Balkans Again Threaten To Blast Peace

Ukrainian Says Wars Have Been Prepared

By ROBERT C. WILSON PARIS — (AP) — The Ukraine warned the Peace Conference Thursday that "once more the Balkans may become the powderkeg of Europe" and threaten world peace.

Taking the side of Albania against Greece, in the airing of Balkan quarrel before a plenary session of the conference, Dimitri Manuilsky, chief of the Ukrainian delegation, declared:

"We now see how the declarations made here by Greece really can endanger the peace of the world. We know how wars have been prepared."

Greek Premier Constantin Tsaldaris sharply attacked Albania in a speech before the Peace Conference and served notice that he would propose an amendment to the Italian treaty to award Northern Epirus (Southern Albania) to the Greeks.

Greek claims to the territory "go back several centuries," he declared.

Paroled Convict Held For Robbery Levelland Bank

LEVELLAND, TEXAS — (AP) — Bond of $25,000 was set Thursday morning for Cecil Moran Pierce, 29-year-old paroled convict, when he was arraigned on state charges for the $14,928.45 robbery of the Levelland State Bank Wednesday afternoon.

Pierce was arraigned before Justice of Peace A. F. Odell. The state charge will be investigated by a grand jury to convene here September 9, Sheriff Ed Hofackett said.

Pierce will be arraigned in Federal District Court in Lubbock Monday on federal charges, officers said.

Officials said they had recovered all except five cents of the $14,928.45 taken in the robbery.

Pierce was arrested about four blocks from the Hockley County Courthouse after Howard Barry, 16, who had worked in a laundry, identified a shirt found a block from the bank.

FBI agents said Pierce made a statement concerning the robbery. In Dallas, FBI Agent Percy Wylie, II, said Pierce was a convict on parole from the California State Penitentiary, where he had served nine years of two life sentences for armed robbery.

A man walked into the bank at 12:25 p. m. Wednesday and proceeded behind the counter. He forced four bank employees at the point of an automatic shotgun to lie face down on the floor while he bound the hands of two of them behind their backs with friction tape.

The man had just started to rifle cash drawers when a customer, identified as G. A. Luck, entered the bank. Luck was ordered to lie on the floor and the man resumed his work.

More Clashes Reported In India Cities

Four Persons Are Dead; Score Injured

BOMBAY — (AP) — Communal clashes between Hindus and Moslems — which cost approximately 3,000 lives in Calcutta last weekend — were reported spreading Thursday through Bengal, Bihar and Assam Provinces, with four persons dead and a score injured.

In Dacca and Raniganj, both in Bengal, elaborate police precautions were taken to prevent further outbreaks of violence which killed two persons in each town. Other clashes were reported at Banka, in Bihar Province, and Sylhet, in Assam. Troops and armed police were on duty in both places.

Moslem and Hindu leaders in New Delhi both condemned the bloody Calcutta rioting and responsible observers said they did not think the bitter fighting would affect current efforts to form an interim government pending plans for making India independent.

Authorities sought to increase Calcutta's seriously depleted food supply as disposal squads continued a gruesome job of picking up bodies and clearing away the wreckage of looted shops.

Million Votes Are Expected In Runoff Primary

By The Associated Press

Texas' gubernatorial ball game was in its final innings and the two moundsmen, Homer P. Rainey and Beauford H. Jester, were being dug down, each seeking the weak spots of the other for use when more than a million voters go to polls Saturday.

From East Texas and from Houston the two opponents Wednesday used baseball phraseology in carrying out their attacks. The runoff campaign began with a series of baseball language telegrams.

Rainey, in a broadcast from Houston, said the game had gone into the ninth inning with Homer Rainey pitching, his opponent coming to bat, two down and the bases loaded.

He said the major railroads and bus lines were on first base, the major oil, gas and sulphur companies on second, and the Texas Regulars on third, "all of them hoping to steal home or get there somehow if their star player can just hit."

Jester Reads Letter But Jester, at a Gregg-Harrison County rally at Hallsville, didn't think much of Rainey's pitching. Jester quoted from a letter assailing his candidacy and which he said was signed by "Section Committee, Communist Party of Texas."

Quotations included, "A vote for Jester is a vote for enemies of the working people of our state" and "use your vote against the trusts of their agents."

After reading the letter, Jester said: "They (Communists) seem to be on his ball team. Now he says he is against Communism. It is just another one of the things he is ducking and dodging. He has lost his fast ball. He has lost his curve ball. All he's got is a mud-ball."

Rainey will conclude his campaign Friday night in San Antonio while Jester will be in Fort Worth after speaking during the day at Gainesville and Decatur.

Along with six other Air Day boosters they were entertained at a dinner party Wednesday evening, and given an official send-off Thursday morning.

United Nations Organization May Face Showdown

By CHARLES A. GRUMICH

NEW YORK — (AP) — The United States ultimatum to Yugoslavia threatens to confront the United Nations Security Council with a problem which could bring the whole peace organization to a bitter showdown which may hinge upon the Big Five veto power.

Council delegations were cautious Thursday in speculating on what might happen if the Yugoslav government ignored the American demand for release of airmen held prisoner by the Tito government following the shooting down of unarmed U. S. transport planes.

However, it was conceded that the American threat to appeal to the Security Council should Yugoslavia fail to comply would give the council its supreme test of authority to settle disputes peacefully.

Major Test Up to now the council never has been faced with such an emergency as might be brought before it were the Yugoslavs, stiffened by Russian backing, to ignore or reject the American ultimatum.

The Yugoslav case, if it reaches the council, is confidently expected in informed UN quarters to fit the pattern of conflict between Russia and the Western Powers over the Iranian and Spanish cases still languishing on the council's agenda.

The veto power vested in the Big Five, which Russia thrice invoked in the Spanish case, may well prove the deciding factor should the Yugoslav case come before the council.

Weather Partly cloudy Thursday, little change in temperature. Maximum temperature Wednesday 92, minimum 58.

Emergency Housing Committee Appointed By Mayor Fred Hogan

Mayor Fred Hogan Thursday announced the appointment of an Emergency Housing Committee to coordinate building activities, to disseminate construction information, to assist in providing adequate housing, and to assist the city in its building and expansion program.

Members of the committee are C. E. (Bud) Bissell, chairman; John H. Butler, H. H. Hamlin, Gordon Holcomb, and J. C. Velvin.

Special emphasis will be placed on housing for veterans, and a study of Midland's housing needs will be conducted.

Organization of the committee was perfected at a meeting of its members with Mayor Hogan and C. O. Harper, Chamber of Commerce president, Thursday.

A survey will be made soon to determine Midland's housing needs. The committee will attempt to set up and conduct a program designed to alleviate the acute housing shortage here.

The committee will serve as an advisory group for the city and for the various building agencies of the community.

The appointment of the emergency committee is in line with a nation-wide program as developed by the National Housing Agency.

Two Explosions Damage British Ship At Haifa

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON JERUSALEM — (AP) — An attempt by saboteurs to sink the British troopship Empire Rival just outside Haifa harbor was reported Thursday soon after British troops moved into the all Jewish city of Tel Aviv and out of four other towns in Palestine following new threats of violence by the Jewish underground.

Unofficial reports from Haifa said the saboteurs caused two minor explosions below the Rival's waterline but that she moved up to the docks. There was no estimate of the damage caused but two holes were believed blown in her side. The vessel had just returned from taking a second load of illegal Jewish refugees to Cyprus.

The Haifa harbor area was under curfew from the early morning hours until 8 a. m., reportedly because of the imminent departure of another transport, the Empire Heywood, for Cyprus with a load of illegal immigrants.

The Heywood was damaged in a sabotage attempt last Saturday when two small bombs were ignited in her hold.

Police said the Empire Rival blasts occurred before midnight, the first one shortly after two swimmers had been seen in the water nearby. It was believed that only crew members were aboard and that none was hurt.

In Tel Aviv, strong forces of soldiers and police moved in soon after midnight and all roads leading into the city were described as being jammed with military traffic.

Just before the troops entered Tel Aviv, residents of the city were thrown into a state of excitement by the accidental explosion of a boiler in a mill, causing a roaring fire.

American Ultimatum Demands Release Of Persons In Planes Downed By Yugoslav Fighters

By ALEX H. SINGLETON

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The United States is considering fighter plane protection for American transport planes which may have to pass near the Yugoslav border while flying the Austrian-Italian route, top diplomatic authorities reported Thursday.

The plan under consideration would retain the present absolute ban against any American flights over Yugoslav territory and would be designed to protect American aircraft from attack by Yugoslav fighter planes which might venture over Austria.

The whole consideration is based on a point made in the ultimatum sent to the Yugoslav government late Wednesday in which the United States said that the two airplanes already attacked by Yugoslav fighters may not have been over Yugoslavia at all.

The American note, demanding release of any of the 15 persons in the two planes who are "still alive," declared that for the time being the United States makes "no statement as to the exact location of the two planes when they were attacked."

Undersecretary of State Acheson Thursday called in Ambassador Herschel Johnson for a conference, presumably to discuss the possibility of filing an American complaint against Yugoslavia in the United Nations Security Council if the Yugoslavs do not comply with the 48-hour ultimatum.

Exact Time Not Determined The exact time the ultimatum period ends has not been officially determined. The question is whether the time begins to run from the hour at which the Yugoslav Foreign Office received the cabled text of the note from its Washington embassy, or when the American embassy in Belgrade delivers it.

State Department officials told reporters there probably would be some determination of the time elements later in the day.

Considerable interest was manifested by officials here in reports that American-made fighter planes reaching Yugoslavia through lend-lease channels may have been involved in the shooting down of American transport planes on Aug. 9 and Aug. 19.

