PRESIDENT SEEKS CONSERVATION OF NATURAL RESOURCES FOR PEACE—

Truman Asks UN To Call Science Convention

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (AP) — President Truman Monday called on the United Nations to summon a world scientific conference on conservation to study global resources, including "the possible peaceful uses of atomic energy within the next few decades."

six months of 1947 somewhere in the United States. Declaring that conservation "can become a major basis of peace," the President said: "Warfare has taken a heavy toll of many natural resources; the rebuilding of the nations and the industrialization of under-developed areas will require an additional large depletion of them. Waste, destruction and uneconomic use of resources anywhere damage mankind's common estate."

The appeal was prepared for delivery by George L. Warren, State Department adviser on refugees and displaced persons, to meet a flurry of opposition which arose last week over the set-up and financial requirements mapped out for the International Refugee Organization. The proposed IRO has a draft constitution and budget in preparation for its intended handling of some 830,000 refugees in displaced persons camps in Europe, which it is expected to take over from the UNRRA some time next year.

However, the scheme met a snag last week when the Russian representative, Nikolai Feonov, declared his country would not participate in any refugee program calling for compulsory contributions for the resettlement of persons outside their native countries. India also balked on compulsory contributions, pointing out that she had given $32,000,000 to UNRRA at a time when many Indians were dying in famines without receiving UNRRA aid.

Commerce Chief Will Talk Again

He Will Meet With President Truman Soon

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER WASHINGTON — (AP) — Secretary of Commerce Wallace Monday reaffirmed his stand for the softer U. S. policy toward Russia which President Truman disavowed as administration policy, and said he will continue to fight publicly for his views.

Wallace's announcement apparently heralded a wide-open split in Truman's cabinet between the commerce secretary and Secretary of State Byrnes, whose aides here and in Paris have made no secret of his bitter opposition to Wallace's idea.

Wallace talked with President Truman by telephone immediately before he issued his statement, aides said. They reported he would see the President probably Tuesday, but by Wednesday at the latest. Wallace's statement given to reporters shortly after he returned to his office from New York said: "I stand upon my New York speech. It was interesting to find that both the extreme right and the extreme left disagreed with the views I expressed. Feeling as I do however, that most Americans are concerned about, and willing to work for, peace, I intend to continue my efforts for a just and lasting peace and I shall within the near future, speak on this subject again."

Aides said Wallace would have nothing further to say about his New York speech Monday.

In that declaration, which he read to reporters himself, the Chief Executive made four main points:

- 1. His approval of Wallace's speech at a news conference last Thursday actually was intended to cover only Wallace's right to make the speech, not what he said. 2. The belief that he had endorsed the speech was a "natural misunderstanding," due to the fact he had not said what he intended to say. 3. There has been no change in American foreign policy. 4. There will be no "significant" change in American foreign policy without consultation with Byrnes and congressional leaders.

While Republicans questioned the President's "mistake" and assailed the wisdom of letting Wallace criticize administration foreign policy, Democrats generally hailed Truman's explanation and expressed hope the incident would be cleared up.

The attitude of State Department officials appeared to be that they, too, hoped the row would die down but that they were by no means confident of it.

There was good reason to believe that Wallace, on the whole, found the President's handling of the case most satisfactory. His main objective, it was learned, is to challenge openly what he considers objectionable points of Byrnes' policy and to do so, if possible, as a member of the cabinet.

He has had this project in mind for months, according to persons familiar with his views, and they say they see no reason why he should give up the idea just when it is well started.

At least some State Department officials have considered the same probability, and there was speculation that the department might recommend to Truman either that he tell Wallace not to make any more speeches directly or indirectly critical of Byrnes' policies or else that he require State Department clearance of all government foreign policy speeches in the future.

CIO Threatens To Intensify Seaman Strike

Negotiations To End Shipping Strike Collapse

Ship Owners Claim Men Not Protecting Vessels

By The Associated Press Collapse of negotiations to end the most crippling shipping strike in the nation's history was followed Monday by the CIO National Maritime Union's threat to intensify the walkout in ports all over the country and bring out thousands of pickets in a mass demonstration in New York.

