Early End Forecast In Maritime Dispute

Conciliator Predicts Settlement As Operators, Striking Seamen Enter Continuous Negotiations

WASHINGTON (AP)—Conciliation Director Edgar L. Warren announced Friday that all parties in the maritime strike negotiations here entered continuous negotiations Friday afternoon "to try to drive home a settlement."

Warren was asked whether the situation was such that an immediate settlement was possible. He replied "maybe I am an optimist" but he added that he saw no need for further adjournments in the negotiations.

Unity Is Urged By Thomason In Address To Lions

Congressman R. E. Thomason, who is on a tour of his district, told Midland Lions at their meeting Wednesday in the Scharbauer Hotel, "It is worthwhile to be an American."

"We must pull together and we need unity of purpose and effort," Describing his experiences while representing this district, Thomason, ranking member of the House Military Affairs Committee, said: "If we can win two wars, we can win one peace. You can't go through such a war as this without upsetting the economy of your country."

The speaker was cheered when he said he was not in favor of giving away atomic secrets to anybody and that he was in favor of an Army, Navy and Air Force second to none. Thomason was introduced by M. C. Ulmer, a personal friend and charter member of the Midland Lions Club.

In an accounting of his stewardship as congressman, Thomason said any mistakes he may have made have been those of "the head, not of the heart." He favors universal military training, not conscription. He said he always called "em like I see 'em."

President John Biggs presided at the meeting.

Thomason To Address Reserve Officers

Congressman R. E. Thomason of El Paso will address members of the Permian Basin Reserve Officers Association at their meeting in the district courtroom of the Midland County courthouse at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

V. G. Young, association chairman, invited and urged all reserve officers of Midland and vicinity to attend. Thomason is the ranking member of the House Military Affairs Committee, and is familiar with all matters of interest to reserve officers.

Berlin Papers Report Sentences Too Lenient BERLIN (AP)—Berlin newspapers—American and British—licensed as well as Russian-controlled—maintained Wednesday that Hjalmar Schacht, Franz von Papen, and Hans Fritzsche, though acquitted by the international military tribunal at Nuernberg, are "guilty in the eyes of the German people."

While all papers praised the tribunal for conducting an extremely fair trial, they differed with the court on the acquittals and the Soviet-licensed papers also criticized some of the prison sentences as too lenient.

Crew Killed In B-29 Crash In Utah Valley

WENDOVER, UTAH (AP)—An Army B-29 plane crashed in Buffalo Valley, 30 miles southeast of Battle Mountain, Nev., and Army authorities said Wednesday they believed there were no survivors.

Number of men aboard was undisclosed but a B-29 crew normally is about 10. Wendor Army Air Base authorities said cause of the crash was undetermined. The plane was en route from Grand Island, Neb., to Hamilton Field, Calif.

Army officials said an 18-year-old farm girl, living in the region, saw the plane fall to earth Tuesday.

Japs Ate Yank Fliers But Plea For Mercy GUAM (AP)—Thirteen Japanese, convicted of cannibalism and other war crimes against downed American fliers, pleaded for mercy before a U. S. military commission Wednesday. They will be sentenced Friday.

Seven of 14 defendants were convicted of cannibalism on Chichi in the Bonin Islands early last year. Six others were convicted of other atrocities. One, Army Lt. Gunji Isogai, was acquitted. Eight U. S. airmen were murdered on Chichi.

Hull Charges Big Five With Duty To Keep World Peace

WASHINGTON (AP)—Gravely ill Cordell Hull counseled the Big Five powers on his 75th birthday Wednesday that they must replace "dangerous" differences with mutual confidence.

The frail former secretary of state offered his advice even as he carried on a personal struggle for time and health to make a final contribution to world peace. Hull suffered a stroke Monday at the U. S. Naval Hospital where he has been resting.

"Only if each nation is united within itself behind policies designed to these common interests, and only as the various nations continuously cooperate with each other in support of those interests, can we assure—for ourselves and for those who come after us—enduring peace and free institutions," Hull declared.

"As I look ahead, it is perfectly clear to me that all nations must, with whole-hearted devotion, continue to base their relations upon the paramount fact that the primary interests of each of them alike lie in the assuring of its security in a world at peace, and the fostering, in such a world, of the economic and social well-being of its people."