In addition to scheduling a conference with Johnson, Acheson also arranged a meeting with Polish Ambassador Oskar Lange, who is serving this month as president of the United Nations Security Council.

Ready For Showdown Officials here have emphasized all along that the United States is not making any claim to the Yugoslav territory. The American case is based on the contention that the Yugoslavs had no right, however, to shoot down American aircraft which might have flown over their territory by mistake.

In this position the ultimatum added the additional point that the Yugoslavs had no right to send fighter craft beyond Yugoslav boundaries to shoot down American craft properly over Austria.

As the 48 hour ultimatum ticked away, the United States stood ready — if necessary — for a showdown involving the whole structure of world peace.

It warned that unless those "demands" are met within the time limit, the United States government "will call upon the Security Council of the United Nations to meet promptly and take appropriate action."

This would pose a clearcut test of the Security Council to function as an international agency for preserving peace in the face of veto powers held by the Big Five nations.

There were strong fears in American diplomatic quarters of possible Yugoslav defiance of the ultimatum — and with that possibility the chance that a Russian veto of Security Council action would have to be met.

But there was no American government reluctance to meet that challenge.

TO WOMEN OF MIDLAND COUNTY:

What are we, the women of this great and rich empire of a state praying and working for today? For honestly administered government, schools second to none in the nation, adequate public aid to the aged and needy, more and better roads in rural communities, a sufficient number of hospitals, adequate housing facilities, junior colleges, more women on advisory and executive boards to help push these things.

We want our girls and boys to grow up with the highest ideals of citizenship. We want democracy given a chance, interpreted by wise and honest leaders.

We, Texas women, who helped fight the war on the homefront while our men were battling on foreign fields will not desert them now. They have returned and are battling again all over the United States to recover honesty in government and to establish here the democracy they fought and bled for and their buddies died for in other countries.

My Friends: May I speak to you good Texas women for a little while today about some things that vitally concern you?

I am a Texan. My mother was a Texan. My wife is a Texan. My two daughters are Texans.

I'm sure I need not tell you that my mother and my family have helped tremendously to mould my life.

My mother drugged and toiled and sacrificed for her family and for other families.

Without her contributions, my father could never have established the fine Christian home in which it was my privilege to be brought up.

I'm sure your experience is the same as mine. The women of Texas have not only made the homes, they helped to build Texas.

Pioneer women stood shoulder to shoulder with their husbands and fought Indians, they ploughed in the fields, and knitted far into the night.

They were supposed to be partners with their husbands, and you are supposed to be partners with your husbands.

But the fine women of today are still relegated by law to the secondary and inferior roles of their mothers and grandmothers. The only recognition that has been given women is in pretty words and high sounding phrases.

The laws of Texas are still archaic, and women are not legally on the same basis with man.

In many respects, the law treats women as though they were children or incompetents, incapable of transacting business or handling their own property.

Being a woman is still a handicap before the law.

Let me give you an example: Under Texas law, the husband can not only dispose of his separate property, but he can do so as he pleases with the community property, except the homestead, without his wife's joining him.

But the wife can't dispose of even her separate property, without the husband's joining in the conveyance.

Her separate property may be what she inherited before the marriage.

It may be business property that she handled efficiently before marriage, but, after the marriage she can't handle it without going to court, or without joining by her husband.

My friends, it's a travesty to say that a sober Christian wife and mother is not capable of handling her property, but a drunken husband is perfectly capable of handling, not only his property but the community property as well; and that the consent of such a husband must be secured before the wife can convey property she had before she married him.

The plight of some good Texas women is evidenced by a letter recently published in one of our big dailies, and I quote: "I happened to marry a man who did not have a thing except 300 borrowed dollars, though of course I did not know at the time that he was so improvident.

But I have found that he had, and always has, lived up to the limit of a good salary. Also, that he had no ambition or desire to own anything or add to what I had when we were married.

All we had, and still have, belonged to me before I married him. I inherited this property from my parents, and earned myself by investment, while I taught school.

Now here's the rub: I am not able, or haven't been all these years, to sell anything that I had before I ever saw him, without his signature — the consent, one might say, of one who never had a say in the making. This is one of the rankest injustices ever perpetrated upon women, and many are the thousands of women in my situation . . ." (unquote).

Yes, there are nearly two million women in Texas over 21 years of age who are still living under the handicaps of an old law, which Homer Rainey wants to change.

Homer Rainey favors making it possible for women to dispose of their own separate property without having to go to court.

Here's another thing: Twenty-two years ago Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson was elected the first woman Governor of Texas.

But after she was elected, and before she could enter upon her duties, she had to defend a suit in the Supreme Court of Texas to get a holding that a woman could serve in public office.

Any kind of man could be elected and serve as Governor without question, but a woman, regardless of her qualifications, and culture, had to fight a lawsuit, brought by men, before she could take the office.

Here's something else. If it weren't so tragic, it would be funny.

We Texans like our community property laws, and we're going to keep them and improve upon them.

But, the fact that the husband can treat the community property, belonging to both husband and wife, as his own, and can do with it as he sees fit, is the controlling reason why the United States Supreme Court held against Texas in the community estate tax case.

If the law had given the wife, as a partner in the community estate, the right to deal with her half of the property, like the husband, the decision would probably have been the other way.

And Texas taxpayers would have enjoyed the full benefit of our community property laws.

We can amend these laws, in my opinion, so as to have the law provide actually what it says in principle.

In that way, we can avoid the effect of the United States Supreme Court's opinion and save taxes for both men and women.

Today, after the politicians have chanted for years about equality and liberty, Texas still discriminates against half her population!

150 years of talking about liberty, equality and fraternity, and still half of our people are denied equal privileges, not because of crimes they have committed, or because of lack of education, or because of lack of funds, but because of their sex.

Homer Rainey wants to help the good women of Texas to secure the passage of laws that will at least give them the right to deal with their own property, without having to go to court, or without getting the consent of the husband.

There are women listening, I am sure, who had property when they were married.

The mother of some of these women may have needed an operation, or something else, for years, but that good wife can't sell a piece of her own property to help her family without her husband joining in the conveyance.

That mother could go to the best hospital in the country and get that operation for the same amount that a play-boy husband squanders in a single evening in a gambling house or night club. The husband can squander the community money and property, and the wife, under present laws, can't stop him without bringing suit for divorce and injunction—the last thing a wife ever wants to do.

Maybe, by the time she brings the suit, the husband has hidden the property or disposed of it. These are exceptional cases. That just won't do!

Women must be better protected in their rights. There are many other discriminations against women. Women have not had their fair share of representation on State Boards and other offices.

This is especially true with reference to our Board of Education and our State schools—the things in which women are most vitally interested. It's not necessary to change the law to remove this discrimination. It can be removed by appointments at the hands of a Governor who feels that nearly two million women are entitled to as much consideration as the same number of men.

Homer Rainey will remove that discrimination when he is Governor. Texas women are interested in other progressive things. They have always helped to lead the fight for better schools and education, for the establishment of charitable organizations, for maternal and child care, and things of that sort. They have fought so much for others that they have done precious little for themselves. That's in keeping with the sacrificial spirit of their pioneering mothers and grandmothers. But the time has come when women must fight for themselves as well as for a secret ballot and things of that sort. It's time for a major operation on these discriminations against women. The women of Texas can get things done that ought to be done if they will assert themselves. They can help Homer Rainey to build the finest educational system in the Union, so as to give their children as good an opportunity as they would have in California. The women can help Homer Rainey to see that our public health and welfare programs are put on par with other states. Texas women can help in bringing electricity and modern conveniences to every rural home in the State to relieve farm women from the drudgery and humdrum life they're compelled to live. You women can help to make the lot of farm women happier and more prosperous by demanding a real system of farm-to-market roads, so their children can get to school and their husbands can get farm products to the market. How can you women do this? First, by organizing to help Homer Rainey, who advocates these things and has proposed a reasonable tax program to pay for them. Second, by continuing your organization after Homer Rainey is elected to demand of the Legislature of this State laws to remove women from the inferior status which they occupy at present. And, by continuing this fight with Homer Rainey for all these progressive things we must have to build a greater Texas. Womanhood has so impressively proved its position in history that there can be no slightest question as to the worthiness of women to share equally with men in public responsibility. Homer Rainey wants to share with you in your demand for the things to which you and your children are entitled. Homer Rainey will appreciate your sharing with him in the tremendous battle he is carrying on for these necessary things. Won't you help me? Good Afternoon.

Stocks Break Sharply In New York Exchange

NEW YORK—(AP)—Stocks broke sharply in Thursday's market following renewed weakness of American Telephone common which tumbled about $12 to a 1946 low in the wake of the company's huge financing program.

Steels, motors, rubbers and assorted "blue chips" fell $1 to $5 and, for an interval, liquidation was so heavy that the high speed ticker tape was two minutes behind actual floor transactions.

There were subsequent slowdowns and extreme losses were reduced. Brokers attributed the slump partly to the threatening foreign situation, wage-price problems and the recent refusal of the market to respond to favorable business news. Bonds and commodities retreated.

As the guests arrived they were received by the honoree, her mother, Mrs. J. A. Morehouse, and Mrs. McMillen.

Bouquets of pink roses were used in the living room and an arrangement of red roses centered the dining table which was covered with a cutwork cloth.

