Wintry Weather Speeds Turkey Marketing

LOCAL CANNING PLANT READY FOR OPERATION

Sale of the Feathered Fowls Is Stimulant to General Business

FIGURES don't lie, it is said. And the figures from Hico's turkey marketing operations in the past years have demonstrated beyond a shadow of a doubt that this fair city reigns supreme in the number of cars of turkeys shipped during the marketing season.

There are various causes for this condition, no little of which is the cooperation given by the merchants and apparently disinterested parties to the buyers in the way of advertising the town as a market and talking up the fact that raisers should bring their birds here to market them.

Then, too, there is the competition existing between the various buyers, which lends a healthy atmosphere to the claims. Hico makes a buying center. Sometimes various buyers might differ with us in this statement, and believe that the competition is a little too stiff. But from a general standpoint, farmers and turkey raisers are satisfied that they can get a square deal in Hico, and as a result trade with their friends of long standing and experience.

UNEMPLOYMENT during the turkey marketing season is practically nil. While there are many of course who would not work if they had something to do, still the enthusiasm and energy displayed on the part of the majority in search of work is commendable.

With three dressing plants in operation in Hico during this season, a large number of people are given employment who otherwise would be deprived of the revenue provided by this work. Then there are other phases of handling the birds which provide employment in a number of ways, and things really move fast around this burg when the turkeys begin to come to town.

At one time Hico marketed far more turkeys than are shipped out of here in latter years. But relatively the town still holds its position in the industry, and many people have come to associate the name Hico with the word turkey. Let's hope for an increase in this familiarity, for the climatic and other conditions of this section indicate that the culture of the feathered flocks is our ideal concentration crop.

APPARENTLY believing that someone from the institution should uphold the welfare of this newspaper among the deer hunters, Mrs. Forgy left on Thursday of this week for Mason County to try her hand at bagging a buck.

Acknowledgment of the cooperation given the home paper in her plans to absent herself for a short vacation, starting on "press day," is hereby made. Most of the merchants approached gave in their copy early. Of course a few seem to have thought they were helping more by passing up the opportunity to advertise in the paper this week altogether. Mistaken as they were, we still thank each and everyone, both for ourselves and for Mrs. Forgy.

Our observation has been that deer hunters get more pleasure out of anticipation and retrospect than they do out of their annual trips themselves. Never having been on one of these expeditions, however, we admit a certain ignorance of the details associated with the sport. Having a deputy in the haunts, though, we feel that we should be looked on with more respect in the future by deer hunters in general.

GREETINGS and salutations to our new old preacher and his wife for having been returned to another year of service with the Hico Methodist Church.

Since Conference, members of that body have been universally rejoicing in the action taken at the meeting whereby these good people were "thred" to Hico for another twelve months. While we do not hear everything said about Hico people, we hear enough to say without fear of contradiction that their service has been entirely satisfactory. In fact we have yet to hear our first marmur of adverse criticism about them and their work.

And in this day and time, that's indeed something.

The picture editor of one of the large news syndicates declares that the past year has been the greatest since the war for newspaper "breaks," with riots, strikes, assassinations, fires at sea and what not making an exciting gallery.

New Building Now Complete, With All Equipment In.

With the completion of the new building to house the canning plant and sewing rooms, local FERA projects, J. R. Massingill, city project supervisor over the canning plant and sewing room construction and drainage projects, Wednesday morning turned the quarters over to J. B. Russell, who will serve as plant supervisor. Mr. Russell announced that everything was in readiness for beginning operations Friday morning of this week, and is anxious for those who have products to can to bring them in as soon as possible so that real production may start.

The new building, started on August 6th last, is 25x40 feet, and is an extension of the old city building on the lot south of the M-K-T station, whose dimensions were 25x30 feet. The city furnished all materials used in the construction, and the FERA provided the labor, the total cost being estimated at around $3,000. The outer walls are of native stone, the inner walls are plastered, and a concrete floor has been laid. A large skylight provides an abundance of light for the workers, and all in all the building presents a neat and modern appearance.

Metal-covered tables have been constructed for the canning room, and other equipment including a stove, four small 20-can pressure cookers, three 48-can retorts, and two automatic sealers are ready for use. The cannery will run on Fridays, Mondays, Tuesdays and Wednesdays, according to Mr. Russell, and those who have meat to be canned are requested to bring it in Friday morning or afterward. Under the present arrangement, the relief headquarters furnishes the cans and labor, and receives 40 per cent of the canned products, while the customer provides the beef or other meats which constitute the extent of canning operations expected in the immediate future, and all seasoning, and receives 60 per cent of the outturn. The charge of one-half cent each, which was collected on cans used for putting up vegetables, does not apply now.

At the south side of the new building space has been provided for a sewing room, another FERA project, which is cut off from the cannery by a partition. Work has already started in the new location of the sewing room, and the quarters are considered ample for a large number of workers. Under the latest ruling, the local sewing project is allowed 260 hours per week for labor.

At the west end of the old building space has been left for offices, which will be used as headquarters for the relief corps. Work will begin immediately converting this part into a useable office, with the installation of two large windows on the west, and a window and a door on the north. The remainder of the old building, in the center, will be used for storage. Rest rooms are provided for the workers, and heat and water have been taken care of.

Other relief projects active at present time are the work on the school grounds, and wood-cutting. At the last report, about two weeks ago, the latter had resulted in the cutting and stacking of the lot east of the cannery of 25 ricks of stove wood, 5 ricks of pole wood, and 8 ricks of cord wood. More has been cut and stacked in the past few days.

Application has been made for a project which will include a great deal of work on the local streets, but no word had come from Austin on Thursday as to the outcome of the application.

TIPTON'S ORPHANS HOME TRUCK HERE FRIDAY WEEK

On Friday, Nov. 23, a truck from the Tipton's Orphans Home will have a truck in Hico to collect contribution of supplies.

All members of the Church of Christ are urged to contribute. Leave your offerings at the Jno. L. Wilson Blacksmith Shop or the C. D. Phillips Filling Station.

HICO FUTURE FARMERS SPONSOR PULLING CONTEST

The local chapter of the F. F. A. plans to hold a pulling contest at Hico on Saturday, November 24, in connection with the horse show to be held on the same afternoon. The contest will be conducted through the use of the "Dynamometer," a device made for the purpose of measuring the strength exerted by a team of horses or mules in pulling a given weight.

The Dynamometer, the only one in the southwest, was used in the Fat Stock Show at Fort Worth in March in 1934. Last week it was used at Tarrant in a pulling contest, where an extremely good record was made. The machine belongs to the Texas Agricultural and Mechanical College. D. M. Williams, professor of animal husbandry at A & M has charge of the machine, but cannot be here, hence its operation will be under the direction of Dr. V. A. Scott, doctor of Veterinary Medicine at Tarrant College and the local advisor and F. F. A. members.

All contestants interested in the pulling battle bring animals properly harnessed and ready to pull. The Dynamometer will be on the main street of Hico Saturday, Nov. 27. Come around and look it over and register your team or teams.

The pulling classes will be divided according to the weight of the teams.

The lightweights will include 1500 to 1800 pounds.

The mediums will include 1800 to 2500 pounds.

The heavy weights, 2500 lbs. over.

Remember that mules or horses are privileged to enter.

Look for the prize list in the next issue of the Hico News Review.

Petty Store Loses Merchandise Through Visit by Burglars

Evidently believing that there was a cold snap on the way, unidentified parties burglarized the W. E. Petty Store some time between closing time Tuesday and opening time Wednesday morning of this week, and took a variety of goods, including 20 coats, 29 dresses, all the store's stock of knit suits, sweaters and corduroy jackets, and every bolt of silk in the house.

Working with apparent knowledge of the stock and certainly with swiftness and sureness in their nefarious operations, the unwelcome visitors picked out the articles they desired and left many items untouched which would have been as easily taken.

Upon coming to work Wednesday morning, Mr. Petty noticed when he started to unlock the south front door that the same had been pried open with a heavy bar or some like instrument. An immediate check-up disclosed his loss as stated above. C. C. Christopher, nightwatchman, reported that he had tried the door about 4 o'clock that morning, and that it was locked and no signs of the store having been entered were evident. This leads to the belief that the job was done between that hour and daylight.

Sheriff Mack Moran and County Attorney James M. Bolding were in Hico Wednesday morning investigating the burglary, but stated that they had found no definite clues upon which to work toward apprehending the thieves. Mr. Petty stated to a News-Review representative that he had re-ordered to replace the stolen items in his stock, and that by the week-end his offerings would again be complete.

