Ev'rybody Ev'ry Pay Day

6,000,000 Women Enrolled in War Savings Payroll Plan.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Women At War Week, opening Nov. 22, during which women will seek to set the greatest single week's volume of War Bonds and Stamps will serve to put the spotlight on the mighty contribution women generally are making toward financing the war.

Six million women are on War Savings payroll plans. Their monthly deductions total $70,000,000.

The customers of 300,000 newspaper boys who have sold more than $50,000,000 in War Bonds and Stamps are mostly women.

Volunteer saleswomen run nearly all the Bond booths in theatres from Maine to California. They also are sparking the War Bond sales in retail stores.

Ralph G. Engelsman, Associate Field Director of the payroll savings section of the War Savings Staff, readily admits that without the support of women the phenomenal record of payroll savings enrollments would not have been achieved. Payroll savings plans are now in operation in 148,000 businesses and factories. Employees of twenty-five thousand of these firms are converting at least 10 percent of gross payrolls into War Bonds every payday.

Associate Field Director Engelsman says that women have contributed directly and indirectly toward this record. When a man devoted 10 or more percent of his pay envelope to War bonds, the woman at home has had a powerful voice in the decision. Her planning, her economies and her cheerfulness play their part in the success of payroll savings.

The Treasury Department is counting upon this woman influence in its current campaign to "top that 10 percent by New Year's." By the first of the year the Treasury hopes first of all to have 3,000,000 women workers in a payroll savings plan and 5,000,000 more men with total deductions for War Bonds over the 10 percent mark.

'This Is My Fight Too'

Proud of her investment in the American way of life and equally proud of the grime of war production on her face and arms, the young lady in this "Women At War Week" poster symbolizes two of the chief activities of women at war.

Record War Bond Sales Is Goal Of Women At War Week Nov. 22

WASHINGTON, D. C.—America's women in the cities and on the farms—in war factories and in their homes—are determined to make Women At War Week the greatest War Bond selling effort since Pearl Harbor.

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt sounded the keynote for the Treasury Department's Women At War Week, Nov. 22 to 28, with an appeal to women to save on "little things" to provide money for War Bonds.

"We women want to work hard, we want to be a part of this strenuous period because unless we are, we will not be able to face the men when they return and claim our share of the future responsibility for building a peaceful world," the First Lady declared.

The overall direction of Women At War Week rests with the Women's Section of the War Savings Staff under the leadership of Miss Harriet Elliott, Associate Field Director, and Mrs. Henry Morgenthau, Jr., Chief of the Special Activities Unit.

From coast to coast women in every community have made plans for torchlight parades, fashion shows, teas, rallies, store window displays, Stamp and Bond booths, pageants, civic sings, balls and mardi gras. In each locality administration of the one week drive rests with the local War Savings Committee which has worked out activities adapted to their areas.

Mrs. Morgenthau, in a special message for Women At War Week, declared that the spirit of America's pioneer women lives today more strongly than ever.

"The average American woman began to rise to new heights on Sunday, Dec. 7, 1941," Mrs. Morgenthau said. "This winter the average American woman will be spending less in order to save more to invest in War Bonds and Stamps. She will not, please God, ever have to fire a gun or fly a bomber. But she will, please God, always do everything she can to help buy anything—and the best of everything—that fires or flies or floats in this terrible war."

