HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1937.

NUMBER 28

Here In HICO

What's this we hear about twenty-cent turkeys this Fall? Understand now, we are not making the prediction that this price will prevail on Hico's main stage crop this year. But there have been rumors and reports, none of them backed up so far as we know by any poultryman's authority, that turkey raisers in general will realize a fairer price this season than they have enjoyed for the past several years. And who is there to deny that such higher prices are justified, in the face of almost exorbitant charges for edible cuts from the carcasses of the more homely, but less glamorous and succulent swine and kine?

Talking with one erstwhile turkey raiser of the Fairly community Monday, we were informed that he had sold his entire flock, consisting of 130 head, some weeks ago for seventy cents around. Said he would make more that way than he could by keeping them and feeding them through the heavy growing season. Others we know have bought such flocks for fattening and finishing, claiming that they can make more net profits than by hatching the eggs and nursing the brats through the cold and damp weather.

So we have a difference of opinion not alone on marketing methods, price outlook and proper care of the birds, but on what stage of the game is most profitable.

In spite of this difference of opinion, and the further fact that many who have tried the game find it a losing venture, according to their statements, we offer the prediction that the coming turkey season will, as usual, turn loose lots of ready cash in this section. And gracious, how we need it!

Let us hasten to add our approbation of a movement now afoot, according to The New Yorker, to have the turkey adopted as the national symbol instead of the eagle. Continuing to explain this movement, the swank publication adds the following notes:

It's the doing of a fiery group of poultryers, and there have been vigorous editorials on the subject in The Butcher's Advocate. "The eagle is a bird of prey, swooping down on its victims. This is not representative of the American spirit," the Advocate says austere-ly. "The turkey, on the other hand, is a bird whose history is blended with that of the American people from the days of the Pilgrim Fathers. It is a peaceful bird, but handsome and majestic. It should replace the eagle."

The publisher of the Advocate, a Mr. Williams, says the big packers are for the movement, as is Congressman Emanuel Celler. We asked Mr. Williams if he didn't think the poultrymen were defeating their own ends in this mighty "people's" idea. The idea it would be seductive to eat the national bird.

"Listen," he said, "the national bird should be one of prosperity. The more turkey we eat, the more prosperity."

One of Hico's business men, who also takes pride in his home, was in the office the other day and we asked him about some improvements he had made about his place. We apparently struck a sympathetic chord for he not only told us about why he and other members of his family had decided to make these improvements, but stated in no uncertain terms that the money spent would pay dividends in the long run. Their place is one of the prettiest, if not the newest, in town and just adds to the appearance of the whole block of which it is a part. Which reminded both of us that it is not altogether the new homes which make a town slightly and progressive looking, but the manner in which the homes and premises are kept. We can show you new houses which are not nearly so slightly after a year as some others which have been here perhaps a score of years. It takes a community spirit to make a pretty town. No few citizens can do it alone.

By the way, isn't anyone else getting tired of looking at the many ruins of homes left standing after fire's depredations as a monument to the ravages of this national peril? Each month, it seems, adds to our collection of gaunt, unsightly, charred reminders of property lost. Not desiring to offend anyone, we still wish something could be done toward cleaning off these ruins without their standing for years and years to stare natives and visitors in the face at every turn.

It is absolutely astounding to what ends Texas people will go to attend a big football game. They must be slightly pirkled, the way they scramble for tickets, crowd and jam to get to the big college games, and then sometimes sit in rain throughout the

Turkey Market Expected to Open Next Week

HICO C. OF C. PLANS STRONG BID FOR FALL TRADE

Buyers and Growers Agree That Outlook Is Encouraging.

Surprise In Store For Trades Day Visitors Next Wednesday.

A surprise announcement will be made next Wednesday, Nov. 3, which will be welcome news to the crowd of folks expected to be on hand for Hico's monthly Trades Day program. The announcement will outline plans of the Hico Chamber of Commerce to attract trade to Hico throughout the remainder of the Fall.

At a meeting of directors of the Chamber of Commerce, together with other business men interested in the Trades Day plan, held at the Hico National Bank offices Wednesday afternoon, plans were laid for a program to be carried out the rest of this year which will attract thrifty shoppers from miles around, and certainly will make it advantageous to people in this trade territory to spend their dollars in Hico. Pending rounding out of final arrangements, it was considered advisable not to outline the details until everything was in readiness. These plans will be complete by next Wednesday, and will be announced from the platform when the regular monthly party is held in the center of the square at the customary hour.

Imbued with a united, aggressive spirit, the representatives of Hico's business interests on hand at the C. of C. meeting discussed various ways and means of showing the town's appreciation of the trade it always receives during Fall months, and there was a concerted opinion that something extra should be done to attract trade here for the remainder of 1937. After considerable discussion, featured by heated voicing of individual opinions, a plan which seemed to meet unanimous approval was decided upon. This will be carried out through guarantee of the merchants represented. Others not present at the meeting are expected to fall in line and contribute their part to the success of the undertaking which had mutual benefit as its purpose.

Bargains galore are advertised at the C. of C. meeting every Saturday and next Wednesday. Look over the offerings, come to town for the party, and hear the good news about what is in store for further weeks.

Carnival at Duffau School House.
The P. T. A. of Duffau will put on a Halloween carnival at the Duffau school house Saturday night. There will be lots of fun, and eats for those who attend. A small admission price will be charged. You are invited.

What's going to happen to us if this continues? It sure is a condition to view with alarm. In fact it is such a growing curse that we had a heck of a time getting tickets to the Baylor-T. C. U. game at Waco Saturday.

SINGING AT LANHAM

STATE HIGHWAY MARKERS WILL BE TAKEN DOWN ON U. S. ROUTES THRU TEXAS

Motorists traveling the United States designated in Texas no longer will be puzzled by a multitude of highway markers in thickly populated areas, according to instructions just issued by the Texas Highway Commission through Julian Montgomery, State Highway Engineer, ordering state markers taken down on such routes.

"After an exhaustive study of this whole matter of highway markings we have found that by simply using U. S. route markers it is much easier for the traveling public to follow such highways," said Mr. Montgomery.

"With the trend toward simplicity and elimination of confusion caused by duplicate markers some thirty-five states are using U. S. markers exclusively to the satisfaction of all concerned."

"According to the present marking, many places in the state, and especially the business districts of cities, require so many markers on each post that the traveler is forced to stop traffic while studying these markings, thus creating a safety hazard."

State highway officials state that the original purpose in assigning U. S. route numbers was to simplify the markings of highways enabling the traveling public to follow the route, to, or through, other states.

These U. S. route numbers are designated by the executive committee of the American Association of State Highway Officials after a careful consideration of the needs for such designation as submitted by the states.

According to Mr. Montgomery, the elimination of state markers from U. S. routes will result in a considerable saving to the department. He further said that state markers would remain in place on state highways which have not been designated as U. S. routes and which do not carry standard U. S. shield markers.

