TELLS CONGRESS FATHERS COULD BE RELEASED —

Eisenhower Asks Draft Law Extension

Patterson Urges 20 Per Cent Pay Hike For Army

WASHINGTON—(P)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower asked Congress Thursday to extend the draft law indefinitely and to limit service liability of inductees to 18 months.

If that is done, the chief of staff told the House Military Committee, the Army can release all fathers by the end of August or early in September regardless of how long they have been in service.

If it is not done, he warned, the Army may fall short by 165,000 men of its estimated needed strength of 1,070,000 on July 1, 1947.

Both Eisenhower and Secretary of War Robert P. Patterson argued against proposals for a shorter extension of the Selective Service Act, which expires on May 15 of this year.

"Should the Selective Service Act not be continued and should our recruiting program fail to establish and sustain a volunteer army of the requisite size," Patterson said, "the military position of this country, and therefore our ability to preserve the peace, would become precarious."

Also Bigger Allowances
Patterson told the committee that extension of the draft should be coupled with a 20 per cent overall increase in pay and allowances for all military personnel.

Eisenhower suggested that legislation extending the draft contain these restrictions: A prohibition against service for more than 18 months; a requirement that no more men be inducted than are necessary to meet estimates of strength required by July 1, 1947; and a stipulation that the Army discharge all fathers now in service and decline to induct any in the future.

While Eisenhower said the shortage in manpower requirements of the Army would be 165,000 by July 1, 1947, Patterson estimated the shortage at 170,000 men if the draft law is not extended.

The secretary said present army strength is about 2,500,000, with a net reduction of one million expected between now and next June. The top Army men were also to appear before a closed session of the Senate Military Committee to testify on the draft extension.

MASCOT TO HOSPITAL —

Trainmen Will Halt Illinois Limited To Serve Crippled Girl

COVINGTON, TENN.—(P)—Nearly a year ago a railroad conductor stopped his freight train in front of a ramshackle farm house to get acquainted with a little girl who had been waving to the trains from her rocking chair on the front porch.

He found the little girl was crippled from a spinal anesthetic given her during an operation. Word was passed along the Illinois Central Line that the little girl who waved to the trains was crippled. Soon 14-year-old Minnie Rose Webb was the mascot of the line.

Trains passing her house would slow down while conductors, engineers and brakemen threw dolls, candy, toys and comic magazines to the brown-haired little girl who never seemed to do anything but rock and wave.

One day last September a freight train halted in front of her house. The conductor emerged from the caboose with a wheel chair which the men on the line had bought for Minnie Rose.

Thursday night the 70-mile-an-hour Chickasaw Limited will stop at the muddy crossing. But instead of dropping gifts, it will pick up Minnie Rose to take her to a Shrine hospital in St. Louis.

The railroad men got together and bought her a drawing room and then arranged with the trainmaster to have the Limited stopped at the little rural community along the tracks. They've even gone so far as to have her Pullman car halted right in front of her front porch.

Red Cross Campaign Short, Has $9,000

Midland counted $9,000 in contributions to the American Red Cross Thursday and the drive continued toward a goal of $13,000. All Midland persons have not been contacted due to the lack of campaign workers, leaders pointed out. They asked citizens to leave contributions at the Midland Chamber of Commerce office in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Many buyers donated their purchases to the Red Cross, Boy Scouts and to 4-H clubbers. Most resales went to A&P Company. Many animals were sent to A&M Packing Company for butchering, and much top stock beef will be found in cold lockers in Midland and soon it will grace the tables of the city and ranch or farm owners.

Some of the choice beef calves were bid-calves and will be re-sold after the Sand Hills Show in Odessa. The sales:

Board Purchases Garage Building For School Buses
Purchase of a steel framed, sheet metal siding building to house the six school buses was made by the Midland Independent School District Board at a meeting Wednesday night. The building will be 108 feet long and will accommodate nine bays for the buses, each 12 feet wide. Space for repair and maintenance work on the buses also will be available in the building, the site for which has not yet been definitely determined.

The board elected a new teacher for the Latin-American School, Mrs. Marjorie Kalhoefer. Classroom furniture and wall lockers for the new schools now under construction also were purchased.

The board voted to hire an evaluation expert to make a re-evaluation of property values, if both city and county also join in the project. The city council Wednesday afternoon voted to make the survey in conjunction with the school district and the county.

'Axis Sally' To Be Tried For Treason
BERLIN—(P)—Justice department representatives informed a woman accused as Berlin's "Axis Sally" Thursday that she is to be taken to the United States and charged with treason.

The 37-year-old Portland, Me., native, identified by American military government officials as Mildred Gillars, has been under arrest in Zehlendorf since Friday night. In an interview Thursday she referred to herself persistently as "Axis Sally" and told reporters: "My conscience is clear. I have nothing to hide."

"Sally," whose jeering voice once was beamed nightly from Berlin to homesick GIs in North Africa and later in Europe, is spending her time playing casino with her guards and writing a personal account of her adventures.

BATAVIA —(AP)— Reports circulated here Thursday that Russian submarines were lying off the south coast of Java. The report was not confirmed by any authorities in Batavia.

TIENTSIN —(AP)— Russian forces may be evacuating Changchun, capital of Manchuria, dispatches to North China newspapers reported Thursday. The press also reported that many Russian planes, including bombers, were assembled on the Changchun Airfield.

WASHINGTON —(AP)— Representatives of the United States, Britain and France resume their efforts Thursday to persuade neutral Switzerland to hand over German assets worth hundreds of millions of dollars to make certain Germany could not use them to finance future re-armament and to use them as reparations for countries which paid heavily for their decision to resist Axis aggression.

LONDON —(AP)— The British war office said Thursday it had no knowledge of reports from Cairo that British and Iraq troops had been sent to guard the oil fields and pipelines in Northeastern Iraq against threatened activities by Iranian Kurds.

Humble Discovers Ellenburger Oil In Southwest Kent County Wildcat

By JAMES C. WATSON
Oil Editor

Humble Oil & Refining Company has discovered a new source of Ellenburger production on the northeast side of the Permian Basin, in extreme Southwest Kent County—about 20 miles north of Snyder.

The concern's No. 1 Lydia A. Vick, 660 feet from north and 1,930 feet from east lines of section 45, block 5, H&GN survey, one and one-half miles west of Polar, tested at the rate of 30 barrels of oil per hour natural in the top of the Ellenburger at 7,767-7,799 feet.

Operator has not officially released top of the lower Ordovician formation. However, informed sources report that the mark is at 7,733 feet on an elevation of 2,332 feet.

After coring to the 7,799-foot mark and finding some oil signs, operator ran a drillstem test for one hour on the interval at 7,767-99 feet.

Good Gas Blow
Gas came to surface in 11 minutes after the tool was opened. After it had blown for 21 minutes it gauged 84,000 cubic feet per day. Flowing pressure for the test was 875 pounds.

Corrected gravity of the oil was 36.3 degrees. No water was reported in the test. Recovery was 2,396 feet of clean oil and six feet of drilling mud, in the 4 1/2-inch drill pipe.

This was the basis for the estimate of 30 barrels per hour natural production from the 33-foot section.

Operator's report shows that the test was at 7,780-7,812 feet. After the test had been taken the drill pipe was run back in the hole to check the measurement. That developed a back up of 13 feet, which made the correct measurement of the zone tested as shown at the beginning of this report.

Coring Ahead
Operator had reamed the hole to bottom and was coring ahead from 7,799 feet.

Fumble has a block of approximately 10,000 acres surrounding the new well. There is some acreage within one and one-half miles that is not owned by Humble.

The well is about 10 miles east of Eppler, a whistle stop on the Santa Fe Railroad in Southeast Garza County.

The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-Unit A University, Central Southwest Andrews County wildcat, about one and one-quarter miles south of nearest Ellenburger production, in the Martin field, had progressed below 8,770 feet, in Ellenburger lime, topped at 8,670 feet, on an elevation of 3,288 feet.

Oil Stain in Ellenburger
Some oil staining had been encountered in the formation. Operator was drilling ahead Thursday morning. Some geologists reported the project is approximately 14 feet high on the top of the Ellenburger to nearest well which has entered that formation—Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 2 Parker, a flowing producer.

Sun Oil Company No. 2 Martin, 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 17, block A-41, psal survey, and on the northwest side of the Martin area, had reached 8,555 feet in lime and shale of the Simpson, middle Ordovician, and was drilling ahead.

