REDS' EXPANSION TO BE BLOCKED

Price Control Again Placed On All Meats

Dairy Products To Be Without Ceilings

WASHINGTON —(P)— Price ceiling on meat, ordered re-established by the Decontrol Board, probably will go into effect at retail stores about September 3, an OPA official said Wednesday.

WASHINGTON —(P)— Pork chops, beefsteak, hamburger and all other meats are going back under OPA ceilings "at or close" to June 30 prices.

Milk, butter, cheese and all other dairy products remain free of ceilings, but controls will be slipped back on it prices of those items jump further.

Those main decisions of the Price Decontrol Board prompted widely varying reactions.

The meat industry spoke of dangers that black markets might spring up again and that the public would find less meat to buy.

And the CIO Cost of Living Committee said the decision to keep dairy products free of controls "will bring greater inflation to the American people."

Other Decisions of Board
On other points in its first decision, the congressionally created Decontrol Board:

1. Ruled against restoring ceilings on nearly all grains.

2. Authorized livestock and meat subsidies to be paid again, at June 29 rates.

3. Ordered price controls re-established on soybeans and cotton seed products, including salad and cooking oils.

Shortly after the three-man panel announced its unanimous rulings Tuesday night, OPA Chief Paul Porter told a reporter:

"Restoration of subsidies on meats means we can re-establish ceilings at or close to June 30 levels. Ceilings Effective Soon

"This is the case on beef, pork and veal. We have not decided yet on lamb."

OPA had announced earlier that ceilings would become effective Friday on any commodities recontrolled by the board.

Official said Wednesday, however, that a plan under consideration calls for putting ceilings on live animals Friday, with a time lag in each case before they apply at the packer, wholesale and retail outlets.

If this procedure is adopted, officials added, it may be several days before retail ceilings are re-invoked.

Ten head of four-year-old Mexican steers which will be used in the matched roping between Jim Espy of Fort Davis and Howard Westfall of Sheffield here Labor Day were brought to Midland Tuesday by John Dublin, chairman of the rodeo committee of Midland Fair, Inc.

The wild and wiry steers are furnished by the Abe Caruthers Ranch of Ozona.

Forty-five Brahma calves to be used in the championship matched roping contest between Toots Mansfield of Rankin and Homer Pettigrew of Grady, N. M., will arrive here early next week.

Calves Are Wild
The calves, averaging 240 pounds each, have never been roped. They will be brought from the Haley Ranch at Seymour.

Many cowboys from over West Texas and New Mexico are expected to enter the jack-pot calf roping contest which will complete the holiday card.

Reds Establish Own Government In Manchuria

NANKING —(P)— China's Communists announced Wednesday establishment of their own government of Manchuria, and said they would not discuss participating in any coalition government of China until all of the current fighting is stopped.

Some informed quarters here said that establishment of such a coalition had become "the last hope" of mediators seeking a permanent peace.

Communist spokesmen denied that their party was calling for all-out mobilization against Chiang Kai-shek's forces, and said they "have no desire" to overthrow his national government—which is strictly a one-party regime now.

Marshal Tito Defends Yugoslavia's Course In Downing Planes

BELGRADE —(P)— Marshal Tito, in a speech published Wednesday stoutly defended Yugoslavia's course in which two American planes have been brought down in ten days, declared the country intends to insist upon its sovereignty and shout-out that Yugoslavia wanted peace "but not peace at any price."