Many Hicoans to Visit Deer Haunts In Next Few Days

Having already killed their limits several times over in their preliminary talks of their hunts, Hico deer hunters are beginning to shove off for their favorite haunts this week. And if their success in the real hunts is as noticeable as their enthusiasm prior to departing, there should be some good stories for our next issue of the paper.

T. A. Randals, S. E. Blair, C. L. Lynch and Buddy Randals, carrying along two gentlemen of the dusky tribe to do their cooking and hard work around camp, departed Wednesday morning for the Mason county, in order to be on hand for the opening of the season Thursday morning. They have been very successful in the past on their trips to their favorite hunting grounds, and are expecting an enjoyable trip this time.

Some time about Saturday morning will witness the departure of another Hico party, according to present plans, H. F. Sellers, Roy French, Cole Hooper, Grady Hooper, Clifford Tinkle, Goodwyn Phillips, H. N. Wolfe and G. A. Tunnell, the latter from Stephenville, plan to leave the latter part of the week for Mason County to take up their vigils for the fleet animals, and vie with one another in hunting prowess. They will be gone for several days.

Mrs. Frankie Forgy left Thursday morning to join a party from Hamilton, consisting of George B. Gollightly, Dr. and Mrs. Cleveland, and others, for a trip to the Grandpa Eckert place, 18 miles from Mason on the James River.

Hico hunters have always in the past returned with good accounts of their luck, and when these various parties have returned it is expected that their members will be likely prospects for the taxidermists.

Sherman has set a record for tonsorial neatness. Earl J. Bullock, 2-week-old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Bullock, needed a haircut and needed it badly. At least his father felt that way about it. So the youngster took his place in the barber's chair Saturday and underwent the shearing process in high humor.

Cattle Purchases Resumed Monday In Hamilton County

Despite the holiday Monday the offices of County Agent C. E. Nelson were swung open in response to a telegram that Hamilton county could purchase one thousand head more cattle under the Federal Drouth Relief Program.

Mr. E. D. Rhoads, representing the Bureau of Animal Husbandry, arrived Monday and within a few hours was inspecting cattle at the Hamilton stock pens. Thursday was spent at Hico and an effort will be made to complete the program at the Hamilton pens Friday morning. Only cattle over two years old are being taken under the present quota, no yearlings, steers or calves being accepted, the one exception being where a cow is condemned and has a calf under three years old. The calf is then condemned also. H. F. Sellers, who is in charge of the work for this end of the county, reported Wednesday that he had already made arrangements for about 200 head of cattle, and expected to have around 250 by Thursday.

CLAIRETTE FUTURE FARMERS TO HAVE BANQUET SOON

The local chapter of Future Farmers of America of Clairette High School are preparing to have the annual father and son banquet. This affair will begin at 7:30 on Nov. 23. The vocational agriculture class are preparing an inspiring program. A. J. Spangler, district supervisor of Brazos Valley area IV will be present and will speak in regard to vocational agriculture. J. H. Taylor, instructor of vocational agriculture of Dublin High School will speak on accomplishments of vocational agriculture in Dublin territory the past ten years. J. A. Lockhart, vocational agriculture instructor of Hico will speak on Dairy Enterprises.

The faculty and school board will be present. J. H. Moore, president of the school board will voice the opinion of the community as to the local work in Agriculture. Grady Littleton, superintendent of school will speak on the subject "Vocational Agriculture as a Superintendent Should See It." Miss Jewel Stewart, Home Economics instructor of high school will define the meaning "Partners for Life," as applied to present training.

ADDITIONAL COTTON CERTIFICATES GIVEN

Hamilton county cotton farmers who had less than one-third of their cultivated acreage in cotton in 1930-31-32, came in for an additional hand-out this week when Cotton Exemption Certificates totaling 404,235 pounds were received at the office of County Agent C. E. Nelson.

Producers receiving these certificates were being notified and should call at the agent's office at once for their additional allotments. The 800 bales in this shipment brings the county total exemption certificates to approximately ten thousand bales.

Farmers desiring to do so may pool their certificates at the office of Cotton Adjuster C. W. Hinyard any time before Nov. 24.

NOW ON THE AIR

The News Review is requested to announce that Rev. Jimmie Lovell is on the air over Station KFTM, Dublin, every morning from 6:30 to 6:50.

Having preached in Hico several times in recent months, the reverend Mr. Lovell enjoys a number of friends in and around Hico who doubtless will be interested in his programs.

Clearing the way for county wide activity on the improved bedroom demonstration this winter, home demonstration club women of Calhoun county have designated for an imaginary bonfire many useless objects once prized but now deteriorated and classed as "dust catchers." Among these are old paper flowers, certain types of pillows, door stops, old calendars, and disabled plaster of paris animals.

Keeping Up With TEXAS

Missing and unaccounted for Monday were 105 fine young pigeons, believed lost or dead somewhere between Fort Worth and Brownsville, 500 miles away. Last Friday night 197 homing pigeons, entered in a long distance flight of the Fort Worth Racing Pigeon Club, were turned loose at Brownsville. To date only two birds, Jim Malone's Texas 912 and Leroy Black's Texas 617, have arrived. Club officials believe the others had been lost or shot.

Wacoans were flocking to Tom Padgett's show window Monday in Waco to get a peep at four large bass, frozen in a block of ice, which were trapped in Kirkpatrick's lake by its owner, Armin Rack, and a couple of friends. The largest bass in the display weighed 6 3-4 pounds and measured 23 inches; the smallest, 5 1-2 pounds and measuring 18 inches, had a white perch 5 1-2 inches long in his mouth when caught. The larger fish are being trapped with the permission of the game warden and removed from the lake because they are eating the small fish, according to Rack. The lake, formerly known as Elm Lake, is 10 miles out on the Marlton road. It is owned by Rack and Mrs. S. M. Kirkpatrick, both of Waco.

A pet black bear, enraged over efforts to recapture it, attacked and killed its owner, W. Tom Brown at San Angelo late Sunday. The bear had been a pet since a cub. The 400-pound animal had slipped its chain and taken refuge under a bridge. When the 57-year-old farmer and filling station operator tried to coax it out, it suddenly turned on him, clawing, chewing and crushing him. An employe of the station tried to beat the bear off with stones but his efforts were in vain. Brown was the only farmer in Crockett county. He is survived by his wife, five sons and two daughters.

History was made Saturday night at Southern Methodist University at Dallas. They had a dance. The first open dancing in the history of the school was held in the gymnasium on the Mustang campus as a part of the annual homecoming day. Between 800 ex-students, Texas A. and M. cadets there for the Southern Methodist-Texas Aggie football game and others attended the dance, which was announced as "strictly an alumni party."

Explosion of a fuel oil can at the Koerner farm home near Gorman resulted Monday in the death of two children and the probable fatal injury of a third. Mildred Koerner, 4, was killed outright when she started to light a fire in the kitchen stove and the can exploded. Dessie Jean Koerner, 4, succumbed to burns received in the fire that swept the house. Clifford S. was near death. In attempting to rescue his family, R. C. Koerner, the father was badly burned. He was expected to lose at least one of his hands. A year-old boy was the only member of the family to escape injury. He was thrown out of a window by the father. Koerner had just sold his peanut crop and had about $300 in currency which burned.

The trouble started at a wedding party, but it wasn't the usual matrimonial kind. Jesus Flores 36, was just a guest and his difficulties were with two other men. He said they forced him to go along with them to a pasture near San Antonio and hurled him bodily into a patch of prickly pear cactus—a leafy variety covered with countless thorns. Then, according to the victim, they kicked him around in the thorny plants, struck him several times and finally left him almost unconscious. Monday morning police found the man in agony, literally covered with thorns. He had managed to drag himself to a high way and attract the attention of a motorist who notified police.

That is all guesswork, however, for those who have been familiar with the movements of the market in the past realize that price, weather, and many other factors have a large bearing on the way the birds are sold. And then, too, there seems to exist a general understanding among sellers as to when to turn loose.

TO PREACH SUNDAY AT HICO CHURCH OF CHRIST

Bro. Stanley Giesecke, minister of the Church of Christ, will fill his regular appointment at the Church of Christ in Hico next Sunday.

He will preach at 11:00 a. m. and at 7:00 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to hear him and worship with the church.

