

VOLUME LVIII

HICO, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JULY 31, 1942

NUMBER 16

United States Marine Corps Southern Recruiting Division Dallas, Texas.

Dear Roland and Jim:

Well, good people, I finally got through that "boot camp" at San Diego and was assigned here to recruiting duty. And it's definitely good duty but I'm afraid it can't last long. The rumor is that soon women and older men will take over.

Nell is here with me at present. Will of course have to leave when school starts, but I may be gone by that time anyway. Say, we kinda figure to come down some week-end before she has to leave and see you people. Thought maybe we could get Oof and Eby and go out for some old-fashioned eating on the river bank. Good home cooking is something I haven't had much of since latching on to the USMC.

Gotta go to work. Let me hear from you soon. Regards to Carolyn. Sincerely,

JOHN D. BOWMAN, Sgt. USMC

Young Evangelist To Hold Revival at Hico Baptist Church

Dear John:

Glad to hear from you again, boy. Had wondered where you were shipped since you broke the news that you'd donned a uniform.

You may be surprised to hear from me in this unorthodox manner, but you see we are running short-handed, like so many other businesses, and I can't get around to doing all the things I'm supposed to do. Don't worry about the publicity of your personal letter, for I have arranged with the subscribers not to read this corner of the paper. And to prove they're not breaking faith and getting nosy, I got a letter today from the ubiquitous George Bouhe at Dallas saying he quit reading this personal stuff, but found in our office ad on Page 6, last issue, where we would send the paper to the Philippines. "Good trick if you can do it," he says. How about acting as my mail messenger, since I'm in this jam.

Frank Means, visiting evangelist for the Baptist revival, is one of the youngest professors of Missions of any Seminary. He is head of the Missions department of the Southwestern Baptist Seminary at Fort Worth. He is very interested in the work of the young people, being at the present time in a Youth Revival in Kansas City.

The local revival begins August 9th and continues through August 23rd, with services twice daily. Professor Means did special study in the Southern Seminary at Louisville last year and so comes to Hico well prepared for the task before him.

What's he like? Ask the boys and girls who went to Latham Springs.

First Vote Decides Most Local Races In Hamilton County

Lagging interest in elections this year had indicated a light vote locally, but unusual interest was reported at the polls, presided over by Harry T. Pinson, who was assisted by Mrs. Louise Angell, J. W. Autrey, Mrs. Aften Aycock, A. A. Brown, Joe Guyton, Mrs. J. E. Harrison, Mrs. S. E. Blair, Mrs. C. L. Woodward, and Mrs. L. J. Chaney.

Mr. Autrey, veteran assistant in holding local elections, stated that the voters were careful and considerate, and most diligent in filling out their ballots correctly, the best he had ever seen. He and Mr. Pinson expressed their thanks to voters on behalf of their assistants for this action.

A tabulated report of the county election results, including the Hico box, is carried on another page of this paper, which gives box-by-box results as unofficially tabulated early this week.

Only district race that does not appear on the tabulation is that in the two-county district of Coryell and Hamilton, where Earl Huddleston defeated both his opponents, J. B. Pool and Weldon Burney, for representative in the legislature. Exact totals were unavailable at press time.

Local races gave J. C. Rodgers the nomination for justice of the peace, B. F. Williams for constable, and R. W. Hancock for commissioner. All three were re-elected. In the write-in race for precinct chairman, A. A. Brown was nominated with 68 votes, scattering votes for this office gave Harry Pinson 10, J. W. Autrey 6, and J. N. Russell 3.

Bosque County Election Results In Many Close Races

There were several close races in Bosque County, according to reports reaching the News Review, and several run-offs will be necessary.

The following county officers were re-nominated, having been unopposed on the ticket: Maggie B. Little, district clerk; S. C. Smith, county attorney; Minnie Locker, county treasurer; Mack Bertelson, county surveyor; and all commissioners except in Precinct 1, the Meridian precinct, where the incumbent, E. A. Jackson, will go into a run-off with Tom Jenkins.

For county judge, Jack Cureton won in a big way over Paul Massey.

Miss Mary Coston goes into a run-off with Alfred Hardwick, incumbent in the office of county clerk. Angus McNeill was eliminated in this race, there being very few votes difference between the three.

Omar Robinson took a big lead over his only opponent, Earl (Bitts) Tims for tax assessor-collector.

Mrs. Clara Richards held a small majority over Joe White for run-off places for county superintendent. W. C. Grissom, other candidate, was eliminated.

Dave Montgomery held a big lead over Wilson White for sheriff. Tom Gillaspie being third man in this race which requires a run-off between the two first mentioned.

Special Drive for Hamilton County Navy Enlistments

Enough men to equal the crew of a destroyer and sub-chaser now building will be enlisted from the Waco Navy recruiting district each month during August and September, Chief J. C. Lamar, recruiter in charge of this district, announced this week. The district includes Bosque, Coryell, Freestone, Falls, Hamilton, Hill, Lampasas, Limestone, McLennan, Navarro, and San Saba Counties.

Sponsoring the campaign to enlist at least 318 men from this district each month will be American Legion Posts and civic organizations in each county. Committees have been organized and supplied with Navy recruiting literature. Individual members will be designated "Volunteer Navy Recruiter."

A monthly quota of volunteer enlistments for naval service has been assigned to each county, based on population. Exact figures on complements of naval vessels are secret, Chief Lamar said, but certain figures may be used for recruiting purposes. In the Houston Navy recruiting district, comprising the Southern half of Texas, a recent slogan was "Wanted, 1,000 Volunteers for Replacement of the Cruiser Houston."

Hamilton County, with a population of 13,303, is asked to furnish 12 volunteers each of the two months. The recruiting slogan for this county is "Hamilton County Navy Enlistments Shall Equal Three Torpedo Tube Crews."

McLennan County, with a population of 101,598 and a quota of 92 men per month, will have for a recruiting slogan, "McLennan County Navy Enlistments Shall Equal Enough Men to Man Sub-Chaser." Other counties will have appropriate recruiting slogans based on their monthly quota.

Navy enlistment ages are from 17 to 50 years. Unskilled men have opportunity to attend Navy trade schools. Qualified skilled men may be enlisted as petty officers with monthly pay ranging from $78 to $126. It is necessary that application for enlistment be made before induction into the Army.

Community Proud and Thankful for Its Fine New Road

K. R. Jenkins and L. A. Hicks of the Aleman community were in the News Review office Saturday to invite the editor out to inspect their road improvements, and to express their appreciation of the cooperation which enabled residents along the route to get to town in all kinds of weather for the first time in many years.

"We're just as proud of this new road as the little boy was when he got that first pair of red-top boots," Jenkins said, beaming at the thought of having a first-class road to travel over when he wanted to come to Hico, and Hicks was just as enthusiastic.

Among those to whom they named for assistance and cooperation extended landowners in their efforts to improve the road were the commissioners of Hamilton and Erath Counties, the Hico Chamber of Commerce, the business people and other individuals of Hico and Dublin and well, they said they just loved everybody since the road was fixed.

James Almost Has Majority in Race For Treasury Job

Dallas, July 29.—The 5 p. m. tabulation by the Texas Election Bureau of votes in the Democratic primary today showed Jesse James leading the close race for state treasurer with 49.4 per cent of 831,031 votes counted.

The vote for James was 410,561, but the bureau said it was unlikely that there were enough voters out for him to gain a majority. The county in the United States senate race, in which James V. Allied and incumbent Senator W. Lee O'Daniel are bracketed in a run-off, was 981,793 votes, with O'Daniel holding 48.36 per cent.

The senator's vote was 474,849; that for Allied 215,797, or 32.16 per cent; for Dan Moody 179,081, or 18.24 per cent, and for Floyd E. Ryan 12,966.

Gregory Hatcher, in second place in the race for treasurer, had 175,516 votes; Harry McKee had 66,335; Larry Mills, 87,715; and Gordon Smith, 99,904.

The two other state races in which the bureau issued a tabulation were: Lieutenant governor: Arnold, 38,891; Beck, 148,409; Hardin, 90,500; House, 125,302; Lemens, 94,366; Mead, 28,127; Miller, 65,197; Dixie Smith, 56,109; J. L. Smith, 184,388.

Railroad commissioner (unexpired term): Armstrong, 17,602; Brooks, 223,457; Cain, 33,434; Humphrey, 22,218; Jester, 163,344; Kilday, 86,286; Lovelady, 72,277; McCormick, 24,095; Moore, 60,655; Pace, 24,468; Patterson, 79,568.

Hico Lad Heard On March of Time

Pvt. Elwell Price of Hico was heard on the March of Time dramatization at 9:30 p. m. Thursday over WFAA. Price is now in training at Tampa, Fla., as an Army Air Force bombardier.

Speaking from New York in a unique two-way transatlantic broadcast, he interviewed Second Lieut. Jerome Notowitz of St. Louis about the latter's adventures as an American air force bombardier in bombing raids over the European Continent.

DETAILED TO TAKE COURSE

Port Sam Houston, Texas, July 27.—Second Division Headquarters has announced that Pfc. Arthur J. Dinkers of Hico, Texas, has been detailed to take the bakers' course at the School for Bakers and Cooks. He is the son of Mrs. Daisy E. Dinkers, a resident of Hico.

Curtis Fairley, who recently completed a special course of training in heavy weapons at Camp Roberts, California, wrote his father and mother, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Fairley this week that he was "on a big ship headed West."

It's Private First Class Ralph M. Horton now according to Babe's wife who is in Hico with her parents. Mr. and Mrs. A. A. Brown, for the duration. Babe casually mentioned the raised rating in a telephone conversation last week when inquiring about their young son who was ill for several days. He later sent some pictures showing him at the very front of a parade which opened ceremonies marking the establishment of a main naval recruiting station at Sioux Falls, South Dakota. There were nine companies of men pictured, making their first public appearance as a marching body.

Pfc. Horton has made rapid progress at the army technical schools at Sioux Falls, and has been assigned 336 men to drill for the formal opening of the base, according to Mary.