Conferees between officials of the National Maritime Union (CIO) and East and Gulf Coast ship operators were broken off Sunday night when the operators said discussions would be "fruitful" while the NMU completed its demands with those of two West Coast unions. The operators also refused to continue the negotiations because of the NMU's action Sunday in withdrawing security watches from ships in Atlantic and Gulf ports, leaving them unguarded from "fire and other potential perils."

Joseph Curran, president of the NMU, walked out of Sunday night's meeting and termed the employers' action a "lockout." He said the union would not resume negotiations until West Coast shipowners agreed to meet with the Marine Cooks and Stewards Union (CIO) and the independent Marine Firemen's Union.

Both unions are affiliated with the NMU in the Committee for Maritime Unity, organization of six CIO unions and the one independent group. West Coast shipowners maintain that their contract with the two unions, who ask the same increases won by AFL seamen last week, does not provide for a reopening of the wage question at this time.

The unions are seeking parity with the AFL Sailors Union of the Pacific and the Seafarers International Union which gained wage boosts of $22.50 monthly on the West Coast and $27.50 on the East Coast. The NMU last June won a $17.50 monthly raise for its members.

Curran made a bid for government intervention Monday when he sent a telegram to President Truman asking the President to instruct government agencies to "force" a contract "which will embody the same pay increases already given to AFL maritime unions on the basis of the same pay for the same work."

In widening the strike which has tied up approximately 1,200 ships in ports all over the country, the NMU Sunday extended the walkout to include colliers and NMU-manned ships under foreign registry in addition to withdrawing security watches.

Frank J. Taylor, spokesman for the East Coast operators, made public a telegram he had sent to the commandant of the Coast Guard in Washington asking "remedial action x xx to alleviate the extremely hazardous conditions now existing" as a result of the walkout of security watches.

The paralysis of shipping started 11 days ago when AFL maritime unions struck in protest against a War Stabilization Board ruling denying them the $22.50 and $27.50 monthly raises negotiated with operators.

CIO men refused to cross the AFL picket lines and the AFL unions, except for scattered instances, have honored CIO picket lines since the AFL unions won their demands last Friday.

Belgrade Accuses U. S. Of Abusing Slav Soldiers

LONDON — (AP) — Belgrade newspapers said Sunday the Yugoslav government has forwarded a note to the United States protesting "rough and irresponsible acts" by American troops in connection with the arrest of six Yugoslav soldiers in Trieste September 9.

In Trieste Brig. Gen. Ridgeley Gaither, acting commander of the U. S. 88th Division, described the arrests as a trifling incident and said a board of inquiry probing Yugoslav charges had found "there was no instance of insult or abuse whatsoever." The six were arrested after a dynamite bomb was tossed into a house, blasting out one wall.

The Belgrade radio said the six soldiers were "cursed" by the American military police and that the MPs also "directed abusive language against the Yugoslav Army."

Yugoslav newspapers splashed the announcement of the protest on front pages, but did not carry the text of the note, dispatches from Belgrade said.

ONE ESCAPEE CAPTURED AFTER DOGS CHASE HIM 28 MILES—

Seven State Convicts At Large After Two Mass Breaks From Prison Farms In Southeast Texas

HOUSTON — (AP) — Seven convicts were still at large Monday after two mass breaks of prisoners at the Harlem Prison Farm No. 1 near Sugarland at 7:30 p. m. Sunday, and at the Darrington Prison farm near Sandy Point.

One of the convicts from Harlem was caught at 2 a. m. Monday on the front porch of a house near the edge of Bellaire when five packs of dogs and a posse of 30 men, including Harris County deputy sheriffs and Houston police, closed in on him.

According to Deputy Sheriff V. J. Donnelly, the escapee had been on a constant run for 28 miles, and the dogs had been following him. The dogs closed in on him and the convict ran onto the porch, screaming for the officers to call off the approaching dogs.

An official at Harlem said two of the 11 escapees from his farm are still at large. He said the escape was made while a movie was being shown to 260 convicts.

He said bars were sawed off a rear window and 11 men crept out of the building before the break was discovered by an outside guard.

Sheriff Zwahr of Fort Bend County and Capt. O. K. Kelly of the Harlem Farm called out posses and started after the fugitives.