"They must never fall to act on the principle that these great common interests cannot be attained except by the practice of justice and fair-dealing toward each other, and through mutual confidence and respect. So long as the governments and the peoples keep their eyes fixed on their common interests and are resolved to act in accordance with this manifest principle, they will find ways to adjust their differences."

Hull held that a "special responsibility" rested upon Britain, China, France, Soviet Russia and the United States to exercise jointly, "both inside and outside the United Nations," world leadership toward "unity and cooperation among all nations."

Second U. S. Group Seeks Lolo Captives

SHANGHAI (AP)—Three Americans flew to Sichang Wednesday hoping to pave the way for rescuing five airmen reported enslaved by the Lolos and to identify three skeletons brought here Saturday.

The skeletons were found three days' hiking distance from Sichang, where they had been taken by Chinese. They were examined carefully by medical experts but no identifying clues were found. Chinese who discovered the remains found an unscrubbed wrist watch and a piece of parachute silk which also were brought to Shanghai.

Discovery of the watch led to the hope there might be sufficient wreckage at the scene to identify the crashed plane and hence help identify the victims.

There is no basis for speculating whether the reported captives were in the same crew as the men whose skeletons were discovered.

Meantime, U. S. soldiers were slogging painfully across mountainsides in Western China seeking the captives. They set out from Sichang last week. Traveling without radios, they have no means of communication.

Striker And Policeman Get Rough

(NEA Telephoto) A studio striker, on the left, and a deputy sheriff fight it out on a rainsoaked and slippery street in front of the entrance to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Studio at Culver City, Calif. Other strikers and officers rush to the scene as the deputy starts to put his club into action.

Army Will Double Airborne Strength

WASHINGTON (AP)—American airborne divisions 17,000 men strong and striking power equal to ground troops are being blueprinted by the Army.

Officials familiar with the tentative planning said Wednesday that in addition to doubling the 8,500-man wartime strength of the divisions they are to include a battalion of tanks as well as artillery.

The artillery equipment will be similar to that used by infantry divisions but modified to meet the requirements of air transport.

The proposal is in line with other recently reported studies aimed at expanding the size and giving more punch to infantry and armored units. Along these lines the Army is said to be planning to up infantry divisions from 14,000 to 17,000 men and armored divisions from their World War II size of 11,000 men and 260 tanks to 15,000 men and 400 tanks.

In addition to improvements in present methods of landing men at conventional airfields behind the lines, Major Gen. Anthony McAuliffe, of Bastogne fame, sees the need for better methods of putting airborne troops into quick action on the battlefields themselves.

World War II saw the use of parachute and glider-borne troops in mass. But casualties were high and the troops did not always hit the ground in the compact force needed for such operations.

"What we really need—and I suppose will get eventually—is some device whereby the pilot can pull a lever and the body of the plane, with troops in it, will drop by chute on the exact spot aimed at," McAuliffe said.

Former Texas Solon Held After Shooting

BETHESDA, MD. (AP)—Mrs. Gertrude Hendricks, 42, was shot to death Wednesday at her home. State's Attorney Joseph B. Simpson, Jr., said her husband, Homer Hendricks, 46, held in connection with the case, is a lawyer and former member of the Texas Legislature.

Police said the shooting followed an argument in the Hendricks home. Mrs. Hendricks, wearing night clothing, was found on the floor near her bed. She had been shot four times. A plate of sandwiches was on a bedside table.

Police Stall Men But D-Day Invasion Set

37 Hurt, 13 Jailed In Tuesday Fracas HOLLYWOOD (AP)—Four hundred steel-helmeted pickets marched up and down the street in front of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio Wednesday in the cloudy dawn or what time captains predicted would be "D-Day" in the movie industry's latest labor quarrel.

More than 100 sheriff's deputies, packing gas masks and gas grenades, kept the bulk of the strikers away from the studio entrance, leaving only eight pickets at the gate, in conformance with court orders.

Klieg lights erected on studio grounds illuminated the murky scene. Herbert Sorrell, president of the AFL conference of studio unions whose members are striking in protest against mass dismissal of CSU men who refused to work on sets constructed by rival AFL unionists, told newsmen the mass demonstration would be staged Wednesday.

He said CSU carpenters from 25 studios not yet involved in the strike against seven of the "Big 10" plants would augment the picketing force. Nightsticks and Bottles In a bloody battle between peace officers and 400 movie pickets at the gates of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Tuesday—with nightsticks, bottles, rocks and clubs as weapons and at least one gun in evidence—37 men were injured, 13 jailed.

