12 NAZIS SENTENCED TO HANG

Admiral Karl Doenitz—10 years imprisonment.

Alfred Rosenberg, Nazi philosopher—death by hanging.

Joachim Von Ribbentrop, foreign minister—death by hanging.

Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel—death by hanging.

Grand Adm. Erich Raeder—life imprisonment.

Herman Goering, Reichsmarshal and No. 2 Nazi—death by hanging.

Russians Dissent As Von Papen, Schacht, Fritzsche Are Freed

NUERNBERG—(AP)—The international war crimes tribunal Tuesday decreed death on the gallows for 12 leaders of the Adolf Hitler gang, sentenced seven to prison, and—with Russia dissenting—acquitted three defendants.

The court, after sentencing to death Hermann Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop and 10 other Nazi henchmen, announced that Russia had protested against the tribunal's acquittal of Franz von Papen, Hjalmar Schacht and Hans Fritzsche. The Soviet judge, Maj. Gen. I. T. Nikitchenko, also protested.

That Rudolf Hess should have been hanged instead of receiving the life imprisonment sentence the court handed him, and objected to Monday's acquittal of the general staff and high command.

Judges of Britain, the United States and France joined in the majority opinion, which now will be carried out by the Allied Control Council, representing all four Allies.

Legal officials of the American military government said that if any of the three Nazi leaders acquitted were returned to the U. S. zone of occupation they probably would be tried by Germans under the zone's de-Nazification law.

The officials said because Schacht and Von Papen owned property in more than one zone it was conjectured to which they might be returned. Legal experts in Berlin expressed belief the Russians might get custody of Fritzsche, whom they arrested in Berlin and delivered to Nuernberg for trial.

Justice Robert H. Jackson, chief U. S. prosecutor, expressed regret that "the tribunal has felt constrained to acquit Schacht and Von Papen and to decline to declare the criminality of the general staff." He said in a formal statement that "the effect of these acquittals on the further prosecution of industrialists and militarists which have been planned will have to be studied from the text of the opinion."

Goering was first. He strode into the courtroom flanked by two military policemen. His gray suit hung limply about his once ample figure. Chief Justice Lawrence looked sternly down from the bench and sentenced the Number 2 Nazi to death by hanging. Under the glare of the lights, Goering's face was immobile.

Gray and sickly, Von Ribbentrop stood stunned as the death sentence was pronounced. He had to be helped out by military policemen.

Others sentenced to death were Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Ernst Kaltenbrunner, Alfred Rosenberg, Hans Frank, Wilhelm Frick, Julius Streicher, Fritz Sauckel, Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, Arthur Seyss-Inquart and Martin Bormann (in absentia).

Rudolf Hess, third ranking German until his strange wartime flight to Scotland, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

Also sentenced to life were Walter Funk and Grand Adm. Erich Raeder.

Von Papen, one of the acquitted, was the old gray diplomat who led intrigues in both world wars; Schacht was the German finance wizard; and Fritzsche was deputy propaganda minister for Paul Joseph Goebbels, a suicide.

Grand Adm. Karl Doenitz, who surrendered Germany and was Fuehrer in the last few days of the war, received a ten year sentence.

Baldur von Schirach, Hitler Youth leader, and Albert Speer, German munitions minister, both were sentenced to 20 years in prison.

U.S. Links Klan To American-Nazi Bund

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Justice Department said Tuesday it has uncovered evidence establishing links between the Ku Klux Klan and the German-American Bund from 1937 to 1941.

An official who has read the evidence said it "definitely proves that the two organizations collaborated to promote racial and religious dissension prior to the war."

Reeves Wildcat Is To Test Shows Of Petroleum

By JAMES C. WATSON Oil Editor

Argo Oil Corporation No. 1 Roberts, Southeast Reeves County wildcat, about 15 miles northeast of Balmorhea, is apparently due to start testing shortly on shows of oil and gas logged several months ago.

The project, located 1,980 feet from south and east lines of section 294, block 13, E&GN survey, was scheduled to bottom at around 14,000 feet, in an unidentified formation.

Operator planned to take Lars Wells and Schlumberger surveys and it was indicated that a string of 5 1/2-inch casing likely would then be run.

The last casing run in the wildcat was 7-inch which had been cemented at about 5,166 feet.

This project had interesting indications of production in various zones between 9,940 feet and about 11,650 feet, several months ago, while hole was being made through those horizons.