FIRST BAPTIST CHURCH

E. E. Dawson, Pastor
"From that time many—went back and walked no more with Him." That is part of a story from the life of Jesus. After they went back to what did they come? Not to life nor fellowship with God nor to heaven at last. It was a fatal day for them when they went back—back to the world, back to sin, back to black despair concerning the future. And that story is repeated over and over again. The writer talked the other day with a man who went back and only sorrow filled his heart. The writer of the Hebrews asserts, "But we are not of them that draw back unto perdition." His logic is that we will follow Christ and pledge to Him our all. That is the true spirit of our holy religion.

Next Sunday all the regular services starting with Sunday school at 10:00, worship at 11:00 and closing the day with the evening worship at 7:00.

You, dear reader, will be welcome at any one or all of these services.

Hamilton County teachers appreciate music, and they always enjoy listening to Mr. Hendessy and his orchestra.

Rev. E. W. Stovall conducted the devotional exercises. He chose "Truth" for his theme, using as his text, "Buy the truth and sell it not." He stressed the fact that we must practice truth in business, in politics, and in the social, educational, and spiritual realms.

Superintendents Earl S. Huffman of Carlton in his discussion of "Why Join the Interscholastic League" stressed the fact that one of the principal objectives of the League is to touch good citizenship. To expedite the work of organizing, a nominating committee was appointed. Superintendents Nix of Hamilton, Huffman of Carlton, Ford of Pottsville, Mr. Grimland of Hico, Mrs. Rhodes of Shive, and Miss Broyles of Fairy served as the nominating committee.

HICO FUTURE FARMERS LEARN TO MAP FARMS

Hico Future Farmers have secured five plane tables which are valued at $100 from Mr. Guy Powell, the Correll County agent, to facilitate their plans of mapping farms in this community.

Three maps of each farm mapped will be made: a farm map showing the house, barns, pastures, and fields as they are; a soil map showing the different types of soils on the farm thus enabling farmers to know what kind of crop to plant on each type of soil; and a plan map planning crop rotation and Soil Conservation practices needed on the farm.

The importance of the Federal Government attaches to this movement is shown by the fact that men were paid five dollars a day this past summer for making farm maps. This importance is further warranted by the fact that the Soil Conservation Camp at Dublin goes through the same procedure with all farms under their supervision.

"HICO" SMITH ADVERTISING HOME TOWN THROUGHOUT STATES FOOTBALL CIRCLES

One good thing about the Hico-reared lads who go out into different localities and make a name for themselves is that they share with their old home town whatever notoriety they may gain through their skill, ability or prowess along certain lines.

This was again borne out this week when local parties received clippings from different papers containing accounts of recent accomplishments of Carroll Smith, a student at Hillsboro Junior College, who is given credit for being the feature player of the Indians, an aggregation receiving much publicity as holders of undisputed second place in the Texas Junior College Conference.

James Page, sports scribe for the Hillsboro Mirror, in a double-column headed article in a recent issue, heaped praise upon "Hico" Smith, referring to him again and again throughout the summary of the game. He will be remembered here as a player on Hico High's squad when the locals in still held fear into their rivals throughout the entire district. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Smith.

CHOATES COMEDIANS TO PLAY IN HICO TONIGHT (FRL) IN THEIR BIG TENT

Choates Comedians, one of the oldest shows on the road will play in Hico on night only, tonight, in their big tent across the railroad tracks on the Lane lot.

They have chosen as their play, "The Singer and the Fool," which has never been shown in the state before. It promises to be a play full of action and fun. They also have with them a 20-piece orchestra to furnish the music in the show.

Choates Comedians are in Texas for the first time this year, but organized forty-eight years ago, and know the show business thoroughly. Since coming to Texas, and recently they showed at Comanche, De Leon, Goldthwaite and other neighboring towns to a big audience.

This show is reported to be clean in every respect.

KEEPING UP WITH TEXAS

Nearly 1,500 delegates to the 55th annual convention of the Texas Grand Chapter of the Order of Eastern Star arrived in El Paso Monday. A complete revision of the constitution of the Grand Chapter of Texas was expected to be made. The proposed constitution will be designed to give local chapters more freedom in discharge of lodge functions.

Four deaths attributed to an elixir Sulfanilamide were reported to the Texas State Health Department at Austin Monday as state and federal agents sought to recall all remaining stock in the state. Dr. George W. Cox, State health director said the four reported victims were a 15-year-old Negro youth near Marlin treated for a venereal disease, a 20-year-old girl student of Commerce Teachers' College, treated for boils, a 4-year-old baby girl at Madisonville treated for sore throat and a patient at Texas City upon whom Dr. Cox had recalled the elixir.

A letter mailed at Philadelphia, Oct. 17, addressed "To Any Cowboy in Texas," arrived at Clarendon this week. Somewhere on the way a supplemental address had been penciled directing the letter to "JA Ranch Foreman, Clarendon, Texas." Local Postmaster Forest W. Taylor said he would take personal interest in the letter so that it would reach at least "one cowboy in Texas," and that one on the famous JA Ranch.

Rev. Charles W. Hughes, 58, had planned to dedicate the new Methodist Church at Cleveland, Texas, Sunday. Instead, sorrowing members of the church attended his funeral Sunday afternoon.

Two native Texans are among the six rear admirals of the United States Navy who will retire next year. They are Rear Admiral David Focht-Sellers, superintendent of the Naval Academy at Annapolis, Md., born Feb. 4, 1874 at Austin, and Rear Admiral Albert Ware Marshall, former commandant of the Fifteenth Naval District and commanding officer of the naval station at Balboa, Canal Zone, born April 6, 1874, at Greenville. Sellers will retire March 1, 1938, and Marshall May 1.

If you happen to see an elderly gentleman sitting near the sidelines at the Army-Navy game at Philadelphia, on Nov. 27 yelling to a hilly go, it will be all right. It will be B. M. Halbert, 70, prominent West Texas ranchman, yelling to "Admiral" the Navy's officers' mascot, "Admiral" once roamed in Halbert's vast flock. Halbert accepted the invitation of the Naval Academy commandment to attend the game upon one condition: "I'd like a seat down near the ground so I can tell that goat that 4,000,000 other goats down in Texas are pulling for him to win that game."

Thirteen-year-old Carroll Wade of Mexia, Texas, was pretty nonchalant this week about a Los Angeles banker offering him $1,000 for a 1913 Liberty-head nickel. Carroll said he was still waiting for the "highest bid." The boy reported Martin Freeze, Bank of America official in Los Angeles, offered the latest top bid for the rare coin he found recently and kept on a "hunch." E. A. Greene, theater manager who employs Carroll as an usher, said the boy had been offered a spot on a radio program but couldn't make up his mind about it.