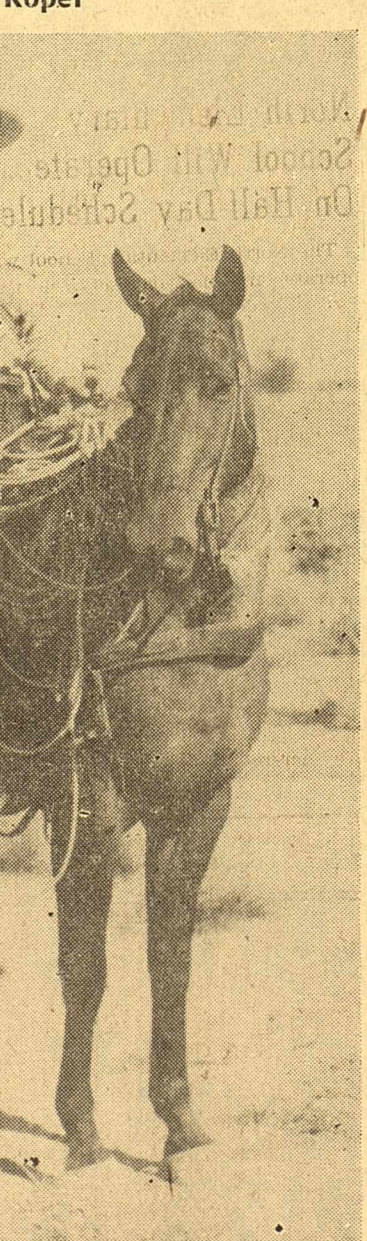

Saying he had witnessed the downing of one of the unarmed American transport planes, Tito denied the craft was lost in the clouds or was fired upon after it landed. He admitted, however, that an American plane had been forced to land. Previous eyewitnesses and official American accounts said the first plane strayed over Yugoslav territory from its course on a flight from Vienna, Austria, to Udine, Italy, Aug. 9 and was forced to land after Yugoslav fighter planes wounded one of the passengers.

Although Tito mentioned witnessing only one incident and did not mention the date, he is believed to have seen both. The second involved a C-47 brought down Aug. 19 near Bled. Tito was in Bled Aug. 19.

The Yugoslav Foreign Ministry in a note acknowledged that Yugoslav fighter planes attacked the transport and sent it crashing, probably with some fatal casualties.

Tito spoke before iron factory workers at Jesenice, near Bled. He charged that almost every day brought "incessant new violations of our frontiers and territory."

Champ Roper

Toots Mansfield, champion calf roper of the world, meets Homer Pettigrew, challenger, in the annual World Championship Labor Day, calf roping at the Midland Fair, Inc., grounds September 2. Mansfield, from Big Spring, won the world championship in 1939, 1940, 1941, 1943, and 1945. Pettigrew, from Springer, N. M., was runnerup to Mansfield in 1945 for calf roping honors and is five times world champion steer wrestler. They will rope 12 calves each for a $2,000 purse.

Texas Gubernatorial Candidates Hurl Charges And Challenges

By The Associated Press
Texas' two battling gubernatorial run-off opponents brought out heavy artillery Tuesday night and zeroed the sights on each other with charges, challenges and record comparisons.

Beauford Jester, the Corsicana railroad commissioner who is in his third political campaign, loosed a series of challenges at his opponent, Homer P. Rainey, in a Port Arthur speech which climaxed a busy day in thickly populated Jefferson County.

Jester called upon Rainey "to tell the people" why he has "changed his program," "has editorial support of the Daily Worker," "how he expects to create harmony in the Democratic Party" and, among others, "what he did for the State of Texas while he was in its service as head of the University of Texas."

Rainey, the former University of Texas president who is entering politics for the first time, told a Dallas rally Jester would favor a general sales tax to finance his program, that Jester was "not a free man," would not help the middle class business man or farmer, and warned that if voters followed the "people's path" they would "walk down it barefoot."

In his Jefferson County speeches, Jester also challenged Rainey to tell the state's voters "what out of state group has sent out of state money and workers into Texas to support him" and asserted that Rainey's service as president of the university "brought only turmoil and disturbance for which the university is still suffering."

Jefferson County is one of the 17 counties carried by Rainey in the July primary.

The railroad commissioner stated he was conducting his campaign "only on a discussion of political issues and omitting personalities, backbiting and criticisms while my opponent has forsaken the issues of the campaign."

