Visitors Observe Our Many Attractive Churches

No greater advertisement coulda proud town or section of countryside have than its pride in its local churches and the premises surrounding them. All churches are tax free and naturally have to be maintained by you and your local business firms. It is one of civilization's greatest advantages and blessings to have outstanding places of worship. Would you like to drive to the next town to worship? Would you build your home in a town or community without a convenient place to worship?

It is much better to have your home in a town with all the churches you and your neighbors care to worship in. Good churches are a credit and advantage to any community. They are the mirror of reflection to the faith you have in your own home community. Your local merchants contribute much to the upkeep of your church. Buy from your local firms first. Your prosperity depends partially upon your loyalty in supporting your local firms.

EDITORIAL

The junior class wishes to take this opportunity to thank the teachers and Mr. Brown for their kind and considerate instructions. (Although we have chawed the rag a little, we have come through the best of friends.)

And to you, dear juniors, I hope we will have as pleasant a year when we are seniors as we have had this year. However, it is with some sadness (sniff, sniff) we say farewell until next September.

FOOTBALL CAPTAIN

At the annual football banquet do not see any reason to make the this year the problem of selecting town look bad just to advertise football captain for next year was our class. We feel that we will be experienced. After some discussion just as popular without our name the lettermen unanimously elected two junior boys, Sam Able and Bill Pontremoli.

JUNIORS ENTERTAIN SENIORS WITH BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT With the president of the junfor class, Rubye Lowe, acting as mistress-of-ceremonies, one of the best annual junior-senior banquets ever to be presented here was conducted at the Bluebonnet Country Club Friday night.

The class carried out the color scheme of the rainbow completely in all the decorations. One of the first objects meeting the eye on first entrance was a huge rainbow, extending across the south side of the wall with a pot of gold at the end. Further color schemes were carried out in the crepe paper stretching out the length of each table, napkins, plates, cups and streamers hanging from the

The programs and place cards were combined in the form of diplomas tied with green and white ribbon, the class colors and the favors were mortarboard caps filled with mints.

The program carried out further the rainbow colors in the speechet of Louise Blair, O. D. Cunningham, Mary Anna Eakins, Floyd Latham the main speaker of the evening Bro. Swindell and in the song. "Over the Rainbow," by four junfor girls.

This excellent entertainment was climaxed by a dance also given in the seniors' honor.
