

Here In HICO

ACTIVITY of interested citizens of Erath and Bosque Counties at the present time in securing right-of-way for their highways brings remembrance to us of what has happened in Hamilton County.

In deals of this nature there is sometimes a tendency on the part of some to oppose the project and hold their property for a high price. We are not condemning such property owners for their action, as we believe most of them are honest in their convictions, and really believe that they will be damaged greatly. But the facts, as proven out by recent experiences within our knowledge, are that the damage is hardly ever as great as anticipated, and in most cases the same people who are averse to making a sacrifice in order to assure a road project are the first ones to admit after the completion of the road that it is a real improvement and enhances the value of their property where it goes.

We have talked with a great number of people who were worried about their damages beforehand, and who admit now that they were crossing bridges before they got to them. They would put up a strong fight were an effort made to take their road away from them, and find that after the smoke clears away and the road is open to travel, they were high in their estimate of damages. No one should be criticized for holding out for what is due him in a case of this nature. It is not right that he should be paid for real damages, and for land used in road improvements. But someone has to make a sacrifice, it seems, in every instance, and we admire the land owner with public spirit and progressiveness enough to put his selfish interests aside, considering the facts of the case, and quit looking for Santa Claus.

SPEAKING of road matters, we might mention that Hico seems to be fortunately located in respect to highways. We have mentioned this before, but recent developments in other quarters where main highways are missing the towns entirely renews our contention that up to the present point we should feel satisfied and consider ourselves fortunate.

Hico deserves consideration only so far as the location of the town and the merits of the situation dictate. But in the first place we seem to be right in the middle of a lot of road improvement, which is merely luck we will have to admit. Our location is an asset there. Then, too, Hico has always cooperated with the highway department, and tried to work with them in their plans. If what they want could be done it has been taken care of immediately, without discussion or argument. They know what they want to do, and so far have given us a square deal. We have every reason to look for a continuance of that policy.

At the present time, progress is being made on Highway 66 to such an extent that it seems probable that this will be a benefit in more ways than one. The work has been brought from Hamilton to Olin, and from now on we should expect a great deal of local labor to be used on this end, and the road brought into Hico in a short time. Highway 67, east and west, is in the limelight, and before we know it this road will probably be carrying a heavy traffic.

Then too there is still a possibility that Hico may in the not distant future secure a cut-off highway from this point through the Chalk Mountain country to Fort Worth and Dallas. This would be a great convenience to cattle raisers and shippers of every sort, and its construction seems imminent. While the purpose of its construction would not be primarily to open up an excellent trade territory for Hico, the fact remains that this would be the result, again demonstrating our contention that we are fortunately situated.

While no great amount of highway work as related to new projects is anticipated this year, according to the highway department officials, when there is something to be done the projects mentioned above will receive first consideration.

SPRING is in the air everywhere. The season for getting rid of the accumulation of winter's trash is at hand. Wouldn't it be marvelous if we could have a house-cleaning of our thoughts at the same time?

During the past few months, pessimism has been rife. Melancholy expressions and predictions of calamity have been altogether too numerous. The farmers are working in earnest, and seem determined to carry on their labors regardless of what anybody else is doing. The country has put on a new appearance, and merchants who do not take the hint are just standing in their own light.

There is not going to be a radical change in conditions over-

Hico Baseball Fans Desirous of Getting The Ball to Rolling

Lovers of the grand old game of baseball in Hico have been active this week making plans for the starting of the season, which has always furnished entertainment in the past. They have been taking a census of public opinion, and state that they find much support for their project.

The main difficulty in their way at the present is the lack of a suitable field for playing the games. The one they used last year is not available, and they are open to suggestions as to a proper place for placing the diamond. Some opposition has been found, they state, to Sunday baseball in Hico, but they are trying to ascertain the extent of this opposition, and if they find that the circumstances dictate such a course they will yield to public sentiment. However, in view of the fact that other towns with whom they can match games will accept no other date, it would be a great handicap to try to go through the season with a week-day schedule.

Those who have been active in the movement hope that all difficulties will be ironed out at once, a suitable field secured, and that they will soon have announcements of interest for the fans of this section.

Admission Prices At Local Theatre Reduced This Week

It will not be necessary for show-goers and those who enjoy the best of screen entertainment to look elsewhere than Hico now, according to Manager E. H. Elkins of the Palace Theatre, who is putting on bargain prices at his popular show-house.

Until further announcement the admission prices will be 10c and 15c, and only the best of pictures will be shown, he stated. This reduction is made with the hopes of increasing the volume, and whether it remains permanent or not depends upon the response to the special rates.

The Hico theatre is open on Friday and Saturday nights now, and Mr. Elkins states that he is anxious to get back on a full-time every-night basis, and will do so as soon as his business will permit.

The very latest pictures have been booked, and those who have visited the local theatre recently have remarked on the improvement of sound and light arrangements, and state that they appreciate the fact that the best in screen entertainment is being offered them at home.

It is hoped that the decreased prices will stimulate attendance to the extent that the show may remain open and the standard kept up.

School Trustees Election Will Be Held On Saturday

Saturday, April 1, is the date set for holding the election of trustees in the Hico County Line School District, according to official notices over the signature of the Secretary of the Board, Dr. C. M. Hall.

M. A. Smith has been appointed foreman to hold the election Saturday, but the News Review has not been informed who his assistants will be.

There are two places to be filled on the local board, those of S. J. Cheek and Lee Rainwater, who are retiring with the expiration of their terms. The ballot, which we understand has already been printed, carries the names of H. E. McCullough and H. N. Wolfe as candidates for the two vacancies.

Other school elections in Common School Districts are being held on the same day, according to County Judge J. C. Barrow who is in a telephone conversation Wednesday stated that the ballots had been printed and the supplies all mailed out to the managers of the elections in the various school districts over the county.

The residents of New York spend more money to see sporting events than those of any other city in the world. This last week at a time when many sports are out of season, the city was able to see boxing, ice hockey, indoor polo, indoor tennis and wrestling.

At night, we do not look for any great revival of business as if by a miracle. But there is going to be plenty of business to go around, provided it is gone after. Hico merchants have an opportunity to enlarge their trade territory as never before, and will doubtless snap out of their ennui which apparently has had them down in the mouth, along with the rest of the country, for the past few months.

Let's forget the past, live in the present and plan for the future. There is nothing impossible when a determined aggregation of business men such as Hico merchants in her fold make up their minds that they are going somewhere and doing something. Put that in your pipe and smoke it.

About Time To Wean the Darn Thing

2.10 Inches Rainfall In Hour and a Half Thursday Morning

Farmers and business men who have been wanting rain had their orders filled in a big way Thursday morning.

The rain started about 9 o'clock and in an hour and a half 2.10 inches of rainfall was measured on the government gauge tended by Weather Observer John A. Eakins.

One of the results of the geyse was to put the Bosque River out of its banks for the first time in several years. At noon it had begun spreading over the bottom lands, and was in the street on Mill Street, toward town from the river. Considerable loss of cattle was reported from sections surrounding Hico, but the flood was not of such proportions as to endanger life or property to any great extent.

Streets in the city, which have been allowed to become very rough already, were not helped any by the rain. The gravel washed off in many places, and gullies were made in the main thoroughfares. Immediate attention will no doubt be given them, while the work can be done without complete rebuilding.

Game Warden Says No Change Made In Game and Fish Laws

Rules and regulations for fishing in Hamilton County have undergone no change since last year, according to District Game Warden C. M. Tidwell, who was interviewed on the subject this week.

There had been some talk in various quarters to the effect that the laws had been changed as pertains to fishing in the Bosque and its tributaries, but such is not the case, according to Mr. Tidwell, who called attention to the changes made last year and stated that the same provisions still held. Most local fishermen are familiar with these laws, as they have been set forth in the News Review frequently in the past.

Some changes are contemplated soon in Bosque County, Mr. Tidwell stated, but as yet he has no announcement to make further than that Erath, Hamilton and Bosque are governed by the same regulations this year as last.

ERATH COUNTY STILL ACTIVE IN SECURING RIGHT-OF-WAY FOR 66

Ed. Fleming, prominent and prosperous farmer between Stephenville and Hico, was in Hico on business Monday, and while in the News Review office stated that Erath Countymen were still working on the right-of-way for the new route of Highway 66.

Mr. Fleming stated that he and several of his neighbors within his knowledge had already signed up for their part of the project, but that he did not know whether the rest had been secured or not. He was anxious to see the project put through, and did not hesitate to show his interest and enthusiasm over the outlook.

Interesting Dairy Meeting Held Here On Friday Morning

Twenty-five or thirty interested dairy farmers and business men met at the O. E. Meador dairy farm south of Hico last Friday morning, and were entertained and instructed in the care of dairy cattle and other phases of the dairy industry.

A feature of the meeting, held under the supervision of County Agent C. E. Nelson's, a guessing contest was staged, in which those present had guessed as to the number of pounds of milk they would give. W. L. McDowell won a year's subscription to the News Review and Lester Bird a fine milk bucket, awarded as prizes in the contest.

E. R. Eudaly, a former citizen of Hico, now with the extension service, was on hand, and delivered a fine talk along dairy lines. The meeting was short, but interesting in the extreme to those in attendance, according to reports coming to the News Review.

The following report of the meeting was received from County Agent C. E. Nelson: Dairy meetings at Hico and Aleman last Saturday conducted by E. R. Eudaly of the A. & M. College Extension Service were attended by about 35 Hamilton County farmers.

Care and Management of dairy cows created a good interest among those in attendance, and Mr. Eudaly's discussion of clean water supplies, silage, and good pastures will be put into practical use by most of the farm dairymen. Sudan pastures for summer, oat pastures for winter, and silage for the times when neither of these are available, will keep up milk production the year around, stated Mr. Eudaly, and with the practicability of the trench silo there is no reason why every farmer should not have year round pastures or a satisfactory substitute for it.