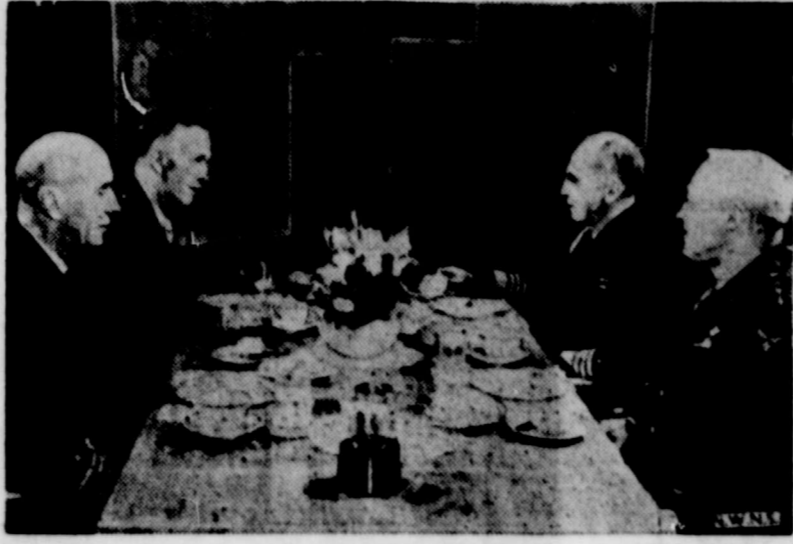

WOMEN AT WAR—Overalls, wrenches and drills replace fineries as these war workers in an Army Arsenal march to tank repair shops. Note the determination on their faces. These women are typical of hundreds of thousands who are working in war factories and investing part of their earnings in War Bonds.

4-H ACHIEVEMENT WEEK

Some 150 4-H Club girls have signed and sent in their Victory Demonstration Pledge Cards showing they are helping in the war effort by carrying on a Victory Demonstration. This pledge is as follows:

"As a Victory Demonstrator doing my best to help win the war I will produce food, feed and fiber to assure good health for myself, my family and others.

"I will take good care of everything I use—food, clothes, furnishings, equipment, machinery, buildings, livestock, and the soil as well as scarce articles such as rubber and metals.

"I will buy carefully anything I must have and will buy U. S. War Stamps or Bonds with all the money I can.

"I will work hard with my family and neighbors and help people to be cheerful, to have courage and to take part in all war activities."

Since this is National 4-H Achievement Week we have been checking up some to see what the girls are doing to keep this pledge.

Every 4-H club girl is trying to be cheerful in assuming more responsibility on the farm and in the home and helping others to be cheerful.

Each of the 10 members in the Liberty 4-H club is a Victory demonstrator and each one has a war-saving stamp book which she is trying to fill so it can be converted into a bond. Those girls have collected 935 pounds of scrap metal, 500 pounds of paper and old rags, 1,870 pounds of scrap rubber. They help in planting and caring for the home gardens and

This week is time to come up for a good look around, and see how you're getting along, to reset your sights and try to do a finer job for yourself, your family, and your country.

NEW WRINKLES IN CANNING CHICKEN

All those "star boarders" neck culling out of the poultry flock and should be canned right away. Canned chicken on the pantry shelf will help stretch the two-and-a-half-pound-per-person meat ration of red meat.

Two-year-old chickens are better for canning than the younger ones. The reason is, long processing and high temperature destroy much of the flavor and texture of young birds. So, roast the younger ones for Sunday dinner and can the two-year-olds.

There's a new wrinkle in canning chicken this year. The chicken can be packed raw in the cans for the processing period. Use 1-2 teaspoon salt to a No. 1 can, exhaust 25 to 35 minutes (if shrinkage in chicken, add more broth). Seal at once and process immediately. Chicken with bone, No. 1 can should be processed 50 minutes at 15 pounds pressure.

SHARE THE MEAT

The government's share-the-meat campaign, a voluntary program for consumers, aims at a fair division of available supplies among those who need them, until a system of card rationing can be set up to achieve the same purpose arbitrarily. Meat rationing is not expected until early 1943.

The two and one-half pounds of beef, lamb and pork allowed per adult per week is sufficient for an adequate diet, provided other necessary foods are included. But if you are terribly fond of meat flavor and miss it for that reason more than any other, read the flavor of meat by mixing it with other foods. Cereal foods such as bread stuffings, hominy, rice, macaroni are good "meat extenders." Vegetables can extend the flavor of meat in stews, chops, chowders and pot roasts. With meat rationing many homemakers will learn to become more thrifty with leftovers. They will need to save all left-over meat, gravy, or drippings and make broth of the bones. Left-over cooked meat can be sliced and served cold or in a salad. Or, it can be combined with other foods in appetizing hot dishes such as browned hash, meat pie, stuffed peppers, croquettes, and chop suey.

It will also pay housewives to make greater use of kidneys, heart, brains, and poultry, and other varieties of meats which are not included in the "sharing allowance." Like other more familiar meats, these are good protein foods and are an especially rich source of iron and the B vitamins.

HOUSE AND HOME

By Mary E. Dague

By MARY E. DAGUE
Author of Sister Mary's Kitchen.