Mrs. C. A. Russell sent a cake recently to her son, Pvt. Charles A. Russell Jr., at Barksdale Field, La., and in packing it included two back copies of the News Review. Charles wrote saying how much he appreciated getting the home paper, so she came in Saturday and entered a year's subscription for him so he could have a fresh copy to read each week.

LADY IN AUSTRALIA WRITES MOTHER OF HICO SOLDIER

Mrs. Ollie L. Haille, Hico Route 3, has received an interesting letter from a lady in Australia, telling her about her son, which readers will find interesting, especially those who have sons in foreign service.

Australia, June 12th, 1942.
Dear Mrs. Haille:

I guess you will be very surprised to receive this letter, but the fact is we have had the pleasure of meeting your son, Ray, and see quite a lot of him, so he has asked me to write to you. Ray had only been in Australia a short

AAA News Items Of Interest to Local Farmers

G. D. Boyd, secretary of the Hamilton County Agricultural Conservation Association, agency of the Agricultural Adjustment Administration under the United States Department of Agriculture, sends the following information of interest to farmers of this area: About Terraces and Ditches.

The 1942 method of checking terraces and ditches has changed this year to what it has been in previous years. Heretofore reporters who measured farms have passed on measured, and given the producer credit for this terracing and ditching.

For 1942 the State regulations are that no producer be given credit for terraces and ditches unless they are checked by the Field Officer with a level as to height and width.

Terraces must meet the standard government requirement as outlined in AAA handbooks. All fills and spillways must be completed, and the terraces must be at least 18 inches high and 20 ft. wide before they will meet the minimum requirements of the government specifications for terraces.

If your terraces do not equal or exceed these requirements, please complete them before they are rechecked.

All to Gain, Nothing to Lose

Farmers have everything to gain and nothing to lose in the shift to a three-year contract for wheat crop insurance, according to E. H. Couch, Chairman of the Hamilton County AAA Committee.

Federal all-risk wheat crop insurance this year is being sold only on a three-year contract rather than on a yearly basis as in the past, the AAA official said.

The three-year contract makes it possible for the wheat grower to know what his minimum income from wheat will be for the next three years. Mr. Couch declared, since the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation guarantees that it will not lower the yield or increase the premium rate during the life of the contract.

At the same time, the grower has the privilege of cancelling the contract and signing up for a new three-year period in any year when the yield rate established for his farm would be more advantageous to him, he explained.

Indemnity Payments Beginning

Wheat crop insurance indemnity payments are beginning to flow into Hamilton County, helping to offset the loss of the grain crops this year. E. H. Couch, chairman of the Hamilton County AAA Committee, pointed out this week.

Already 209 claims totaling 19,393 bushels of wheat have been approved here and forwarded to the Federal Crop Insurance Corporation for payment. There is only one person in Hamilton County that has wheat insurance which will not collect indemnity this year.

The heavy damage to this year's crops by floods and greenbugs left many of the county's farmers in a serious position, the AAA official declared, but those who had insured their wheat producing benefits of their forethought in taking out insurance.

Applications for insurance on the 1943 crop are now being taken at the county AAA office. Mr. Couch said, but he warned that the grower must apply before he seeds his wheat or before August 31, whichever is the earlier.

Sewing Committee Issues Call for More Red Cross Workers

Do you know how your Red Cross dollar works? Fifty per cent of it goes for the relief of the sick, wounded, convalescent, homesick soldier in a thousand camps in a dozen or so countries; ten per cent goes for civilian emergencies like the merchant ships limping into port and to bring relief to cyclone, flood and fire sufferers; fifteen per cent goes for preparedness to aid when the enemy strikes, with man power and woman power, with food, shelter and trained skill; and the other twenty-five per cent goes for taking care of your neighbors and friends in your own neighborhood.

Some twenty-eight million adults and juniors are banded together to do volunteer work at home for the Red Cross. They make materials, bandages, clothing and supplies. We in Hico are not equipped to make bandages and the like, so we have been asked to make clothes. These garments will be used all over the world wherever the Red Cross goes.

Won't you come down and get some sewing to do from the Red Cross rooms and do your part in this great work?

SEWING COMMITTEE.

Texas' largest natural lake is Lake Caddo, lying partly in Marion and Harrison Counties in Texas, and partly in Caddo Parish, La. It is 20 miles long and 16 miles wide.

7 Stitches in Time

Set upon and stabbed through the heart by three Negroes in Harlem, Stanley Kolbuz is pictured doing well after a surgeon had taken seven stitches in his heart. Another unique feature of the amazing surgical feat was that Kolbuz was given transfusions of his own blood as the operation progressed.

R. M. McPherson Dies Suddenly at Carlton Last Week

Funeral services were held at the Baptist Church in Carlton Sunday afternoon at 5:30 p. m. for R. M. McPherson, who died at his home there Saturday. The services were conducted by Rev. S. W. Miller, who gave the following history of the prominent citizen's life and spoke comforting words to the family.

Robert Martin McPherson was born in the Palmer community, Erath County, August 15, 1887. He suddenly, but quietly, departed this life among men and things of earth, as he fell asleep in Jesus in his home in Carlton, Texas, about 2:30 a. m. July 25, 1942. The time allotted to his sojourn here on earth was 54 years, 11 months, and 10 days.

He made preparation for his heavenly abode at the age of 18 years when he took Christ as his personal Saviour. He took his place in the church and has been a blessing and example to his family and community since that time.

He was married to Miss Maggie Emma Fine April 14th, 1909, who survives him. To this union were born four children: Mrs. Aubrey Duzaan of Hico, Carroll McPherson of Carlton, Mrs. Emmett Lemley and Billy Mart McPherson of Fort Worth. He is also survived by two grandchildren, Peggy Jean Lemley and Linda Lee McPherson; his mother, Mrs. W. R. McPherson; and four brothers, G. W. McPherson and Stanley McPherson of Carlton; J. D. McPherson of Dallas; and Brooks B. McPherson of Comanche.

May our cherished remembrances of Bro. McPherson be a challenge to us to live for God, for right and righteousness.

Erath County Has Commissioners Race Hot As Firecracker

Three of the four commissioners' races in Erath County were settled in the Saturday election. Jim Leatherwood, Lingleville, running for re-election in precinct 2, was defeated by Willis Grisham of the Bunyan community. Ike Silver and J. L. Killian, both of Morgan Mill, had a close contest, with Killian merging as victor. This was in commissioners' precinct 4. In commissioners' precinct 3, George Hamie and Hugh Watson had one of the closest races in the county, with Watson winning by 14 votes. In Stephenville Precinct 1, Jarratt and Pack go into a run-off, with Loveless and Payne trailing.

Several other candidates were unopposed for re-election to the offices they held. O'Daniel was reported to have received a large plurality over other candidates for U. S. Senator in Erath County.

Run-offs will be necessary in three other races, those of county judge, sheriff, and county treasurer. In the former, Wallace Scott, incumbent, had only a 100-vote lead over Clint Barham, Chas. Nordyke being eliminated in this three-man race. For Sheriff, a four-sided contest between Carl Turnbow, A. B. Yearwood, Noah McInroe, and Doyle White. Turnbow with 2164 votes enters the run-off with 50 per cent margin over his next high opponent, White, who was credited with 1481. For county treasurer, Mrs. Beulah Johnson with 2291 votes enters the run-off with Mrs. John Wright, who got 1870. Edna Knox Wade was eliminated in this contest.

Other contested offices decided in the first primary were: Albert Richardson over Bill Shannon for district clerk; Elmo White over a comfortable margin over his only opponent, Bill Croft, for county clerk; and Mrs. Blanche Jones with a whopping lead over Bill Russell for county superintendent.

Cowboy Kal Is Constable

Cowboy Kal Segrist has added another accomplishment to his varied career, according to an A. P. press dispatch from Dallas. The Hico Kid, who as third baseman for the Dallas team of the Texas league was one of the most colorful players in this section, ever knew, is a gun-toting officer of the law now. Segrist was elected constable of Oak Cliff in Saturday's primary election. It was back in the twenties that Kal came out of the West to play a rollicking, slashing brand of baseball for the old Dallas Steers. He later managed professional teams. He was a sailor, college football player, American Legion official, state legislator, farmer, and real estate operator in addition to his career as a baseball player and manager.

Workers to Buy Bomber

American Federation of Labor crafts employed on the army flying school project at Big Spring purpose to give a day's wages on Labor Day toward purchasing a bomber, a special committee has announced. At the same time the committee urged other AFL unions in the State to "join the movement so that we can buy in the name of our federation not a part of one bomber, but instead a formation of bombers." Amount to be raised by the donation of a day's wages was not known, but it was estimated at several thousand dollars.

If He Could Sit On a Jap!

The scales didn't break but they were under an awful strain at the army recruiting office in Houston when a registrant was weighed in during physical examinations. The scale weighs man and things of earth, as he fell asleep in Jesus in his home in Carlton, Texas, about 2:30 a. m. July 25, 1942. The time allotted to his sojourn here on earth was 54 years, 11 months, and 10 days.

He made preparation for his heavenly abode at the age of 18 years when he took Christ as his personal Saviour. He took his place in the church and has been a blessing and example to his family and community since that time.

He was married to Miss Maggie Emma Fine April 14th, 1909, who survives him. To this union were born four children: Mrs. Aubrey Duzaan of Hico, Carroll McPherson of Carlton, Mrs. Emmett Lemley and Billy Mart McPherson of Fort Worth. He is also survived by two grandchildren, Peggy Jean Lemley and Linda Lee McPherson; his mother, Mrs. W. R. McPherson; and four brothers, G. W. McPherson and Stanley McPherson of Carlton; J. D. McPherson of Dallas; and Brooks B. McPherson of Comanche.

May our cherished remembrances of Bro. McPherson be a challenge to us to live for God, for right and righteousness.

Bride by Proxy Meets Hubby

Mrs. Thomas Shock—who was married Feb. 1, 1942, at Corpus Christi, but who nevertheless had not seen her husband for nearly two years—was reunited with him last week at Caracas, Venezuela. After nearly five months of delay and red-tape cutting, the former Miss Cordeila McMahon of McAllen was able to obtain passage on a southbound airliner for Venezuela to join the man she married by proxy.