Of the injured, 28 were pickets, nine were sheriff's deputies. The arrests brought to 56 the total since picketing began last Thursday morning, in a row between the confederated studio unions and International Alliance of Theatrical Stage Employes over which shall build movie sets.

IASTE Chief Roy Brewer declined an invitation by the Los Angeles Central Labor Council to a peace conference with the CSU carpenters' brotherhood "until such time as acts of violence against our members cease."

Tuesday's ruckus at M-G-M, which has seen most of the violence of the current dispute—similar in many ways to the 34-week dispute between the same two union groups last year—started when officers moved against a parade spearheaded by war veterans carrying flags and signs reading: "We fought for our country and the ideals of Roosevelt."

The officers contended the parade was blocking the entrance to the studio, in violation of a court order. The CSU retorted it had obtained a permit for the parade.

The skirmishing halted while officers snapped to attention and saluted the flag being carried by parading pickets, in new strength.

Four Drown As Wave Capsizes Boat In Gulf

PORT ISABEL (AP)—A mother, her 8-year-old daughter, and two other members of a fishing party were drowned in a ship turning basin channel near here late Tuesday when their small boat capsized.

The victims, all residents of McAllen, were identified as Mrs. Jennie Mallau, 38, her daughter, Darlene, A. E. Anderson, 42, and his wife, Mrs. Mable Anderson, 54. Henry F. Mallau, whose wife and daughter were drowned, was rescued by the skipper of a pleasure launch in the vicinity. He was a former member of the McAllen police department.

Mallau said a squall caught the party unawares while their boat was in deep water. A big wave struck the boat sideways and threw all occupants into the water. Mallau said the water was so rough that none was able to swim to shore.

LONDON (AP)—A government spokesman said Wednesday that the Palestine conference had adjourned until December 16 to enable Great Britain to study Arab counter-proposals for the Holy Land.

Meat Must Move

Meat is virtually disappearing from many markets of the United States. And there is no apparent sign that the situation will soon improve.

Under these circumstances, the American people are justified in demanding that corrective action be taken—and quickly—by the government which represents the national interest. For that interest imperatively requires the return of meat to the consumer market.

The basic issue is not that the common citizens of these United States are inconvenienced by the absence of a commodity which always has been a staple of their diet. Americans accustomed themselves to inconveniences during the late war. Given what they consider an acceptable reason to postpone a return to dietary normalcy, they could—and would—do so now.

But the undeniable fact is that the disappearance of meat has meant far more than mere inconvenience; it has brought genuine suffering to many, and it has further endangered a national economy already engaged in a life-and-death struggle with inflationary forces.

Meat and medicines produced from animal organs are essential for the recovery of thousands of hospital patients throughout the nation. Meat means life to thousands of invalids confined to their homes. Yet meat has become so critically scarce in some hospitals that many of them now seek slaughtering licenses of their own.

Millions of American industrial laborers, actively engaged in the production battle which alone can stave off inflation, are physically unable to work at top efficiency without meat. Coal miners have threatened to strike if denied meat. America cannot afford other strikes and slowdowns at this critical period.

Meat cannot be placed on the table by assigning the blame for the present situation to any one party, agency, organization, or group. That, in any event, could not justifiably be done, for the responsibility is multiple. OPA is not the exclusive villain. Nor is the Congress, the meat-packer, the farmer, the butcher, or the consumer.

The time for name-calling and buck-passing is past. The time for action is here. Meat must move.

If price ceilings must be taken off meat in order to bring it back, then it will be up to farmers, packers, dealers, housewives—all of us—to exhibit the wisdom and restraint that will be necessary to prevent skyrocketing prices.

Progress Postponed

Remarkable progress toward America's psychological reversion to peace was made in Springfield, Mass., the other day, when department store clerks not only condescended to recognize the existence of a would-be customer, but actually assisted her in carry her baby and newly-acquired carriage downstairs.

Unfortunately, however, the clerks returned to their duties to discover they had aided the young mother to shoplift the store's most expensive carriage. It's a terrible conclusion to reach, but we can't help feeling that the progress of politeness has been postponed indefinitely—at least in Springfield, Mass.