Have you decided on the stuffing you will use for your Thanksgiving fowl? Because after all the stuffing means almost as much as the bird itself and acts as a very definite extender. Aside from this the stuffing must be just right to bring out the finest flavor of the chicken or turkey or duck or whatever you choose for the annual feast.

While old-fashioned bread stuffing is good with most all kinds of fowl, certain varieties are especially suited to duck and goose. For example, onion stuffing with a potato foundation is a favorite for goose but too savory for the more delicately flavored meat of chicken or turkey. Piquant fruit stuffings are delicious for duck but not suitable for chicken and turkey.

Bread stuffing forms the basis for any number of other good fillings. By the addition of oysters, sausage, celery, chestnuts, onions, mushrooms, apples and prunes you can change the plain stuffing to suit your needs.

When it comes to seasoning you must consider the family's likes and dislikes. Onion may ruin the stuffing for some member but sage may spoil it for another. A mixture of sweet pot-herbs used sagaciously makes for savorniness without imparting the strong flavor that will overpower the meat.

As to quantity—it will take at least a loaf of bread for a medium sized fowl and up to two loaves for an eight-pound turkey. Order the bread a day or two before you plan to use it because you can't make a light, fluffy stuffing with fresh bread.

Another forethought that makes for less rush for Thanksgiving morning is to stuff the fowl and have him all ready for the oven on Wednesday.

Plain Bread Stuffing.

One loaf stale bread, 2 teaspoons salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/4 cup melted butter or margarine, 2 eggs, hot water or hot milk.

The eggs can be omitted but if the stuffing will be served cold after the main dinner, you will find the eggs an improvement.

Crumbs bread coarsely, discarding crust. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and add melted butter, tossing crumbs lightly with a fork to mix thoroughly. Thorough mixing at this point insures a light fluffy dressing. Add eggs well beaten and mix lightly with fork. Add 1/2 cup boiling water or hot milk and mix lightly. Cover and let stand 10 minutes. The dressing should be as moist as wanted for serving, so if it isn't as moist as you like it add a few more tablespoons of hot liquid. Fill cavity of bird with stuffing and sew up the opening with a strong soft cord.

AWARDED MEDAL: Sister Elizabeth Kenny of Queensland, Australia, is the winner of this year's medal awarded by Parents' Magazine for outstanding service to children. She received the award for her valuable contribution to the better treatment of children with infantile paralysis. Sister Kenny ("Sister" by the way, means "nurse" in Australia) explained to representatives of the press that here is not a treatment of the old symptoms of the disease, but is based on an entirely new concept of the symptoms. And that concept, judging from the results, is a sound one. Sister Kenny came to America in 1940 and was invited to demonstrate her method at the University of Missouri where the Elizabeth Kenny Institute has been founded to continue her work under her personal supervision. Asked whether she would return to Australia, Sister Kenny said she would do so only when she felt America was ready to carry on her work.

Meanwhile, the WAACS' director, Mrs. Oveta Culp Hobby, has been studying the British auxiliary services. She was recently quoted as saying that she had learned a great deal and would probably have some recommendations to make to the war department based on her observations.

CHAPTER IV

SYNOPSIS

Gary Tallman, a young petroleum engineer on his way to a job in Mexico, sets as far as Texas where he is given a ride by Mona Lee Mason. They have an accident, and Gary is seriously injured. Mona Lee takes him to her home. Before he has recovered sufficiently to go on to Mexico, Gary discovers evidence of oil on the Mason ranch. He tells Harvey and Mona Lee's husband, but warns him that drilling is expensive and may be useless. Now Gary and Adelaide Mason are on their way to Dallas to get a map.

At least, Gary told himself in the morning, he had this day. The sun was golden; the prairie blazed with bloom; bluebonnets brought the sky down and spread it in deep splendor over the earth. . . . and Adelaide had a saucy little curl in front of her ear that blew about in the breeze and danced when she laughed. She sang softly as she drove, and scolded every vagrant dog and jalopy driver that slowed down her skimming speed.

Gary sat back and held his happiness close, keeping silent lest it burst before his eyes like the rain-bow bubble that it was. No matter what came—he had this day. They had lunch at a little roadside place before they reached the city. Gary had some money. He insisted on paying for the lunch.