Make This Home Recipe To Take Off Ugly Fat

It's simple. It's amazing, how quickly one may lose pounds of bulky, unsightly fat right in your own home. Make this recipe yourself. It's easy—no trouble at all and costs little. It contains nothing harmful. Just go to your druggist and ask for four ounces of liquid Barcinate (formerly called Barcol Concentrate). Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill the bottle. Then take two tablespoonsful twice a day. That's all there is to it. If the very first bottle doesn't show the simple, easy way to lose bulky fat and help regain slender, more graceful curves; if reducible pounds and inches of excess fat don't just seem to disappear almost like magic from neck, chin, arms, bust, abdomen, hips, calves and ankles; just return the empty bottle for your money back. Follow the easy way endorsed by many who have tried this plan and help bring back alluring curves and graceful slenderness. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. More alive, youthful appearing and active.

Teenagers' Author List Popularity Rules

By ALICIA HART

Topping the list of campus commandments, made up for girls who'd much rather get off to school on the right foot than the wrong, is—guess what?

Don't pack your summer memories off to school. Dreaming of the pool and beach, which will be deserted even while your chin is on your hand, will get you nowhere.

This first commandment and nine others trooping behind come from Betty Betz. She not only writes a book for teen-agers and in their own language—"Your Manners Are Showing"—is soon to be published—but she designs clothes for them. Her cartoons via magazines, murals, stationery and greeting cards have invaded the homes, haunts and habits of teen-agers.

"Don't" number two she warns against that sad plight of starting school in a disorganized way. "Square off on the opening day of the school program and the books and supplies needed," says Betty Betz, "and you'll be ready for anything that pops."

No. 3: Do circulate, and meet new friends. That's the only way to insure your social security.

No. 4: Don't go steady with anyone, though. Don't get tied down with the first drip that drifts along, just to be sure of a Saturday night date.

BETTY BETZ: Rule-maker.

No. 5: Don't be extravagant when your allowance. If you must blow in a hunk of money on a gag sweater, save for it out of your budget.

No. 6: Don't pound the pillow when the alarm clock rings. Few come-latelies to class ever win Phi Beta Kappa keys.

No. 7: Don't skip breakfast. If a good breakfast is the backbone of the worker, it goes ditto for the student.

No. 8: Don't get behind in your home-work. Somehow, you never catch up.

No. 9: Do get eight hours' sleep. This keeps you from being doopey.

No. 10: Do pick a sport, and give one hour a day to it.

Merle Ione Scott Becomes Bride Of Clifford Rebbing

Marriage vows were repeated by Miss Merle Ione Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. G. Scott of Midland, and Clifford L. Rebbing, son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rebbing of St. Louis, Mo., in a ceremony solemnized at 6:15 p. m. Wednesday at the First Presbyterian Church.

The Rev. Ben Moore directed the rites for the single-ring ceremony as the bridal couple stood before the altar decorated with tall baskets of white gladioli against a background of ivy.

Preceding the ceremony Miss Faye Dublin, organist, played "I Love Thee," "Because," and "Liebestraum." She also accompanied Mrs. Jack Hawkins as she sang "I Love You Truly."

Mr. Scott gave his daughter in marriage. She was attired in a white chiffon street-length dress designed with a high neckline and a gathered waist from which fell a full skirt. White carnations outlined her white calot and she carried a nosegay also of white carnations. Complementing her attire were white elbow-length gloves, a blue pin at the neck of her dress, and white accessories. She carried a lace handkerchief which was carried by Mrs. L. C. Whitaker of Abilene at her wedding 39 years ago.

Mrs. Melvin Haney attended her sister as matron of honor. She wore a tan cutaway dress with black accessories. Her nosegay was of white carnations.

George Look of El Paso attended the bridegroom as best man. Ushers were Henry P. Scott, brother of the bride, and Robert Wheeler.

Reception Is Held Immediately after the ceremony a reception was held in the Crawford Hotel. A three-tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table. Misses Virginia Rebbing and Earlene Ham presided at the refreshment table, and Mrs. George Look was in charge of the bride's box.

Cut-of-town wedding guests were Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Rebbing, St. Louis, Mo.; Miss Virginia Rebbing, Whittier, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. George Look, El Paso; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Ham and Earlene Ham of Big Lake; Mrs. Roy Satterfield and Mr. and Mrs. Luther Ham, Texon; Mrs. Henry Teague, Mrs. Houston Cody, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Maurice, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kerr, Odessa.

When Mr. and Mrs. Rebbing left for wedding trip to Eureka Springs, Ark., she was wearing a black dress-maker's suit with black accessories. Mrs. Rebbing is a graduate of Midland High School and attended business college and Hardin-Simmons in Abilene. She worked for several years at the Washington Institute of Bacteriology of Public Health in Washington, D. C., where she received two merit service awards, Red Cross and public health. In 1942 she was president of the Women of Wartime in Washington under the sponsorship of Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt. She was in the WAC two and one-half years and stationed in Maryland. Before her marriage she was employed at Midland Army Air Field.

The bridegroom is a graduate of the Roosevelt High School in St. Louis and attended Washington University Law School in St. Louis. He served with the chemical warfare division of the U. S. Army three and one-half years and was stationed at camps in Colorado and Maryland. He is now associated with a law firm in St. Louis where they will make their home at 4000 Wyoming Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. Scott entertained with a rehearsal dinner Tuesday evening at the Ranch House.

Extravagant Charges

The executive council of the American Federation of Labor has cut loose with a blast at the Lea (anti-Petrillo) Bill that makes the AFL criticism of even the Hobbs and Case Bills seem letters of recommendation by comparison. The council says the Lea Bill represents "the lowest point in our history of national labor legislation." Never before, it states, "has any Congress so arbitrarily and completely struck down the basic right to strike for plainly lawful purposes."
 "While the Lea Bill, with gross unfairness, singles out for attack a single union in a single industry," the council statement goes on, "it contains principles and imposes restrictions which, if upheld, would crush the freedom of all American workers. . . the American Federation of Musicians and its president, James G. Petrillo, are fighting for the liberties of every worker in this country and for the very existence of every trade union in the United States."

A glance back at the Lea Bill fails to reveal these horrors. It doesn't abridge the right to strike for plainly lawful purposes unless it has suddenly become lawful to "coerce, compel or constrain" a broadcaster to employ more persons than he needs in his broadcasting business, which the Lea Bill prohibits Petrillo from doing.

The bill also prohibits Petrillo's collection of royalties from the manufacturers of recordings and transcriptions used in broadcasting. But that again is a "lawful purpose" only because Petrillo and some of his adherents say that it is.

The AFL council's contention that the principles and restrictions of the Lea Bill threaten the existence of trade unions and the liberties of American workers also is questionable. For "every trade union in the United States" would have to impose similar conditions on employers to those imposed by Petrillo on the broadcasters before those principles and restrictions could apply.

Since they are not imposed, the AFL would seem to be needlessly upset. The very fact that the Lea Bill applies to a single union in a single industry demonstrates the uniqueness of Petrillo's methods.

And unless the AFL is contemplating a demand for paid "stand-ins" in all its trades and crafts, or for royalty payments to the union from all goods and services produced by its members, then there is no apparent cause for alarm.

It is the fashion among some labor leaders to reject with horror the suggestion that any caprice of a union official might be contrary to the public welfare, and to charge that any and all attempts to curb those caprices are deep conspiracies to destroy the whole labor movement. But in this case the charge is so extravagant as to seem downright foolish.

Great Peacetime Victory

General MacArthur, on the first anniversary of the Japanese surrender, said, "History will contain no more glowing pages than those filled with the tenacious fight for New Guinea, the Solomons, Bismarcks, Halmaheras, Borneo, the land and naval battles for Leyte, and the struggle for air supremacy and reconquest of the Philippines."
 The general modestly refrained from taking any credit for his dominant part in those epic struggles. He likewise passed over the year of occupation which followed them. But postwar history also will contain few more glowing pages than those devoted to the reformation and rehabilitation of Japan in the first 12 months of General MacArthur's peacetime command.

No enemy ever had a fiercer, more implacable adversary. But with victory won, General MacArthur replaced his mood of dogged vengeance with one of stern but sympathetic justice. His foe was now a national mentality clever in material things, but steeped in primitive, superstitious ignorance of democratic morality and behavior.

He attacked this foe with a skill and vigor that matched his military attainments. As a result, the progress of Japan, while painful and imperfect, has nevertheless been amazing. General MacArthur has been tactful without being soft. He has won the respect of the Japanese people and their leaders. The relative stability of Japan today, in contrast to the chaos prevailing in many of the victor nations, does honor to a man who is a statesman as well as an eminent military figure.

Bad Means To A Good End

A meeting of Tennessee veterans advocates formation of a national veterans' political organization to wipe out machine politics. That's a noble intent, boys. But why not call in some non-veterans? They suffer the consequences of machine politics, too. And why not put away your guns?

It is easy to appreciate and sympathize with the disillusionment of many former GIs who have returned from fighting a war to conditions which mock their suffering and sacrifice. But it is time that the armed, extra-legal veteran political action in the South was brought to a stop.

Guns win wars, but they don't correct injustices permanently. That is a task for peaceful courage and determined nonviolent action. Promoting the public good by force of arms belongs to the days of Robin Hood, not to our own. And gangs of gunmen are an eventual menace, however noble their purpose.

