried to them with an expression of urgency she hastened to explain.

"Jake wants you to go an' meet that guy over in the corner," she said eagerly. "I forgot his name, but he's O. K. He's from the West and he's been watching you ever since he come in. He jest told Jake he wanted to talk to you. Inter-duce yourself, I'm lookin' after a big dinner-party."

"Miss Berson is busy here," Hunt began. Hunt's air of late had become slightly proprietary. Miss Morris rebuked him with a friendly shake of her head.

"Get wist, get wist," she advised. "This has happened before an' it'll happen again. Orders is orders, an' she's working for Jake. You had your turn. Praps you'll get another later on," she kindly added.

Hunt's jaw set. For a moment he seemed about to dispute the ruling. Then his good sense asserted itself and he rose with a shrug.

"All right," he agreed. "I'll take you over."

"That'll make a big hit with the new guy," Queenie murmured ironically. But Eve understood, as she so easily understood everything. Hunt did not, and the impulse that always made him escort her through the dancing crowds to any table where she was expected.

She walked by his side with unwilling steps. She never knew what these encounters might bring, and each time she thus approached a stranger every instinct in her protested against what she was doing. She constantly reminded herself that she was there to talk to and to dance with lonely men, to help them to have a pleasant evening, and that the matter ended with the talk and the dance, and that the money she was earning was necessary to her. If Jake's was the sort of place young girls of good families could visit, as many such girls plainly considered it, it was surely safe for her. Also, she was plainly to use here, in ways she was not paid for. The girls trusted her and asked her advice. Even Maizie had warmed up since the little session with Jenny, and the latter had shown a somewhat embarrassing determination to establish a life friendship.

When Food Sours

Lots of folks who think they have "indigestion" have only an acid condition which could be corrected in five or ten minutes. An effective anti-acid like Phillips Milk of Magnesia soon restores digestion to normal. Phillips does away with all that sourness and gas right after meals. It prevents the distress so apt to occur two hours after eating. What a pleasant preparation to take! And how good it is for the system! Unlike a burning dose of soda—which is but temporary relief at best—Phillips Milk of Magnesia neutralizes many times its volume in acid. Next time a hearty meal, or too rich a diet has brought on the least discomfort, try—

Each pound of grain cost Mr. Berry 6.35 cents on a ration consisting of corn, skim milk and a protein supplement mixture. It required 3.11 pounds of corn, .41 gallons of skim milk and .291 pounds of the protein supplement to make a pound of pork.

Another demonstrator, Jim Brown, recently finished 12 hogs with corn and protein supplement and reports $1.95 per bushel from corn, and the production of a pound of grain for 5.9 cents. Besides running on pasture the hogs had the corn supplemented with a mixture made of equal parts tankage, cottonseed meal and shorts. The feeding was done in self feeders which were kept full and easy of access at all times.

Good old-fashioned faith in you!"

—Edgar A. Guest.

There comes a time in most everyone's life when misfortune seems to follow every movement. It may be a prolonged illness, death of loved ones, crop failure, business reverses—or a combination of overwhelming disasters.

Irrespective of former trading habits it is but natural that at such a time the unfortunate one will turn to the merchants of his own acquaintance seeking aid in the form of credit to tide him over the rough spots.

If he be worthy, such an appeal is seldom denied — although the extension of credit may seriously pinch the merchant. A MERIT MERCHANT however, feels an obligation to his community, and when granting favors asks only a square deal in return. This is surely due him.

If a friend in need is a friend indeed,
When troubles mend should the friendship end?

A MATCH

By Algernon Charles Swinburne
If love were what the rose is,
And I were like the leaf,
Our lives would grow together
In sad or singing weather,
Blown fields of flowerful closes,
Green pleasure of gray grief;
If I were what the rose is,
And I were like the leaf.

If I were what the words are,
And love were like the tune,
With double sound and single
Delight our lips would mingle,
With kisses glad as birds are,
That get sweet rain at noon:
If I were what the words are,
And love were like the tune.