Declaring that the governor of Texas must have had previous experience in dealing with boards and commissions of the state government at Austin, Jester said Rainey's closest approach to such experience was made while he served at the university.

"Heavy Hitters"
Rainey, crumming two radio broadcasts and a public rally into a single evening, told his Dallas audience, in baseball phraseology, that "we're staging a seventh inning rally" and "we're bringing in some heavy hitters."

He referred to Jerry Sadler, who ran fourth in the first primary, and to former Gov. James V. Allred.

Rainey said that his opponent had referred to him as being "dangerous" because he would not work in harmony with the legislature.

"Of course there'll be disharmony if I'm elected—I'll help throw those money changers out of the temple," Rainey stated.

"Of course I'm dangerous," he continued as he charged that rich, greedy monopolies controlled and exploited Texas' rich resources of gas, oil and sulphur. He said he favored a higher tax on these interests but that Jester did not because he was hired by them.

Midland Area Receives Rain

Rainfall in Midland was recorded at .76 of an inch Tuesday afternoon by the gauge at the city barn, while .94 of an inch was reported at Midland Municipal Airport. Reports from north, northwest, and north east of the city told of spotted rains varying from one-eighth to one-half inch.

Only light and scattered showers fell south of Midland.

Reports from Andrews said a half inch rain fell in the city and a good rain was recorded east of Andrews. Other sections of Andrews County received light and spotted showers.

County Agnt Vernon Young reported the rainfall will help the late cotton and feed crops, but that insects on cotton will become worse.

The showers brought relief from the severe heat of the past week. The temperature Tuesday dropped from a maximum 93 degrees to a minimum 58 degrees.

Partly cloudy weather was forecast over West Texas Wednesday night and Thursday, with a few widely-scattered showers.

U. S. Officials Reveal Carefully Planned Diplomatic Offensive

Relations Between America and Countries Within Russia Orbit Plummet To New Low

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER
Associated Press Diplomatic Reporter
WASHINGTON —(P)—The United States launched a carefully planned diplomatic offensive Wednesday against Russian expansion into fresh areas of the Middle East and Asia.

The master stroke was delivered with public announcement of this government's rejection of Soviet demands on the Dardanelles.

The broad outline of the form rejection would take had been known in advance, so the significance was in the readiness of top American officials to declare flatly, if privately:

There will be no turning back from this rejection—no "Munich-like" settlement with the Soviet Union over the strategic Middle-Eastern waterway.

President Truman, Secretary of State Byrnes, Undersecretary Acheson, Secretary of War Patterson and Secretary of the Navy Forrestal all have reviewed the American policy on this basis. And they are reported to have agreed that it must stand absolutely firm unless the United States is willing to grant Russia a new slash of domination from the Dardanelles to India and China.

"Grave Trouble" May Result
Concurrent with the release of the text of the note, which is itself diplomatically mild but firm, a high diplomatic official said that the Russians insist on having bases in the Dardanelles to the point of trying to use force "it will mean very grave trouble in the world."

The diplomatic official gave this account of the way American policy on the Dardanelles had taken shape:

The United States has opposed where it could—but generally had to be content with watching with misgiving—the extension of Russian Communist domination over Eastern Europe. The present difficulties with Poland, Yugoslavia and other Soviet dominated nations are regarded here as part of the general pattern of the struggle between the Soviet Union and the Western powers resulting from what American officials regard as Soviet aggressiveness.

With regard to Turkey, Russia has a legitimate interest in the Dardanelles—an interest first recognized in a 1774 treaty with the Ottoman Empire which gave the Russians certain rights in the strategic waterway.

Ever since, the Russians have sought periodically to increase their Dardanelles privileges. Moscow's Protests

What Moscow proposed to Ankara was that Russia and Turkey share in the defense of the straits. It was this to which American policy shapers emphatically object, even though they are willing to grant Russia many special privileges short of military control.

The American note to Moscow was one of two factors that sent relations between the United States and countries within the Soviet orbit plummeting to a new postwar low.