Four or five farm dairymen have already stated that they intend to build trench silos this summer, according to County Agent Nelson.

Moves Shop to New Location.
Wm. Ross, optometrist, has moved his shop from the post-office building to Railroad Avenue in the building with Ross & Sons, dealers in groceries and produce. The moving took place Wednesday and Mr. Ross seems pleased with his new location.

Election Tuesday For Selection of Two City Aldermen

Notice has been given of a city election to be held in Hico on Tuesday, April 4th, for the purpose of electing two aldermen for the places of N. A. Leeth and L. Hudson, whose terms of office are expiring this year.

M. A. Smith has been appointed to hold said election, which will be held in the City Hall in accordance with the provisions of the statutes.

The ticket had not been made up at the time the News Review went to press, and the News Review was not informed as to who would offer for the two places. Mr. Hudson and Mr. Leeth had not definitely stated whether or not they would have their names on the ticket for re-election.

Three aldermen, J. W. Richardson, J. H. Ellington and J. D. Higgins were elected last April for two-year terms, as was the mayor, Lawrence N. Lane.

Construction Crew Moving Camp Near Honey Creek Soon

J. L. Brown, foreman of the construction crew in Hamilton County, which has been busy for the past few months between the Leon River and Hamilton, stated this week that it was planned to move the camp to Honey Creek within the next few days, to a point which would be more accessible to their work.

The road has been practically completed to Olin out of Hamilton, with the exception of the bridge over the Leon River, which will be ready for opening soon. Most of the stretch on that end has been graded, and travelers are praising the good work done.

Mr. Brown, who has been living in Hamilton, will probably move to Hico for the duration of the work in this locality, and local people are looking forward to much progress on this end of the road. Although reports of the amount of local labor used on the project has been exaggerated to some extent, according to Mr. Brown's estimate, there will be some demand for teams and hand labor if the plans of the department work out. Much of the work is being done by tractors, graders and Baker-Maney machines at the present time, and the work is not being carried on exactly as in the past. But Mr. Brown is known locally as being most fair in his method of working, and will give Hico and adjoining communities as much benefit from the work as is possible.

Those who do not know Jim Brown by name will probably remember him as the "daddy" of the excellent stretch of wo-k on Highway 67 west out of Hico to the Erath county line. This piece of road, constructed almost entirely new last fall and opened to traffic in record time, shows up to advantage since traveling, and is now considered as one of the best stretches of road to be found anywhere. Local teams and hand labor were used on the job, which makes it all the more commendable.

Review Club Plans Unique Addition to "Clean-Up Week"

In response to a proclamation from the Mayor, as printed in last week's News Review, the civic clubs and many individuals of the city are cooperating with the city officials in making the affair a success.

It is announced that city wagons will haul off trash Friday, April 7, provided same is gathered up and placed in convenient receptacles. Property owners will find this a great aid to them in their efforts to have Hico made a clean city, and they will no doubt take advantage of the services which are offered without cost.

Simultaneously with Clean-Up Week, the Review Club of Hico is offering prizes for various phases of connected enterprises as set out below:

1. The most attractive premises as a whole.
2. The best kept lawn.
3. Best collection of roses set out in 1932-3.
4. Most attractive flower bed.
5. Best collection of Spring and Summer blooming flowers.
6. Most attractive window boxes.
7. Best collection of pot plants.
8. Most attractive cacti bed.

This plan of giving prizes, as sponsored by the Review Club, is not open to any of the membership of the club. Prizes will be awarded on Friday, September 1, 1933.

Much Improvement On Highway 67 In Different Sections

Many reports from travelers between Hico and Waco are to the effect that the stretch of road out of Waco is really going to be a highway soon, and that improvements are being made at a rapid rate.

Fred Robinson, conductor of the "With The Texas Press" column in the Waco News Tribune, in commenting on a recent article in the News Review, had the following to say:

"The above refers to a change being made in highway 67 between Hico and Dublin, whereby No. 67 will go via Clairette and up the old Texas Central ("Tin Can") instead of as at present, leaving out Carlton, probably. This road is also being paved from Waco to Speegleville with concrete, to be extended on to Valley Mills, which will shorten the distance some to Bosque county and points beyond. Also will be a greatly improved highway. It is understood a connecting road will be built to China Spring, which has been left off. R. A. Shands now manages the Waco-Hico-Dublin-Cisco bus line, making one round trip daily.

Mr. Robinson is a booster for better roads of wide reputation, and perhaps he will now continue his contention that Highway 67 ought to be finished up. The State has announced its readiness to proceed in Bosque County to the Hamilton County line, as soon as the right-of-way is secured, and Hico people are anxious to see this gap filled in, and the road put in shape for travel in its entirety.

Milk Receipts At Local Creamery On A Steady Increase

Receipts of milk at the local creamery have shown a steady gain throughout the past few months, according to local manager C. A. Thies, who is enthusiastic over the outlook.

When the cheese-making machinery was first installed, it will be remembered, the Bell Ice & Dairy Products Company officials estimated that they could use up to 10,000 pounds of milk a day, although they did not expect to begin with that large a volume. For a time the receipts were so low that they could not keep their force busy, but upon the institution of a campaign among the farmers and business men, demonstrating the importance of this industry, much interest was aroused, and many new customers added.

Although there is still a demand for more milk than they are getting, Mr. Thies believes that within a short time the plant will be running to capacity, and the more farmers will avail themselves of the opportunity to make a profit on their operations through the market offered for their whole milk. Receipts run around 4,500 pounds per day, with an increase to 6,000 pounds daily expected within 30 days.

The merchandising end of the cheese business has also been satisfactory, according to Mr. Thies, who stated that a huge output of delicious Hico-made cheese is now going to the markets of the nation. He also states that he finds a demand among local consumers for Hico-made cheese, and that the outlook for growth of the project is bright.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

Dona Coon, 33, was injured fatally four miles west of Uvalde Sunday night when he was struck by an automobile while trying to stop motorists to obtain gasoline for his car.

The Texas house of representatives Monday defeated a bill proposing to establish a combination state commission to regulate public utilities and to have control over the production of oil and gas. The vote was 57 ayes and 81 noes on the proposed combination commission.

The discipline committee of Texas A. & M. College has announced at College Station the suspension of twenty-five students including eight seniors, for one week because of hazing. One of the seniors was a cadet major. All of the students suspended were members of the same infantry company in the cadet corps and, in addition to suspension, were reduced to the ranks in the corps. Freshmen of the company were transferred to other infantry units in the corps.

The farm relief bill in amended form was indorsed before the Senate Agriculture Committee Monday by J. E. McDonald, Texas Commissioner of Agriculture, who suggested to the committee that the so-called "Clear Plan" be adopted. This plan, Mr. McDonald said, is flexible and simple of operation yet positive in obtaining the desired results, that is, assure profitable prices for that portion going into domestic markets and at the same time permitting further development of foreign markets at world prices.

Confusion and unrest again prevailed in the East Texas oil field Monday as a major purchasing company opened its wells wide for a time, then shut down completely, and as doubt arose among independent operators that a total shutdown of the 10,000 wells in the area could be enforced.

Motorists driving northward from Dallas this week may be hailed for a ride by a party of three, two young men and a shaggy, diminutive mule. The three, Charlie Walker, Roy Harris, and their mule, are on their way to the World's Fair in Chicago, where the mascot is to be exhibiting as the "smallest mule in the world." Last week, the half-pint mule was shown at the stock show in Fort Worth. It is forty-one inches high and weighs 300 pounds. The boys, who live in Wichita Falls, expect to make the trip in about eight weeks. They have found few automobilists willing to take the mule as a passenger in spite of his size, but they have received "lifts" several times from inter-city truck drivers.

Whether or not 3.2 per cent beer is sold or consumed at Fort Sam Houston at San Antonio and other posts of the eighth corps area depends on word from the war department, despite the action of the commander of the seventh corps area in permitting its sale at Fort Leavenworth in the dry state of Kansas. High army officials at San Antonio said that issuance of an order or memorandum regarding the sale or use of 3.2 per cent beer on military reservations in this area had not been considered.

President Roosevelt will restore national prosperity in six months, C. Bascom Slemm, who was secretary to the late President Coolidge, said in an interview in San Antonio Saturday. The country is suffering from low commodity prices and high debts, asserted Slemm, and the new president is attacking the heart of the trouble. Although of a different party, Slemm declared the country is 100 per cent behind Roosevelt. Slemm is visiting at the bedside of his sister, who is ill in a San Antonio hospital. He frequently visits Texas as he is interested in off field development near Corpus Christi.

A splinter from a clothes hamper that stuck in her hand six months ago caused the death last midnight, Monday, of Mrs. Mattie L. Longmuth, 71, of Fort Worth. Blood poisoning developed in the tiny wound. Several operations proved futile. Mrs. Longmuth formerly lived in Waco and Cleburne.

A Texas division of the National Farmers Holiday association was organized temporarily in Austin Tuesday. Permanent organization was postponed to a meeting called for Waco on the third Wednesday in April. George W. Armstrong of Fort Worth was elected temporary president; L. T. Mayhew of Plainview, temporary vice president, and J. F. Newsom of Fort Worth, temporary secretary. Arm strong said the approximately 30 delegates, most of them from the Panhandle and plains sections of Texas, represented several thousand farmers.

FARM RELIEF

The purpose of the farm relief which President Roosevelt has asked Congress to adopt is, as we understand it, to raise the prices of farm products by reducing the volume of production.

We believe that is a sound principle. We are only concerned about the practicability of accomplishing it.

It is the fact that the farms of the United States have been for years producing more of the principal staples, cotton, wheat, corn, tobacco, beef, pork and dairy products, than the people of the United States could readily consume. We have been dependent upon the export market for the sale of these surplus products.