Some free oil developed and some gas flowed to the surface. Those shows generated an intensive and widespread lease play. Testing on No. 1 Roberts will be watched with much interest and concern.

Discovery to Complete

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-B Cowden, Northwest Ector County discovery, for flowing production from the Edgewater, to open the Anderson field, located with 500 gallons of acid through perforations at 8,545-85 feet.

The well flowed back the oil flush with the acid in 30 minutes and then on a one-hour test produced 66.50 barrels of pipe line oil, through a one-half-inch choke, with gas-oil ratio of 358-1. The discovery is now shut in to take potential and complete.

CIO Seamen, Longshoremen Go On Strike

Workers Abandon Ships As Negotiations Fold

By The Associated Press

CIO seamen and longshoremen struck in East and West Coast ports Tuesday after collapse of contract negotiations with ship operators—posing a new threat of a complete paralysis of the nation's maritime fleet.

The strike of 15,000 members of the Marine Engineers Beneficial Association who operate virtually all engine rooms in the American merchant marine, went into effect at midnight Monday night when their contract expired and after Washington talks bogged down.

The government gave up at 3 a. m. (CST) its final frantic efforts to produce an agreement before daybreak.

New Talks During Afternoon

The Labor Department scheduled new talks for Tuesday afternoon. Hope of averting the second port tieup in less than a month crumbled Monday night when Pacific shipowners rejected the demands of the two unions for preferential hiring of union members.

Members "struck" immediately in New York while West Coast members were to join their colleagues later Tuesday.

AFL Deck Officers Quit

Unlike the Marine Engineers, the AFL organization—which includes the nation's deck officers—had not taken a strike vote but its members quit work at midnight—the time of expiration of their contract—in accordance with a "no contract, no work" policy.

Longshoremen involved in the dispute are members of Harry Bridges' CIO International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union who had demanded a 33-cent-an-hour pay raise from West Coast operators in negotiations at San Francisco. The hike would bring their pay to $1.70 an hour.

Three thousand stevedores struck in Los Angeles harbor shortly after midnight, while 2,000 more halted work at Seattle, to tie up 35 to 40 ships there. Longshoremen in Seattle, however, continued to work troop and troop supply ships and bona fide relief ships.

The strikers already have received assurances from their maritime unions that they would support picket lines—as was the case in the 17-day CIO-AFL maritime strike which ended recently in an arbitration award granting parity of wages to both unions.

Government Threatens To Seize All Market-Bound Livestock

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The worsening meat shortage brought an official threat Tuesday of government seizure of all market-bound livestock.

That unprecedented step was described by Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson as "a very real danger that day by day becomes more of a possibility."

Anderson's assertion to a group of New Mexico cattlemen coincided with his formal announcement through the Agriculture Department here that meat must remain on the government's list of scarce farm products.

At the same time Anderson erased from the list—and from price control—all canned fruits, juices, nectars and corn, along with fresh and frozen salmon, oat cereals and rum.

What lingering hopes the meat industry might still have had that the way might be cleared for lifting OPA ceilings were dashed by the announcement here.

And Anderson made the point more emphatic in his Albuquerque address Monday by declaring that any new decontrol period would simply lead to "feast and then famine."

It was not immediately clear here whether the requisitioning step Anderson mentioned as "a very real danger" would be designed to channel more meat into regular channels or merely to assure the armed services and hospitals of a greater supply.

Warnings of Argentina Beef

Anderson held out still another warning to the stockmen—that the long standing fight against importing Argentine beef into this country might be reopened by public demand.

The Army disclosed Monday that it is trying to buy some of its meat intended for overseas use from Argentina. Present sanitary regulations prevent the importation of Argentine beef into this country.

Under a short supply list was the second monthly forecast he is required to give under terms of the new Price Control Act. No new items were added from the September table, which besides meat, included these other major commodities still rye, rice, buckwheat flour, barley, grain sorghums, dry beans and peas, milk and butter, flaxseed, peanut oil and meal, olive oil, most sugars and syrups, malt beverages, candy and confectionery, jams, jellies, preserves, fruit spreads, most canned fish and fish flake, and soft drinks.

As items go off the list they automatically are removed from price control.

Under the case of canned fruits and vegetables, only tomatoes and tomato products, except soup and mixed juices, still are under OPA ceilings.

