VOLUME LIII

HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, APRIL 8, 1938.

NUMBER 46.

Here In HICO

Silence, along with Mayor H. F. Sellers, reigned in city courtroom one day last week, during a case in which Hizzoner was already reaching for hairs to pull during a case which couldn't be tried on account of absence of witnesses.

Preparations have already begun to make this a beauty spot to greet visitors along the highway from the west, and to leave a favorable impression with them upon their departure.

In making her gift, Mrs. Culbreath stated a desire that the property be used as a site for a library, if and when it was possible for such a project to be realized.

Whether or not such good grace were displayed, if we were sure the stunt would be equally effective we might be induced to mention the fact that there are several houses in Hico whose owners are financially able to improve, or at least make respectable, and of which those same owners should actually be ashamed.

In his column in the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, Otto Bordenkircher last Sunday ran an "Open Letter to R. L. H." in which he enlarged on our idea of making money for vacation funds. We presume he was talking about us, in spite of the fact that he transposed the letters in our first name.

"Dear Ronald: Pardon us for dipping our beak into your financial affairs, but you are working for peanuts on that slogan idea (Keep Calm With Camels). Suppose Walter Winchell was right. Suppose that guy DID go in with a slogan and come out with $100,000. Suppose you do the same thing. We repeat—what?"

"A hundred grand, Ronald, is just coffee money compared with the payoff on the super colossal, sure-fire idea we are about to give you. GIVE you, Ronald, first because we are a high-minded gent and want to do a good turn for humanity; second, because we are a bit too busy reading copy to do it ourselves, and third, because you are already in the business and we

NEW MAYOR AND 3 ALDERMEN CHOSEN

Lane Elected Mayor; Coston, Cheney, and Leeth, Councilmen.

The three councilmen, J. W. Leeth, C. P. Coston, and W. M. Cheney, and the new mayor, Lawrence Lane, elected by city voters at the polls Tuesday, will take their oaths of office at a called meeting of the council scheduled for Monday night, April 11, said retiring Mayor Sellers Thursday morning.

Leeth received the highest number of votes, 222, while Coston and Cheney followed with 179 and 143, respectively. S. E. Blair and A. A. Brown, the other candidates in a field of five, with three places to be filled, received 134 and 102 votes, respectively.

Lawrence Lane defeated Herbert Sellers, 164 to 191 votes. Mr. Sellers has held the office for the past two-year period, and Mr. Lane is a former mayor.

J. W. Autrey, presiding officer at the polls, was assisted by Mrs. E. F. Porter, Mrs. Asten Aycock, and R. M. Bowles.

Commendable indeed was the gift to the city last month by Mrs. W. F. Culbreath of the triangular lot just west of R. F. Wiseman's home, to be used for park purposes.

Beginning next Sunday, Palm Sunday, there will be a series of evangelistic services at the Methodist Church running through Easter Sunday night. Rev. E. H. Lightfoot, our Presiding Elder of the Cleburne District, will be the preacher, from Monday through to the close.

There is no more appropriate season of the year than this pre-Easter week for evangelistic effort and thought. It is the "Passion Week," the week when our Lord was "Finishing" his work of revealing fully the Father's love for His fallen children. It was the week when He was making the "Full and Complete Sacrifice" of Himself for the redemption of the world. Surely we cannot go through it indifferently. Surely every Christian should take advantage of the week for re-consecration of his own life, and of efforts to win others.

Should we not? All interested in better christian work in our community are invited to be present at both morning and evening services.

The pastor will preach at 11 o'clock Sunday. At the evening hour our annual Church School Day program will be given. This program is in keeping with the Aldersgate Commemoration of the Methodist Church this year. The title is "The Warm Heart." It is in two episodes, the first picturing John Wesley's heart changing experience, which made him, as one of England's Prime Ministers said, the greatest religious leader of the Anglo Saxon race. The second episode sets forth the reaction of a 1938 family of five to this heart warming experience.

Special music is being prepared. The High School Choral Club will sing.

All whose duty does not call them elsewhere are cordially invited to be present. J. C. MANN.

GOLFERS

Qualify For "Ladder"

Scores Turned in Sunday For Placing of Contestants in Summer Matches

Last Sunday was the last day allowed for turning in golf scores made on qualifying rounds at the local Bluebonnet course, and the committee composed of H. E. McCullough, H. F. Sellers and H. N. Wolfe reported a lively interest in the tentative arrangement of the ladder, as set by same.

Positions on the ladder were announced as follows, following the qualifying rounds: Roy Welborn, A. A. Brown, H. F. Sellers, R. L. Holford, H. E. McCullough, J. H. Brinkley, J. S. Dorsey, Ellis Ransdahl, Frank Mings, W. G. Phillips, J. L. Goodman, R. F. Wiseman, H. N. Wolfe, S. J. Cheek, Jr., O. W. Hefner, Jr., Harry Hudson, Ray Brown, W. M. Marcum, H. V. Hedges, Clifford Malone, H. D. Gilmore, J. I. Grimaldan, L. Smith, Kenneth Brown.

Ladder play has already begun, and several shifts have been made in the ladder as the boys below made good on threats to show the ones above that they were misplaced.

Tournament play, being planned for this summer if arrangements can be made with neighboring towns, will be carried out with a local team composed of players selected according to their current positions on the ladder.

COUNCIL

Acknowledges Gift

Of Culbreath Triangular Lot, To Be Used For Park Purposes; Other Business Transacted

At the last meeting of city council under the set-up which has prevailed for the past year, Mayor H. F. Sellers brought to the body's attention a recent gift to the city by Mrs. W. F. Culbreath of a lot to be used for park purposes. The gift, the mayor explained, had been accepted by him in the city's name and involved the triangular lot just west of R. F. Wiseman's home, along Highways 66 and 67, "for park purposes, or as a site for a library, if and when needed," as set forth in the deed.

Mr. Sellers asked that the council make official recognition of the donation, which was done and set forth in the minutes. Along with the acknowledgment went a warm vote of thanks, expressed by the body as a unit.

In the absence of City Secretary McMillan, who was ill, H. E. McCullough served as acting secretary. C. P. Coston was officially appointed as secretary pro tem, to sign emergency warrants and transact other pressing business during Mr. McMillan's absence from his office.

BOXING

Tournament Started

Wednesday Night, With Two More Engagements On Schedule For Near Future

Considering the stormy weather, there was an unusually large attendance at the first night of boxing held in the High School Auditorium.

Everyone saw plenty of fights. To those boxers that were not on hand Wednesday night, if they are there next Wednesday night they can weigh in and go on and box in their divisions.

Starting with the weights under class, Weldon Houston, 65 pounds, outpointed Donald Hefner, 74 pounds. Melvin Autrey, 85 pounds, received a technical knockout over T. B. Lively, 79 pounds, in the second round.

1. Bantam weight: Olin Seif, 105 pounds, outpointed Harold Todd, 103 pounds.

2. Welter weight: Raymond Fessler, 145 pounds of Hamilton got the nod over Russell, 149 pounds of Fairly. Jerwood Polk, 149, outpointed O. W. Hefner, 135. This was the widest fight of the night.

3. Middle weight: Otom Russell, 149, Fairly, outpointed Curtis Little, 151, Hamilton. Hale of Hamilton drew a bye.

4. Light weight: Bill Wall, 129, Hamilton, was the winner over Whirlwind Homer, 130.

5. Feather weight: Bill Pontremoli, 129, Hico, received a technical knockout over Russell Pansley, 123, Hamilton, at the end of the first round. Pansley was forced to withdraw from the fight because of a cut thumb.