It is absurd for farmers to compete with each other in the domestic market. But that is what it comes to when they grow more than the market demands. We had hoped that the cooperative marketing plan which was the basis of the Farm Board's creation, might work out to induce the farmers to pull together instead of apart; but as yet there has been no such progress made as to justify the hope that American farmers will ever be anything but independent individualists.

The principle involved in the President's plan is a new and untried one, the principle of paying the farmer for not producing in order that all farmers may get a higher price for the limited amount they do produce. As Mr. Roosevelt himself admits, it may not work; but there are many who believe that it will work, and if its administration does not take any more cash out of the pockets of taxpayers but instead results in collecting the amount paid to the farmers from the processors and handlers of farm products, it may accomplish the purpose of restoring the farmers' purchasing power.

HUMAN NATURE

It is difficult to escape the conclusion that the principal cause of human unhappiness is pessimism in good times. If that is true, it is an inherent in human nature, we confess that we cannot see much hope for that millennium in which there will always be prosperity for everybody. We certainly do not see how it is possible for legislation to correct evils which are sure to recur whenever conditions are ripe for them.

That is not to say that we do not think the Government at Washington and the State government should not do all in their power to make dishonesty unprofitable. We think it would be a salutary thing for the country to put a few big bankers and stock promoters in jail and keep them there as a warning to others. But we haven't much sympathy with the idea that all, or the major part, of our troubles are the result of the machinations of unscrupulous crooks.

On the contrary, we think we got ourselves into trouble by believing that boom times would never end. We mortgaged our homes and our farms when it was easy to borrow on them, because it seemed so easy to get the money to pay off the mortgages when we needed it. And when we say "we" we are speaking of everybody. Big manufacturers and business men were just as simple as the smallest. They build up great plants on bond issues, because they could not see far enough ahead to realize that the market for their product was not going to keep on growing, but would some day slack off.

We do not think the people who indulged in what now seem like wild dreams of increasing profits were dishonest; not most of them anyway. We think they—all of us—built too much on hope and not enough on prudent common sense. And, looking back over the history of other depressions, it seems to us that they all happened for the same reason. Human nature cannot avoid undue fear when things are going well, just as it cannot escape undue fear when things are going badly.

Just now we are still under the rule of unreasoning fear. That is going to delay recovery, until the rays of hope which are beginning to appear on the horizon grow brighter. Then, as we recover from our fear we shall go on again, with increasing hopefulness, to another boom, and that in its turn will collapse and ruin millions who have not tempered their optimism with caution. That is human nature.

MEATS AND RECIPES PREPARED BY C. L. A. DENTON

The main value of fish lies in the protein content which is proportionately high. This is true of both fresh and preserved fish, the latter being purchased in dried salted and canned forms.

Several kinds of fish such as salmon, herring, and mackerel also contain considerable amounts of fat and thus give and add energy value to a food already rich in body-building elements. Marine fish also supply sufficient iodine to protect against the development of the type of goiter due to lack of iodine in the system.

Fish may be cooked by any of the methods used for cooking other foods, namely, baking, boiling, broiling, or frying. Whatever method is used, however, it must be remembered that such a protein-rich food should never be subjected to continued high temperature.

Large fresh fish are sometimes cut into pieces and fried, but more often they are baked whole. To make up for the natural lack of fat in the fish and to prevent the heat searing the protein on the surface, strips of bacon are sometimes placed over the top of fish, or the fish may be "basted" with melted fat during baking when the surface becomes dry.

Breakfast: Orange juice, steel cut oats, toast, butter, coffee, milk. Lunch: Fish chowder, cornmeal muffins, peach salad. Dinner: Baked stuffed fish, boiled rice, scalloped tomatoes, lettuce salad, baked apples. Breakfast: Grapefruit, creamed fish on toast, buttered toast, cocoa and coffee.

Dinner: Fried fish, lemon sauce, mashed potatoes, buttered beets, cabbage and nut salad, apricot pie, bread, butter.

RECIPES FISH CHOWDER: 1-4 fat salt pork cubed, 1 lb. fresh cod (bones removed), 1 qt. milk, 2 onions, 4 c diced raw potatoes. Arrange ingredients in layers in a kettle. Put several split soda crackers on top, cover tightly and stew gently, add more milk if needed.

BAKED STUFFED FISH: Select any medium sized fish (three or four pounds); clean fish, remove bones by running a thin sharp knife under backbone and adjoining small bones. Fill with dressing. Sew or skewer sides to prevent dressing from escaping. Place on strips of bacon in a hot well greased baking pan. Brush top surface with melted fat. Pour enough hot water into pan barely to cover the bottom. Bake in a moderate oven for about 45 to 60 minutes.

FILLING: 1 c cracker crumbs, 1 t chopped olives, 1 t chopped parsley, 1 t chopped sweet pickle. Use melted butter or bacon fat to moisten.

BAKED TOMATOES—FISH STUFFING: 6 tomatoes, 1-2 c flaked fish (cooked), 1-2 c tomato pulp, 2 T bread crumbs, 2 T butter or bacon fat, 1-2 t onion juice, 1-2 t salt. Mix inside pulp tomatoes with fish, crumbs, melted fat and onion. Stuff and place in pan containing enough water to cover bottom and bake in moderate oven.

Tahoka—A price was paid for a beautiful farm yard lawn but it is worth it, think Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Harter of Lynn county. It cost digging up of all the trees and shrubs which spotted the yard, transplanting them to more fitting places, plowing the yard deep manuring and watering, going to town for Bermuda grass roots, and then more watering. Began last March as part of a yard beautification demonstration with Miss El Fleda Harrison, home demonstration agent. Mr. Harter had the privilege of mowing the new lawn in June. In addition to the lawn, windbreak and foundation plantings were made, and flagstone walks laid. The grass was also spread over the storm cellar.

In Bask county 150 4-H club boys have learned how to prune fruit trees that they may help in the development of home orchards.

Men have done amateur and professional cooking from the beginning of time but it is only recently that 4-H Club boys have gone in for it on any scale. Fourteen boys of the Oakesdale community in Washington have a meal planning club which will be supervised by Miss Carrie Busby, a regular leader. They will take up as the first year's work the preparation of breakfasts.

The boys will learn to cook cereal, coffee, cocoa, muffins, waffles, baking powder biscuits, and plan balanced menus for this meal. They will also learn how to prepare other staple dishes, and judge baked goods. The boys range in age from 9 to 12 years, and they call their group the "Batter Up" club. There is a girl's cooking club of 28 members in the same community and the boys expect to enter into competition with them in some season-end contests.

Scattered cases of boys carrying on home economics projects have not been infrequent. In New Hampshire a boy won the open state championship in canning for the second time last year. He is Howard Epping, 19, of Hartford. Canning was one of seven projects he carried on in nine years of club work. His proceeds from canning and a flock of 300 hens is paying his way in school and more besides.

First place in the Massachusetts contest in canning last year went to Kenneth Benson, of Middlesex county. He was in his seventh year of canning work and his 1932 product totalled 1,110 containers. He took in $245 from sales of canned goods, besides supplying the requirements of his family. His exhibits have won many prizes in state and national competitions.

Another case is William Hawkins of Greene County, Mo., who with his sister made up the demonstration team which ranked second in the utilization of dairy products at the national contest last year at Waterloo, Iowa. The pair showed how to make ice cream and cream of tomato soup. William's mother helped coach the pair and said she thought it was mighty handy for a boy to know how to do things in a kitchen.

There are 1,733,954 Roman Catholic church members in New York and next in order 141,205 Protestant Episcopal.

Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

Jesus Ministering to Jews and Gentiles. Lesson for April 2nd. Mark 7:24 and 37. Golden Text: John 10:16.

This Sunday we begin the second quarter of our year's studies, that will bring us to the end of the gospel of Mark. We shall study the latter portion of the energetic ministry of Jesus, where the dramatic intensity is greatly heightened, the dark shadow of the Cross falling upon the gospel record, an omen both of bitter failure and glorious triumph. Our lesson today is one on world friendship emphasizing, as it does Jesus' entire absence of race prejudice. We read of His entrance into Gentile territory, the region of Tyre and Sidon. There His fame had preceded him, so that He could not travel unnoticed. A Greek woman, we are told, flung herself at His feet, beseeching Him to expel the evil spirit from her daughter.

Rev. Charles E. Dunn

The reply of the Master, if considered by itself apart from its setting, seems harsh. "It is not right," He said, "to take the children's bread and throw it to the dogs." Now the word "dog" was a term of contempt used by the Jews of Christ's day for the Gentiles. But this incident makes it perfectly clear that Jesus, in this metaphor, was speaking playfully, with gentle irony. It is worth noting that the Greek word for "dogs" used by the Master is a diminutive, literally meaning "puppies." Jesus thereby softened His allusion, employing a term for household pets. The woman was keen enough to sense His good humor and to turn the metaphor so that it served her need. "True, Sir," she cleverly replied, "and yet the dogs under the table eat the children's scraps." Her point clearly was that if the Gentiles are to be treated as household dogs, then fairness demands that they be fed with the crumbs that fall from their masters' tables. It was exactly the sort of reply Jesus wanted. He appreciated it to the full, and rewarded her at once. Her darling was healed. Thus a Jew healed one considered pagan. Such magnanimity is an anticipation of that united, world society toward which mankind painfully marches.

BRUCE BARTON writes of "THE MASTER EXECUTIVE"

Supplying a work-to-work inspiration for the heavy-burdened who will find every business trial paralleled in the experiences of "The Man Nobody Knows."

MASTER OF SITUATIONS In all the three years of his public work there was not one moment when Jesus failed to be complete master of the situation. He was accessible to anybody—in the market place, in the temple and on the main streets—fair game for the keen and clever.

It became quite a recognized sport to match wits with him. Pharisees tried it. Always they came off second best. At length the very chiefs of the priests came one afternoon. Lesser antagonists had gone down; now the leaders themselves would take the matter in hand. They would demolish this presumptuous upstart; by the splendor of their presence and their offices, they would awe him into line.