"You hunt the map, Gary. I'm going to buy some hats," Adelaide announced, when they had left the car in a parking lot.

Adelaide hurried away. She felt exhilarated and made over new. Life would be very gay and changed and exciting if they found oil on the ranch. She would be an oil heiress—the idea intrigued her. She had a little. The oil heiress she knew had gorgeous clothes and furs and jewelry—but somehow they hadn't very much fun. Men—young men, stood off from them a little. And the proud ones kept quite far away.

Like Gary. She liked Gary—he could, she suspected, care for Gary a lot, but he was proud, too. He wanted to make his own way, and that was admirable and fine, but exasperating. Gary would never let himself fall in love with an oil heiress.

Adelaide was feeling sober when she went back to the car and found Gary sitting there, studying the map that was spread across his knees.

"Put that away," she said abruptly. "Somehow I don't enthuse about oil, but I do about hats."

"What happened? Did you get an extortion note?"

"Gary, there will be things like that—if we strike oil, won't there?"

"One oil well won't make you rich. Are all these things yours?"

"Have him put them in the rumble. I didn't buy so very much. Just a few things I needed—three hats and a couple of dresses. Gave the boy a quarter, will you? I spent the last cent I had for some vanilla cream. Dad will grumble when he sees the bill—but he always grumbles. I always have to give quite a lot of things in the spring."

She saw Gary's face close up in a queer, withdrawn way. Men, she thought wearily, were so touchy. Just because she had bought three hats was no reason why Gary should be remote and silent for fifty miles. She grew a little snappish about it.

"You're not terribly entertaining, are you? I could have brought a wooden Indian along—after all, it's spring and all the little flowers are blooming."

"I know it's spring," said Gary, not looking at her. "And in Mexico it's summer."

"I think," she said, grimly, "that you are being very obstinate to keep talking about Mexico, Gary Tallman. You know what a big innocent Dad is. If he sets his head about this oil business he's going to need—somebody."

"He can hire oil men. The bushes are full of them."

"Do you have to be nasty?" demanded Adelaide, red spots riding up into her cheeks. "You could have talked all day and not said a thing like that."

"I'm sorry. I'm not being nasty. I'm simply facing things—as they are, Adelaide. If I have any influence with your father at all, I'll use it to try to persuade him not to wildcat a well down, if it turns out that there is oil under his land. He can lease and keep his royalties—and let somebody else take all the grief."

"He won't do it. He'll be excited and want to go after the oil himself—and then just anything can happen. Don't you like us, Gary? Don't you want to stay?"

"Great Scott, Adelaide—don't you know I like you—too much? And do home for a visit. They retain their interest in Hico and its people and activities, as evidenced by one paragraph of their letter as follows: "Boy, were we glad that old Currie was playing in the game where the Tigers beat Hamilton! At least one of us brothers was playing when we beat them. Write and tell us about the games, also send a paper."

They also added, "Oh yes, saw little Boozie (Hefer) the other day. He's the biggest thing, we hardly knew him. He's a third-class yeoman."

After a few more remarks about personal business and family affairs, the boys wound up by saying, "We love you, Mother and Daddy, and also Currie, with all our hearts."

H. Brown. Grady's wife is remaining for the present at Houston, where she has employment.

STEPHENVILLE HONORS MUTT PRICE OF HICO

(Stephenville Empire-Tribune)

Stephenville had the honor and pleasure Wednesday of greeting again one of her favored sons, Staff Sergeant E. M. (Mutt) Price, United States Army—Air Corps bombardier, of Tampa, Fla., who during his short training at bombardier air schools, has already won nationwide recognition for himself and his country by winning first place in bomber practice at Lawson Field near Fort Benning, Ga., his score ranking highest of any in the United States.

This reputation won for Sgt. Price the recognition of March of Time and an invitation to appear on one of their radio programs. With all expenses paid, he flew from Tampa, Fla., for a presentation on the March of Time program broadcast the night of July 30 over NBC from Rockefeller Center, Radio City New York Sgt. Price shared honors on this program with Lieutenant Notowitz of Missouri who was back in the United States after several months of service with the RAF in London, England.

