Byrnes Charts World Must-Nots

Says U. S. Will Fight Aggression To Keep Peace

NEW YORK —(P)— Secretary of State Byrnes, declaring the United States intends to prevent aggression, by force if necessary, charted a course of conduct Friday for relations among the world's great and small powers.

He tempered his remarks with the assertion that he was "convinced that there is no reason for war between any of the great powers," and added that only an "inexcusable tragedy of errors could cause serious conflict between this country and Russia."

Calling for a "stop to this maneuvering for strategic advantages over the world and to the use of one adjustment as an opening wedge for further and undisclosed penetrations of power," Byrnes in addressing the Overseas Press Club Thursday night, laid down this seven-point list of "must nots" for the world's nations:

1. "We will not and we cannot stand aloof if force or the threat of force is used contrary to the purposes of the (United Nations) Charter.
2. "We have no right to hold our troops in the territories of other sovereign states without their approval and consent freely given.
3. "We must not unduly prolong the making of peace and continue to impose our troops upon small and impoverished nations.
4. "No power has a right to help itself to alleged enemy properties in liberated or ex-satellite countries before a reparations settlement has been agreed upon by the Allies."
5. "We must not conduct a war of nerves to achieve strategic ends.
6. "We do not want to stumble and stagger into situations where no power intends war, but no power will be able to avert war.
7. "We must not regard the drawing of attention to situations, which might endanger the peace as an affront to the nation or nations responsible for those situations."

He listed the program without specifically mentioning any individual power.

Byrnes outlined the course immediately after saying that the United States "openly, gladly and wholeheartedly welcomed" Russia as a great power "second to none," and that the two nations could live together as partners "despite the differences in our way of life."

"The charter forbids and we cannot allow aggression to be accomplished by coercion or pressure or by subterfuges such as political infiltrations.

"We must make it clear in advance that we do intend to act to prevent aggression, making it clear at the same time that we will not use force for any other purpose."

Kaiser Testifies OPA Is Necessary To Avoid Inflation

WASHINGTON —(P)— Henry J. Kaiser told Congress Friday that removal of price controls "would spell ruin for the great mass of mankind which has only limited purchasing power."

The West Coast industrialist made the forecast while urging the House Banking Committee to approve legislation to continue OPA.

Kaiser declared abolition of the agency would result in "inflation of disastrous proportions x x x throughout the whole field of production and distribution x x x laying its heaviest toll on those who are the least able to bear it."

He said he agreed with opponents of price control that the best way to avoid inflation is to insure full production, but he added:

"There is, as yet, no convincing argument that full production must await removal of price controls."

"The best way to increase production will be to stop bickering and go to work, with all sides ready to give and take in the all-important effort to raise production to the level of demand."

Kaiser took sharp issue with the National Association of Manufacturers for its full-page newspaper advertisements urging abandonment of controls.

Soviets Fire On Navy Plane

U. S. CRAFT FLEW OVER PORT ARTHUR AIR BASE —

Authorities In China Protest

WASHINGTON —(P)— Government officials said Friday two Russian fighter planes recently fired on a United States patrol plane after it flew over the Soviet airbase area at Port Arthur.

These officials, who declined direct attribution, said some damage was done to the Navy plane, but none of the eight officers and men aboard was injured.

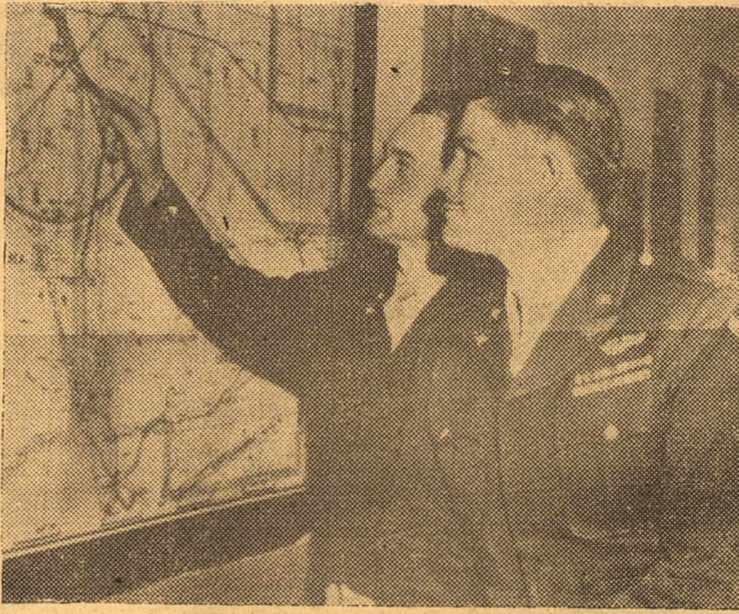

The incident was said to have occurred off the China Coast.