No Marker Yet
Lion Oil Company No. 1 Wylie, East Lea County, New Mexico wildcat, at center of southwest quarter of northwest quarter of section 5-23s-38e, and on southeast side of the Drinkard field, had penetrated 8,555 feet.

MacArthur Decrees Firing Squad End For Gen. Homma

TOKYO—(P)—General MacArthur Thursday decreed a firing-squad death for Lt. Gen. Masaharu Homma, his victorious foe in the 1942 battle for Bataan, and disagreed sharply with two U. S. Supreme Court justice dissenters—one of whom had termed the sentence vengeance rather than justice.

Affirming the Manila court martial conviction of Homma, who ordered the infamous Bataan Death March that cost 17,200 lives, MacArthur asserted:

"Of this defendant a firing-squad death is his judicial fate, none in jurisdictional history ever did."

Before announcing his decision, MacArthur studied opinions expressed by Supreme Court Justices Murphy and Rutledge, who dissented when the court refused to intervene for Homma.

MacArthur declared "no trial could have been fair" and said dissenters "either advocate arbitrariness of process above factual realism, or inherently shrink from the stern rigidity of capital punishment."

"No Greater Crime"
"There can be no greater, more heinous or more dangerous crime than mass destruction, under the guise of military authority or military necessity, of helpless men incapable of further contribution to the war effort. A failure of the law process to punish such acts of criminal enormity would threaten the very fabric of world society."

Of the men of Bataan, their former leader said:

"Of all fighting men of all time, none deserved more the honors of war in their final hour of final agony."

In placing responsibility for the atrocities directly on Homma, MacArthur said soldiers of any army "invariably reflect the attitude of their general."

Spring Snow — IN CALIFORNIA, TOO

LOS ANGELES—(P)—Southern California ushered in spring Wednesday night with snow. It fell within 20 miles of downtown Los Angeles—in the foothills—and reached a depth of 13 inches at Big Bear Lake, 90 miles away in the mountains to the east.

Weather
Somewhat colder and cloudy Friday; clearing slowly in afternoon and evening.

NO STRAW HATS, NO ROBINS, NO MARRIAGE BOOM — Chilly Winds Greet Spring — Not Birds And Bees

Spring sneaked in on Midland at 11:33 Wednesday night under cover of clouds and amidst chill winds, and the first day of Spring Thursday belied the season's reputation for gentleness.

A high overcast greeted the city's residents when they arose Thursday and the temperature had fallen slightly during the night. The weatherman at the Midland Army Air Field could drum up no bright sunshine for the official grand opening of the season. Instead he forecast winds of 35 miles per hour for the afternoon, with gusts up to 45 miles per hour. He gloomily predicted it will be somewhat colder and cloudier Friday, but added that the weather will clear up slowly in the afternoon and evening.

He Didn't Mention Love
He didn't say anything about young men's fancies or the birds and the bees, and wouldn't give out with a single tra-la.

Truman Says Council Will Meet Despite Reds Delay Plea

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

WASHINGTON—(P)—Soviet Ambassador Andrei A. Gromyko said Thursday that any hasty action by the United Nations Security Council on the Iranian dispute would merely complicate it.

His comment was made shortly after a flat statement by President Truman that next Monday's UNO meeting will not be postponed.

Truman told his news conference Thursday that the United States delegation will press for action in the explosive controversy despite Moscow's request for a 16-day delay.

Gromyko talked with reporters at the State Department after a hurriedly arranged 20-minute conference with Secretary Byrnes.

The Soviet ambassador, who returned unexpectedly Wednesday night from New York, declined to tell newsmen what he said to Byrnes, but he reiterated that Russia believes the Iranian case unquestionably should be delayed because negotiations are now under way between Iran and Russia.

Asked in what way these negotiations are taking place he replied they were being carried on through diplomatic channels and that for the Security Council to take any hasty action now would complicate the situation.

Termed "Courtesy Call"
An inquiry put to officials familiar with the nature of Gromyko's talk with Byrnes brought the comment that it had been purely a courtesy call.

The Soviet ambassador left some doubt on whether he personally will attend the United Nations Council meeting, despite an embassy statement several days ago that he will be a member of the Russian delegation though not necessarily its chief.

As for his own plans, Gromyko said he expects to stay in Washington for a few days, might be back in New York on Monday and meanwhile had no arrangements to see President Truman.

On another phase of the Iranian case, Gholan Abbas Aram, first secretary of the Iranian embassy, conferred at length with officials of the State Department's Middle Eastern Division, but did not disclose the nature of his talks.

Robbers Kidnap Two Women At Corpus After Liquor Store Holdups

CORPUS CHRISTI—(P)—South Texas officers Thursday sought two holdup men who Wednesday night kidnaped two women from their escorts here after robbing liquor stores in San Antonio and Poth, Wilson County.

The women, Susie Garza and Beatrice Soliz, were still missing. Police reported that the robbers were in a filling station when the women and their escorts drove up. The holdup men, according to the police, ordered the women into their car, and when their escorts objected one of the men drew a gun.

About this time a police car drew up, and the men fled with the kidnaped women in a 1946 Ford. Police said the description of the kidnapers fitted that of two men who held up a San Antonio liquor store at 9:15 Wednesday night and escaped with $227. Two hours later, a liquor store at Poth was held up and a 45 automatic was taken from the night watchman.

Truman again announced that he was not seeking another meeting of the "Big Three" to deal with differences between Russia and other members of the United Nations.

The United Nations Organization, he said, is supposed to take over things that formerly were discussed by the Big Three.

The President told Secretary of State Byrnes will carry to Monday's session in New York Truman's address of welcome.

The Russo-Iranian question was one of the first put to the President as the conference opened, and Truman made it clear that the United States will press for immediate action.

Asked if he would tell that to Russian Ambassador Gromyko if the latter calls at the White House Thursday, he said he would if Gromyko brought it up. However, Gromyko's name was not on the White House calling list.

Persons puzzled as to why Spring arrived on the day and the hour it did can find a solution in a statement by Dr. E. E. Prouty, assistant professor at the University of Texas. Spring, the professor said, arrived Wednesday night because the earth's equator is projected onto the celestial sphere. In simpler words, after March 21 the sun rises north of the due-east point and sets north of the west point.

There will be 12 hours of daylight and 12 hours of darkness over the entire face of the earth Thursday. But whether you get your 12 hours depends on where you live. At the North Pole the sun will be seen for the first time since September 21.

To simplify the whole business, the professor pointed out that full moons that have been visible during the winter far to the north will now rise south of the east point.

Short-Sighted Economy

The War Assets Corporation recently announced the sale of 702 surplus airplane engines to three airlines. The sale brought the government $7,312,038, or nearly 75 per cent of the original cost. But before the country's taxpayers extend this agency a vote of thanks for having their best interests at heart, it might be well to look a bit further.

In the month of January, the entire American aircraft engine industry turned out 23 engines for military planes. (The only other engines built were a few for small aircraft.) A strike in plants producing jet and turbine engines was partially responsible for this small figure. But the principal reasons were the sharp curtailment of military procurement and the sale of the surplus engines to commercial lines.

These lines now have on order 554 new transports, which will require 1566 engines. But the War Assets Corporation is expected to have more than 72,000 aircraft engines and spare parts available by June. If one-third of these are saleable, the government might receive around $650,000,000 for them over a period of years. But, since all but a few of the big new transports can be powered by surplus engines, this sale might close the whole commercial airline field to the aircraft engine industry for years to come.

In the past this field has taken more than half of the engine production. Remove that market, equip most of the few military planes scheduled for 1946 production with surplus engines, and where does that leave the aircraft engine industry—and the national defense?

The answer is: right where the industry and the national defense were after the last war, when surplus Liberty engines stymied and stifled the development of new airplane power plants for 14 years.

It seems inevitable that the most important aeronautical changes in the coming years will be in propulsion units. We are on the threshold of a revolutionary change in such units. The conventional engines that the War Assets Corporation is selling will be obsolete for military purposes in a short time.

It is not enough to draw plans and make working models of new jet and gas turbines and new self-propelled missiles. They must be put on a practical production basis, developed, tested, and changed. Our aircraft engine builders are now equipped to do this. But they will not be so equipped for very long if their chief source of revenue is closed to them. Their best minds will be forced into other fields, the winning wartime team will be broken up, and our national safety will suffer.