The next fights are to be held Wednesday night, April 13, in the High School Auditorium. Plenty of fun is promised everyone who attends.

AMATEUR HOIR

Sponsored by Fireboys Was Well Attended Friday Night

Visitors and entertainers from Hamilton, Stephenville, and De Leon were present Friday night for the Fireboys' regular monthly Amateur Hour, presented at the City Hall.

Miss Helen Insull of De Leon, accompanied by Mrs. Mack Rucker, also of De Leon, rendered several violin selections. A two-piece colored orchestra from Stephenville, featuring Fred Phillips at the piano, furnished the local audience with something unusual in the way of entertainment.

Judge J. C. Barrow of Hamilton, county judge, and a former mayor of Hico, made the opening address. Other out-of-town delegations were from Purvis, a string band, and Mr. Insull, a violinist, from De Leon.

Fire Chief J. W. Leeth reported that he was well pleased with the response by both the public and the entertainers.

W. D. GAGE SUCCEMBIS

W. D. Gage, 66, died at his home Thursday morning at 2:30 o'clock following an extended illness.

The funeral will be held on Friday afternoon at 2:30. Other arrangements had not been completed Thursday noon.

SUBSCRIBERS

NEWS AND VIEWS

N. R. Homer, City, will have to take the paper home each week for his wife to read since Paul came in recently and made the necessary arrangements.

A letter from R. Vernon Finley, 1219 E. Allen Ave., Fort Worth, tells us about the recent illness of his mother, Mrs. R. H. Penley, who is recuperating from an operation. He enclosed a check asking us to mark up his mother's paper, and we hope she is enjoying it while convalescing.

To Speak At Waco

ERNEST THOMPSON

Col. E. O. Thompson, who Wednesday night issued the platform upon which he will be a candidate for governor of Texas, has announced his intention of formally opening his campaign in Waco next Tuesday, April 12.

He cited his record as mayor of Amarillo and as a state railroad commissioner to indicate what the consumer may expect in utility regulation if he becomes governor. His entire platform is based on economy, opposition to sale of liquor by the drink, gambling on horse racing, dog racing, marble and slot machines.

REUNION

Slated For Aug. 10-13

Manager Employed, Carnival Contract Accepted; Plans Going Forward For Big Show

"Bigger and better," the words used so often in describing plans for Hico's annual picnic that they have become a trite expression, again have been selected as descriptive of the efforts to be put forth by the sponsors of Hico's 56th Annual Reunion. At a meeting last Saturday, S. J. Cheek was given a contract for managing the reunion this year, and August 10 to 13 selected as the dates. A contract offered by Bob Hurst Shows was accepted. Mr. Hurst, who has provided the amusement features for the past several years, stated that his offerings this year would be even better than last year.

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed 4,396 bales of Government loan cotton Friday night in the plant of the Dawson County Warehousing Company in Lamesa. The cotton was insured.

A blind woman, whose life has been so rich a small fortune dropped suddenly into her lap, failed to increase her happiness. It is Mrs. Anna Miller, 64-year-old Archer County farm woman. "I have no desire to be able to see again," she declared. "Neither do I ask that my path be strewn with flowers, nor the briars removed from my way. She and her husband have leased a portion of their farm for more than $10,000 cash, and they estimate that leases on the rest will bring an additional $40,000. Despite two operations, Mrs. Miller lost her sight ten years ago, but since that time has continued to do all of her housework, cooking, cleaning, washing, ironing—even finding time last year to raise 1,000 baby chicks. Now that she and her husband have become suddenly wealthy, they plan to continue living in their farm home. "It may not be much of a house to you," she smiled, "but it's home to us and we are happy here. I've learned my way around and can do my own work, but if we moved into a new home, I'd simply be lost."

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. A. A. Davis of Carbon will preach at the morning and evening services at the Baptist church this Sunday, Sunday school at 10, preaching at 11. The usual invitation is extended to the public to attend.

3 MEN ELECTED TO NEW SCHOOL BOARD

Keeney, Proffitt, and Powlledge High In Saturday's Balloting.

D. R. Proffitt, G. C. Keeney, and George Powlledge were the three new members elected to positions on the school board in last Saturday's election.

Results of the day's balloting were recorded as follows: Powlledge, 127; Keeney, 126; Proffitt, 90; J. C. Prater, 49; and Roy Welborn, 34.

J. W. Jordan carried the local box as the only candidate for County Trustee.

J. W. Autrey, election judge, was assisted by Roy Adkinson, W. M. Cheney, and R. M. Bowles.

School board members interviewed Thursday were not able to say when the new members would be installed, as there seemed to be some difference of opinion as to whether the new members took office immediately or sometime in May.

In F. F. A. Judging Contests At Tarleton Last Week

The Hico Future Farmers team placed first in production judging at the Tarleton College Area F. F. A. judging contests that brought 58 teams including 693 boys to John Tarleton Saturday, according to Roy R. Mefferd, professor of vocational agriculture at Tarleton and supervisor of the contests.

Grady Brown of Hico was high point man in this division, and was also one of the high men in the poultry contest in which the Hico team placed fifth. Throckmorton, Roby, Graham, Cherokee, and Fredell teams, in the order named, were winners of the farm shop contest, in which contestants solder, make concrete, identify hardware, and make rope.

WILD FLOWERS

From Hamilton County To Be In Exhibit At Waco

Native wild flowers of Hamilton County will be included in an exhibit of native flora at the National Guard Armory Building in Waco at 12th and Washington Streets, from 11 a. m. to 10 p. m., April 23, according to J. C. Hibbits, Hamilton County foreman for the Texas Highway exhibition.

This is an annual event put on by the Highway Department for the purpose of creating in the general public an appreciation of the real beauty of wild flowers native to Texas, and a desire to preserve and develop this beauty. There will be on display more than one hundred varieties of plants and cut flowers from Bell, Bosque, Coryell, Falls, Hamilton, Hill, Limestone, and McLennan counties.

STOCK SHOW

To Be Held At Carbon April 22 And 23, With Big Program

Dates for the 1938 Carbon Stock and Yearling Show have been set for Friday and Saturday, April 22 and 23. H. E. Bell, member of the stock show committee, states that plans are not complete yet, but that the committee will release definite information next week regarding the program and the prizes.

ROADS

To Be Improved Soon

Money Appropriated For Topping 3 Miles East On H'way 67; Other Work In Sight

J. C. Hibbits, Hamilton County foreman for the State Highway Department, stated Wednesday that three inches of gravel would be added to the surface of the road east of town on the route of Highway 67, and that work would proceed as soon as practicable on topping the road, an appropriation for which had already been made.

Work has already begun on a detour bridge west of town on the same highway, near the city limits, where a concrete culvert will replace the old wooden structure. The culvert to be torn out is the only remaining wooden structure on the route. Its successor will be wider and larger, and will accommodate the heavy flow of water originating in the vicinity of the airport.

According to Mr. Hibbits, the base on the road from Hico to Hamilton is about gone, and will be necessary to renew this in the near future, with a possibility of having the road topped shortly. While he has no definite information about the immediate plans of the Department for this stretch of road, he believes the work might be done within the next few months.

JOTS.... JOKES & JINGLES -BY- JENNIE MAE

I wanna be in Jennie's column. Of people she's seen about town. A line or two, my name would do. Boy, I'd get around.