Houston officers were called into the hunt when it was learned one of the prisoners was heading toward Houston. The spokesman at Harlem said all the prisoners which escaped from there were Latin-Americans. One prisoner, shot as he attempted to join the 11 who made their dash for freedom, died Monday morning in the hospital at the Harlem Prison Farm, Sheriff Fred Zwahr of Fort Bend County said.

Connally Answers Russia On Trieste As Military Base

PARIS — (AP) — Sen. Tom Connally, replying to Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov, Monday demanded that the peace conference establish Trieste as a truly free state, independent of both Yugoslavia and Italy.

Citing the principles on Trieste agreed upon by the Foreign Ministers Council, Connally asserted these agreements should be honored for the sake of peace.

"Let us make Trieste the symbol of peace and security in the world," the Texas senator urged.

Connally, who is chairman of the U. S. Senate's Foreign Relations Committee, addressed the Italian Political Commission. He said Trieste must not be "merely a paper state."

"It must be a real state, with its own character, its own strength, its own independence and its own dignity."

"The free territory must not be a satellite of Yugoslavia on one hand nor of Italy on the other."

"There must be no mental reservations," he declared, glancing around the table as if to warn both nations.

Referring to Molotov's expression of fear that "foreign governments" might establish a military base in Trieste, Connally said that no armed forces except those of the Security Council would be permitted in the territory and then only in case of an incident requiring international action.

Behind The Slump

Rep. Adolph Sabath suspects dirty work at the crossroads in the recent stock market slump. Although Chairman James J. Caffrey of the SEC seems to disparage Sabath's idea that short-selling "professionals" manipulated the market break, the veteran Illinois congressman apparently is convinced that the big boys pulled a fast one for both monetary and political profit.

In connection with his charges, Sabath made the following statement: "I can see no sound reason for this week's break in the stock market. Production is at an all-time high, employment is at the highest peacetime figure in history, and government and private agencies have reported nothing to indicate that stock quotations were out of line. There must, therefore, be a political motive behind this raid on the market."

We are in no position to pass upon the truth of Sabath's charges. But if the venerable legislator sees no cloud on our economic horizon which might be reflected in the attitude of investors, he merits either commiseration or congratulation. For it must be either myopia or a benign optimism—remarkable in a man who has spent 80 years on this earth and 40 of them in Congress—which has conjured up such a bright vision.

Sabath puts great faith in general statistics. Production is high and employment is high. True enough. But what is the quality and what are the prices of our products? How steady and fruitful is the output of our statistically employed?

What about the recurrent outbreak of national strikes, with their lingering, paralyzing effect on production? What about the black market in food, houses, cars and other necessities, adding prohibitive costs to prices already high? What about the disturbing international situation? Shouldn't these and other economic ills have a place alongside Sabath's cheerful statistics? Aren't they possibly legitimate cause for business's concern?

Sabath might even ponder the explanation of the market slump given by Joseph Frazer, president of Kaiser-Frazer—even though he might in the end reject Frazer's solution as prejudiced and political.

"Big business and little business are bogged down with government red tape," says Frazer, "thousands of rules, regulations, reports to make and questionnaires to fill out. The little businessman is spending so much of his time reporting to various government bureaus that he doesn't have time to run his business and produce or sell his merchandise. . . . Our economy cannot exist half planned and half free."

This may be exaggerating the importance of government planning in the rather chaotic state of American business at present. But Frazer has repeated a frequent complaint which cannot be ruled out entirely in a survey of the possible causes why business suddenly went stone cold dead in the market.

In the face of all these contributing factors, it would seem that Sabath is looking through the wrong end of the telescope when he sees slick manipulation and political chicanery as the only flaws in the current picture of business and industry.

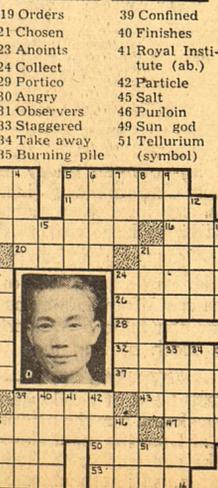

Our potato surplus is to be made into synthetic tires. We hope they keep their eyes on the road.

Despite today's high prices, the most expensive thing about a home is still carelessness.

Grand champion of the meet was Jim Clem of Dallas, who collected the most points, while Bobby Luther of Fort Worth won the stunts event. Raymond Lockard of Dallas captured workmanship and plane appearance honors.

