Gas Encountered, Oil Expected At Pottsville Well

Hamilton people have been jubilant for the past few days as a result of the discovery of a large flow of gas in the well being drilled at Pottsville, in Hamilton County. The following account is taken from an extra addition issued by the Hamilton County News last Saturday afternoon:

The Seaboard Oil Corporation T. K. Rea Heira No. 1 well, David Cook Survey in western Hamilton County, tapped a gas strata at 2376 feet Thursday afternoon at 5:30 o'clock. The well was deepened to 2412 feet, at which depth drilling operations were shut-down Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock. A test made by Mr. Plummer, scout for the Lone Star Gas Co., showed that the well was making 4,722,000 cubic feet of gas. While it is impossible to determine the rock pressure at the present time, it has been estimated by some oil men on the site to be from eight hundred to one thousand pounds.

Oil authorities state that the well is making a sufficient quantity of gas at the present time to be considered as a commercial producer for this part of the State, in event there is a demand in this territory. However a test shows that this lime will readily respond to acid treatment, and it is the belief of those in the "know" that by treating the well at its present depth the production could be increased to from ten to twelve million cubic feet per day.

Actual drilling operations were shut down Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock and the crew is now engaged in moving the boiler farther from the well, after which 8-inch casing will be set to the bottom of the hole, but not cemented. It will be Braden-headed to the 10-inch casing and the gas will be used for drilling purposes. It will be Sunday or probably Monday before the casing will be run. After setting casing drilling operations will be continued and the well carried deeper in quest of oil, as that is the primary object of the Seaboard Oil Corporation, according to those in charge of operations here.

This gas was found in a lime which was encountered at 2369 feet. It has been classified as the Marble Falls lime by the various geologists who examined same at the location yesterday. E. B. Stiles, geologist for the Seaboard Oil Corporation, is here constantly watching the developments at this well. R. A. Stehr, of Dallas, chief geologist of the Seaboard, and Phil Russell of Cisco, district geologist for the Lone Star Gas Co., were at the well yesterday and assisted in classifying the formation.

The showing which this well is making practically assures more activity in that immediate vicinity, regardless of the outcome of this well at a greater depth. Drilling Contractors, Gallaher & Lawson and officials of the Seaboard Oil Corporation request that those who visit the well not to come too close while smoking. They are taking every precaution to prevent fire and endangering the lives of workmen and sight-seers.

D. W. Lackey Found Dead In His Home At Chalk Mountain

Hico friends were shocked Tuesday to learn of the death of D. W. (Uncle Dan) Lackey, uncle of J. V. Lackey, Hico postmaster. First press reports were to the effect that murder and robbery were the cause of his death. Later news contradicted this somewhat. The following account of the tragedy appeared in Tuesday afternoon's Fort Worth Star-Telegram: STEPHENVILLE, Feb. 25.—D. W. Lackey, 78, bachelor, found dead in his home in the Chalk Mountain community, late Monday, died of undetermined causes, according to the inquest verdict Tuesday of Mack Creawell, justice of the peace here.

Creawell said that he had been informed by Dr. T. B. Daniels of Glen Rose, who viewed the body that there were no indications of violence that might account for the aged man's death.

District Attorney Ernest Belcher assembled about 15 witnesses from the Chalk Mountain community for the inquest here.

Meanwhile one of two young men last seen with Lackey was held in the Somervell County jail at Glen Rose under charges of transporting liquor and driving while drunk. Sheriff G. W. Riddle said he was seeking the other young man.

Lackey lived with his nephew, Clay Lackey, 42, who was in Stephenville when the old man's body was found on the floor of their house by a group of farmers. Guy Shipman called the group together to investigate after seeing Lackey slumped over in the car of one of the young men, who drove hastily away when instructed to take Lackey home.

Governor Rlceed's Proclamation

To early Americans, the word "Texas" meant friendship. Today the word "Texas" still means friendship, and more. It means opportunity, a land of fabulous natural resources, of rolling ranges, of loamy black farmlands, of unsurpassed climate, and—BEAUTY.

This year, Centennial Year, Texas is entertaining millions of visitors from every part of America. They're coming to see the Texas they've heard and read about. They will travel every part of our state. The favorable impression Texas and Texans make will result in a priceless asset for the Lone Star State.

Let each of us do everything possible to see that our visitors not only remember Texas as an empire of friendly people but as a land of BEAUTY, as well. This can best be accomplished by each citizen seeing that his or her premises is free from unsightly rubbish, made attractive with flowers or green lawns. In brief, let us all cooperate to the end that visitors will be impressed with the cleanliness and beauty of Texas as well as with our far-famed reputation for friendship.

James Rlceed
Governor of Texas

WHAT! ANOTHER CONTEST?

YES, the Hico Review Club is sponsoring a Centennial Contest. Let's go Centennial-minded for a while and make Hico attractive for all the visitors we will have during 1936 as well as for who will be here all time. The club is offering prizes again for the most attractive yards, window boxes and all such lovely sights, but as yet has not definitely decided on the prizes. That will be decided by the club and announced at a later date. But let's be thinking about how we can make our homes, business premises and church lawns bright and beautiful for the Centennial.