"By what authority do you do these things," they demanded brusquely, "and who gave you this authority?"

If they expected him to yield an inch they received the surprise of their lives. His retort was instantaneous.

"I'll ask you a question," he exclaimed, "and if you answer it, then I'll tell you by what authority I work. Answer me now, what about John; was his work in baptizing inspired by Heaven or by men?"

They caught their breath. Their heads came together; excited and disturbing whispers were exchanged. What should they say? If we answer that John had come from Heaven, he will say, "Well, why then didn't you believe him?"

If we say that he came from men, this crowd of fools will tear us to pieces, because every last one of them believes that John was a prophet. What shall we do? Better tell him we don't know; better get out of here as quickly as we can. "We don't know," they muttered.

"All right," said Jesus serenely. "You don't answer my question. Neither will I answer yours."

It was a perfect triumph. Amid the jeers of the delighted crowd they gathered up their fine robes and went away.

You would think as you read the narratives that the wise ones would have been wise enough to let him alone. Even a child having burned its fingers once, knows enough to avoid the fire. But their jealousy and anger drove them back again and again; and every time he was too weak for them. In the very last week

The FAMILY DOCTOR by JOHN JOSEPH GAINES, M.D.

COLD FEET To the bow-wows with your "vitamins" and your "six-hormones" and your "invisible cells! Let's talk about something you can understand, that you meet every day.

"Cold feet" is most emphatically a SYMPTOM, and if you have 'em persistently it's a sign that your nerves are not up to normal, or that your capillary circulation is faulty—or both. Elderly and old individuals are often victims of this sort of condition. Many "nervous" women who are much younger suffer with cold feet.

It is worth while to pay attention to habitually cold feet. I am a believer in a salt-water bath for the feet before retiring, when feet remain cold in bed for a long time. The salt in the water stimulates the capillary circulation in the skin, and the nerve-endings there as well. Bathe the feet with the salty water, and dry them with a coarse towel. Get right into bed after treating. Keep up your attention to the feet—a month if you can.

Limited amount of blood in the feet means excess of blood in other localities. Some cold-footed individuals have congestive headaches. If your home is not built for cold feet, get a hot-water bag and warm the region inhabited by your feet in bed. If not that, a hot iron—even a hot brick! I have known warm feet to cure some forms of headaches.

Remember—some of you—poor folks often adapt poor ways. We do not all have air tight houses and steam heated rooms. Some of us live out in the country, you know. I can't help feeling just a wee bit sorry for victims of cold feet—hence this letter.

Your physicians will probably recommend a good nerve tonic in addition to my hints. He will know. Warm feet are good protection from kidney disease—bear in mind.

AWAKENED WOMAN

by ELINORE BARRY

Third Installment.

SYNOPSIS

When Joyce opened her eyes one morning to see a fruit-laden orange tree from the end of the luxurious sleeping porch where she lay in bed, she couldn't decide what had happened to her, for the last thing she remembered was a skidding taxicab in Chicago on a sleeting November day. And when she saw the circlet of diamonds on her wedding finger and when a man who called her Frills came to bid her an affectionate goodbye before leaving home for a hurried business trip, warning her to be careful after her fall from a horse the day before, she was even more puzzled. The gorgeous house that was evidently her home, the faint brown stains on her fingers—she had never smoked—and the initials on her toilet articles, F. L. P., added to her bewilderment. But—"it's heavenly," she said. "I'd be perfectly happy to spend a whole day right here."

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

There were also several letters lying about in this litter, Joyce, picking one up, glanced around at the door, feeling an almost irresistible impulse to look it before she read the letter. Then she forced herself to remain seated. "You've a perfect right to read these letters," she said to herself out loud, "don't be a fool! Even if any one did come, I guess . . . I guess . . . I'm Mrs. Neil Packard!" Yet the uneasy feeling persisted that the girl named Frills Packard might at any moment come in from the other room and scornfully demand an explanation of her actions. "Oh, what's the matter with me? There can't be another Frills. Frills Packard is as dead now as . . . as Joyce Ashton was yesterday. She can't come in."

Joyce opened the first letter resolutely. A newspaper clipping fell out. On the heavy, pale lavender paper with deckle edges was a short note in a sprawling feminine hand. It began without any preliminaries: "Looks as if you had some party! Wish I'd been there. You might hand this clipping on to Laurine. I hear she's been trying to find out where Mait was while you were at Nita's. Watch your step, Frilly! C."

Not trying to digest the meaning of this note, Joyce hastily read the newspaper clipping: "A great deal of righteous indignation is being felt among the citizens of the Valley Road district at the actions of a certain prominent society woman and her weekend guests. When all other amusements failed to provide the necessary thrills, a new game was instituted and carried out between two and three o'clock Sunday morning. This game was a species of follow-your-leader, played in motors with no headlights, and only the bright moonlight on the Valley Road district was presumably responsible for the fact that there were no casualties among the players, for the driving was undoubtedly of the most reckless character, and the leader led the party a merry chase over banks and sidewalks, across fields and lawns with utter disregard for the property of other people.

"It is understood that the hosts of this party paid liberally for the damage sustained and adjusted so that it will not be taken into the courts. The young woman originated the sport and drove the leading car is the wife of a well-known Manzanita citizen. Her partner in the game was a man from the same place whose name is said to be frequently mentioned in the same breath with hers."

As Joyce finished reading, a wave of horrified shame flooded her. "How perfectly disgusting! I suppose they were all drunk as lords, Frills worse than the rest. No wonder Neil is worried about 'reckless stunts.' I should think he might be! I'd like to know who 'C' is and who's Mait? This," she thought, "is a pleasant revelation! All the signs have pointed to Frills being a bit lively, but this is a little too much."

Just then the telephone rang. There was an instrument on the desk, gray-enamelled like the furniture, and Joyce quietly lifted off the receiver and listened in. After a moment's silence, she heard the maid answering on the instrument downstairs. A man's voice inquired, "May I speak to Mrs. Packard, please?"

"Mrs. Packard gave instructions that she didn't feel up to seeing or speaking to anyone today."

"Oh? Well, listen Roxie, tell her it's Mr. Maitland, will you, and ask her if I can't speak to her just a minute."

"All right, sir."

Joyce hastily but cautiously replaced the receiver and getting up, went out onto the sunny sleeping porch. In a moment she heard the woman's voice at the bedroom door, and going in, listened to her message.

"Just, just tell him I—" she hesitated.

"Tell him I'm asleep," she said finally, looking down at the carpet and feeling a guilty reluctance to meet the maid's eye. Then, when the woman had left, she returned to the desk telephone and listened again.

"Mrs. Packard is asleep, sir."

"Oh, she is? Well, when she wakes, tell her I called. And ask her to call me, please."

"Yes, sir." Click, click. And then Joyce hung up her own receiver, breathing a sigh of relief at her escape.

Hardly had she leaned back in the chair, when the bell rang again. She listened anxiously. A rather coarse feminine voice replied to the maid's quiet "Yes?" saying, "How's Mrs. Packard this morning, Roxie? Can I speak to her? Tell her it's Kate Belmain?"

And then Joyce hung up her own receiver, breathing a sigh of relief at her escape.

"Sorry Mrs. Belmain, but Mrs. Packard is sleeping and gave orders not to be disturbed."

"Oh, well, I'll call again later . . . Say Roxie," in a conversational tone, "wasn't she the lucky girl not to get smashed up in a fall like that? I felt sick when I heard about it. Didn't break a thing, did she?"

"No, ma'am, she hit her head, but I guess it wasn't a bad blow."

"Well, I'll tell the world she's lucky! Well, tell her I called, will you, Roxie."

"She seems on intimate terms with the family. Her voice sounds middle-aged and fat, uncultured."

Thought Joyce, critically, "I wonder who else will call up? All I need to do to learn who are the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Packard is to sit here and listen to the telephone conversations! I'm finding things out anyhow. I know now that the maid's name is Roxie and that 'Mait' is Mr. Maitland and that there's a couple named Kate and Kate Belmain."

She continued her explorations, which disclosed three more bedrooms, each with its own bath—one decorated in green, one in orchid, and one in pale yellow. "I'm lucky there aren't any guests in the house," she thought thankfully, finding nothing but unoccupied rooms. "I'd hate to run into somebody, staying right in the place. Well, I'll go back to my boudoir and see if I can dig up any more news of what the charming Frills has been perpetrating. Wish I could discover what the date is and how long it has been since I . . . I left Philadelphia."

She sat down on the chair at the desk again and picked up one of the letters. The postmark on the first was too blurred to decipher, but the second one was clearly stamped. She stared at it bewildered, a sudden feeling of faintness seizing her. "Why, I left Philadelphia in November. That means Oh, it can't be possible! April—nearly two years! Where have I been all that time? Oh, I can't understand it. It frightens me. . . I don't like it. Oh, dear . . . Oh, dear . . ."

Suddenly her overwrought nerves gave way, and slipping to her knees in front of the couch, Joyce buried her face in her arms and began to sob desperately, terror and loneliness possessing her entirely.

When Joyce awoke, she lay for some moments collecting her thoughts.

So it had not been a dream. It was something actual and inescapable which she had to face.

She sat up on the couch, wide awake now, and soberly tried to decide what to do next. As she stared about the room, she realized that the sun was no longer shining in. How long had she slept? There was no clock in the room. She remembered having seen, however, among the contents of the nice leather case on the dressing table a small diamond-set wrist watch. Returning to the bedroom, she caught sight of herself in the mirror. Her dress was badly rumpled, her hair stood up in curly confusion and her face was streaked from the tears she had shed.

Four o'clock. "Phew, what a long nap! I feel a lot better, anyhow. I wonder if anyone else called up. Oh, dear, that Belmain woman said they were coming over this afternoon. They'll probably be here soon. I think I'll put on a different dress and see if I can get anything to eat. I'm perishing with thirst, too."