Besides complying with Anderson's findings on canned fruits and corn, OPA acted independently Tuesday to lift price ceilings from chewing gum, prepared flour mixes, animal gland derivatives used in the preparation of insulin and other medicinal items, and agricultural insecticides and fungicides.

Previously the price agency announced a two and one-half cent a pound boost in the retail prices of oleomargarine, cooking and salad oils, mayonnaise, salad dressing and shortening.

Cotton textile prices were raised for the fourth time in two months under the new requirement that they be revised monthly in line with raw cotton prices. OPA said this would boost such items as bed linens and tablecloths two per cent at retail and add one per cent to the cost of most cotton garments.

Capturer Dislikes Von Papen Verdict

"We should have shot him when we captured him."

That was the exclamation of Frank Langston, Dallas Times-Herald reporter, who was visiting The Midland Reporter-Telegram Tuesday when the verdicts of the 21 Nazi leaders came in, carrying the information that Franz Von Papen, Nazi diplomat of two wars, was freed by the Nuernberg court.

Langston, a member of the 17th Airborne Division, was attached to the group which captured Von Papen and his son, Franz Jr., in a hunting lodge in Stockhausen, Germany.

Langston filed the first story on the capture of the Von Papens, who were among the first Nazi bigwigs taken by the Allies.

"Our patrol found him and he was put in my custody. I took him to our general who said he didn't want him and to take him back to another general. I thought I was going to go halfway across Germany before I could get someone to take him off our hands."

I am disappointed that the tribunal let him off. He was one of the smartest and shrewdest Nazis of them all. We found enough Nazi information on his person to convict him."

A call was issued for police reserves and ambulances.

tration camp victims were deposited in his Reichsbank vaults.
"He either knew what was being received or was deliberately closing his eyes to what was being done," the court said.
Nevertheless, the tribunal considered that Funk was "never a dominant figure in the various programs in which he participated" and this is reckoned "a mitigating factor."
Commanded U-Boat:
As commander of U-boats, the tribunal said, Doenitz was more than an ordinary figure in war planning.
"Doenitz was consulted almost continuously by Hitler," the judgment said.
The judgment indicated that Admiral Raeder convicted himself by admitting breaches of the Versailles Treaty. He was blamed for rebuilding the German navy for war, for carrying out orders to shoot Commandos, but was absolved, as was Doenitz, of guilt in unrestricted U-boat warfare.
Baldur von Schirach leaped forward as the tribunal found him innocent of conspiracy, but sagged as the court said he was guilty of crimes against humanity as gauleiter of Vienna.
"There is no doubt Sauekel had over-all responsibility for the slave-labor program," the verdict said.
Von Papen Freed
Suave old Von Papen indulged, the tribunal declared, in "political immorality" in his conduct as ambassador to Austria before Anschluss, but in no sense did the evidence justify his conviction as charged.
Fritzsche the tribunal said, was "not sufficiently important" to be linked with major crimes.

First Methodist WSCS Observes 6th Anniversary With Dinner Monday In Educational Building

The First Methodist WSCS observed its sixth anniversary with a dinner Monday evening in the Scharbauer Educational Building. The invocation was given by the Rev. Howard H. Hollowell.

Presentations of special guests were made by Mrs. George P. Bradbury, president, and included: Mrs. Hollowell, Mrs. Clyde Gwyn, chairwoman of Christian Education; Holt Jewell, president of the board of trustees; J. W. Thorne, superintendent of the church school; Miss Tommy Smith, president of the Wesleyan Service Guild; George P. Bradbury, and past presidents of the WSCS.

Mrs. Bradbury said, "The first women's organization in the church was known as the Ladies Aide. The name was changed to the Woman's Missionary Society in 1900 and in 1940, WSCS." She reported on the organization of the Wesleyan Service Guild which is beginning its first year's work.

Guests were seated at tables according to the month in which they were born. Each group presented a five-minute stunt.

Mrs. John Luccous was in charge of arrangements for the January table which was decorated with a snow scene on a mirror reflector. Miniature snow men served as placecards and "Happy New Year" was written on the reflector. A game "Advice" was presented by Mrs. Mary Snodgrass, Pat Murphy, Sam Preston and John Ficke. Valentine Motif Used

The Valentine Motif was carried out in the appointments for the February table with Mrs. E. E. Birkhead serving as chairman. The centerpiece was formed by red dahlias and a red satin heart. "Doing What Comes Naturally" was sung by Mrs. W. E. Chapman, Sartain, and N. G. Gates.