The Navy is reported to have taken the matter up with Russian authorities in the China area. The Russians are said here to contend that the American plane had no right to fly over the Port Arthur area, since it is a fortified zone.

Best information here is that the American craft did not return the fire. An official report may be issued on the affair.

The view generally expressed at the State Department is that the Russians may have been within their rights to take the action they did, and that even though he may have lost his bearings the American pilot had no legal right to fly over the area.

Famous Bombardiers Train For Test

The eyes of the world will focus in May on a spot in the South Pacific at which these two atom-bomb bombardiers will have a ring-side seat. They are shown gazing at a map of the bombing ranges near their Roswell, N. M., A-bomb base where preliminary plans are being worked out.

Capt. Kermit D. Beahan, right, bombardier on the plane which dropped the bomb on Nagasaki, Japan, discusses the project in the Bikini Atolls with Maj. Thomas W. Ferebee, bombardier of the Hiroshima, Japan, expedition. Both of these men want the Bikini test.

TPC&O Is To Test Winkler Wildcat's Petroleum Shows

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Texas Pacific Coal & Oil Company No. 1 Brown & Altman, Central Winkler possible wildcat discovery for production in the Holt, middle Permian, was preparing to perforate casing at 4,765-4,810 feet, and test for oil and gas.

This interval is the section where operator recovered oil and gas cut drilling mud, and some free oil, in a drillstem test, while the prospector was being drilled.

Operator tested several sections between the zone now under investigation, and total depth at 6,255 feet in lower Permian. Each of those tests developed salty, sulphur water.

Phillips Petroleum Company No. 1-M University, Northwest Andrews County exploration to 8,000 feet to test oil and gas, and 665 feet from south and 1,983 feet from east lines of section 31, block 13, University survey, was to drill ahead from 7,000 feet, in the Tubb, lower Permian.

It ran a drillstem test for one hour at 6,883-7,000 feet. Recovery was 90 feet of free oil; 2,700 feet of oil cut mud, and 90 feet of mud.

This project is one location north of Mid-Continent Petroleum Corporation No. 1-15 University, Devonian discovery, and is one quarter of a mile north and one half a mile west of Gulf Oil Corporation No. 1-Z University, which was making hole below 7,989 feet, in line. That project had shown a large amount of free oil in the Tubb horizon.

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-B Cowden, East Crane County wildcat, in southwest corner of section 14, block X, CCSD&RGNG survey, was bottomed at 6,551 feet, in shale and lime, and was to take a drillstem test.

Humble No. 2 Tucker, Southwest Crane exploration in section 31, block 1, H&TC survey, about 1,905 feet west of a gas well in the Crane County section of the Abell field, ran a drillstem test at 6,041-6,123 feet.

The tester was open 44 minutes, and shut in 16 minutes, before operator started pulling drill pipe. There was a good blow of air throughout the period.

Recovery was 90 feet of drilling mud, slightly cut with oil and gas, and 240 feet of mud, showing oil and gas and 90 feet of mud, with no shows. No water was reported. A re-test of approximately the same section was to be taken Friday.

Still Trying

Stanolind Oil & Gas Company and Shell Oil Company, Inc., No. 1 Waddell, East Winkler County exploration, in section 8, block B-7, psl survey, and northwest of the Wheeler field, which has tested the Devonian and the Silurian, extensively, was to treat with 3,000 gallons of acid through 120 perforations in casing at 9,240-90 feet, over drilled out total depth of 9,350 feet.

Cities Service Oil Company No. 1 Parker, Central Ector County wildcat to test the Ordovician, in section 20, block 44, TP survey, T-2-S, failed to regain circulation by plugging back to 9,450 feet, from total depth reached of 10,254 feet in Mississippian lime and shale, and had run a 75-sack cement.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

WASHINGTON —(AP)— The United States government is expected by diplomatic officials here to protest to Russia against the newly announced plan of keeping Red Army forces in so-called "disturbed" areas of Iran.