She pulled the crumpled dress over her head and went to the closet door to pick out something else to wear, when, suddenly, she heard voices downstairs. Stopping short, she tiptoed softly over to the door which stood ajar. She could hear a woman speaking.

"Well, I'm glad she's been able to sleep, Roxie. . . No, I'll just run up myself. She'll want to see me, if she's awake, of course. I just want to find out how she is and if I can do anything for her. Did you say she'd had anything to eat today?"

"That must be Laurine! The voice moved nearer as if its owner were approaching the stairs. Joyce, in a panic, looked wildly about for some escape. Couldn't she have one day to herself? She thought of locking the door. Then afraid to delay another second, she dashed out to the sleeping porch, pulled down the covers of the neatly-covered bed, and slid between the sheets. With thumping heart she half-buried her face in the pillow, shut her eyes tightly and tried to compose herself into a state where she could breathe quietly.

Firm steps sounded approaching the door, and a voice said, "Frills where are you? Oh!" the voice trailed off into a soft murmur as the speaker evidently discovered the sleeping form in the bed.

The caller stood quietly by the bedside for such a long time that Joyce grew nervous. Why didn't the woman go away? Couldn't she see that Frills was asleep? Or did she guess that she was shamming?

Just as she felt that she could not stand it a minute longer, and must either giggle or choke, she heard her unseen caller depart.

"Thank goodness! My, I'm roasted!" She threw off the covers and got up cautiously, creeping into the room to listen to what happened downstairs. She heard the same voice speaking but could not distinguish the words. Finally, however, the front door opened and closed.

So rested and so much more confident did Mrs. Frills feel that she decided to go downstairs risking the meeting with any callers who might appear.

Roxie was by one of the windows reading a newspaper. Seeing Joyce, she stood up.

"I slept longer than I expected to," said Joyce, "and I'm sort of hungry," she said, finding it impossible not to slip into a conciliatory tone and attitude. "Is there something to eat I could have, I wonder?"

"Why, of course, ma'am. I replied Roxie promptly, "would you like a regular lunch or just tea?"

"Tea, please." The very thought was luxurious.

"Certainly, ma'am. Would you like sandwiches with it, or just cake?"

"Oh, sandwiches, please. I'm so hungry. And I wonder if . . ." she went on, uncomfortably convinced that Frills never asked for anything in this apologetic fashion.

"—I'd like some orange juice to drink too."

"Yes, ma'am. Will you have it out on the terrace or up in your room?"

Joyce decided hastily that she would take a chance. "On the terrace, please."

She enjoyed the food almost more than her breakfast, reflecting with half-amused amusement that her appetite was good in spite of the shock of awaking to find herself Mrs. Neil Packard. Ought any one in her terrible predicament enjoy food so enthusiastically?

She was just draining the last drop of orange juice and wishing regretfully that she had more when a man's voice at the doorway startled her so, she nearly dropped the glass.

"My Lord, Frills, since when have you taken to drinking orange juice?"

A man crossed the terrace with quick steps, sat down on a chair close behind her and leaning forward looked rather with an expression of lively concern.

"Did I startle you? Sorry! I guess your nerves are jumpy after what happened. How do you feel, sweetheart?"

Joyce had been completely taken by surprise, and in her condition of excited apprehension, his entrance upset her so thoroughly that she could scarcely speak.

Comanche—Net profits of $26 a piece were made by 131 Comanche county 4-H club boys who reported completed demonstrations last year to J. A. Barton, county agent. Of the 9 kinds of crop demonstrations those in tomato growing made the largest profits per acre with $56.70; followed by syrup cane with $37.51; Irish potatoes with $30.35; watermelons with $27.35; sweet potatoes with $23.24; and less than $20 per acre from peanuts, corn, cotton and maize. Pig club boys made $23.85 per sow; baby beef club boys $9.30 per calf; sheep club boys $1.19 per sheep; and poultry club boys 56 cents per hen, and $1.06 per turkey.

Mt. Pleasant—By planting crops for hogging down, and by making full use of mast, 9 Titus county farmers have averaged $10.35 above feed cost on 58 sows managed in demonstrations with the county agent. Oats in the spring and corn and cowpeas and other crops in summer and fall have been found good hogging-down crops.

WITHOUT attaching a separate meter to each appliance, we cannot itemize the daily cost of the various services that electricity performs for the individual customer. If we could, the average bill would look something like the one shown above. Most of the charges would be for one cent or less as there is scarcely a household task that electricity will not perform for pennies or fractions of pennies. One cent's worth of electricity, for example, will percolate seven cups of coffee. It will toast enough bread for a large family. It will run an electric clock twenty-four hours. It will clean several rugs or wash a large amount of dirty clothing. Although it is next to impossible for us to furnish an itemized list, the average monthly bill covers scores upon scores of such daily services, each one rendered at trifling cost.

FRANK PARKER STOCKBRIDGE

FORD becomes banker

By coming to the rescue of the Detroit banking situation, Henry Ford has again demonstrated his public spirit, and probably has set himself up as a fresh target for the abuse of the envious.

Mr. Ford refused to become a director or a minority stockholder in the two big Detroit banks that were in trouble, because he has originated ideas about the way banks should be run, which he couldn't make effective if he were merely one of a group. But he and his son came forward with a proposal to supply all the capital needed for two big new banks to take over the old ones.

I would be willing to make a fair sized wager that Mr. Ford will introduce revolutionary ideas into banking and will be as successful in that as he has been in his other ventures.

CASH

Henry Ford and his son unquestionably have more cash in banks subject to check than anybody else in the world. Yet Mr. Ford has a profound distrust of most bankers and their methods.

He told me how once, in his early days, he set a trap for some bankers and they fell into it. He had been told that a certain group of bankers wanted to get control of his business. He went to them and "talked poor." They lent him what was then a large amount of money, about half a million dollars. Shortly before the note came due he wrote them a letter asking for an extension. The next morning the head of the banking house was in his office, offering an extension on condition that Mr. Ford would turn over a controlling interest in his company to the bankers.

Ford's interest was to write a check for the entire amount of the loan with interest.

"That was my first lesson in high finance," he told me.

ORIGINALITY

Ford asset

"I have known Mr. Ford for a good many years. What makes him different from all other leaders in business is that he has no fixed 'brain patterns.' Because things have always been done in a certain way does not seem to Mr. Ford sufficient reason for continuing to do them that way, if a better way can be found.

Mr. Ford is often called an autocrat, because he insists upon doing things in what he believes to be the right way. He has no patience with people who tell him that his way is the wrong way, before it has been tried out. That is why he bought out his minority stockholders for nearly a hundred million dollars in cash, because they thought the right way to run his business was to pay all the profits in dividends, instead of using them to improve the plant and the product and reduce the price to the buyer.

HOSPITAL

so different

One example of Mr. Ford's "autocracy" often cited is his management of the big hospital which he gave to the city of Detroit. Although not a resident of Detroit, Mr. Ford was a member of the committee which was trying to raise funds for a new city hospital. Money came in slowly and conflicting ideas about what kind of a hospital ought to be built were put forward. Mr. Ford finally said that if they would give him full control he would put up all the money and build the finest hospital in the world.

He did exactly that, after employing scores of experts to study and report upon hospital construction and management in all the great medical centers.

The Detroit hospital is the only important hospital that is not run by doctors. It is run by Henry Ford's appointees for the benefit of the people of Detroit. A good many doctors don't like that, but I doubt if there is any hospital in the world where ordinary patients have more comfort and better medical care.

FINANCE

The depression has proved, not that there was anything the matter with our industrial system, but that the nation's financial system had got into the hands of incompetent or reckless men bent on enriching themselves at the expense of the public.

The chairman of the board of the nation's largest bank resigned a few days ago as a result of disclosures of his banking methods before a Senatorial investigation committee.

The country has been suffering from too many weak banks and too few honest bankers. One of the big jobs of the new Administration has ahead of it is the reorganization or rehabilitation of the nation's banking systems and methods.

THIS WEEK IN WASHINGTON

Repeal Up to States

Washington, D. C.—Congress suddenly decided to submit the much talked of Constitutional amendment repealing prohibition, and now it is up to the states to call conventions for the purpose of passing on the repeal amendment. Half a dozen or more states have already begun their preparations for these conventions. In a number of states where the Legislatures are in session steps are being taken to provide for the control of the liquor traffic in the expectation that the repeal amendment will be ratified. New York State has appointed an active commission to study the subject and report a workable plan.

Japan is No Worry

Washington is taking calmly the serious issue between Japan and the rest of the world. Our Government is standing pat on its declaration of last Fall, that we would not recognize the territorial rights of Japan in Manchuria which have been acquired by force. The League of Nations has taken the same definite position. Russia, which would like to control Manchuria itself and which is Japan's hereditary enemy, is said to take the same attitude.

Extra Guard for F. R.

The attempt to assassinate the new President has brought to the force renewed discussion of means of protecting the person of the President against such attacks. Three Presidents have been shot by assassins, but nobody believes there is any effective way of guarding the President if an armed innuic makes a determined effort to get him. President Roosevelt's kinsman, Theodore Roosevelt, always carried a revolver and was an expert in its use. He is probably the only President that ever went armed while occupying that office. The picked guard of Secret Service men which always accompanies the President wherever he goes will be increased for President Franklin Roosevelt.

Warning

Don't be misled by false statements. Calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills and drugs have no effect whatever on the liver or its production of bile. The truth of this statement can be proved by consulting the authoritative medical textbooks published during the past five years.

New York has had in many years, Mr. Mulrooney has never taken any active part in politics, but his political friends belong to the anti-Tammany or Roosevelt wing of the New York City Democracy.

Failure of the present Congress to pass many of the important appropriation bills and relief measures makes the calling of a special session a certainty. The new Congress will meet probably in April, but the Senate will meet in special session at noon on March 4th, when the Seventy-Second Congress expires by law.