Quite nifty are the new white leather-upholstered stools recently installed before the fountain at the Corner Drug store. The stools have backs to lean against and a rail on which to prop one's feet. These are very restful—when they will let you sit on one, but Luskie Randals, who has something to do with the cleaning of the white leather, almost insists that you buy something when you see that stool.

They are installing a new air washer at the Palace Theatre, moving the screen forward several feet, and remodeling the lobby. The new blower will be of the same type construction that Harold Stroud has found so satisfactory in conditioning the air at the Strand in Hamilton, and will be placed behind the screen to eliminate possible interference with the Vitaphone. Instead of two doors leading into the show, the new arrangement provides for only one, a large double entrance in the center. The new improvements will make theatre-going more of a pleasure during the warmer months for Hico entertainment-seekers.

When it began to snow Thursday, Frank Pallis was bemoaning the fact that he had such a short Spring.

On sober and mature reflection. (This rhyme's ament the late election)

It seems to us the time has come To mute the fife, discard the drum. In other columns you have read Who ran—you heard the things they said— Who won and all the things they'll do Affecting us—that's me and you.

Our town's been here for many years. Through good times, bad—through laughter, tears. We get along and get things done Without much praise for any one. And men have promised this and that (A man at times talks though his hat) But things most needed do get done With little praise for any one.

And that's the way it ought to be. For without us—that's you and me To help, what could they do? And so it rests—with me and you. —Contributed.

Mrs. G. C. Keeney was in Waco Wednesday where she bought 100 cockerels from a nationally recognized R. O. P. breeder to be used to improve the stock of their birds. Mr. and Mrs. Keeney are sparing neither work nor expense to give their customers the best grade of chicks obtainable anywhere. People who formerly ordered from out-of-town hatcheries are finding that they can now buy right at home and save both time and money.

My sleep was disturbed about 8:30 last Sunday morning by the fire siren, which is the only thing which can get me out of bed at that hour on my rest day. I don't have any system about hanging up my clothes at night so that all I have to do is jump into them. I was afraid that half the town was burning up—a catastrophe such as destroyed half the little town of Evans recently. To make a long story shorter (with less suspense, no doubt) the fire was just around a couple of corners from me—the Jimmie Nix home. I was informed. Not much damage was done—only a hole burned in the roof near the flue, as the Hico Fire Department was right on hand to extinguish the blaze.

"My daddy was a square shooter and he left me his gun," cited a not-so-young philosopher Thursday, not knowing that the words would be held against him. And further, not suspecting that he would be called not-so-young.

John B. Sullivan, who writes the "Flotsam and Jetsam" that floats into the Hamilton County News, has admitted that he reads this column every week and that he has been wondering who the other reader is since I mentioned "both" my readers in an optimistic mood. I suffer painfully, Mr. Sullivan, for having to admit this, but I guess you're the only one I thought Mother did, but last week she asked me about something that happened that she didn't even know about, but which occupied a long paragraph in my column. So now it's all yours.

We used to have beef every day for dinner to try to run the price of Dad's cows up, and now the nutty men's associations are trying to capitalize on our idea by urging everyone to eat more eggs. One paper that leaves a path of readers in its wake is the one we send each week to Mr. and Mrs. S. O. Shaffer at Bakersfield, Cal.

Hico. The night after it reaches Bakersfield, Hector Hollis and his wife hurry over to the Shaffers' and the paper is cut into four sheets, one going to Tom Powers, another to Hector, and Mr. and Mrs. Shaffer get the other two. The next morning it is sent to the "compress," where J. T. Dilshaw and Ike Manson peruse the columns for signs of familiar names. Then it is sent up to Portersville, where it is reported there is quite a colony of former Hicoans, including Jack Jenkins, Gas Watts, Bass Caldwell, and Preacher Willbanks. Where it goes after this we don't know and dare not guess, but it may be used to wrap up someone's laundry. "Shack" begs us to write everything we know, "whether you think it is news or not." "Be sure and write it, even if it's only a dog fight." So for the people who live in the West Indies, California, and New York—sons and daughters of Hico who yearn for one more glimpse, I have a bit of news for you. The trees have burst forth with a glorious array of green leaves; you can walk home in the afternoon and see the husbands mowing the lawns and their wives digging in flower beds; you could see the crowd gathering at the show every night at about 7:30. If you had been here Tuesday, you would have seen one of the hottest elections in years. You could see the new street lights we have—and the Saturday afternoon crowds. You could hear our response to Harry Hudson's query about who is in jail with our customary "We don't know." You could see the checker players, emerging from winter hibernation, and challenging each other at the tournament headquarters, north of the News Review office. There are lots of things you would enjoy—if you'd come back for a visit.

About Town: E. F. Porter, reciting election returns as accurately as a recording machine. Max Hoffman, disclosing the fact that he had employed a new salesman for Saturday—Kenneth Hal Hoffman, who will be in charge of the children's department. Mrs. McCullough, breaking the news of the approaching freeze that arrived Thursday. S. J. Cheek's new 1939 Cord, incorporating speed, ease, and dependability. Clifford Malone, using the loss of his two woods Sunday as an alibi for a qualifying score of 97. Jessie Garth, reading a copy of Mademoiselle. A car of combines being unloaded at the Katy wharf. Bernard Ozle, who has a big tale to tell about the one that got away. Until next week, "30".

Paint One Building a Year I heartily wish our Southern farm homes would develop a zeal for painting. Recognizing its unmistakable qualities in the matter of beauty alone (we know very well that paint preserves, prevents rust and decay in building materials), could we not bend all our energies toward a personal program to paint one farm building each year?—Sallie F. Hill in The Progressive Farmer.

Attractive Public Worship People will not come to church meetings of any kind unless those meetings give them something of more interest and value than can be obtained from other sources. You can help increase the power and helpfulness of meetings at your church by attending them; by preparing thoroughly to take an active part in them; by aiding in every possible way the order, reverence, and timeliness of your church meetings; by earnestly urging others to attend church with you; by cultivating the spirit of genuine Christian friendliness and fellowship for your church meetings.

METHODIST CHURCH ITEMS

(Iredell and Walnut Springs)

By R. P. JAMES, Pastor

Sermon topics for Sunday, April 10, at Walnut Springs:

"Evidence of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ" at 11 a. m.

"Self-Examination" at 7:45 p. m.

Mrs. Theo Rundle is leading a committee on social service at Walnut Springs.

Every evening from 7:50 to 8:50 from April 10 through April 16 there will be pre-Easter services at Walnut Springs. The public is cordially invited to attend these one-hour evening meetings. They will be evangelistic in nature and purpose.

Mrs. Henry Simpson is elected to represent the Walnut Springs W. M. S. in a conference meeting of that society at Waxahachie, Texas April 19-21.

Mesdames R. P. James, J. S. Miller, Rosa McAden, C. C. Holt, and R. Y. Anderson attended a W. M. S. zone meeting at Meridian April 1st.

Harder Now, But Do It Just as well expect folks whose innards are honeycombed with hookworms to become a race of athletes as to expect the best of your peach trees when left to a free workings of borers. Fall is a better time for treatment; but, advises The Progressive Farmer for March:

"If your peach trees were not treated last fall for borers, apply dichlorobenzene late this month or in early April. These worms are much larger now than they were last fall and will be harder to kill, but a treatment now will be effective."