Home on furlough this week with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. C. Price, former Stephenville residents who have lived for the past four years in Hico, Sergeant Price with other members of his family, including two sisters and brothers-in-law from distant points in the state, came Wednesday morning to Stephenville, their former home, where an informal luncheon was held at 1:00 p. m. at the Onyx Cafe in his honor.

Seated at one long table the family, beaming with pride, focused every attention on the young son and hero seated at the table at the right of his mother who presided as hostess at the affair. Talk ran rife throughout the meal, all being eager to hear everything the young hero had to say and to ask innumerable questions about his work for fear that something would be forgotten in the stress of knowing that his stay was drawing all too near to a close. ## CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation to our friends and neighbors for all the deeds of kindness, words of comfort and floral offerings during the illness and at the death of our mother.

THE HEFER CHILDREN AND THEIR FAMILIES.

See the difference BEFORE you buy!

DO YOU like to know what you're getting before you buy? If you do, come in and see the hogs we're raising in our store. They're litter mates. About 2 months ago we started one on straight grain and the other on grain supplemented with Purina Hog Chow.

You can easily see that the "grain-and-Hog Chow" hog is way ahead of the "straight grain" pig. Looks like he'll weigh twice as much in another month. Yet his cost per 100 lbs. of gain is considerably lower!

Come in, folks, and see for yourself. Lots of farmers drop in every week or so to "watch 'em grow."

24,120 New Workers Enter Employment Under Social Security

Waco, Nov. 5.—From January to September 30, 1942, a total of 24,120 new workers entered employment in the Waco area of the Social Security Board. The area includes the counties of McLennan, Hill, Bell, Navarro, Leon, Freestone, Limestone, Coryell, Hamilton, Falls and Bosque. These figures are based on the number of new social security account numbers issued by the Waco office of the board, according to a statement by Gordon James, manager. The great majority of the new account numbers were issued to workers in defense plants in and near Waco. However, it was explained, this number does not represent the total of new employees in defense plants since many workers employed already had account numbers.

In addition to the issuance of almost 25,000 account numbers to new employees within the nine-month period, James' office issued a total of 552 duplicate account number cards to workers who, through carelessness or by accident, had lost their original cards. It costs the Social Security Board to issue these duplicate account number cards than to issue the original cards since the application for a duplicate number must be carefully checked against the original records. This action is necessary to insure that all wages received by the individual be posted to the same account. Workers should realize the importance of their account number cards and avoid misplacing them because it costs the Government time and money to replace them. In addition, it causes many workers to lose time that is greatly needed in the war effort.

James asked each worker to show his social security account number to each employer for whom he works, regardless of the length of time during which he is employed. He also emphasized the fact that the more a wage earner receives in wages the more his insurance checks will be when he retires. James asked each worker to show his social security account number to each employer for whom he works, regardless of the length of time during which he is employed. November Expected to Be Banner Month In Navy Enlistments

Spiking all rumors to the effect that voluntary enlistments in the Navy soon will be halted, Lieut. L. H. Ridout Jr., officer in charge of the North Texas Naval recruiting district, announced this week that November is expected to be another banner month for enlistments, and called on every citizen in this area to cooperate in recruiting additional men and boys for our vast two-ocean Navy.

The Dallas district enjoyed its third biggest month in history, with enlistments totaling 2,763 during October, Lieut. Ridout said. "The Navy still needs men, and needs them urgently." Lieut. Ridout pointed out. "We can still take men as volunteers up to the time of their actual induction into any other branch of the service. Applicants for the Navy can still join if they are 3A or 1A." The Navy's overseas construction battalions, known as the Seabees, have been thrown wide open for enlistments, and ratings now are available to almost every man between the ages of 17 and 60 with experience in a construction trade. Interviews to Seabees applicants were to be granted at the Dallas station only seven days this month, on Nov. 2, 3, 4, and on Nov. 17, 18, 19 and 20, Lieut. Ridout warned. Applicants must first report for a physical exam, bringing with them two letters from responsible persons, listing their experience in their respective trades. For the month of October, the total Navy enlistment figure in Waco recruiting district was 184, as compared with its quota of 374.

BIGGER AND BETTER POLITICS

Now that the elections are over, let us hope that politics can at last be sidetracked for the duration of the war.