Mrs. J. P. Carson, Jr. was chairman for the March group. The table was decorated with a song "Home on the Range" and a red Irish theme. The stunt was a word and action presentation.

A cross of white dahlia flanked with white tapers in crystal holders decorated the April table. Place cards were attractive doll heads made out of eggs. Women at this table gave a fashion review of Easter bonnets.

An arrangement of peach dahlias and harmonizing napkins carried out a spring motif for the May table. A dialogue of two bachelor girls who wondered why they could not get married was enacted by Mrs. C. M. Chase and Mrs. George Kirk. The image of Mr. Hollowell was seen in the mirror.

Mrs. Howard H. Hollowell was chairman of the June birthday group. A log cabin scene with cotton growing in the yard centered the table. Mrs. D. H. Cardwell sang two negro spirituals. Women celebrating their birthdays in June wore typical negro mammy attire.

July spelled out in large red letters stood on the July table, and place cards were suggestive of July 4 celebration. A reading was presented by Mrs. E. L. Phillips. Mrs. J. P. Ferguson was chairman of this group.

Present Guessing Game
A guessing game was presented by women sitting at the August table with arrangements directed by Mrs. J. M. Prothro. Decorating the table was a miniature seashore scene with bathing beauties.

Mrs. Joe V. Birdwell was chairman for the September table. Spurs, quilts and red tassels formed the centerpiece and place cards were pictures of calf ropers. A parade of Cornick, Iva Proctor, Hugh Duncan, Range" featured this group's part on the program.

BEWARE OF PIN-WORMS
Medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children and adults are victims of Pin-Worms.
Watch for the warning signs, especially the embarrassing, nagging rectal itch. After centuries of Pin-Worm distress a really effective way to deal with them has been established through JAYNE'S P-W, the new Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son. The small, easy-to-take P-W tablets give satisfaction or your money back. So why take chances on Pin-Worms! If you suspect this ugly infection, ask your druggist for P-W and follow the directions. # Shade of Sycamore

By PERCY MARKS Author of "The Plastic Age" "A Tree Grown Straight" Etc.

THE STORY: Gayle, daughter of a college professor, has just become engaged to handsome Bruce Bartlett, famous athlete and scion of wealth. Visiting his home and parents for the first time, she is frightened by the splendor in which they live. Although Mrs. Bartlett greets her kindly, Gayle feels uncomfortable. But she and Bruce's invaluable father take to each other immediately.

VIII
BART kept Gayle so busily occupied that day that she had little time to be frightened. He showed her over the house, and she found that it did not have 90 rooms. It did have a great many, however, and most of them were so large that she was sure 90 ordinary rooms would not have been beyond its capacity. The ballroom was fully as large as the gymnasium at the college where her father taught.

The gardens were worthy of the house. There were long vistas with lily pools gleaming in the distance, sunken gardens, and acres of emerald green lawns. The tiled swimming pool came almost as an anti-climax, and the tennis courts hardly seemed worthy of notice. House, gardens, countryside—all were beautiful, but she wanted none of them. More and more as the day wore on, she was filled with a sense of rebellion. "I don't want it," she told herself over and over again. "It's gorgeous, but I don't want it. I don't even want to be part of it."

And then Bart would speak to her tenderly, or he would touch her, and Sycamore seemed of no importance whatever. It didn't matter. Bart was all that mattered, and besides, they didn't plan to live at Sycamore, anyway. They were going to live somewhere in Westchester county, outside of New York City. They would have an ordinary house, and after visits to Sycamore it would be cosier and more precious than ever. She had dreaded lunch, but it passed pleasantly enough. There were three other guests, and so attention was diverted from her. In daylight she decided that Mrs. Bartlett was quite as beautiful as she had been in the evening, and the rich color in her cheeks was undoubtedly her own. Art had nothing whatever to do with it. But the smoothness of her throat, Gayle was sure, was due to skillful surgery, and she thought Mrs. Bartlett would be more beautiful if her throat were less smooth.