Memorial Service For Sam Houston Sunday, March 1st

A call is hereby made for all churches in Texas to observe Sam Houston's birthday on Sunday, March 1. (The actual birthday being March 2, the date of Texas' Independence.) The observance of this special day will offer to churches, lodges and schools an opportunity to honor the principles which have strengthened and preserved Texas for these 100 years.

It is one of the objectives of the Interdenominational Committee of Texas Centennial Revivals that all churches observe the state and national holidays during 1936 with emphasis on the spiritual values that have had a vital part in the growth of the state of Texas. A two-fold observance is possible in this special day for it may be combined with an observance of Texas' Independence.

In the romance of the life of General Sam Houston there is a revelation of the spiritual triumph over drink, profanity, and self-sufficiency. Such result from the prayers of his wife caused more than three thousand ministers of America to rejoice. His stopping the horse on which he rode that he might get down in the dust to ask forgiveness for loss of temper and the utterance of an oath made a profound impression on John H. Reagan, with whom he was riding. This story deserves to be told as extensively as that of the sublime prayer of Washington at Valley Forge.

Helps for the observance of Sam Houston's memorial in services have gone to all Baptist preachers from the Baptist State Headquarters. Anyone interested can obtain an outline of this proposed service from the Baptist minister of his community.

Let Texas write a new "Declaration of Independence"—Independence from the lawlessness and vice which are striking at the heart of civilization. Let us rally to the cause of righteousness, law observance and worthy citizenship in this Centennial 1936!

Karl E. Jackson Is Out For Office Of District Clerk

After due and careful consideration, I have definitely decided to make the race for the office of District Clerk of Hamilton County. In presenting my candidacy for the consideration and investigation of the people of this county, it is proper, I think, for me to make the following statements for your information:

I am 55 years of age and have lived in the State of Texas for the last 23 years. I have been actively engaged in farming all my life up to and until five years ago when I moved to the town of Hamilton to make my home. I have never asked for a public office before, but I feel that by education and experience that I am qualified to execute the duties of the office which I seek to the full satisfaction of the general public and to those who are closely connected with the office as the practicing attorneys and the officers of the court.

It is my aim and purpose to see and meet every citizen of Hamilton County, and to solicit your consideration, support, influence and vote before the July primary. I will make the race upon my own merits and qualifications and not upon the demerits of anyone. I shall conduct my campaign upon a high plane without slander or insinuations against anyone and upon these principles I respectfully ask for your support for the office of district clerk of Hamilton County.

Thanking you for any favors or courtesies which you may show me, I am yours most respectfully,

KARL E. JACKSON.

New Station Operator.

Norman McAnelly, formerly of Hamilton, recently took over the management of the Texaco Service Station on Elm and Railroad Avenue. Mr. McAnelly and his wife moved here last week, taking rooms until they can find a house.

Joe B. Lee, former operator of this station, remains a resident of Hico for the present, but has not announced his plans to the News Review.

Hico people welcome Mr. and Mrs. McAnelly to the city, and hope that their residence here will be profitable and enjoyable.

Wednesday of Next Week Is Date For Hico's Trades Day

Next Wednesday, March 4, is the regular date for Hico's monthly Trades Day. Many merchants are participating in the idea which inspired the event—that of offering special values to shoppers for that day. Included in the advertisement in this issue will be found Trades Day Specials offered by various merchants which alone would make a trip to town that day profitable.

In addition the gift distribution will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at which time participating merchants are offering $50.00 free. This phase of Trades Day is becoming more and more popular as time goes by, and when next Wednesday's Trades Day occurs it will mark the eighth of these special events since their inauguration last June by the Hico Chamber of Commerce.

H. F. Sellers, treasurer of the organization, states that the gift distribution 1934 has been well supporting up to this time, and that last month's participation came out better than had been expected. He also reports active demand upon the part of Hico merchants for the plan, as shown by the fact that most local stores are participating.

Whether you intend to buy anything or not, come to Hico next Wednesday and meet your friends.

Yearly Income Must Be Proved by All Pension Applicants

AUSTIN, Feb. 17.—Applicants should be able to prove their yearly income because the old-age assistance law provides that $360 yearly for single persons and $720 yearly for married couples must be the total of revenues received by applicants from all sources including the State aid, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director-designate of the Old Age Assistance Commission said today about the new law.

"Applicants should be prepared to make a full and complete statement of all earnings for the two years immediately preceding application," Mr. Carpenter declared. "The cash or security clause in the new law necessitates that applicants be able to tell the exact amount of money they have in the bank. They should be prepared to give a description of all securities owned, serial numbers, from whom purchased, etc.," he explained. "If securities were sold, the name of the purchaser must be known. Full details about all securities handled, bought, or sold during the last two years must be provided."

"Not only does the requirement concern earned income, but aid received from any source must be listed," Carpenter stated. Section 7, subsection (e) of the new law reads that the application shall contain the following information:

If receiving aid from any source, the amount received and from whom, or if such aid is not in cash money, then a description of such aid tendered, together with the name of the source of such aid and from whom; the amount received from the United States Government, State or County, public or private charitable organizations, corporations, or private individuals.

Applicants will be able to get blanks in their own locality after February 14. These forms may be filled as soon as filled out by applicants.