Bringing with it the first noticeable signs of approaching winter, a slow, steady rain began falling a few hours before daylight Wednesday, and continued throughout the day intermittently. Wm. Ross, who has charge of the Government rain gauge at Hico, reported the total precipitation to Thursday noon as 1.14 inches. The skies were still overcast, but Mr. Ross declined to forecast the impending weather, stating that instruments for such a task had not yet arrived—and were not expected.

The first prolonged rain since May of this year, the midweek deluge was most welcome to farmers and citizens in general. The wet weather, followed by cooler temperatures, and threats of a norther, speeded up turkey marketing, which opened up a few days previously, and by Thursday the birds had begun coming in at a rapid rate.

Drivers of turkey trucks going out into the surrounding country after the birds Wednesday and Thursday were having considerable trouble getting through some of the roads they had to traverse, but they were going about their tasks without grumbling, so welcome was the long-awaited-for rain.

As is usually the case, especially on the Thanksgiving market, turkeys were still moving sluggishly Thursday morning, but local buyers looked for an increase in receipts almost any time. Many of the birds are light this year, it is reported, and turkey raisers are anxious to bring their birds up to the required weights for a No. 1 price before placing them on the market. A cold spell would help do this, it is stated, and the weather the past few days has been very favorable toward accomplishing this aim.

Transformed from their deserted appearance of a few weeks ago, the streets of Hico have become a shifting mass of people, and around the produce houses and in the stores especially is the change noticeable. A great number of pickers are being used in the three produce houses which operate their own dressing plants, and many other laborers are being used by these houses and the other buyers in handling the turkey crop. Those cotton countries which have been in the habit of poking fun at this diversified section for the deserted appearance of its towns, especially after dark, could get their eyes opened upon a visit during turkey marketing season, when no regular hours are observed, and often the business goes on until the wee small hours of the morning.

So far as could be ascertained, around 13 1-2 or 14 cents has been the top price obtaining up to Thursday for No. 1 birds. One buyer estimated that around 25 per cent of the crop would move on the first market, about 40 per cent in December, and the remaining 35 per cent of the birds would be held over until January or February in order to improve their quality and increase their weight. Other estimates varied considerably from the above calculations, another buyer figuring that at least half the birds would move on the present market, once they begin to sell.

That is all guesswork, however, for those who have been familiar with the movements of the market in the past realize that price, weather, and many other factors have a large bearing on the way the birds are sold. And then, too, there seems to exist a general understanding among sellers as to when to turn loose.

The only sure thing so far is that Hico is getting its share of the feathered flocks, as usual, and bids fair to continue its place at the top of the ladder among towns of this section in the handling and shipping of turkeys during the two marketing seasons.

Sentence Editorials.

The biggest enemy you have on earth is yourself. The student who can master self is well on the way to success.

A student's success is measured by what he does and not by what he says.

Every time a boy talks disrespectfully of a girl or to a girl, he lowers the respect he has for his mother and sisters.

Some students take pride in being tough; they have failed to learn there is no premium on such conduct.

It is difficult to please everyone. We should not be so keen to find fault with our teachers and fellow-students.

The world does not owe you anything but the opportunity to serve.

Be sure you hitch your wagon to a star and not to a comet.

A person who is not prepared to die is not very well prepared to live.

An old adage says, "A male can't pull while he is kicking, and he can't kick while he is pulling."

Students can not be of much service to Fairy school, to the community or to their homes if they are continuously complaining.

The world is full of destructive critics. They can see what is wrong with every undertaking, but they cannot offer a remedy for the situation.

The greatest lesson we can learn is how to conduct ourselves at all times.

Coach Miller and his Tigers attended the basketball tournament at Carlton Saturday, November 10. There were seven boys' teams and three girls' teams present.

Indian Gap drew Lamkin and Lamkin was a little better and won by a score of 23 to 14. Carlton drew Proctor and beat them by a score of 24 to 16, putting Indian Gap and Proctor out. Alexander drew Clairette and put them out with a score of 36-8. Fairy drew a by, then drew Lamkin. Lamkin played altogether different ball from what they did that morning and beat Fairy 38 to 25. There was no question about Birdie Tatum and Duncan being very hot. The Tigers were very sluggish and did not play as good ball as usual. The high point men were Tatum of Lamkin, fourteen points; Clayton of Fairy, eleven points. This is the first tournament that Fairy has lost so easily. Watch Coach Miller's Tigers win the tournament on November 17, at Lamkin. After this game Alexander beat Carlton 18 to 13. Then came the finals.

Lamkin played Alexander and won the final game 18 to 14. This was a good game and it decided the championship for Lamkin.

Lamkin girls drew Carlton and won by a score of 14 to 12. This put Lamkin against Indian Gap, who defeated the Lamkin girls 32 to 11 to win the girls' championship. This was a good tournament and good sportsmanship was displayed.

The Fairy girls went to Iredell Wednesday night, November 8, and played a very interesting ball game. Iredell won 37 to 13 but they had to play to do so. The Fairy girls were not used to playing in a gymnasium, and this affected their playing in a large way.

All of the Tigers played good ball. Red the peppery forward, Davis, Jameson and Blakley doing good guard work. Seago did all of the goal-making with 13 points. The girls say they are going to Lamkin next Saturday and win the tournament. We are all behind them.

A Letter From Jean to Jane. Listen here! I saw "Lefty" Miller talking to Ruby out by the water fountain the other day. Their conversation appeared to me to be rather confidential, too. I couldn't say for sure, but I think I saw a sentimental look in Ruby's eyes when she said, "Okey—seven o'clock."

Even though Ruby is about to vamp one of the Senior boys, I don't think "Did" has any right to copy from her and try to vamp another one of them. The Senior class needs Wendell Wolfe and Ray Miller, and I think we had better set a trap for those Junior girls. What do you think? JEAN.

In the Ray of the Spotlight. Wendell Wolfe is caught in the ray of the spotlight this week, and as he does not like publicity, we must be very careful what we say about him.

"Hossie" is "just another Senior," and he is one of the best sports the class has. He is noted for his striking ability to be slow. Why, he is so slow that by the time he gets his feet arranged in the mornings under his desk, the majority of the class is making preparations to go home in the afternoon.

Despite all these faults, Wendell is a fine, all-around "kid" and to be his classmate is a pleasure.

"Miss Adventure" Goes to Union. Those who had parts in the play, "Miss Adventure" motored to Union Saturday night, Nov. 10, and presented the play in the presence of a house full of people. The proceeds of the play went to the Union school, and in return Union will present a play at Fairy in the near future and forfeit its proceeds to the Fairy school.

The outsiders plan to take the play to Alexander Friday night.

Chapel Monday Morning

Weekly chapel was called Monday morning at 8:45. Mr. Horsley gave an interesting talk on "The World War." The students of the Fairy High School pledged allegiance to the war heroes by singing "America" and repeating the "Lord's Prayer."

Mr. Miller read the new schedule to the school and announced that it would go into effect at once. This schedule, which eliminates recess for high school pupils, puts Fairy on equal basis with the standard high schools of Texas.

The Parent-Teachers Association met Friday night, Nov. 9, with good attendance.

Superintendent Barsh from Iredell gave an interesting talk on "Two Different Kinds of Schools."

A program sponsored by the outsiders was enjoyed by all present. The next meeting will be held two weeks from Friday night.

The Greatest Beautifier.

The greatest beautifier for girls is to be in love. It will give you a sweet disposition and make your eyes shine and sparkle like dewdrops. It will lift your face better than any beauty specialist.

To be in love is something grand. The one and only boy can make you feel beautiful and confidential by looking at you with admiration in his eyes, but he can also make you feel like a grandmother or an ugly old spinster by looking at you with an absent look in his eyes.

So, all you girls now, take my advice and fall in love like I am. Not for the fun of it, but to get beautiful.

Seventh Grade

The six weeks tests are over and the seventh grade lived through them. Some of them fared better than others, and we are proud of them. The highest grades in each subject were:

Spelling—Joe Betts, 100. Arithmetic—Frank Colt Allen, 96 1-2. Geography—Daphne Hoover, 93. History—Frank Colt Allen, 98. English—Katherine Cunningham, 98.

(This report was not handed in soon enough to appear in the news last week. Therefore it is appearing this week. If each grade will please hand in its reports by ten o'clock every Monday morning, it will certainly be appreciated.—Ed.)

First and Second Grades

We are getting along just fine out in our new building. However, we are slightly crowded. The carpenters are still hammering all around us.

The primary folks have completed two pre-primary readers, and have now started on their new readers. We have divided our class into two sections. We have ten in each section.

The second graders have just finished their first two readers. They seem to enjoy their new ones better. However, they read better in the old ones.