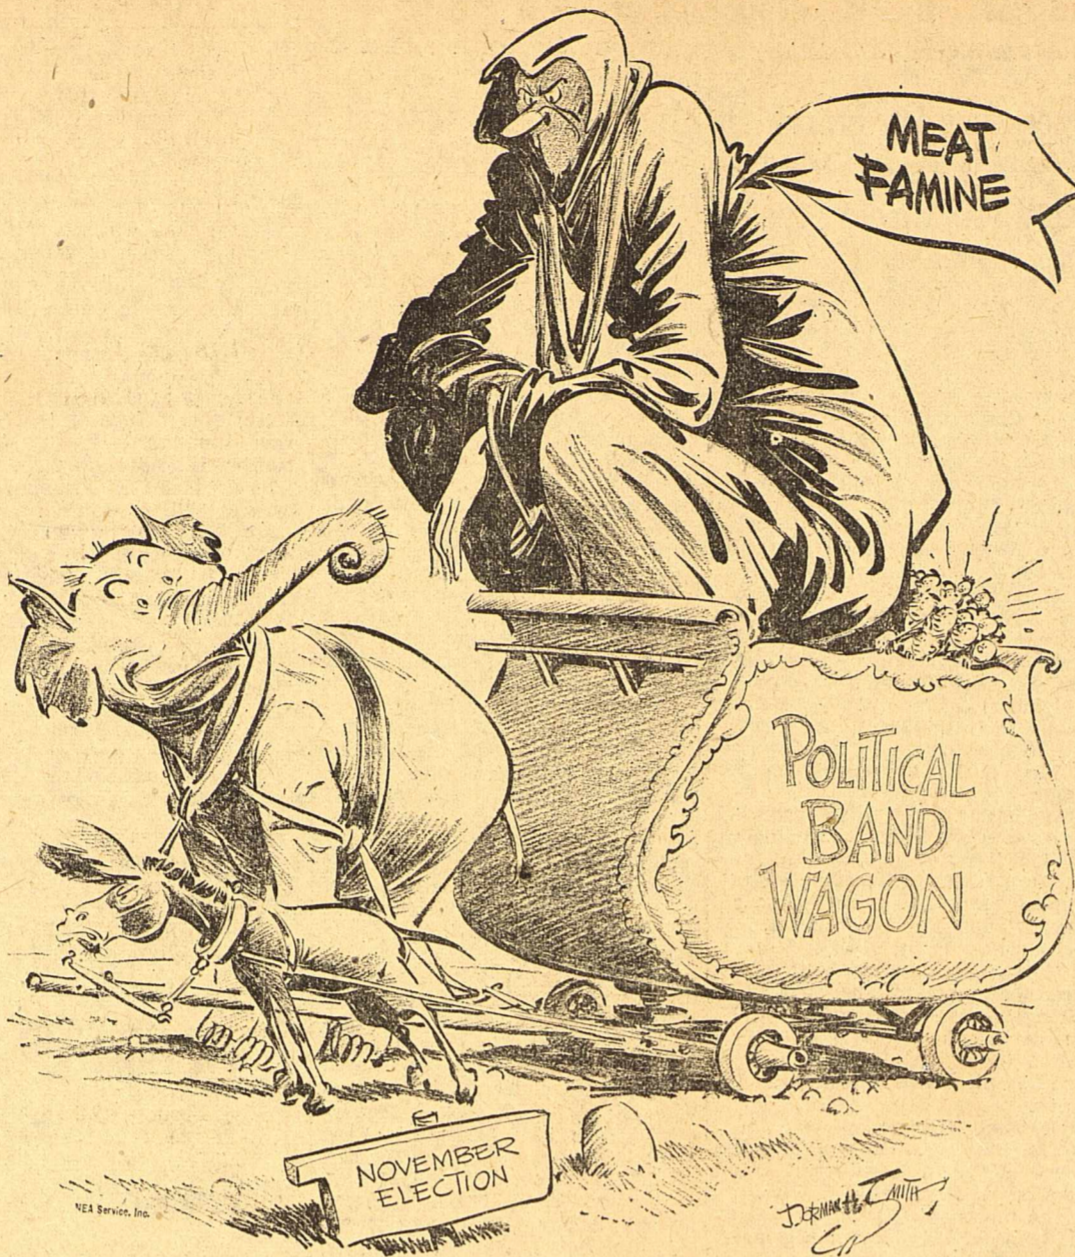

A preacher suggests that newly married couples live alone when possible. They do seem to get along better when near relatives are far.

Once upon a time there was a tourist who could fold up a map correctly.