And Did We Howl? You Tell 'Em!

Midland, without indulging in any extravagant expression, can very appropriately be called a City Beautiful. Even in its swaddling days, our city dads seemed to have been imbued with fanciful ideas of future grandeur, munificence, beauty, and all along the years we have built enduringly, and with such evidences of mundane pretensions that her reputation went far and early into wide reaches where watchful marts lent heed to the beckoning sign of opportunity.

Time passed and Midland prospered. Drought spread its pall upon devastated ranges, and prosperity lagged, staggered under the burden of sterile ranges and the resultant tragedy that spread widely in stock circles and lesser interest.

Midland, though, was the proud mart of the South Plains; she did not falter; her Star of Hope did not dim; she maintained, ever, that which she acquired in plentiful days; and gladsome days came again—and slid back into drab periods of inactivity.

And on and on with the ups and downs of life, the vicissitudes of a courageous town in its cityward trend!

Ah, but she fought a good fight. Early she was dubbed "The Queen City of the South Plains," and she wore her royal robes with grace and to that station born.

It is as it should be, that her people are proud of Midland, that they love every splendid stride that she has made in becoming the wonderful near-city that she is today; and it is a distressing thought that obstacles are now obstructing her rose-hued way.

Our national government, through taxation—and for many doubtful purposes—is throwing into our struggle almost insurmountable difficulties. When we think back to the boastful and arrogant years of Germany, Japan, and lesser disturbing satanic entities—their cruelties and inhumanities to our boys, atrocities never before devised by fiendish ingenuity—when we think of those unnumbered horrors, I, for one—and millions feel as I do—I'd let the Huns go hungry and their cohorts with them, nor would I deny myself one simple luxury to keep them from starving. I grant you that this may not be Christ-like, but Moses first promulgated "an eye for an eye." I am old-fashioned and like that; and if a burden of taxation had to be, the revenue would not go to fatten grafting office-holders and fawning fiends, who, given a chance, would again turn their unholy minds and energies to an enslavement of the world. Not a mark, not a yen, not one picayune, but what would be turned into the liquidation of our national debt, and to provide some compensation to our boys back home.

But Midland can stand all this and move cheerfully to brighter and more enduring accomplishments. Our national debt is not the appalling sky-high height that confronts us. The mountain has been moved in by the city itself.

Some time ago a national publication gave statistics of expensive towns and cities in which to live. Three were tops, and Midland was one of them. Commensurate to this "bland," fact, our citizenship has just been notified that valuations have been universally raised from approximately thirty-three and a third to 500 per cent, or more, and some gent from Dallas was called in to "raise the ante." I don't know how long he stayed—briefly, though—but I am informed he was paid $6,000 for the boom. Gosh! "Pickings" for him, more taxes for us. But why a Dallas man? Why any outsider? Any zany, oaf, any way-faring fool, could look around and add dizzying figures to school and city valuations which, never yet, have been easy to take on and never come down. If it had to be, why not have given the job to some of our own efficient clerics and kept the money at home?

I am not saying anything about my own boost—it was plenty. There is no occasion to individualize but for purposes of emphasis, it comes to me that many persons who are now sorely oppressed have been raised to all but impossible burdens. And if any escaped, I did not hear of it. And did it raise a furor? You tell 'em.

No RECOURSE. Notification card said "Come around and register your kick to the Board of Equalization." Fat chance. In three days session, about one in ten got a hearing, and I heard of not one who got anything other than that for their trouble, for their pains—

Yeah pains.

Perhaps there's no use to yap, and don't think if I knew a remedy that I would not spring it—even to the 'cleaning out of the whole city officialdom. I've talked with a lot of folks about this matter and haven't found any one yet, that "ain't filed".

And don't think I haven't the courage of my CON-VICTIONS, I am

DEVIL'S LAUGHTER
By Alice M. Laverick Copyright, 1946, NEA SERVICE, INC.

XXV
"SO now you're a follower of Florence Nightingale?" he said. "A noble profession, indeed, I might even add the noblest profession for a woman."
Before I could answer, Ellen was back again with whiskey and hot water, which Colin received with delighted thanks, suggesting that we join him in a toast. But he was still shivering and Cousin Ellen hovered about anxiously, begging him to take care of himself.