Cranfill's Gap

Some fellow or fellows with malice aforethought did on Wednesday night of last week pry open the back door of the bank, but failed to do any other damage.

Charley Martin and Will Ligon of Morgan were here last week. Charley was looking after business and Will was just looking around.

Alfred Nelson is erecting a barn on his place in the Live Oak community to take the place of the one which was recently destroyed by fire.

M. J. Mickelson and Otto White have completed a large cement water tank for Mrs. Ole Hoff on the farm known as the Fred Christopherson farm now occupied by Carlton Sellers.

The mother and brother of Mrs. Bert Bertelson who live in the Harmony community visited them one day last week.

August Rierson and M. E. Bell were here from Hico last week. August is a product of this section and has many friends in these parts who are always glad to shake his hand.

J. W. Richerson of the Mt. Pleasant community was here Friday and reported that Mrs. Richerson's eyesight had been greatly benefited by an operation.

Chris Rohne, Gunder Larson, Ole Anderson, Bert Bertelson and the Larson Olson estate are preparing to build a large reservoir at their well.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Sorley, Mr. and Mrs. Weldon Goar and Mrs. Howard Davidson were Waco visitors Friday.

Miss Reva Lou Goar accompanied Alex Ross and sister, Mrs. T. B. Simmons, Jr., as far as Gatesville Saturday where she visited with her sister until Sunday evening. The first two named went on to Junction where they visited their sister, Mrs. Barney Whitam and others.

Pete Christenson of Mt. View and Chas. O. Johnson of this city were in the Brownwood section Thursday and Friday on business.

Our boys defeated the State School boys last Friday 6 to 0, and the boys and fans have been feeling mighty "uppyy."

Believe it or not Ole Finstad has killed four cows out of a bog hole in his pasture and he has no dirt tank.

John Oxner, wife and three of the children visited in the O. D. Cranfills home Sunday.

Rev. A. D. Rogers and Charley Rasmussen from near Meridian were here Monday talking turkey.

Mr. and Mrs. Estelle Ammons were called to Stephenville Friday evening to be at the bedside of his grandmother, Mrs. R. C. Arrant, who is dangerously ill in a sanitarium in that city.

Mrs. Paul Christenson ran their place of business while they were away. Most of our merchants closed their doors Monday.

Dr. and Mrs. W. W. Hoover and daughter, Peggy Nell were here for Armistice Day, driving over from Hamilton Sunday afternoon.

The Davidsons had as guests last Sunday, Mrs. Davidson's mother, Mrs. Graves, and Mrs. Jessie Graves and daughter, Dixie Keith of Stephenville and Mrs. Otis Graves and children, Bertie Fay and Bertie Mae and Otis Jr., of Morgan's Mill.

The basketball ground is all ready for business and you may expect to hear of some games.

Oglesby Bros. are fencing in their lots and will soon have a mule and horse barn where if you manage it right you could get a "hoss" trade.

Whit Prather, wife and daughter and Miss Annie Sorley returned from a visit to his sister on the coast and Whit caught some monster fish.

Rev. Farmer was returned to this charge by the Central Texas Conference.

WILL ROGERS TO BE SHOWN HERE IN "HANDY ANDY"

Will Rogers is uproarious in "Handy Andy," which opens at the Palace Theatre on Thursday night of next week, according to reports from the Coast preview.

In the picture his wife, Peggy Wood, wants him to play—and he does! And thereby hark most of the hilarious situations that go to make this his funniest picture.

People will roar with laughter at this picture, and will miss a treat if they fail to attend.

SYNOPSIS—Ellen Church, 17 years old, finds herself alone in the world with her artist mother's last warning ringing in her ears, to "love lightly."

say to just everybody. I'm—I'm telling you! It isn't. This isn't anything to trifle with. This is a serious matter. It's our whole lifetime!

And his lips were pressed hotly against the palms of those hands.

GO ON WITH THE STORY When she was opposite a wide door, Ellen gave up the idea she could longer resist.

But she'd been twice around the park in a cab with the young man, still nameless, before she remembered that it was Sandy who had taken her to the Six Arts Ball.

Three times around the park they rode before they began to grow accustomed to the wonder of it all. For it wasn't a petting party, not that!

They had come out of the hotel in which the Six Arts Ball was being held, in a sort of a mist. When they had met in the hallway, with everyday costs inconspicuously covering bizarre costumes, they had been almost shy with each other in the eye.

Climbing into a taxi, they settled back in separate corners. But the young man's hand, groping out across the clammy leather seat, found Ellen's hand, clung to it, and finally drew her close.

for them. Because when you care for anyone, that person can hurt you, I won't," her voice had sunk to an odd, hysterical, shrill whisper. "I won't be hurt."

The gray in the sky had lightened. The taxi driver, with a shrug had started his fourth circuit of the park.

But the boy in the taxi was staring into Ellen's eyes. "Of course," he said, "if you'll marry me, I'll take a chance on that! On your not having anything to give, I mean. On your not falling in love. If you'll marry me! There was assurance in his voice, as well as passion.

"You don't understand," she said at last, in answer to that proposal—"You don't understand at all what I'm trying to say. Men! In my life men are just transients. They'll always be just passers-by!"

The boy's arm was around her, tight. "There's one man," he said, "who won't be transient, or a passer-by, in your life."

Ellen repeated again from the formula. She shut her eyes and said over the words that she had said, not so very long ago, to Dick. "After all," she said, and she repeated the words, parrot-like, "after all, what's the advantage of marriage, as it concerns me?"

It was almost light enough now for Ellen to see the hurt look in the boy's eyes. Almost, but not quite. She said fiercely in her soul that she hadn't any right to look so hurt. This attitude that she was taking—surely she felt the pain of it as much as any one!

"After all," he said slowly, "married to me, you wouldn't have to work, you know. Or to worry about financial things. Or—babies—not if you really didn't want 'em. And you could have all the privacy in the world, in the biggest apartment on Park Avenue—married to me, you could. How do you get that way?"

Ellen laughed, although there was no mirth in her. "You sound," she said, "like a millionaire! How do you get that way?"

In his rumpled Pierrot suit, with his jaw squarer than ever above the dejected ruff, the boy made answer. His tone held a certain bewilderment, a certain diffidence. "I forgot," he said, "that you didn't know my name. Odd, isn't it? To be arguing with a girl, trying to sell her your own special brand of marriage, when she doesn't know your name. I'm—my name's Brander. Tony Brander. Anthony Brander, and you know what he stood for, was my father. I am a millionaire, you see . . . I got that way because my father cornered sugar, once?"

Ellen's eyes grew wide. Her mind was a confusion of words. At first the boy's halting speech didn't register. It was still just a slice of unreality. But when the confusion began to clear, she experienced a direct sense of something that almost anger. What right had he to think that dollars mattered? What earthly right? She wanted to say, "What difference does money, even a millionaire, make?" To say, "I'm crazy about you. We belong together. Take me in your arms." She wanted to say, "This is real. Money isn't. It's only gold and silver and engraved paper. It's just something you use in shops. You can't use it to buy love!"

She wanted to cry, "This is the answer to all the half-baked for three years." She wanted to say, foolishly, "So that's the reason you're so sunburned."

So the story had gone—running almost parallel to the events of this very evening. Perhaps, if she let her own story go along as it had started, it would continue to run parallel with her mother's. But

And yet Ellen herself wanted to be swept away—she, herself, wanted to be a complete conquest. She'd have to fight that desire. To fight it as her mother had told her she must. As her mother hadn't!

With the boy's lips burning against her palms, she made the resolve. With her head bent above his bowed head, Ellen heard herself saying sharply, and aloud—"It won't get me. It won't spoil my life!"

The bowed head was raised. Blue eyes—deeper blue, because they were wet—sought across the shadows for her own. "What won't get you?" the boy asked.

Ellen answered. "You!" she said fiercely. "I won't let you get me. I'm not going to fall in love with you. I never fall in love; I can't. Because I have nothing to give, not a thing! I'm sort of a—a spiritual gold-digger, at heart. Oh, I'm nice enough!" she didn't want to make the admission, but she had to! "I've kept away from it all because I don't want to live close enough to any folk so that I'll get to care Palm Beach. Instead of building roads and digging ditches." She wanted to say, "I love you!" Just that—"I love you."

But she said instead, very flip-pantly. "And do you want to be my sugar daddy? That's it!"