GOES 'ROUND AND 'ROUND ... And It Comes Out Here—

Congratulations to Curtis Fairley who had a birthday anniversary last Saturday. We did not learn the age of the young man nor how he celebrated the day, but we are sure he enjoyed a big birthday dinner, knowing how well his mother, Mrs. J. W. Fairley, can prepare such a meal. We hope you enjoy 100 more such happy birthdays, "Curt!"

Porter's Drug Store will have another Rexall Sale at their place of business beginning next Wednesday, Dollar Day, and will continue for the balance of the week. Mr. Porter says on the first day of the sale some poppy music will be heard at the store. As you know you buy one article at the regular price, then pay 1c and get another. The sale closes Saturday night at 12 o'clock.

Mrs. Oby Young, who with her husband, is employed at the Buckhorn Cafe, has learned a lot since the good old days, according to her husband. A few years ago when they were in business in another Texas town, Mr. Young said he had things about ready to start business and told his wife to fill the salt and pepper shakers. A little later he noticed that she had the pepper in the salt shaker and the salt in the pepper shaker. When he called her attention to the mistake, she got busy to remedy the error, and he noticed a little later that she was studiously pouring the salt in the pepper and the pepper in the salt.

Mr. and Mrs. Wiseman were in Dallas the first of the week. As usual Mr. Wiseman purchased new equipment for the studio, this time in the way of artificial lights. In this connection Mr. Wiseman says never has there been anything to equal daylight as the main source of light, especially for "room elimination" in the camera room. However artificial light in connection with daylight, especially for dark days, is good. Practically all exposures are now made instantaneously as better expressions are secured. This is absolutely necessary in photographing children, Mr. Wiseman says.

J. W. Waldrop, who is the best nurseryman in this part of the country, brought the News Review force a nice "batch" of turnips and greens the first of this week. Thanks, Mr. Waldrop, for the vegetables, and we hope to see more of you as the vegetables and fruits are grown, as we like most everything in that line. Mr. and Mrs. Waldrop have just returned from an enjoyable trip with relatives in West Texas, and Mr. Waldrop said one of the main reasons for the good time on the trip was due to the fact that they drove the new car belonging to their son, Mark and wife.

Ray D. Brown, superintendent of the Hico Schools, has the "big head" in a "big way" since their little 3-months-old daughter, Betty Ray, has two teeth. He has been telling all his friends about it, and we heard he even sent a telegram to relatives in East Texas informing them of the wonderful advancement his daughter has made. He says he believes she will walk in another month, and once he thought he heard her say "daddy." The only time he gets worried about her lack of intelligence is when she "laps" up castor oil, and begs for more.

Mrs. James M. Phillips, who is one of Hico's most interesting and best loved characters, celebrated her birthday anniversary Sunday when all her children except her son, Robert, who resides in Louisiana, came in for the day. They brought gifts of various kinds and expressed their heartfelt congratulations. Mrs. Phillips, who is unusually active and thoroughly enjoys life, is a football fan. There are very few games when the weather is permissible, but what she is there to "root" for the home team. May supreme happiness endow the entire life of this Hico lady, who has lived here for 30 many years.

Big tent show in town tonight (Friday). Choates Comedians are showing in their big tent across the Katy tracks and have chosen the play, "The Singer and the Fool." They also have a band composed of twenty musicians. This is the first time this show has been in Texas, but recently they played a number of the neighboring towns.

Woods, the State School Superintendent, made a fine talk which was enjoyed by all. Several of the grammar school pupils sang some songs which were fine, followed by an address by Lester Owens. Mrs. Ray Tidwell was elected president. It is hoped that the P-T-A. will do fine this year. If all the parents and teachers will do their part, we will have a fine P-T-A. this year. The Dragons play Cranfill's Gap here Friday. This will be the first game at home and we would like for everyone to come and back our boys. Come out and see a good game of sportsmanship.

F. F. A. News. On Tuesday morning, October 18, the Iredell Future Farmer boys gave capsules to sixty-five sheep for the prevention of worms. The sheep were owned by Q. A. Fouts. They were easily caught in the closed-in sheds he had build for them. Mr. Fouts says the sheep are doing well.

We have three new students in our class. They are: Jones, Minus, Terrell Miller, and Thomas Morgan.

All fees have been paid, and each class officer is learning his part.

The boys who have beef calves for their projects are making out their ration cards.

Each boy has been placed on a committee, and "The Father and Son Banquet" committee is now making preparations for the program which will be held at a future date.

Miss Finley

I. H. S. Faculty.

Miss Sullivan was born in Sanger, Texas, Denton County.

She attended Baylor University three years. Regular terms, and has gone to summer school at Baylor for four years. This is her second year to teach school.

Her favorite games are football and basket ball, while her hobby is visiting industrial officers and plants.

When Miss Sullivan was asked whether or not school was discouraging to her, she answered, "No."

Evidently Miss Sullivan is more fortunate than most teachers or else just has a lot of patience.

She seems to be more than pleased with her vocation, for she said if she had the same question to decide again, she's be a school teacher and take the same college course.

School Building Dedicated. Wednesday night, October 20, 1937, the grammar school building and high school building were open for inspection. Some of the parents had not seen the new building. A program was held in the High School building.

Lester Owens gave an oration written by one of the grammar school faculty.

The second grade sang two songs, Polly Wolly Doodle All Day, and School Bells. They were led by Mrs. Martin. Another group, the fourth grade, sang Suzanne, Tra La La La La. They were led by Mrs. Whitlock.

The P-T-A. has been organized for a year of rest. Mrs. Ray Tidwell was elected president; Mrs. Jerry Phillips, vice president; and Mrs. Cap Newman, secretary and treasurer.

Dr. L. A. Woods spoke on the "Development in Texas." It was stated by everyone. He is the state superintendent.

Other out-of-town guests were also present for the program.

Football.

The team of I. H. S. went to Kopperl for the third event of the football season. The scores were 12 to 6 in favor of Kopperl. Tom Conley intercepted one of Kopperl's passes and went over the goal line for Iredell's only touchdown.

GRAMMAR SCHOOL NEWS

Seventh Grade. Due to the absence of two characters, the seventh grade could not give their play in assembly last week.

The sixth and seventh grade girls played the high school girls in basket ball Wednesday. The scores were 4 and 2 in favor of the grammar school girls.

Mr. Newman came to school Monday morning with a black eye and we wonder why.

Fifth Grade News. Isla Ruth Ray was sick Thursday afternoon and was unable to attend school Friday. We hope she can be with us soon.

We are going to see which row in our room can be kept the cleanest. Each one is going to do his part by keeping his desk cleaned out and by putting his paper in the waste basket.

We are practicing our assembly program. We believe it will be a good one.

We welcome Ona Mae Flanary from Carlton into our school.