President Hoover has issued the call for this special session, which is customary when a President goes out of office and a new President comes in. The Senate is going to do the same thing in the management of the White House.

Washington is wondering how she is going to do it. For a hundred years the White House expenses have been managed by a continuing trained staff under the direction, for the past forty-two years, of "Ike" Hoover, the majordomo of the Presidential residence, and Ike and his staff say that it just can't be done.

Mr. Roosevelt's wife of the new President, announced a while ago that since her husband had promised to cut 25 percent off the Government expenditures, she was going to do the same thing in the care of a housekeeper and manage the strictly domestic arrangements herself. She will be the first lady of the White House, since Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, to act as her own housekeeper.

Largely on the initiative of Hon. Newton Baker, formerly Secretary of War and a powerful factor in the councils of the Democratic party, the proposal to take care of homeless and unemployed young men of military age in army camps, where they would be housed, fed, clothed, drilled and taught until they were able to find work is being seriously considered in Congress and probably will be authorized.

Montague—Killing, cutting and curing meat the "A and M" way. 140 farmers in Montague county had slaughtered 330 hogs by January 1st and no reports of spoilage had been made to County Agent E. C. Jameson who directed them in this work. Heretofore, Mr. Jameson states, it was commonly thought in the county that a farmer could expect to lose from a third to a half of his meat each season. Forty farmers have slaughtered 85 hives under the direction of the county agent, most of the meat was canned but some was put on cold storage where that was available and economical.

More Bales Ginned.

There were 12,982 bales of cotton, counting round as half bales, ginned in Hamilton County from the crop of 1932 as compared with 12,155 bales from the crop of 1931.

There is no denying that this is a spring season of suits. In woolens, in crepes and in silks the suit is smart and for street wear cannot be excelled. Now comes the word from style centers that the newest in colors are the light woolens and silks dyed in flower colors. Suits, coats and frocks in lilac, dolphinium blue and crocus yellow are already fitting along fashion avenue.

The suit shown in the sketch above incorporated every new slenderizing line. It is a crocus yellow of light woolen, the relief being a trim of marine blue silk crepe inset on yoke and jacket sleeve. The jacket hangs straight in line and the sleeve, while full, hangs in straight-line from a draped shoulder.

On the right is a full sleeve frock in silk print, which with its high neckline and ascot scarf accentuates the bias cut of the material, even including the paneled skirt which is full despite its straightline hang. Both models are popular spring styles.

MOTHER OF MRS. J. B. POOL DIED AT HOME IN DE LEON

Funeral services were held in De Leon Wednesday afternoon of last week at 2:30 for Mrs. J. Doss Miller, mother of Mrs. J. B. Pool, of Hico, who passed away at the family home in De Leon at 8 o'clock Wednesday morning. The services were conducted by Rev. C. A. Morton, of Gatesville, and Rev. David M. Phillips of De Leon and the body laid to rest in the De Leon Cemetery.

Mrs. Miller was a victim of paralysis, taking ill Tuesday morning at 11:40 o'clock. She had suffered a similar stroke last autumn from which she had only partially recovered.

Born in Desoto county, Miss., July 21, 1850, Mrs. Miller was eighty-two years, nine months and one day of age. Her maiden name was Everett Stewart, her parents, being Mr. and Mrs. J. N. B. Stewart. On February 13, 1878, she was married to J. Doss Miller at Herndon, Miss. Five children were born to this union, Mrs. J. B. Pool, Hico; Mrs. C. L. Pittman, De Leon; J. Doss Miller, De Leon; Mrs. J. E. Williamson, San Antonio; and Mrs. S. O. Ridenhower, Junction. Surviving also are three step children, Mrs. J. W. Chambers, Waco; C. C. Miller, De Leon and J. C. Miller of Jolly, Texas. The latter three came under the motherly care of Mrs. Miller when they were quite young children and loved her as a mother.

There are twenty-nine grand children and nineteen great grand children.

Mrs. Miller professed a living faith in Christ and united with the Baptist Church at Arkabutla, Miss., in 1876. Going to De Leon she became a member of the Baptist church there and for almost a half century has been a faithful member.

San Angelo—A home market for one million pounds of home-grown feed is provided by the 2417 head of cattle on feed in demonstrations in Tom Green county, according to W. I. Marshall, county agent. Home grown rations featuring grain sorghums have been demonstrated practical in previous feeding demonstrations, he says, pointing to two lots of local cattle that topped the markets on which they were sold last year.

MRS. J. C. WHITE HONORED ON 79TH BIRTHDAY TUESDAY

Last Tuesday evening at 7 o'clock, members of the Church of Christ of Hico gathered at the church with well filled baskets for a beautiful supper honoring Mrs. J. C. White of Hico. She is the oldest member of the congregation and also her 79th birthday.

Supper was spread and after all had enjoyed the evening meal with all the delicious eats prepared by the good ladies of the church, a talk was made by Bro. J. L. Wilson on the life and church work of Mrs. White, she having been a member of the Church of Christ for more than sixty years. The past fifty of this time she spent with the Hico congregation. Her husband, Rev. J. C. White, now deceased, was a pastor of the church for many years.

Some good singing was also enjoyed with Ripsey Newton as song leader. Mrs. White was asked to come forward and occupy a chair near the pulpit where several men of the church went to the back where a shower of gifts had been concealed, and brought them forward and placed them before her. The shower was a complete surprise to her. Bro. Wilson explained to her that it was a token of love and respect for her and her faithfulness to the church.

After expressing her gratitude for the many deeds of love and kindness shown, a song was sung and the congregation was dismissed in prayer.

We trust this good lady will enjoy many more such happy birthdays.

The birthday cake was baked by Mrs. Tom Griffiths and it was a delicious angel food.

Sunday School 10 o'clock. Classes for all ages and literature for all who come.

Pastor's morning subject: "God's Unfailing Grace." Isa. 46:4. The text is a blessed stimulant for old age. My message will be especially for the aged. We extend special invitation to every aged person and if you need convalescence, notify us.

B. Y. P. U. from 7 to 7:40. Evening worship 7:40. Pastor's scripture lesson Isa. 45, entire chapter text, Verse 22.

Business meeting next Wednesday night 7:30. At this meeting we shall discuss plans for our revival meeting. We trust that the church members will all be present.

L. P. THOMAS, Pastor.

A campaign to raise a State-wide fund of $100,000 to build a Texas exhibit at the Chicago Century of Progress Exposition was launched in Dallas Monday by members of the Governor's committee, named by Governor Ferguson. The chairman and vice-chairman of the committee will be in Dallas several days and will open a Texas headquarters in the Baker Hotel Tuesday.

BOWELS

need watching

Let Dr. Caldwell help whenever your child is feverish or upset; or has caught cold.

His simple prescription will make that bilious, headachy, cross boy or girl comfortable, happy, well in just a few hours. It soon restores the bowels to healthy regularity. It helps "break-up" a cold by keeping the bowels free from all that sickening mucus waste.

You have a famous doctor's word for this laxative. Dr. Caldwell's record of having attended over 3500 births without loss of one mother or baby is believed unique in American medical history.

Get a bottle of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin from your druggist and have it ready. Then you won't have to worry when any member of your family is headachy, bilious, gassy or constipated. Syrup Pepsin is good for all ages. It sweetens the bowels, increases appetite—makes digestion more complete.

Crime Characterizes Journalism Study

Crime will feature roll call on April 10th in the home of Emory Gamble for Journalism Club. Good discussions will be related on:

"The organization, ownership, services, and history of the Press Association."

"What are the duties and opportunities of the city correspondent for the Press Association?"

The Juniors are appointed for next program committee.

We welcome Emory Gamble as a new member in our club.

Those attending at the home of Leighton Guyton were: Elizabeth Rouse, Eurus Hackett, Yetta Blair, Mary Helen Hall, Emory Gamble, Mattie Lee Goad, Geary Cheek, Martha Porter, Leighton Guyton, Hazel Shelton, Guy Eakins, Louise Seago, Ray Cheek, J. W. Dohoney and Mary Beth Norwood.

To Wilma

Wilma Walton, popular student of the Senior Class in Hico High School, was taken to the Methodist Hospital in Dallas last Friday to undergo an operation for appendicitis. Wilma has been suffering for the last week and made the trip to Dallas earlier in the week.

Our high school has been fortunate this year in that until now no student has been ill enough to have to go to the hospital, and we are glad that Wilma is getting along so well that the doctors may allow her to leave the hospital Friday.

Dear Sue: What is this I hear about Emory Gamble and Elizabeth romancing? Watch out you two or you'll be placed in the steady or discarded stack!

Does dancing on cement wear out high school children's shoes? And does the cement, being a certain porch, make it any worse? Why didn't Louise get to give her party? Poor Fish!

Why wouldn't Alma tell you she has a date with? Is it sans date or ashamed date? Wilma's loss of appendix has caused mahogany circles under Buster's eyes.

Warning! Stay away from telephone offices. Why? Ask Rhuey. Isn't there a resemblance in McDowell's tackling and Antony's hildump?

I saw in the "Advice to the Lovelorn" column a letter signed H. Ross, Hico, asking if infatinations effected a person on the 220 low hurdles.

Yours,
LOU.

Old Favorite Wins High Hurdles. Jack Vickrey, Daddy Longlegs, gave the spectators a thrill as he stepped lightly over the high hurdles, coming out with first place. Hamilton gritted their teeth as Jack laid a thick layer of stuff over their eyes. His time was 19.5 seconds.

"If"

(With apologies to Kipling) If you can be a fish and stand the pressure, And hear the scorn of Sophs who patronize,

If you can make a straight "A" card 'our measure, And yet don't seem too good or act too wise,

If you can pass mid-term examinations, And forego Senior dates on Friday night,

And always have a "tardy" explanation, And never never have a rate to write;

And then become a Soph and never lose your balance, But care not for the hate of Senior girls,

Although your charms have captured all their gallants; And you to blame because they haven't curls?