All at once the boy's voice was a crescendo of feeling. Almost the taxi driver could have heard what he was saying, through the window. But the driver wasn't extraordinarily interested in this tall Pierrot, in this slim, small page. He was yawning, and wishing for coffee and wheat cakes and fried eggs.

The boy said—"I want you to marry me tomorrow. I mean when it's actually morning. I'd be afraid to wait—to marry you in the ordinary way, after an engagement and showers and parties and a bachelor dinner! I'd be afraid to lay plans, because you'd slip out of them. I wouldn't dare take a chance. That's why I want you to marry me, and to do it tomorrow. As soon as possible," his voice—and much of the boyishness had vanished from it!—broke off. And Ellen, with something akin to desperation, fought for words to say. Not even the boy, laboring as he was under the spell of a vast emotion, would ever reach the depth that Ellen had reached!

It was perhaps the very breathless agony of those depths that made Ellen realize how necessary it was for her to talk. To say something—something brittle, if she must—that would fill this awful aching gap.

She made what was probably the hardest effort of her life to speak calmly. "Better take me home, Tony," she said. And, yes, her voice was so gone, yourself. And think it out, you know. For if it all seems mad and impossible tonight, it will seem more mad, and more denying the way you feel, or that it's real to you. But it may be just the way you're feeling now. I know you're not just having fun. I didn't ever mean that. You probably feel just as you do, this minute. I'm sure that you're not giving me a—buggy ride! If we should happen to see a chapel right now, and a minister in the doorway, I don't doubt you'd take me into the place, and marry me. And I'm," she drew away from his swift movement toward her, "I'm afraid I'd let you get away with it."

Continued Next Week.

Salem By MRS. W. C. ROGERS We were visited by another cool northern Sunday morning. We are looking forward to hog-killing time soon.

The sick of the community are not doing so well. Mrs. B. L. Hollis has been right poorly the past week. We hope she will soon be on the road to recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Koonsman and daughter, Mrs. Grafton Warren of Duffau and Miss Faye and a sister-in-law, Miss Mary, spent last Tuesday with another daughter, Mrs. Milton Howerton of Millerville.

Mrs. H. Koonsman spent a few days with her daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wolfe of Indian Creek.

The quilting club met at the home of Mrs. Tom Laney last week. Several were present and much quilting was done. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Lee King on November 18 and on Nov. 22 we will meet with Mrs. W. M. Roberson.

Miss Dorothy Rogers spent Sunday night with Miss Maude Lambert and attended preaching at Duffau.

Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Rogers and daughter, Miss Polly, spent Friday in the home of their daughter and son-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Giesacke of Millerville.

LIKE READING WITH Smoked Glasses You wouldn't bind your feet if you wanted to walk! Then why read in half light . . . as if you were peering through smoked glasses? Reading or working in poor light causes eyestrain, which affects the entire nervous system and results in damaged eyesight. Statistics show that 60 per cent of all people over 40 wear glasses, or should wear them. Yet many folks today continue to read in light that equals only two candles stuck in bottle tops. Check over your home lighting tonight. See that each member of the family has his own reading lamp . . . equipped with at least one 100-watt bulb, two 60's or three 40's . . . according to the number of sockets. Use shades that are wide in spread, light in color and open at the top. In this way, you can be sure your family is getting light that is adequate to protect vision. We will gladly help you re-arrange your lighting without charge.

See the Sight-Saving New I. E. S. STUDY LAMP The new I.E.S. Study Lamp was designed by lighting engineers to give the maximum of soft, glareless light. The extra wide outside shade (A) is lined with white pigment and reflects twice as much light as ordinary lamps. The opal glass diffuser (B) eliminates glare, and sends enough light upward for general room illumination. The stand (C) is 19 1/2 inches from bottom of shade to base and spreads light evenly over a wide area. Only $6.95; 95c down, $1.00 monthly.

AUTOMOBILES AND SAFETY

We understand that the makers of the 1935 automobiles will put less stress on the speed of which their cars are capable and more on such safety features as unshatterable glass, low center of gravity, reliability of brakes and ease of control, as well as economy in gas and oil consumption.

There is a steadily growing number of fatal automobile accidents, as the speed of cars increases and the mileage of hard-surfaced roads multiplies. Most of these accidents are unnecessary.

Some bright fellow remarked that the weakest point of every car is "the nut that holds the steering wheel." Even the most careful driver has to reckon with the "nut" who may be driving another car on the same road.

As winter sets in the risk of driving is increased. Careful analysis of some thousands of motor-accident reports shows that more of them occur between daylight and dark, in the twilight hours, than either in broad daylight or after dark.

We think that the greatest room for improvement in automobile is in this matter of headlights. The genius who will discover a way to light one's road without blinding approaching drivers has a fortune waiting for him to pick up.

A NEGLECTED ISSUE

Now that the long-range weather prophets have got into the movies, we may look to all the other kinds of soothsayers and clairvoyants to get their turn on the screen, as some of them are already doing on the radio.

We have no desire to disparage the scientific attainments of the professor whose explanation of why we may look forward to an even more severe winter than last has lately been featured in the news reels. But granting that he knows his onions, we beg leave to doubt the possibility, as yet, of telling this week what the weather will be next week, beyond the ordinary seasonal variations.

The value of that sort of prediction is that it gives people something interesting to talk about, as the weather has always done from the beginning of time. And, unlike many other interesting things that people are talking about in these days, discussion of the weather seldom stirs up serious controversy.

Considering some of the foolish promises and predictions that were made in various parts of the country in the Congressional campaign just ended, however, we wonder why the weather was so generally overlooked. If people are foolish enough to believe in the possibility of carrying out some candidates advocated, why shouldn't they be foolish enough to believe that a particular man or party can do something about the weather?

We recommend that idea to politicians looking for an issue.

IF YOU MUST REDUCE READ HOW TO TAKE OFF EXTRA POUNDS SAFELY

Denton, Oct. 22.—It is stated by some of our best health authorities that there is a tendency for most people under thirty-five to be underweight, when, if the reverse were true, the span of life would be lengthened.

The only safe way to reduce is through a carefully made diet, backed by physical exercise—though not to excess—a normal amount of sleep, and good elimination.

Many people do not know how to reduce because they do not know how to choose their diet. A person whose weight is steadily going above normal by more than fifteen percent should begin at once to cut down on the number of calories consumed daily in comparison to the energy output.

Reducing diets should be low in calories but no foodstuff should be eliminated entirely. A small amount of fat, starch, and sugar will help greatly in the reduction of calories.

Reducing diet for woman who should weigh 115 pounds: Breakfast—Whole wheat toast, slice, which is 50 calories, 1 teaspoon butter, 33 calories; prunes, 5, 100 cal.; oatmeal, 1-6 cup, 60 cal.; poached egg, 1, 70 cal.; coffee, 1 cup; cream, 1 teaspoon, 25 cal.; sugar, 1 t. 16 cal. total 354 calories.

Lunch—1-2 head lettuce salad, 25; 1 slice whole wheat bread, 50; 1-2 cup spinach, 25; 1 teaspoon butter, 33; 1 medium potato, 90; 1 egg, 70; butter, 5; 1 cup skim milk, 160, total 538.

Dinner—1 slice whole wheat bread 80; 1 teaspoon butter, 33; 1 serving meat, 100; 1 serving carrots, 100; 1-2 large tomato, 35; custard, 160; 1-2 cup skim milk, 1-2 egg, 1 teaspoon sugar; 1 teaspoon raisins, 50, total 508. Total for day 1290 calories.

Selecting the best seed, preparing a good seed bed and good cultivation enabled A. A. Moseley, farming in the eastern part of Marion county, to defeat the drought. He harvested 23 bushels of corn to the acre on eight acres and made 17 bales of cotton on 28 acres.

The Burleson county farm demonstration agent, G. C. King, has brought it right home to the farmers in his county that terracing means money in the pocket. A questionnaire sent to three hundred farmers for whom he has run lines for terracing asked: "Did the terraced acres of your farm produce more than the unterraced acres?" The reply was 100 per cent yes.

RAMBLING ROUND NEW YORK with HUGH KENNY

There's a moving picture house in Times Square district showing nothing but animated cartoons.

A strikingly beautiful blonde waitress in a well-known Times Square restaurant. She's been offered two contracts in the movies and has refused them both.

A stenographer, recently returned from a Caribbean cruise, "no, it wasn't much fun. Only stenographers and school teachers. They were looking for male companionship, too."

The next time you find yourself among unfriendly South American Indians, try the recipe of Captain R. Stuart Murray, New York ethnologist: take a headache powder. "It is a trick that never failed yet," says Capt. Murray.