He was suddenly furious. Ellen was a poor, half-sick woman herself and should be in bed, instead of worrying over him, and he was a stubborn fool. And I was no longer just little Celia who helped out in the kitchen. I was a graduate nurse with quite a bit of nursing experience and I was not going to stand weakly by while Ellen took cold again and Colin laughingly developed pneumonia.

"Go back to bed at once, Ellen," I said with such an unheeded note of authority in my voice that, startled, she obeyed me.
And carried away by my success with Ellen, I dared speak to Colin with the same note of authority.
"You're going to get out of those clothes and into dry ones," I told him. "And I'm going to take your temperature."

He was intensely amused, his dark eyes dancing.
"By heaven," he said, "you've got plenty of spirit, haven't you? How I love a woman with spirit!" He came toward me. "I can't believe it. Little Saint Cecilia!"

I did not answer him. I got my thermometer and, surprisingly enough, he let me take his temperature, though he continued to treat it all as a huge joke.
He had more than a touch of fever, as I had feared, but when I ordered him to bed, he laughed again. And then, taking me suddenly in his arms, he kissed me.

MY position in the household was changed from then on. Both Mark and Ellen deferred to me as having more knowledge of what to do in this emergency. For the storm continued, developing into a blizzard, and it was a full week before Father Gene and the doctor could get through to us.

WOMEN REFORMATORY ESCAPES CAPTURED
DALLAS (AP)—Detective Lieutenant John Daniel has reported that two escapes from the Illinois State Reformatory for Women were arrested here when they appeared at a telegraph office to claim a money order.
They were identified as Mrs. Norma Jean Brooks, 31, Elizabethtown, Tenn., and Maude Fay McDaniels, 28, Danville, Ill., who escaped from the reformatory at Dwight, Ill., September 8.
The women made their escape by throwing a mattress from a third story window of their cell. The mattress broke their fall after sliding down a bed sheet over a distance equivalent to two floors of the building.
Police said Mrs. Brooks was serving a 30 years term for the pistol slaying of Felix Shannon, a wealthy Mt. Erie, Ill., farmer. Maude McDaniels was serving a one year term on a dependency charge for failure to support a child, Daniel said.

I SLAPPED him, hard. I did not say, "How dare you?" (Does anyone ever really say that, I wonder?) But I did slap him, and he was delighted. He kissed me again. And all at once his arms loosed their hold on me. He staggered over to the big leather chair and fell into it, breathing heavily. And the next moment he was lying across the chair arm, unconscious.
I stood staring at him stupidly for a moment, my heart beating madly, my lips still warm from his kisses. Then, thoroughly aroused and horrified, I flew up the stairs to waken Mark.

It took me a little while to make him understand what had happened, he had been so deeply asleep and he had heard nothing, but when he finally realized what I was trying to tell him, he came down at once. And between us we got Colin to bed.
I was reminded sharply that night five years before, as we went up the stairs, and I imagined that Mark was also.
He was quite alarmed, however, at Colin's condition now. There was no doubt in our minds that Colin must have been exposed to the storm for several hours.
By the time we got him to bed, with plenty of blankets over him, he was delirious and Mark left me to call the doctor. And then, to our consternation and true to Ellen's prediction, we found that we were cut off from the town. The wires were down and we had no way of contacting anyone. Mark insisted at first that he go for the doctor himself, but I feared he wouldn't be able to make it and I told him it would be best for him to stay where he could assist me, if I needed him. And, strangely enough, he abided by my decision.

There was a night when he seemed to be on fire, when his pulse was so feeble that I was sure he was all but gone, that he could not possibly live till morning.
I was light-headed that night, certainly, and I sat by the bed in such a stupor of weariness that I must have been overcome for a while. For the next thing I remember the sound of Colin's voice was in my ears and Mark and Ellen were in the room.
Colin, in his mind, was a child again, back in Ireland, his voice changing on and on, calling to his mother and to his brother Mark, his wonderful older brother, who could do everything so much better than anyone else.

Cardinals Take Game And Half Lead With Two Wins As Brooks Split Pair

By JOE REICHLER
Associated Press Sports Writer

For the first time in major league baseball, two teams—Brooklyn and St. Louis—may wind up the complete season in a head heat for the flag.