He Ain't No Roadhog, Mister!

If a fellow motorist pulls alongside your car and gives three short blasts of his horn, he isn't a road-hog. He's just warning you that you have a low tire. Originated by a Dallas man and first introduced by Dallas newspapers, the new signal is attracting nationwide attention. Newspapers and radio stations from coast to coast are plugging the new signal and asking motorists to use it. It's another idea to help a rubber conservation program and make auto tires last longer.

Krupp Rails Going Back

McKinney people were delighted to learn that street car rails being removed from streets there to be converted into munitions are going back where they came from. The rails were mounded to be stamped, "Krupp Iron Works, 1881."

Watch Out Here, Unless It Rains

A spectacular fire which swept through several ranches between Voss and Valera late Tuesday night destroyed approximately 19 sections of fine grass, an automobile, fences and a barn. Some livestock perished. Scores of ranchmen, fighting the fire with wet sacks, were aided by Coleman firemen. Thousands of acres of grass south of Talpa were saved. A lighted match tossed into the grass by a cowboy started the fire.

Miss Woods Elected Principal at One of Dallas Schools

Three new principals, one a woman, were elected Tuesday night by the Dallas Board of Education, which has six principalships to fill either by the naming of new school officials or the shifting of others prior to the opening of school on Sept. 15.

The new principals are Miss Quata Woods, a teacher at Obadiah Knight Elementary School, a past president of the Dallas Grade Teachers Council, whose parents live in Hico; J. D. Chalk, teacher at Sunset High, and Joe R. Peters, member of the W. H. Adamson High staff. Assignments of the principals will be made later, according to board members.—Dallas Morning News.

JUDGE POOL Sings His Political Swan's Song

Now that the election is over and I am defeated in my race for the Legislature, I can't find that I am either mad, bitter or sore. For four years I have had a wonderfully good time working as your County Judge. Hamilton County has a fine citizenship and the financial affairs have been kept in such clean condition. I acknowledge that I am proud of what the Commissioners' Court has accomplished in my administration. Personally I have put out the best that I have, but you have paid me for it, both in money and in apparent appreciation.

I take it that my brief political career is at an end. So on December 31, with all kinds of gladness in my heart, I shall go home, gather up the eggs, feed the sheep, and try to be a good private citizen.

I THANK YOU.

J. B. POOL.

CARD OF THANKS C. E. Edmiston, District Clerk, Thanks the Voters of Hamilton County

I want to take this method of expressing to you my sincere thanks for the splendid majority given me in the Primary Election Saturday. I am deeply grateful to the people of Hamilton County for the large majority vote of confidence they have given me. It will give me courage, and shall be my inspiration to serve them to the best of my ability, and to the utmost of my capacity, in the future. And to those 1900 loyal friends that supported me I shall never cease to be grateful to them. Nor do I have any feeling of bitterness toward those that voted for my opponent, as I concede that right to every one to vote for their choice.

I especially want to thank those loyal friends in the Pottsville and Gentry's Mill neighborhoods in giving me almost a 4 to 1 vote, for it is among those neighbors that I lived so many years and where I reared my family. So to them I want to express my sincere thanks.

Sincerely your friend,

C. E. EDMISTON
Clerk of the District Court.

O. R. WILLIAMS IS GRATEFUL FOR SPLendid VOTE OF CONFIDENCE

I want the voters of Hamilton County to know that I am indeed grateful for the splendid vote of confidence accorded me in last Saturday's primary election. As you know, I felt that conditions did not warrant an intensive campaign, choosing rather to devote my time to the duties of the office of tax assessor-collector during most of the campaign period.

That the voters were so considerate of my position, and have expressed their confidence in me in so definite a way, inspires me to even greater efforts of service. I hope that I may be able to make a better public servant in the future than ever before.

Again I thank you, and invite you to call on me at any time I may serve you.

Sincerely,

O. R. WILLIAMS,
Tax Assessor-Collector, Hamilton County.

HOUSTON WHITE THANKS HAMILTON COUNTY VOTERS

I want my friends in the northern part of the county to know that I appreciate their votes and support in the recent primary more than words can tell.

As in the past, I shall continue to discharge the duties of the Sheriff's office to the best of my ability, without fear or favor, and invite the public to confer with me at any time on matters of law enforcement.

Sincerely your servant,

HOUSTON WHITE, Sheriff.

WOMEN IN THE NEWS

BY JANET CUPLED

WOMAN of the Week: Mary Anderson has a right to be pleased by the report that there are now about 20,000 women employed in the aircraft industry and some 80,000 more in munitions plants. As director of the Women's bureau of the U. S. department of labor she began a year or so ago, through training and surveys, to create important "woman power" resources for war production. Now over 100,000 women throughout the nation are making practically everything from sleeping bags to machine guns. And it seems likely that before long 125,000 women will be employed in the aircraft industry alone.

CLIPPER CREW: As chief stewardess of the American Export lines plane which late last month completed its initial commercial flight from England, Dorothy C. Bohanna was the first woman member of the trans-Atlantic flight crew. A native of Brooklyn, she was formerly assigned to regular commercial flights.

SIGNS OF THE TIMES: A former nail polish factory is now making bomber fittings. Actress Helen Hayes revealed another talent when she reported for war work as a volunteer switchboard operator. Adele Gray offered to make a jump to test a parachute made of nylon.

SH-H! CAMPAIGN: So well were the plans to raid Japan guarded that Mrs. James H. Doolittle knew nothing of her husband's flight to Tokyo until she accompanied him to Washington, where he received the Congressional Medal. And the other day she urged delegates from 33 national women's organizations to campaign against loose talk, idle rumors and what she called "a whale of a lot of chatter."

SUNNY SIDE UP: That job you have to drag yourself to on a Monday morning could be a whole lot worse. Emil Davies, chairman of the London county council, told a group of American lawyers that the average London stenographer considers herself lucky if, after an air raid, she can still get running water!

WING SCOUTS: According to Mrs. Paul Rittenhouse, national director, the Girl Scouts have begun to train leaders in the first step toward a nation-wide aviation program which will provide two years' basic training in aviation. This fall, when the first group of 30 girls now being trained at Philadelphia has completed the course which will qualify them as leaders, or "wing scouts," additional "troops" will be formed throughout the country. The program is open to senior Girl Scouts (of high school age) and will be directed toward exploring vocational opportunities for women in aviation.

MISS SIMON LEGREE: Charles C. Stech, who has just completed a survey of standards of work demanded by both men and women, has come to the conclusion that women are easier to work for than men. (Surprised?) Also, Mr. Stech has discovered that women are rated slightly higher by the men than by the women for whom they work; that men would rather have a woman look nice and be efficient than just be efficient; that women demand less intelligence than men do.

NAVY NURSE: In discussing the Japanese attacks on Bataan and Corregidor, Ann Agnes Bernatus, the only navy nurse to escape from Corregidor, said recently that there are probably 70 nurses among the 100 or so women left on Corregidor. She said she is "certainly happy" to be in this country but is ready to go wherever, and whenever, the navy orders.

BEAUTY WINS: If the officers of the WAAC are not beautiful, it won't be the fault of those responsible for providing them with the means to achieve at least a smugly groomed appearance. Although it appears now that hair "shortish," if not actually short, will be required, no attempt will be made to discourage a moderate use of makeup, and candidates attending the training school at Fort Des Moines will have their own beauty shop.

SHIP WELDER: In a release passed by the Canadian censor, Doris McEwan is described as the first woman ship welder in the West coast Canadian province of British Columbia.

GIRL GUIDES: One of England's greatest "woman power" resources has been the Girl Guides. Realizing the value of the training "teen age girls have received as members of such groups, those responsible for directing the employment of women in national service have developed a plan to extend that training to all girls 16 to 18 years of age. It is the Girls' training corps. At the end of the preliminary training period the girls will be better equipped to join such women's services as the ATS and the WRNS.

SUNNY SIDE UP: In preparation for his duties as commanding officer of the WAAC officers' training school at Fort Des Moines, Iowa, Col. Don C. Faith is reported to be reading, among other things, a book entitled "Education of the Modern Girl."

THIS AND THAT

By JOE SMITH DYER

July 27th, 1942.

Dear Bob: Yesterday, when I was in the Century Room at the Adolphus, I heard a woman some twenty years older than you advising you to be self-centered and selfish. She advised you to grab everything you can, to forget other people, and I believe she also left the impression that there is absolutely nothing left for the backward and timid.

I haven't the slightest idea of what impression she made on you but I hope you are wise and sensible enough to judge her theory, as you have done others, by the kind of people it develops. I am sure that you remember the boy who borrowed your best coat one rainy cold evening last winter, because he wanted to save his. He borrowed yours because it was a bad evening out and the clouds were heavy and he didn't want his exposed.

His scheme was flawless as an example of "enlightened self-interest" but I remember that you didn't like it very much and that you described it as some kind of "nerve" or "gall."

Where, then, was the profit? Selfishness saved your friend's wrap at your expense, but it cost him your good will and respect. What is the good in being selfish if it cost you a dollar for a nickel?

There isn't any. That is the point that is always overlooked by the selfish. Their eyes are always fixed on their immediate gain and they never stop to think how much they lose to gain it.

Remember Tom's wife? When they were first married his one and only idea of a good time was taking her down and letting her pick out dresses, hats and jewelry. He liked being generous. But he soon discovered that it had to end and it did end year before last when she "sunk" him for a five hundred dollar fur cape on which he is still paying. She still usually gets everything she wants except the most important thing—

Tom's love!

That is gone because people cannot love unfairness.

The woman to whom you talked the other day gave you some bad advice, my friend. You're young yet and you have a long way to go and you'll get a lot of advice and if you begin taking it all you'll lose your mind.

The advice she gave you is for nags because their only concern is for what is in the trough. The disapproval of a neighbor is nothing more to them than a kick in the sides.

Remember this, Bob—Selfishness can always grab the biggest piece of chicken on the platter but when they do they seldom get a second invitation to dinner!