THE KIDNAP MURDER Case

by S.S. Van Dine

A PHILIP VANCE STORY

Eleventh Installment

Kaspar Kenting disappears. Philo Vance, District Attorney Markham and Sergeant Heath of the Homicide Bureau investigate the Kenting home and question Kenyon Kenting and Mrs. Kenting. Kaspar's brother and wife, in the presence of Eldridge Fleel, Kenting family attorney. Vance doubts the kidnapping story. He further questions Weems, the butler, Mrs. Kenting's mother, Mrs. Falloway, and son, Frain Falloway, and Porter Quaggy, raucous friend of Kaspar's and last person to be with him. All reveal an undercurrent of hostility to Kaspar. At this time a ransom note arrives demanding $50,000 and freedom from police interference. Vance and Markham consult the Kentings and Fleel, their lawyer. It is decided to allow the police a free hand in dealing with the supposed kidnapers. A dummy package is substituted for the money and then secreted in a tree in Central Park according to instructions. The police capture Mrs. Falloway who admits to Vance she is really trying to forestall an attempt by her son, Frain, to get the money. She is not held. Immediately afterward, Madeline Kenting, wife of Kaspar, also disappears suddenly.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

"What is your favorite scent, Mr. Falloway?"

"I—I don't know," Falloway stammered. "I'm not familiar with such feminine matters. But I do think emerald is wonderful—so mysterious—so exotic—so subtle."

"You're quite right," murmured Vance; and then he focused his gaze on Kenyon Kenting.

"All perfumes are alike to me," was the man's annoyed assertion before Vance could frame the question again. "I can't tell one from another—except gardenias."

"And how about you, Mr. Quaggy?" Vance asked lightly. "If you were giving a lady perfume, what scent would you select?"

"I haven't yet been guilty of such foolishness," Quaggy replied. "I stick to flowers. They're easier to select. But if I were compelled to present a fair creature with perfume, I'd first find out what she liked."

"Quite a sensible point of view," murmured Vance, rising as if with great effort and turning. "And now, I say, Sergeant, let's have a cursory look at that ladder."

We walked down the front steps and for the second time we went through the street gate leading into the yard.

The short grass was entirely dry, and the ground had completely hardened since the rain of two nights ago. Vance again bent over at the foot of the ladder while Heath held the flashlight.

"There's no need to fear any spilling your adored footprints tonight, Sergeant. The ground is much too hard," Vance straightened up after a moment and moved the ladder slightly to the right, as he had done the previous morning. "And don't get jittery about finger prints, Sergeant," he went on. "I'm quite convinced you will find none. This ladder, I opine, is merely a stage prop, as it were; and the person who set it here was clever enough to have used gloves."

He bent over again, and inspected the lawn, but rose almost immediately.

"Not the slightest depression—only a few blades of grass crushed . . . I say, Sergeant, it's your turn to step on the ladder—I'm frightfully tired."

Heath immediately clambered up five or six rungs and then descended; and Vance again moved the ladder a few inches. Both he and Heath now knelt down and scrutinized the ground.

"Observe," said Vance as he rose to his feet, "that the uprights make a slight depression in the soil, even with the weight of only one person pressing upon the ladder. . . . Let's go inside again and dispense our adieux."

On re-entering the house Vance immediately joined Kenting at the entrance to the drawing-room and announced to him, as well as to the others inside, that we were going, and that the house would be taken over shortly by the police.

"I might as well be going along myself," said Kenting despondently.

"Oh, quite," returned Vance, without looking at the man. "Go home, by all means."

The man seemed grateful. Taking his hat from the hall bench, he hurriedly departed out the front door.

Quaggy's eyes followed the departing man.

"I guess I'll be getting along too," he said finally, with a note of interrogation in his voice. "I'm going, I suppose?" There was a suggestion of sneering indifference in his tone.

"That's quite all right," Vance told him pleasantly. "You probably need a bit of extra sleep, don't you know, after your recent all-night vigil."

"Thanks," muttered Quaggy sarcastically, keeping his eyes down on the floor. And he too left the house.

When the front door had closed after him, Fleel looked up rather apologetically.

"What do you make of this second terrible episode tonight?" he asked.

"Really, y' know,"—Vance was covertly watching the man—"it is far too early to arrive at any definite conclusions. Perhaps tomorrow . . . His voice trailed and faded away."

Fleel straightened up with an effort and moved away resolutely. "I think I too will be going," he spoke in a weary tone, and I noticed that his hand trembled very slightly as he picked up his hat and adjusted it.

"Cheerio," said Vance as the lawyer turned at the front door and bowed stiffly to us.

Meanwhile Frain Falloway had risen from his place on the davenport. He now moved silently past us, with a drawn look on his face, and trudged heavily to the stairs.

"I heard a machine-gun and saw spits of fire coming in the window."

Falloway had barely time to reach the first landing when the telephone resting on a small wobbly stand in the hall began ringing. Weems suddenly appeared from the dimness of the rear hall and picked up the receiver with a blunt "Hello." He listened for a moment, then laying down the receiver, turned sullenly in our direction.

"It's a call for Sergeant Heath," he announced.

The Sergeant went quickly to the telephone and put the receiver to his ear.

"Well, what is it?" he started belligerently. . . . "Sure, it's the Sarge—shoot! . . . Well, for the love of—Hold it a minute." He clapped his hand over the mouthpiece and swung about quickly.

"Where'll we be in half an hour, Chief?"

"We'll be at Mr. Vance's apartment."

The Sergeant turned back to the instrument.

"Listen, you," he fairly blurted, "we'll be at Mr. Vance's apartment in East 25th Street. Know where that is? That's right—and make it snappy." He banged down the receiver.

"Important, is it, Sergeant?" was Markham's question.

"I'll say it is," Heath stepped quickly away from the telephone table. "Let's get going, sir. I'll tell you about it on the way down. Snitkin's meeting us at Mr. Vance's apartment."

Just as Markham and Heath and I turned to follow Vance, there came from somewhere outside, a startling and ominous rattle that sounded like the staccato and rapid sputtering of a machine-gun. Then came the explosive exclamation of the Sergeant, who was at my side. Then he suddenly sprang forward past Vance and, jerking the front door open, hurried out into the warm summer night without a word to any one.

The rest of us followed close behind.

Heath was now breaking into a run ahead of us; and Markham and I had difficulty keeping pace with his stride.

Just this side of the Nottingham Hotel at the corner, a small group of excited men were gathered under the bright light of the lamppost set between two trees along the curb.

There, leaning in a crouching attitude against the iron lamppost, was Fleel. His face was deathly pale. I have yet to see so unmistakable a picture of collapse from fright as he presented. He was as pitiful a figure as I have ever seen, huddled beneath the unflattering glare of the large electric light overhead, as he leaned weakly against the lamppost.

"That was a close call," he muttered. "They almost got me."

"Who almost got you, Mr. Fleel?" asked Vance.

"Didn't you see it all?" he asked, his voice high and unnatural. "I was on my way to the corner, to get a taxicab when a car drove up from behind me. I naturally paid no attention to it until it suddenly swerved toward the curb and stopped with a screeching of brakes, just as I reached this street light. As I turned around to see what it was, a small machine-gun was thrust over the ledge of the open window of the car and the firing began. I instinctively grasped this iron post and crouched down. After a number of shots the car jerked forward. I admit I was too frightened to notice which way it turned."

"But at least you were not hit, Mr. Fleel?"

"No, thank Heaven for that," he muttered.