The other was this country's angry protest to Yugoslavia over the "outrageous performance" of Yugoslav fighter craft which attacked and forced an American transport plane to crash land. Premier Marshal Tito retorted that his country wants peace "but not at any price."

Bearing the signature of Undersecretary of State Dean Acheson, the Dardanelles note expressed the "firm opinion of this government that Turkey should continue to be primarily responsible for the defense of the straits."

Pointedly, it noted that the Russian proposal contained no reference to the United Nations—a clear-cut reminder that an international organization has been set up to handle all such security problems.

Threat To Security
"Should the straits become the object of attack or threat of an attack by an aggressor," the note declared, "the resulting situation would constitute a threat to international security and would clearly be a matter for action on the part of the Security Council of the United Nations."

Asserting that "this government holds that the 'regime of the straits' should 'function in a manner entirely consistent with the principles and aims of the United Nations,'" Acheson reaffirmed United States willingness to participate in any conference to revise the control policies.

Even as the strain on relations intensified from Trieste to the Black Sea, the Navy announced two of its top ranking admirals had left for Europe on a "routine inspection tour" that will include Mediterranean areas.

They are Adm. Marc A. Mitscher, acting commander of the Atlantic Fleet, and Vice Adm. Forrest P. Sherman, deputy chief of naval operations.

Governor Stevenson Blames 'Management'

AUSTIN—(AP)—Gov. Coke Stevenson Wednesday blamed "management" for Texas' educational faults. He took sharp issue with recently expressed views of State Superintendent of Public Instruction L. A. Woods, who endorsed Dr. Homer Rainey's candidacy for governor in a radio address Monday.
 Dr. Woods said in the address that the cause of the "friends of education" in Texas can best be served by the election of Homer Rainey as governor. He said Texas ranks 38th in education among other states.
 Stevenson cited an increase in legislative appropriations for education from $20,000,000 in 1920 to $83,845,000 for the current fiscal year ending August 31.

Major Fuss Develops In Campaign Probes
 WASHINGTON—(AP)—A major row broke into the open Wednesday over Congressional investigation of this year's election campaigns.
 The issues which sharply split two special committees set up to do the job are:
 1. How fast the inquiries should proceed.
 2. The procedure to be followed in certain cases, such as looking into the role of the CIO's Political Action Committee.
 The fuss was pointed up by a statement from Rep. Leo Allen (R-Ill.) that election law violations "are being encouraged" by what he termed committee "stalling and delay."

 GOCSE CREEK—(AP)—Homer P. Rainey, candidate for governor, in a speech prepared for delivery here Wednesday, charged "smear artists" plan to send a letter to every rural box holder in Texas in an attempt to make Texans believe Communists are for Rainey.
 "Communists have never polled over a few hundred votes in Texas," he said. "If you wanted Homer Rainey for governor, do you think they would get out letters to all the people of Texas who hate Communism as I do? Of course not."

GI Organization Plans To Place Guards At Polls
 HARLINGEN, TEX.—(AP)—Cameron County Democratic Executive Committee officials have received a demand from a "GI Good Government Committee" to authorize the ex-servicemen's group to place a guard at each of the county's polling places in Saturday's run-off primary.
 Chairman Ed Hawkins and Secretary W. J. Martin of the GI organization sent a telegram to Democratic Chairman H. L. Yates stating they were concerned particularly with the 15th Congressional campaign between Rep. Milton H. West and J. T. Ellis, Jr., a veteran of two wars.
 Martin later stated "There shouldn't be any shooting like in Tennessee but we mean business." He asserted the GI group is backing neither candidate.
 In a recent Tennessee election a GI group took over a county government during a ballot box dispute.
 "We want the vote counted," Hawkins said. "South Texas is notorious for its political machines."
 Yates sent a reply that the ex-servicemen would be given "fullest cooperation."

Exercise Relaxes Muscles

Swimming is one of the best exercises for getting kinks out of muscles.