Shortly after V-E Day, a spokesman for the Aviation Division of the Surplus War Property Administration said that two things should be made clear in the problem of surplus aircraft disposal: No appreciable amount of money was going to be recovered, and the disposal program would have to be planned as a positive contribution to American aerial progress. The program, this spokesman said, would have the power to make or break our future in aviation.

That last statement still seems to hold true. But the reasoning behind the first two apparently has been forgotten. If the present policy of short-sighted economy continues, we shall again find ourselves left far behind. And next time—if unhappily there should be a next time—it is unlikely that there would be an equivalent of the French and British aircraft orders of 1939-40, which gave us two peacetime years for a breathless sprint in which to try to catch up with the rest of the world.

They've Got Something There

The new Jap constitution abolishes war as the nation's sovereign right forever, renounces threat or use of force in settling disputes, and forbids future authorization of any army, navy, air force, or other war potential or assumption of the rights of belligerency by the state.

We move the immediate and unanimous adoption of this portion of the Japanese constitution by all the nations on the face of the earth.

Experiments To Combat Bitter Weed On Ranch Lands Planned By Agents

In an effort to combat bitter weed which is rapidly encroaching grazing lands, county agents of several counties in this area soon will inaugurate experiments with a new chemical to determine whether it will be suitable to combat the obnoxious plant.

County Agent Vernon Young of Midland County has ordered a supply of the chemical for test purposes. He plans to fence off a small plot of land on which the plant has been found and check the results of the chemical to see if it is effective. According to information supplied the agents at a recent district meeting, the product kills weeds yet does not harm grass.

Very little bitter weed has been found in Midland County, Young said, but Glascock and Upton counties have reported extensive growths of the plant. Some patches of the weed have been noticed in the southern end of the county, however.

Sam Ratcliff of Glascock County has started chopping the weed from his grazing lands in an expensive attempt to control its spread, it is reported here. Other ranchers, farmers and dairymen of that area have been forced to fence off patches of their lands to keep out the obnoxious plant. One rancher has fenced off 300 acres.

The weed is said to be found in greater abundance around lakes and dry lake beds, and has been gaining greater footholds in the past five years. It is believed to be found in greater abundance on lands which have been overgrazed. Sheep spread it in the summer when they brush against it, gathering the seeds in their wool.

The bitter weed now is beginning to bloom and sheep will not eat it as frequently after the plant blooms. Neither do they eat as much of it around lakes, since plenty of water is available and they are not forced to find juicy plants, stockmen say.

Although counties in the San Angelo region have long been troubled with bitter weed, only in recent years has it appeared in abundance in this area, the stockmen say.

Municipal Field Not Surplus, City Council Advised

Mayor Norman Fred Hogan was advised Wednesday by the government that it has not declared the Midland Municipal Airport surplus, and that the field will continue to be operated by the Army Air Forces Ferrying Service.

The city had suggested that the airport be operated jointly by the city and the government. Commercial aircraft now are permitted to operate at the field by the Army. Hogan advised the city council of the government's reply to the proposal at a council meeting Wednesday night.

The council also was told that the Civil Aeronautics Administration has reduced its allocation for the airport from $1,036,000 to $1,013,953.78, a difference of $22,046.22. Withdrawal of the surplus funds was made in order to bring the allocation amount into agreement with final construction costs of the project, the regional administrator at Fort Worth said in a letter to the council.

A proposal of the government for an agreement with the city to cover the supplying of fuel for planes at the airport was tabled by the council.

Northwest El Paso Wildcat
J. C. Meriwether of Canutillo, filed application with the Railroad Commission to drill a 1,500-foot wildcat in Northwest El Paso County, starting soon.

The project will be his No. 1 Brown Realty Company, and is 4,800 feet from west and 1,430 feet from south lines of the west half of section 35, Maria Rodriguez. It is approximately 12 miles northwest of El Paso, and cable tools will be used.

Humble No. 1 Campbell, Northeast Hockley County wildcat, in section 116, block A, R. M. Thompson survey, had drilled to 9,142 feet, in hard brown dolomite and was to set 7-inch casing and drill ahead.

About Ready to Go
Humble No. 1 Crespi, East Midland County wildcat, had filled space back of the 7-inch casing, set on bottom at 9,900 feet, in shale and lime, with cement, up to about 3,000 feet, and had the casing in condition, and was drilling on junk, at 9,865 feet.

It is expected that the obstruction will be removed shortly and drilling of new hole can be resumed. It should encounter the Midland field pay in another 400 feet to 500 feet.

Drilling & Exploration Company, Inc., No. 1 Davis, Southwest Yoakum County wildcat, was drilling ahead below 10,045 feet in lime—with some lost bit cones still in the hole.

In the modern system, she continued, the child is treated as an individual. She also urged removal of restrictions on teachers, claiming they must be financially and emotionally secure.

Children, she said, must be allowed to move about, to think, and to act. The home and school were described as "pilot and navigator" in the education of children. "Help children to feel successful," she urged. "Success breeds success. Children like to be successful and happy."

Spaak Resigns As Belgium Premier

BRUSSELS—(AP)—Paul-Henri Spaak resigned Thursday as premier of Belgium after failing to win a vote of confidence Wednesday in the Chamber of Deputies.

Regent Prince Charles immediately conferred with the heads of the upper and lower houses of Parliament preliminary to designating a new premier.

It was expected the regent would ask either Auguste de Schryver, leader of the Rightwing Social Christian Party, or Former Premier Achille van Acker, Socialist Party leader, to form a new government.

Spaak, who is a Socialist and president of the United Nations General Assembly, formed his government of "technicians and specialists" only nine days ago after Schryver had tried in vain to frame a new cabinet.

Taxpayers Will Receive Annual Financial Report

Midland taxpayers will be furnished with a complete report of finances of the city at the end of the current fiscal year, which terminates March 31. The City Council Wednesday afternoon agreed to prepare the statement and make it available to all interested citizens.

A sketch of the financial outlook in coming years probably will be included. Fred T. Hogan, mayor pro-tem, was instructed by the council to prepare the report.

The council voted to join the county and the Midland Independent School District in hiring a tax evaluation expert to make a survey for re-evaluating property in the city, county and school district. G. B. Whitney, representing a Fort Worth evaluation concern, outlined his company's methods and discussed the benefits of a complete re-evaluation process, and a letter from a similar firm also was read and discussed. Definite action by the city awaits action by the county on the proposal. The school district voted Wednesday night to join the two bodies in the program.

The Niemeir Audit Company of Lubbock was awarded a contract for auditing the city's books.

The councilmen voted to warn transportation companies of the city to comply with ordinances affecting the taxicab business.

A vote of appreciation to Paul McHargue for his services as a member of the council was passed. McHargue does not seek re-election in the April election.

Shaking Heads and Human Liberties
It's a funny thing. Now that the war's over, there's a lot of head-shaking in our town. People saying: "What's the younger generation coming to?" "How can we end these strikes?" "The country's going to the dogs!" "There ought to be a law!" etc.
But when the younger generation was wallowing the Axis "supermen"—and labor was doing the most colossal job in history—you never heard a murmur. But now that we're back to our traditional life of personal liberty, just see how the heads begin to shake again. I guess there'll always be head-shakers—folks who feel "there ought to be a law"—who believe that the best form of regulation is suppression, whether it's applied to beer or baseball.
But from where I sit, America's done pretty well with the idea of personal choice and individual liberty. I guess that's just the way Americans are made.

Health Measures Are Discussed By Council

Graham Smoot, director of the City-County Health Unit, presented the City Council with proposed ordinances to combat health and welfare menaces to Midland citizens at the council's meeting Wednesday.

The council also received and voted to turn over to the city health officer for investigation and action a petition of residents on South Terrell and East Florida streets asking for the removal of a number of horses reportedly kept by a riding stable in the area. The petition declared the horses created a health menace in the neighborhood.

Smoot cited two cases of children in the city being bitten by dogs and suggested that an ordinance to control dogs be made stronger and be more rigidly enforced. No symptoms of rabies developed in the two cases mentioned, he said, but the threat remains ever-present.

The sanitarian also presented the council with a suggested ordinance calling for control and inspection of food products sold here.

A proposed garbage disposal ordinance was taken under advisement by the council, which plans to take action on it soon.