If you were life, my darling,
And I your love were death,
We'd shine and snow together
Ere March made sweet the weather.
With daffodil and starling
And hours of fruitful breath:
If you were life, my darling,
And I your love were death.

If you were thrall to sorrow,
And I were page to joy,
We'd play for lives and seasons
With loving looks and treasurers
And tears of night and morn
And laughs of maid and boy:
If you were thrall to sorrow,
And I were page to joy.

If you were April's lady,
And I were lord of May,
We'd throw with leaves for hours
And draw for days with flowers.
Till day like night were shade
And night were bright like day:
If you were April's lady,
And I were lord in May.

If you were queen of pleasure,
And I were king of pain,
We'd hunt down love together,
Pluck out his flying feather,
And teach his feet a measure
And find his mouth a pain.
If you were queen of pleasure,
And I were king of pain.

RADBURN

Something new in town building has been accomplished in New Jersey, twenty miles out from New York City. The town of Radburn has been planned and built with an eye first to safety in the streets. It has been laid out so that all streets in the residential districts are "dead-end" thorough-fares. No through traffic rushes past homes, endangering the lives of children. Schools, playgrounds, parks and recreation centers have been so located that no child has to cross a street carrying motor traffic to get to any of them. And there are plenty of open spaces, in the midst of which dwellings have been built which house today about 600 people, where there was nothing but a farm a year ago.

Radburn calls itself "Tomorrow's Town." It is certain that new methods of town planning must develop to meet the new tools of civilization.

MIRACLES

Nothing but gas and water are needed to make artificial silk, by a new process discovered by Professor Harold Hibbert of McGill University, Montreal. That is very amazing, even to such of us as have got used to the idea of transmission of the electric currents through space. Gas—carbon dioxide, produced from coal—is invisible and, to our unaided senses, without weight. Water is a fluid which takes solid form only as ice, in our ordinary experience. But by combining the two to make a permanent, tangible solid which will take the place of rayon fibers produced from cotton or wood pulp, Dr. Hibbert has performed a miracle which seems none the less miraculous when he explains how it is done.

This is another step in the progress of science toward the goal of producing in the factory, by swift cheap methods, everything we need to eat, wear and use. The method, in general, is to take the short cut where Nature takes the long road around.

DOLLAR

Eighty-six years old, owner of a fleet of 50 great passenger and freight ships and one of the world's largest lumber enterprises, Captain Robert Dollar still runs the details of his own great business. He started to work at 11 in his native Scotland, at wages of 60 cents a week. He has made every cent of his great fortune by hard work and still gets to his office in San Francisco at 20 minutes to nine every morning. When he feels like it he calls up Mrs. Dollar, tells her to pack the bags for a trip, and the happy old couple start out on one of his own ships for a voyage around the world. On every such trip Captain Dollar finds new opportunities for American trade and new business for the Dollar ships.

SPELLING

There is a great revival of interest in the old-fashioned "spelling bee." Helen Jensen, a 13-year-old girl of Council Bluffs, has just won a prize of $1,000 and the title of National Spelling Champion in a contest at Washington. Newspaper men, Congressmen, women's clubs and other bodies have been conducting spelling bees in many cities.

This is interesting and more or less important. Correct spelling is an accomplishment which reveals a great deal of the character of the individual. Good spellers are persons who have a keen eye and a pictorial memory. Few persons who learn chiefly by ear are good spellers. The "phonetic" method of teaching children to read, a fad which is being abandoned in many schools, is responsible for much of the atrocious spelling which makes so many girls unable to earn more than a bare wage as stenographers. Good spellers remember words as pictures. And that is as it should be. Spelling is of importance only in connection with reading and writing, and reading and writing are a means of expression designed to appeal to the eye.

TEACHERS

One reason why our public schools are not as good as they could and should be is that we do not pay the teacher the same respect—to say nothing of salary—that they do in Europe. To be a school teacher in Germany, for instance, is to achieve at once a degree of social standing equivalent to that of a physician or a lawyer.