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

You can "rest" by stretching out in a hammock or on the grass or sand, but you can't "relax." Most people can't because the ability to relax is crippled by modern living.

For that reason, most people must use an involuntary method of relaxing, the best of which is exercise. This relaxes you by chasing tensions out of your muscles.

Almost any brisk exercise will rescue you from your muscular tensions and at the same time give fine. So is a fast game of ping pong. The same benefits can be derived from golf, tennis, badminton and other sports.

But if you have the facilities near at hand for swimming, you have one of the best tension chasers of all begging you to wriggle into your bathing suit.

The boast of many a movie star is: "The pool is the place to let steam out of your emotional valves, strain that bit of acid out of your system, and kick out the kinks that snarl up your nerves."

American Airplane Flights Cancelled

BERLIN—(AP)—Gen. Joseph T. McNarney announced Wednesday American air transport flights between Vienna and Udine had been cancelled until further notice as a result of the downing of two of the planes by Yugoslav fighters.

McNarney said he planned to confer with Gen. W. D. Morgan, Allied commander-in-chief in the Mediterranean, on measures to protect the planes. He stressed that suspension of the flights was "temporary" and that they would be resumed as soon as he could work out a plan of operation with Allied forces in Italy.

118 Absentee Votes Cast In Primary

Twenty-eight absentee votes were cast at the county clerk's office in the courthouse Tuesday, bringing the total for the second Democratic primary to 118, the largest number recorded in a second primary in at least 16 years. Eighty-five votes were cast in person and 33 were received through the mail. Other votes were being received Wednesday through the mail.

Two county and four state offices will be voted on in the primary Saturday. In Precinct 1 of the county, J. C. Roberts and Sherwood C'Neal are opponents for county commissioner, while Marshall Heald and John M. King, Jr. are candidates for commissioner of Precinct 2. State offices concerned in the election are governor, lieutenant governor, commissioner of agriculture, and judge of court of criminal appeals.

Republicans Gain In New York City Vote

By The Associated Press An upsurge of Republican organization strength in some sections of New York City was noted Wednesday in the results of Tuesday's primaries.

Organization-backed candidates beat down attempts by Reps. Vito Marcantonio, American Labor, and Adam Clayton Powell, negro Democrat, to capture the Republican nominations for Congress as well as those of American Labor and Democratic parties. Two years ago they were successful in winning all three places on the ballot.

And Rep. Joseph Clark Baldwin, Republican, denied GOP organization endorsement, failed of renomination.

In Delaware, Democrats in convention renominated James M. Funnell to the Senate and Philip A. Traynor to the House.

Utah Republicans, in a run-off primary, apparently had chosen Arthur C. Watkins, Orem fruit grower, as their Senate candidate against Democratic incumbent Abe Murdock.

In New York, Marcantonio and Powell won Democratic nominations and were unopposed as American Labor candidates.

Decontrol Board Is Here For Long Stay

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Price Decontrol Board is here for a long stay.

Its decision—ordering ceilings restored on meats, soybeans and cottonseed—was just the board's opening move.

Under the law passed by Congress in July OPA will stay in business until June 30, 1947. Since Congress set up the three-man decontrol board to be boss over OPA, the board, too, will have to stay in business until June 30, 1947.

The board's next task is this: To decide whether to place ceilings on eggs, poultry, tobacco and petroleum. It's expected to do that soon.

After that the board will settle down to the routine job of checking and double-checking on what OPA does.

Two Airmen Die In Illinois Plane Crash

MOBILE, ILL.—(AP)—Capt. James Steen, pilot, and Marvin Fox, co-pilot of a chartered plane were killed and 10 passengers were injured, none believed seriously, early Wednesday when the craft crashed a mile south of the Moline airport.

It was reported that one of the plane's two engines caught fire in the air and the other went dead in an attempted landing at the airport.

The plane was said to have been en route from New York to San Francisco.

