ing the bluish green uniforms of Communists, killed at least four U. S. Marines and wounded 19 others with automatic weapons, rifles and grenades during a violent four-hour attack on a truck convoy of 100 Leathernecks, eyewitnesses related Tuesday.

A search is being made for other Marines, believed to be still missing.

The attackers, lying in ambush in cornfields 35 miles southeast of Peiping, would have wiped out the convoy had the Marines not elected to jump back in the trucks and roar away under fire, the witnesses said. (In Nanking, Chou En-Lai, chief Communist negotiator in efforts to settle China's fratricidal strife, expressed belief that the clash resulted from Marine provocation of Communist forces during the past three weeks and added that "Communists have absolutely no intention of unleashing a conflict. (He said Communists have been provoked by Marine intrusions into

Maj. Fred J. Frees, of Sicux Falls, S. D., who was with the convoy of replacements bound for Peiping from Tientsin, said the attack erupted "like an explosion." "They threw everything at us during the first hour of attack except the kitchen sink," chimed in Sgt. James West, of Cincinnati.
Frees and West, both Army men, were convoy passengers.

The Associated Press: 'If the Marines had not reacted as efficiently and swiftly as they did, the convoy would have been taken in the first rush.' He declined to identify the attackers as Communists but said he saw two dead Chinese on the road who wore "bluish green uniforms, the color of those worn by Communists."

Byrnes Backs Requests Made By Two-Thirds

Australian Blasts Big-Four Domination

PARIS—(AP)—U. S. Secretary of State Byrnes told the Paris peace conference Tuesday the United States would stand by the conferences' recommendations in event it opposes by a two-thirds majority any of the peace treaties drafted by the foreign ministers

Byrnes spoke in the general as-sembly of the conference shortly after the Rules Committee had proposed unanimously that all committee meetings and general conference sessions be thrown open to the press of the world-a step toward the Wilsonian ideal of a generation ago of "open covenants openly arrived at."

Soviet Foreign Minister Molotov was not present in the hall when Byrnes made his speech, an answer to French President Bidault's inaugural address Monday. The Russian delegation, which has insisted upon unanimity of the four principal powers on recommendations to the peace conference, was headed the vice foreign minister, Andrei Vishinsky at the moment.

"The United States will stand by its agreements in the council of foreign ministers," Byrnes said. "But if th conference should, by a two-thirds vote of the governments here represented, make a contrary recommendation, the United States will use its influence to secure the adoption of that recommendation by the council.

Beginning his short speech with an object lesson on Democracy Byrnes said:

"Democracy cannot be imposed or taught at the point of a bayonet. As terror inspires terror, so good will can inspire good will.'

Evatt For Smaller Nations was jolted before it was an hour old Monday with an attack against major power domination and a demand that the smaller Allied nations have a stronger voice in the final formulation of world peace. The applause for Premier Georges Bidault of France, who opened the historic conference at 4:14 p. m. THE STORY: Cecily's wedding is over at last. But never will I forget the eruel thing I did to her. And Della, Cecily's mother, will never forgive me. I have adored Cecily since she was a baby—kept on adoring her even after I married Robert and my daughter Coriana was born. Long ago, too, I knew that Della was raising Cecily to he an insufferable snob, and that she was jealous of my love for her.

The STORY: Cecily's wedding informed me. "Cecily says that makes her better than Mercedes and me. Does it, Mama?"

When the two little girls grew out of babyhood, Della spent a fortune on Cecily's accomplishments, But Corinna was the more popular. Both were taking dancing lessons, and shrewd Della suggested we team them to appear at the occasional amateur shows put on by the town's civic organizations. I consented because it meant that I could see Cecily constantly.

VIII

CORINNA, you're not keeping time. Corinna, watch Cecily! I declare, Corinna, your feet are so big it's no wonder you trip over them!" Della would say.

Cecily, being the older, always felt that it was incumbent on her to instruct Corinna, not only on the fine points of their dances, but on behavior in general. I was not always with them during practice hours. Sometimes Della asked me to run upstairs and cheer Thorne. Sometimes she sent me into the kitchen to stir up a cake. "Mama," Corinna said one night

Our plane trip to the Pacific coast was made primarily in behalf of the fight against cancer in children. I have undertaken the task of raising $250,000 to build a new children's unit at Memorial Cancer Center in New York and to provide funds for research work. Our tour across the country was for the purpose of creating interest among bridge players in our campaign. Mrs. Alice G. McGuirk is going to start a cancer fund activity in Whittier, Calif. She sent me hand that came up in one of their games.

Naturally Mrs. McGuirk was disappointed when North passed her opening bid of two no trump, but when the dummy went down, she knew she had a job to make even that contract.

She won the opening spade lead with the king, then played her ace and queen of hearts, West winning the queen with the king. Another spade was returned and East's queen was allowed to hold the trick. The king of diamonds also was allowed to hold, but Mrs. McGuirk won the ten of diamonds with the ace, cashed the jack and seven of hearts then played the king of clubs. West made the mistake of refusing this trick, so Mrs. McGuirk cashed the ace of spades and threw West in the lead with a spade. All West could do was to cash his ace of clubs and give declarer the last club trick.

West should have won the first club lead with the ace. He would have cashed a good spade and the contract would have been defeated,