"Westerns," incidentally, those bucking bronco moving pictures out of Hollywood are known to the trade papers as "Horse Operas."

A famous man whose name is attached to one of the most exclusive stores in New York, Bergdorf Goodman, is listed as the janitor of the store! You see, he has an apartment high up in the building, overlooking Central Park.

Repeal of prohibition has been a boon to many a ship-seer-er who, if we were still in the bath tub gin era, might imbibe sufficient amounts to find himself, for lack of a passport, prisoner aboard a Europe-bound ship, owing a heavy fare, and living in borrowed clothes.

BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED

The children and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Alexander of Clairette gathered at their home with well-filled baskets to help Mrs. Alexander celebrate her 67th birthday.

All of her children were present to express their love and appreciation to Mother. Many neighbors came to express their love and appreciation to her as a friend.

The children are: Mr. and Mrs. Hub Alexander, Clairette; Mr. and Mrs. Greer Alexander, Waco; Mr. and Mrs. Joe Alexander, Clairette; Mr. and Mrs. W. H. McChristal, Clairette; Mr. and Mrs. John Alexander, Alexander; Mrs. Earl Austin, Bauxite, Ark.; Mr. and Mrs. Lee Finley, Clairette; Mr. and Mrs. Thurman Alexander, Strawn; Mrs. Tina Havens of Clairette.

Other relatives and friends who enjoyed the day were: Uncle Joe Salmon, Jake Havens, Tull Havens, Richard McChristal, Mary Joe Alexander, Elizabeth Ann Alexander, Bobby Alexander, Nelda Marie Alexander, Uncle Billy Alexander, Zelma Fenley, Ima Dee Alexander, Miss M. A. Chaney, Mrs. Mattie Carter, Mrs. Sae Salmon, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Littleton, Florine Havens, Mrs. Mary Dowdy, Mrs. Bernice Alexander, Grady Littleton, Betty Lou Alexander, M. E. Alexander, I. B. Havens, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. Hornay Jones and son, Wayland all of Clairette; Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Deisher, Mrs. Josie Splawn of Alexander, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Koonsman, Miss Ann Tracy, Mrs. Ann Hershey and Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Tracy of Granbury and Mrs. S. A. Harrison of Clarksville, Ark.

A wonderful day was spent by all present and all went to their homes wishing that many more such celebrations be in store for them.

Mrs. N. F. Lewis, pantry demonstrator for the Birdville home demonstration club in Tarrant county, has put up 5,419 containers of 80 different varieties of food this year. Much of this canning has been done for friends and neighbors, but more than 1000 containers are on the Lewis pantry shelves.

Sunday School Lesson by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

The Christian as Church Member. Lesson for November 18th. Matt. 5:13-16. Golden Text: Ephesians 5:30.

The average layman does not take his religion very seriously. Church membership is often little more than a badge of respectability. He represents little appreciation of the Christian Society as a world brotherhood permeated with the spirit of the Cross.

Much of the weakness of our church life is due to the absence of sturdy, intelligent laymen and laywomen willing to shoulder burdens instead of pressing them upon the frail body of the minister. Too often the poor clergyman is compelled to play a lone hand.

It goes without saying that Christians should attend public worship, not expecting always to be inspired, but eager, by their personal presence, to strengthen the cause of organized religion. John Adams felt that four institutions are indispensable to a people's liberty, the town, the church, the school and the militia.

In addition the Christian should enter into common worship with genuine heartiness. Many attend their church with no thought of the contribution they can make to the beauty and inspiration of the service. They go simply to be helped themselves, and are aggrieved if the minister has an off day. What a different atmosphere would be created if folk entered God's house not simply to be fed, but to feed!

Then the Christian should give generously of his means toward the support of the Master's work. How many of the laity are thoughtless and parsimonious in their stewardship? Seldom indeed do they sacrifice something they ardently desire in order to help their church. A good working rule is to give 10 per cent of one's income to church. To do this requires careful planning, but it is rich in intangible reward.

THE BOOK by BRUCE BARTON

PAUL'S GREAT WRITINGS That white-hot letter to the Galatians, product of Paul's intense moral indignation, whose curses remain untranslated because the translators have feared to put them into plain English, is the Magna Charta of Christian liberty. It is the rebuke of bigotry and the battle cry of freedom.

Paul soon set forth on his third and last missionary journey. He started northward as he had done before, passing from Antioch by land around the end of the Mediterranean.

preaching as he went, till he came to Ephesus. There he seemed to find an opening in the Jewish synagogue, but after three months a sharp clash arose, and he rented a schoolroom from a philosopher named Tyrannus, the philosopher using it half a day and Paul the other half. He took a two years' lease of this place and developed his extension service so fully that all they which dwell in Asia the province, not the continent, heard the word of the Lord Jesus, both Jews and Greeks. The growth of his body of adherents was so remarkable that in this city, where the beautiful temple of Diana stood, and her shrine was sacred, the idol makers were almost out of work. A large mass meeting of the silversmiths and allied trades convened in the theater. There was a great shout for two hours, "Great is Diana of the Ephesians." But then, as often, the more part knew not wherefore they were come together.

So the crowd shouted itself tired without violence, and the town clerk said a tactful word that dismissed the assembly. In Ephesus, before this riot made his withdrawal wise, Paul heard occasionally from his churches in Macedonia and Achaia, and he kept in touch with them by means of his letters, which were increasingly comprehensive.

From here he wrote his two letters to the Corinthians. If you will read them you will see that he canvassed pretty nearly every subject of church organization and of practical sociology. Ought the church to retain in its membership a fornicator? Ought Christians to observe the festivals of meats that had been offered to idols? Ought Christians to marry? Ought women to have part in public worship? Ought Christians to have lawsuits?

Prompted in part by questions submitted to him, his letters grew to include more and more of doctrinal instruction and of practical application of truth to life. Read these letters and see how there come into them such sublime passages as the chapter on charity (1 Cor. 13).

THE FAMILY DOCTOR

LAXATIVES

This little conversation is for adults only—not children. And I deem it worth-while. At least three-fourths of our immense population are, at intervals, users of laxative medicines.

After more than forty years active experience, I believe I may be able to offer some suggestions productive of good, on this subject, by telling you of the kinds of laxatives that accomplish the purpose, doing the minimum of harm.

Of course, correct diet of soft, easily-digested foods should require no medicine of "laxative" nature. But, we do not always eat in proper kind or quantity.

Probably the best all-purpose tablet for simple constipation, is the well known Aloin, Strychnine, Belladonna and Cascara, laxative compound; I believe this tablet may be found in the most of the drug stores of the land. The dose one too three tablets at bedtime. I recommend "coated" tablets. For they retain their strength much longer.

Don't get the habit of trying every purgative pill that you hear of. A "pill-habit" is indeed bad company for the experimenter in constipation. The tablet above-named is reliable and harmless as any. Ask your doctor.

One class of constipated patients—those with trouble in the rectum—should not take pills of any sort. A diseased rectum should be cared for. But not with pills—remember that.

These people should use only mineral oil, magnesia, or cascara sagrada—all liquids—that contain no aloes. Rectal patients must observe strict diet rules. Eat no tough fibers, no seeds, no tough skins of fruits, but all soft food that is most easily digested. See your doctor.

Methodist Pastor Returned to Hico; Other Appointments

After two years of successful and harmonious work with the members of the Hico Methodist Church, Rev. W. P. Cunningham has been returned as pastor of the local Methodist church by action of the Central Texas Conference, meeting in Fort Worth last week. Members of the church and citizens in general are rejoicing at the fact that they will be able to enjoy the fellowship and services of Brother Cunningham and Mrs. Cunningham throughout another conference year.

Other changes in the Gatesville district, as announced in Monday's daily papers, will be of interest to News Review readers. There were nine changes in the district, seven of them being new appointments, and the other two being changes in which pastors of two churches were exchanged. Two pastors formerly stationed were given charges in the Gatesville district, Rev. R. W. Nation and Rev. H. C. Bowman, the former being sent to Iredell-Walnut Springs and the latter receiving an appointment to serve the congregation at Moody.

Under the new set-up Rev. Cunningham is the second oldest pastor in point of service in the district, beginning his third year as pastor of the local church; Rev. W. A. Flynn, who has served the Carlton church for the past three years, begins his fourth year at the same place, Presiding Elder J. H. Baldrige, who served his first year through appointment of last year's conference, will again be back in the same capacity.