Looks Like It'll Be A Handicap Race

Shanghai, Once Queen Of Orient, Now Filled With Confusion, Graft

By SPENCER MOOSA
 SHANGHAI — (AP) — Confused and expensive Shanghai, once the queen city of the Orient is not what it used to be, and many an old China hand sheds a quiet tear as he predicts that it never will be again.
 The tolerant minority say the Chinese inherited many new and different problems when they took back a city which had been occupied by the Japanese for eight years and which before that was famed for its smoothly-run International Settlement and French Concession.
 The Bund, famous waterfront street along the Whangpoo, is no longer a clean, orderly thoroughfare. Peddlers spread their wares in the street. Touts importuning passersby, offer all sorts of merchandise and services.
 In the central district, business heart of this metropolis of 4,000,000, portable restaurants line some of the finest streets.
 Open-air stalls make traffic impossible in others, notably Blood Alley, which derived its name from the number of fights spawned in its dance halls and bars.
Variety Of Goods
 Blood Alley's stalls overflowing the sidewalks, now have spilled out into the street. The proprietors offer a wide variety of goods: cosmetics, chocolate bars, cigarettes and mosquito nets. They do a thriving business.
 An importer who had brought in some winter raincoats to retail at $80 U. S., found that before he could get his cargo cleared through customs, some of his coats were on sale in these stalls at half the price. They came, as did much other merchandise, from Shanghai's busy thieves.
 Stealing of ships' cargoes is one of many Shanghai's racketeers, but strictly in the big-league class. Importers estimate their losses from theft run into hundreds of millions of Chinese dollars monthly.
 Shanghai is expensive. A taxi ride which used to cost the equivalent of 33 cents, U. S., now costs $3. U. S. Luncheon and a couple of beers at a good hotel cost $15 to $20, U. S., for two persons.
 Night clubs, second rate by any standard, often charge $3.50 or $4 U. S. a drink and the liquor usually is a dangerous home-made concoction locally known as "Hongkew hooch," regardless of what the label says.

Problems of a growing city—Midland—were discussed and studied Wednesday afternoon by the City Council at its regular meeting.
 Paving proposals, water, sewer, drainage and other matters of vital importance in the development of Midland as the capital of the Permian Basin area were on the docket. Mayor Fred Hogan presided and by unanimous vote the tax rate for 1946 was fixed at $1.40 per $100 valuation, the same as last year. Sixty cents of the $1.40 goes to the interest and sinking fund and 80 cents for general operating purposes of the municipality. The rate is based on an expected valuation of $14,000,000. The vote was final as the measure was declared an emergency.

Another topic was housing and several propositions came up to provide more housing here. They were discussed and will be studied.
 The council received word that two cars of four-inch water pipe are scheduled to be shipped to Midland from the mill next month. The council took steps to buy 6,000 feet of four-inch pipe immediately so extension of water lines can be made to serve new residences.
 Mrs. Mae Burris was granted a permit to operate a grocery and gasoline service station at 1204 South Big Spring Street. No opposition was voiced to her application.

Midland Council Studies Problems Of Growing City

Problems of a growing city—Midland—were discussed and studied Wednesday afternoon by the City Council at its regular meeting. Paving proposals, water, sewer, drainage and other matters of vital importance in the development of Midland as the capital of the Permian Basin area were on the docket. Mayor Fred Hogan presided and by unanimous vote the tax rate for 1946 was fixed at $1.40 per $100 valuation, the same as last year. Sixty cents of the $1.40 goes to the interest and sinking fund and 80 cents for general operating purposes of the municipality. The rate is based on an expected valuation of $14,000,000. The vote was final as the measure was declared an emergency.

Continental Air Lines Orders 15 High Speed Convair-240 Transports

DENVER, COLO. — (AP) — A fleet of modern airliners will be placed in service by Continental Air Lines next summer, President Robert F. Six announced Thursday with the disclosure that his company has ordered 15 high speed, 40-passenger, Convair-240 transports from Consolidated Vultee Aircraft Corporation. Delivery of the planes will begin in April, 1947.

Eight Persons Killed By Blast

AZUSA, CALIF. — (AP) — Eight persons were dead and 20 injured Thursday after a fire and explosion Wednesday wrecked the Aero-Jet Engineering Corporation, makers of jet-assisted take-off units for Navy fighter and bomber planes.

The cause of the fire, which apparently licked its way into a volatile fluids mixing plant, remained undisclosed as Navy authorities took charge of the plant.

The blast, which blew volunteer firefighters 60 feet, pounded holes in buildings 80 feet away, destroyed the plant's fire engine and equipment, and was heard at Wrigley Field in Los Angeles, 25 miles distant.

Those killed were: Frank H. Graybeal, Pasadena; Ed Turner, Pasadena; Julius R. Hatfield, Azusa; Dick Kelly, Pasadena; Jack L. Gables, Azusa; Tito Montaya, Pomona; Magaleno Gonzales, La Verne, and James O'Toole, Glendora.

Senator Connally Arrives In Paris

PARIS — (AP) — Senator Tom Connally (D-Texas), chairman of the Senate Foreign Affairs Committee, arrived in Paris Thursday and conferred immediately with Secretary of State James F. Byrnes on the tense Yugoslav situation.

THREE MARRIAGE LICENSES ISSUED BY COUNTY CLERK

Three marriage licenses were issued Wednesday at the county clerk's office in the courthouse. They were for Alvis Niedeeck and Maxine McKinney; Clifford L. Rebbing and Merle Scott; and Bernard H. Taylor and Grace Lenora Beavers.

Equipped with two Pratt & Whitney 2400 hp engines, the Convair-240 has a maximum speed of 337 mph, and a ceiling of 30,000 feet. The large plane, loaded with 40 passengers and baggage, can take off and climb on one engine. Three-bladed, reversible pitch propellers are employed, which result in shorter landings and aid in ground maneuverability.

A new method of cabin insulation reduces to a minimum engine noise and vibration. Auxiliary jet exhaust augmentation, a revolutionary feature developed by Convair, which provides additional thrust and results in efficient cooling of engines under all conditions, will also be incorporated in the new airliners.

Competition against the 1945 champions will be such highly-regarded Texans as Louis Brooks of Sweetwater, twice world champion all-around cowboy; Royce Sewall of Brownwood; Dub Phillips of San Angelo; G. K. Lewallen of Hico; Paul Gould of Sweetwater; Bart Glennon of Wichita Falls; and many others.

Texans To Compete In Arlington Rodeo

ARLINGTON — (AP) — Texans who currently are in hot competition for 1946 world championship rodeo laurels will perform in Arlington Downs' Arena during the North Texas Fair and Rodeo opening Saturday.

Sevall, the crack calf roper, is far ahead in 1946 rodeo cowboy association ratings.

WAA Halts Transfer Of Surplus Camps

WASHINGTON — (AP) — The War Assets Administration Thursday halted the proposed transfer of 53 surplus camps and war plants to educational institutions pending a congressional inquiry into such "gifts."

A number of Texas projects were involved, including Harmon General Hospital at Longview, and AAF Bombardier School at Big Spring.

The WAA stop order followed disclosure before the House Surplus Property Committee that the Thunderbird, Ariz., airfield had been "sold" at 100 per cent discount to the newly incorporated American Institute for Foreign Trade.

The order blocks the "sale" of more than $13,000,000 worth of other government property and the leasing of about as much more.

Eight Injured In Bomber Crash

Midland Entertains Valley 'Airmada' Here To Boost 'Air Day In Texas'

A party of Rio Grande Valley "Air Day In Texas" boosters including three lovely air queens left Midland Municipal Airport about 7:45 a. m. Thursday after a typical West Texas greeting at the air field.

Wednesday afternoon, a dinner party in honor of the guests Wednesday evening, and an overnight stay at the Scharbauer Hotel.

The flying party of nine Valley guests arrived in three planes about 4 p. m. Wednesday, coming to Midland from Del Rio where they had lunch after visiting Laredo and Eagle Pass during the morning.

The contingent was scheduled to visit Big Spring and Wichita Falls Thursday morning and meet three other groups in Dallas in the afternoon.

The first plane to land at Midland was piloted by Harvey Richards of Harlingen and carried Mrs. J. H. Crosby, official chaperone.

Brown-haired, brown-eyed Jean Sproles, representing the City of Mercedes, arrived in the second plane, piloted by Fulton Jones and L. J. Ivey, both of Harlingen.

In the third craft rode Miss Jerry Brooks of Raymondville and Miss Virginia Vaughn of Elsa, chosen to represent those cities at the Air Day Show in Harlingen September 7 and 8.

To Promote Aviation
 The show, which may promote an annual event, was designed to promote greater use of air travel in Texas and is being held in conjunction with the Army's returning to Harlingen the Harlingen Army Air Field, which trained flexible gunnery cadets during the war.

As the girls alighted from the planes, Col. L. F. Post, commanding officer at the Midland Municipal Airport, pinned a corsage on each girl and, along with other official greeters, welcomed the party to Midland. Among the official welcomees were Watson LaForce, vice president of the Midland chapter of the National Aeronautic Association; John W. House, chairman of the aviation committee of the Midland Chamber of Commerce; A. A. Jones, president of the JayCeers; Chief Jack Ellington, representing the City of Midland; and Bud Bissell of the Wranglers Club.

The girls will compete with girls from other Valley cities in the Air Day Show for the title of "Miss Texas Air Day" and a free trip to Mexico City on September 14 when Mexico will celebrate its independence with a national festival entitled "Dias Patrios."

Hailed as "Beauties of the Valley" the girls at the airport wore midriff sunsuits. None of the three had been to West Texas before. Staying loyal to the Valley, Miss Sproles, speaking for the girls, said, "We like both places. We can't be untrue to the Valley, we can't be untrue to Midland and West Texas."