NEW STATE MANAGER FOR WOODMEN CIRCLE IN NORTHWEST TEXAS

Omaha, Neb., Feb. 21.—Announcement was made from Woodmen Circle national headquarters here today of the appointment of Laura E. Krebs of Austin as state manager for Woodmen Circle in Central and Northwest Texas. The announcement follows the recent death of Etta Davidson, former Woodmen Circle state manager in Texas.

Dora Alexander Talley of Omaha, national president of Woodmen Circle, said in commenting on the appointment that due to the increased business of the society in Texas, the state has been divided into districts and four state managers appointed there. Other state managers are Lena Alexander Shuart of Garland, Northwest Texas; Hazel D. Godlove of Houston, Southeast Texas; and Beatrice Dolan of Taylor, Southwest Texas.

Mrs. Krebs, a Woodmen Circle district manager since 1925, has jurisdiction over Hamilton and a number of other counties.

Progress Reported On Storm Sewer And Street Project

While delayed by inclement weather since actual work started on Wednesday, Feb. 12, the project calling for construction of a storm sewer and the paving of several Hico streets has moved along smoothly this week.

The storm sewer, plans for which were given priority by the government over the street project has been dug to a part of its depth several to a crossing of Highway 67. J. R. Massingill, employed as foreman of the project, states that about 20 men have been employed on the job this week. The combined project calls for employment of about a hundred men, but the street program will not require much hand labor for a few weeks. The appropriation allowing the present work covers a period to March 15th, after which another appropriation will be made calling for a larger number of men.

J. W. Leeth and a crew of men have been busy with his big Caterpillar tractor scarifying some of the streets and shaping them for the application of gravel in the near future. It will be necessary to get this done before going ahead with the paving program. The actual laying of asphalt is planned to start in the business section, according to Chas. Holman, employed by the City of Hico as engineer on the project.

While progress will necessarily be slow for a time, the strict actual laying of asphalt as soon as the materials are on hand. First, however, it will be necessary to get the streets in shape for this topping.

The entire project, calling for the expenditure of over $200,000 and the paving of 119 blocks of streets, has been approved by the Works Progress Administration. City officials are cooperating to the extent of their ability, and plan to carry out their part of the project as outlined so long as the government continues to carry out its end.

Free Barbecue and Picture Show Given By Implement Firm

As one of its special events which are sponsored frequently for the entertainment of farmers and citizens over this territory, the Farm Implement Supply Company acted as host Wednesday of this week to a number of people at a free barbecue at noon and a free picture show at the Palace Theatre in the afternoon.

W. L. McDowell, proprietor of the Farm Implement Supply Company, local dealers for the McCormick Deering line, had assisting him on the affair, Fred Stark and I. G. McClung of Dallas, and W. W. Linkenbarger of Hamilton, who are also connected with the company. Quite a few farmers partook of the excellent barbecue dinner at noon, and afterwards went to the Palace for the free show.

The picture, put out by the International Harvester Company, was reported to have been interesting and enlightening. Educational reels were shown on terracing and growth of the harvest, the making of binder twine, and the building of Boulder Dam. Other reels covered various phases of farming, and the entire show was most enjoyable to those who attended as guests of the progressive local firm and the manufacturer it represents.

J. E. (Joe) Kennedy Announces For District Clerk

I wish to make this my formal announcement as a candidate for the office of District Clerk of Hamilton County.

I will make the following personal statement for your information—I am 41 years old. I came to Hamilton County in 1904, and settled in the Pottsville community, and have lived in Hamilton County, continuously, with the exception of four years, 1922 through 1925, when I was bookkeeper and clerk in the General Mercantile Business for Threet and Smith in McLennan County.

For the past eight years I have been employed with the State Highway Department in Hamilton County, under the supervision of J. C. Hibbs, Supervisor.

I feel that I am capable and qualified to perform the duties of this office to the full satisfaction of all concerned. I invite the public to investigate my record and standing as a man and my ability to perform the duties of this office, then I am sure you will give my candidacy favorable consideration in advance for any support given me. It will be my purpose to see each one personally.

Yours sincerely,
J. E. (JOE) KENNEDY.

Pledge

I will think—talk—write... Texas Centennial in 1936! This is to be my celebration. In its achievement I may give free play to my patriotic love for Texas' heroic past; my confidence in its glories that are to be...

Who Do You Think?

He was tall and as straight as a pine.
Dynamic and forceful, yet bland—
This rugged son of Kentucky
Was by nature decreed to command.

He wasn't concerned much with books,
But he knew what a man ought to be;
Whatever his color or creed
He knew that a man should be free.

In the battle of San Antonio
He led the attack on the town;
The courage and daring that won
Brought his death and brought him renown.

With the Texans prepared to retire
He had risen and said to the men:
"Who will follow?" We know that they followed—
Who wouldn't have followed "Old Ben."

PROMENADE DECK

by Ishbel Ross

SYNOPSIS: A luxurious five-month cruise around the world aboard the "Marenia" brings together a group of passengers for adventures, romantic, entertaining... and tragic... Like in "Grand Hotel" these passengers offer a study in human actions and reactions which unconsciously bare their souls. These characters are aboard the ship: Macduff, dour Scotchman, single, of middle age; Miss Mudge, school teacher, spending the savings of 20 years; Angela, faithful wife of Lovat, gigolo; Dick Charlton, first officer; Clare, a person of experience; Joan, a dissipated flapper; Jenny, run-away wife, and Peter; Captain Baring, master of the ship and his soul.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

Teeth Installment

They dined together, Angela in the highest spirits. Her wit flashed at the tip of her tongue; her laughter rang like the chiming of bells.