GAINESVILLE, TEXAS—(AP)—A shutdown of all dismantling work at Camp Howze resulted Tuesday afternoon when unorganized non-union laborers left their jobs demanding an increase in pay rate from 60 to 85 cents hourly.

Freedom Brief After "Amazing Escape"

DOYLESTOWN, PA.—(AP)—Robert Hendrickson, 21, of Philadelphia, enjoyed only 10 hours freedom after making what was described as "the most amazing escape" from Bucks County prison.

Hendrickson, charged with car theft, broke out of a solitary confinement cell, went through a steel mesh grating and a window, wriggled his 170 pounds through a hole five and one-half by 13 inches, and climbed over a 10-foot barbed wire fence and a 31-foot wall.

Warden Earl D. Handy said Hendrickson was recaptured five miles from the jail. He was sitting in a parked car waiting to call on a girl friend.

"I've got a job!"

A brand new telephone operator... that's me. Just started today.

Like it? Yes, indeed...especially one thing...everybody is so friendly. I felt at home right away. It's a nice clean place to work, too; pleasant surroundings, and the switchboard is really fascinating. I'm going to enjoy working for the telephone company.

And here's a tip, if you're looking for a job. More operators are needed right now. Experience isn't necessary because you learn as you go along.

The chief operator at the telephone office will be glad to tell you all about it. Why not see her?

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

By Alice M. Laverick

THE STORY: They brought Miss Charlotte into the hospital after the fire. Unconscious and suffering from shock, she looked just as beautiful as she had that eventful summer 10 years before when Cousin Ellen, the Fitzgeralds' housekeeper, asked my mother to let me come to Innisfall to help her out. I, 17-year-old Cecelia Hart, was never to forget that summer nor the Fitzgeralds. I had worshipped Miss Charlotte then and looking at her still face on the hospital pillow now, I found it hard to believe that her mind had been a blank for the 10 long years between.

III
THE thing that impressed me at once on that first day at Innisfall was the shining grandeur of the house and the richness of its furnishings, though, naturally, I was totally ignorant of the true value and beauty of the treasures of the Fitzgerald household. All I knew was that there was a certain thrilling elegance about the place as I glimpsed it from the kitchen doorway.

Cousin Ellen allowed me very little time for idle admiring thoughts, however. With swift efficiency, she was bustling about, tying her apron and exclaiming at the lateness of the hour. She was way behind in her work, she said. Indeed, it was almost time for herself to have her nourishment and I was to take it up to her before the nurse came down after it. If there was one thing Ellen hated it was those nurses snooping around her kitchen.

She put the glass of hot milk on a tray and told me to go up the front stairs with it.

"Her room's the first one you come to at the top of the stairs," she said. "Go easy now, and don't spill that."

I went up slowly, holding the little tray as rigid as possible and signing with relief when I reached the top.

It was then that I first saw Charlotte Brent and in the delightful shock of her loveliness, I very nearly did spill the milk. She was coming along the upper hall on her way downstairs and she stopped to greet me, to smile her charming smile and say, "You're Cecelia, aren't you? I hope you'll like us."

That was all, and she continued her way downstairs; but I walked straight past Mrs. Fitzgerald's door and traveled the length of the hall, tingling from head to toe at having been spoken to by such an exquisite creature.

I was still partly in a trance when I finally retraced my path and knocked at the door of the sick room. It was opened by the current nurse, looking decidedly cross. I later learned that her patient had just thrown a hot water bag at her for the third time that day. But at the time I only thought, how dreadful for a poor sick woman to have such a severe-looking nurse.

I GLANCED timidly in the direction of the huge carved walnut bed. There she lay, the lady of the house, frail and yellow-white, with sunken cheeks and closed eyes set in great hawk hollows. I stood silent, looking at her with my heart filled with pity.

I was suddenly aware that her eyes had opened and that they were jet black and piercing, and seemed to be glaring at me.