S. J. R. No. 21—

A JOINT RESOLUTION

proposing an amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas authorizing the Legislature to appropriate Seventy-five Thousand ($75,000) Dollars or so much thereof as may be necessary to pay claims incurred by John Tarleton Agricultural College for the construction of a building on the campus of such college pursuant to deficiency authorization by the Governor of Texas on August 31st, 1937.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding a new section, as follows:

"The Legislature is authorized to appropriate so much money as may be necessary, not to exceed Seventy-five Thousand ($75,000) Dollars, to pay claims incurred by John Tarleton Agricultural College for the construction of a building on the campus of such college pursuant to deficiency authorization by the Governor of Texas on August 31st, 1937."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at the next general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, A. D. 1942, at which all ballots shall have printed thereon: "For the constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to pay for building constructed for John Tarleton Agricultural College;" and

"Against the constitutional amendment authorizing the Legislature to pay for building constructed for John Tarleton Agricultural College."

Each voter shall scratch out one of said clauses on the ballot, leaving the one expressing his vote on the proposed amendment.

Sec. 3. The Governor shall issue the necessary proclamation for said election and have the same published as required by the Constitution and laws of this State. The expenses of publication and election for such amendment shall be paid out of proper appropriation made by law.

The density of Texas' population in 1940 was 24.4 per square mile, only a little more than half the density of the population of the United States.

THANKS FROM ELMO WHITE:

I am grateful to the people of Erath County for the trust they have imposed in me and at this time wish to solemnly make the promise that it will be my aim to continue to render service, courtesy and satisfaction in fulfilling the office of County Clerk. My friends have been kind to me and the best way I know to show my deep appreciation is to make an official that will measure up to their full expectations in every way.

To those who did not vote for me I wish to say that I have nothing but the kindest feelings. This office belongs to all the people, and I shall endeavor to serve them all.

The doors of this office are open to the public every day in the week and I will be glad to have you come to see me when you are in Stephenville.

TO THE PEOPLE OF BOSQUE COUNTY:

I want to thank my friends for their support in my campaign for the office of County Clerk in which I lacked only a few votes of winning first place. I realize I could not have done so well without your help and encouragement and since you have shown so much interest in my campaign I can work with even more determination now.

I also wish to express my appreciation for the honest and upright manner in which my opponents conducted their campaigns.

Since the time until the second primary is so short, I shall not be able to see the majority of the voters; therefore I earnestly solicit the support of you and your friends in the run-off.

Very sincerely yours,

This Week IN WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C. (NWSN)—The recent ruling of the National War Labor board, giving the workers in the "Little Steel" plants an average wage increase of 44 cents a day, is believed here to have touched off the fuse which can lead to paralyzing inflation unless immediate steps are taken to prevent it.

The steel case, in which the union asked a wage increase of $1 a day, was "settled" by giving an increase which is supposed to be the amount necessary to take care of the 15 per cent increase in the cost of living since the steel workers got their last increase. As a result of this formula for increased wages to labor, it is now expected that all unions will quickly make similar demands. If they do, and if their demands are met, it is estimated that our labor bill for war production this year will be increased by several billion dollars.

Experts here believe the only way inflation can be prevented is by drastic legislation to freeze wages plus additional legislation to keep food prices from increasing, but so far the President has been hesitant to recommend such legislation and congressional groups are fighting against such legislation tooth and nail. The farm group in congress is unwilling to listen to proposals to freeze food prices, except at ceilings which are much higher than present prices, and the labor group will not listen to wage freezing proposals.

It is agreed by those who have studied the situation that, whether or not Leon Henderson and his Office of Price Administration get adequate funds to enforce price ceilings on manufactured goods, inflation cannot be stemmed unless wages and farm prices also are put under drastic control. Surveys indicate that the people of this country are ready and willing to accept such control, but congressmen, fearing the loss of votes at the coming election if they ask sacrifices from labor and from the farmers, are shying away from any action in this direction.

It is expected that drastic changes will be made in the new tax bill by the senate committee which is studying it, but there is little expectation that the senate will add to it and it may decrease it by its revisions. The treasury department is greatly concerned over the fact that the present measure is $2,500,000,000 short of its request. It is believed probable that congress will make up the difference by passing a sales tax if necessary, after the November election.

Each week the criticism of congress for thinking in terms of the welfare of the country increases. Senator Barkley, the majority leader of the senate, who has vigorously defended congress against all criticism, finally turned to criticizing congress himself over the purely political move to insist that the senate approve all appointments to executive position in the Office of Price Administration.

"At this juncture in the war," said Senator Barkley, "it would be most unfortunate for the senate of the United States to create the impression on the country, and on its people and on the world, that we are more interested in patronage, in securing some jobs, than we are in anything else."

But despite such statements, the senate continues to show more interest in the election than in the vital legislation which it now has before it. The number of senators attending sessions these days indicates that a great number of our legislators are now in their home states campaigning. Except for the request of Senator Barkley's that absent senators return to Washington, it would have been missing when the important price control legislation was being debated.

The problem of man-power to handle important industrial tasks is becoming one of great concern here, there being great shortages of skilled men in many lines. Figures prepared by the war manpower commission indicate that for every toolmaker available, 31 are needed and for every ship building assembler available, 94 are needed. The shipbuilding industry, which employed 60,000 workers in June, 1939, is now employing 700,000 and is scheduled to expand to twice that size by 1943.

The war production schedule calls for employment of 3,500,000 additional men for aircraft, shipbuilding and ordnance work and 32 per cent should be skilled workers. Even with the many training courses now being given to trained skilled workers, it is not expected that it will be possible to get the number wanted.

The war production program calls for a labor army of approximately 14,000,000 people by next year. Of this number, almost 9,000,000 are being enlisted from civilian work. At the present time there are approximately 12,500,000 employed in war production, which is almost double the number employed in this work on January 1, 1941.

Twenty-nine sawmills cut almost half of all the lumber sawed in East Texas.

A comprehensive survey of the underground water resources of Texas is being carried on by the State Board of Water Engineers and the United States Geological Survey.

LEARN TO REPLACE "BLOWN" FUSES

IT'S EASY AS REPLACING A LIGHT BULB

HOW TO TELL A "BLOWN" FUSE
 Notice metal link under window of fuse. It is designed to carry a measured amount of current. When a circuit is overloaded or "shorted," the link melts or "blows out," and the current stops. The melted link and scorched spot under window indicate a blown fuse.

WHY FUSES "BLOW"
 Fuse "blow outs" are usually due to wornout, damaged or loosely-connected appliance cords, or to circuits overloaded with too many appliances and lights. Without fuses, your house wiring might be damaged. They are electric "safety valves."

Many folks always have replaced their own fuses. Those who haven't can be a big help in saving rubber and automotive equipment by doing it themselves from now on. It's easy... and not only do you eliminate the wear and tear of extra trips by our service trucks; you also help yourself by restoring service immediately without waiting for the serviceman... who may be delayed these busy wartime days.

Here's How To Do It

If Lights Go Out, check with your neighbors to see if their service is also off. If not, look for a blown fuse, as the cause of the trouble is probably in your own home.

Pull Cords From Outlets. If you're not sure what caused the fuse to blow, disconnect all appliance and extension cords.

Turn Off Main Switch. Stand on a dry surface. Set main switch at "OFF" position, so no electricity will flow through fuses. Main switch is usually on fuse box, but may be separate from same.

Remove Blown Fuse. Replace blown fuse with a new fuse of same size... generally 15 amperes for household circuits.

Turn On Main Switch. If new fuse blows again and you cannot locate the trouble call an electrician or serviceman.

Examine All Cords. Before reconnecting appliance or extension cords, look for breaks in insulation or loose connections that may have caused "short" and blown fuse. Repair or replace same to prevent a repetition of the trouble.

Never Use Substitutes. Never replace a blown fuse with a penny or with a fuse of too high an amperage. It's dangerous. Always keep a few extra fuses of right size on hand.

STREAMLINED RATIONING

Gasoline rationing in the East has now been streamlined.

Having gone through several months of pitiful muddling, when cheating, bootlegging, lying, and general disorder ran rampant, tighter regulations are now in force and the loopholes are being plugged up.

It is to be hoped that the new system will help those who depend on gasoline for their livelihood, will curb those who don't actually need gasoline and will make it easier for gasoline dealers to conduct an orderly business without creating enemies.

The new plan appears to be a big improvement over the old. But its success will depend largely upon the vigilance of enforcement, the fairness of ration boards and the cooperation of the people. No matter how many regulations may be made to enforce gasoline rationing, its ultimate success will be achieved only when the people in the East swallow the fact that, at least for the present, their automobiles are no longer pleasure cars but are now machines of war.

HURRAH FOR BILLIONS.

During June the government spent $158,600,000 a day on war production, which was $9,400,000 a day more than it spent in May, $23,800,000 a day more than in April, and $76,800,000 a day more than last January.

It seems strange to stand on the sidelines cheering as the government goes over the top with another new record of expenditures. Until this year, when the government expenditures soared to new heights, it was the custom to howl instead of to cheer.

But now we don't think of those expenditures in terms of money. They are our yardstick of the speed-up in the production of guns, tanks and planes. The higher the expenditure the quicker the victory, is the way most of us are now thinking.

So go to it, Uncle Sam. Spend our money like a madman. Only be sure each extra dollar means an extra bullet, and not an extra dish of gravy for a war profiteer.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

Abram: A Pioneer in Faith.
Lesson for August 2: Genesis 12:1-9;
Hebrews 11:8-12.
Golden Text: Genesis 15:1.

While others who had preceded him had exhibited great faith, the abiding faith of Abram was such that he may be fittingly called a pioneer in his ability to see the unseen.

Native of one of the oldest cities of the world, Ur of the Chaldees, Abram had journeyed northward with his father to Haran where he received his call to go into a strange country "which he should after receive for an inheritance."

The call had its promise of large blessing—he would become the father of a great nation. We may look back now, after the lapse of several thousand years, and see the record of the fulfillment of God's promise in the history of the Hebrews; Abram's faith was great indeed because he could see through his faith what now we read.