"And," Vance continued, "the car couldn't have been over ten feet away from you. A very poor shot, I should say. You were very lucky this time." He spun around quickly to Quaggy, who had taken a step or two backward from the frightened man. "I don't quite understand your being here, Mr. Quaggy. Surely, you've had more than ample time to ensconce yourself in your boudoir."

Quaggy stepped forward resentfully.

"I was in my apartment. As you can see," he pointed indignantly to his two open front windows in the nearby hotel—"my lights are on. When I got to my rooms I did so directly to bed—I hope it make it all right." He turned shakily toward Central Park West. "I'll pick up a taxicab."

"Quicker episode," commented Vance, as if to himself. "Fits in rather nicely, though. Lucky for your lawyer friend, Markham, that the gentleman in the green coupe wasn't a better shot. . . . Ah, well, we might as well toddle to the corner and await the energetic Sergeant. Really, y' know, Markham, there's no use gazing at the lamppost any longer."

THE SALVATION ARMY

No religious organization has ever won such complete and world-wide respect, even affection, as the Salvation Army has achieved in the sixty years since "General" William Booth, the son of an English Jewish tailor, first led his uniformed "army" of militant Christians through the streets of London amid the jeers of the mob.

It did not take many years, however, for the world to learn that the Salvation Army was not trying to set up a new church, but to reach the unfortunates whom the church could not or did not reach.

"No man may say of another that he cannot be saved," wrote a wise philosopher of the Salvation Army's work, "Lead, Kindly Light" is the Army's song of faith.

The Salvation Army is now starting its annual drive for the money it needs to carry on its work among those who need its services.

WE STILL DIG CANALS

After men had learned to build boats and found how much easier it was to move merchandise and people by water than over land, they began to dig canals so that goods could be carried cheaply between places not otherwise accessible.

After railroads were invented, people thought the canal was an obsolete means of transportation.

There are more great canal projects "in the air" at the present moment than at any one time in history.

Great Britain, who owns the Suez Canal, has surveyed a route for a parallel canal across Arabia.

WAR AND PEACE

An ever-increasing number of readers are asking, "How can we keep America out of war?" And we believe an ever-increasing number are answering, "Not by isolation but by cooperating with other nations to preserve peace."

"One of the greatest tragedies of the world's effort for peace is the impracticable nonresistance isolationist policy of the advocates of peace. If highwaymen set upon my neighbor and I retire into my house and lock the door and leave my neighbor to look out for himself, that is not conducive to peace. My turn is apt to come next. Complete and effectual peace depends upon my neighbor's security as well as my own."

FOR EASTER PATTERN 8182

The softness and charm of spring's newest fashion have captured in 8182, so that you can easily make it for yourself and revel in its flattery.

Make it right now, so that you can have it in time for Easter. For the blouse, choose a soft and filmy material that adapts itself to fullness—chiffon, georgette or sheer cotton—in white or a becoming pastel. The skirt should be dark. Make it of flat crepe or taffeta, or even of sheer wool.

Pattern 8182 is designed for the following sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20 and 40. In size 14, it requires 2 1/8 yards of 39 inch material for the skirt, 1 1/2 yards of 39 inch material for the blouse with short sleeves, and 2 yards for a long-sleeved blouse.

Here's a simple little short-sleeved dress (Pattern 8179) that goes to the office or shopping or stays at home, and looks perfectly charming for every daytime occasion.

This is one of those classic dresses that look well in many different fabrics. Sheer wool or challis would be nice for early in the season, in one of the new glowing spring shades, and for warm weather, you'll enjoy having it in linen or pique.

It is designed in sizes: 12, 14, 16, 18, 20. Size 14 requires 3 7/8 yards of 39 inch material with short sleeves, with 1-3/4 of a yard in contrast for the collar.

Dictators, American Style

THE SUPREME COURT

Fifty years ago, Hon. James Bryce, first great European philosopher to make a complete and critical analysis of the workings of democracy under the American system, pointed out in his "American Commonwealth" what he termed the "flaw in the armor" of our governmental set-up under the constitution.

That omission left the door open, Mr. Bryce pointed out, to the possibility of a partisan President and a partisan Congress conspiring to "pack" the Court by increasing the size of the body until their own partisans were in complete control.

The one American institution whose independence must be safeguarded at any cost is the Supreme Court. It is the only protection of the people of the United States against those who may try to enact and enforce laws in violation of the people's rights and contrary to the powers delegated by the people and the states under the Constitution.

Finding Ourselves in Service.

Lesson for Today: Mark 8:27-38. Golden Text: Mark 8:36. "Whoever loses his life for my sake and the gospel's," said Jesus in our lesson text, "will save it."

Here is an idealist who labors without stint to redeem an unfortunary, crowded slum, only to find in the end that the people prefer to have it remain in its filth.

solider who gives his life for his holy cause utterly trampled upon by ruthless dictators. Certainly, self-denial is often very costly and ends in apparent failure. Jesus knew this full well. For our lesson contains the familiar saying, "If anyone wishes to follow me, let him deny himself, and take up his cross."

DENTON, April 7.—

Like a magnetic ball rolling along and gathering everything in its path, the vogue for femininity has swept through dresses, hats, coats, and now—shoes.

It's characteristic of Miss America that when she goes in for a thing she goes all the way. A year or so ago the outdoor girl fever hit the country and she prided herself on buying heavy, ultra-comfortable shoes and masculine clothes.

Colors are lovely, and although black patent holds the lead in many places because of its ideal season-changing qualities, the livelier shades are due to gain in prominence.

Caution is necessary in matching the varied copper shades with other accessories, but most stores today will have that problem already solved.

Spring shoe lines could hardly be called feminine were they not filled with novelties. First in the roll call are the wedge-soles, and next come the "pattens" or shoes with platform soles, while the evening sandals take the prize for frivolity with net inserts.

DENTON, April 7.—

In the spring one gets "croquetish." If it's permissible to use such a bad pun for such a good dish, a usually made up of cooked ingredients, croquettes offer another good suggestion for leftover bugaboos.

Meat Croquettes: A thick white sauce is used for binding this type of croquette. Melt four tablespoons fat and stir in five tablespoons flour. Add one cup milk or meat broth. Cook until very thick, stirring constantly.

salt, and one-eighth teaspoon pepper. Add one (more or less) tablespoon cream or softened butter, if needed. Other seasonings may be used, finely chopped onion or parsley. The mixture may not be heated unless it proves too soft to shape. If heated, stir over hot water in double boiler until the egg sets and thickens the mixture. Spread on plates to cool. Shape as desired. Roll in fine bread crumbs, then in egg (slightly beaten), then in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat (380 F. to 390 F. or hot enough to brown a cube of bread in forty seconds). Drain on unglazed paper one-fourth cup cooked spinach chopped, or three tablespoons grated cheese, or both.

Sweet Potato Croquettes: Bake and peel enough sweet potatoes to make two cups mashed sweet potato. Heat in double boiler over hot water until egg sets, stirring constantly. Spread on plates to cool. Shape as desired. Roll in fine crumbs, then in egg (beaten), and in crumbs again. Fry in deep fat (350 F. to 390 F. or hot enough to brown a cube of bread in forty seconds). Drain on unglazed paper and serve hot.

THANKS

I thank the people of Hico for their vote of confidence in the election of mayor, especially as the office was unsolicited by me. I shall strive to give the people an open, nonpolitical and fearless administration, and will conduct the business of the city as efficiently and economically as possible.

I earnestly solicit the cooperation of every citizen of Hico to make this the best city in which to live. LAWRENCE LANE. (Adv.) 45-1p.