In a husky but authoritative voice, holding more than a hint of brogue, she demanded to know who I was. And my pity changed at once to a feeling that was almost fright.

"It's the girl Ellen brought to help her," said the nurse. "What did she say your name was? Oh, yes, Cecelia, Cecelia Hart, Ellen's cousin, you know. Now please drink this while it's hot, Mrs. Fitzgerald."

The old lady waved the tray away impatiently.

"Come here and let me look at you," she ordered, and I went over to the bed, still a bit fearful. From a nest of lace-trimmed pillows, she looked me over with her bright dark eyes.

"How old are you?" she asked tersely.

"Seventeen," I said, hoping my voice was not really quavering.

"You don't look it. And that's altogether too young to be working, anyway. I won't have it. I thought Ellen's cousin was an older girl. You're thin and your color isn't good."

I desisted myself for caring what she said about my coloring. But I was truly hurt.

"WHAT'S become of Ivy?" she was saying now, fretfully.

"Oh, yes, I remember, she got married, fool that she was. Some stupid man with a bad liver and no job at all. She'll be back, she'll be back. So you'll stay till she comes but, mind you, not a minute longer!" She paused, breathing heavily, and the nurse, looking worried, implored her not to talk and to drink the milk, rapidly growing cold in the glass.

"Let me alone, will you? And take that glass away!" The sick woman's voice rose to a shriek and then she lay back, panting, with her eyes closed.

I was horrified, fearing that I had been the means of bringing on an attack of some kind. It was high time I was leaving. As a matter of fact, I shouldn't have gone into the room at all.

But as I turned to go, she called me back, her moment of weakness seemingly over. I must speak to Ellen, she said, about giving me plenty to eat and letting me get out in the sunshine every day. Then she closed her eyes again and even before I reached the door, she proceeded to discuss me with the nurse.

"Plain, isn't she?" she said, with that in her voice that allowed for no differing opinion. Plain did she say your name was? Oh, yes, Cecelia, Cecelia Hart, Ellen's cousin, you know. Now please drink this while it's hot, Mrs. Fitzgerald."

The old lady waved the tray away impatiently.

Quite a few players seem to think it is rather odd to stick in a no-trump bid after an opening bid. This might work sometimes, but I believe that a psychic no-trump bid should be purely a psychic bid. When it is made by a player who has declarer's suit stopped and nothing else, it may give just the information declarer needs to make his contract.

West made a foolish no-trump bid on today's hand. South finally became the declarer at six hearts. It is true that six no-trump could be made, but with a singleton North could not be blamed for choosing the safer contract. A six contract was reached at most tables in the game, and in most cases was defeated because declarer tried to drop the hearts two-two.

The declarer who had the advantage of West's no-trump bid won the second club with the king, led a small heart to the ace, came back with a diamond and led the jack of hearts. When West played the nine-spot, declarer felt safe in taking the finesse.

Fancy bidding has an occasional advantage, but unless it is handled intelligently, it can be very detrimental.

East's two-club bid over the double of one no-trump did not show any strength. It indicated only a weak hand with a long club suit.

Fielding H. Yost Dies In Ann Arbor

ANN ARBOR, MICH.—Fielding Harris Yost, 75-year-old University of Michigan athletic director emeritus, died Tuesday.

Victim of an acute gall bladder attack at his home here, "the coach" died not far from the college campus on which he wrought his own memorials and wrote his own testaments of victory.

Nelson To Defend Golf Title Wednesday

PORTLAND, ORE.—(P)—Byron Nelson, defending national professional golf champion who prefers medal to match play, stakes his title Wednesday in a pair of 18-hole "sudden death" matches at the Portland Golf Club.

Nelson, who automatically qualified, sat out Tuesday's second 18-hole qualifying round to catch up on his correspondence.

On the eve of the match play Nelson seemed more concerned with what might happen to him Thursday.

Nelson is gloomy

"I'll have to play either Herman Barron or Herman Kelsor Thursday if I get through—and they're plenty tough when you've only got 18 holes to maneuver in," Nelson gloomed.