Fred Wemple Heads Good Roads Committee

AUSTIN—(AP)—Fred Wemple, prominent Midland County good roads advocate, has been chosen chairman of the Midland County Good Roads Amendment Campaign Committee, it was announced Wednesday by Charles E. Simons, executive vice-president of the Texas Good Roads Association.

Appearing on the ballot in the November 5 general election as Amendment No. 3, the Good Roads Constitutional Amendment guarantees the availability of motor vehicle registration fees and gasoline taxes exclusively for road purposes, with the exception of one-fourth of the gas tax which will continue to be allocated to the Available Free School Fund.

"His deep interest in better and more improved highways and farm-to-market roads was the primary factor in his selection to head the Midland County campaign," Simons said.

Jap Confesses To Slaughtering 10 Women

TOKYO—(AP)—Calmly but with some remorse, 42-year-old Yoshio Kodaira Wednesday gave police the grisly details of how he raped and strangled 10 young women in the past 18 months.

Back in 1932, he confessed, he committed his first murder—he beat in his father-in-law's skull with a club when balked in efforts to effect a reconciliation with his estranged wife.

He lived an unevenful life for 13 years, he said—"until the B-29s came". Then he started on a twisted path of sex slayings which terrified the Tokyo-Yokohama area.

In an eerie touch, Kodaira admitted he placed the body of one victim beside the skeleton of an earlier one.

Kodaira, bushy-haired man with an abnormally large head, denied he had killed others, but police said they had evidence linking him with a twelfth victim.

Kodaira was working in a U. S. laundry when apprehended.

He made a request of newspapermen as they turned to leave after hearing the confession.

"Please ask MacArthur's MPs not to come in and do this," he pleaded, placing his hands to his throat in a strangling gesture.

"It disturbs me."

Guards Are Redoubled Around Doomed Nazis

NUERNBERG—(AP)—A four-power military commission speeded plans Wednesday for hanging 11 condemned ringleaders of Germany's dead Nazi regime, while a redoubled force of U. S. soldier guards with orders to shoot to kill on provocation surrounded the ancient courthouse housing the doomed men.

Increased security measures were ordered by the U. S. constabulary and special military police guards for the next two weeks, or until the death sentences imposed Tuesday by the international military tribunal are carried out on the gallows. Defense attorneys were busy preparing appeals.

There appeared to be little likelihood of such a reversal at the hands of the four-power group, but some of the condemned men apparently clung to a bare shred of hope—that they might be shot, and thus spared the disgrace of the rope.

The prison gates swung open for Hjalmar Schacht, Franz von Papen and Hans Fritzsche, who were acquitted Tuesday amid a storm of controversy, including a pointed dissent by the Russians, a complaint by American prosecutors that the first two should have been convicted, and a private expression by the British against the acquittals.

October Draft Quota Climbs To 35,000

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Army called on Selective Service Wednesday for an October draft quota of 35,000 men, up 10,000 from September.

There was no change in the age group to be called—19 through 29.

The draft quota was raised without explanation on the heels of War Department orders to speed the release of some 300,000 non-volunteer enlisted men.

Volunteer enlistments, meanwhile, continued to exceed advance estimates. In the first two weeks of September 23,239 signed up for the Regular Army—nearly as many as had been expected for the full month.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Sonny Edwards, Big Spring, Texas, won the calf roping contest at Thursday night's rodeo in Madison Square Garden. His time was 25 4/5 seconds.

Ralph Russell, Abilene, Texas, placed third. Spec McLaughlin, Fort Worth, was a winner in the bareback bronc riding event.

Court Finds Germans Planned War On U.S.

NUERNBERG, GERMANY—(AP)—The international military tribunal ruled Tuesday that Germany in 1940 was planning war against the United States "at a later date" and did everything possible the next year to persuade Japan to attack the United States and Great Britain.

The tribunal's analysis said Joachim von Ribbentrop, then foreign minister of Germany, was "overjoyed" at the news of the attack on Pearl Harbor and that Hitler expressed approval of Japanese tactics of negotiating as long as possible and then striking without a declaration of war.

The international court said that although it was true that Hitler and his colleagues originally did not consider war with the United States would be beneficial to their interests, it was apparent during 1941 that the view was revised and that Japan was given every encouragement to adopt a policy which would almost certainly bring the United States into the war.