RAYMOND DITMARS Snakes In The Attic, Monkeys On The Chandeliers—That's Home Sweet HOME TO DITMARS

When the Bushmaster arrived in New York, thousands of people rushed up to the Bronx to see him. He was only a baby, six feet long, but in his sharp fangs he packed a load of swift and terrible death.

Raymond Ditmars, the man in charge of the New York Zoo, had been searching for a Bushmaster for twenty-five years; and when he finally got one, he had to force the "critter" to eat. I inquired how—but he told me it's simple; all you have to do is pry open the viper's mouth and poke the meat down its throat with a stick!

When Ditmars was a boy, his father sent him to a military academy to prepare for West Point and a career in the army; but it was no use, for the call of wild things was already in his blood. Fired with boyish enthusiasm, he started out to make the biggest collection of snakes in New York—and he succeeded. He spent his week-ends hunting rattlers and copperheads along the Hudson River. He hought snakes, he traded for them, and he begged for them. The captain of a fruit boat gave him a boa constrictor, and he wrote to scientists in the West Indies, and traded American snakes for the reptiles that infest the jungles.

Finally his collection became so large and so dangerous that his

J. A. Currier and Jayne Koonsman Wed.

Miss Jayne Koonsman of Salem community and J. A. Currier of Indian Creek community were quietly married Saturday afternoon, April 2, in Stephenville at the office of the justice of the peace, Mr. Mac Creswell.

The pair was attended by Miss Modell Bailey of Salem and Mr. Alton Holder of Indian Creek.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. H. Koonsman of Salem and was graduated from the Salem High School after which she attended school at Duffau and Hico. Mr. Currier, who is the son of Mrs. Currier of Salem, is employed with his brother-in-law, Mr. Clark Pendleton who operates a hatchery in the Indian Creek community at which place the young couple will be at home.

This community extends congratulations and best wishes for a long, useful and happy married life. A FRIEND.

States' Buildings at New York Fair

NEW YORK—This sketch was made from final plans for the Court of the State Buildings at the New York World's Fair 1939. Here the various states of the union, most of which have taken space for their displays, will exhibit their natural advantages and industrial accomplishments. The English section is shown above. There will also be French and Spanish areas.

American Horse Wins Grand National

VINTREE, England . . . Battleship, son of the famous Man O' War, becomes the first American owned and bred horse to ever win the grand National Steeplechase here in all the 100-year history of the turf classic. Battleship won the Grand National at Belmont Park, N. Y., in 1934, the National Hunt Cup and three other major races in the United States before capturing the English crown.

His Nation Threatened

BUCHAREST, Rumania . . . Nazi influence threatens to engulf Czechoslovakia and Hungary, and European diplomats ponder the fate of Rumania lying athwart Hitler's path to the Soviet Ukraine—a path he has sworn to take. Above is Prince Michael, boy-king until his father, Carol, took over the throne. Will Michael wear the crown again?—or will he, like so many others, fall victim to relentless Fascist forces?

Franco Wins — And Finds A Ruin

TERUEL, Spain . . . Lost to the Government forces a few months ago, the Spanish Insurgents under General Franco recaptured this city at an enormous cost of men and munitions. Regarded by foreign military experts as a Pyrrhic victory, the occupation of the city by Franco's troops revealed only a battered and deserted shambles.

Britain Joins New York Fair

NEW YORK—A stirring scene in front of the Administration Building at the New York World's Fair 1939 as the Union Jack of Great Britain is hoisted aloft signifying that John Bull will be represented at America's exposition. The British exhibit will occupy 149,000 square feet, the largest of the 64 foreign displays now being prepared, and will cost several millions.

JOE GISH

NO MAN IS FREE WHO CANNOT COMMAND HIMSELF.

Arrested In Russia

MOSCOW . . . Valentina Snigirevskaya, secretary of the New York Times Bureau here, who was mysteriously taken from her home by secret police after having been admitted to the recent political trials to take notes of the testimony. No explanation of her whereabouts has been made by Soviet officials.

Mall Structures At New York Fair To Break Records

NEW YORK (Special)—Not only will the New York World's Fair 1939 be the largest exposition in history, but it will have the most luxurious Central Mall ever designed, a mile-long walk to cost $60,000,000, Grover A. Whalen, president of the Fair corporation, announces.

And, not only will the Mall be the most magnificent ever laid out, but it will contain a number of other "largest"—structures and works of art that have never been surpassed for size or elegance, he added.

In addition to the Trylon, tallest triangular spire ever raised, and the Perisphere, largest ball ever made by mankind, the Mall will form a setting for the largest portrait statue fashioned since the Egyptians heaved the likeness of Rameses II from rock in the land of the Nile. It will portray George Washington as he arrived for his inauguration exactly 150 years previous to the opening day of the Fair. It will be 65 feet tall and its mass will be more than 500 times that of an average six-foot man.

The tallest sundial ever erected, supported by a life-size tree sculptured by the celebrated Paulanship, will actually tell time for Fair visitors, for the numerals denoting the hours of the day will be set in a huge, circular plot where the sundial's shadow will fall from 50 feet above.

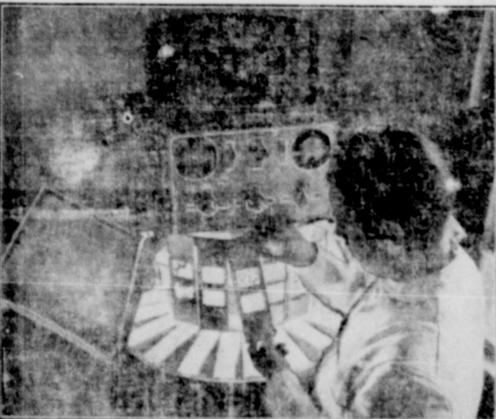

More than a million plants and a thousand trees will be used in landscaping the Mall.

Mannish Mode

NEW YORK CITY . . . Feminine lines soften the mannish style of the long single-breasted coat in this chic outfit. It is of navy blue woolen with a wide, white hairline stripe. The navy frock underneath is of a plain sheer woolen with a trim white collar. A straw sailor with veil completes this spring ensemble.

Science Beats the Sun

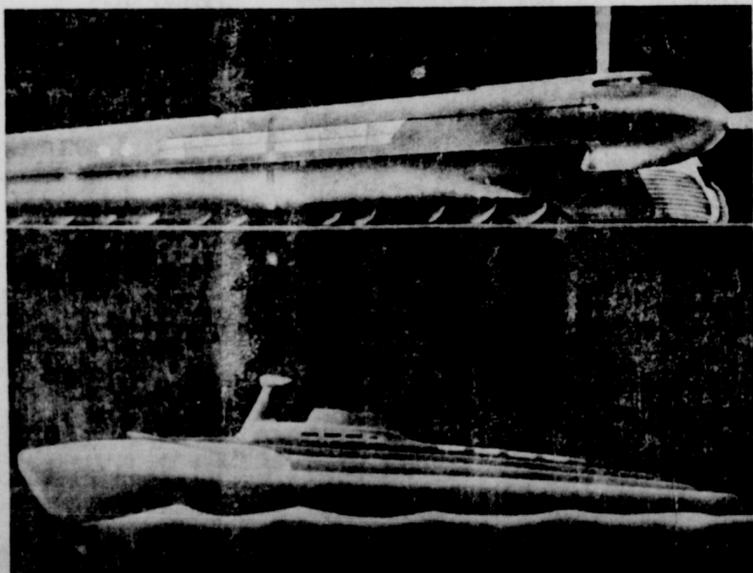

INDUSTRIAL engineers have now developed the device shown above, until they had actually been exposed to sunlight. But through the use of this machine, developed by industrial research experts, it is now possible to tell whether dyed fabrics will hold their color. This is one more example of how industry helps the consumer.