THE STORY: Ann has a run-in with Beulah Bedelle, self-styled social arbiter of Port Drake, on the first Mrs. Drake is her best friend. Ann later meets and makes friends with lovely Joan Warren and her four youngsters. Joan is amazed to learn that Ann is the new Mrs. Colin Drake.

XVI
ANN grinned at Joan. "You don't know Colin, do you?"
"Of course I know him," Joan said indignantly. "Stan is quite an important executive of the Drake Line. He's been after me to call on you, but you know the way it is—" She gestured sweepingly over the heads of her children. "I don't go in for society," she added.
"For who?" Ann said. "Perhaps it's just as well if the lady I met this morning is the arbiter. Somehow, she didn't seem to respond to my fresh and girlish charm."
"Dear Beulah," Joan murmured. "No one likes her—but she's got 'em buffaloed. Or maybe Skippy likes her, though it seems incredible. He's a lamb, and everyone loves him."
"Who is Skippy?"
"Her husband. It's short for Skippy—everyone called him that until Stan came along and changed it to Skippy, on account of he adored the Lawrenceville stories in the days of his youth. He's Stan's boss. Stan's my husband. But you were saying something about Beulah being social arbiter—Mrs. Colin Drake is that, whether she goes in for society or not, and don't let Beulah kid you."
"She told me that Colin's former wife is her most intimate friend," Ann said diffidently.
Joan snorted. "Don't you believe it. Beulah would have liked to have been that, that's all. She's well—she doesn't believe in divorce, and has aired her views rather freely that you and Mr. Drake are—um, I guess I should remember the widely quoted saying about little pitchers. You get

Ann wouldn't, and said so with emphasis.
THE Warren home was a pleasant, rambling place, of no particular period of design. The rooms were large and livable and lived-in, and even the piled-up furniture and workmen couldn't disguise that fact. Joan was blissfully unapologetic for her house. She had told Ann the floors were being done over, and Ann still had wanted to come out, so she felt no apologies necessary. After putting the children to bed, they curled up in the window-seat in the master bedroom, overlooking the Sound, and lit cigarettes.
"How old are you, Joan?" Ann asked impulsively, then added, "I'm sorry. I didn't really mean to be impertinent."
"Dear child, I'm not ashamed of my age. Rather proud of it, in fact. I'm twenty-eight. I was graduated from the University when I was twenty-two. Stan and I had been married for six months then, and Alan was on the way, but I was determined to get my degree. To prove to myself and the world that I was a domestic science expert, you see. I've been proving it ever since."
"And I'm going on twenty-five myself. I'd better get going on a family, hadn't I?"
Joan studied her cigaret. "It's not a bad idea," she admitted.

WHEN Colin got home that night, Ann was radiant. "I've found a friend in town, Colin—I can call her that already, although I've only known her today."
"Who?"
"Joan Warren—AND her four bright and beautiful youngsters."
"She has a bright and beautiful husband, too," Colin said. "I'm given to understand he is very valuable to the Drake Line. I'm glad you've found a friend, my darling—you haven't seemed to take much to local talent so far."
"She's real—and admirable—and altogether swell. I'm so glad I've met her." She was so pleased with Joan, she quite forgot to tell Colin of her less pleasant meeting of the day.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority
I received a rather amusing hand from N. R. Taylor of New York, who held the North cards. When his partner opened the bidding with one no trump, Taylor naturally was entitled to make the jump bid of three diamonds.
South, having opened with a psychic bid, was afraid to pass the three-diamond bid and went to three no trump. When North bid four diamonds, South passed in a panic.

West's double is subject to criticism. Though he had a powerful hand, he should have passed four diamonds, and that is where the hand would have been played. However, having doubled four, when the opponents got to five diamonds, he cannot be criticized for doubling that. Nor can he be blamed for complaining of hard luck.
As you can see, the only two tricks Mr. Taylor had to lose were the ace of diamonds and ace of spades.

Takes One Sheriff To Pinch Another

WINAMAC, IND. (AP)—Who takes a sheriff to jail when one must go?
Judge Robert Thompson of the Pulaski Circuit Court solved that problem this week by ordering the sheriff of his own county (Pulaski) to take Sheriff Harold Smith of Cass County to the state penal farm to be held until he pays $600 ordered due his divorced wife for support of their two children.
Mrs. Smith's suit had been transferred from Logansport in Cass County to Winamac.

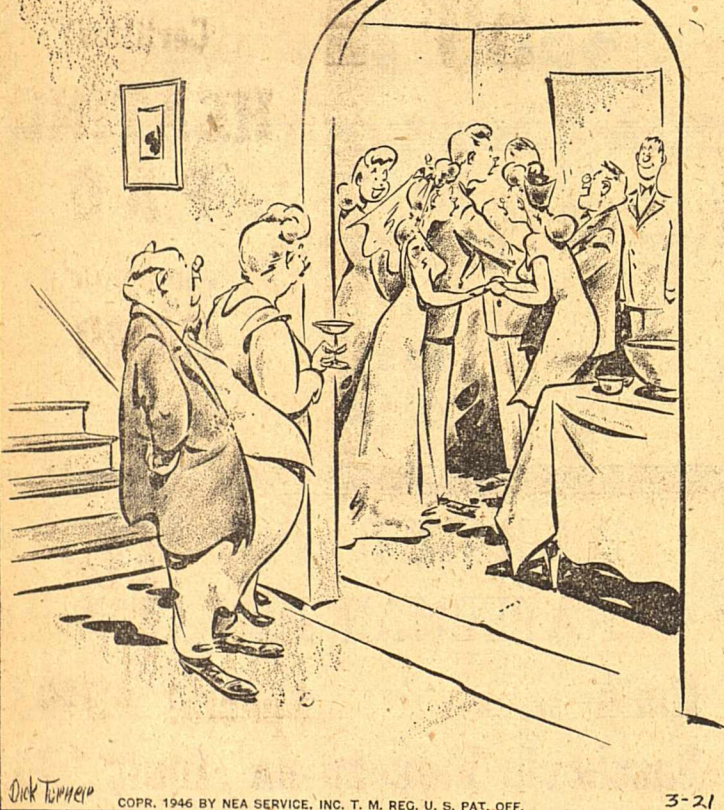

Poland's Teachers Work Day And Night

POZNAN (AP)—Poland is hard up for school buildings and school teachers, so children go to classes in day and night shifts.
It is not uncommon to find seven teachers charged with the task of instructing 800 children. The teachers partially solve the problem of trying to give attention to all of them by teaching classes on four-hour shifts. This continues until long after nightfall.

Thief Gives Quarter Inspiration For Blues

Realty Matters Gain Attention Of City Council

Hearings on three applications for approval of proposed development areas were held and two of five requests for permission to build business structures outside the regular business district were denied by the city council in session Wednesday.

M. W. Collie presented plats of the proposed North Park Hill addition for the council's approval of layout and grades of streets in the area. Plats of the proposed Sunset Acres development, submitted by mail, were reviewed and discussed, and Ted Thompson presented a plat of the proposed West End Annex. The council took no action on the three development areas pending a study of the sites with relation to city requirements.

The council expressed general approval of a proposal by a number of Midland churches that 30 acres adjacent on the west to the baseball field at Cloverdale Park be leased to the group for use as a religious camp ground. The churches suggested that the title of the lease be invested in a board of trustees of the religious bodies, subject to ratification by the individual churches. The council took the proposal under advisement.

Applications Heard
 An application of A. E. Baker for permission to construct a 16x16 concrete block building for use as a welding shop on South Martenfield Street was granted. Applications of C. W. Denney, for permission to construct a 30x40-foot concrete block building for use as a grocery store at Baird and Florida streets, and Harold L. Robinson for permission to build a 25x50-foot tile building on South Baird Street for use as a washateria were approved, with granting of the permits to be made following a survey to determine if property owners in the areas object to the businesses. An application of the Fashion Cleaners for a permit to build a 25x20-foot stucco front, asbestos or metal siding building for a dry cleaning plant on South Main Street was denied following presentation of a petition signed by 15 residents of the area. An application by J. B. Peterson for permission to make an 18x19-foot addition to the front of a residence on West Illinois Avenue for use as a watch repair and jewelry store also was denied.

The council voted to review the plumbing code at the next regular meeting, and granted the Midland County Tuberculosis Association use of a room in the City-County Auditorium building.

Payment of a $25,189.10 payment on the waterworks improvement project was authorized, and other bills were heard and approved.