'Liberty Highway' Will Honor Patton And His Third Army

By ROBERT EUNSON
 PARIS — (P) — European monuments to American soldier dead of World War II will include a memorial highway 600 miles long from St. Mere Eglise in Normandy to Metz, tracing the victorious path of the U. S. Third Army led by the late Gen. George S. Patton, Jr.
 Mrs. Patton, whose husband is buried in one of the 36 American cemeteries in Europe, is honorary chairman of the "Liberty Highway" commission. President Georges Bidault of France and U. S. Ambassador Jefferson Caffery are patrons. Vice chairmen, reading from Normandy east are the mayors of St. Mere Eglise, St. Lo, Avranches, St. Malo, Rennes, Angers, Le Mans, Chartres, Fontainebleau, Reims, Verdun and Metz.
 Major G. de la Vasselais, former Third Army liaison officer and mayor of St. Symphorian, the guiding hand behind the project, was present in August when the first of 600 torches to mark the miles along the way was ignited to dedicate officially the "Liberty Highway" to the memory of the Third Army.

Citizens Have Misunderstanding
 There has been some misunderstanding and not a little feeling between the French city of Metz and the grand duchy of Luxembourg regarding the final official resting place of General Patton's body.
 Since his death last winter, following an auto accident in Germany, the mayor of Metz has requested removal of Patton's body from the cemetery in Luxembourg to Metz, where it would rest at the foot of a memorial at the end of "Liberty Highway."
 Since Luxembourg was once General Patton's headquarters and units of the Third Army liberated the grand duchy, the people of Luxembourg are not a little jealous of their trust and refused to listen to the demands from Metz.
 Grand Duchess Charlotte and members of the royal family have taken personal charge of the general's grave. Each of the more than 10,000 other soldiers' graves in Luxembourg has been adopted by a family charged with seeing that the grave is properly cared for and decorated on holidays.

Shade of Sycamore

By PERCY MARKS Author of "The Plastic Age" "A Tree Grown Straight!" Etc.

THE STORY: Gayle, daughter of a college professor, has just become engaged to handsome Bruce Bartlett, famous athlete and scion of wealth. Visiting his home and parents for the first time, she is frightened by the splendor in which they live. There is to be a ball and Lucille, the personal maid attending her during her stay, insists on doing her hair and make-up.

ful than yours. Wait until Mr. Bruce sees you." "I'm beginning to want him to myself," Gayle admitted.

THE praise kept her buoyed up until she reached the head of the great marble stairway. Then she hesitated. She took a slow step downward, then another, and another, each slower than the last.

Several more slow steps brought her around a turn, and then she saw Bart waiting for her at the foot of the stairs. He looked very handsome in his dress suit and Gayle almost forgot her fear in a moment of adoration.

Then Bart looked up and saw her. His eyes seemed to sparkle, they were suddenly so full of light, and his lips parted as he stared. Then he cried excitedly, "Don't move, Gayle. Stay right where you are. Don't move. I'll be right back." He dashed away to reappear a minute later with his mother beside him. Obediently, Gayle had waited, one hand resting on the marble balustrade.

She looked down at Mrs. Bartlett, and Mrs. Bartlett looked up at her, each smiling a little, each secretly estimating the other. Gayle thought that Mrs. Bartlett was almost overpowering in her regal beauty. She was wearing a chignon gown, flame-colored, with a diamond buckle at her waist. It was cut low in front, and a diamond lavalier, as large as the palm of Gayle's hand, sparkled above her bodice.

"Isn't she perfect, Mother?" Bart demanded impatiently, determined that his beloved should have the praise he thought she merited. "Isn't she a dream?"

His mother smiled at him and said indulgently, "As if you were in a condition to judge." She lifted her bare arm in a gesture of welcome to Gayle. "Come, my dear. Bruce mustn't keep you

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. McKENNEY America's Card Authority Today's hand is the fourth of the group sent to me by Dr. Paul Stern of London, England. The American Contract Bridge League is already making plans for an international match in 1948, and our players are going to find some very fine competition in Europe. Their bidding may vary from ours, but they are right on their toes on dummy play and defense.

Today's hand was played at the Lexham Bridge Club and is a very fine defensive hand. You might like to criticize South's overall of two diamonds, but we cannot always get into the best contract. East overtook the opening spade lead, led the queen and then the jack of spades. If West had taken

The ball was better. After the first half hour it seemed like any other formal ball. There were about a hundred couples, and the music, which was furnished by a famous "name" band, was superb. She was a good dancer and knew she was, and to move with Bart in perfect rhythm was as always a kind of swimming happiness that made her almost weak. She felt as if she were floating in a dream, and when he would tighten his arms and bend his head until his cheek touched hers, no thought remained with her—nothing but a blur of emotion.