LONDON —(AP)— A four-power commission to recommend the new line of the Italian-Yugoslav border was dispatched to Trieste Friday, carrying instructions which an authoritative source said permitted it to go anywhere in the disputed Venezia-Giulia area.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A Los Angeles advertising man, Chet Crank, testified Friday that Edwin W. Pauley's Petrol Corporation paid the salaries of two California state legislators he employed for five months in 1939 and 1940.

Soviet Is Invited To Send Representative To Talk Over Plan

WASHINGTON —(P)— The United States has invited the Soviets to come here and talk over a $1,000,000,000 loan.

This was disclosed Friday by a high ranking government official as President Truman told Congress he soon would recommend adding $1,250,000,000 to the lending powers of the Export-Import Bank to take care of loans to countries other than Britain.

Truman's message said Treasury funds will be loaned only to Britain—providing Congress approves a projected $3,750,000,000 credit. Other borrowers will have to go to the Export-Import Bank.

The proposed British credit was described as a "unique precedent" for loans of Treasury funds to other countries.

Expansion of the Export-Import Bank's lending authority by $1,250,000,000 would give the government-backed institution a total of $3,250,000,000 to handle applications through June 30, 1948.

The declaration of Administration policy on foreign lending came on the eve of arrival of representatives from France—which has voiced a need of $2,500,000,000—and revelation that Russia had applied for $1,000,000,000.

The foreign loan policy was outlined in a letter and a report on international monetary and financial problems which Truman said bore his "full endorsement."

The report was prepared by the National Advisory Committee, which includes the secretaries of state, the treasury, and commerce.

In addition to Budget

The committee's proposal for more lending capital for the Export-Import Bank came on top of President Truman's budget estimate that net expenditures for the bank, British credit and the Bretton Woods monetary agreements amount to $5,368,000,000 in the fiscal years of 1946 and 1947.

The President's letter suggested such expenditures would constitute a step toward ending world peace.

The additional Export-Import capital, the council explained, would be used to help needy foreign nations until they can obtain help from the international bank established under the Bretton Woods agreement. "The international bank will become 'the principal agency to make foreign loans,' the report said.

Representatives of 35 nations will set up the international bank, with capital of $7,500,000,000, at a meeting near Savannah, Ga., beginning in 1946.

Russia, which has not joined the international bank, has been invited to send a delegation to Washington to discuss its application for a $1,000,000,000 loan from the Export-Import Bank, a high-ranking government official said.

Three Negroes Shot After One Grabs Gun And Wounds Tennessee Sheriff

COLUMBIA, TENN.—(P)— State guard reinforcements, called out after two negroes were killed in a fresh outbreak of gunplay, moved into Columbia Friday to join units hurried here earlier in the week when racial disorders flared.

The negroes were shot and two others, including a deputy sheriff, were wounded Thursday in the Maury County jail where the negroes had been taken for questioning in connection with riotous disturbances Monday night and early Tuesday.

State Safety Commissioner Bomar said the negroes were shot by highway patrolmen after one of the negroes seized a rifle confiscated Tuesday in a house-to-house search, and shot Deputy Sheriff Darnell, wounding him in the left arm.

Bomar identified the dead negroes as William F. Gordon and James Johnson. Napoleon Stewart was wounded.

Bomar gave this account of the shooting:

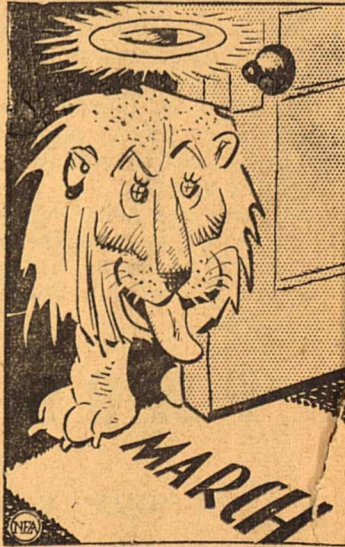

The negroes had been brought into an office of the county jail for questioning, when suddenly one of them picked up a rifle from the stack of confiscated weapons in a corner of the room and fired at Darnell.

The shot attracted patrolmen in the next room. They dashed in and downed the negroes with gunfire.