Texas set an example years ago of one way of increasing the teacher's self-respect. In 1860 a "teachery" was built in the Blum school district in Guadalupe County—a home for the teacher. Now Texas has 1,330 of these teachers' homes, costing an average of $2,200. One teacher, H. E. Diel, of Schumannville, taught one school and lived in one teachery for 40 years. He became the foremost citizen of his community.

The rural school without a home for the teacher or teachers is a relic of the dark ages.

Recalls Progress Of Lower Texas In Fifteen Years

Just what has happened in fifteen years on the American side of the Rio Grande in the last 150 miles of its course before it reaches the gulf, to push it 300 years ahead of the sleepy Mexican side, is a story of remarkable American progress told by Owen P. White, native Texan and noted writer, in the July number of The Country Home.

White, who was the first white child born in El Paso, draws a picture of the whole "Magic Valley", stretching up the Rio Grande and containing such towns as Brownsville, San Benito, San Juan, Harlingen, Mercedes, Weslaco, Pharr, Edinburg, Donna, McAllen and Mission, and brands it a monument of American enterprise that accomplished miracles in little more than a decade.

In a picturesque interview, hitting straight at the reasons for progress, the mayor of one of the rapidly growing towns said to White:

"Eleven years ago this place was nothing but a mesquite thicket. It was a well located thicket, however, and therefore a land company picked it out as a location for a town, laid it off into lots and began to sell those lots. 'Now you can abuse land companies all you want to, but you have to hand it to them for one thing: By putting high prices on their lots and plenty of building restrictions in their deeds, they did these valley towns a world of good. They fixed it from the beginning so that the homes had to be nice homes, and that, of course, meant that the people who built them were people who had been moderately successful elsewhere but were looking for a change.'

"Most of us got just the change we wanted. Down here the actual business of planting and harvesting crop after crop goes on for twelve months in the year, so that the winter loafing season, so hard on the merchant but so dear to the heart of the old-time farmer, is entirely done away with. Even of greater importance is the fact that, owing to the character of our valley products, a packing and shipping industry, capable of handling thousands of carloads of stuff a year, has had to be developed. Mercantile establishments had to come with them. Thus the cities were built up."

"In short, this Rio Grande Valley, which is still to a certain extent in its pioneering stage, gives a picture of how American enterprises has built the United States. Give Americans something new and profitable to work on, as they had in the beginning, and watch them go to it."

White comments enthusiastically upon the country homes in the Magic Valley. "Texas may be a long way from Long Island, N. Y., but it is also a long way ahead of it when it comes to the important matter of providing a man of moderate means with a comfortable, attractive home," he declares.

"Now, the kind of people that live in those homes?" continues the writer. "You'll be interested to know. Agriculture, of course, in one form or another is their sustaining industry, but their vegetable farms all look like gardens, and as their citrus groves all have the appearance of being handswept every morning, theirs is an agriculture de luxe. Not a hick or a hayseed to mar the landscape in the entire valley."

"The Magic Valley is not a poor man's country and certainly it is no place for anyone who has tried farming somewhere else in the United States and failed. Good farmers from the North go to the valley and make good. It is this class of men, of whom there are already thousands in the valley, which has pushed the Brownsville side of the Rio Grande three centuries ahead of the Matamoros side in the last fifteen years."

Housewife or Grocer

Whose interest should come first

A & P, though a grocer itself, votes for the housewife. She has a right to as much good food as her money can buy under the most favorable conditions.

Not everyone takes this view. By some strange reasoning certain people see harm to human welfare in cutting your food bill. A & P cuts your food bill to the minimum. So these people are against A & P.

They are all for raising the standard of living—provided their profits go up the same slope. How the housewife is to pay her part . . . that, they say, is her affair, not the grocer's.

A few misguided persons have taken up the cry, shouting, "Away with low profits!" as loudly as, when it suited their purpose to denounce profiteers, they shouted, "Away with high profits!"

But A & P sticks to its knitting. Its job is the same today as it was seventy years ago . . . to make it easier for more housewives to buy the best food.
