Through 6 Depressions—Shoulder to Shoulder The Southwest and Its Pioneer Railroad March On!

DURING Christmas week, 1872, the last spike was driven in the extension of the Katy Railroad that connected Texas with the North and East. The event was hailed enthusiastically as the formal opening of a great new commercial and agricultural Empire. But not even the most visionary settler of those days could have dreamed of the achievements of the next three-score years.

Together - we have conquered many obstacles

The conversion of the South west from wilderness to civil. ization in less than the span of a single lifetime would be amazing enough had it been able to proceed without interruption. Unfortunately, economic depressions of other days penetrated even into this new land, to retard and delay, but never discourage its resolute people. We of today have concentrated our attention so closely on the difficulties of the present that we are likely to forget that this is the sixth depression which the Southwest and the Kary have conquered together.

"Conquered" is the word, for each experience has been a sustained struggle. Shoulder to shoulder, the people of the Southwest and its pioneer railroad have fought repeatedly in patience and fortitude-displaying the unsung heroism of prolonged and resourceful resistance.

Spring 1933 Katy independence jeopardized

As recently as six months ago, this railroad was apparently approaching a crisis-its cherished Southwestern independence jeopardized. To appeal to the people of the Southwest in the extremity was the natural course. On behalf of this railroad which I have the honor to head, I did so, freely and without restraint. I told simply what the pioneering Katy has meant, in originally opening and then contributing to the subsequent development of the Southwest. I spoke with particular emphasis on the record made by the Katy since 1929, summing up as the basis of our plea for your support, these four "planks" in the "Katy platform".

1... The Katy has sought no loan of the people's money, through any governmental agency. 2... The Katy bas unflinchingly paid taxes, interest and all

3... The Katy has retained its individual Southwestern identity, free from mergers and outside domination that would destroy its singleness of purpose and service. 4... The Katy has actually improved its service, facilities and equipment through the darkest days of this depression. confident of the future of our country-and the future of the great Southwest in particular.

My pledge to you the people of the Southwest

Now, as the year 1933 is fast passing into history, I make the following report and pledge, to which the people of the Southwest are entitled.

1... The Missouri-Kansas-Texas Lines will meet its currently maturing obligations without borrowing, either from the people through their government or from any other source.

2... This whole organization, every man and woman of it, is pledged to the devoted service of the people of the Southwest, whose generous support has made the achievement possible.

The Katy expresses its sincere thanks

To those old friends of the Katy who continued and increased their support, we are grateful beyond measure. To the newer patrons who were encouraged by our appeals to patronize us more extensively or possibly for the first time, we express our sincere thanks. We are convinced that having given our railroad a trial and come in contact with that spirit of human service which marks all Katy people, you will not need to be encouraged henceforth to regard the Katy as "your railroad".

Shoulder to shoulder as of old, the people of the Southwest and the Katy march on into 1934, mutually confident that the achievements of the past are but an indication of a more glorious future than the most visionary citizen of

OUR APPRECIATION . . .

At the beginning of the year we feel it appropriate to extend to our Friends and Customers our sincere appreciation for the business they made possible during 1933.

Despite the fact that the course of business has been below normal as a whole, we finished the year with a substantial increase over the previous year. This is due to the fact that we have been able to make this store known for its quality merchandise at very reasonable prices, attracting a very valuable class of trade who have found it easy to shop here.

We are entering the year 1934 knowing that we have built up a confidence among those who have traded here that will mean continued patronage throughout the months to come.

We Close the Book...

Before closing the book upon an eventful year which was good to us in its manner of making known to us true friendships, real fellowships, and an appreciation of the finer qualities of our fellow citizens, we pause to thank all our friends and patrons and in turn to wish each and every one of them-

HAPPY NEW YEAR GREETINGS

With the waning of the old year and the welcome of the new we desire to express our thanks and appreciation to those who have favored us with their patronage.

These manifestations of their confidence are, indeed, gratifying and an inspiration toward greater effort to be of wholesome service during 1934.

> Again we extend to you our best wishes for a prosperous and happy New Year!