Fourth Grade Takes Trip. Twenty-two children sponsored by Mrs. Martin from the fourth grade, prepared for a train ride and a weiner roast in the bed of the good 'ole Bosque river; boarded the 8:27 passenger train Saturday morning with great anticipation and enthusiasm running high.

code twenty minutes into Hico. Here they were met by two home room teachers, Mrs. Wick Simpson, Mrs. Charlie Myers, and a playground supervisor, Mr. Miller, who drove them about one mile and a half up the Bosque river where a huge campfire was built.

A sight seeing tour was made down the river, with picking up pecans and jumping rope a side issue.

Afterwards food was spread and everyone had plenty of roasted weiners, toasted marshmallows, fruit and cookies, which seemed to just hit the spot after the nice tramp down the river.

On the return trip an inspection of the airport was made, and each child was delivered safely in Iredell by 12 o'clock noon, reporting a wonderful time.

Third Grade News. Several have been out of school this week picking cotton. We hope they will soon be back.

Junior Newman cut his foot and has not been in school this week. We hope it will soon be well.

We have finished making Halloween decorations for our room. It sure looks spooky.

We are beginning to plan our program for chapel. It will be a Thanksgiving program.

Turkeys Wanted

As usual, we will dress turkeys, and the market will open next week for this season. We want plenty of turkey pickers. See us before you sell your flock, as we can pay as much as anyone.

Sixth Installment.
Monty Wallace has just arrived in California, having broken the East-West cross country airplane record. Natalie Wade, mistaken by him for a newspaper reporter, writes the exclusive account of Monty's arrival, and succeeds in securing a trial job with a paper in exchange for the story. Natalie becomes attached to Monty.

Although she discovers Monty's love for her is not sincere, Natalie admits that she loves him. She is assigned by her paper to report Monty's activities for publication. Jimmy Hale, the newspaper's photographer, becomes Natalie's co-worker.

Natalie interviews Jabe Marion, wealthy airplane builder, who decides to build a record-breaking 'round the world plane for Monty. Marion's daughter, Sunny, exquisitely beautiful, is attracted to Monty. She invites Natalie to dine with her, when they meet the aviator unexpectedly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY
She did manage to get a thermos jug of water from the field office and she sent all this to be loaded into the cabin plane which Monty was now using.

They got off with no one the wiser. Sunny and Jimmy Hale paid no attention to the boys who put the sandwiches and drinks aboard. Monty did a neat bit of pretending when he badgered Natalie to ride with him.

With apparent reluctance she went aboard, sitting close beside him in the narrow forward cabin of the plane.

The rear space had been used for auxiliary fuel supply so that there was no great comfort for two persons in the craft but it did not matter on so short a flight.

Natalie had never been aloft before but she gave the matter little thought. Monty Wallace, she knew, was an expert pilot. That was enough for her. During the takeoff she was watching as best she could to see whether Jimmy Hale suspected her purpose and at the last instant was sure he did.

Reverberations of the motor made conversation difficult even in the little cabin, and Natalie was content to be quiet. She had time now to note that they were rising slowly as Monty set his course for the peninsula across the border.

She had a strange feeling that they two were in a small planet of their own winging through space; that they were the only inhabitants and that nothing mattered but themselves. There was a thrill in the thought. A world with Monty Wallace was world enough for her.

She settled herself beside him and she smiled across at her but said nothing.

Hour after hour they winged over the brown California countryside. It was a glorious, golden afternoon. The roar of the motor lulled the girl into deeper contentment. She gave herself up to the ecstasy of each moment and was sure that success must somehow be theirs on this sudden journey.

When she moved a little, hunting for a more comfortable position after an hour or two, he shifted so that his arm went about her and he drew her toward him. It seemed the natural thing in their little flying world and she let herself lean pleasantly against his shoulder.

It was some hours before they began their search in earnest.

"Keep an eye out on your side," Monty shouted at her. "If you see anything, signal and I'll circle. Watch for smoke in unusual places or for any sign of a wrecked plane."

She nodded but when she found that there were mountains and sandy wastes alternately below, she suddenly realized how futile was their quest, for almost any of the dark valleys might hide the two men and their small plane.

"I'm afraid it's no use," she cried once and he cut the motor to reply.

"There's a chance," he said. "I got into trouble down here once and I'm headed for the same place. There are down currents in some of these valleys that you don't expect. We may not be able to do much tonight but in the morning there's a possibility."

The girl had known that they must spend the night somewhere on the peninsula but she had given it little thought. Her reputation might suffer but it was a matter of life and death for the two pilots and she could not think of herself in their extremity.

It was true, of course, that there had been no need for her to make the trip but it was a chance to help the lost pilots and do a good job for the paper as well. She offered a little prayer for their success and scanned the distant earth more eagerly than before.

But there was still no sign of the men and the impression grew on her that only sheer luck could bring them to the rescue in time to be of any service.

Once they passed another plane and veered toward it till they discovered that it was another searcher. For an hour or more, however, they had been beyond the territory of the rest of the hunt, and Monty still flew with that serene confidence that gave her hope.

When the shadows below grew so long as to be grotesque and they knew that the quick night would presently close them in, Wallace headed the plane for the open country and just as the sun sank over the horizon he set it down in a careful landing as near as he could to a patch of low woods that indicated the presence of water.

They had not for some time seen one of the small coast villages or any other human habitation.

When they had climbed out and stretched cramped limbs, Monty's first thought was for the safety of his own plane and from a tool compartment he took from stakes and rope with which he fastened it securely.

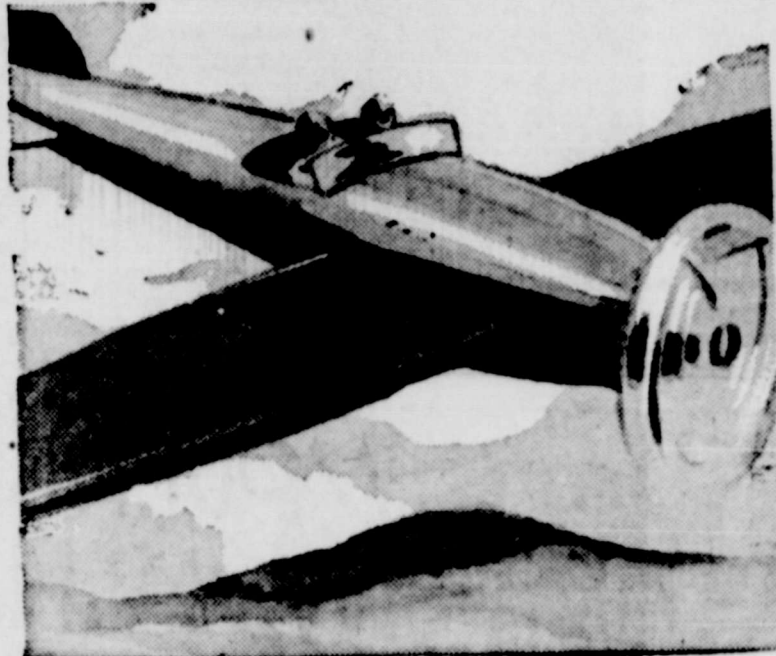

"Let the wind blow now," he said when he had finished. "The ship will be here in the morning and that's the main thing."