Appointments in the Gatesville district were announced as follows: Presiding elder, J. H. Baldrige; Carlton, W. A. Flynn; Clifton, F. O. Waddell; Cranfill's Gap, J. D. Farmer; Crawford, W. C. Craig; Duffau, Raymond Burton, supply; Gatesville, M. M. Chunn; Gatesville circuit, George Siler; Hamilton, W. R. Beard; Hamilton circuit, M. Phelan; Junior preacher, George W. Bennett; Hico, W. P. Cunningham; Ireland-Jonesboro, C. F. Bell; Iredell-Walnut Springs, R. W. Nation; Iredell circuit, P. W. Lane, supply; McGregor, R. H. Boyd; Meridian, David Irvin; Moody, H. C. Bowman; Moody circuit, W. A. Nell, supply; Mosheim, W. J. Shelton; Orlesby, J. W. Whitefield; Pearl, W. C. Ferguson; Turnersville, Van P. Morrison; Valley Mills, J. W. W. Shuler, and Southwestern Advocate representative, Van P. Morrison.

Rev. J. M. Perry, who served one year at Hico during 1932, was transferred to the New Mexico Conference and given an appointment at Gallup, New Mexico. Rev. A. C. Haynes, who preceded Bro. Perry here for a two-year stay, remains at Comanche for another year.

LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

By a "Young Modern"
DENTON, Nov. 14.—Gay autumn frolics are in session now and with cool days loudly proclaiming sporting adventures of all kinds, the clothes question comes up again with even greater significance.

Maybe it just isn't the thing for boys to spend much time wondering what shops are correct to wear with golf knickers, or a tuxedo, but to girls, the problem is ever present.

The outdoor girl at Texas State College for Women (CIA) pronounces gay plaid skirts in soft wools, jerseys or corduroys for sporting adventures. Knitted sweaters or over-blouses in contrasting wool are worn with the skirts and make fitting costumes for the sports girl. With brilliant berets topped by gay pom-poms, and chic sport oxfords fitted high on the foot by a zipper, your costume is sure to have just the "send-off" necessary for a joyous occasion.

A pig-skin three-quarter length coat with beret and scarf to match is quite successfully combined with a ravishing little wrap around skirt buttoned down the front with gay wooden buttons in contrasting colors. Add your soft pig-skin shoes in matching tones, and you are sure to make a hit with the boy friend.

A good sport is always appropriately dressed. Go over your fall sports wardrobe and buy each new out fit with a definite adventure in mind. You'll "go over" if you do!

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our many friends for their kindness and help during the illness and death of our beloved daughter and sister. We also wish to thank you for the beautiful flowers and other deeds you did.

When this sad hour comes your way we hope you may receive such kindness. May God bless you each and every one is our prayer.

Millerville

By CHAS. W. GIESECKE

A glorious rain is falling today, Wednesday, for which we are very thankful. Indications are that it will be sufficient for plowing.

Elmer Giesecke, wife and Mrs. Holland of Duffau visited his brother and family, Lewis, here on last Monday.

Sammie McCollum, wife and little daughter are temporary citizens of Hico through the turkey season. He has a job at one of Hico's produce houses.

C. H. Miller and Mr. DeWitt were on business at Lipan recently.

Mrs. Abb Glover is visiting her daughter and family, Mr. Luster Littleton, in the coast country the past two weeks. Abb and his grandson Billy are keeping the corners up in the Madam's absence.

Our school attended the show at Stephenville last Sunday.

Hood Howerton and wife of Duffau visited with his father, C. R. Howerton and family, here last Tuesday.

Ben Glover and wife of Rule, Haskell County, were in our midst a short time last Saturday. They had lunch with his brother, A. H., then spent a short time with Hayden Glover, another brother, a short time with Mrs. Glover's brother, Bloof Roberson. They formerly lived here.

Our regular monthly singing here Sunday at 2:30 in the afternoon, the Third Sunday. Come, you are invited.
Stanley Giesecke preached Sunday and Sunday night, his regular appointment.
Our oldest citizen, Aunt Lavilla Miller, now past 100 years of age, enjoys something very few people are permitted to enjoy—that of a radio. She especially enjoys the programs giving preaching services.

Husbands With "42" Party

The Review Club entertained their husbands and a few other guests with a "42" party at the club rooms Friday evening.

After the guests had been shown through the tastefully redecorated library, auditorium, kitchenette and assembly room, they found their places at card tables. As Armistice was near, the score cards bore scenes reminiscent of the war.

At the conclusion of the games, some of the old war-time songs were sung.

Mr. Wiseman held high score honors for the men and was presented with a fruit cake. Mrs. H. N. Wolfe was high for ladies and received a box of candy.
This party proved so enjoyable and the club rooms so commodious for entertaining, it was decided to have some form of entertainment frequently.

CARD OF THANKS
Just a word of thanks to our many friends who were so kind during the illness and at the death of our dear mother, Mrs. H. G. Driver. Every act of kindness was greatly appreciated by all of us.—The Driver Children. 26-1c

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Sparks of Dublin spent the week end here with his mother, Mrs. Lucy Sparks who is ill.

Melvin Lawrence of Holiday spent the week end with his mother, Mrs. R. S. Lawrence. His wife came as far as Dublin and visited her mother, Mrs. Ware. The singing here Sunday was fine and well attended. The large auditorium would not hold all the people. Singers from all over the county and several from other counties. Everyone enjoyed the singing and a fine dinner was enjoyed also. Everything went off fine.

Rev. Nation is our new Methodist of whom some know him. He and his wife will live here and he will preach here Sunday. Everyone come and hear him. Rev. McCauley went to Mertens. He made many friends here who wish for him much success in his new work.

Mrs. W. O. Pylant who was well known here passed away in Fort Worth Saturday morning at 11 o'clock. She was brought home and buried Sunday afternoon in the new cemetery. A more extensive notice will be next week.

All remember the play that will be here November 17th for the benefit of the church. The play is "Here Comes Charlie." It is very fine from start to finish so everyone come.

The Burns produce house has commenced to pick turkeys. Some were dressed Friday night and some Monday night.

Mrs. J. W. Parks left Tuesday for Big Springs to visit her daughter, Mrs. W. R. Newsom. Will be gone ten days.

Mrs. D. E. Cavness honored her little daughter, Norma Gene, with a birthday party Wednesday afternoon at her home on November 8. Mrs. Cavness was assisted in entertaining the honoree and her little guests by Mrs. Scales and Miss Stella Jones. Several games were played of which all were very funny and amused the children very much. The little lady received a present from each of her guests and she was very proud of them. After they got done with their games, they were told to march in the dining room where leed punch and cake were served to them and they were: Mildred Johanne Gene and Madelene Harper, Faye Hensley, Peggy June Tidwell, Helen and May Beth Bryan, Bobbie Wilson, Lamvine Fuller, Byron Loader, James Arthur Davis, Calvin and Sybil Pylant, Wilma Ray Burns, Mrs. Maggie Hamilton, Mr. and Mrs. Bennet Whitlock, Miss Clara Hughes, Mrs. Cavness and Jack, James and Norma Gene, Mrs. Scales and Miss Stella Jones. All the guests enjoyed themselves very much and all wish for the little lady many more happy birthdays. This was her 8th birthday. She is a fine little lady and is loved by all and especially by her young schoolmates.

Holiday

In behalf of the student body, the staff of the Mirror wishes to express their thanks to the School Board and Mr. Masterson for the holiday which they so graciously gave us Monday.

Senior News

Senior's are still wrangling about class colors, flowers and their motto. Last week we published the statement that the glad-jola was the chosen flower, but it seems that due to contention in the class, a more suitable flower is to be chosen.

We hope to have this matter settled before Thanksgiving.

More Improvement Work Being Done in High School Building.

The interior of the High School building is being improved by new slate on the blackboards. A crew of men have been working since Friday and there is already a decided improvement.

Although it sounds that it would be a comparatively simple job to put new slate on the boards, but it is not. First, the boards must be cleaned thoroughly; all cracks and holes are filled with a special preparation then, liquid slate is applied by the workman.

Assembly News

Because of the bad weather Wednesday morning, the assembly program which was to be presented by the fourth grade, has been postponed until next week.

More Improvements for the School Grounds.

The school grounds have also been further improved this week. A new cement walk and steps have been constructed in front of the high school building.

Another improvement is that of a rock flower bed having been built around the flag pole on the center of the campus. Later on, this will be filled with various flowers.

Another crew of workmen have been working on the south side of the campus clearing away the rocks and debris.

Popular Song Hits.