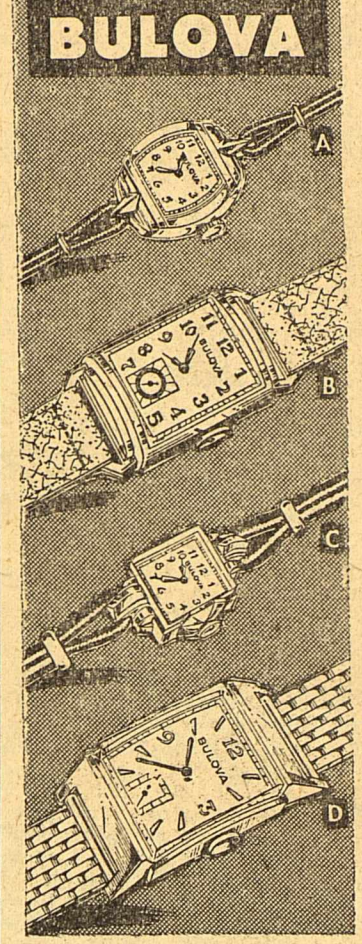

Miss Vaughn spoke up to add: "But we can't get used to not seeing any trees."

The "airmada" contingent was accompanied to Midland by Clarence LaRoche, managing editor of the Brownsville Herald.

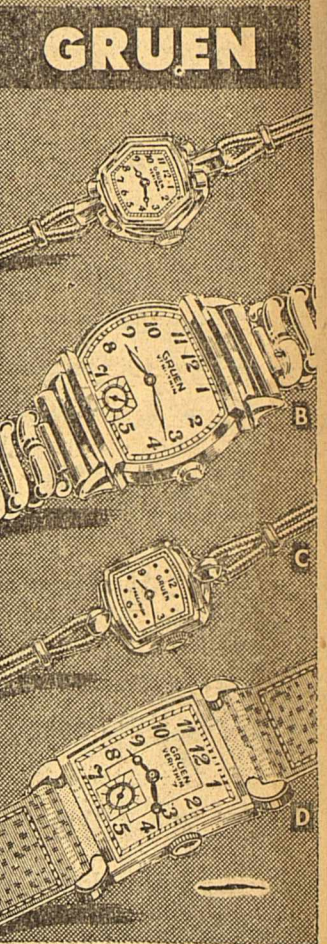

From Dallas the Air Day boosters will fly direct to Harlingen.

True Daughter Of Her Dad, Tommie, Betty Thomson Is Regular Shop Hand

By TANNER LAINE

We can't call brown-eyed, boy-dressed, Betty Gene Thomson, 17, a "tom-boy" although she works in a man's world in her dad's electric shop. The high school senior girl just doesn't seem out of place there.

Betty works at Tommie's Electric Shop in Midland. It belongs to her father, E. N. (Tommie) Thomson. And she has for several years—ever since she was six years old. You ought to see Betty re-wire one of those electric motors. She can do it, mister, and do it right. She's a pretty handy girl to have around at that—when there's electric motor work to be done.

Betty is just "one of the boys" and she can do her part all right. She started hanging around her dad at the shop when she was just a little girl, in the first grade at school. She first started re-wiring armatures. She went from that to more complicated jobs. Pretty soon Tommie found her able to do just about any work in the shop.

He has taught her what he knows, and that is plenty, about electric motors and other jobs of the concern.

And daughter Betty loves it. "What about getting greasy and dirty, well you can wash it off, can't you," Betty says. "I like the work."

Can Cook and Sew. But she doesn't like to cook or sew although she can. "I'd rather be here at the shop, helping Dad," she says.

Betty will graduate from Midland High School next spring. And she is "liable to stay in the electric shop business, too."

"After I visit in California, I'll be back on the job," she said. She works in Tommie's Electric Shop part-time during the school term and full-time in the summer.

She dresses in khakis and wears cowboy boots most of the time. Betty has four brothers and three sisters. Only the elder brother

Johnny Midlander, Civilian, Likes Cosden Gasoline

He is a civilian now, Johnny Midlander.

Johnny Midlander steps on the starter of his car. If its motor fires he is satisfied. Say it doesn't. Johnny Midlander who might have been in the Air Corps in the war says:

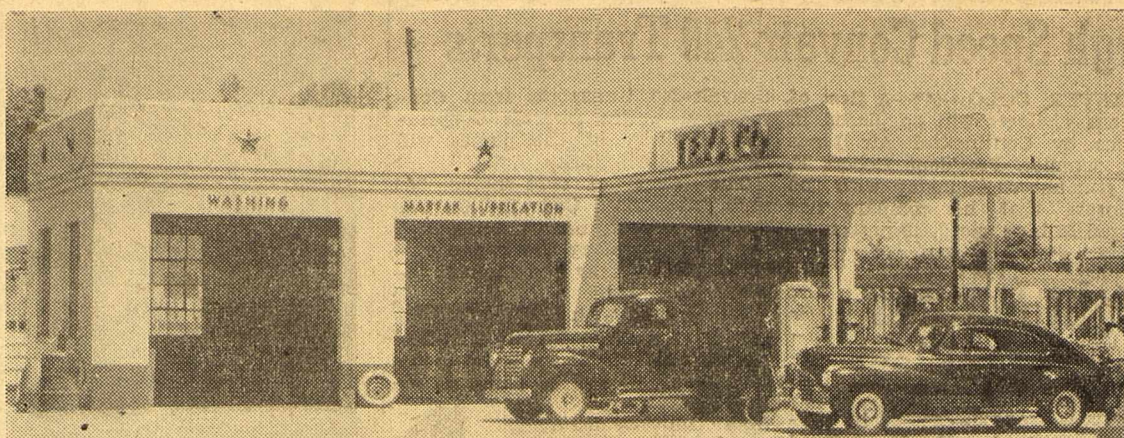

"Doggone it I wish there was some gasoline with the improvements and refinements incorporated in the motor fuel the Army Air Corps used. Those planes started every time with a zip."

"There it is, Johnny," says the Baker Oil Company of Midland. "It is our Cosden improved peacetime higher octane gasoline, which is passed on to you motorists with the many improvements and refinements incorporated in our Aviation Octane made for the AAF."

works at the shop and he only part of the time. It is a dad and daughter affair at the shop.

Tommie's Electric Shop has been in business in Midland many years and numbers among its customers many of the citizenry.

Pope's Texaco Service Station

When Midland motorists think of service, they think of Pope's Texaco Service, at 400 West Wall Street. D. H. (Dewey) Pope is the owner of the station, which features: pick-up and deliver service, washing and greasing, automobile accessories, and Texaco motor fuels. A string of automobiles, with satisfied drivers, is seen pulling out of Pope's Texaco Service daily from 7 a. m. to 10 p. m.

ARMORY IS DAMAGED

DALLAS—(P)—Several thousand dollars damage to a Texas State Guard Armory at Fair Park was caused Wednesday night by a fire of undetermined origin.

Hay Fever Sufferers Shouldn't Burn Weeds

NEW YORK—(P)—Hay-fever sufferers should never let themselves get so burned up they set fire indiscriminately to ragweed patches. The fire hazard in such a practice, says the Fire Protection Institute, is not to be sneezed at.

To get rid of weeds, the institute advises, telephone the health department and get directions for making a weed-killing spray.

If you must burn the weeds, first get a permit from the fire department. Take a fire extinguisher along. Burn a little patch at a time or mow the weeds and burn them in a pile. When the fire dies down, put out all embers.

Sugar Warehouse 1946

In ordinary times this warehouse of the Imperial Sugar refinery at Sugar Land was packed with 20,000,000 pounds of refined sugar. Now it is usually completely bare, and offers full denial of rumors that the refinery has been "hoarding sugar for a price rise." The warehouse is one of three at the refinery, two of which are empty and have been for months, while the third houses paper bags, corn syrup stocks and some 50,000 pounds of refined sugar—a very small amount in terms of sugar demands.

8—THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, AUG. 22, 1946

Reporter And Scouts Win First Tilis, Second Games Thursday

The Reporter-Telegram and the Oil Scouts, winners of the first games in Blue and Red division playoffs in the City Softball League, will tie into their erstwhile opponents, Mackey Motors and the JayCees, respectively, again Thursday night in the second games of a two-out-of-three series.

Mackey Motors forced The Reporter-Telegram to come from behind to win the first contest, 10 to 7, while the Oil Scouts scored first and held the lead throughout the game to win 6 to 4, although the Scouts held only a one-run lead until the sixth inning.

The Oil Scouts and the JayCees will meet in the first contest at 7

p. m. Thursday, and The Reporter-Telegram and Mackey Motors will meet in the finale at 9 p. m.

Should either Motors or the JayCees or both win Thursday's games, final intra-league contests Friday night will decide the second-half champions in each division and qualify the winners for next week's city championship contests.

Mackey Takes Lead
Although the first five men at bat in the first inning for The Reporter-Telegram scored Wednesday night, Mackey Motors played catch-up ball and went ahead in the first half of the fifth inning, 7 to 6. The newsmen tallied two runs in the last half of the fifth frame to go ahead, 8 to 7, then added two runs in the sixth inning to win the game.

Stall and Lanham led the scoring for Mackey Motors, Stall tallying in the first and third innings, and Lanham in the second and third frames. Mackey's big inning came in the third period with runs by Stall, Crites and Watford. Nix tallied in the fourth period, and Lanham's run in the fifth ended the Mack's scoring for the night.

Brown was the newsmen's scoring star with three runs in four times at bat. Jack McKnight, Dick McKnight, Pierce, Brown and True-love tallied in the first inning, Brown added a score in the third, Brown tallied the tying run in the fifth frame and Morrow made home safely in the same inning to put the Reporter ahead. D. McKnight and Pierce ended the scoring with tallies in the sixth frame.