In Caanan God appeared again unto Abram and gave him assurance of the fulfillment of the promise made to him in Haran. And when we act upon our faith, renewed assurances come to us of fulfillment in God's own time.

In the 11th chapter of Hebrews, which has been called the picture gallery of the saints, the whole of Abram's career is ascribed to his faith, and it is said that through it all he looked beyond the things of time to eternal things—for the city which hath foundations, whose builder and maker is God.

Let us follow the leadings of faith in our own time and place, knowing that we can safely trust God's promise of wellbeing and happiness.

CATALOGUE . . . museum

If you have a 1942 mail order catalogue, might be a good idea to hang on to it and file it with your history books.

I have just finished thumbing through one of those hefty volumes and it occurred to me that there was a veritable encyclopedia of the things which we are going to have to do without if this war continues as long as those who hob-nob with the President predict.

A lot of the things pictured in the catalogues are already unavailable and the mail order houses are thus forced to return millions of dollars of good U. S. cash to people who order them.

Another group of products can only be sold to people who have priorities and another large group will be unobtainable as soon as present stocks are exhausted.

When we will again be able to purchase those things which we have taken for granted for so many years, nobody knows, so it seems a good idea to keep the 1942 book on hand to show Junior the pictures of the things which made living so easy before the war.

GOODS . . . disappearing

Those gorgeous pictures of big, heavy-treaded tires, shown in the mail order catalogues, will make many a mouth water in the months to come.

The washing machine pictures, the refrigerators, the bicycles, the lawnmowers, the cameras and the hundreds of farm and kitchen gadgets portrayed, will also bring many a sigh from those of us who have become accustomed to easy living.

Most of us, I imagine, have lost track of the hundreds of items which industry is now prohibited from manufacturing. We learn about them gradually by the try-and-buy method and are quickly realizing that, during the past month, the stock of merchandise available in many types of stores has become extremely limited.

With practically all things made of metal or rubber having gone to war, or rapidly joining the forces, the available civilian merchandise is dwindling like a snowball in July.

GADGETS . . . Christmas

Last week I received from Washington a new list of articles, made from iron and steel, on which manufacturing will be entirely prohibited beginning next month. The list, which is simply an addition to many previously issued, includes hundreds of popular items. A few of them are:

Atomizers, automobile accessories (except those required by law), awning frames, bag and pocketbook frames, beds, binoculars, bird cages, blackboards, cash registers, check folders, Christmas tree ornaments, cigarette cases, cigarette lighters, clock cases, compactos, corn popper, croquet sets.

Those are just a few of the items listed under A, B and C. But they are enough to give a general idea of how rapidly all kinds of items are going to disappear from the market. By comparing this one list with the index of a mail order catalogue I found it called for the elimination of more than 200 of the products indexed.

When I first heard that purchasing power in 1942 would greatly exceed the merchandise which we would be able to buy, it was a difficult state to imagine. I couldn't picture anyone going to town with money in his pocket and not being able to spend it.

When the Christmas shopping season comes around again the great scarcity of goods will become strikingly apparent to all of us. There is apt to be very little to put under the 1942 Christmas tree except war saving stamps.

FUTURE . . . promising

We are going to learn to get along without a lot of things, but that isn't going to stop us from wanting them back at the first possible opportunity.

When the war ends there is going to be the greatest demand for goods that there ever has been in the history of this country. With our pockets loaded with war bond money, there will be millions of us who will want to make the down payment on a new automobile the day the peace is signed. We'll be mobbing the stores trying to replace practically every gadget we have with something new, shiny and up-to-date.

How long the period will be in which industry can shift from making tanks to cars, guns to refrigerators and planes to washing machines is uncertain. But the blueprints for that shift are now being made and the chances are that it will be put over in a miraculously short time—a much shorter time than it took for industry to shift to making war equipment with which it wasn't familiar.

Furthermore, every industry which hopes to regain public favor is now planning big improvements in the products they will deliver after the war. We may have to go without a lot of things today, but these sacrifices will be more than compensated for by the marvelous products which are promised to us for tomorrow.

More than 400 sawmills were operating in East Texas in 1940, according to the Texas Forest Service. Eleven of the sawmills produced hardwood lumber; the rest cut pine.

THE CONQUEST OF FEAR
Enrico Caruso, the most perfect tenor voice that ever titilled the Golden Horse Shoe in the Metropolitan Opera House, New York, had something that haunted him day and night. He had conquered the world with his voice; himself he could not conquer. And that which conquered him, is a short word, Fear.

From his peasant Italian childhood he inherited fear of the Evil Eye from which he was never able to free himself. He never crossed the ocean without first consulting an astrologer to find if the portents were favorable; he never started a new undertaking on Friday, and he never wore a new suit for the first time on Friday. A strange craze swept over this country—the bilikken craze. A bilikken was a sort of half-dwarf, humorous monstrosity; Caruso lived in fear of sickness; and when he fell ill, he filled his room with bilikkens; sometimes, he even kept one under his pillow. So much did he fear the Evil Eye that he would never walk under a ladder. One day, in making a sharp turn to avoid a ladder, he bumped into a window cleaner's bucket and fell sprawling to the sidewalk. A friend twitted him about it.

"If I'd walked under the ladder I might have been killed," he said solemnly.

The powerful, the conquering Cornelius Vanderbilt, who bent men to his will as a cook does pie-dough, had to do a little bending himself. He was the iron man, but he believed in spiritualism, mediums, clairvoyants, consulting them regularly. He was particularly afraid of "evil spirits," which were so real to him that he had each leg of his bed set in a dish filled with salt to keep the spirits from attacking him while he slept.

So, if you have fears, stop to realize that others have had them, too. Probably a fear is haunting you this moment: the fear of what someone is going to say about you; what the boss is going to do; what the neighbors are going to think. These all have to do with the future. You never fear the past, for you know what has happened and generally, it wasn't so bad after all. But the future—Oh! . . .

Fortunately there is a simple way of fighting fear. "There is no defeat except for those who think defeat," said sagacious old Elbert Hubbard of East Aurora.

Say to yourself: "Now look here, exactly what is this I am afraid of? Is it going to kill me? Is it going to make my neighbors pass on the other side of the street to avoid me? Is it going to humiliate me so that I can never again lift up my face?"

If you will analyze your fear, it will lessen. You will know the worst that can happen, and will not be so terrified by it. You will say to yourself, "Why, I can stand that." "Do the thing you fear to do, and the death of fear is certain," Ralph Waldo Emerson said. I know no better prescription.

SUCCESSFUL PARENTHOOD

By MRS. CATHERINE CONRAD EDWARDS
Associate Editor, Parents' Magazine

THE JEALOUS CHILD

"My eldest child, Marjorie, who is nine, is very jealous of her younger sister Irene," a mother writes. "If Irene has anything new, Marjorie says it is ugly. It isn't because Irene is better dressed for Marjorie's clothes are really nicer since they are all given to her. Marjorie doesn't get along with other children and cannot seem to play with more than one child at a time. (At home she is a regular little mother to her baby sister who is three.) Irene can play with one or a dozen, as she loves everyone. Marjorie does not seem to mind when I love Irene. It just seems to be things she is jealous of."

To begin with, some children are from babyhood people-centered; others are thing-centered. The first type will be interested in people, would want to win their approval and would rather talk to them or watch them than play. While collecting little boxes, loving every article of their clothing, saving their allowances to acquire things instead of spending them for movies or ice cream, these are indications of thing-centered children. Marjorie would seem to be of this type.

Now according to the mother's letter, Marjorie has more clothes than her sister because they are given to her by someone outside the family. But here's the rub! Irene's come out of the family budget and although it may be unreasonable of Marjorie, she probably feels left out of the family plans. If possible, the mother should divide the outside gifts between the two girls and then include Marjorie in the family clothes budget. If not, she should explain to Marjorie just how much of the family income can be spent on clothes. Then show her how the gifts she receives ease up the drain on the budget, thus making it possible for the whole family to be better dressed. I think Marjorie will take pride in the fact that because someone outside the family thinks enough of her to supply her with clothes she thereby makes a contribution to the whole family.

Next, I'm afraid the mother takes it too much for granted that because Marjorie seems to be a child mind receiving less affection than a young child has, she will pretend not to mind when she is shown more approval of her mother or sister. Indeed such a child since they can't bear to admit that they are naturally less loved than others, often act as meanly as they know how in order to tell themselves it's because they are mad that they are disappointed.

Marjorie's mother should emphasize her daughter's good points and accept the fact that she is not the same good traits as her sister. For instance, Irene is naturally sunny, sociable, affectionate and is wonderful with groups. But I wonder if she would have the patience to take such good care of her baby sister as Marjorie does?

Finally we come to the real problem, which is Marjorie's own. For the person who gets along best with people is going to have an easier time in life, and thus Marjorie will need far more help from her mother than Irene ever will. Her mother should begin now to build a special friendship with Marjorie. It will have to be done with care for with Marjorie's possessive nature she may want to monopolize her mother. Yet once she feels sure of a big place in her mother's affection she will probably be less demanding instead of more so.

Then Marjorie must be taught, little by little, with the utmost tolerance, that there is just as much pleasure in sharing as in having things. Kindliness and understanding, not making the child feel less worthy, are called for in helping the difficult ones.

ENTERTAINING SERVICE MEN

How much indiscriminate entertaining of service men should be done by families in which there are grown daughters is a problem many mothers are faced with. And we might as well admit from the start that it is a problem. For no matter how one's patriotism makes one want to throw open the doors to any stranger in uniform, the fact remains that young girls are not always good judges of character and with wartime emotions at high pitch they frequently become involved in romantic entanglements which have little basis for lasting happiness.

On the other hand, since our is a civilian army and this is a democracy it isn't in keeping to pick and choose the boys you will entertain. If everyone asked for social credentials many boys who lacked advantages in civilian life would be left off the list of eligibles. And these are just the boys who are most in need of friendliness. It is well to remember, too, that the contribution they are making in winning the war is just as great as that of the engaging fellow who looks well in his uniform and has a good education. Besides, children, which you can legitimately demand. That is the thoroughly democratic one of good conduct. A young man who takes advantage of a girl's friendliness to make an incoherent love to her certainly doesn't rate further invitations to your home.