Discussions on present and proposed improvement projects in the city also were held by the council, and projected improvements in the city's sewer system were discussed at length.

The council accepted a rate reduction plan submitted by the Texas Electric Service Company, and authorized the city secretary to file the utility company's annual report.

Truman Hopes Rationing Won't Become Necessary

WASHINGTON —(P)— President Truman Thursday expressed the hope that a return to wartime food rationing would not be necessary. But he said he would not object to a return should it become absolutely essential.
 He made these observations in response to questions which followed a reference to the plans for famine relief abroad.

Their Plea For Rapido Crossing Inquiry Denied

(NEA Telephoto)
Members of the 36th Division Association appeared before the House Military Affairs Committee meeting in Washington, D. C., to urge an investigation of the heavy casualties suffered by the 36th Division in the 1944 attack across the Rapido River in Italy. The committee rejected the request on the grounds that no good would be accomplished by such an inquiry. Left to right, Carl Phinney of Dallas, an ex-lieutenant colonel of the 36th, H. Miller Ainsworth of Luling, Texas, an ex-colonel and president of the association, and Maj. Gen. Fred Walker, commander of the 36th.

Pennies From Heaven Make Nickel Puzzle

NEWARK, N. J.—(AP)—The theory of relativity must have something to do with the four-year take from Newark's parking meters.
By actual count there were 4,904,770 nickels. The take in dollars and cents was $245,276.98.
Public safety director, John B. Keenan isn't very upset about the profit of $38.48. What bothers him is the odd change involved. It means that some good citizens tried—and succeeded—in putting pennies in the nickel machine.

Popular Turnover

BUENOS AIRES —(AP)— The entire population of the South Orkney Islands, southernmost inhabited land in the world, is being changed—all nine persons. The islands, belonging to Argentina, are well below the Antarctic Circle and their only population is the crew of a government meteorological station. This is changed annually when a government ship takes the new crew to the islands and brings back the old one.

Billy Mitchell's 1923 Cameraman To Shoot Bikini A-Bomb Tests

RCSWELL, N. M.—(AP)— When the atom bomb is dropped at Bikini Atoll in May one of the photographers will be Louis Hagemeyer, who helped photograph Gen. Billy Mitchell's battleship bomb test in 1923.

Hagemeyer was one of the three-man Wright Field photographic staff that took aerial photographs of the bombing from an open cockpit plane. At Bikini nearly 300 cameras will be shooting from 10 planes enough film in four seconds to produce four feature-length movies.
Hagemeyer is now a civilian expert at Wright Field. He is helping with the camera installation here.
In "Operations Crossroads" the camera planes will be 30,000 feet high and 15 miles away from the explosion. Geiger counters will warn the crews before the radioactivity becomes great enough to fog the sensitive film.
Nine photo planes took part in a dress rehearsal 200 miles off San Diego, Calif., Friday with a dummy bomb the size and shape of the A-bomb was dropped on a specially marked LCI ship.

Col. P. T. Gullen, veteran combat pilot and aerial cameraman, described the camera equipment—worth nearly a million dollars—as the most and best ever assembled for a single job.
A radio signal from the plane which drops the bomb will start the cameras operating—some of them at 1,000 exposures a second. Sixteen men will be aboard each photo plane and can start the cameras by manual switches should the radio signal fail.
In addition to these, there will be additional cameras trained on the explosion from the unmanned, radio-controlled "drone" planes.

Maybe Junior Already Has Eaten Enough

DALLAS —(AP)— Dr. Donovan J. McCune, New York City pediatrician, has a reassuring word for parents who are disturbed because their children don't eat enough.

Speaking at the conference of the Dallas Southern Clinical Society here he said "failure of a child or infant to eat may be evidence of a physical disease, but the majority of complaints are due to a violation of the parent's conception of what and how much a child should eat."

Schools Teach Spanish Latin-America Way Rather Than Pure Castilian Style

By BEN F. MEYER
AP Newsfeatures

SAN ANTONIO—Universities in the United States appear to have begun on a larger scale the teaching of Spanish as spoken in Latin America, rather than as pronounced in Spain—reflecting a greater Pan-American consciousness.

Spaniards pronounce the letter "c" before certain vowels with a "th" sound, as in the word "thin." In Latin America, this "th" sound takes on the pronunciation of "s."

On a recent trip through the United States with President Juan Antonio Rios of Chile, this correspondent was told by Spanish professors in several universities that more emphasis was being given nowadays to teaching Spanish the Latin American way.

The good professors, however, have this problem: no two countries in the Americas speak Spanish alike. Sometimes words used in Mexico are unknown in Peru, and expressions of every-day usage in Chile are not heard in Argentina. The Mexicans carefully pronounce every letter of a word, while some of the genial Cubans frequently overlook entirely the letter "s" except at the beginning of a word.

Latin Americans do not attach great importance to whether North

Americans speak with a Castilian or Latin-American accent, though it is not easy for them to understand why many United States schools cling to the pronunciation of Spain. They do attach importance, however, to the idea that foreigners in Latin America should learn Spanish. They are universally kind in helping anyone learn.

Spanish is spoken in all South American republics except Brazil, where the language is Portuguese. Indians dialects prevail in outlying areas of Mexico, Bolivia, Paraguay, Peru and some other countries.

In Haiti, French is the language of the educated. In country districts, one often hears a strange mixture of, apparently, French, Spanish, Latin and U. S. Marine—the Marines were there years ago.

Not even the foods of Latin America keep the same names from country to country. Mexico's "chili" pepper is Chile's "aji" and thus Chileans in their speech are saved from confusing country and condiment. Beans are "trijoles" in Mexico but "porotos" in Chile. The Chilean word is a telescoping of "por roto," which means, "for a poor farm hand."

Argentine Spanish shows a strong European, particularly an Italian, influence.

Weddings And What-Not On Hollywood Scene

HOLLYWOOD —(AP)— A note or two on the domestic scene.

Vera Zozina, recently Reno-divorced from Choreographer George Balanchine, says she'll wed Goddard Liberson, vice-president of Columbia Recording Company, as soon as picture schedules permit.

Hedy Lamarr and John Loder, who split several weeks ago, are reconciled and a spokesman for them says: "All thought of divorce has been forgotten."

And Gail Patrick's attorney obtained dissolution of a temporary restraining order, which six weeks ago barred her husband, Manufacturer Arnold Dean White, from bothering her.

Bed Of Justice Not All Roses

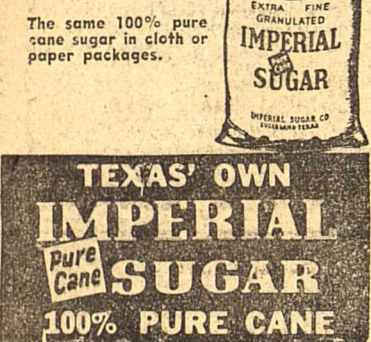

DES MOINES—(AP)—An old-fashioned upright box-type folding bed in his statehouse office solves the housing problem for Iowa Chief Justice William L. Bliss of Mason City when he's here on supreme court business.

It has served state supreme court judges for 40 years and the red wool blankets bear laundry marks of many former justices. Justice Bliss makes up the bed himself and recently bought new springs. He says it's very comfortable.

Fruit Stuffed Pork Chop

Pork chops stuffed with an unusual apple, raisin, and onion dressing are a dinnertime taste treat. To braise the chops to fork tenderness, first brown the stuffed chops in hot fat, then cover the skillet and cook the meat slowly until tender. Arrange chops on a platter with mounds of vegetables. If you're an extra "pork n'apple" enthusiast, serve a small bowl of applesauce alongside the fruit stuffed chops.

Their Navy Father Completed The War

SAN DIEGO, CALIF.—(AP)—The three children of Navy Chief Petty Officer Clarence E. Davey, sent the following to the San Diego Tribune-Sun on a sheet from a school composition book:

"Dear Sir: Here is some information for your 'welcome home' column. Our father has been in the Navy 18 years. He served on the USS Wright from the start of the war and in the South Pacific until May, 1944.

"He then went to the USS Horace A. Bass and completed the war by taking part in the capture of the Japanese battleship Nagato.

"We and all our friends think he brought home some fine souvenirs and if you want to see them come on out. Yours truly, John 12, Patricia Anne, 11, Mary Margaret, 8."