The tournament medalist, big Jim Ferrier, erstwhile Australian now of San Francisco, was matched against Sam Schneider of Houston.

Ferrier shattered par and PGA records Tuesday with a nine-under-par 29-34-63, which, with his previous day's 71 gave him a medal score of 134.

All the name players got through the qualifying rounds.

Dodgers Only Half Game Ahead After Rejuvenated Pirates Triumph, 10-0

By JACK HAND Associated Press Sports Writer

Brooklyn stands in dire need of a fiery pep talk from cheer-leader Leo Durocher Wednesday with its National League lead shriveled to a half game after absorbing a 10-0 pasting from the rejuvenated Pittsburgh Pirates.

Stories that the last-place Pirates were putting on a closing surge to save their jobs under the new owners had been accepted with a grain of salt. But since Frank McKinney, Bing Crosby and associates bought the Pittsburgh franchise, the Bucs have hustled to seven wins in 10 games.

With seven more games against the Cards and four more with the Dodgers, Pittsburgh could very well prove the decisive factor in the championship battle.

Nick Strincevich, who lost his first seven starts in 1946, shut the door in the Brooks face, allowing only four hits. The pirates climbed all over Vic Lombardi and three successors.

The Cardinals lit into Johnny Niggeling for a 4-1 verdict over the Boston Braves.

Hale Beats Dunagan For Ping-Pong Title

F. B. Hale beat Lloyd Dunagan for the table tennis championship of the Junior Canteen in matches this week.

Hale out-tapped Dunagan, 23 to 21 and 21 to 19, after Dunagan won the first game, 23 to 21.

In the first round Hale defeated Euster Brown, 21 to 18, 21 to 9; Frank Shepard subdued Kent Miller 21-13, 14-21, 21-18; Dunagan outlasted Bob Cole, 13-21, 21-18, 21-15; Herman Hankla, bested Shirley Lones, 21-13 and 20-11.

In semi-finals: Dunagan out-volleyed Hankla, 11-1, 21-8, and Hale defeated Shepard, 22-20 and 21-9.

The Chicago Cubs gained ground on both Brooklyn and St. Louis by whipping the Phillies twice, 5-2 and 10-2, but lost Second Baseman Don Johnson with a fractured left hand.

New York advanced to within a half game of the slumping fifth-place Cincinnati Reds with a 4-3 decision engineered by Dave Koslo with home run help from Walker Cooper and Goody Rosen nullifying a workmanlike effort by Harry Gumbert.

Boston's pennant-bound Red Sox divided a pair with the lowly St. Louis Browns but stretched their lead to 14 1/2 games over New York with only 35 to go.

Jim Bagby grabbed his fifth win in the opener, 5-1, and Ellis Kinder of the Brownies fashioned his first major league success in the 5-4 finale with relief help from Tom Ferrick. Ted Williams bashed his 33rd homer.

Both Cleveland's Bobby Feller and Detroit's Hal Newhouser failed in their attempts to hit the 22 win mark, Feller bowing to Washington 5-4, and Newhouser losing to Philadelphia 2-0.

Randy Gumpert's eight-game win streak was snapped by Chicago as Ed Lopat turned back New York, 9-2, before a Yankee Stadium crowd of 33,989. Joe DiMaggio collected his 20th homer.

Pittsburgh Pirates Reject Baseball Guild

PITTSBURGH—(P)—Robert Murphy and his American Baseball Guild struck out for the third time as Pittsburgh Pirate players formally rejected the guild in baseball's first collective bargaining election.

Nineteen out of 31 eligible Pirates voted in the election conducted by the Pennsylvania Labor Relations Board Tuesday, but only three went to bat for Murphy.

One vote, that of Rookie Catcher Leroy Jarvis, was challenged by the board on grounds he had not been with the club long enough.

The defeat was the third for Murphy since he launched his campaign.