Scouts Tally First
In the Oil Scout-JayCee game, Fowler and Gones tallied for the Scouts in the first half of the initial inning, and Fowler and Roberts added two more in the second period. Henderson and Holster put the JayCees back into the game with tallies in the last half of the second, and Barber made it a real ball game with a tally in the third, which made the score 4 to 3 in favor of the Scouts. The Scouts gained a safer margin in the sixth inning when Crow scored on an overthrow at second. Straughn scored on a double by Gones.

Hart scored for the JayCees in the seventh when the Scout third baseman dropped the ball after tagging him between second and third bases. Crow struck out the next two JayCee batters and Holster popped out to end the game.

The R-T-MM score:
Mackey Motors 113 110 0-7
Reporter-Telegram 501 022 x-10
The Scout-JayCee score:
Oil Scouts 220 002 0-6
JayCees 021 000 1-4

The St. Louis Cardinals, who have been chasing the Brooklyn Dodgers practically from the start of the season, might be occupying the top spot in the National League Thursday were it not for former teammates now with rival clubs.

The latest ex-Card to help subdue his former teammates is St. Johnson, 38-year-old pitcher of the Boston Braves, who wore a St. Louis uniform from 1936 through 1938.

The veteran righthander turned back the Cardinals 4-3 Wednesday night at St. Louis. The defeat pushed the Cards back a game and a half to the pace-setting Dodgers who whipped the last place Pittsburgh Pirates 8-2 in the afternoon.

Cooper Gets Homers
Among the batsmen, Walker Cooper, sold by St. Louis to the New York Giants for $175,000 last winter, twice hammered home runs to beat his former mates. Johnny Mize and Buddy Blattner, also of the Giants, each beat the Cards this year with four-base knocks, as did Garde Gillenwater and Johnny Hopp.

Rebounding from their shutout defeat at the hands of the Pirates Tuesday night, the Dodgers landed on lefthander Ken Heintzmar and his two successors for 11 hits, three by Dixie Walker, to defeat the cellar dwellers.

Dave Ferriss, the Boston Red Sox' sensational sophomore, furlled his twenty-second mound triumph, but needed help after giving up 14 hits in five and one-third innings. Staked to an 11-1 lead over the St. Louis Browns after two innings, Ferriss was banged for six more runs before being removed in the sixth and the Sox went on to win 12-9.

Yankees Win Pair
The New York Yankees swept a double header from the Chicago White Sox, 10-1 and 5-4, winning the second game in the twelfth inning when Johnny Lindell led off with a triple and after Relief Pitcher Earl Caldwell walked two men purposely to load the bases, scored on Pinch Hitter Nick Etten's single.

The lowly Philadelphia Athletics made it two in a row over the third place Detroit Tigers when Phil Marchildon outpitched Virgil Trucks 4-1 with a neat seven-hitter.

Rookie outfielder, Del Ennis' ninth inning home run enabled the Phillies to eke out a 1-0 victory over the Cubs in Chicago and Early Wynn pitched Washington to a 4-3 victory over Cleveland.

Johnny Hetki pitched and batted the Cincinnati Reds to a 7-2 victory over the New York Giants.

BILL EVANS SETS NEW LEAGUE STRIKEOUT RECORD

AMARILLO—(P)—Bill Evans, pitcher for the Amarillo Gold Sox of the West Texas-New Mexico League, fanned seven men Wednesday night to run his season total to 272 for a new league strikeout record. He bettered the old mark of 266 set by Russell Crider of Amarillo in 1940.

The lanky hurler was touched for seven hits by the Lubbock Hubbers but received credit for his 23rd win of the season as the Gold Sox won, 2-1.

Record rains followed by a flash flood inundate a section of U. S. Highway 40 between East St. Louis and Collinsville, Ill. Property damage mounted as the surging water isolated homes and swept away sections of the railroads in the area. Rainfall in the St. Louis area for August has broken a 109-year record.

Thieves Give Dallas Jewelry Grand Opening
By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff
Double takes; or little items in the news you may have missed but shouldn't:
Crime marched on, for one thing. W. W. Carpenter of Dallas planned a grand opening of his new jewelry store, but someone beat him to it, broke in, took $1,200 in choice merchandise... A Mexia service station operator was luckier, out-bluffed three holdup men who demanded his cash. They did, however, roar off in a huff without paying for gasoline they bought.

Then there was the case of the law and a Houston woman. She wished they'd make up their mind. She was ordered to tear down a residence-store which had been termed a fire hazard, but when she sought to comply, a judge issued a restraining order prohibiting her to do it because it would make about 30 tenants homeless... The cities of McAllen, Mission and Edinburg also had a brush with boondoggling. The government offered to sell the three cities a nearby air field—which the cities already owned. Next, the government offered to lease the field to the cities which, by a recent order, already were leasing it.

The shortage of men is over, A&I coeds say. Registration for the summer term there had 457 men, 278 women... It was so hot at Wellington (112 degrees) that nine baby chicks were hatched from eggs laid under a canna plant... A woman moved from Illinois to Dallas, and part of her possessions included 16 barrels of elephants, 2,647 miniature elephants... A hen in Hillsboro adopted four kittens, is raising them... 30,000 cases of canned horse meat with gravy were shipped from Galveston to Bremerhaven... Three airplanes landed in the heart of Harlingen, paraded up main streets under their own power to advertise Air Day September 7.

Colorado has more than 6,000 miles of fishing streams.

Air Carriers Must Obtain Certificates
AUSTIN—(AP)—Because the term "air carrier" is subject to misinterpretation, many small Texas airmen face the loss of their air carrier operating certificates unless they move soon, says A. W. Meadows, executive director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission.
Meadows contacted Washington officials for legal definition of "air carrier." He found it means anyone who is operating an aircraft for hire—even the operator who has a single plane for hire.
These operators must apply by September 15 for air carrier operating certificates if they want to stay in business. They have until September 3 to make a required report on their past business for the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington.
Meadows said application blanks for operating certificates may be obtained from the nearest CAA inspector or from George Childress, chief of non-scheduled flight operations, Civil Aeronautics Authority, Fort Worth.

"I've got a job!"
● A brand new telephone operator... that's me. Just started today.
Like it? Yes, indeed...especially one thing...everybody is so friendly. I felt at home right away. It's a nice clean place to work, too; pleasant surroundings, and the switchboard is really fascinating. I'm going to enjoy working for the telephone company.
And here's a tip, if you're looking for a job. More operators are needed, right now. Experience isn't necessary because you learn as you go along.
The chief operator at the telephone office will be glad to tell you all about it. Why not see her?

Big Spring Veteran Hospital To Have Latest Features
WASHINGTON—(AP)—The very latest features in modern hospital construction—from structural glass operating rooms to space for miniature department stores—are being incorporated in architect-engineer contracts let by Army engineers for 23 veterans hospitals in a multi-million dollar program.
Selection of architect-engineers for the remaining 17 of the 40 hospital program, already turned over to the Army engineers by the Veterans Administration, is still pending.
One innovation in the new hospitals will be the use of a central oxygen supply piped to certain rooms.
There will be rooms with filters and air especially treated for patients suffering from asthma or other allergies. There will be space allotted to a Veterans Administration canteen service which will approximate a small department store. The plans call for barber and beauty shops.
The location and size of the hospitals in Texas and Louisiana for which the engineers have issued architect-engineer contracts, and the names of the architect-engineers follows:
Big Spring, Texas, 250-bed general medical and surgical, Wyatt C. Hedrick, Fort Worth, Texas.
Shreveport, La., 450-bed general medical and surgical, Neild & Somcal City Bank Building, Shreveport.

TAKE IT EASY IS RULE FOR VACATION
By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer
Vacationers who have led sedentary lives shouldn't try to make up for a year's lack of exercise during a two weeks' holiday. Suddenly to crack a whip over unused muscles can be full of dangers, doctors say.
Before the quick plunge, everybody past high school age with a layman's record of 50 weeks behind him needs a medical check-up. Doctors emphasize this need if the person's birthdays total up to as many as forty.
Otherwise doctors say, strenuous exercise may show up a bodily weakness lying dormant. Then, again, there is the serious danger of an unrecognized physical disability which may prove fatal under the stress of unusual exertion.

Old West Lives Again In New Book Relating Story Of Maverick Town

By The Associated Press
A new Texas book written by a busy Amarillo newspaper man and published this week with a record advance sale announced, will round out for many a Texan the adventurous story of the far Panhandle country where in "Maverick Town, the Story of Old Tascosa," the history of 400 years—from Coronado to Boy's ranch—is telescoped into four swift decades of the rise and fall of the capital of an early day cattle empire.

As raw, rough and ready as any settlement of American frontier days, Tascosa boomed and busted within the memory of men now living and today is a ghost town with the winds whispering through the cottonwoods and around the old stone courthouse. But Tascosa is a maverick ghost town—still in the Tascosa tradition—with an epilogue as romantic as its frontier days. Old Tascosa now is Boy's ranch, where Amarillo businessmen and ranchers under the leadership of Cal Farley provide a ranch home and school for 50 underprivileged boys of the Panhandle area. The rugged old courthouse which once represented law for ten big Texas counties now is headquarters for a boy's ranch where the best of the old West still lives. But Boy's ranch is another story, already told in movies by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. A chapter of Maverick Town went into the picture for background.

Puts Author Up Front
The new book, written by John L. McCarty of the Amarillo Globe-News, puts the author into the very front rank of Texas writers. His deep interest in the Panhandle country and his research, but above everything else his feeling and sympathy for the people who struggled in the early days of the Canadian River settlements enable him to catch the spirit and the color of the times for his lively chronicle.