Skeleton Bares Secret Of King's Bad Temper

STOCKHOLM—(AP)—Swedish historians and medical experts who opened the coffin of Sweden's great King Gustav Vasa after 386 years believe they have found out why he had such a bad temper. They found a large cavity in his cheek bone due to an abscessed tooth which bothered him for an estimated 10 years. They also discovered he had small hands and big feet, one leg was shorter than the other.

Gustav Vasa, who was regarded as the "builder" of modern Sweden, died in 1560.

After scientific studies of his skeleton had been made, his remains were exposed publicly for a day in Uppsala's Cathedral.

UNO Turns Hunter College Facilities From WAVE Training To Peace Job

By ARLENE WOLF AP Newsfeatures Writer

NEW YORK—The Bronx division of Hunter College, where the UNO Security Council is starting the machinery of international peace rolling this month, was a training ground for war until recently.

Three years ago, coats and skirts of Navy blue replaced the multi-colored wear of the city college's own students as the Navy turned the 41-acre site into a training ground for 85,000 Waves, Marines and Spars. Before that, a total of 20,000 girls had used the Jerome Park reservoir campus for their educational stamping ground.

Davis Hall, one of two modern Gothic buildings used by both the college and the Navy for instruction and office space, has 120 classrooms for the UNO to work in, as well as a small cafeteria. In addition, the UNO will use a larger 2,500-person cafeteria in the spacious student hall, and the million-dollar, three-story physical education building where Hunter students worked out in maroon and green gym rompers. Present plans are for the UNO to use the buildings until May 15.

Largest Women's College When the Bronx division of the largest college in the world for women opened in 1931, with two of the present four buildings complete, Hunter students for the first time in history of the college had a campus. Formerly the college was scattered over the face of the city—part in an old loft building, where mice and misses got along as best they could.

The college, which like the UNO has had its share of housing troubles, had its first real home at 68th Street and Park Avenue. Today the same block is the site of a huge modern $6,000,000 skyscraper of education dedicated in 1940. Now giving courses in almost everything under the education sun, Hunter was the first to introduce normal training courses for teachers, the first to give kindergarten theory courses, and the first to offer free training for women.

The three-story gymnasium building has four small gyms and one huge gym that can seat 1,000 when the Security Council meets. There are 60 showers in the basement, lockers, hair-driers, a 75-foot swimming pool, offices, dressing rooms and even laundry equipment.

The Navy vacated the premises early in February, and at present has just a small complement to take care of the few pieces of Navy equipment still on the site. When the advance secretariat party of the UNO toured the gym to check on proper accommodations for the Security Council, the Navy was moving out the last of its property. But a few peculiarly Navy touches remained for the secretariat to see—the shore patrol at the entrance gate, a ship's bell outside the building, and little touches like the "How's your weight, mate?" scattered on placards.

The UNO people, set down at LaGuardia Field on a Monday, found themselves whisked up to the Bronx the very next day, and contemplated a 45-minute subway ride up from midtown hotel rooms each day of the six-week sessions in March and April. The Navy had commandeered surrounding apartments for its personnel, but the buildings were turned back to private rental before the UNO settled its temporary housing problem at Hunter.

If spring is early this year, the 100-odd members of the council (from the U. S., Great Britain, Russia, China, France, Australia, Brazil, Egypt, Mexico, The Netherlands, and Poland) and their secretariat will be seeing a bit of country in the Bronx, providing they turn their eyes from the Jerome Avenue elevated which skirts the east side of the campus.

As the mild weather comes, the grass on the college quadrangle will begin to peep through the snow, and the ivy (planted by early students from slips from the Vatican and Mt. Vernon) will make its budding way along the college walls. The tennis courts will emerge from their winter blanket, and all the land where additional buildings once were planned for the college will be green.

College Is 75 Years Old Hunter College, which celebrated its 75th anniversary last year, has grown from the "Female and Normal High School" of 1870 which taught 1,000 students on the second and third floors of a rented loft building at Fourth Street and Broadway to an institution which up to last year had graduated some 45,000 young women. Under the guidance of Thomas Hunter, this second oldest college in the United States for women opened with four professors and Supt. Lydia Wadleigh. Today it has a day student registration of about 5,000, almost 400 teachers, and as many deans as the original teaching staff.

Are You A Railroadman Or Are You A Mouse?

STAMFORD, CONN.—(AP)—The New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad has a mascot, but officials of the "New Haven" probably know nothing about it. On two occasions a mouse has been observed very much at home in day coach 8284 enroute to Stamford from Grand Central Station in New York. Car 8284 is one of the road's most modern and to date none of the women commuters has tried to stand on a seat.

Ain't No Such Animal, Says Polar Bear

BALTIMORE—(AP)—Spring and Minnie, the Baltimore zoo's elephant, arrived just about the same time in the life of Snuffy, 14-month-old polar bear cub.

Snuffy was flown here last fall from the Arctic, and Minnie hadn't been let out into her yard since last summer—until the other day.

Minnie, sniffing the spring air, snorted happily, trumpeted and ran around her pen. Snuffy took one frightened look, then made a bee line for his rocky den.

Bear's A Card And Gets Alec's Number

FAIRBANKS, ALASKA—(AP)—A bear ransacked Alec Hagland's cabin on Good Hope Creek near Livenood and apparently with good hope for hibernating on a pension the bruin got away with Hagland's social security card. Neighbors have suggested that Juneau territorial authorities be warned not to advance any payments due to Alec to any bear bearing false whiskers.

Consumption of diesel oil in the United States has trebled since 1941.

Eire's Army Shrinks As RAF Lures Men

DUBLIN—(AP)—Eire's army is smaller today than at any time in the quarter of a century of its existence. Two years ago it was at the peak of its strength, a striking force of almost 100,000 highly trained men backed by some 150,000 members of the Local Defense Force.

Demobilization, which began a few months ago, has been unexpectedly heavy. Re-enlistments have been few. Gratuities for discharged men amount to as much as 100 pounds which is big money to an Irish soldier.

Too large a proportion of the discharged men are crossing the border to Northern Ireland to join the British Army which, particularly in the RAF, offers many inducements to adventurous young men. The peace-time strength of the Eire Regular Army will be 12,500 men.

Airplane Fox Hunter Needs Flock Of Dogs

ANDERSON, IND.—(AP)—Arthur Darlington, airport owner, hunts foxes with an airplane and 12 gauge shotgun. He has killed 34 since Christmas, collecting a $5 bounty on each animal and $3.50 for each belt.

It isn't a sure-fire method, Darlington admits. He fired 25 shots on one flight without hitting a fox.

Yes, We Have No Banana Splits

Electra To Commemorate Field's 35th Year

ELECTRA.—(AP)—Plans are complete for a celebration here March 31 and April 1 to commemorate the Clayco No. 1, Woodruff-Putman wildcat gusher which blew in April 1, 1911, opening the Electra Oil Fields and beginning the development of the oil industry in Northwest Texas.

The 35th anniversary program will include the dedication of a bronze plaque in honor of the "mother well" which produced oil 23 years before it was abandoned.

A rodeo and horse show Sunday afternoon will be preceded by a parade. A parade will also be held Monday afternoon.

Olin Culbertson and Beauford Jes-ter, members of the Texas Railroad Commission, are expected to be present.

Hot Cross Buns Lenten Treat

For a Lenten breakfast—homemade hot cross buns.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
Years ago, Hot Cross Buns were served only on Good Friday. But in recent times, they have been featured as a daily Lenten special.

Hot Cross Buns
(Made from refrigerator dough) (4 to 5 dozen buns)

Two cups milk, 1/2 cup honey or corn syrup, 1/2 cup raisins, 1/4 cup fortified margarine, 1 cake compressed yeast, 1 egg, well-beaten, approximately 7 cups sifted flour, 2 teaspoons salt.

Measure into a saucepan the milk, honey, raisins, and margarine. Heat slowly to boiling; remove from heat. Cool to lukewarm; crumble compressed yeast and add. When yeast pops to surface, stir and add 3 cups of flour, salt, and egg. Beat until batter is smooth. Gradually stir in remaining flour to make soft but not sticky dough. In using new 80 per cent extraction flour, follow same procedure, experimenting to see whether or not you need a little less flour to get right consistency.

Turn out on floured board and knead until dough is softly elastic, adding flour as needed for handling (but no more than necessary). Use margarine to grease a bowl well and to grease the top of the dough after it is placed in the bowl. Cover with cloth; set in warm (not hot) place to rise to almost double its bulk.