Then there are two safeguards on which you should be able to depend when strange young men are guests in your home. The first lies in your daughter's trustworthiness. Young girls today seem to me so possessed of good sense and good taste that I'm sure the superior code of their generation will enable them to combine friendliness and generosity with judgment and discrimination.

The second safeguard is the generally high type of young men who make up our armed forces. Anyone who has seen them on trains or served them at restaurants or encountered them in places of amusement is bound to be impressed with their courtesy and quiet, rather serious behavior. There's none of the hijinks of the last war when the uniform went to many a young man's head. These boys know they have a job to do and they are going about it with many a rectitude.

There are, of course, always a few "wolves" and show-offs in any large group, though girls today are pretty quick at spotting them and few are silly enough to fall for their line. If, however, your daughter's inexperience or lack of self-discipline cause you to doubt her judgment by all means make it your business to know something about the character of the young men (in the service or on the campus) who continue to show an interest in her after their first meeting.

If it is in your own mind to entertain you emphasize correct judgment. Have as many guests at a time as your house will accommodate. Try to keep the atmosphere less thoughtlessly romantic than it was in World War I. Then if a girl didn't become engaged to a soldier before she went to France she wasn't doing her bit.

Fortunately girls today are so busy helping win the war by doing well their many practical civilian defense jobs that they'll have little time for any but genuine attachments.

LISTENING TO THE RADIO

In our recent discussion of amusements families can enjoy together in wartime we didn't mention the movies or the radio because these have become such controversial matters in many families that we didn't wish to irritate by referring to them globally.

So today let's look at the radio from the point of view of a mother who writes: "In the late afternoon our radios are turned over to so-called children's programs. By dinner time my children are so excited and upset they can scarcely eat and it's almost impossible to get them to sleep on time."

Frankly, I agree with this mother that many children's programs are just so much noise and for nervous and high-strung youngsters they present a real problem. However, putting aside our own tastes, it may be that we over-emphasize their possibly harmful effects. It has been found that few children are affected by the suspenseful incidents and that they seem to derive something they need in their otherwise uneventful lives from these hair-raising adventures. Besides, children have the comforting knowledge that the hero will always be rescued.

One danger of prohibiting listening to children's programs is that the child may turn to even more unsuitable adult fare. Once I asked an eight-year-old what her favorite radio program was. She told me that the doctor wouldn't allow her to listen to adventure stories but that she just loved "Susan's Sorrows" (that wasn't the title), one of those adult serials with their never-ending battle over getting or holding a man. Now I'd rather children would listen to the scariest adventure or mystery broadcast

"BROWN'S"

HICO, TEX.

A little girl, Joy Carol, was born to Mr. and Mrs. N. N. Akin in the Hamilton Hospital last Saturday, July 25. Mrs. Akin and baby returned home early this week and both are reported to be doing fine.

Mrs. G. C. Keeney, accompanied by Miss Mittle Walker of Carlton, spent the first of the week with her sister, Mrs. J. F. Cope, and family at Paint Rock. Mrs. Cope returned to Hico with Mrs. Keeney for a visit here.

Miss Grace Phillips and Mrs. J. J. Gray, who moved some time ago from Bonham to Texarkana, arrived in Hico last Thursday afternoon for a visit with relatives and friends in Hico. They left for their return trip home Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Barrow left last Friday for Temple where she will go through the Scott & White Clinic for a check-up. At last reports she was resting very well. Mr. Barrow remained this week in Temple with her.

Miss Sue Tabor of Fort Worth is spending her vacation here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ira Tabor. Week-end guests in the Tabor home were their son and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Tabor, of Dallas. They returned home Sunday accompanied by Mrs. Tabor who visited several days this week with them.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Barrow of Port Worth spent the week end here in the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Autrey. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Autrey and Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Langham and children, who are visiting here from Miami, Arizona, to Hamilton Sunday where they spent the day with Mr. and Mrs. Claud Huddleston. They were accompanied home by Mrs. B. J. Barrow of Houston who is spending the week with Mr. and Mrs. Autrey.

Mr. and Mrs. Wade Greensitt sojourning in Kansas City and other points they failed to mention before leaving Hico on their vacation about two weeks ago, are expected back in Hico about the first of August, according to friends who are better informed on their peregrinations than the home newspaper. The editor received a card from Wade last week with some strange phrases on it that are not included in our vocabulary which includes essentially English. When he gets home we're going to get him to decode it and see if we are as mad about the message as Florence Chenault was when it came through the local post office.

Mr. and Mrs. Johnny W. Howerton and two daughters, and Mrs. Ruth Espirtu and daughter left Thursday for their home in San Mateo, California, after having visited here for several weeks with their parents, John Howerton of Hico, and Mr. and Mrs. John Pruitt at Iredell, and other relatives and friends. Mrs. Howerton came by the News Review office before leaving to renew her subscription. She said it was not until October, but she wanted to get this detail off her mind before returning home. Mrs. Espirtu left with her brother, Harvey Howerton, an interesting article from her home paper telling about Americans at advanced American training bases somewhere in Australia training for the "big day."

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Barrow and George Martell Stringer accompanied their three little granddaughters, Gerdyne, Selette, and Jimmie Gail, who had been visiting here for the past six weeks to Alpine Monday morning. Mrs. Barrow and George will return home the latter part of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. Buddy Randals spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Burleson, in Coleman and were accompanied home by her sister, Elta Lois Burleson, who is spending the week here. They also visited in Brownwood with Mrs. Hattie Norton and Miss Ima Bowden.

Funeral services were held Tuesday afternoon at 5 o'clock for the infant son born to Mr. and Mrs. John L. Wilson in the Stephenville Hospital that morning. The services were held at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. R. Proffitt, with burial in the Hico Cemetery, Elder Stanley Giesecke conducting.

Mrs. B. A. Ware and children of Fort Worth spent several days last week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. O. M. Bramblett. Other week-end and Sunday guests in the Bramblett home were their son and family, Mr. and Mrs. Austin Bramblett and son, Bobbie, of Fort Worth, and Sgt. O. M. Bramblett Jr., of Waco. Flying Field, O. M. was recently transferred from Randolph Field to Waco and since that time has been promoted to the rank of sergeant.

SOMETHING ALL CAN DO

MY DEAR FRIENDS OF HAMILTON COUNTY:

I wish to express my gratitude and thanks to you who again sustained me with your vote of confidence. Whether you voted for me or not, you are my friends so far as I am concerned.

For those of you who chose to support my worthy opponent, I hold no ill will, but I earnestly covet your hearty cooperation and assistance that you have so generously given me in the past.

You realize as well as I that we are facing probably the most critical times in our Nation's history. There will be new problems to face and dispose of, and it will take the best that is in us to properly meet the challenge before us. United we will meet and solve these problems in the true American way. I know that you will join hands with me and pledge our dead level best at all times to make Hamilton County a better place in which to live for our boys and girls who will be our men and women of tomorrow.

I am,
Yours very truly,

Church News

Methodist Church
On Sunday, August 2, the Rev. Asa Bridges, chaplain at the Gatesville Training School, will be in the pulpit at the Methodist church. He will be accompanied by an orchestra from the school. Rev. Bridges will speak of the work of the school and will have a message that every parent should hear. All parents and all young people are urged to come to this service. The entire community will profit by hearing why many boys have to go to the Training School. This service is to be at 11 a. m. At the evening hour, Dr. D. K. Porter will preach. Dr. Porter is our District Superintendent and deserves a good hearing from all of our people. Come and bring your friends and neighbors along with you. Watch your Hico News Review for further announcements of your church. Come to Sunday school each Sunday. The church supplies that which you cannot get anywhere else. Come to church every Sunday.
FLOYD W. THRASH, Pastor.

Baptist Church

The pastor has accepted an invitation to fill the pulpit at the College Station Baptist Church next Sunday, morning and evening. The local pulpit will be supplied. A special program is being arranged by the women for Sunday evening, outside.

Sunday school attendance is up over the last several Sundays. The teachers, officers and classes are working for a record attendance these next several Sundays. Help them win for Christ. Some thirty visitors are working within the city; when they come to your home they represent messengers of the Heavenly Father; cooperate with them that they can work efficiently. We are inviting all denominations to enlist their workers, prayers, singers for an all-out victory for Christ. We were happy to have the many postal employees and their families in the honor service last Sunday.

Remember that all evening services are outside, drive up in your cars for these services, all are welcome. Come early for the song services. We have plenty of books. Cars will come for and return all who do not have a way to come in any service.

We are proud of our young people for the efficient work that they are doing. If your boy or girl is not in the services somewhere, send them to these fine services. If you are looking for a good book to read, then look to "Genesis," written by Moses. You will enjoy each thrilling chapter. RALPH E. PERKINS, Pastor.

Notre Dame has scheduled football 1942 games with four schools in the Big Ten, Wisconsin, Northwestern, Illinois and Michigan . . . When Ben Hogan shot a 62 at the Hale America he was duplicating a round he stroked in the Oakland, Calif. Open of two seasons ago . . . Highest purse won in a single year was $108,400, which went to Azucar for winning the 1935 Santa Anita Handicap . . . The top Kentucky Derby purse is $61,275, won by Whirlaway last year.

The hottest fight on record is William Dean's 11 second knockout of Claude Allen at Corpus Christi, Texas, on May 12, 1940 . . . The longest glove fight was between Andy Bowen and Jack Burk at New Orleans in 1891. The fight went 119 rounds, lasting more than seven hours . . . Northwestern university built the longest runway ever provided a pole vaulter for the appearance of Cornelius Warmerdam in the All-Star meet.

Buddy Hassett of the Yankees doesn't fan easily. He made 140 trips to the plate this year before letting the third one go by. Jeff Hall, Michigan's star hurdler in 1940-41, is in the navy's V-7 unit at Notre Dame . . . Frank Crepsi, Cardinal infielder, started his career as a softball player on the St. Louis sandlot.