Darnell said he saw one of the negroes pick up a gun and he started around a table to take it from him when another grabbed a gun and shot him. He identified his assailant as Gordon.

They were among 100 persons arrested after the violence had been touched off by an altercation in which a negro woman and her son were accused of assaulting a white man and the subsequent wounding of four policemen who went into the negro section known as "Mink Slide."

Pattern For Aggression

Because faith, hope and charity are so very important to the future peace of this world, Americans have been leaning over backward to give Russia the benefit of every doubt as to the ultimate goals toward which she is moving.

We want desperately to believe that Stalin's intentions are not aggressive, that he is not deliberately trading upon our pacifism to get away with a program of imperialism at the expense of weaker nations who have a right to look to us for assistance.

It becomes increasingly difficult to kid ourselves that a nation indulging in flagrant, unabated aggression is not an aggressor nation.

True, the Soviet Union does not deliver ultimatums with troops poised on a border ready to blitzkrieg its victim. But under the circumstances this is not necessary. Stalin already has armed forces within the countries over which he wishes to extend Russia's domination. They went there as liberators, and for one reason or another they never have troubled to go home.

Stalin has a much simpler and equally effective pattern for aggression, that thus far has successfully invited appeasement by offering no one moment at which we have to come to a decision. We have seen it in Poland, in Hungary, in Yugoslavia, in Iran. We are seeing it in Manchuria.

Communists inspired, financed, directed—sometimes trained and armed—by Moscow create an internal issue against a non-Communist government. Argument and accusations lead to disorders, and these in turn lead to insurrection.

Soviet troops, already present as the liberators who came to dinner and never did get started for home, prevent government forces from putting down the revolt. They don't attack the government forces; they merely sit down in the path, secure in knowledge that the government troops won't dare attack them to get through.

Meanwhile the Red revolutionists, unhampered, set up a de facto government, declare their mutuality of interest with Moscow—and another non-Communist nation has become part of the Russian community.

We don't like it. So what? We promised China to return Manchuria to her. Are we going to fight Russia to do so?

There is a lot of dynamite in this Soviet pattern for aggression, in view of the Atlantic Charter and traditional American international policy.

Their Right

Joseph E. (Mission to Moscow) Davies says that "Russia in self-defense has every moral right to seek atomic-bomb secrets through military espionage if excluded from such information by her former fighting allies." In not turning over such secrets, Davies seems to feel that we are "ganging up on" the Soviet Union.

If we have told Moscow absolutely nothing about atomic fission, we have been as generous with her as she was about giving us access to military information while the war actually was on. For anybody on Moscow's behalf to find fault because we do not trust her with war secrets is for the pot to call the kettle black.

Cabbies March

The Chicago veterans who went to Washington in protest against a Windy City ordinance limiting the number of cab licenses will find general sympathy wherever they go. As things stand, most Chicago licenses are in the hands of two big companies, and the veterans—and others—are deprived of the right to drive for themselves.