In many respects Tascosa epitomizes the old West from Indian days, the open range era, the buffalo hunters, the coming of the ranchers, sheepmen and cattlemen, then the homesteaders. After them came barb wire, which changed the whole free world of the plains, from the piling up of frozen cattle on the drift fences, to the basic economics of the cattle business. Finally, the railroads—but first the talk of railroads—the hopes and tragedies of towns where railroads were to bring the realization of dreams of world contacts, and new prosperity.

But for Tascosa, the railroads and barb wire spelled doom. The town was literally fenced in by the great stretches of wire running clear across the top of Texas. The railway from Fort Worth to Denver failed to cross the Canadian at the easy river crossing at Tascosa, where trail herds, cowboys, adventurers and traders rested in the valley before heading for Dodge City.

The conflict of the homesteaders, the little men, as McCarty calls them, and the great ranching syndicates, the L.X., L.S., L.I.T., X.I.T. and others, runs like a theme through the story of Tascosa. Law and order came slowly but surely, as to all the American frontier, but not until after adventurous days when Billy the Kid wintered in Tascosa, the killings and the wide open life of bad men, big and little, which finally gave way to serenity and then eclipse by other boom towns on the plains.

Replete with incidents of drama of the old West, who says Hollywood exaggerates after reading of the capture of Bill Gatlin by Sheriff Jim East of Tascosa. They wanted to take Gatlin without a killing and rangers were on the roof of his hideout jerking off roof poles so they could get at him. Gatlin yelled for Sheriff East to come in and talk with him, promising that one or the other would die. Jim East opened the door and rushed in with his Winchester pointed at Gatlin's stomach.

Gatlin was standing with a gun in each hand, his elbows well back against his belly, one hand crossed over and resting on the other and both guns pointing at Jim East's chest.

In this tense position he drew a promise that the sheriff would not let him suffer at the hands of a mob. East promised. Gatlin handed him his guns. Then the whole crowd built a fire, cooked bacon and made coffee.

Sprinkled With Vignettes
The McCarty story of Tascosa is sprinkled with vignettes such as this: Temple Houston was the first district attorney of Tascosa. He dressed in flashy clothes, often wore a beautiful, large white hat and had courtly, graceful manners. He was a master story teller, and an orator of national fame. His oration in defense of a fallen woman at Woodward, Okla., ranks along with Senator's Vest's eulogy to a dog as a classic. He was an expert marksman, a favorite with the ladies and popular with men.

Issued by the University of Oklahoma press with fine craftsmanship and illustrated by Harold D. Bugbee who adds new lustre to his name as a Texas artist, the book on old Tascosa is an important literary event in the Southwest.

It is indexed and contains 16 pages of excellent photographs.

One picture, of the Canadian River at Tascosa, perhaps needs better captioning. The river doesn't look like that, except in flood. Instead of a billowing, broad waterway apparently as wide as the Mississippi, the Canadian at Tascosa today is a sandy waste bearing little resemblance to the river Henry Kimball, a soldier from Fort Union, saw in 1874. On a hunting trip he found the valley "a paradise above." The river was fringed with willows and bushes. Beavers had built a dam across it and across Tascosa creek. Kimball noted the abundant wild life, the great expanse of meadowland, abundance of wild fruit and game, and he vowed that when his term of enlistment was up, he would return to this garden spot to live.

Kimball kept his promise, but the ravages of civilization left marks on the valley of the Canadian.

Britain To Appoint Steel Control Board

LONDON—(AP)—The British government has announced its decision to appoint a board "for the general control and supervision of the iron and steel industry."

The announcement said the board would include members of the privately owned steel concerns, but declined to disclose previously announced plans for eventual public ownership of the mills.

The board will be responsible to the minister of supply, John Wilmot, who last April announced in the House of Commons that the government had decided to extend a "large measure of control" over the iron and steel industry.

Nationalization of the industry was one of the Labor Party's campaign announced goals.

Give Ice Cream Novel Guise

A treat for young and old alike—ice cream and cereal flakes.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

Ice cream from the corner store can be served in dozens of simple ways which children—as well as the rest of the family—enjoy, and which give them an "extra helping" of dairy-food vitamins, minerals and protein.

Serve ice cream in a bed of crisp breakfast cereal. Serve this novel dish with sauce made from canned, stewed, frozen, or fresh fruit, rich in juice.

With peaches abundant, use some which are left from your home peach-preserved, or make a cinnamon peach sauce with which to top vanilla ice cream.

Cinnamon Peach Sauce
(Makes 2 Cups)

One-half cup sugar, 2 teaspoons cornstarch, dash of salt, 1 cup boiling water, dash of cinnamon, 1 cup diced fresh peeled peaches.

Combine sugar, cornstarch and salt in sauce-pan. Gradually add boiling water, stirring constantly. Cook, continuing to stir, over low heat for 5 minutes, or until clear. Remove from heat and add cinnamon.

When cool, add diced peaches and allow sauce to stand 1 hour or more before serving over ice cream.

Ice Cream Fruit Pie

Bake or buy a peach or apple pie without a top crust. Just before serving, heap on ice cream and spread to cover fruit.

Ice Cream Topping

Use ice cream as you would whipped cream to top peach short-cake, gingerbread, or chocolate pudding.

Ice Cream Trifle
(Serves 4)

One pint strawberry ice cream (bulk), 4 squares sponge cake, 3/4 cup apple sauce, chilled, 3/4 cup soft custard, chilled.

Arrange sponge squares in individual dessert dishes. Cover with apple sauce, then with custard. Top each portion with strawberry ice cream.

Quarter Horse Show Slated At State Fair

DALLAS—(AP)—A quarter horse show has been added to the October program of the State Fair of Texas, W. H. Hitzelberger, executive vice-president and general manager, has announced.

Hitzelberger said he believed such a show is needed to round out stock show plans.

Raymond D. Hollingsworth of Amarillo, executive secretary of the American Quarter Horse Association, which organization has sanctioned ribbon awards for the show, will be superintendent and Robert E. Hooper of Plainview and Percy W. Turner of Water Valley will be judges.

Caterpillars have only six legs. The fleshy claspers toward the middle and rear are not true legs.

Skewer-Broiling Improves Meat

Cook's helper—new appliance for broiling meat on revolving skewers.

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

If you like your meat broiled on revolving skewers—and most people do—you'll be interested in the new table-top appliance which uses city or bottled gas.

It has four removable skewers that rotate automatically by electricity or a key wind. Built of stainless steel and porcelain enamel, it's about the size of a portable typewriter case and can be attached to the gas line in the kitchen or used out-of-doors with bottled gas.

Cooks Food in Three Minutes
For regular family fare or for de luxe out-of-door parties, use this sturdy skewer-broiler to cook your hamburger balls, scallops, oyster, liver, chicken, and other meats. The food cooks in about 3 minutes, and it has wonderful juiciness and flavor.

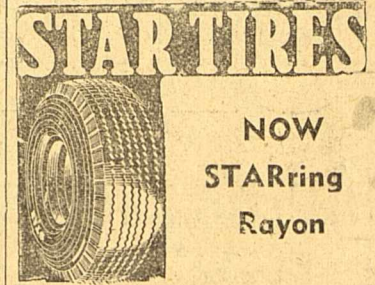

Marinate cubes of shoulder of veal in French dressing for 8 hours. Drain, skewer and broil on rotating broiler. Serve with rice pilaff. It's a treat.

Alternate chicken livers and pieces of bacon on skewer and broil. Serve with finely-cubed creamed potatoes.

Alternate seasoned pieces of firm tomatoes, liver and fresh mushrooms on skewer. You'll find that everyone in the family will eat this liver.

Relieves Monotony
Of course, frankfurters cooked this way are superb. So are plump oysters. In fact, almost all meats and sea foods attain a certain special delicacy when cooked quickly on rotating skewers over direct flame. Try it if cooking the same old things the same old way is getting you down.

British Zone Nazis Will Get To Vote

HERFORD, GERMANY—(AP)—Of some 22,000 Germans in the British Zone, less than 750,000 will be disqualified from voting because of Nazi activities or associations.

Occupation authorities assert, however, that a larger number—the exact figure not yet decided—will be barred from standing as candidates.

The British say this autumn's local elections will be the first in 13 years in which the Germans of the area have had a chance to cast an unfettered ballot.

Although the elections will be under British control, the mechanical operation of the balloting will be entrusted largely to Germans.

Germans consulted on the elections have shown greatest interest in achieving an absolutely secret ballot. One Briton said "bitter experience" had taught them to fight shy of any system whereby a ballot could be identified as having been cast by any particular voter.

The United Kingdom system of numbering ballots consecutively on the back was unsatisfactory to the Germans. They offered an alternative plan and British officials accepted it.

The British are looking forward to the elections as a weathervane of German thinking. They want to see whether the voice of the people is strong enough to influence party platforms or whether party discipline will be strong enough to pull waverers into line.

New Guineans Seek To Keep War Luxuries

SYDNEY, AUSTRALIA—(AP)—An economic and social revolution is in progress in the Australian mandated territory of New Guinea, where Australians, Americans and Japanese waged some of the most bitter struggles of the Pacific war. It amounts to a struggle between the handful of white administrators, planters and traders trying to restore pre-war standards and 1,000,000 unorganized natives trying to retain the comparative luxury standards they had during the war when working for the armed forces.

The natives were paid about $6,000,000 during the war in wages and compensation money. They now are sitting back on this money and resisting calls for labor unless offered good wages.