Natalie set out what food they needed and they ate sparingly. "It's going to be a little cold tonight," Monty said. "I think we'd better have a little fire to warm us up before we turn in."

He gathered some sticks from the nearby underbrush and built a generous fire in the shelter of a dune at some distance from the plane.

"You may have to sleep in the plane to keep warm," he told her, "but it will be better here if we can keep you comfortable."

He scooped out a little hollow

Hour after hour they winged over the brown California countryside.

and heaped a sandy pillow for her head in the most sheltered spot and kept the fire going till Natalie drowsed in the grateful warmth.

"I wish we'd thought to bring some blankets," he said presently. "We may need them before morning. The nights get pretty cool sometimes."

The girl slept then while he sat beside her to reassure her. When she waked, the fire had burned low and she moved to draw her light coat more closely about her. Then she reached out her hand to touch him and found that he had gone.

For an instant she knew terror. She swept the circle of the fire's dim light with her eyes for sight of him but he was nowhere to be found.

Natalie sat up shivering. She glanced toward where the plane had been and caught the outline of its dark wings against the sky. She tried to assure herself that everything was all right. But she knew that without Monty she faced death.

It was a strange fact but somehow it wasn't new. Somewhere in her consciousness that feeling had existed before. She wondered about that and then she knew why it seemed so. Subconsciously her whole life was anchored to this man. Her love made him necessary to her everywhere as he was to her here on the bald desert.

She must hold him somehow. She must find him here in the dark and grapple him to herself with every bond she could discover.

But just then a sudden crash in the darkness sent her screaming to her feet. Something alive was there in the shadow of the line of brush, something that moved through the dark. And then she knew what it was. Monty's voice halted her in answer to her cry.

"Here I am," he called. "I was out getting some more wood for the fire. Are you all right?"

Instantly her terror died. The world righted itself. Yes, she told him, everything was all right. . . she had been alarmed to find him gone and then that crashing had started a scream out of her.

"It was a small dead tree," he laughed. "I swung my weight on it to bring it down and it came with a crack. There'll be all the wood we need."

He appeared now dragging the tree with him. When he drew near he saw her teeth were chattering and without a word he took her into his arms.

"Be quiet now," he told her. "You're mostly scared. I'm sorry. I didn't think you'd wake while I was gone. You seemed to be sleeping soundly."

When he had reassured her, he tossed wood on the fire till it blazed high. Then he made her sit beside him and held her close once more till she was warm.

"You won't go away again," she said presently. "Stay where I can touch you."

He told her he would. "I'm afraid you've not been getting any sleep," she said a little later. "You lie down there in the place you made for me. I'll lean against you for warmth and watch the fire."

When he had slept a little, she moved to thrust the log farther into the coals. But he waked quickly and took the task from her hands.

"This is no good," she said. "You'll be sleepy when you're flying tomorrow. We'll let the fire go and huddle together. Then we can both get some sleep."

And when she had gone into his arms she slept again and knew that he held her tightly while he slept.

In the morning she waked warm and happy. The rising sun had crept over the desert rim. A soft, warm breeze heralded the day. She knew that his cheek touched her hair and for long minutes she lay still so as not to disturb his rhythmic breathing.

The sun waked him in a little while and he found her smiling down at him. "You were very sweet to me," she said. "It makes up for some of the things I've held against you."

She bent to kiss his rough cheek.

"There's a time and a place for everything," he laughed as he sat up. "This is the time and place for hunting lost pilots. We'd better be getting aloft."

He lifted her up and kissed her.

"I love you to death when you are like this," she told him. And he kissed her again.

While Natalie delved again into the box of provisions and the wreck they would be up and waving at us now, wouldn't they? Either they're dead or they've started out somewhere. Let's hunt around to see if we can find some sign of life."

It nodded at the suggestion and began widening the circles in which they flew. Now and then he swooped low over some moving object but found usually that it was a shadow or some movement of tree or bush.

They were about to give up after half an hour of this when suddenly below them two pigmy figures rushed into a clearing and danced madly, waving their arms at first and then ripping off their coats and helmets.

brought out enough for a meager breakfast. Monty Wallace was busy loosening the ropes that held the plane.

They were presently aloft again and this time she went into the crook of his arm as naturally as though the place belonged to her.

"We're right about where they are likely to be," he told the girl and bade her keep close watch of the rough country below.

At noon they were still hunting from one canyon to another and they munched sandwiches as they flew. It was while they still ate that the girl started suddenly up and peered through the window at her side.

"There's something down there!" she cried, over the motor's roar. Monty nodded and swung the plane in a steep bank about the spot so that they could both look down.

"It's a plane," he bellowed, and circled cautiously downward.

They could see presently that the wreck of a biplane lay in a small canyon. There was no sign of life about it. As they came about on one of the arcs of the circle their own ship whipped suddenly over and Natalie saw that Monty made a quick movement to right it.

He zoomed the frail monoplane then, and told Natalie of the treacherous air currents that would make landing difficult.

"Wait," she cried. "Don't land yet. If they were alive and around

"SUCKER LISTS"

If you are among the many Hico citizens who occasionally receive tempting offers of oil well or gold mine stocks through the mail then you may be sure that in some mysterious way your name has found a place on some of the "sucker lists" used by those who are looking for easy money.

IT WON'T BE LONG

It won't be long now until old King Winter will be camping on your doorstep. With him he is bringing the long nights when time is most apt to drag along and hang heavily on the hands of those who have not yet learned the value and importance of the radio and the home-town newspaper.

WHERE IT GOES

Everyone around Hico has wondered at sometime or another who gets the difference between what the farmer gets for his products and what the consumer pays for it. For that reason a survey just completed by the Dept. of Agriculture along that line is of interest.

SPECULATION

A wealthy man died a couple of years ago, and the inheritance tax investigators, charged with appraising his estate for tax purposes, have lately made their report. In his safe-deposit box they found certificates for thousands of shares of perfectly worthless stock, for which he had paid real money.

THE CONSUMER'S PROBLEMS

More attention is being given to the problems of the consumer than ever before. With rising costs for everything he buys, the consumer, as such, is asking "how come?" and demanding an answer in language which he can understand.

CURBING GOSSIPERS

If there is any one thing Hico could get along better without it's gossipers. Not that we have any more of them than is to be found in the average community, for there probably are as few here as will be found in any other town of smaller size.

WORTH TEACHING

The fact that there is no regular course in the public schools of Hico and surrounding territory covering the conservation of wild life and natural resources does not mean that it is not worth being taught.

Baked Vegetables. Did you ever bake your vegetables instead of always boiling or steaming them? Baking really is an ideal method of cooking most of the Fall vegetables because their flavor is preserved.