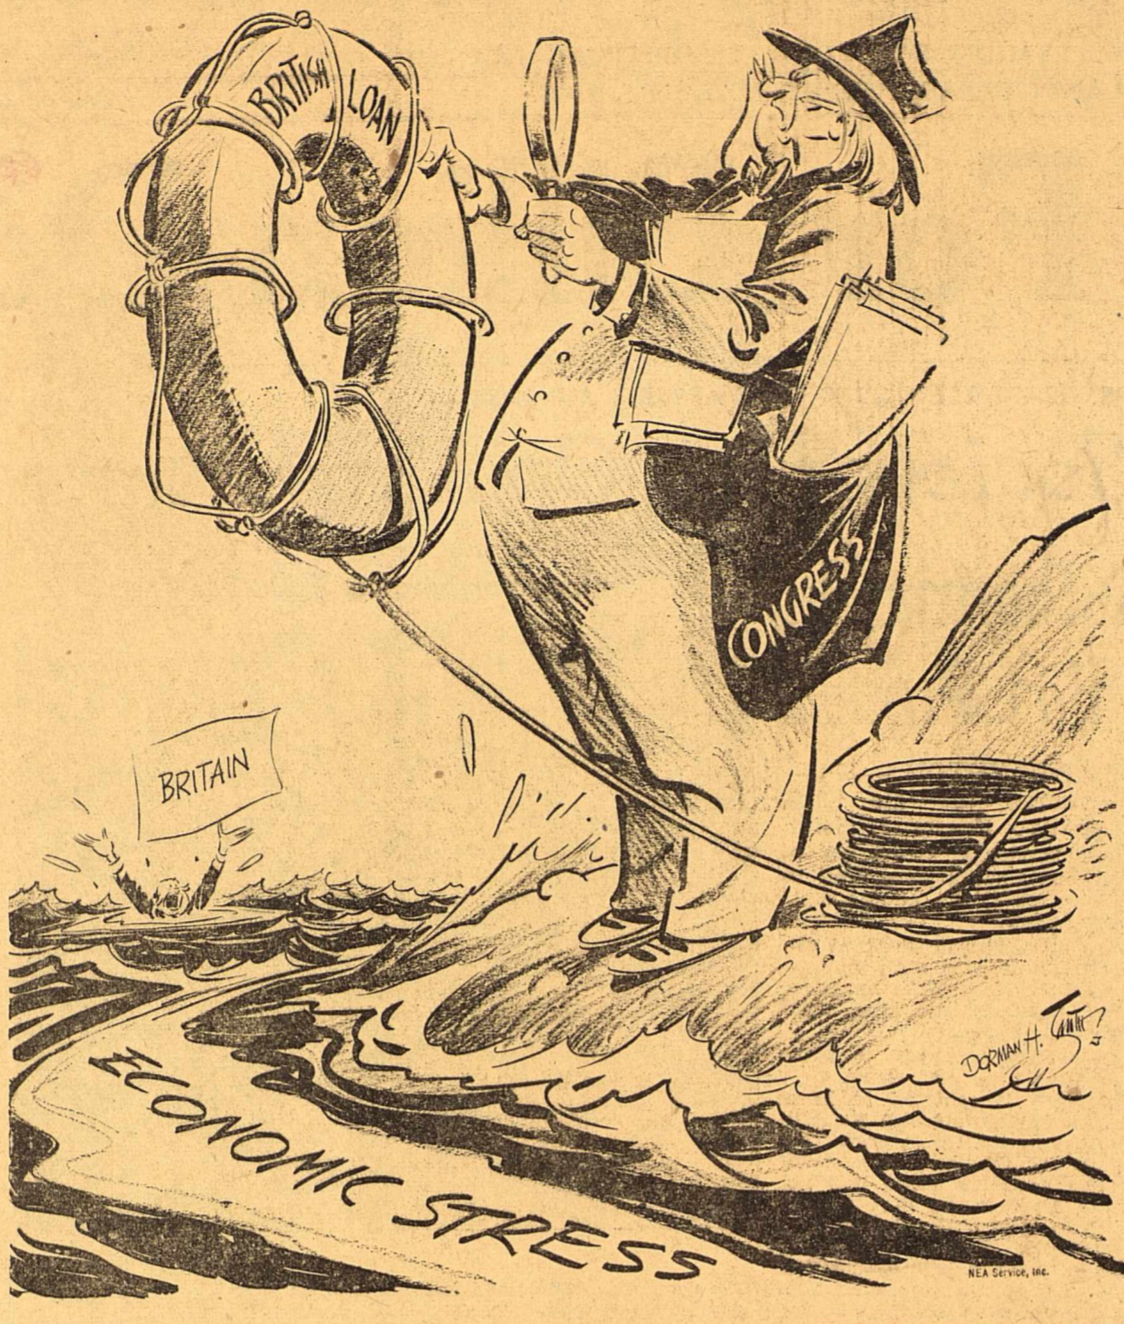

However, the veterans should have stayed at home. There isn't a thing in the world that the President, Congress, Secretary Schwelienbach, or anybody else in Washington can do for them. It is a Chicago ordinance that is bothering them. Only the Chicago city fathers can change that ordinance.

Clothing Shortage

One New York manufacturer of men's suits blames government regulations for the delay in delivery of merchandise. He says the OPA has not interfered with manufacture, and he is strongly in favor of continued price ceilings. Free prices would not speed production, he contends, but might permit the cost of a suit to double within a couple of months.

It is not the price ceilings themselves that cause the trouble, says this manufacturer, but extreme delay in issuing pricing orders and also delay in amending the order by which OPA seeks to force more yardgoods into the less expensive suits.

Midland Medical Missionary Takes Studies At Tulane

Dr. H. Glenn Walker of Midland is one of six medical missionaries studying tropical medicine at Tulane University, New Orleans, preparatory to work in foreign countries.