Because of tire and gas rationing, plus the call to armed service, almost all traveling pro basketball teams will disband this year . . . Al Blois, Georgetown's record-breaking shot putter and ace football tackle, has turned down all offers to play pro football next fall. He is working in a New Jersey chemical plant . . . Football and skiing are the most dangerous sports, according to Dr. William S. Perham of Yale's health department . . . Blackie Lammano's contract has been torn up by the Cincinnati Reds. The rookie was given a new contract—with a salary increase.

Lieut. Comm. Jimmy Crowley, former Fordham coach, is stationed at the University of North Carolina Naval pre-flight training school . . . The New York Yankees have had no official captain since Lou Gehrig left the team . . . During Bill Terry's 10 years as manager of the New York Giants, the Giants won 114 and lost 105 against the Dodgers . . . Nobody ever has hit a ball out of Yankee Stadium. Jimmy Foxx drove one into the corner of the top deck of the left field stand . . . Ken Silvestri, former catcher for the White Sox and Yankees, now is a buck private at Fort Custer, Mich. . . When her husband took a defense job, Mrs. Earl Eckert of Santa Cruz, Calif. assumed his duties as a golf professional at the Pasa Tiempo Country club.

Going into the 1942 season, Joe DiMaggio's lifetime batting average was .345. In six years he had driven in 816 runs, with 198 home runs . . . Until 1920 a rule existed which called a balk if the pitcher threw to an unoccupied base . . . Heavyweight Abe Simon's vaudeville manager asks $1,500 per week for Abe's appearance . . . Dick Wakefield, the Detroit Tigers rookie now with Beaumont in the Texas league, had three homers, two doubles, 16 total bases, four runs scored and six runs batted in for a recent night game.

Baseball writers in Washington say that Stan Spence of the Senators is one of the year's great outfielders . . . Although Notre Dame used the "T" formation in its spring practice game, Coach Frank Leahy denies he has scrapped the Rockne system . . . Big Ten football squads will be permitted to start their fall training earlier this year because of longer schedules, which include service teams.

In a recent game against San Antonio, Tulsa put 18 men on base not only two of them scored . . . In the American league the visiting team gets 30 cents each for grandstand and pavilion spectators and 20 cents for each occupant of the bleachers. The home club keeps the balance except for three cents which goes to the league to pay salaries and expenses of scorers, umpires, etc.

A total of 1,549,267 persons witnessed the 77 night baseball games played in the major leagues last season . . . Ty Cobb's lifetime batting average was .367; Babe Ruth's .342 . . . Larry MacPhail has had only two managers since he went to Brooklyn—Burleigh Grimes and Leo Durocher. But he has hired 11 coaches . . . Eddie Joost, Cincinnati infielder, is only 25, but has had nine years of pro baseball experience.

Vic Niethammer, flashy freshman right halfback at Notre Dame last fall, won't attend that school next year. He's reported headed for either Colorado U. or the University of Wyoming. He hails from Casper, Wyo. . . Fourteen former pupils of Larry Gilbert, manager of the Nashville club in the Southern association, are playing regularly with major league teams.

Umpire Art Passarella made the jump to the major leagues after only four years of training. An American league arbiter, he is 33 years old. His father wanted him to be a musician . . . Fred Danzelsfelder, captain of Michigan's 1941 golf team, is an ensign at the Mare Island navy yard . . . Doc Prothro, manager at Memphis, wore a pedometer to determine how many miles he covered on the coaching lines during a game. His total was 2.3 miles.

Mickey Owen didn't catch a losing game for the Dodgers from May 3 to May 20 . . . First pitcher to eat the Yankees twice this season was Elden Aukey of the Browns . . . Andy Farkas, Washington Redskins halfback, is working in an airplane factory at Dearborn, Mich.

HOUSE AND HOME

By Mary E. Dague
Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen.

Brides who are making homes in one or two rooms will find that mirrors wisely placed will create amazing illusions of space. A long narrow living room gains a feeling that width from a mirror panel hung to reflect light and the full depth of the rest of the room. With mirrors and gay slip covers the dreariest and most uninteresting room and collection of furniture can be transformed into a charming and homey place in which to live.

Speaking of mirrors, do you remember the trouble poor "Alice in the Looking Glass" had with her cakes? One made her shrink all most out of sight and the other made her uncomfortably large so she had to work out a happy blending of the two to keep herself her own pleasant natural size.

Summer diet offers just such a problem in balance as Alice's. Too many heavy foods are distasteful, if not absolutely harmful while light foods constantly served become insipid and tiresome. So in order to find a happy medium we turn to salads.

Summer salads, more often than not, fill dual roles. The fish and meat salad answers for main course as well as salad course and the fruit salad does duty for salad and dessert. Choose your salad and build your menu around it and your meals will be well balanced and interesting.

When the salad takes the place of the usual hot main course it's a good idea to begin the meal with a fruit salad and finish up with one of those favorite old-fashioned desserts like dumplings and cobbles and roly-poly. A hot vegetable, like sweet corn or lima beans should be served with the main course.

The menu planned to include the salad and dessert combination may start with a chilled first course, go on to the usual hot main course and finish up with cheese and crackers and coffee.

No matter how hot the day one hot food should be included in each meal. A hot beverage when the rest of the foods are chilled, a hot vegetable when you serve an iced drink.

Mary I. Barber, director of the national nutrition program in Washington emphasizes the important part women must play in their homes every day. She writes, "Nutrition is the science that women are using in carrying out their part in the war program. Back of every man in business and industry is a woman in the home whose job it is to see that he gets nourishing food. For every child growing up a woman has the responsibility to see that he develops a strong, sturdy body."

OLD WIVES' TALES: Probably no aspect of the war is more subtle to prediction, superstition and "old wives' tales" than rationing. The latest "old wives' tales" about rationing are concerned with the possibility of an immediate shortage of cosmetics, and they're just plain silly. In most cases the WPB will allow manufacturers at least 90 per cent of the quantity they produced in 1941. And some items, like tooth paste, eye wash, talcum powder and shaving cream, are almost entirely unrestricted. However, cosmetics will be put up in fewer containers, thereby saving both materials and transportation.

WAAC RECRUITING Recruiting for auxiliaries (privates) in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps is now being conducted at all army recruiting stations. Specialists in a wide variety of occupations eventually will be enlisted, but for the present the following are sought: clerks, cooks, bakers, bookkeepers, stenographers, switchboard operators and supervisors, chauffeurs, cafeteria dieticians and cashiers, hostess aides, receptionists, library aides, machine record operators and motion picture projectionists.

The waiting period between applications and notification of acceptance or rejection may be as long as three to six weeks, and even after acceptance you may not be called to duty for several months. Therefore, you are urged not to give up your civilian position until actually ordered to Des Moines. It is expected that a two-weeks' warning notice will be given.

TO ALASKA, HAWAII: Passed by the house and then amended by the senate, the bill authorizing a women's naval auxiliary provides that its members may not serve outside the continental boundaries of the United States. But Delegate King of Hawaii and Representative Magnuson of Washington have urged that the corps be allowed to have branches in Alaska and Hawaii.

SUNNY SIDE UP: One of the nation's largest life insurance companies appears to consider the modern American marriage a good "risk" . . . The average couple today, says a company report, has twice as good a chance as a couple of 50 years ago of celebrating their 50th wedding anniversary. That's interesting, because the report also says that the American marriage rate is among the highest in the world!

ON THE NEWS FRONT

CHECK ON NAZI RADIO; PRESS TELLS OF DOMESTIC 'GRUMBLING'

Recent foreign radio broadcasts and newspaper comment examined by U. S. government analysts show evidence of "difficulties" on the German home front.

Most of the evidence comes from enemy sources. It was gathered by the Office of War Information from monitored foreign radio broadcasts.

Heinrich Himmler, notorious Gestapo chief, has ordered "grumblers, defeatists and persons who have committed offenses against food distribution regulations" sent to concentration camps.

Dr. Josef Goebbels, Nazi propaganda head, has already opened up an intensive campaign to convince the Germans they will suffer. In his own words there will be "hell on earth" if the Allies win.

Such speeches as these — and there have been many more like them, according to the reports of the Office of War Information — have been followed by punitive action.

A German broadcast, just recently, told of the arrest of six workers in the Frankfurt armament works for listening to foreign broadcast and "preparing a treasonable undertaking."

These workers were accused of sewing pamphlets and doubts among war workers.

Other comments heard via radio and from the press through neutral nations, show that the length of the war, fear of food shortages, casualties, RAF bombings, and growing shortages of services, transportation, drugs and textiles have caused grumbling in Germany.

The Nazi dominated newspapers have started a campaign asking that civilians restrain their grief at military casualties.

A German army officer, commenting on the grief shown by civilians when deaths in their families were announced, said:

"I read with disappointment obituary notices of many brave men. It is impossible that the people back home think in such a manner of their dead."

The drain of the Russian front losses on German manpower has been shown by the recruiting of more than 2,000,000 foreign workers and by the collection of 5,000,000 pieces of men's clothing in a recent Nazi textile campaign.

German newspapers and domestic broadcasts have indicated that civilian transportation is practically forbidden by special decree. Accommodations at spas and seaside health resorts are restricted to urgent cases and for short periods. War regulations restrict the civilians permitted in nursing homes. Many people are obliged to wait weeks before medical prescriptions can be filled.

WITH THE COLORS

time when we got to know him, and since then he comes very often to our house. I try to cook to please him and he really enjoys our dinners now. Of course you realize our mode of eating and cooking is very different from yours, but I can make biscuits.

Now you will be pleased to know Ray looks wonderfully well. He is quite a seasoned colonial now and has seen quite a bit of our vast country. Our weather is very cold now. We are having a lot of rain this winter but apart from one cold Ray has not had anything to mention the matter with him since he came. Ray does not think you get all his letters.