By side-tracking politics, we are speaking of the kind of politics whereby a man in office puts his party ambitions ahead of the interests of his country.

NEW RULES FOR BOMBS

WORK . . . profit

If earning a living is looked at from a purely selfish viewpoint, there is practically no use in working any more.

PENILESS . . . expenses

Evidently Uncle Sam hasn't had much experience in bringing up children, when he allows only $350 as an income tax deduction for each child.

OPTIMIST . . . assets

This method of figuring, of course, would be engaged in only by an entirely selfish and pessimistic individual.

WASTE . . . results

Paying taxes to the government may often seem like throwing money into a bottomless pit.

The total annual value of Texas cottonseed products, once dumped at the gins as waste, exceeded $50,000,000.

'HEALTH CERTIFIED' SERVANTS

Many families which never before have entrusted the care of the children to outsiders are finding it necessary to do so nowadays for one of many current reasons.

A campaign of education is needed to prove to workers that there are advantages to themselves in periodic health check-ups.

By LYTLE HULL Those 'Good' Germans

When the German army started this war by marching into Poland and murdering everyone in sight, a lot of us in this country blamed Hitler and his loyal gang of cutthroats without denouncing the German people.

We had the feeling that the old German constant were a humane, peace-loving group who were powerless to do anything to curb the wildman who had suddenly become their nominal leader.

But the drug which those soldiers of Hitler use is not a narcotic of the ordinary variety—it's a mental poison which has been applied by their school teachers, by their club leaders and by the black magic of Hitler and his de-educators.

The Girl He Left Behind

The Mirror

SENIOR NEWS

I guess you people think our reporter has sorta fallen down on her job. Well, I suppose she has, but I'll try not to let it happen again.

Our football team went to Gorman last Thursday, Nov. 5, and although we were defeated 25-0 the football team is greatly appreciated by the Seniors as well as everyone in school.

We were very sorry to lose our superintendent, Mr. Pinson, but after all I suppose Uncle Sam needs him worse than we do. We are proud of Mr. Lasater who took his place, also of Mrs. Pinson who took Mr. Lasater's position as our principal. We wish Mr. Pinson all the luck in the world and we hope Mrs. Pinson will be pleased to find our high school students so pleasant to work with.

Since some of our Mirror readers aren't very well acquainted with some of our dignified Seniors, each week one will be interviewed and by this way, you people can learn each of us.

Our first, Milburn Knudson, not only a "lady's man" or should I say, very popular among all the students as well as the girls, is also our "Football Captain." As I said before, he is liked by everyone, and now what does he like?

His favorite hobby? Milking a cow (rather, trying to).

And last, but not least, his favorite girl friend? He says it's Joyce Gandy, but from all of our school gossip going around, we hear that Mary Alice Crist is running her a very close race. What about it, Milburn?

He is an all-around student and when he finishes school he plans on being drafted.

"THROUGH THE KEYHOLE" Some of these Sophomore girls are doing extra well, having two dates in one night. What say, Virginia?

It seems that our fair Jimmie Thompson was also invited to the Scout party. It is left up to you to guess who invited her.

Margaret Bankhead sprung a new boy friend on us Saturday night. Why don't you let us in on your secrets, M. B.?

Betty Carlton has moved from our fair city of Hico to the more greener fields of Stephenville. Here's wishing you good luck, Betty.

JUNIOR NEWS

We have lost another member from our ever-dwindling class. Betty Carlton left us last week to move to Stephenville. In her place, we now have Fred Ray Hyles who hasn't been with us for quite a while. We are glad to have you back, Fred Ray.

Monday afternoon we were entertained with an assembly program by the Homemaking department. It was an interesting play which showed the difference in a family when it doesn't eat the right foods and when it does. The players were Mary Jane Barrow, Mildred Rellihan, James Bobo, Mary Nell Jones, Virginia Coston, Clovis Grant, and a guest from ward school, Wilma Joyce Woodard.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

A shadow has recently fallen on the Sophomore class. We were grieved and sorrowed at the passing of our friend and member, Barton Everett. Our hearts were burdened to realize he would no longer be among us. But our hearts were gladdened to realize that his suffering and pain were ended and that in the world he has just departed to we shall meet him once again.