The doctors recently were the subject of a feature article in The Times-Picayune newspaper.

Electra police have notified Chicago authorities.

Marie Watson And Lt. M. F. Culver Wed Thursday

The marriage of Marie Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Horace Newton, and Lt. Marion F. Culver, son of John W. Culver, New Orleans, was solemnized at 6:30 p. m. Thursday in the First Methodist Church of Midland.

Vows for the double ring ceremony were read by the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell, pastor, as the bridal couple stood at the altar decorated with tall baskets of pink gladioli.

Before the ceremony Mrs. Holt Jewell, organist, played "Always," "I Love Thee," "Love's Old Sweet Song" and "Ah Sweet Mystery of Life." She also accompanied Mrs. Lloyd Turner as she sang "Because." Mrs. Jewell played the traditional wedding marches, and "Lebestraum" softly as the wedding vows were repeated.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a gray wool two-piece suit with an off-the-face navy blue straw hat and other accessories of navy blue. She carried a white prayer book topped with a miniature bouquet of gardenias.

Marion Newton attended her twin sister as maid of honor. She chose a gray wool two-piece suit with which she wore navy blue accessories. Completing her attire was a shoulder corsage of pink carnations.

Serving the groom as best man was Ed Metzger of Midland, Ushers were Charles Reeder and Lt. Lloyd Turner.

Following the ceremony the bridal couple left for a wedding trip to New Orleans.

Mrs. Culver is a graduate of Midland High School and before her marriage worked at Mims and Crane.

Lieutenant Culver was graduated from a New Orleans high school. He has been in the service four years and served as a bombardier with the U. S. Army Air Force in Italy one year. He has been stationed at Midland Army Air Field since his return to the States in June, 1945.

Rose Complexion Tint Best With White Hats

BETTINA BOLEGARD: Pink and white.

By ALICIA HART NEA Staff Writer

Look as delicately made up as Martha Washington on a candy box when you wear white near your face.

"White sharpens any complexion art that you apply, and has a tendency to make obvious effects look more glaring." That's a tip which millinery-stylist John Frederics tosses to customers.

Having proven its worth to famed hat-model, Bettina Bolegard, we've quizzed her further on what she knows.

"White hats," she says, speaking of the flock she's modeling these days in front of cameras, "call for bonbon-pink complexions, very little eye makeup, and one of two choices of lipstick shade."

Your choice, if you're a blonde, is pink, according to Bettina. If you are a brunette, as she is, make your choice a clear, true red.

VISITS IN ALPINE Bonnie Robertson left Friday for Alpine where she will visit her sister, La Vena Robertson, a student at Sul Ross.

RECOVERATES FROM OPERATI Mrs. George P. Bradbury is expected to return to her home Saturday after undergoing a minor operation in the Big Spring hospital.

Girl Scout Leaders Attend Meeting In Big Spring Wednesday

Midland women attended an all-day meeting for leaders, troop committee members, and council members of the Girl Scout organization of West Texas in Big Spring Wednesday.

Troop camping in all phases was the theme emphasized. Mrs. H. W. Smith, chairman, pointed out that only one girl out of ten was known to have camping experience. The group discussed day camps, hikes, weekend trips and established camps. Announcement was made that the West Texas area is planning to secure a site, equipment and finances to build a camp with facilities for at least 60 girls and to be in operation six weeks each summer.

National Girl Scout staff representatives at the meeting were Misses Sarah Bowman, Mary Miller and Sallie Cahill.

Mrs. K. C. Slough, camping chairman of the Midland Council of Girl Scouts, and a member of her committee, Mrs. W. C. Cartwright, attended the board sessions. Other local women present were: Mrs. John Weston, program chairman; Mrs. Don Johnson, president of the Leaders Club, and Mrs. M. F. McDaniels and Mrs. I. A. Searles, troop leaders.

Pauley Braces For Showdown Fight

WASHINGTON — (AP) — Edwin W. Pauley refused to yield an inch Friday and reiterated confidence of winning his fight for confirmation as undersecretary of the Navy.

"I'm convinced I'm going to win," he declared to reporters.

This fresh expression of confidence followed up Pauley's flat rejection Thursday of a Republican suggestion that he have his name withdrawn now.