TEST, TEST AND TEST

AMERICAN industry, according to Consumers Information, surpasses that of any other country in its exact methods of testing products and so assuring maximum performance before passing them on to the user. One company reports, for instance, that 25% of its labor and cost of production goes into testing. Above are shown tests of two of the 600 different operations which go into the manufacture of their vacuum cleaners. The young lady is balancing the fan, an intricate job in which she puts tiny drops of solder on the light side until the balance is perfect. Inset, operator testing air passage, suction power and wattage, on a government test-block

Future Train, Ship for New York Fair

NEW YORK—Here is the smoothly stream-lined train of the future (on top) and the fully enclosed, storm-proof air conditioned liner of the World of Tomorrow as Raymond Loewy, industrial designer, conceived them for a large, free focal exhibit on Transportation at the New York World's Fair 1939. The display will include vehicles used in every stage of civilization's transportation program.

BUILDING TESTS WALLS FOR FAIR

NEW YORK (Special).—Although the opening date of the New York World's Fair is still almost two years away, the Fair site already has one building that mystifies all persons who pass that way and one that is of great interest to the contractors and builders of the whole country. The big sign says it is the "test building."

The building can be made to do a lot of things just short of a late dance step. It can be made to twist, heave, buckle, sag or otherwise contort, all at the will of the Fair's engineers. It has a sawed-off tower arrangement on one end. Some sections of its walls are dazzling under the sun and are obviously encrusted with bits of broken glass. Its four walls, in fact, comprise 45 different set-ups of material, supports and surface coatings. When its day is done it will be made to collapse by the turn of a screw.

The unique building is typical of nothing other than itself, say Fair officials, since it is just a set of walls, upon which to try out the merits of various types of wall coating and stucco treatments.

The durability, appearance and structural peculiarities of walls are of great importance to the Fair, since its 300 buildings will require around 15,000,000 square feet of such enclosures.

The interior of this "wall laboratory" is given over to the Corporation's illumination engineers and their experimentation with new lighting devices.

Prays For Franco

NEW YORK CITY . . . Patrick Cardinal Hayes of the Archdiocese of New York told newspapermen he was praying General Franco would win the Spanish Civil War because he believes "the Loyalist side is controlled by radicals and Communists." This was his first interview in six years, marking the fourteenth anniversary of his elevation to College of Cardinals.

Try To Solve Farm Bill Puzzle

ATLANTA, Ga. . . "Do I want a cotton marketing quota, or don't I?" ponders Richard M. Byers as he prepares to mark his ballot in the election held here among cotton and tobacco farmers on control provisions of the new farm regulations. In the background A. H. Eddy "reads up" on the details of the new law before voting. Government experts have been sent to explain legal masses of the new measure.

HICO F. F. A. BOYS WIN HONORS AT J. T. A. C. JUDGING CONTEST

The Hico F. F. A. boys attended the Tarleton Judging Contests at Stephenville Saturday, April 2, 1938. The poultry team won first in poultry and egg awards. Grady Brown placed first high man in poultry judging. The poultry team placed two other boys, Albert Brown and Cecil Ogle, in the first high ten. They also won a silver cup, hand-carved wooden cup, high man banner, two F. F. A. markers, one hundred baby chicks, Glen Marshall placed fifth high man in Wild Life. He also won a hand-carved wooden cup. A. C. Odell placed third high individual in Horticulture, and received a hack saw. The team placed fifth high team, and received a hand-carved wooden cup. Entomology placed sixth high team. The boys that entered the contests were: Poultry—Grady Brown, Cecil Ogle, Babe Horton, Albert Brown, Oran Massengale. Horticulture—A. C. Odell, Clifford Herrington, Travis Nix, Harold Russell. Wild Life—Glen Marshall. Entomology—Dan Holladay, R. T. Seay, Winfred Houston. Only the highest 20 per cent teams are eligible to enter State Judging Contests at A. & M. College, April 18, 1938. All of the Hico boys are eligible to enter the contests there. Out of the 71 schools in this area, approximately 800 boys entered the contests at John Tarleton.

Who's Who TODAY

Nadine Perry started to school in the eighth grade. Spanish is her favorite subject. Nadine likes basketball better than any other sport. "Harbor Lights" is her favorite song, and Clark Gable and Myrna Loy are her favorite actor and actress. She sings alto in the Glee Club. Nadine plans to take a business course when she finishes high school, but is yet undecided where she is going. Lots of luck, Nadine.

Salem By Mrs. W. C. ROGERS

This community was chilled Saturday and Sunday by a light freeze and much frost. Very little damage was done to crops and gardens. The health of this section is very good at this writing for which we are very thankful. Mr. S. T. Hollis of Hico was out spending the forenoon Sunday with his sister, Mrs. J. C. Laney. Mr. and Mrs. Bud Driver of Johnsonville spent Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Driver. Mr. and Mrs. Ewing Ledbetter and family of Duffau spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Giesecke and family. Miss Jayne Koonsman and Mr. Jay Carrier of Indian Creek surprised their many friends by getting married Saturday afternoon. Miss Modell Bailey and Mr. Alton Holder accompanied them to Stephenville where the ceremony took place. We wish them a happy married life. Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Noland and daughter Dorothy spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. George Holder and family of Indian Creek. Those attending the dinner given Sunday in honor of the newlyweds at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. H. Koonsman, were: Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Wolfe of Indian Creek, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wolfe and sons, Gerald, Lelon and Duane of Claiborne, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Scott and sons, Wendol and Von, Miss Mary Koonsman, and Mr. Hugh Koonsman; also the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Carrier, and the hostess, Mrs. H. Koonsman. Mr. and Mrs. Everett Scott and daughter Betty Jo spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Horace Moore and family at Claiborne. Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Noland and Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Noland and children visited Mr. and Mrs. Ira Noland and family at Seldon last Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Jim Johnson of Stephenville visited Sunday in the home of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Lambert and family. Mr. and Mrs. Will Rogers entertained their daughter, Mrs. M. E.

BURSDAY THERPERS MET THURSDAY

The Bursday Therpers met last Thursday with Letha Mae Beaman. Most of the evening was spent in play practice. After the first act was rehearsed, sandwiches, potato chips, olives, cheese wafers, cookies, vegetable salad, and pineapple punch were served to the members. Those present were: Ruby Lee Ellington, Carroll Anderson, Priscilla Rodgers, Grady Brown, Sarah Frances Meador, Roberta McMillan, Mary Ella McCullough, Golden Ross, and Letha Mae Beaman. We are to meet with Ruby Lee Ellington next Thursday. Our first and probably only play has started. The date for presentation has not been decided upon, but we hope to have it ready in the near future. This play, "Silas Smidge From Turnip Ridge," has six comedy parts and all the other seven are guaranteed to give you at least one good laugh. The characters are: Silas Smidge, the old gentleman from Clay County, Iowa, Roberta McMillan. Neuraesthesia Twigg, comical sweetheart of Oswald, Priscilla Rodgers. Oswald Garlick, a comedy hill-billy hired hand, Sarah F. Meador. Simplicity McPheeters, sweetheart of Silas and sister of Thaddeus, Mary Ella McCullough. Florence McPheeters, high upcity from the city and daughter of Thaddeus, Letha Mae Beaman. Thaddeus McPheeters, gripy old deacon of the church, Richard Little. Ralph Thornhill, young minister who falls in love with Judy, Rollie Forgy. Crib Thornhill, sister of the minister who has a dreadful secret, Mary Brown. Ben Bruce, young farmer and nephew of Silas Smidge, Derill Elkins. Judy, a 17-year-old orphan who finds a home, Carroll Anderson. Wayne Kimball, the villain and stepson of Thaddeus, Louise Blair. Leola Pixley, the gossipier and "know-it-all", Ruby Lee Ellington. Muriel Armitage, aunt of Judy, Golden Ross.