"Well, I'm damned!" Gently he touched the back of her idle hand. "I'm double damned! The swine!" "Hush, Macduff." Her fingers covered his lips.

"You're very bright tonight," Macduff told her. "Yes, I've had news from home today."

"Oh, that's it!" His manner was dashed. "It must have been cheerful."

She laughed behind her champagne glass. "It was something I didn't expect," she said.

They strolled out of the dining room and took two rickshaws to Jade Street. At last they went into the tiniest and blackest of all the shops, and a wrinkled old Chinese came forward to ask in a squeaky voice, what they wanted.

"I show you something very rare, missie," he said, moving majestically through the small square of the shop. He pried at the drawer of a lacquer chest, which sprang open and revealed an inner compartment. Angela fancied she caught a gleam in the whites of his eyes. His fingers moved mysteriously at the back of the chest, pressing on secret springs till he reached a long black case.

"Ah!" she exclaimed in admiration. "That's it!"

"I can't believe you'd bang the door shut on adventure. If you were that sort, you wouldn't have come on this trip around the world."

"I think you're discovering things about me that I didn't know myself. But, you see, there hasn't been much chance for me to do anything but stay put."

"What happened, Angela? I know that something hit you hard."

"I'm not going back to my husband," she spoke as calmly as if she were flicking a speck of dust from her clothes.

"No, he doesn't want me back. He wants a divorce."

"Why not? You see, he's fallen in love with a girl of seventeen, and youth must be served."

"Mr. Charlton!" she mumbled. "My dear!" said Dick, catching her in a firm and sustaining grip and laughing at himself for a fool. He turned her face up, dripping with tears. He saw her drenched eyes and the eager, tremulous curve of her lips. Bending over, he kissed her so slowly and thoroughly that she faintly against his chest. With a quick surge of concern, he put her back in her chair and bent over her, wondering what he could do to revive her, but he saw that her hysteria had been wiped out in a deadly wave of inertia.

After a while she got up and scuttled along deck without a word—a ridiculous figure, with ridiculous skirts, flying towards the companionway. She had called him Mr. Charlton, even when he had kissed her! Dick wiped the sweat from his brow. Never again! He regretted everything that had happened, everything from the very beginning. This had been different from all his other experiences; it left him with a self-disgust. He was strangely touched, thinking of Miss Mudge's lonely pillow.

The Marcent was steaming across the Pacific with her home-bound pennant flying from the mast. Captain Baring was having a cocktail party in his quarters.

Miss Mudge was talking to Dick Charlton. Her sparrow face was aglow, and she was drawing on a cigarette in the ridiculous, inadequate way she had. The chief officer seemed to be rather embarrassed for once in his life. The Foster girl, who had been drinking cocktail after cocktail with her attention fastened on him, was reeling over in their direction now. Her expression was glassy and determined. Angela saw her step between them and catch Miss Mudge by the shoulder. Heavens! Was she going to make a scene? She was drunk enough for anything. Suddenly Joan's voice rose, strident and hysterical, over the babel of tongues; arresting the attention of everyone in the room. Miss Mudge was blinking at her, not knowing what it was all about. A blazing fury of red locks and dishevelment, was bending over her and shouting things that made Angela's heart stand still.

"You think Dick loves you, you poor little stimp!" she cried. "Well, you're mistaken. He loves me. Do you understand? He loves me. He's laughing at you. Yes, I saw him kiss you on the deck at Yokohama, after you had thrown yourself into his arms. I saw you faint, you silly little crew. You didn't see me in the beach chair, did you? Why did you ever think you could come around the world and behave like anyone else? Don't you know you're a sketch? Take a look at yourself!"

Joan threw back her head and laughed. Dick tried to intervene, but she pushed him off and took firmer hold of Miss Mudge, on whose face a slow realization was dawning.

"You think because Dick dances with you that he's in love with you and not with me. Well, he's laughing at you up his sleeve. Everyone knows he's making fun of you, but you're too simple to know it. He knows you're forty-three and never had another man in your life." (Stop her, stop her, some one!) Angela was murmuring through pale lips, but everyone seemed to be rooted to the spot. "He knows you say your prayers at night and help to support the missions. He knows you're a Dry who's cheating, a 'sill' little school teacher trying to be a sport smoking cigarettes, painting your face like a harlot, swigging at a drink—yes, and no doubt sleeping with him too."

"Stop it Joan! You're mad." Dick was lowering over her in ashen fury. He caught her by the arms. She pulled herself free and slapped his face.

"Don't speak to me! I haven't finished with her yet. She wears cotton nightgowns with necks like this. (Joan gestured from shoulder to chin.) She sleeps with curlers in her hair. I've seen her, on her way to the bath. Won't wear her glasses, for fear they'll than Miss Mudge. The captain knew all about him. But a scene like this—before passengers! It wouldn't do.