We live very near the city—only four minutes by train—and live near the beach. We are very fond of swimming. My husband is attached to the police department and we have a little son 2 1/2 years old. John, who by the way is very fond of Ray. Yesterday was Sunday and Ray was here for the afternoon and evening. It was a cold day so we made a big fire and sat around talking. Ray talks every much of home and you all—especially you—and I know the moment the war ends Ray will be on the first boat home. Not that he is unhappy—far from it—but as you know already, "there's no place like home."

Ray enjoyed his short stay at Sydney, but said he missed us while up there. I didn't know he was returning to so soon and got such a pleasant surprise when he walked in looking so brown and well. The weather had been very warm up there. I think they are looked after very well out at the camp. Of course the mass production of everything lacks the personal touches, but the food is plentiful and good and I think the American soldiers have a better time in many ways than the Australians. The Americans have taken over such a lot of our large buildings for offices and stores, etc., and when everything is put together I fancy the Japs will get a lively welcome if they show their noses here.

"We used to feel a bit worried about things and at one stage we were all set to evacuate to the country, but now we feel quite confident of what we could do if the Japs dared to come here.

Everyone that can be spared is doing war work. It's really wonderful to see so young a country can rise to such a great occasion. Of course we are restricted in many ways—tea is rationed, and clothing, boots, hats, etc., but we can take it. It's no use having new hats to wear in the blackout anyway!

I guess you read in the papers that Jap subs got into Sydney harbor but did no damage worth mentioning. What a nerve to think they could!

I don't know how you manage over in Texas to get help to farm, because my folks have a farm in Tasmania (an island south of Victoria) and it is absolutely impossible to get men there.

I guess you would get quite a shock if you could see what a lovely spot Australia is. We have some really fine cities. I think your boys were greatly surprised. We have lovely trees and flowers and get lots of sunshine. Even in Sydney the climate is perfect but in Melbourne it is colder now, but in summer often gets up to 100 degrees. The people get very brown and sunburnt swimming. I wish I could tell you many more details, but you realize it is war and we can't go into too many details.

Ray has given me the address of Miss Wilma Russell, and asked me to write to her too. It's never any effort for me to write and I will write to you fairly often as I know how you must worry about your boy. But believe me, there is nothing on earth to worry about at the present. And who knows he may never see a shot fired and we want you to know that he has good friends in us. Our home is his home while in Australia, and both my husband and I would do all we possibly could for him. We like Ray very much and if I had a son so far away from home I would be glad of someone to "mother" him. Do you know he even sleeps here some nights. Ray is very popular with "the boys" and goes around with them usually but I don't think anyone would be likely to lead Ray astray very easily. It's real funny how we get him to do things. He came here last week with a cold in the head and I promptly gave him Acron and made him sniff some stuff. It was real agony on his face to have to do it, but next day he was miles better. And I'm always at him about wearing warm clothes so don't worry. I'll keep him up to it—looking after himself.

Now my dear friend, I feel sure you will be bored to tears on wading through this long letter, but I hope you will write me soon and then I shall write you fairly often and keep you posted about Ray. And, believe me, don't worry too much. There's no need at all. You'll have him back there sooner than you think and what a trip for him to have had. You wouldn't envy him that, would you?

Now I will close, so with all the kindest regards to you and Mr. Halle and family I will write again when I hear from you.

Yours very sincerely,
PATRICIA SMITH.

who recently arrived in Ireland. He wrote in part as follows:
June 12, 1942.

Dearest Mom & Pop:
I hope you haven't been uneasy because I've waited so long to write. You mustn't feel badly, or be uneasy, for I am well and in the best of spirits. However, we both must remember that the distance is much greater between us and that our letters will be more irregular.

I know you will be glad to know that we have landed safely in Northern Ireland. It is a beautiful country, but in many ways, so strange and different from the U. S. A. The people of course speak English, but it's so different from the American way I can hardly understand it. I can never become accustomed to the people and especially their rules of driving. All the automobiles are built with the steering wheel on the right side and they drive on the left side of the road. It's all Dutch to me—I'm afraid I wouldn't make a very good Irishman.

We are having a little trouble learning the English money. For instance, if you were to purchase an item, the clerk might say the price was 2 and 6—meaning two shillings and six pence. The English pound is a paper bill, which is equal to $4.03 American money. We have a lot to learn, or else get cheated, or bumped into.

It is about 9:00 p. m. now and hasn't begun to get dark yet, in fact we only have about three hours of darkness. So far the weather has been pretty, but I understand that ordinarily there is a lot of rain. It is very cold here through the day and at night we sure have to pull cover. . . .

We are unable to buy candy or cigarettes here, so Mom, I want you to be real nice and send me a box of Snicker candy bars, about two writing tablets and envelopes. Make a nice strong box, because it has a long way to come.

I would like to see Bro. Dalton and be with all of you again, but until then I will find comfort in the thought that your prayers are with me—prayers that I feel the need of now more than ever before.

With love,
RAYMOND (JOHNSON).

Mr. and Mrs. Helen Ratliff were here last week end from Brownwood for a visit with his parents. Mr. and Mrs. Wallace Ratliff, and other relatives, a number of "Short" has just been made a staff sergeant at the station hospital at Camp Bowie, where he has been stationed since entering the Army.

James Collier, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. John Collier, stationed with the U. S. Army in Hawaii since May, writes that he is getting along fine. His mother this week entered a subscription for the paper to be sent to him.

Clay Collier, another son, has been stationed at Fort Bliss for two months in training with the medical corps of the Army.

Russell Howerton has been transferred to Camp Ritchie, Maryland, from Camp Blanding, Florida, according to his father, T. E. Howerton, who came in and had the address of his paper changed this week.

Milton Campbell, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ollie Campbell, former Hicoans now living in Alabama, sent word recently that he had "arrived safely at destination." He gets his mail in care of Postmaster, N. Y., according to Miss Ruby Rodgers, his cousin here.

Private Calvin Q. Lively, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Lively of the Gilmore community, wrote recently advising that he was O. K., thanking his parents for sending him the Hico paper each week, and saying he sure enjoys reading it. Pvt. Lively said he was in Alaska, and that it was a pretty place and he liked there fine. After asking about a number of his friends here he said he would like to hear from as many of them as would write. His address is Pfc. Rubin Q. Lively, 38057681, Co. F, 2nd Bn., 58th Inf., APO #48, Postmaster, Seattle, Wash.

NEWS IN THE WORLD OF RELIGION
BY W.W. REID

Partly because of the increasing hours and days of work that prevent many people in war industries from attending church, and partly because it is felt that religious services are needed to keep up the morale of the workers, a growing number of industrial plants throughout the country are planning special church services for their employees. At the Colt Firearms Manufacturing Company's plant in Hartford, Conn., two Catholic masses are being sung each Sunday morning, and Protestant and Jewish services will be held in the evenings, worker's club rooms being used as chapels. The Agerstrand Corporation of Muskegon, Mich., opens each workday with a brief religious service at which the president or invited guests speak. Other concerns, large and small, are conducting or planning to install similar religious services.

and evangelistic work in Japan but recalled because of the war, are now working among the Japanese immigrants and their American-born children under the American flag. Some of them are in the reclamation centers to which the U. S. Army has moved thousands of Japanese from the Pacific coast, some are in churches and schools in California, Washington, Idaho, Arizona, Wyoming, Colorado, and in Hawaii, while still others are working in the placement of Japanese-American students in colleges and schools in the central states. These missionaries hope to return to Japan after the war.

hundredfold in price," he says. "We are working with the Red Cross to try to get more drugs. Some have been allocated to us for months but are stuck somewhere along the road. We may get them yet, but the cost will be tremendous. . . . Yet never have the people been so open-minded about accepting modern medicine in place of the old-fashioned Chinese herb drugs."

First Official Review of Women's Army

Mrs. Ovetta Culp Hobby, commander of the WAAC, holds the first review of the U. S. women's army at Fort Des Moines Iowa, as 836 women begin their military training for non-combatant duty. This is the first army of its type in U. S. history and represents the vanguard of an expected enlistment of 25,000 officers and "privates."

"Mother" (Mrs. Janet) Roper, for many years head of the missing seamen's bureau of the Seamen's Church Institute, South Street, New York City, recently celebrated the 53rd anniversary of her service with the Institute. She is said to know more seamen than does any other man in the world. In her years with the bureau, she has helped in the location of more than 6,400 seamen reported missing by relatives or friends—men of many nations and races. Members of the merchant marine gave Mrs. Roper a party and presented her with a full-rigged schooner encased in a thin-necked bottle.

The basic social problem in Africa, and a serious one in America and elsewhere the world over, is that of race and color adjustments, according to Dr. Emory Ross, secretary of the Foreign Missions Conference of North America and a former missionary to Africa. "This is a problem to be settled in America as well as in Africa," says Dr. Ross. "It is essentially a white problem. It is the attitude of the white people to the people of color, and our acts to them as well, that makes the problem. It is when we take attitudes of superiority to men of color that the problem arises. If for no other reason than for our defense and to make certain of our winning the war, we white people should revise our attitudes toward people of color."

Seventeen young women, missionaries of the Methodist Church, formerly assigned to educational

With only 47,000,000 of India's 288,000,000 people able to read and write, as revealed by the 1941 census, the National Christian Council of India has begun a campaign to promote adult literacy, especially among the Christian people. It is reported that less than half of those in the Christian church are literate. Miss Ruth Ure, literacy secretary of the Council, is urging that the churches have a policy that "all adult Christians be made literate within two years of Baptism, thus recognizing that reading the Bible is essential to the full spiritual heritage of Christians." The materials and methods for adult literacy campaigns in

Horace Ward, known among his associates as the "Dean of Washington's Sales Engineers," shown as he testified before the house naval affairs committee, scratching his head trying to recall some of the hazy facts regarding his "services" which earned him about $400,000 in the past 18 months.

Make Your Car Last Longer!

- By having the chassis lubricated each 1000 miles.
- Have the front wheel bearings cleaned and repacked each 10,000 miles.
- Universal joints on some cars require packing each 5,000 to 10,000 miles. Do not neglect them, they cost money.

You pay for a lubrication job on your car even though you do not have it done. Worn parts will cost the difference.