If you can make a friend of every teacher, Although you are a sycophant to none;

And even if you are a thoughtful creature, Still have a fair amount of honest fun,

If you can pass through English examination, Without a break in many of its laws,

Although you be not gifted in oration, And don't care a "ahem" about the course;

If you can turn your themes in on the date set, With book reports never a day behind,

Or make good daily recitations, and yet Escape the reputation of a grind, And when the path lies clear to graduation,

No credits short and of conditions free, And ended are the days of tribulation,

Your fears are gone, no obstacles you see, If you have done your level best each minute,

If you have not failed, but honors won, Yours is the earth, and all that's in it, And which is more—you'll be a Senior, son!

Ross Took Off His Share of Honors at Track Meet.

Horace Ross, sensational track star, stepped out at the Hamilton County Meet and took four first places and tied one of his team mates, Jack Vickrey, for another.

Little Ross broke one record and tied another. He broke the 220-yard low hurdle record and set one of 26.4 seconds. In the 220-yard dash, he tied his brother's old record of 23.3 seconds. Some say that Morse was faster than Horace, but Horace had to show them that he wasn't. His other two first places came in the 100-yard dash and the javelin throw.

He also tied Jack in the high jump. They both cleared the bar at five feet, 8 inches with ease. There was no other opponents left so they did not jump off the tie.

Everyone expects Horace to win at least two first places at the district meet which is to be held soon.

G. C.

Who's Who in the Senior Class.

Martha Alton, local poet and humorist, is one of the land marks of the Senior Class. Her interest in Physics and corollaryism characterizes Martha. She doesn't find the boys in Hico interesting; therefore she carried on lovely and lengthy correspondence with foreign boys. When Martha leaves high school, we lose one of our strongest links in the school chain.

Boys.

By Martha Alton Boys are a big mess, I must say. For instance take that loud mouthed Ray.

Shouting and talking with all his might, Rumble-seat riding is his great delight.

Then there's Eugene, so sweet and so kind, But the silly old nut, you couldn't change his mind.

Then there's W. L., so young and so spry (?) But gee, what a temper, Oh, my! my! my!

Oh, yes, then there's Jack His temper is one thing not so slack, Wilma says I've forgotten, That sweet, ole Buster's not so rotten.

"Come-Ups" Rage.

Those who came up to Jack Vickrey's after the bridge opening at Clairette were Martha, Mayo, Elizabeth, Flossie, Chick, Geary, F. S., Emory, Adolph and Leighton.

The gang that gathered at Mayo's and Hector's Saturday night were Nell Koonce of Rising Star, Mildred, Marie, Mary, Lois, Flossie, Martha, Elizabeth, Emory, S. E., F. S., Buster, Geary, Leighton, Chick, James Brown of Austin and Jack.

Home-made divinity candy was served to Mary Helen, Jeanette, Yetta, Glendene, Mary Bob, Eursie, Hobart and Geary.

Leaguers Work Jig-Saws.

Miss Rosalie Eakins entertained the Junior Epworth League with a party at her home Saturday. The evening was spent working (?) jig-saw puzzles.

Home-made divinity candy was served to Mary Helen, Jeanette, Yetta, Glendene, Mary Bob, Eursie, Hobart and Geary.

Jokes.

Dallas.—Fresh garden stuff may be had in Dallas county most months in the year and home canned vegetables the rest of the time. It has been demonstrated by Mary Alice Little, a 4-H club girl at Walnut Hill. She fed her family 1515 pounds of fresh vegetables and with the help of her mother canned 227 1-2 quarts for winter.

In her spring garden she had 27 varieties of which 9 were new to the family, and in her fall garden 26 varieties. She was one of 28 Dallas county club girls growing demonstration gardens in cooperation with Miss Alpha Lynn, assistant home demonstration agent.

With these demonstrations as a guide, 500 other club girls made gardens.

Ask Your Doctor Two Important Questions

How Many Minerals Does the Body Contain? Why Are Minerals and Vitamins So Essential to Bodily Health?

When your doctor names the Mineral elements of the body write down the list carefully. Take this list to your druggist and ask to see a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the marvelous new formula that is bringing health to thousands. Compare the Doctor's list with the label on the bottle and you'll find, without exception, every one of the essential Minerals are contained in this famous compound. That's the reason for its amazing success. It's Nature's own way to health.

OUR WONDERFUL BODIES Strange as it may seem, these wonderful bodies of ours consist of a very limited list of fundamental chemical elements. It is now known that only eleven minerals and five gases are needed by Nature in building the strongest man or the most beautiful woman.

OUR BODIES ARE ROBBED All of these essential Minerals and gases are present in natural foods but improper cooking and an unbalanced diet rob us of these vital elements. The system becomes charged with acid. Indigestion and Constipation follow. We become nervous and irritable; subject to headaches, fail to get the proper rest at night, become weak and listless and good health deserts us.

NATURE DEMANDS HELP When any of the essential Minerals are deficient, Nature demands help. Harsh laxatives, "patent" medicines and "pain killers" won't do. You must feed into the body those missing elements that Nature demands. LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, the new scientific formula, contains a balanced supply of Minerals, in combination with vitamins and it is surprising how quickly the system responds to this Natural health building formula.

CLEARs THE SYSTEM LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND, with Vitamins, sweeps the system clean of impurities, drives out dangerous "toxic" poisons, eliminates poisonous acids that destroy health, supplies the body with essential minerals, builds rich, red blood, new strength and energy, restores the appetite and aids digestion.

MAKE THIS 10 DAY TEST Convince Yourself! Stop dosing yourself with "patent medicines," harsh purgatives, oils and cathartics for just 10 days. Go to your nearest Drug-gist and secure a bottle of LEE'S MINERAL COMPOUND. Take it regularly, and watch the results. You'll be amazed at the feeling of renewed strength and vigor that soon appears. No narcotics or alcohol to "boost you up" but a natural method of restoring health and energy.

Bridge Celebration At Clairette "Went Off With a Bang"

Most of the people from this section of the country were in Clairette last Friday, either in the morning or at night, for the celebration of the completion of the mammoth new concrete bridge over the Bosque River at that point.

Estimates of the day's crowd run around a thousand, and those who were on hand at night stated that the crowd was two or three times as large at that time as at noon.

Speaking began at 10:30 in the morning, with talks by various speakers from over this section. Judge Oxford of Stephenville made the main address of the day. Music was furnished by the Dublin band, and after the crowd had gathered at noon they were served with delicious barbecue, pickles, bread, pies, cakes and coffee. There was plenty to eat for everybody on hand, with some left over, and those who partook of the feast state that the Clairette people certainly know how to feed.

Two baseball games, race and other amusements furnished pastime in the afternoon, and at night there was a dance staged on the bridge. This affair, according to Horace Alexander and others who were in charge, outgrew itself, and the only regret was that there were so many people present that it was difficult to find room for them.

W. E. Salmon of Clairette said he was more than pleased with the reception to the invitation extended the people, and was satisfied with the way things went off, as were his neighbors in Clairette.

Eldorado—Having fifty acres of oats and finding the price very unsatisfactory M. J. Wade, a ranchman of Schleicher county working with County Agent L. E. Sumner decided to cut half and turn stocker yearling muttons on the balance to fatten them for market. The 25 acres cut thrashed an average of 40 bushels to the acre and netted $59 above the cost of harvesting while the half that was grazed by the sheep netted $169. The sheep went on the oats about 10 days before the grain was ready to cut, no additional cake was fed them, and in 23 days the first shipment was sold at the top price for stock that age.

Carlton "Carries On" By Planning For 50th Annual Show

At a mass meeting held at the J. F. Pierce Drug Store last Tuesday night, it was decided by an overwhelming vote to stage Carlton's 50th Annual Stock and Poultry Show next month.

Around forty Carlton and community citizens were present to say that "nothing must keep us from having the show this year."

President G. L. Griffin called the meeting to order. Sec.-Treas. Grady Laws read the financial report of last year's show after which the following officers were elected to serve this year:

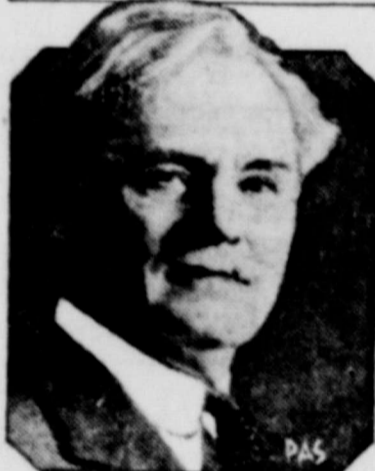

H. M. Everett, President; Prof. Huffman, vice president; Marvin Bell, Sec.-Treas.; C. C. Keeney, Radolph Short, G. L. Griffin, Grady Laws, and John Guess, Directors.

The popular vote was for a one day show to be held either Friday or Saturday April 21st or 22nd. This decision is to be left to the five directors appointed at the meeting and will be decided by them at their meeting next Saturday night.

A liberal sum of money was subscribed which proves that Carlton will not be 'downed' by any adverse conditions.

Another mass meeting is called for next Tuesday night at the J. F. Pierce Drug Store. Everyone is urged to be there to complete plans for the biggest one-day show Carlton has ever had.

Dons Walsh Toga

Senator John E. Erickson of Montana, retiring as Governor of that state to be named to fill out the unexpired term of the late Thomas H. Walsh, has had his appointment protested, but bids fair to be seated.

Carolina Makes Bid

Miss Bunny Bainbridge of Asheville, N. C., has been selected to represent that commonwealth in the contest for Grand Beauty Queen at the Chicago World's Fair in June. Cash prizes of $5,000 and $3,000 go to first and second places.

Warning

Don't be misled by false statements. Calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils, laxative pills and drugs have no effect whatever on the liver or its production of bile. The truth of this statement can be proved by consulting the authoritative medical textbooks published during the past five years.