The chief officer had turned his back and was hastily swallowing a drink. Angela and Macduff stood in appalled silence. No one knew what to do, but Miss Mudge herself took hold of the situation. Ignoring them all, she put her arm around Joan's drooping shoulders and said in a clear, high voice: "Come on, you foolish child. Come down with me."

might spoil her appearance. Bumps into chairs. Falls over table. Chatters, chatters, chatters, to everyone who will listen to her. All about Ohonto and the wonderful children she teaches. "Wonderful! Think the world is full of glamour. Oh, I've heard her by the hour. Loses her money at Monte Carlo. Thinks Dick's Sir Galahad. Ha! Why is Dick good to her? Dick's good to her because everyone on the boat knows she's used up her savings and can't go ashore. Dick's sorry for her. Dick's mad with me. Little school teachers should stay at home and keep their pennies in their cotton stockings. Shouldn't be a nuisance to grown-ups. Shouldn't think that a Spanish shawl will make them fit to kiss. Poor little Miss Mudge."

Everyone tried not to look at Miss Mudge. At first her cheeks had burned. Now they were ghastly pale, except for the dots of rouge, high up on her cheeks, that made her look like a wax model. Once she had raised her hand to protest. Then it had fallen. Implicitly. What was the use? Captain Baring stood as if he were carved in rock. He regarded a drunken woman as the final debasement of human nature. Hell of a mess for Charlton to get in to! His favorite officer, and he wasn't a fool with women either. He'd have to haul him over the coals, though it probably wasn't his fault at all. Dick had been cold to more attractive women

"Ah!" she exclaimed in admiration. "That's it!"

"You think he's in love with you and not with me!"

We are sorry about the continued story, "The Picture On the Wall." The Juniors have failed to get their continuation for the last two issues. If the Juniors are still lacking next week, the Seniors will conclude the story.

The Little Minister.

"The Little Minister" by Barrie is the story of a preacher named Gavin, just 21 years old, who falls in love with Bobbie, a gypsy girl with, as the gossips say, no religion. He met her at an uprising against the soldiers stirred by Bobbie herself. The Little Minister has a great influence over his people, but Bobbie's elfin beauty inspired the people to violence. Neither his pleadings nor commands can turn the people's course. The fire that runs in their veins goes out, however, when they find that their axes and clubs are no match against soldiers' guns.

Gavin strongly disapproves of Bobbie, but even in the street on the night of revolt, her wild beauty is weaving a magic spell over him. He fights it and tells himself of the outcome, but his emotions conquer and he is forced to admit his love to himself.

The Little Minister's love for her makes him willing to sacrifice his reputation, the love of his people, and his office. Bobbie at first is willing to become his wife, but she does not know or understand his sacrifice which is brave enough to make for her sake.

The Little Minister has saved Rob Daw from a drunkard's death. Rob sees the Eruption—the people's name for Bobbie—weave her spell about Gavin with anger and misgiving. His love for the minister and his thought of his downfall drive him to drink again. While he is drunk, he talks to his hatred for Bobbie and tells the child that her death would break the spell.

The mad goes to the wood and prays for Bobbie's death so that the minister may be delivered and his father will stop drinking. Bobbie finds him there and he implores her to go away never to return. It wrenches her heart sadly, but now she understands the sacrifice Gavin will make and promises to go away.

Robbie hears that the Little Minister is dead and comes back. Under circumstances they meet in a small shack, and she tells him that she is to be married to the man who has been her guardian since her childhood and who loves only her beauty. Gavin will not hear of this and carries her off and marries her himself in gypsy fashion. Meanwhile, the bridegroom-to-be pursues her, but they leave the gypsy camp before the pursuers arrive.

As they ride swiftly homeward with the enemy still following, Bobbie is swept from the cart, and the Little Minister is knocked unconscious. Of course, when he awakes he thinks he is the rejected suitor. The next morning he starts to find his wife. He meets the man he is seeking, and they are caught in a flood. Before the eyes of his people, Gavin saves the man and himself with the help of Rob Daw who loses his life in his passionate love for the minister.

Instead of Bobbie's unlucky suitor, it is Rob Daw who has swept her from the cart. He intends to kill her, but she escapes him, and goes to Gavin's home where she is received by Margaret, his mother, but not as Margaret's daughter-in-law. The Little Minister marries Bobbie, and the people love not the less for it, while Margaret worships her beautiful daughter.

"Hear Say"

Rachel seems to get a thrill out of surprise parties. Ann and Margaret seemed to have gotten their boy friends slightly mixed up Friday night.

It seems that Marie is wondering about a certain incident that happened Friday.

Yetta and Mavis have learned to like motorcycle riding. Telephone calls seem to break up some people's plans.

Lurlyne likes to drive Chevrolet cars, even if they don't belong to Cheesie.

A certain Senior girl has entirely too many class rings. The ones from Gatesville seem to be outstanding.

Wonder why our pigeon-toed Senior girl was thrilled Saturday night.

Science Club.

The club met Thursday night and insects were the main topic of interest. Some of the insects were flashed on the screen. Then they were examined under the microscope, some fleas and mosquitoes along with the others.

Who's Who in the Senior Class. Among the most sought-after girls in the Senior class is Margaret Rosa. She's one of the many blonde beauties and makes a great showing in our class. Margaret has been a member of the Pep Squad for her four years in Hico High, and is a lifetime member in the class history.

Senior News.