IN the afternoon Bart took her into Philadelphia to see a musical comedy, and it was almost 6 when they returned. When she went to her room, she found Lucille waiting for her. "You will rest?" the maid asked. "Dinner is not until 8." "Yes, I think I will. I never sleep in the daytime, but I think I can now. I'm tired. You'll wake me in time?" "Oh yes," Lucille helped Gayle take off her dress and held her negligee for her. "I have pressed the net dress here and there. There were a few wrinkles, and they were a little crushed." She smiled at Gayle. "It will be lovely on you."

"I hope so," said Gayle sighing, "but I'm afraid it isn't." "Lucille drew the shades. "It is like foam." When Lucille had gone, Gayle lay on the bed and tried to relax. That dress! She had been so excited about it, and tonight it would probably look like ten-ninety-eight. Lucille was probably just saying nice things about it because she knew it was tacky.

FORTUNATELY, Gayle went to sleep and found relief from her fears. When she awoke, the lights were on and Lucille was standing at the foot of her bed. "It's time to dress," she said. "Would you like a bath?" "I'd rather shower, thanks. I'm doped, and a coldish shower will wake me up." She yawned and stretched. "I don't feel as if I could ever wake up enough to dance."

She was wide awake, however, when she had finished the shower, and as she dried her body, she laughed at herself in the mirror before her. There were three huge mirrors in the bathroom, and she could not turn without catching sight of her image.

"It's indecent," she thought, smiling, "all these naked women." Gayle felt reborn when she returned to the bedroom and the waiting Lucille.

She slipped into her negligee and went to the dressing table. Say what one would, this was the kind of dressing table a girl dreamed about—nice and long with room for everything, a froth of organdy ruffles around one's legs to make one feel fragile and feminine, plenty of light, and three mirrors so that every square inch could be clearly and minutely examined. She picked up her hairbrush and then paused as Lucille asked, "Please let me."

"I always do what I want? Then if you don't like it, you can do it all over—your face and hair, I mean."

"My face? Lipstick and powder; that's all I use." "I know—and daytimes that's best. But this is a ball. Please, Miss Kent. I have some ideas. I want very much to try."

"Go ahead," said Gayle, putting down the brush. "Do anything you like. Only remember, I can do it all over if I don't like it."

"Yes, indeed," agreed Lucille, moving quickly to her. "But," she added, smiling at Gayle in the mirror, "I think you'll like it." (To Be Continued)

Today's hand brings out an unusual line of defense. It was played in one of the weekly duplicates at the Mayfair Bridge Club in New York, and Alfred O. Englander sat West. He was playing against a very strong pair and the bidding indicated to him that there was little or no chance to defeat the contract.

Feeling that any natural opening would only make the hand easy for the declarer, he decided upon a surprise attack and opened the six of clubs. Declarer overtook dummy's nine of clubs with the queen. If he had taken three rounds of trumps, he would have had no problem, but he was afraid that the trump suit might not break three-two, and he could not realize that there was any danger of a club ruff. Hoping to find the ace of hearts right, he led the heart, went up with the dummy's king, and East won. East returned his lowest club and West's ace won.

The lead of the lowest club was a suit director, and Englander therefore came back with a club which Englander ruffed, defeating a perfectly safe contract.

The suit-directing play is a great asset if not abused. The lead of the lowest of a suit indicates that the leader's probable entry is in the lower of the other non-trump suits, while a high return indicates a probable entry in the higher of the non-trump suits.

Aviation engineers are predicting that, within the next three years, jet propulsion will be used as standard equipment in cargo and transport planes.

A Matter of Opinion

SEEMS TO BE TWO SCHOOLS OF THOUGHT... SOME FIGURE THE NATIONAL LEAGUE CHAMPS, WINNED BY A TOUGH FIGHT, WILL BE A SOFT TOUCH IN THE WORLD SERIES...

Cards Hope To Send Pollet Against Brook's Branca In Tuesday Opener

By JACK HAND

ST. LOUIS (AP)—Throw out 154 games and a 14-8 season edge for St. Louis over Brooklyn and start the real 1946 National League race Tuesday as Managers Eddie Dyer and Leo Durocher match wits and strategy in the opener of a three-game tie playoff—the first ever held in major league baseball.

Howie Pollet, the Cardinals' all-time No. 1 hurler, probably holds the key to the situation in the aching muscles of his left side. The slender scutpaw has been poison to the Cards.

Dyer won't know if Pollet, who has been knocked out of the box by Chicago in his last two starts, can take his turn until he lets him warm up in the Sportsman Park before the game.