There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargol Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances, and no other advertised medicine on the American market today does contain them.—(adv.)

Shows of Precinct 3 Shows Roads, Crops In Excellent Shape

At the invitation of S. A. Clark, Hamilton County Commissioner for Precinct No. 3, the News Review editor was treated to a tour over many of the roads in his precinct last Saturday afternoon. The arrival of spring and its attendant good weather, together with the many excellent roads traveled over combined to make the trip most pleasant. It is an inspiration to anyone not accustomed to getting out in the open to take a trip like this, especially when the signs of progress are so apparent, and when one's host is as congenial as "Uncle Sam" always is.

Starting out Hico south on the Fairy road, we turned off on the Falls Creek road, which is kept well dragged and in excellent shape most of the time. At Falls Creek we got out and inspected the new bridge over that stream, replacing the old dip which caused so much trouble to travelers in the past, and at which point the Fairy-Falls Creek school bus left the road some months back and floated downstream a considerable distance. There is no danger of a repetition of this accident, for now the modern new steel bridge with oak floors, removed from another part of the precinct during the work on Highway 66, spans the low place and furnishes an excellent crossing.

Coming into the Fairy-tredell road we found a nice stretch of road back into the main Fairy road at Mont Young's place.

At Fairy we turned to the left, and traveled up what Petty's ranch, on around the old Meridian road, past S. N. Akin's at Mt. Pleasant, and back toward Agee. Uncle Sam's boys were busy on a stretch of road near Agee, graveling it in the low places with the Baker-Maney machines, and putting it in excellent shape. The boys were hitting the ball, apparently not being of the disposition which needs constant working in order to keep them working.

It was only a short hop from that point over past the Fairy-Hamilton road toward Olin. At Johnson Patterson's place we noticed a Hamilton automobile dealer with his foot propped up on the fence, talking to the man of the house. While we didn't stop, we formed the conclusion that the subject of their conversation was the New 1933 Chevrolet. This is mentioned to let the gentlemen know that they can't put anything by a newspaper man.

Into Olin there is a nice stretch of road which is travelable in all kinds of weather, and there were many evidences of freshly-placed gravel that every time the Baker-Maneys are moved from one location to another, they spread a little gravel along the way, just to keep things moving in an efficient way. At Olin we encountered the main object of our visit, which was the new "highway" from Olin to Carlton, opened up recently. The right-of-way has been widened, all the sharp corners cut out, and the road really resembles a stretch of modern highway, although built as a part of the countryside is noted with this change, and the people who have occasion to travel in that locality should appreciate the work.

Before reaching Carlton, we turned off toward Hico on what we are informed is known as the old Pottsville road. This thoroughfare has more of the appearance of an old-time country road, having failed as yet to come in for its part of the improvement work on Mr. Clark's program, where it is possible to obtain the right-of-way reasonably. There is not so much traffic on this road, but the country itself furnished a change from the other parts we had visited, and helped to make our trip complete.

Back in Hico by mid-afternoon, we were informed by Mr. Clark that we had traveled over only a small part of the roads in his precinct. He has some three or four hundred miles to keep up and it is marvelous how he manages to get around to all of it the way he does. Another thing that was most noticeable was the improvement in the looks of the country and the farms where the roads have been widened. Property owners could well afford to donate all the right-of-way needed, and then put up a bonus to get roads such as are constructed with the proper cooperation. Mr. Clark builds for permanence, and refuses to make improvements where the road is not properly located, which seems to us a wise course.

New Fire Alarm Invention Getting Much Attention

K. A. Childress, who recently returned from Washington, D. C., where he was successful in getting a permit for the manufacture and sale of a new fire-alarm invention he has perfected, stated in Hico this week that his proposed system was being well received wherever it has been shown. Mr. Childress, who has demonstrated the unit to a number of people in this city, declares that it will work positively and that its installation in any home or business house would give ample protection.

Concerning the invention and the original plans of Mr. Childress the Groesbeck Journal recently carried the following: "A recent night fire in Groesbeck which cost the lives of two persons caused K. A. Childress, plant superintendent in the Journal, to start thinking of ways and means of preventing such calamities in the future. The result of his thinking has led to the perfection of a fire alarm which automatically rings when a fire breaks out in the house and keeps on ringing. A further feature of the automatic fire alarm is that it can also be used as an automatic signal to the telephone company in case of fire in the home. In other words the same action that starts the alarm to ringing in the home will also automatically inform the telephone operator that there is a fire at such and such a number. Mr. Childress states that his invention is not dependent upon the telephone companies for connection, to be successful, as an outside electric gong or siren may effectively be substituted for the telephone, however, he thinks that the telephone companies will look with favor on his invention as most all public utilities desire to render the best possible service to their patrons, and this fire alarm is undoubtedly, in Mr. Childress' opinion, a very desirable additional service that the telephone companies may render to their patrons without any additional cost to them.

"Sounds a little unreasonable doesn't it?" nevertheless it is true. This invention has been tested several times and works to perfection. It is that it is simple and inexpensive. Mr. Childress, who has already made a trip to Washington to insure himself of a patent on the device, is now completing arrangements for the assembling and sale of these devices, one which we prophesy every home will have before many years, not only as protection from being caught asleep by fire, but also as a medium through which to gain lower fire insurance rates."

Camp Branch By ELLA D. COLLIER

We are having some more cloudy weather. A shower would do the gardens good. It would also make the weeds and Johnson grass grow, which it does fast enough anyway.

Rev. R. H. Gibson preached two good sermons at Prairie Springs this month. He missed Saturday and Sunday nights on account of illness. There was an extra good attendance this time but we hope there will be more the next fourth Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Lee Prater and daughter were in the John Collier home Monday and Wednesday nights.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Land and baby, Margie Hellon, were in the Jim Land residence from Saturday until Monday.

John Collier and family spent the day Sunday in the Clem White home.

Ernest Harris has returned home from Quanah. He reported a fine time and lots of sand storms. He also says times are better here than up there.

Lee Britton left last Thursday for Rotan. He will work another year for L. H. Yarborough.

Ella D. Collier spent Thursday and Friday nights with Mrs. Lee Prater.

Warren Waddell and Clay Collier spent Saturday night with Arthur and A. D. Land.

Lawton Blackburn and one of his boy friends of Stephenville were in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Blackburn Saturday night.

E. C. Harris and wife were in the home of J. D. Land from Saturday night until Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. B. M. King were in the Lee King and Jim Land homes Sunday.

Mrs. Grace Pruitt and Mrs. Faye Nix were visitors in the Camp Branch school awhile Friday evening.

Miss Grace Steele is back in school. She has missed quite a bit on account of whooping cough.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Land and Dortha were in the home of his mother Sunday. His mother has been sick the last two weeks.

Lawrence Glover and Miss Edith Stringer were Saturday night visitors in the Henry Nix home.

Hearn Childress and family were in the John Collier home a while Monday evening.

Heroic Rescue Chief

Captain Giles W. Mann, of the U. S. American Merchant, was awarded great honors when he landed 22 men in New York, the crew rescued from the sinking Exeter City during a raging storm in mid-ocean.

Wharton—The demonstration poultry flock of Mrs. F. H. Shultz in Wharton county last year paid for all the groceries, some of the clothing, seed for the farm, and left $6 per month for other purposes, she has reported to Miss Alleen Burton, home demonstration agent. From a flock of 100 birds and from chicks raised Mrs. Shultz sold $228.57 worth of eggs, fryers and cull hens with an actual cash outlay of $35. Her laying flock ration consisted of corn or maize and skim milk. Two thirds of her income was from fryers. Worm infestations, which she learned to control by giving individual capsules, cut egg production below the Extension Service standard during two months.

It Takes More Than Salts, Calomel, Mineral Waters, Oils, or Laxative Pills to Arouse a Sluggish Liver

They Give Only Temporary Relief From Constipation and Biliousness, Because They Have No Effect Whatever on the Liver or Its Production of Bile

Bile is nature's own laxative and your stomach and bowels require at least one quart of fresh bile every day to keep them clean, pure, free from fermentation, putrefaction, gas and disease germs.

When your liver becomes torpid or sluggish the bile stagnates and stops flowing freely. The contents of your bowels become the breeding place for germs and poisons; your food does not digest—it just ferments and decays in the bowels. The blood absorbs these poisons and you suffer from constipation, gas, sick headaches, biliousness, nervousness and sour stomach.

Sargol Soft Mass Pills will remove the cause of this condition and purify your entire system in nature's way. They are not like any other medicine you have ever taken. They are so gentle, thorough and natural in their action that there is nothing about them to remind you that you have ever taken a medicine, and most remarkable of all you gradually reduce the dose until you no longer require a laxative at all.

Five years ago it was generally believed that calomel and laxative drugs stimulated the liver, but modern science has proved that calomel, salts, mineral waters, oils and other laxatives have no effect whatever on the liver.

Sargol Soft Mass Pills act directly on the liver because they contain two amazing substances which highest medical authorities agree are the only effective stimulants to the bile-producing activity of the liver known to modern science. These substances stimulate and invigorate the liver to cleanse and purify itself through increasing its production of bile. This fresh bile immediately starts to work neutralizing acids and poisons, stopping fermentation and decay, cleansing and purifying the bowels and sweeping out accumulated poisons.

Unless you have tried Sargol Soft Mass Pills you can have no idea of the effects produced by this natural cleansing of your liver and bowels. It makes you feel years younger, stronger, healthier and happier. It brings back life and color to faded eyes and cheeks, restores the appetite and sound digestion—gives you a new outlook on life itself.

Insist on genuine Sargol Soft Mass Pills. Don't be misled. There are only two known substances which will actually stimulate a torpid or sluggish liver to cleanse and purify itself by increasing its production of bile. Sargol Soft Mass Pills contain both of these substances and no other advertised medicine on the American market today does contain them.