There have been many absences in our class because of flu and mumps. Naomi Jones has been ill for the past four weeks and has been missed immensely by her classmates. Also Doris Johnson, one of our honor members, is ill with the flu. We wish both of them a speedy recovery.

The Seniors have already bought their invitations, but are still wrangling over the question of whether to wear dresses or caps and gowns.

Some of the Senior girls seem to have enjoyed the week end out of town.

Term themes and six weeks exams are rushing the Seniors too much.

The Senior girls wish to give a word of advice to the newcomers. Never mind about the kind of ring you buy, because you will never get to wear it—as long as the male sex exists.

Mary Bob and Margaret keep watching their post office boxes—are they expecting a letter or picture?

O. M.'s brain can rest in ease for awhile now. His ring walked in Tuesday morning.

Dry Fork By OPAL DRIVER

In a ball game with the Olin school boys Friday, our boys were defeated; the scores were 26 to 20. Our boys were sorry for the Olin boys (as it seemed difficult for them to make scores) and fooled their time away Friday in order that Olin might win. We invite these boys to come and play again as we wish to show them how to play a game. The scores were 24 to 4. Of course it was in Dry Fork's favor.

TEXAS FARMERS TO GET DELAYED PAYMENTS

College Station—with the passing of a recent appropriation bill signed by the President of the United States, Texas farmers are due to receive approximately $17,500,000 to fulfill all old government obligations, according to E. N. Holmgreen, administrative assistant of the AAA at College Station.

"Some payments should begin to arrive within the next 30 days," Holmgreen announced. "Obligations of the U. S. Government to Texas consist of second payments on the corn-hog contracts, the completion of rental and parity checks of cotton and the cotton adjustment payments," he said.

Holmgreen went on to say that nearly all counties in the State have some second cotton rental and parity payments due and also that all counties have some cotton adjustment payments coming.

With the opening of action again and an appropriation of $294,185,000, skeleton forces were put to work February 13 and 14 in College Station to push with all speed the paying up of government obligations to the farmers.

Information rushed to the field and county agents by E. N. Holmgreen consisted of the statements: "All contracts and obligations made and complied with prior to January 4 will be paid."

"We are to proceed in liquidating all 1924 and 1925 cotton, corn-hog and other contracts which were suspended or returned for correction."

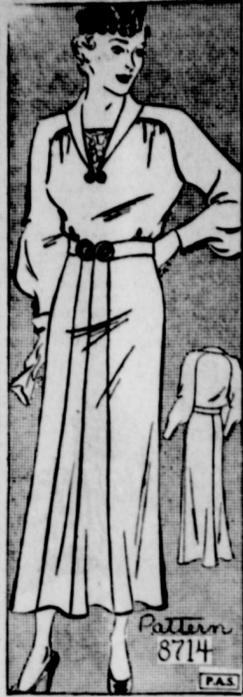

Chester C. Davis, administrator of the Agricultural Adjustment Act in Washington, D. C., recently released this statement: "We will try to prevent delay in fulfilling obligations and in reimbursing these producers who carried out their agreements with the AAA in good faith."

Church and Singing at Fair. There will be church services at the Church of Christ in Fair on Sunday morning and night by the pastor, Rev. Robt. La Croix of Loneta.

Let's Talk About Clothes

THE YOUNG MODERN GIRL / WHITE COLLEGE / WOMEN / LETS TALK ABOUT CLOTHES.

Denton, Texas, Feb. 28—Sailor hats have taken the town! Gleaming black straws with narrow brims as rigidly straight as a ruler, have a banding of net veiling standing at attention all the way around the outside of the brim.

These sailors are snappy, trim, and are the smartest hats to wear with tailored suits and tweeds.

Tricky crowns are shaped into unusual outlines. Shallow crowns are designed to grip the skull and stay anchored in the stiffest land breeze. Some new creations have chin straps, others have a back strap with a tailored bow, and still others have the heavy mesh bandeau that is so new and startling this season.

Chenille dotted veils have started a big comeback with these high fashion sailors—black with pale grey dots, navy with red, black with white, and so on. Bows of the veiling are tied equitatively, either in front or at the back of the crown, and the eye veil is then an added attraction.

Berets bloom perennially, according to girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA). No matter what the weather, new affairs arrive with almost predictable regularity. Just as soon as one millinery idea languishes, in comes some neat new beret and another game starts. We find jaunty new felts, with quite a decided band effect and a coy little grosgrain ribbon bow anchored well to ward the front. These berets have a salty, nautical dash; they can be pushed up at the side, right off the forehead in front, or worn straight and flat.

The colors are grand—scarlet, bright green, navy, beige, dusty pink and black. They have more shape than the usual fabric beret, and will go nicely with your in-between season suits and dresses.

This Week in Texas History 1835—Robert LaSalle led the first European emigrants to Texas. They landed on the west side near the entrance to Matagorda Bay on Feb. 18.

1846—Texas became a part of the Union on Feb. 16. J. Pinckney Henderson was elected first governor of Texas.

1846—On Feb. 19 the United States laws and postal service became effective in Texas.

1846—General Sam Houston and General Thomas J. Rusk were elected Senators in the Congress of the United States on Feb. 21.

1861—The Secession Committee prepared a declaration of the causes which impelled the State of Texas to secede from the Federal Union.