"Nothing that truly lives can ever die." Barton was an example of true life; therefore he can never really die. His memory will always be with us and the many happy experiences of his fourteen happy years shall remain to give us joy. In passing this milestone the Sophomores have grown a little greater in spirit, a little nearer to God and a little richer in their everyday existence. And this, we know, is as Barton would want it.

Young Children Need Protection From Winter Ills

Austin, Nov. 11.—In discussing seasonal health hazards for young children this week, Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, stated that babies and young children need as careful protection now against winter complaints as they do in hot summer weather against "summer complaint."

Influenza, tonsillitis, pneumonia, bronchitis, and asthma are included among those diseases which may be dangerous winter illnesses among young children since they affect the respiratory or breathing system. Such diseases as pneumonia may develop from a neglected cold, they may follow as an after-effect of measles or whooping cough, or they may occur suddenly and with very little warning. These diseases of the respiratory system are more prevalent in winter than in summer and are much more difficult to combat than digestive ailments such as summer complaint.

"These winter diseases are particularly dangerous to babies and young children," Dr. Cox stated. "Nearly all of them are spread through the secretions from the nose and mouth. Children not in vigorous health are naturally more susceptible to these complaints and the first line of defense," Dr. Cox cautioned, "is to strengthen the powers of resistance against disease; the second is to keep them under medical supervision and the third is to make sure they avoid contact with others who have coughs, colds, or fevers."

Recruiting Officer Wants to Interview Prospective WAACs

Many women who are qualified and interested in serving in the Women's Army Auxiliary Corps fall to do so because they lack sufficient information concerning the duties, qualifications, pay, and benefits derived from this non-combatant organization.

For the benefit of those desiring information concerning the WAAC, the city of Brownwood is going to have as a guest a WAAC officer on November 17 who will supply this information.

If you have any questions concerning this organization or desire enlistment thereto, Sgt. Hess, local recruiting officer who is stationed at the Memorial Hall will be glad to help you contact this WAAC officer.

A WARTIME APPEAL TO CIVILIANS

CONSERVE

Your Doctor's Time and Energy...

As more and more doctors join the armed forces, the problem of serving civilian needs becomes critical. Only through voluntary rationing of medical care will everyone be served satisfactorily. Follow these suggestions:

● Go to your doctor's office if you can. Avoid home calls whenever possible.

● Phone for house calls early in the morning if possible so your doctor can plan calls efficiently.

● Help your doctor protect his health. He must have his regular sleep and meals.

● Be patient. Your doctor is very busy.

● Don't neglect early signs of sickness and try to "wait out" obvious symptoms.

● Use the phone in minor cases. Let your doctor decide if a call is necessary.

Navy Makes Urgent Appeal to Youths For Special Training

An earnest appeal to the youth of America is being made by the United States Navy.

Young men, and especially those just out of high school, are urgently needed to fill the numerous vacancies which exist in the Navy's numerous trade schools. Because of the increase in Navy personnel, men with specialized training, and qualified candidates for the specialized courses taught in the Navy are in great demand at the present time.

Boys, who only a few short months ago were attending high school and who now are anxious to either complete their education or learn some useful trade are especially invited to investigate the advantages offered by the Navy, and it is to such boys that the Navy offers the best training available.

Forty-nine different trades are taught in the Navy's schools, and each man is trained for a particular job. If the recruit is not sent to trade school immediately, he is furnished with prepared Navy courses, and studies under the able direction of the officers over him, at Naval bases or on board ship.

In the Navy's modern and completely-equipped training schools boys are taught such subjects as radar operation or special radio equipment, aerography, radio, music, machinery, electricity, telegraphy, metal working, and so forth.

Lieut. L. H. Ridout Jr., officer in charge of the North Texas Naval recruiting district, has urged that all young men faced with the prospect of being called into service in the near future investigate fully the Navy's plan for vocational training, at the nearest Navy recruiting station.

U. S. Navy recruiting stations are located at Dallas, Abilene, Amarillo, Big Spring, Fort Worth, Longview, Lubbock, Paris, San Angelo, Sherman, Tyler, Waco and Wichita Falls. Also in Brownwood, Childress, Corsicana, Eastland, Mt. Pleasant, Graham, Nacogdoches, Rusk and Brady.