If he's right, Pollet will pitch and Card supporters who have made their favorites a surprising 13 to 20 choice will breathe more easily. If not, Dyer will fall back on Murry Dickson, a wiry right-hander who has beaten the Dodgers three times and lost once on relief.

There is no secret in the fact that Dyer has pointed his Cardinal club for Durocher's club all season long. He confided before the season that "Brooklyn is the team to beat."

There is no key figure holding the fate of the Dodgers' master plan. It is based on Durocher's hunches and uncanny ability to call on the right men at the right time. Brimming with confidence, as usual, the Dodger manager has picked Ralph Branca, a 20-year-old collegian from Mt. Vernon, N. Y., to hurl the vital game. Branca has been extremely effective against the Birds.

Durocher's prize gamble of the year involved Branca in his last start against St. Louis, on September 14. Branca spun a three-hit, 5-0 shutout. It was the kid's first complete game of the year.

The first game is a "big one" for the Redbirds, just as every game has been for the past three weeks. This really is one they have to win for a flip of the coin sends them back to Brooklyn for the second game Thursday and a third game Friday, if necessary.

Unlike the World Series, the players do not share in the receipts of the play-off games, but President Sam Breadon of the Cards announced his players would be paid off for the week on a pro-rata basis of their season's salary.

Long Monday Workout Preps Midland's Ground Offense

By TANNER LAINE

Midland's ground game, which didn't go so well against Austin High out at El Paso, came in for a working over in the Bulldog's practice drill Monday, as they oiled the machinery to go against Plainview here Friday night.

Time after time after time Coaches Barnes Milam, Earl Glassie and Jack Mashburn sent the No. 1 and No. 2 strings into the execution of running plays.

With the line moving ahead of them the backs, Barney Hightower, Dunny Goode, Bobby Cole and Bobby Drake, popped out into the open several times and made a lot of "play like" touchdowns. Some of the B backs also threaded through and loose.

There is much work in store for the Midlanders this week. They must keep the ground game well studied. They must polish their very potent aerial offensive. The fundamentals, blocking and tackling, of course will be stressed. And the overall defense will require hours of precision timing and practice.

Both Undeclared

Plainview comes to town undeclared and with a very rough ball club. The visitors from up I-A-A are going to battle the Midland Bulldogs and plenty. They expect to win. That is a disputed question however.

Unreeling from the T-formation the Plainview Bulldogs are a scrapping team. They have won two games this season on sheer guts and fight.

Midland has won three with just about the same ingredients plus a sweet passing attack. Both elevens are going to score on most anybody. It is a matter of which holds down the other.

One of the largest crowds of the season is expected to see the undefeated Bulldogs of both sides. Especially will the Midland home ball club be watched and watched closely by fans, who still are asking "have we got it this year."

Dixie Series To Open Tuesday In Atlanta

ATLANTA (AP)—The first Dixie Series since 1942 gets underway here Tuesday night between the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association and the Texas League's Dallas Rebels. Game time is 7:15 p. m. (CST).

Atlanta won a ninth-inning 2-1 victory over the Memphis Chicks here Monday night in the seventh and deciding game of the Southern's Shaughnessy playoff. Dallas has been hanging around for several days waiting for the weather-delayed series to be completed.

Probable pitchers are Shelby Kinney for the Crackers and Hank Cana for the Rebels.

The teams will play two games here and return to Dallas for resumption of the seven-game series.

After the Crackers pushed across a single run in the opening inning against Memphis Monday night, the Chicks tied the score on two hits and a fly ball in the seventh.

In the bottom half of the ninth, Atlanta's Lloyd Gearheart singled and took second on a sacrifice. An intentional walk and an infield hit filled the bases, setting the stage for Charlie Glock's single which brought in the big run.

Lovable True To Life
Natural Expressions

—IN YOUR CHILDREN'S PHOTOGRAPHS

WHAT is more desirable, more cherished, more heart warming on those ever so precious "early years" photographs of your children than a genuine "it's so like our child—his laughter can almost be heard" expression.

If that is the kind of photograph you desire (and who doesn't) of your dear ones for yourself, relatives, and friends—then have it made in the logical place where the camera is most apt to capture THOSE natural expressions—AT HOME—where YOUR child is at ease in familiar surroundings rather than in a strange studio where all is BEWILDERMENT and wonder to him.

Now, before the rush, is the time to have those Christmas PHOTOGRAPHS made.