The capital of Texas was moved to Austin from Houston in 1839, was removed back to Houston in 1842, due to fear of attack on Austin, then to Washington (on the Brazos) and in 1845 back to Austin.

"There is a vacancy in our home. For a dear one has gone away. God called him home to glory. A debt we all must pay. He has crossed safely o'er the river.

And standing on the other side With Jesus being his pilot To guide him over the tide. You know we miss you When your face we cannot see And we seem to hear you calling 'Come my loved ones unto me.' Yes, our father's death has left us And we feel so sad and blue If we only trust his Saviour I am sure he'll take us through. Jesus said 'I've many mansions Built for those who do prepare.' So dear father, we will meet you In that mansion bright and fair. —A FRIEND.

Only Citizens To Be Considered For Old Age Assistance

Austin, Texas, Feb. 28—Assistance will go only to citizens, Orville S. Carpenter, executive director-designate of the Old Age Assistance Commission, said today explaining the old-age assistance law.

"If the applicant is a naturalized citizen, he or she should be able to prove when and where naturalized. Naturalization papers will be required," Mr. Carpenter stated.

"An applicant should know the nationality of his or her spouse if not a citizen.

"Applicants whose parents were citizens by naturalization should be able to prove when and where they were naturalized," he said.

"In addition, any applicant, whether citizen by birth or naturalization, will be asked to tell whether he or she is married or unmarried, a widow or widower, and give the names of children, if any, telling offspring's ages, occupations, and places of residence," Mr. Carpenter added.

Applicants will be able to get blanks in their own locality February 14. These forms may be filed as soon as filled out by the applicant.

DRAGON'S DEN

My Pet Rabbit
(Student Composition)

Peter, my pet rabbit, was a very interesting fellow. He was always getting into a fight with the old rooster. When the rooster whipped him, he didn't show his face for two or three days, but if he whipped the rooster he went about thumping his feet on the ground so that everyone would notice him.

One day Peter got out of his pen, where I always kept him on rainy days. For many hours I hunted him, and then thinking he was dead, I returned home.

After I had eaten my supper, I went out to the pen to see if I could find where he had gotten out. Upon arriving, I was very surprised to see Peter lying in his box of straw. He wouldn't move even when I threw him a head of lettuce. I examined him and found many cuts, scratches, and other signs of a furious battle. I left him and went back to the house.

Early the next morning as I was feeding my chickens, I was not greeted by the usual crowing of the old red rooster. I went to the chicken house, and there amid a pile of red feathers and rabbit hair, lay old gallant rooster. He was scratched and cut so that he looked as if he had been run through a sieve.

I left the scene of battle and went to Peter's pen. Peter, the hero, came slowly out from his box, happy that he was free from the pestering of the old red rooster, for he had sent that old rooster to the pearly gates of chicken kingdom.

Make Educational Tour.

Twenty-four F. F. A. boys with adviser left here last Friday morning on an educational tour. The tour included inspection of Wolfe Nursery at Stephenville, and the Soil Conservation program at Dublin, known as the Green Creek water shed. Mr. Wolfe, owner of the nursery, took the boys through his stock of improved varieties of plants and explained how he reproduced each. The soil saving dams, loose rock dams, contour terraces, plain terraces, and channels were explained to the boys by the C. C. C. supervisor. The loose rock dam was explained by telling the use and how the wings, apron, lip, crest or crown were used. The terraces are never allowed to shed into a road. The boys returned at 3:30. F. F. A. LET'S TALK ABOUT CLOTHES

Denton, Texas, Feb. 14.— Designers furnish interesting blouse information for the many shoppers who are sliding their shoulders into suits these days. They point out that the suit buying public does not approve of the severely tailored blouses, but prefers the frilled or more feminine models to contrast with the masculine tailored wools and suiting used for the popular simple suit.

So, with this in mind, we visit the shops and find soft striped silk in stunning color contrasts, made with a chest pocket, turn-over collar and short sleeves. The stripes are about an inch wide and are used vertically.

Another big success is the two faced printed silk taffeta blouse. The under side is navy blue, the upper scarlet, and the small design is in reverse on both sides of the silk. A poplin is worn over the skirt, the sleeves are short and the neckline is furnished with the contrasting side of taffeta tied in a large bow under the chin. Girls at Texas State College for Women (CIA) smartly recommend this blouse for a navy suit.

Printed silk blouses are especially effective with monotone suits. The soft, mellow designs in cheering bright colors are exquisite, and most of the blouses are made with long fitted sleeves. Hand blocked silks in bright colors against chalk white backgrounds—the kind that have fine details, such as tucked bosoms, tabs for monogramming, short long sleeves and convertible collars.

Crisp white neckwear is an interesting addition to suits. You like the ruffled colors and the exquisitely sheer embroidered organdies with matching cuffs. Be as mannish as you choose in the selection of your suit, but top it with a feminine collar.

Senior News.

The Seniors will present the play "A Poor Married Man" Friday night. Due to bad weather and other entertainments before when we staged the play so we will present it again Feb. 28. The admission will be 10c and 15c. Everyone come. The money will be used to help pay for the girls and boys' basketball sweaters.

In the Ray of the Spotlight

Carroll Akin, or "Wee Wee" is our comic nonsense editor. Carroll has been with us for three years, and he has proved to be a great classmate and helper. Emmett Barker, or "Josh" is our helpful classmate. He entered high school with us and we hope he finishes. Emmett has proved to be a very true friend and classmate. The girls think that Emmett is great!