When risen, cut down with a knife to permit some of gas to escape. Give the dough a few turns, to re-shape into a ball. Store in the greased bowl; grease top of dough well. Cover bowl tightly. Store in refrigerator, removing portions of dough when needed. Shape into rolls; grease each well with a little additional margarine. Arrange in greased baking pan. Set to rise in warm (never hot) place, to twice its bulk.

Just before baking, cut a cross in top of each. Brush with an egg or a little more margarine. Bake in quick oven (375 degrees F) 30 to 40 minutes (depending upon number baked at one time). Remove from pan. Cool slightly.

Repatriates Jam Warsaw's Ruins

WARSAW, POLAND.—(AP)—War-torn Warsaw's population has increased 300,000 in recent months, and the steady tide of humanity continues to sweep into the capital.

The big influx of Polish repatriates from Soviet Russia and western European countries has given government officials a double-barreled headache. They explain they had trouble enough trying to find shelter for the 400,000 people already in Warsaw, but now with 300,000 more, their job of finding housing facilities borders upon the impossible.

Warsaw's prewar population was 1,300,000. Officials believe that total again will be reached within six months if the present trend continues.

It is the government's plan to send most of the repatriates into Poland's new western territories and thus give Warsaw a better chance to rebuild while simultaneously developing the lands acquired from Germany. In the meantime, however, the government does have to try to find living space for the tens of thousands who have to stay in Warsaw for weeks or months before they move on.

Congressman Case, Rancher, Owner Of Newspapers, Authors Labor Bill

By FRANK I. WELLER AP Newsfeature Writer WASHINGTON—It's beyond a lot of people who know him, how Rep. Francis Case ever came to write his proposed "Labor Disputes Act, 1946." He's never encountered a strike or a lockout. His two newspapers are "open shop." All the union labor in South Dakota, his home state, would rattle in a gopher hole. He says a senator from an eastern industrial center asked him to keep out of this business... that he didn't know a damn thing about it. Case, a Republican, is 49, ups 5-foot-8, weighs 165 pounds. In addition to being a Congressman since 1936, he ranches 900 acres in the Black Hills and runs two weekly newspapers, the Custer Chronicle and the Hot Springs Star. A Non-Cussing Ex-Sergeant "Casey," as they call him, is an ex-Marine who doesn't smoke, cuss, play cards, booze around, or anything. He was a drill sergeant in the old war. His father was a Methodist minister but Case says he doesn't go to church "half enough."

Case says he strictly is a friend of labor and that his bill proves it. He says, "I insist that it is equally important to protect the rights of labor and industry and the general public in the processes of collective bargaining. Would Outlaw Force "My bill declares the use of force, violence and compulsion to be against public policy. The desired end of bargaining between management and labor is a contract. Once that contract is made, it must be equally binding and enforceable on both parties."

In some ways Case is a "card." He fishes but isn't much good. They elected him to the Custer, S. D., "One Shot Club" last August when he knocked over a big buffalo with a single bullet from a .306 rifle, using telescope sight. One time he had to escort a batch of redskins around Washington. The chief, Spotted Owl, said through an interpreter that Washington never would amount to anything because it was too crowded for its size and too far from home.

School Bond Election Scheduled At Kermit

KERMIT—A $300,000 bond election for Kermit Independent school district is to be held in the high school library Saturday with M. H. Alberts as election judge.

An emergency census recently completed for the district enumerated approximately 400 students who have moved here since the regular scholastic census in March, 1945, according to S.M. Melton, school superintendent. Total enrollment at the close of the fifth school month this year was 1,320, compared with 985 for the same period last year.

King Leopold In Trouble With People Of Belgium

By JOACHIM JOESTEN NEA Special Correspondent NEW YORK (NEA)—Leopold, king of the Belgians, is the youngest member of the northwestern group of constitutional monarchs. He is also the only one of them who has gotten into trouble with his people.

The reasons for this are many and varied. They range from personal characteristics, through a fateful military decision, to his unpopular second marriage. Leopold has made mistakes, but he has also been the victim of circumstances.

He is a tragic figure—in the sense of classical drama. Tragedy, personal and national, has overshadowed his path from his early youth.

Born, Nov. 3, 1901, he was not yet 13 when the Kaiser's armies invaded and ravaged his country. Throughout that war, in which his father, Albert I, won worldwide acclaim as the gallant "soldier-king," the prince lived the life of a simple private in the 12th Regiment.

On Feb. 17, 1934, King Albert was killed by a fall while rock-climbing near Namur. Leopold succeeded to the throne.

Then, after only a short reign, tragedy struck again. In August, 1935, Leopold's wife, Queen Astrid, was killed in a motor accident in Switzerland.

During the next few years, Leopold's popularity waned steadily, and he did little to improve matters. There was a wide-spread feeling that the young monarch had pro-Fascist leanings.

Leopold might have redeemed himself if, in May, 1940, he had lived up to his father's record. At the start of the Nazi invasion, he appeared to do so by taking the field at the head of his army. But his capitulation on May 28 spoiled everything. The circumstances of that surrender are not yet fully cleared up and the controversy as to its motives and justification continues. But even giving Leopold all the benefits of the doubt, and assuming that he was prompted, above all, by the desire to spare his country needless suffering, the fact remains that his decision to capitulate was taken against the formal stand of his cabinet. Leopold hardly deserved the epithets of "traitor" and "King Quisling" that were freely bestowed upon him at the time, but he did not act situationally. The Belgian people have never forgiven him for this.

For the next four years, Leopold lived in a mild form of German custody at Laeken castle, Brussels. He regarded himself as a prisoner of war, and did not exercise his functions, but his personal movements were not much restricted. During this period, he did two things that heavily weighed down the balance of popularity against him. On Sept. 11, 1941, he married a commoner, Mary Lelia Baels, beautiful daughter of a former cabinet minister and governor of West Flanders, Henricus-Ludovicus Baels. He made her Princess of Bethy, but she cannot become queen. In July, 1942, she bore him a son, Alexander.

Leopold's morganatic second marriage met with general disapproval in Belgium. The other thing Leopold did during that time was more compromising. He twice visited Hitler at Berchtesgaden, of his own free accord. It is not possible yet to pass final judgment on the motives of the king, and on the nature of his talks with Hitler, but a memorandum released by the Belgian Government, on Nov. 2, 1945, is quite incriminating. This is a transcript of notes taken by Dr. Paul Schmidt, the Fuehrer's personal interpreter of a meeting between Leopold and Hitler in November, 1940.

According to Schmidt's account—whose authenticity Leopold has hotly contested—the king "thanked the Fuehrer for all he had done up to the present for Belgium." He also quoted Leopold as having declared that "he entered this conversation with the Fuehrer in full confidence because he knew how to appreciate the great work the Fuehrer has undertaken and knew his wish to give Europe a durable peace based on justice, collaboration, and understanding between peoples. With such a program the Belgians would certainly cooperate."

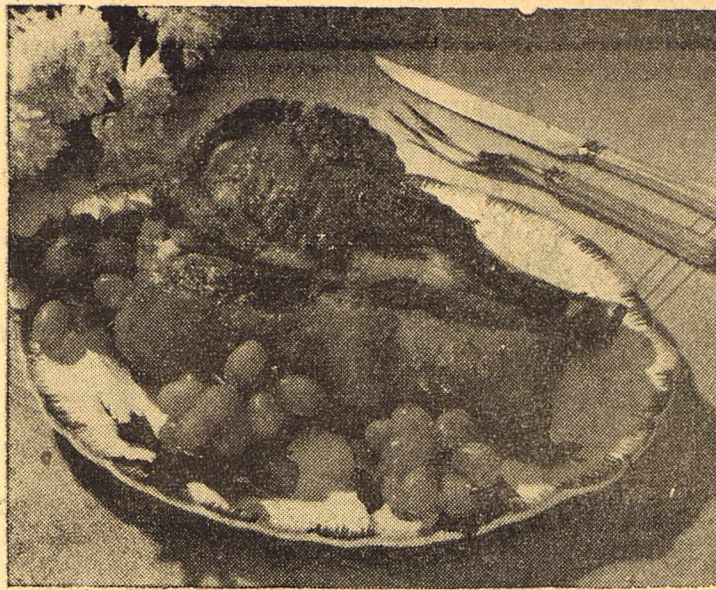

Whatever the extent and degree of Leopold's "collaboration" while at Laeken, the Germans did not feel too sure of him. Immediately after the Allied invasion of France, in June, 1944, Leopold, his wife and the four children were forcibly taken to Germany, first to Godesberg, later to Austria. There they were liberated, near Salzburg, early in May, 1945.