Tomatoes are good baked whole without stuffing. Later in the winter canned tomatoes are invaluable in various baked dishes.

Beets are amazingly good baked just as you would potatoes. Or they can be pared and diced and baked in a closely covered casserole with butter and salt and pepper and bit of sugar and lemon juice.

It is important that fall-planted bulbs should be planted at their proper depth. While some kinds will find their own level after planting, gradually working their way up or down as the case may be.

Hiking enthusiasts who want to enjoy nature in comfort were cautioned by the leader of an adult hiking group against wearing high heels.

MODERN WOMEN

by EARLENE WHITE President of The National Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs, Inc.

What is said to be the most complete collection of biographies of famous women in history and to be found in New York is owned by Miss Rosaline Greene, whose archives are called upon by persons all over the country.

Well known as a "suffrage child" is Mrs. Dana Converse Backus, daughter of Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, one of the most active of the women who worked for enfranchisement twenty years ago.

Carrying the sick six miles on stretchers through blizzards and down mountain trails is all part of the day's work with Mrs. Mary Breckenridge, director of the Frontier Nursing Service in the Kentucky mountains.

The housecoat vogue that went out this year continues in a new vein. All of them, now available in flannel, satin, grosgrain and velvet, have that same suave hip-line, tiny waist and full skirt.

Hostess gowns are reminiscent of early southern belles, with lacy trains and little black velvet ribbons tied fetchingly at the neck and trailing full length.

VEGETABLE ROAST: (six servings) Mash three medium-sized boiled carrots and six medium-sized baked potatoes (peels removed). Mix in one cup boiled rice or grits, one cup bread crumbs, and one-half cup left-over fat beef (cut into cubes and browned with one-fourth cup of finely chopped onion).

CORN LOAF: (six servings) Drain the liquor from a No. 2 can of corn into a measuring cup and fill the cup with milk to make white sauce. Melt three tablespoons butter, and stir until smooth. Add the cup of corn liquor and milk. Stir over low heat until quite thick.

TOMATO SAUCE: Melt two tablespoons butter or bacon drippings. Add one tablespoon finely chopped onion and cook until onion is light brown. Add two tablespoons flour and stir until well blended. Pour in one cup tomato pulp and juice. Stir constantly and cook until of the consistency of thick cream.

When it comes to the number of eggs you want to use to a pie, that depends on the mission of the pie. A company pie needs three eggs, but if you are baking a pumpkin pie season should be long and merry one you will find that three eggs and two tablespoons of flour will make two very good pies of firm texture.

The House of Hazards

By Mac Arthur

Sunday School Lesson

by Rev. Charles E. Dunn

The Drink Problem. Lesson for October 31st. Galatians 5:16-24. Golden Text: Galatians 5:16.

The liquor interests, with the aid of the best talent in the advertising profession, are investing large sums of money with the expectation of popularizing the use of alcoholic beverages.

What are the actual facts? All competent authorities agree that while alcohol is usually taken as a stimulant, it is actually a narcotic whose main effect is to depress, weaken and slow up man's faculties.

MELANCHOLY. 'Thou' wouldst be joyous, wouldst thou?' says Barrow. 'Then be a fool.'

It is quite probable that tendency to mental depression is inherited and that if we should ever succeed in breeding melancholy out of the human race we should also have bred out of our most sensitive and brilliant minds.

dullness, ill temper and misery. Then, too, while alcohol has some value as a medicine, its significance as a healer of disease has been greatly exaggerated.

Every organ of the body is likely to experience the baneful effect of alcohol. But its most significant victim is the brain.

Here we have one explanation of the appalling rise in the number of automobile casualties. Over 7 per cent of all drivers involved in fatal accidents, and about 11 per cent of all pedestrians killed are under the influence of liquor.

College.

College, a term which in the United States, and to some extent in Canada, has become confused with university, has in reality a distinct meaning.

In the best usage the word applies to an institution for higher education which confines its instruction to the so-called liberal arts, that is, science, mathematics, history, literature, etc., giving its members a general education. Only those schools are truly universities as which maintain, in addition to the liberal arts department, special departments for teaching some of the professions, such as law, medicine, dentistry, engineering or for research by students beyond that required for the degree of Bachelor of Arts, Bachelor of Science, or their equivalents a college may be included with a university, as at Howard, or it may exist as an independent institution.

DAPHNE HOOVER

Senior Personality Parade.

Sam William Battershell, president of the Senior class, is 16 years of age, grayish blue eyes, brown hair to match. Sam is just a little lad of 200 pounds and is six feet and one and one-half inches tall. He is in love but he refuses to tell which one it is. Vernon Jackson is often seen double-dating with Sam, and two good looking girls are with them. He spends his Saturday nights at the show. His hobby is working. He prefers blondes to a brunet or red head is o. k. His ambition is to be a New York lawyer. Clark Gable is his favorite movie star, and Kay Francis just takes his heart away.

Seniors.

The Seniors are gradually gaining their dignity back after taking six weeks' tests. The majority of the class made excellent grades and those who didn't are determined to do better next time. We, seniors, have ordered our senior play books. The play is entitled "One Dolorious Night." We plan to have this play ready to present by the time the gymnasium is completed. Further notices will appear later concerning it.

Editor Absent.

We are very sorry that Wynell Blacklock, one of the editors, was absent during the time "The Fairies" was being written. Also we want to express our appreciation to Geraldine Brummitt for taking her place.

Junior News.

We are all proud our six weeks' tests are over. All of us made fair grades. Wonder why Margie has that bad cold? Lucille is always happy on Monday morning?

Sophomore News.

We are very proud of our grades this six weeks, but we hope to make them better next time. Wonder why Mr. Horsley doesn't say anything about his marriage? Hanky is so sleepy; the sophomores do not have any more news than this? (Must be a dull class).

Freshmen.

We are glad that we have had our six weeks' tests and to have a new member in our class, Ruby Trantham.

There are several pupils absent in our class.

Wonder why Quata has not come to school; Jean went to Fairy Saturday night; Norma Ruth looks so happy?

Believe It or Not: Mary in love; Nellie B. crazy; Thelma a boy friend, Bertie got kissed.

Seventh Grade News.

The seventh grade students are through with all of their examinations, and everyone made good grades. A few of the girls and boys are out picking cotton but we hope they will be back soon. We have organized a club and the name of it is Wednesday's Willing Worker's Club. Miss White is our sponsor. We have the club on Wednesday, and we will have a Halloween program this time.

Fifth and Sixth Grades.

We had six weeks' examinations last week. We all made good grades. The highest grades in spelling were: David Battershall, 100; Peggy Allison 99. The highest grade in the fifth grade spelling was 99 1-4 by Elsie Lee Parks.

The fifth grade couldn't have their program for last Friday. We have a new student in the sixth grade. Her name is Dorothea Brook.

Third and Fourth Grades.