With exactly two weeks of the campaign remaining, the Cardinals possess a game and a half lead over the Dodgers in one of the tightest pennant races the National League has ever known. However, both teams are all even in the lost ledger. The Cards' advantage is all in the win column since they've played and won three more games than Brooklyn.

Unless rain interferes, the Dodgers should make up those three games by Friday at which time each contender will have played 146 games with eight to go. The Dodgers' 19-inning tie with the Cincinnati Reds is slated to be played off Friday.

The Cardinals gained a full game on the Brooks Sunday when they defeated the Giants twice 3-0 and 7-4 while the Dodgers were held to a split by the Cubs.

After dropping a thrilling 4-3, 10-inning decision to the Cubs, the Dodgers, behind Kirby Higbe's one-hit pitching, bounced back to win the afterpiece of the double header 2-0. The game was halted after five innings by a combination of semi-darkness and a swarm of gnats which infested Ebbets' Field, packed to capacity by 32,264 cash customers.

Dave Ferriss, Boston's brilliant sophomore, won his 25th game as the American League champion Red Sox split with the Chicago White Sox. Ferriss allowed eight hits in winning the opener 4-1, but Chicago came back to blank the Red Sox 6-0, behind Johnny Rigney.

Ferriss thus tied the American League record of Wes Ferrell who won 46 games in his first two complete seasons for the Cleveland Indians.

Bill McCahan, making his first start in the major leagues, basted Bob Feller in a hurling duel as the Philadelphia Athletics split with the Indians. After Bob Lemon had pitched the Tribe to an 8-1 victory, McCahan limited the Indians to seven hits with a 2-0 win. The game was halted after seven innings because of darkness.

The St. Louis Browns won twice from the New York Yankees, 1-0 and 2-1. Rookie Jack Sanford, making his major league debut, limited the Yanks to five hits in the first game.

Buddy Lewis and Cecil Travis collected nine hits between them and pitcher Early Wynn hit a grand slam home run to help Washington outslug the Detroit Tigers, 15-5.

The Boston Braves advanced to within two games of the third place Cubs by whipping the Reds twice, 2-1 and 6-1.

The Phillies offset a single tally by Pittsburgh in the top half of the 11th inning with two in their half to defeat the Pirates 6-5.

Brownfield Is Next On Bulldogs' Program

Feeling good with a victory scalp of the Ysleta Indians on their belt, the Midland High School Bulldogs Monday were scheduled to go into practice drill for the game Friday night at Brownfield.

Coming through the opening game with only the usual knots and bruises, the Purples will buckle down to serious business as the week progresses.

Jack Mashburn, an assistant coach, scouted Brownfield last Friday when Phillips won, 6 to 0, and his notes will be carefully studied here. Phillips is a strong team up in the Panhandle.

Coach Barnes Milam and his assistants saw several errors in the play of the Bulldogs Friday night despite the good-sized victory and will concentrate practice toward correcting them.

A large contingent of Midland fans is expected to follow the team to Brownfield.

Lubbock Eliminates Abilene Blue Sox

By The Associated Press

It will be Lubbock and Amarillo or Pampa in the final round of the West Texas-New Mexico League playoffs.

The Lubbock Hubbers, fourth place winners in regular season, knocked the first place leaders, Abilene, out of the running Sunday by defeating the Blue Sox, 6-1. The win gave the Hubbers their fourth victory in five starts.

Pampa leads the second semi-final series, three games to two, after dropping two straight games to Gold Sox. The sixth game will be played at Pampa Monday night.

Lubbock pitched three Abilene pitchers for a dozen hits in clinching the semi-final series. Every Hubber in the line up connected for at least one safe blow.

Jackie Sullivan sent Lubbock into the lead in the third inning as he singled home two runs. In the seventh, three hits and a walk were lunched for three additional scores.

Behind the three-hit pitching of Lefty Lonergan, who had lost the second clash of the series, Amarillo jumped on two Pampa hurlers for 14 hits. A six-run barrage in the third, followed by three more in the fourth, accounted for the Gold Sox runs.

Atlanta And Memphis Seek Clinchers Monday

By The Associated Press

Atlanta and Memphis are going out Monday night after the clinchers in their semi-final playoffs in the Southern Association.