Meanwhile the Belgian Parliament, following the country's liberation, on Sept. 19, 1944, had set up a regency, with Leopold's younger brother, Charles, Count of Flanders, as Regent. When the king, having regained his freedom, prepared to return to Brussels to reclaim his throne, strong opposition arose. After a long-drawn-out and vicious controversy, Parliament voted to continue the regency and virtually exiled the king until the sovereign nation, at its first general election, can solve "l'affaire royale" one way or the other.

Rib Roast Of Beef

Rib roast of beef, plump and gloriously browned, is a thing of beauty on the dinner table. To achieve perfect results in roasting, keep one important point in mind. Use a low oven temperature. Roast at a temperature no higher than 325 degrees F., add no water to the pan and do not cover the roast.

Feather Bed Makers: Here's Your Man

FORT ATKINSON, WIS. (AP)—Ernie Hausen isn't even mildly concerned over the news that a wonderful new machine has been built to remove feathers from chickens five times faster than by hand.

Ernie is the world's champion chicken-picker. He can do the job with his hands in three-and-one-half seconds. He's 60 years old now and has been meeting all challenges for 20 years. He picks chickens by the hundreds just to keep in practice. He'll do it blindfolded or wearing handuffs.

Hausen dips the chickens in 164-degree water, quickly runs his large, powerful fingers across the wings, from the tips inward; does the same with the legs, finally peels the feathers from the back and breast. Suddenly the bird is as bare as a billiard ball. It doesn't have to be singed.

He tells of picking 1,472 birds in seven hours and 45 minutes in a contest.

The discovery that coal could be used to produce high temperatures was first made by the Chinese in the sixth century.

Public Dinners Are Not Ruled Out Truman Says

WASHINGTON (AP)—The White House said that President Truman is asking for the conservation of vital foods rather than the elimination of public dinners during the world emergency.

Press Secretary Charles G. Ross made public the following telegram to Arthur J. Hartnett, executive secretary of the Hotel Association of Washington:

"The President directs me to say that he is not suggesting the elimination of public dinners as such but rather the fullest possible conservation of food supplies needed for the relief of hunger throughout the world."

"Banquets in which menus conserve cereals, fats and oils to the full extent asked by the famine emergency committee and conserve types of foods suitable for shipment abroad are in cooperation with the food conservation program."

Hartnett had asked Truman for clarification of his statement respecting "mass dinners" in connection with the cancellation of a banquet scheduled here by the Collier's Congressional Awards Committee.

No Warning Signs On Coyote Traps

A large number of cyanide gun traps for coyotes are located throughout Midland County, a check Thursday revealed. The traps do not belong to the county, but have been set by federal agencies.

H. I. Cawthorn of Trinidad, Colo., has written officials in West Texas protesting the use of the gun traps, which he terms "human coyote getters." Cawthorn said his wife suffered a severe wound to the palm of her hand while on a picnic at the Elephant Butte Reclamation project in New Mexico January 22, and that no warning signs concerning the reported 80 guns were posted on the project.

Hal Burnett, Crane County commissioner, declared the traps are being placed along streams, roads and property lines, and said warning signs should be placed near them.

Warning signs have not been posted on the traps set in Midland County, stockmen said.

New Product Ushers In New Wash Methods

Midland citizens will find in Thursday's issue of The Reporter-Telegram news of the fast-growing new product which women find advantageous in both heavy wash-day washings and in that tedious daily task of "washing out a few things by hand."

This product is called Blu-White Flakes add to the cleansing action, and give extra suds. In addition, Blu-White Flakes blue white washing goes on. Thus it ends all need for the extra bluing rinse that is so hard on clothes and takes so much work. And many users find that clothes come out with a more dazzling whiteness. Bluing spots and streaks are entirely done away with.

In addition, Blu-White Flakes are all that is needed when one does "washbowl washings." Merely dissolve Blu-White Flakes in the water.

"Not only are Blu-White Flakes safe for washable colors and for finest lingerie," says Archie Tarr, advertising manager of Manhattan Soap Company, makers of Blu-White Flakes, "they also are a wonderful work-saver for washing baby's clothes, blankets, towels, sheets, and a real beautifier of the little personal things such as dummies, gloves, collars and the like."

Some Taxpayers Are Evidently In Rut

BALTIMORE —(P)— Baltimore county treasurer, William J. Foley, classifies all taxpayers into (a) those who pay, (b) those who don't pay, and—believe it or not—(c) those who pay twice.

He says those in class (c) aren't motivated by an unusual feeling of generosity toward the county government; they "just want to be honest men." They have borrowed from building and home loan organizations—which pay the taxes in lump sum—and they file their own returns even though they don't receive tax bills.

GIs Promised Chance
To Sound Off Gripes
On Officer System

WASHINGTON —(AP)— GIs have been promised a chance to sound off on what they think is wrong with the Army's officer system.

But when they sound off, it had better be good for five of the six men on the inquiry board hearing their complaints will be ex-GIs—and ex-GIs have surprising sales resistance.

Vice Adm. Louis E. Den Feld, chief of naval personnel, said the Navy planned a similar investigation by reserve officers and enlisted men.

After months of criticism of the relations and privileges of enlisted men as against officers, Secretary of War Patterson named a board of six service men, now reconvened to civilian life, to inquire into all the gripes which the lowly yardbird has brooded over.

The board is headed by Lt. Gen. James H. Doolittle, now on terminal leave from the Air Forces, and the only member who cannot claim that he started at a strictly GI level. Doolittle enlisted as a flying cadet in World War I.

Doughnuts Are Real Taste Treat

Doughnuts, apples and cheese cubes, broiled on skewers.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Run a steel skewer through alternating slices of doughnuts, cheese, and apple, broil a second, and eat warm. That's a good snack. Try it for a luncheon novelty.

Doughnut Kabobs
Plain doughnuts, apples, processed American cheddar cheese. Cut each doughnut in four bite-size pieces. Peel and core apples; cut crosswise in slices 1/2 inch thick; cut each slice in quarters. Cut cheese in 1/2 inch cubes. String doughnut pieces, apples pieces, and cheese cubes alternately on short skewers, beginning and ending with doughnut pieces. Run under broiler just long enough to soften cheese slightly. Serve at once with a hot beverage or cider.

Doughnut Sandwiches
Combine 1/2 cup peanut butter, 1 tablespoon steamed raisins, and 1 tablespoon finely-chopped nuts. Cut doughnut crosswise; put halves together, sandwich fashion, with peanut butter mixture.

Doughnut Peach Fluff
(Serves 6)
One-third cup pureed canned peaches, 1 tablespoon marmalade, 1 teaspoon lime juice, few grains salt, 2 egg whites, 6 plain doughnuts, 6 maraschino cherries. Combine pureed peaches, marmalade, lime juice, and salt. Beat egg whites stiff; fold in. Split doughnuts crosswise. Fill and top with peach fluff. Garnish with cherries.

Doughnut Sunday Breakfast Treat
Combine equal quantities pitted, chopped cooked prunes and marmalade. Cut doughnuts crosswise. Put together sandwich fashion with marmalade mixture.

Scranton Reporter Is Credited With Exposing Corruption By Court

WASHINGTON —(AP)— A Scranton, Pa., newspaper reporter was instrumental in ending "the most corrupt situation that could possibly exist in any federal court."

He is George Martin of the Scranton Times.

Chairman Kefauver (D-Tenn) of the House Judiciary Subcommittee which made the sixth and final inquiry into Johnson's 20-year career on the Pennsylvania Middle District bench, praised Martin and The Times.

He told the House that the previous FBI investigations, which extended over a period of 14 or 15 years, "all developed the fact that there were many irregularities (in the Middle District Court)."

"But although there was a whole lot of smoke, he added, "there was nothing tangible for an indictment or impeachment."

It was then, Kefauver said, that Martin and The Times began providing leads for the committee. He said:

"He wrote stories which his paper printed indicating irregularities in the court. Influence was used against him to get them to desist. But in the face of great obstacles, they kept up the fight to bring the whole matter out into the open. "It was largely the information he gave us and the leads he provided that led us to the facts in our investigation."