The fourth grade English Club elected new officers Friday, October 9. They are: Wayne Burden, president; Jack Robinson, vice-president, and Bob Massingall, secretary. The program last week for the club was a Halloween program.

The third grade had a better average attendance last week than the fourth.

First and Second Grade.

The first and second grades are very happy to be in their building again. They had to stay in the gymnasium in the high school while their house was being moved. The gymnasium will be located where their building was.

The first grade received their new book "Jo-Boy" today. This is a very thrilling event to them as this is the first real book that they have received this year.

Both the first and second grades have started on a new unit of the home. They are learning about the different kinds of home to day and long ago. They will make booklets of the different members of the home and learn some of the duties of each member. They also plan to make a miniature doll house and furnish it.

Wilfred, Annie and Dora Sikes will move near Mosheim tomorrow. They will be greatly missed from our group.

Girls Sport News.

The girls did not play a game last week. They were unable to get one matched with anyone. We hope to play a game this week.

We have several girls working out this year, and we believe we will have a more successful team than ever before. We hope so.

We play Liberty Friday night, Nov. 5 in Carleton's gym. Everyone come.

Boys' Sport News.

A mixed team will go to Latham Thursday to play basket ball. It will not be the first team. Most all of the boys have returned to school from cyton picking. We are looking forward to a more successful year than ever before.

Honor Roll.

Fifth Grade: Elsie Lee Parks, Elsie Lee Parks, Charlene Richardson, Onita Shepherd and Jimmie D. Thompson.
 Sixth Grade: Peggy Ruth Allison, David Battershall, Rudell Jaggars, Wynell Parks.
 First Grade: Ione Arrant.

HEADACHE REMEDY STARTS WORKING IN SECONDS

THE REASON BAYER ASPIRIN WORKS SO FAST
 Drop a Bayer Aspirin tablet into a tumbler of water. By the time it hits the bottom of the glass it is dissolving.
 This speed of disintegration enables genuine BAYER Aspirin tablets to start "taking hold" of headache and similar pain a few minutes after taking.

All people who suffer occasionally from headaches ought to know this way to quick relief.

At the first sign of such pain, take two Bayer Aspirin tablets with a half glass of water. Sometimes if the pain is unusually severe, one more tablet is necessary later, according to directions.

If headaches keep coming back we advise you to see your own physician. He will look for the cause in order to correct it.

School Bell Rings At Eastern "Pen"

The goat dairy at the Graterford Division of the Eastern State Penitentiary provides practical experience in one phase of farming for those enrolled in the agricultural courses.

SEVEN hundred prisoners at the Philadelphia and Graterford divisions of Pennsylvania's Eastern State Penitentiary are "going to school." Some whose education was neglected in their childhood are taking up the study of "The Three R's." Others are studying vocational courses to fit them to enter business or a trade and earn an honest living after their release.

The educational program, the first of its kind on a broad scale, was started in October, 1935, with the cooperation of the International Correspondence Schools of Scranton, Pa., and has developed as a combination of class room coaching and correspondence study. It represents, according to Dr. E. Preston Sharp, supervisor of rehabilitation, what the State of Pennsylvania hopes will prove a sound investment in the rehabilitation of men who might otherwise become a permanent menace to society and a constant drain on the State's resources.

The curriculum now provides 37 different courses including the various fields of agriculture, carpentering, masonry and bricklaying, automobile mechanics, draftsmanship, and a wide variety of commercial subjects. Men studying the vocational courses obtain practical experience related to their studies through the maintenance activities of the prison and through their work in the prison shops, offices, and on the farm at Graterford, 30 miles outside of Philadelphia. Text material for the courses is furnished by the International Correspondence School, but lessons are graded and corrected by instructors selected from the men serving time and trained by the I. C. S. before the start of the program. When a man completes his course the final examination and sample lessons are sent to the I. C. S. for review. Provided the work done meets the required standards, the regular I. C. S. diploma is awarded. Up to the present time approximately 60 men have completed courses and received their diplomas.

"A large proportion of the men committed to the Eastern State Penitentiary are without skill or training in any trade," says Dr. Sharp. "Many of them are virtually illiterate. By showing them how they can overcome the handicap of illiteracy and acquire skill in a trade, the educational program has given them a new incentive to use their time in prison constructively."

Enrollment is entirely voluntary, but the interest of the men is shown by the number who enroll, and by the fact that the calibre of the work done compares favorably with the work of men on the outside who enroll with the I. C. S.—for correspondence study.

SCHOOL FROCK FEATURES PRIM PRISCILLA COLLAR

Pattern 8034: High school girls and college students will want this frock for back-to-school wear. It has a lot of charm and many fashion-important details. A two-piece style, the skirt is stitched on the reverse side—umbrella fashion—falling into a low graceful flare at the hem. The bodice, designed after one which Evangeline might have worn, has a shoulder-wide, square collar and a tiny peplum that falls in a straight line. The three-quarter sleeves are puffed at top and finished with wide cuffs to match the collar. A perfect dress for school made up in smooth rayon crepe or a heavy silk print.

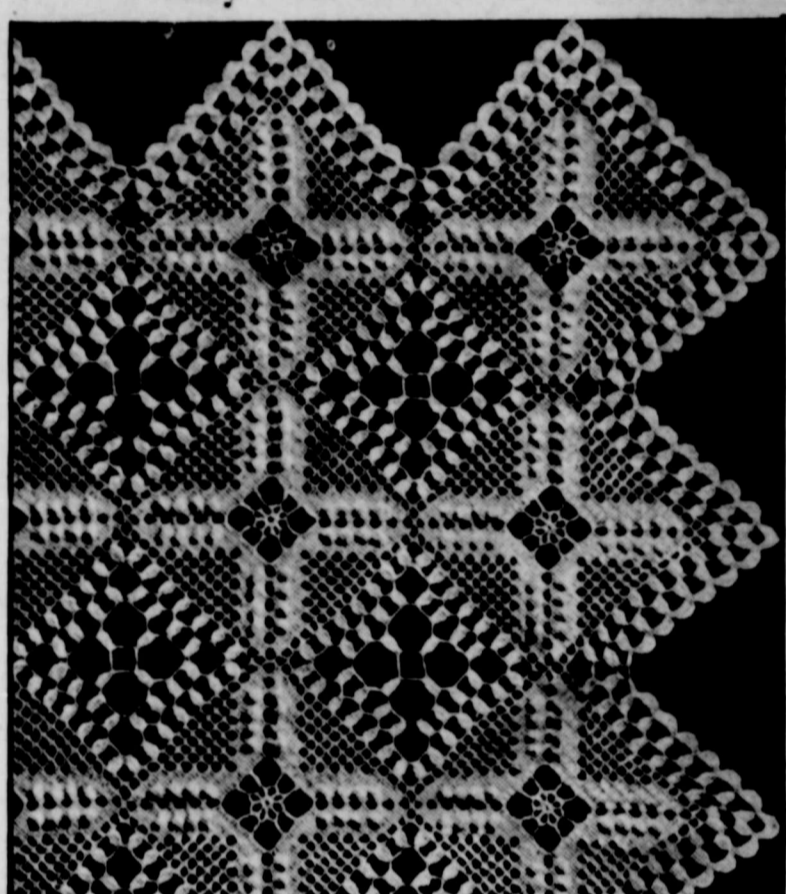

For PATTERN, send 15 cents in coin (for each pattern desired) your Name, ADDRESS, STYLE NUMBER and SIZE to Patricia Dow, Hico News Review Pattern Dept., 115 Fifth Avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y.