"Out in the Cold Again." A favorite among those students who make quarreling a simple pastime.

"Why Didn't I Sleep Last Night?" Cried Ray Cheek—could it have been too much food?

"Moon Struck." Hazel's favorite song—we can't see why.

"The Last Round Up" The all famous Hico High Detention Hall.

"I Never Had a Chance." Students in Civics.

Afternoon visitors were Mr. and Mrs. John Go-lightly and children of Clairette; Miss Pauline Parrish, Buck Jordan and Mr. and Mrs. Jeff Hendrix of Hico.

Misses Nadine Seay and Rosa Clara Tolliver spent the week end with Misses Alice and Gladys Hicks.

Raymond Johnson spent Saturday night with Bill Davis of Dry Fork.

Our community is glad to welcome Mr. and Mrs. Herrin and family. They have moved here from Dublin. We hope they will like their new location.

Mrs. J. S. Patterson and son Cone and Mrs. Barbee attended the 50th Wedding Anniversary celebration of Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Porterfield at Hamilton last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. Parrish and Pauline spent last Friday in Liberty with relatives and friends.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Nick Night Nov. 10. He has been named James Royce.

Several from this community attended Miss Fay Anderson's funeral last Thursday afternoon at Carlton. The family has this community's sympathy.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Killion spent

Monday in the W. J. Parrish home. Miss Mable Jordan of Hico spent the week end in the S. S. Johnson home.

Miss Alene Patterson spent Friday night with Miss Estell Hanna.

School News

The Seventh Grade English Class has organized a club. It has been given the name "The Sunny Side." The officers elected were: Gladys Hicks, president; Nadine Seay, vice-president; Annabel Hodnett, secretary. The motto is "Never Give Up." Black and white are the colors.

Miss Sowell has been sick. She was not able to teach school Monday and Miss Lois Boone of Hico taught in her place Monday.

PRICES.

Our prices for photographs and frames are now more reasonable than ever. You may order one picture only, although there would be economy in having a number made.

Come in and look them over—we have many new styles of folders and frames, and for CHRISTMAS PHOTOS it would be beat to come now while we have more time.

GAINED 20 POUNDS IN TWO MONTHS

"Up to two months ago my stomach was in such a bad condition I could not even take a cup of coffee in the morning without being in distress for two or three hours. I bought a bottle of your Emulsion and it helped me from the start, so much so that people thought something had happened to me all of a sudden."

"Since then I have used six bottles and now I can get up in the morning and eat corned beef and cabbage, my stomach is in such good condition." —E. H. Knobloch, 1955 Lincoln Ave., Chicago, Ill.

Milks Emulsion restores healthy, natural bowel action.

This is the only solid emulsion made, and so palatable that it is eaten with a spoon like ice cream. Wonderful for weak, sickly children. You are urged to try Milks Emulsion. Take six bottles home with you, use it according to directions and if not satisfied with the results, your money will be promptly refunded. Price 60c and $1.20 per bottle. The Milks Emulsion Co., Terre Haute, Ind. Sold by druggists everywhere.

THE SECOND QUESTION A DOCTOR ASKS . . .

Here is some information that has relieved whole families from Constipation

When anyone is "out of sorts" the doctor's first question is about the bowels. And the second, what is being taken to help them. Doctors use laxatives, and expect you to use them. But they prefer a liquid laxative. Do you know why?

Doctors and hospitals use liquid laxatives because they've seen the damage sometimes done by highly concentrated drugs in the form of pills or tablets. They know that a properly made liquid laxative containing senna (a natural laxative) does not do this harm. And they use liquid laxatives to relieve the bowels, because the dose can be easily regulated.

What to Use

There is a preparation of fine herbs, pure pepsin, cascara, and senna which does away with all need of harsh cathartics. The active senna in Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is laxative enough for any adult, mild enough for any child. And there are other valuable ingredients in this delightful syrup.

Syrup Pepsin will usually relieve a case of constipation overnight. If a further dose is necessary, you give a smaller dose, each time less, until the bowels are moving regularly and thoroughly without any help at all.

If you have a youngster who

My husband, who is a druggist, first recommended Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin to me. It has always helped me and made me feel better. I have used it as a laxative for the entire family for 22 years.

Mrs. M. McQuinn, Peoria, Ill.

doesn't eat, doesn't gain, gets upset and bilious no matter how careful you are about the diet—don't resort to strong cathartics which may only make matters worse.

Make this Test!

If you are "not yourself" because of a constipated condition, don't blame it on your blood condition, or your age. Try the help of Syrup Pepsin until you are relieved and nature restores your regularity.

When your bowels continue then to move regularly, comfortably, and completely every day—you'll know why most doctors favor a liquid laxative like Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin.

FUNERAL SERVICES MONDAY AT HICO CEMETERY FOR AGED LONG-TIME RESIDENT

Mrs. H. G. Driver who had been confined to her bed for the past year, passed away at the family home at 3:29 o'clock Sunday afternoon and funeral services were held at the Hico Cemetery Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock by Rev. Gilbert Dalton of Dublin, and the body laid to rest in that cemetery following the services.

Mrs. Driver was born in the State of Alabama Dec. 8, 1860, being 73 years, 11 months and 3 days of age at the time of her death. She was married in that state in the year 1878. She was Miss Mary Mosley before her marriage. She and Mr. Driver came to Texas and settled in Erath County in the year 1884, moving to Hamilton County in 1904. Mr. Driver passed away in 1929. Seven children were born to this union, two of whom have passed away.

Mrs. Driver was a faithful member of the Primitive Baptist Church. She has been patient and loving all during her long illness, but her death had been expected for sometime. She was a true mother in every respect, and has friends far and near who mourned her going. All her children were present when death came.

The surviving children are: Mrs. Emma Suits, Giles and Otis Driver of Hico, George Driver of Eldorado, Oklahoma, and Fred Driver of Big Wells. She is also survived by sixteen grandchildren, six great grandchildren, and one sister, Mrs. Emma Body of Alabama.

HICO, TEXAS

Our SHORT Short Story . . .

Reading Time—4 Minutes

She was standing at the roadside with a briefcase under her arm as I slowed up the car east of Needles, Cal. Ordinarily I don't pick up hitch hikers. She was young and blonde, that type of ash white blonde that runs thirteen to the dozen on the Hollywood boulevards. She was pretty too, in spite of the Mojave desert dust, and bleary eyed sleepiness which subsequent conversation revealed had been acquired aboard a five ton truck.

"How far east are you going?" I asked.

"All the way to Sylvia, Kansas." I thought that I had her catalogued pretty accurately and told her so "Beauty Contest Winner returning home because you couldn't get a break in the movies?"

"Just half right," she answered grimly "I'm a beauty contest winner who is returning home because I threatened to be a success."

"Director get fresh?" I ventured.

"Yes, but not in the way you mean," she said. "I was a pretty green kid when I came out to Hollywood six months ago. It was the old story. I had some pictures of myself to show as winner of a local beauty contest and some high school theatrical experience to talk about. I managed to see a director all right, one of the biggest in Hollywood. He was right from my own town. He was nice enough too, and made me realize that I'd need some lessons in dramatics and voice before he could find a part for me.

"I had a bit of money and managed to get a job as a waitress in the Blue Hat. I dropped right out of sight and put in all my spare time studying. I was going to take him by storm when I was ready. The day before yesterday he dropped in for lunch and saw me. He remembered me all right and called me over to his table.

"What has happened to you?" he asked.

"I told him all I had been doing and that I had planned to ask him for a screen test pretty soon.

"You look all right to me right now, he said. And your voice is swell. I've something in mind which I think will suit. Drop down to the studio this afternoon at 4 o'clock for a test on stage 3.

"You can bet I was on time at that studio.

"The director had left word with the gateman to let me go to stage 3. When I got there however he wasn't there. There weren't any lights or cameras either. Just a young man with glasses standing in front of a microphone.

"How about that test I am to take?" I asked.

"We'll give it to you right now," he said. "And I'll bet you'll be a wow too! This is probably the beginning of a real movie career for you!

"But where are the lights, the cameras and everybody?" I asked in bewilderment.

"Not necessary at all!" he assured me. "All you have to do is stand in front of this microphone and this cable to it, running to the sound booth will record your voice.

"What'll I say, though?" I asked. "Do you want me to read some lines or recite something from Shakespeare, or what?"

"The young man with the eyeglasses looked at me in wonderment. "Didn't the director tell you?" he asked slowly. "that he's all set to sign you up. That you're a natural to play the voice of Mickey Mouse?"