Atlanta's pennant-winning Crackers jumped into a 3-2 lead by thumping New Orleans Sunday, 7-3. The Memphis Chickies came from behind to gain an 11-inning duel with Chattanooga in a 3-3 tie which left Memphis with a series lead, three games to one.

Herman Drefs for Memphis and Bob Callan for the Lookouts are due to hook up in Monday night's mound duel at Chattanooga. Shelby Kinney for Atlanta and Victor Johnson for New Orleans are the choices for the other game in Atlanta.

Odessa-El Paso Game Seen As One Of Top Four Games Of Weekend Conflicts

By MAX B. SKELTON
Associated Press Staff Writer

Like their collegiate neighbors of the Southwest Conference, Texas' Class AA schoolboy gridsters don't like to start a campaign with breathers.

After a curtain-raiser last weekend of 30 games, high school teams will open up full force this week with all but about six of the 102 Class AA schools participating in a total of 57 clashes.

All 16 districts will see action and the first conference game of the

Rebels And Missions Clash Monday Night

By The Associated Press

Rain and more rain is stealing the show from the Texas League playoffs.

With Fort Worth's Cats sitting around impatiently after having sewed up one-half of the semi-final round last Friday against Tulsa, the Dallas Rebels and San Antonio Missions have been displaying their impatience with rain.

The fifth clash of the seven-game series between the Missions and the Rebels was postponed for a second straight day Sunday as the San Antonio area was drenched with a five-inch rain.

Dallas is leading the series, three games to one.

Al Vincent, Dallas manager, is sticking with his Saturday nomination of Big Hank Oana, the league's leading hurler, to take the mound for Dallas in the fifth game Monday night in San Antonio, but the rains have caused indecision on the part of the Padre skipper, Jimmy Adair.

Should San Antonio take the next game, the series will be returned to Dallas for the sixth clash, and a seventh, if necessary.

THOROUGHbred CLUB TO HONOR KLEBERG

LEXINGTON, KY.—(AP)—Robert J. Kleberg, Jr., president of the King Ranch at Kingsville, Texas, will be guest of honor at the Thoroughbred Club of America's annual testimonial dinner here October 25.

Charles A. Kenney, president of the club, said Kleberg will be the second Texan honored by the club and will be the youngest man to receive its award scroll and pin and life membership.

Texarkana Beats Tyler To Enter Final Series

By The Associated Press

Texarkana's Bears, second place finishers in the full-season standings, are marking time Monday to learn the name of their opponent in the final round of the East Texas League playoff.

The Bears completed semi-final play Sunday, by a four-games-to-one advantage, in defeating the Tyler Trojans, 6-3.

Texarkana will meet the winner of the Greenville-Henderson series, which Greenville leads, three games to two.

Greenville and Henderson, first place leader in the regular season, will meet in their sixth game Monday night at Henderson.

year will be unreeled at Corpus Christi on Friday night with the invasion of the San Antonio Tech team.

Among the games on deck are at least a dozen that bring together teams that have been tabbed as pre-season regional and district favorites.

Nominations for the top games of the week:

Sunset at Dallas at Marshall — The Bulldogs of Sunset have been picked by both Dallas newspapers to win the District 8 crown after a year's absence from the throne. Marshall, doped as an East Texas powerhouse, opened its campaign last week with a 13-6 win over Fair Park of Shreveport.

Highland Park at North Dallas—The state co-champs take on the strong District 8 winners of 1945.

Odessa at El Paso High—Odessa held up to predictions last week in trouncing Lubbock, 13-0, and the West Texas favorite is facing another strong test.

Those are only four of the main clashes. But they will be accompanied by such games as San Angelo at Lucock, Denison at Wichita Falls, Breckenridge (victor last week over Abilene) at Paschal of Fort Worth, Thomas Jefferson of San Antonio at Temple, and Beaumont at Brackenridge of San Antonio.

Five teams will take on opponents from outside Texas.

Borger will invade Mangum, Okla., while Altus, Okla., will visit Vernon. Bowie of El Paso journeys to Santa Fe, N. M., and Austin of El Paso will entertain Tuscon, Ariz. Lamar of Houston will take on a strong Lake Charles, La., eleven, at Lake Charles.