Pauley conceded that the situation within the committee was "close," and said it might take some time to swing some of the members around to his side. He contended he has not yet had the opportunity to answer charges made against him.

Thursday Pauley rose to the full height of his six feet four in a Senate hearing and shouted "that's a dirty lie" at testimony that he had paid a fine to the state of California for "stealing state oil."

"I intend to stay in this and vindicate my character—because I know I am right," he concluded.

It was testimony by John A. Smith, California independent oil operator, to which Pauley gave the lie. "As to Standard of California and Mr. Pauley both, they have paid fines to the state for stealing state oil," Smith testified.

"Jumping to his feet at the end of the committee table, Pauley shouted: "That's a dirty lie."

Chairman Walsh (D-Mass) quickly restored order.

Thompson Wants Oil Price Controls Lifted

AUSTIN — (AP) — Railroad Commissioner Ernest O. Thompson says there is no longer any reason for price controls on crude oil, gasoline and other crude oil products.

Commenting on the Office of Price Administration raising the ceiling price on crude oil produced in six Texas fields, Thompson labeled the move "a good thing" but said ceilings should be taken off entirely.

"There is no reason for price controls on anything that is in abundance, and gasoline is now in superabundance," he said.

"Murder!" They Cried

By DOROTHY STALEY

Copyright, 1946, NEA Service, Inc.

XXIX
 MY MISS JENNY rocked back and forth, her body shaken by great sobs, and neither Dru nor I could quiet her, but when Betsy began to cry, she tried to get hold of herself. I sent for Dr. Bertolotto any how and he put my Miss Jenny to bed with an opiate. All evening as I sat by her bed those words kept ringing in my ears. "What have I done? What have I done?" It was a question we could all ask ourselves. For where indeed had this thing begun and which one of us was guiltless of its growth?

The next morning we gathered early in the library, all the family except my Miss Jenny, and the servants, while Dr. Richards read "The Order for the Burial of the Dead," as the prayer book calls it. Then we took Phillipa out to St. Mark's churchyard and left her in the Wilson family vault, and all the time I could hear Betsy saying to her that hot third of July afternoon, "But you are a Will-son."

Because the library had been otherwise occupied, Zern and Straub and Jeffrey Hazlett had made their headquarters in the dining room around the long table. They gave us no time. We were told we were to be there as soon as we could lay aside our hats. Betsy went to get Dru who had stayed with my Miss Jenny. So I was the first one down and as I went in, I heard Zern saying, "I would have thought this old guy had done it on account of the blackmail angle if it hadn't been for the fact that that would have done the very thing he didn't want—spill the beans."

The other one said, "Yes, but..." and then they saw me and stopped talking.

WHEN we were all there, they went over and over the same things again. Finally Zern shuffled his papers and squinted at Jeffrey Hazlett and Straub took his cigar from his mouth and leaned toward him. Jeffrey looked uncomfortable and shifted a bit in his chair. Then he said, "I'm sorry, Fletch, but I'm afraid..." You see, we can't check your movements after eleven o'clock. The Dwyers say you left their home just as the eleven o'clock news broadcast came on and it would take you only twenty minutes to come home from there."

Fletch looked at him blankly. "I told you I had a fat tire and it took a while to change it because I had trouble with the jack." Straub quirked his lips and shifted his weight in his chair with an impatient gesture. "I told you he'd bring that up. They always do."

"Oh, come now," Zern said, "that's stretching it too thin. Get it over with, chief. Tell him he's under arrest. We know you met your wife and..."

"You know no such thing!" The scorn in Betsy's voice should have withered Zern, but it didn't. In fact, there was quite a bit of scorn in his voice as he answered her. "No? Then maybe you can tell us what happened?"

Betsy's voice never faltered. "No, I can't tell you what happened, but Fletch was with Dru from twelve-thirty on and I saw..."—her voice soared in triumph and she smiled at Zern—"... I saw Phillipa some time between two and two-thirty."

FLETCH jumped up and said, "Bets! For God's sake."