In above scene he delivers a "fireside chat" where he comes out for a third term. In case you want to compare, insert at lower right is Roosevelt, himself.

Will we have a band?

Will we have a band? That is the question raised by Mr. Brown in an assembly Monday. We should have a band; that is certain. We believe every High School should have a band and certainly we want to put Hico High School on the map. Out of a group of students as large as ours (from the fourth grade up) several musicians should be easily found. More than fifty others should be found who could learn not to be good, but excellent musicians. So come on, as they would say in the navy, "Join up today!"

I'M THE BIRD

who makes others unhappy

I'm the bird who never buys a football pencil. I don't care about all this fuss about school spirit and the support of the football team; as long as I can get pencils at town for even a third of a cent less, I will do it. I say it shows I'm thrifty. Of course, the pencils I get at town may not be quite as good in the long run and may really cost more, but I don't care. It looks as if I am thrifty anyhow.

Our ninth grade reporter gives us the following, and we must agree in part, if not in whole: There seems to be some concern about six-weeks grades. It seems as if the teachers had their expectations set a little too high, for the rumors we hear going around are full of woe and pitiful wails. Yours truly would like to be notified if any extra thirty-five points is found. From the looks of our Algebra grade, we could use it. We dare say there are a few others in the same condition.

The report arrived this morning that Mr. Grimland is in a serious condition. We are sure that every ninth grader wants his back. This is our personal cry, "We want Grimland."

There is another item to be stressed. There are some girls, and yes, boys, who must keep more regular hours. No matter where you look you can see half closed eyes and nodding heads. All right girls, we said we'd get your names in the paper without mentioning any names.

The entire group of fifteen Hico School teachers attended the Hamilton County Institute at the Hamilton High School auditorium Saturday.

The main purpose of the meeting was for the organization of a Hamilton County Interscholastic League. Coach Grimland, football coach, was elected County Athletic Director. The location of the league is as yet undecided, but will probably be in either Hico or Hamilton.

The annual Halloween Carnival night of November 1 promises to entertain all those who attend to be held here on the tend. The plans are complete and it is hoped that a large crowd will attend as the money made from this program will be used for school activities.

A small admission charge of five cents will be collected from everybody who comes to the carnival. This admission charge will entitle each one to witness the program that will be put on by the grammar school children. Small charges will be made at the various booths for the playing of games.

The various booths and their sponsors are as follows: Bingo, Mrs. Rainwater; Fortune telling, Mrs. Jackson; Kissing booth, Miss LaRue; Guessing game, Miss Harris; Eating and drinking booth, Miss Wagstaff and Miss Segrest; Wheel of chance, Miss Harris; Hall of Horror, Mrs. Higgins; Boxing games, Mr. Gilmore; Swimming match and toothless mother, Miss Holton; Keg and balls, Mrs. Grimland; Donkey game, Mrs. Grimland.

Some of you may wonder why "The Mirror" has such a short appearance this week.

It is because the enthusiasm of the staff, as all enthusiasm must finally do, has begun to wane and the accident of being late has become a practice.

Therefore, a "deadline" was made and members of the staff who did not have their news stories in by that time just couldn't have it in at all.

We don't like deadlines any more than anyone else does, but to make a neat-looking paper, and to keep "The Mirror" tops in the number of school papers that put their news into their favorite weekly, we must insist on early copy.

The Hico Country boys gained a victory over the town boys Wednesday

The seventh assembly performance was under the sponsorship of Mr. Jackson in the auditorium Monday morning.

Sonny Leeth began the program with an imitation of Coach Grimland. Several of the seventh grade girls sang three songs and gave imitations of all the grammar school teachers. Bobby Jones and Mrs. Jackson recited some readings.

A group of amusing jokes were presented by Billy Finley and Thurman Bradford.

The Hico Tigers defeated the Cranfill

Gap eleven Friday by the score of 28 to 7 on the newly dedicated Grimland Field. The first half saw the Tigers playing very poor football but the Tigers were a new team after the first half and the Lions of the Gap could not meet the offensive thrusts of the Tigers.

Captain Holladay was the shining star for the locals and was ably assisted by Hall, Polk, Wille, Odell and others. Next Friday the Tigers go to Comanche for a conference game.

WHO'S WHO

in the Senior Class

MAX RAGSDALE

Max Ragsdale, who began with us way back in '29 in the third grade, has an ambition to be a Diesel Engineer. He listens to the radio quite often and says his favorite comedian is in his favorite radio program—Charles Butterworth on the Packard hour. His favorite orchestras are those of Glen Gray and Shep Fields and, we might say he most enjoys hearing them play "In My Cabin Of Dreams." His favorite actor is George Raft and his favorite actress is Alice Faye. Favorite dishes seem to be ice cream and ginger ale.

day in what proved to be a most amusing and entertaining donkey baseball game. Promptly at 8 o'clock the town boys began batting, usually smashing medium drives and usually not getting to first base.

During the ensuing innings, many thrills and spills caused the entire audience to "bubble over" with laughter.

For the benefit of those who have never seen a donkey baseball game, a bit of explanation is due. Everyone is on a donkey except batter, pitcher, and catcher. When the ball is hit (and it always is for there are no strikes or balls), the batter runs to a waiting donkey and jumps on him, if he can, and ride him to first base, again if he can. The fielder or infielder, to whom the ball is hit, rides to the ball on his donkey and jumps off to get the ball as soon as he can reach it without turning the donkey loose. He must not throw the ball until he is again on his donkey.

In Hico's first night game, the score by innings was:

Town boys 0 0 0 1
Country boys 0 0 1 1

Home Run: Ed Connolly of the Country boys made a home run in the second.

Runs: Jim Wille of the Town boys made a run in the third inning and one of the country boys made a run in the fourth inning.

53 Choral Singers were enrolled on Thursday of last week, twenty-five of them trying out for alto and twenty-eight of them for soprano.

From this group only thirty will be selected to remain after a fair trial which began Tuesday. This is being done because the teachers can work with only a limited number.

The club meets only twice a week, on every Tuesday and Thursday because of the conflict between it and Pep meeting.

This group of girls has learned two numbers since it began, only two weeks ago. The girls are highly enthused about learning two-part singing and plan to practice hard and regularly.