When he left her at her bedroom door after kissing her again and again, she entered the room dazed with love and weariness. It was a shock to find Lucille waiting.

She undressed Gayle and put her to bed almost as if she were a child, and to Gayle her gentle skill was like balm on her tired nerves. Once in bed, she smiled up at Lucille. "Thanks so much—and, oh, yes, will you wake me at nine in the morning? I have an engagement with Mr. Bartlett."

"Good night, Lucille. And thanks again."

a discard on his partner's jack, he would have found himself with too many trumps and the contract would have been made. But West trumped with the three of diamonds and led the king of clubs, which was won in dummy with the ace. The king and queen of diamonds were cashed, then the ace and king of hearts, and a small heart led to the queen.

The next play was the four of clubs. East won with the queen, then cashed the jack of clubs and led the ten of spades. If West had not trumped the jack of spades, he would have been forced to trump the club at trick 11 and then lead into declarer's ace-ten of diamonds. But now declarer could not prevent West from making the jack of diamonds and setting the contract.

Generally it is the declarer who makes the play known as the grand coup, but when West trumped his partner's good jack of spades, it was a defensive grand coup, a much more unusual play.

IX
WHEN Gayle stood looking at herself in the long mirror, it was hard to believe what she saw. She had never looked so well—never. She was a tall girl, with long, smooth lines. Around her slender throat was her greatest treasure, a string of small, graduated pearls her uncle Nathan, Nate's father, had given her on her eighteenth birthday, and on her right hand she wore a ring with a single pink pearl, a present from Nate. The bodice of her gown was snug, and the tiny sleeves were little puffs of net. The skirt broke away from her waist, as Lucille had said, like foam, and the silver rose, partly above the waist and partly below it, seemed to emphasize the break. Under the net, the silver leaves shone softly.

Lucille stood back to study the total effect. "Lovely," she sighed, "just lovely. You wear clothes so well, Miss Kent, and your gown is a dream. You must have a very fine couturiere. She knows just what becomes you best."

"I have," said Gayle, laughing in her happiness, "and she ought to know; she's studied me for years." She smiled proudly at Lucille. "I made this dress."

"No! You couldn't have!"
"Yes, I did. I make all my dresses."
"Miss Kent! But you are wonderful. Believe me, I do not give false compliments. Almost every day I see the most expensive gowns from the best shops, and I have never seen one more beautiful

Dutiful Dog Follows Mailmen
BALTIMORE—(P)—Making up to postmen for the wrongs they suffer from hostile dogs has become the career of Duffy, a reddish-brown shepherd dog with something of a one-track mind.
He frequently escapes despite his owner's efforts to confine him and accompanies mail carriers George Marks and Kenneth Kinsman on their daily rounds. Frequently the dog switches from one route to the other at a point where they intercept each other.

Mule, Kilroy, Never Heard Of Overtime
RICHMOND, VA. —(AP)—The Old Dominion Iron and Steel Corporation, seeking to add a pastoral touch to the drab surroundings of Belle Isle under the arches of Richmond's Robert E. Lee Bridge across the James, planted sweet corn between two mill buildings. That brought in Kilroy.
Kilroy is a mule and as a corn-cultivating instrument he was adequate. He had one shortcoming—he interpreted the blast of a whistle as a knock-off time.
Trains aplenty puff along the industrial James and Kilroy's absenteeism became chronic.
General Manager A. A. Adcock ordered Kilroy penned when not shepherded by a plowman. A three-sided enclosure fronting the James was built. Kilroy dug under and belted through. The fence was strengthened, but Kilroy dove into the water and swam to barrier-free land.
Kilroy didn't have a name when Adcock bought him for $125. The name, dear to the GI and emblazoned on the walls of Europe and Asia, was selected as a result of his departures.