Before the war, they were paid $1.25 a month. But, during the war, they were paid up to $2.50 a month, and want this rate continued. During the war, they were fed on such European foods as tinned meat and fish, and developed a liking for them. Now they show no inclination to get back to their pre-war diet of sweet potatoes.

Before the war, they were provided with lap-laps, a wrap-around skirt, costing about five cents. During the war the Australian army provided them with lap-laps of good English cloth costing up to $1. They now have the taste for good quality cloth and will not easily change back to the cheap prewar quality.

They have gained an exaggerated sense of money values. American and Australian soldiers would often pay them up to $1 each for a tropical fruit, for which they were lucky to get one cent before the war.

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER

By Alice M. Laverick Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

THE STORY: I, Cecelia Hart, was only 17 when I came to this town. I was a housekeeper for the Fitzgerald household. I had just heard her tell her nurse how plain I was.

and I should not have presumed to cross his threshold, even if she invited me to do so. I have said before that I had always stood in awe of Mark Fitzgerald. At this time, before I had even met him, this would have considerably understated my feelings. I was actually terrified at the thought of living in the same house with him. I knew that at the Academy they laughed at his touch of brogue, admired and respected the brilliance of his mind and feared his sarcasm. Also, I had seen his books at the Lynchester public library, serious-looking volumes which I had heard referred to as a distinctive collection of essays. He had, of course, been offered much higher teaching positions, one at Trinity College in Dublin, Ireland, his own Alma Mater. There were many who considered such an eminent man rightfully wasted here in this little Massachusetts town of Lynchester, teaching science at an obscure academy for boys. But, as I have pointed out, the Fitzgeralds paid little or no heed to what others thought or expected, but did as they pleased.

"Wouldn't you like to see the house, Cecelia?" she asked. And immediately I was dazzled again by her oddly vibrant voice and the divine fact that she was speaking to me, Cecelia Hart, as if I were someone of importance.

I said I would love to, but secretly I thought I would prefer to simply gaze at her for the afternoon. The house was now a mere secondary attraction.

I managed finally to take my eyes away from her and meekly followed into the dining room with its gleaming mahogany and deep, soft rugs, where she showed me a bewildering amount of family silver, fabulous linens and delicate china embossed with tiny green shamrocks. He movements were all quick and she used her hands a great deal as she talked.

At the door of the Professor's study, which was off the dining room, she stopped. "Well, just peek in here," she said, "we won't go inside. If we disturbed anything, we'd be drawn and quartered." She laughed then, and it was the first time I heard that nervous little laugh of hers. It surprised me somehow, there was such a shrill note in it.

Nevertheless, Mark Fitzgerald was to surprise me in many ways that summer. There was his interest in the old-fashioned flower garden that he dug and weeded and cultivated with as much concentration as if it were the most important thing in the world. And the untiring patience with which he worked at tutoring two dull, over-grown boys who had to pass their exams in order to play football in the fall. Father Gene, it seemed, was an ardent football fan and without these two boys the team would be crippled.

There was also Mark's unexpected speech of gratitude to me. But I should not speak of these things here. They came later.

NOW, standing in the study doorway, Miss Charlotte began to talk of Mark. With shining

It is not possible to play every bridge hand perfectly, and if it were possible there would not be any fun in the game. One of the country's outstanding players missed today's hand. Let's see if you make the same mistake he did.

East played the queen of diamonds on the opening lead. What should declarer do? Remember that East bid diamonds and it is therefore easy to read that West's ten-spot is his top diamond. Would you win the trick, knowing you had the suit stopped with the jack? If so, you lose the contract, because when East gets in with a club he will lead back a small diamond, which declarer wins with the nine-spot. Then when West gets in with the ace of hearts, the third diamond will come back and East will defeat the contract.

If declarer refuses to win the first diamond, East will return a diamond at trick two, declarer wins with the jack and leads a club. East wins and returns another diamond which South wins with the ace. Now when the ace of hearts is knocked out, West will have no diamond to return.

Refusal to win the first diamond is the hold-up play. It is one of the most important plays in handling no trump contracts, and can sometimes be employed to very good advantage even at a suit contract.

BEAUFORD H. JESTER

Who He Is—What He Has Done What He Stands For

- Beauford Jester is a Native Texan. He loves Texas and its glorious history—its inspiring traditions—its vast territory and its great people.
- Jester was born in Corsicana, Texas, on January 12, 1893, where he still resides. He is married and has two daughters and one son. He was educated in the schools of Texas and is a graduate of its great University.
- At the outbreak of World War I he volunteered for service and entered the First Officers Training Camp at Leon Springs, Texas. Upon its organization, he was assigned to the Fighting 90th Division and led his company thru the St. Mihiel and Meuse-Argonne drives and into Germany with the Army of Occupation. He offered his services in the second World War.
- Jester is a respected and successful lawyer and is a past president of the Navarro County Bar Association and a past director of the Texas Bar Association. He is a practical farmer and stockman.
- Jester is a Methodist and since 1924 has been the teacher of a Bible class in his home church. He is a past president of the Corsicana Y.M.C.A., a trustee of the Methodist Home, Waco, Texas, Wesley Foundation at the University of Texas and chairman of the board of trustees of the Methodist church at Corsicana. He was formerly commander of the Corsicana American Legion Post and president of the First Officers Training Camp Association and the 90th Division Association.
- Jester was a member (1929-1935) and chairman (1933-35) of the Board of Regents of the University of Texas. During this administration the Regents and Faculty enjoyed complete harmony and the University had its greatest building expansion. He has always taken an active part in the affairs of the University and will continue to work for its future advancement.
- At present Jester is a member of the Texas Railroad Commission and shares with the other two members its splendid record for harmony, achievement and services to the Armed Forces during the war.
- JESTER ADVOCATES NOW JUST AS HE DID WHEN HE FIRST BEGAN HIS CAMPAIGN FOR GOVERNOR—
 1. Equal responsibility of both labor and management—responsibility to the Public itself.
 2. The path of democratic principles in Government—the path taken by the pioneers who builded this State.
 3. Putting an end to capitalistic monopolies and labor monopolies and any attempt of the C.I.O. Political Action Committee or any other foreign element to dominate the people of Texas.
 4. Payment to the old folks of the $40 per month voted by the people of Texas in August 1945.
 5. Termination of all Boards, Bureaus, Agencies, and other restrictive bodies as fast as conditions justify—STRICT ECONOMY IN GOVERNMENT AND NO NEW TAXES.
 6. Farm to Market Roads.
 7. Stricter enforcement of the pardon and habitual criminal laws for confirmed criminals to prevent them from again and again preying on the Public.
 8. The divorcement of our Educational Institutions from Politics and the establishment of adequate separate schools for negroes.
 9. A substantial increase in the Salaries of the school teachers of Texas.
 10. A Government of the People of Texas for the Home, the Church and the Schools.—Your vote for him on August 24th will be deeply appreciated.

In the First Primary the Voters of Texas overwhelmingly expressed their approval of Beauford Jester's constructive platform, principles of government and splendid qualities of leadership. His campaign was not one of Hate, Personal Prejudices or Vindication—nor was he supported by any organized minority group or bloc controlled by outside influences whose theories of government are foreign to our customs, traditions and institutions. Jester believes in the welfare and prosperity of every Texan and is against any attempt to set class against class or to promote disunity among our people for political expediency. Jester believes in Texas and is controlled by no clique or group.

The Voters of Texas must choose between two conflicting theories of government. One would destroy our fundamental institutions—burden the people of Texas with enormous additional taxes—substitute new radical theories of government wholly at variance with our democratic precepts and ideals and concede the right of an atheist to teach atheism in the tax-supported schools and colleges of a God-fearing people.

Beauford Jester advocates a government which will preserve our institutions and traditions. He believes that the Home, the Church and the Schools are the very backbone of a free and democratic people. He believes that no new taxes are necessary or should be levied against an already heavily tax-burdened people. Jester believes the needs of the aged citizens of Texas can and will be paid without additional taxes. He believes the people of Texas are entitled to first consideration in all public matters.

The Institutions, Customs and Traditions of Texas will be preserved by electing Beauford Jester Governor!

Internal Strife and Turmoil must cease! Unite and work in Harmony! Texas needs and deserves a capable, courageous and well qualified leader!

FACIAL MASSAGE REVITALIZES SKIN

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

The older a woman grows, the more her skin needs the stimulation of facial massage and patting. If she possibly can, she should try to make room in her budget for professional facials. If she can't swing those, the next best thing to do is to get a reliable cosmetic consultant to prescribe the creams needed and to ask the specialist to demonstrate how these should be applied.

Where application is concerned, care should be exercised in avoiding harmful pulling and stretching of the skin.

Three minutes of creaming a face well every night will yield infinitely better results than a long-drawn-out orgy of slapping on the stuff once a week.

No woman who feels anxious about the youthful appearance of her skin should overlook the benefits of tilting her head lower than her feet, which sends a healthy flow of blood to her face.

STRETCHERS EASE DISCOMFORT OF TIGHT NEW SHOES

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

A chore feet resent in hot weather is the job of breaking in new shoes. Subtle the job, if you're buying new shoes now, to shoe stretchers with adjustable knobs. This is what our marching soldiers do—there's usually one or more pairs of stretchers in every infantry company—until new footwear is adapted to the contours of feet.

Shoes bought for wear while the weather is still warm should be simply large. This makes allowance for swelling which is often the reaction of feet actively used while the thermometer climbs.

During warm weather, feet will show their gratitude with bouncier steps if you'll spare them the discomfort of stockings or foot protectors that have dams or holes at toes or heels, are so long they make wrinkles or are so short they cramp the feet.

Plant breeders changed the sugar beet from an annual to a biennial.