Annual Staff Enjoys Banquet

The annual staff had a very informal banquet at the Midland Hotel Thursday night. The banquet was served in family style, with loads of good things to eat. Everyone enjoyed eating. The invited guests were: Mrs. Ray D. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Joel I. Grimland. The staff members present were: Mary Jane Clark, Katherine Massingill, Ann Persons, Jane and Jean Wolfe, Mary Brown, Roberta McMillan, Ralph Horton, C. A. Giesecke, O. W. Hefner, and Mr. Ray D. Brown, the sponsor. After the banquet the guests and staff members went to the Palace Theater and saw "Love and Hisses."

Juniors Select Class Rings

A salesman from the Southern Engraving Company visited the Junior class last week and received the order for our rings. They will be white gold with a ruby set, and a small tiger's head gracing the ruby. The Juniors think they are the prettiest rings that Hico has ever seen. Plans for the Junior and Senior Banquet are being considered, and it is about settled that it will be held at the Midland Hotel some time during the last six weeks of school.

Senior Play To Be Presented Tonight

The Senior play, "Dotty and Daffy," will be staged Friday night, April 8, at 8:15. "Dotty and Daffy" is a three-act play and the story is centered on the marriage of Mrs. Phyllis Travers to whom-ever she can get.

WHY NOT CLUB MET SATURDAY

The Why Not Club met with Ailyn Roberson Saturday afternoon at the regular time. Some of the senior girls went to town and sold Senior Play tickets and delivered circulars. After they got through and Rachel Marcum and Mamye got off from the show, the girls played games. Then Ailynne served cheese sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, hot tea, cakes, and hot chocolate to the following members: Ann Persons, Katherine Massingill, Marguerite Vickrey, Daisy French, Margaret Reilhan, Eileen Christopher, Geraldine Elkins, Jane and Jean Wolfe, Rachel Marcum, Mamye Wright, Mary Jane Clark, and the hostess, Ailynne Roberson.

Band Receives New Books

Two new band books have arrived for the use of the high school musicians. These books, "On Parade" and "Clipper Band Book" contain several snappy numbers such as "Old Gray Mare," "She'll Be Comin' 'Round the Mountain," "Hinky Dinky Parley Voo" and "The Man On the Flying Trapeze." Clifford Herrington is a newcomer to the Hico Band, and is starting out on the small bass horn.

PLAYGROUND BALL

Gilmore By DORIS JOHNSON

Mrs. Etta Seay and daughter Velma Deane have returned to their home at Greysville after spending the past week with their daughter and sister, Mrs. Gerald Clepper. Mrs. Leonard McLendon and daughter Marlene spent Wednesday with Mrs. J. D. Crow at Hico. Mr. Haley of Stephenville was a guest in the home of Mrs. Willie B. Smith Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. S. S. Johnson and sons, accompanied by Tom Johnson of Honey Creek, were in the Pleasant Grove community visiting Kid Johnson and family Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McLendon and little daughter spent the past week end at Fort Worth, visiting his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. A. McLendon. Leonard reports that his father is doing as well as could be expected but that it will be several weeks before he would be permitted to leave the hospital. It will be remembered that the elder Mr. McLendon fell and broke his leg a few weeks ago. Mrs. Ruby Johnson and son Kenneth spent Saturday afternoon with her aunt, Mrs. L. J. Jordan, at Hico. Visitors in the Gerald Clepper home Wednesday were Mrs. Walter Patterson of near Hico, Mrs. Minnie Connally and son J. W., also Mrs. Hubert Johnson and baby, and Mrs. Si Rainwater, from Greysville. Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Wilson of Lamesa were visiting in the Gerald Clepper home Friday night. Mrs. Wilson is a son of Mr. Clepper. Mr. and Mrs. Carol McLendon of Greysville visited his brother, Leonard, and family Monday afternoon. Alvin Hicks and family visited Mrs. Hicks' sister, Mrs. Johnnie Jackson and family, near Fair Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McLendon were in Hamilton on business last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Philip Rexroat, also Mr. and Mrs. Paul Rexroat, all of Gordon, were visiting relatives in this and adjoining communities over the week end. Mr. J. T. Connally and family of County Line, and Mr. and Mrs. William Prater and son of Hico spent Sunday with Hollis Connally and family. Mrs. Minnie Connally and son, J. W., visited in Hico Monday afternoon with Mrs. E. A. Feagan. Recession fears may be partly quieted by the quotation of farm income figures for January of this year, which showed a nine per cent increase over January of last year. In other words, the computed farm cash income of Texas for January, 1938, was $21,500,000 compared with $19,750,000 in 1937.

TENNIS

O. W. Hefner, Jr., of Hico, came close to causing a big upset in the senior division of the boys' tennis singles at Hamilton during the recent County Meet. Dalton Cathey, the Hamilton singles star, was expected to walk off with the honors with little or no competition. Both Hefner and Cathey reached the finals without the loss of a set and everyone seemed to think that Cathey would easily defeat Hefner in straight sets. When Hefner won the first set by 6-4 score some of the spectators began to wonder just who this boy Hefner was and where he hailed from. The second set went along with each boy winning their serves until Cathey finally won the set 8-6. Cathey took the last and deciding set after losing three games and with it the county title. Hefner, even though he lost the title, won the admiration of the spectators by his excellent playing.

SOPHS

There's a little matter of grave importance in high school. The greatest drama of the age will take place tonight. You probably know already that we refer to the Senior play. How about helping out with your dime or fifteen cents? Surely you can spare that much for a good laugh.

When Starting To Cook

• You know that good ingredients are essential if you are to have success with your cooking. A good gas range is an asset to good cooking. • Your stove has much to do with the success of your cooking and baking. An old worn-out cook stove will cause many baking failures. • Arrange today to modernize your kitchen by equipping it with a new modern gas range. Cooking then will be a pleasure!

HOW MUCH?

• How much is a telephone worth when you need a doctor, a policeman or the fire department in a hurry? You can have a telephone in your home for less than a dime a day!

Food for Thought

"If all means of communication were wiped out and we were forced to concentrate our attention upon our immediate surroundings we would find that life in this spring of 1938 is just about the same as it always has been: there are columns of figures to be added (and most of them in black ink); cars to be sold and kept full of gas; houses to be built and furnished; insurance to be written; groceries to be delivered; grain and cotton to be raised and marketed; and a raincloud on the Texas horizon would mean more than a warcloud in another hemisphere. Let's lower our gaze from the clay feet of kings to the Johnston & Murphys of our neighbors; let's rejoice in the beauty of our women folk in their new spring finery; and let's look in the mirror and see if our own appearance might not be improved, not only to match the women's but to help us do a better job in our business. And keep our eyes and thoughts at home!"