Sophomore News.

We were surprised Monday morning when we came to school and found that one of our classmates was missing. The missing one was Dorothy Mae Edmondson. She was married to Mr. Richard Ham Friday night. We will miss her in our classes and on the school ground. We wish her much happiness.

Freshman Class Prophecy.

Margie Lea Hutton, our happy-go-lucky girl of '35 is now 21 years old. She makes a beautiful young mother. Her husband is a brown-eyed, black-headed young man. The baby is only three months old. Isn't it a pretty scene?

In Lubbock, a thriving town of West Texas, hangs a sign reading like this: PARKS BROTHERS. Who could it be but Audie Parks and his younger brother following in their Daddy's footsteps. A young brown-headed girl waits on us charmingly. It's Audie's wife! Who would have guessed it?

On the staff of Baylor University at Waco is Prof. Frank C. Allen. Could it be possible that this dignified professor could be the Frank Coit Allen who was a freshman of '35 at dear old Fairy High? You're right. It can be and is.

Sport News.

The Fairy Tigers closed their basketball season last Wednesday night. They lost their final game to the strong Liberty quintet. It was a hard fought battle, the scores being 17 to 18. The Liberty boys have a real team and we wish them luck at the District meet. In this game Elton Freeman was high point man for the Tigers with eight points. C. V. Russell was next with five.

The Tigers have a pretty good record for the playing season. They played 32 games winning 25 of them. The Tigers have played some of the strongest teams in Texas.

The work of the Tigers is the result of the work of Homer L. Miller, one of the best coaches in the state of Texas. This is his second year at Fairy and is the first year he has had a team failing to win the county championship. His teams won county for three consecutive years in Comanche county. Mr. Miller is a "real" coach and we are proud of him. We hope to see him back another year.

The boys were awarded their letters this week. Those receiving sweaters are Capt. Elton Freeman, Sammie Davis, Odum Russell, Weynard Allison, Woodrow Williamson, Ray Miller, and C. V. Russell, Andrew Duncan, Daud Morrison, J. N. Pitts, and Billie O. Bridges are squadmen and will probably receive letters next year.

Since the basketball season is over, the high school girls have been playing volley ball and tennis when the weather permits. The bladder in our volley ball was burst last week and so our practice will be delayed a few days.

We are very glad to know that Mr. Squyers is able to be up.

Chapel.

Mr. Grisham's room entertained in Chapel Friday. The program was very enjoyable. The 7th and 8th grades will entertain next week.

First and Second Grades.

All of the boys' and some of the girls are playing marbles. The girls have been jumping rope.

Illness.

Mr. Grisham has been out of school this week. We miss him very much in his room and on the school ground. The fact is, the pupils in his room feel lost without him, also the indoor ball team miss him. Teachers and pupils alike miss Mr. Grisham and hope for him a speedy recovery, so he can be with us soon.

Myrtle Duncan who has been ill with pneumonia for the past two weeks is improving nicely. We have missed her and hope she will be able to be in school soon.

Death of Mrs. Lillie Lane.

Members of the Clairette Penny Club were made sad Friday morning, Feb. 14, by the death of Mrs. Lillie Lane. She was a most devoted member, always ready to take part and help in the club when needed. She had been sick for over a year, but always wore a smile for everyone. She was always patient during the time she was sick, never complaining as some would.

When she was called to a better home, not made by hands on Friday morning, leaving this old world of sin and sorrow, how shocked everyone was. We had not realized her condition to be so serious. We would not call you back to this world of trials and temptations to suffer as you did, but oh, how we are going to miss you, Lillie. There will be an empty chair in our club—just a ray of sunshine gone, but our loss is Heavens' gain.

She is survived by her husband and eleven brothers and sisters. Some of these are half brothers and sisters, four brothers and sisters have passed on.

To her beloved we would say, "weep not as you would for one who had no hope, for her faith was great. In her Lord Jesus Christ. It is a debt we all must pay sooner or later."

"A precious one from us is gone, A voice we loved is still, A place is vacant in our club, That never can be filled."

ON TEXAS FARMS

Supplies of seed of grasses and legumes are greater this year than ever before in the Nation's history. This contrasts sharply with the scarcity of 1934.

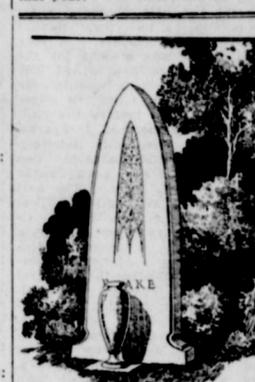

It is a good thing that there are plenty of these seeds available because putting land into pasture and meadow crops is becoming more and more popular these days.

Some of the more scientific folk are even becoming particular about inoculating the legume seeds they plant. It pays too.

Dr. J. F. Cox, chief of the replacement crops section of the AAA, says there is a sufficient supply of blue-grass seed and of red top seed to plant several times the usual acreage.

Fairly large supplies, in excess of normal usage, are reported for orchard grass, rye grass, and meadow fescue.

The seed supply of bromo grass and crested wheat grass adapted to Western and Northwestern conditions, is greatly increased over last year.