She looked at him calmly. "Sit down, Fletch. I should have told this before. I left Ann Quillman's party and went with Pen to his studio shortly after one." She turned to Straub. "That is where I left my handkerchief. Pen played for me and then we were just sitting there. Talking. I had been there about an hour. It hadn't begun to storm yet." She looked at Jeffrey Hazlett. "You know how the old Barclay house is built, Jeff. Pen has turned the whole front—the hall and living room and dining room into his studio. So naturally he could hear this knocking at the door and Pen called out, 'Who's there?' It was Phil, and Pen said, 'Here, you better get out of sight until I get rid of her.'" She turned to Jeffrey again. "You know the small room Mr. Barclay had for a den! Right off the living room," Jeffrey nodded. "Well, now that's a powder room, but the old door to the garden is still there. So I went in there."

She looked appealingly at Fletch. "I felt so cheap. Like a rather bad play." She stopped and no one said anything.

"Phil was shouting at the door. 'Pen for Pete's sake, let me in. It's going to storm and I'm out of gas. I'll have to stay here...' Betsy stopped speaking and moistened her lips "... again."

Betsy buried her face in her hands. Somewhere far off I could hear Phillipa saying, "Ask him where he is when he isn't with you. Go on, I dare you. I could tell you if I wanted to. What would he want with a bread and milk poultice?" But Betsy wasn't bread and milk. She lifted her head proudly. "And that was why I had gone there—to stay."

Fletch said, "God!" but Betsy ignored it and went right on. "Pen told her she couldn't stay and she laughed at him. 'No?' she asked, 'who's here?' I could hear her coming toward the little room and I ran out the garden door. I can't tell you any more. I come home. She wavered a little and Fletch went to her quickly and put his arms around her. She went on bravely then. "Only I know no one killed Phil. Uncle Andrew said it was Divine Providence and it must have been."

Just a Couple of Kids

David Rogowski, two-year-old Milwaukee boy, broke his leg recently. When the company that furnishes the family with goat milk heard about the accident, it decided David should have a pet for company during his convalescence, so they sent over "Buster," a week-old billy goat. The kids seem quite pleased with each other.

The project is to be 330 feet from north and west lines of a 162-acre lease in south part of section 33, block 16, University survey, and is one location west of same operator's No. 1-A Barnes, recently completed for a 24-hour flowing production of 241 barrels per day from pay at 1,450-1,600 feet.

Heroic Dog Dies to Save Young Master

Casey was just a mongrel dog, but he was a loving—and beloved—pal of young Claude Mollapder of Kane, Pa. Recently they were romping in the back yard when a mountain lion, escaped from a local zoo, appeared. It crouched to attack. But Casey moved first and faster. Unhesitatingly he slashed in. The fight was terrific, but brief, and hopeless for the dog. But Casey never let up until he was killed, and his sacrifice gave the boy time to flee into the house and summon help. State police later found and killed the lion, whose body is shown at right, above. Claude, weeping over the body of his heroic pet, is pictured at left.

College Campus—1946 Style

The promenade is a gravel road; the greensward isn't green—it's mud; and the ivy-covered walls are bare lumber, but it's home for married students at Massachusetts Institute of Technology, at Cambridge, Mass. Housing above was erected at Westgate, adjacent to the M. I. T. campus, for the married vets. There are 100 houses, 50 of which have an extra bedroom and separate kitchen for families with children. The development covers nearly 10 acres of land.

Editor Of Houston Chronicle Says Lady Luck Aided Success

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Don't make a slighting remarks about luck if you're around G. M. Cottingham, editor of the Houston Chronicle. He says lady luck has done all right by him. He's quick to defend her honor. For some reason he came to Houston in 1915. "I was fresh out of college," he said. "I was a hotshot. I got a job for $10 a week." Two years later he went to Chicago. He got a position on a paper there. Then came the war and Cottingham was busy defending the country until 1919. He returned to Houston where his mother lived. He wanted to go back to the big city of Chicago. "It's so nice and comfortable here," his mother said. "So I stayed," Cottingham grins. "I didn't give my future any more serious thought than that. There was no weighty reasons for staying." A few years later the Chicago paper he had worked on, and to which he had planned to return, folded up. "I'd probably be making about $30 a week somewhere now," he says. "As it is, look at the Chronicle. Look at Houston—the place has almost outgrown Chicago." "You must have had some sort of hunch Houston would grow," he was asked. He moved his wry frame into a more comfortable position and smiled infectious. "Did I know this was going to be a major oil center; couldn't I have gone to town with real estate? Did I guess this was going to be a major port?" "You haven't done so badly." "No," he said, looking down at a neat blue suit. "I've got some nice clothes. I've been lucky."