Lipstick Is Problem For Miss Statue Of Liberty Who Will Be 60 This Month

By NATHAN OATIS
NEW YORK—(AP)—Miss Liberty, old fashioned and nearing her sixtieth birthday, wears no lipstick, even though she is hostess this year to a guest list expected to run a record 550,000 or 575,000. But inside she is smeared with the stuff.
The Statue of Liberty—full name, Liberty Enlightening the World—has been standing on 15-acre Bedloe's Island, holding her classic torch of freedom 300 feet above New York Harbor, since her dedication Oct. 28, 1886.
In that time she has accumulated four inscriptions in metal or on wood—which are historic and patriotic and belong there—quite a few in pencil, and thousands in every shade of lip rouge from magenta to scarlet—which are purely personal and are there in spite of the best efforts of National Park Service guards to keep them off.
Even-Climb the Girders
These latter inscriptions are names, home towns and dates left by visitors who in recording their presence preferred the sheet-copper statue and its stone-and-concrete pedestal to the official guest register.
The inside of Liberty's head is covered with names—Kitty, Frank, Ralph, Dot, Wayne and hundreds of others—in letters two inches tall. Below, people from places like Granbyl Canada, and Loose Creek, Mo., have spotted their names on the inside of the torso from the heel to the head 111 feet above.
Some, unable to reach Liberty's lining from the 12-story spiral staircase to the top, have risked their lives to inch across girders 60 feet above the floor and leave lipstick-ed calling cards.
Guards Can't Stop Them
Danger can't stop them. The Interior Department's National Park Service, custodian of the national monument since 1933 and in sole charge of the island since the Army left in 1937, can't stop them either.
Charles S. Marshall, who became superintendent Sept. 21, 1945, has worried ever since about what he calls "the lipstick problem", but it is still with him.
Marshall, a slim, serious-mannered man of 33 from The Plains, Va., estimates that the number of sightseers at the statue in the travel year ending September 30 will surpass the 1944-45 record total of 501,040 by 50,000 to 75,000. Many of them, he is afraid, will leave their names on the premises. His eight guides and guards, part of a maintenance force of 20, is too small to cope with the vandals. The best they can do is scrub off the names.

The statue, designed by the Alsatian sculptor Frederic Auguste Bartholdi, commemorates the alliance of the French and Americans that won this country's independence from England. The French gave $250,000 for the copper figure and the Americans $280,000 for the pedestal.
Edouard de Laboulaye, professor and writer, proposed the statue in 1865 to mark the independence centennial July 4, 1876, but because the fund piled up too slowly the project was not finished till 10 years later.
President Grover Cleveland spoke at the dedication, sandwiched between a parade and fireworks. Tradition has it that as soon as the President had finished, a dignitary on the platform was to wave his handkerchief as a signal for a gun salute from ships in the harbor. Midway in the speech, the story goes, the man felt a sneeze coming on and pulled out his handkerchief, and booming cannons threw the ceremony into confusion.
Through the late 19th and early 20th centuries, Liberty cheered hordes of immigrants traveling steamer toward the nearby Ellis Island quarantine station and the "land of the free". In both world wars, she watched soldiers going to battle and coming home.
Her Wartime Role
Throughout World War II's blackout, two 100-watt incandescent bulbs burned nightly in the torch, though the idea was to warn fliers and not greet GIs. Whenever an Army transport or naval vessel passed, the pier watchman saluted with three fog-siren blasts. The Army usually returned the salute, Marshall says; the Navy did not.
Between Dec. 7, 1941, and July 31, 1946, men in uniform visited the statue to the number of 282,924.
Sharks have an olfactory and a visual response to food.

Bridgewater, Mackey Give Steak Dinner For Football Team

The Midland High School Bulldogs were guests of Lloyd Mackey and Percy Bridgewater at a steak supper Tuesday night in the Scharbauer Hotel.

Approximately 120 persons attended including the entire A and B Bulldogs squads, the coaching staff, members of the board of education, and some faculty members. There were no speeches. The players were introduced to introduce themselves and give their squad. Frank Monroe, superintendent of schools, introduced the coaching staff. Board and faculty representatives were recognized as was a sports writer.

Coach Milam expressed appreciation to Mackey and Bridgewater for the fine dinner given to the boys. Jimmy Edwards spoke on behalf of the football players.

Bridgewater told the Bulldogs: "We are behind you. Play your best. Play hard, fair and play to win. That is what Midland asks of you."

Cards Gain Confidence After Beating Brooklyn In Playoff Opener, 4 To 2

Joe Garagiola

By JACK HAND
EN ROUTE TO BROOKLYN — (AP)—Howie Pollet's heady pitching job against Brooklyn appears to have aroused the St. Louis Cardinals to a World Series pitch that could send them flying past the Dodgers in two straight ball games. Nobody on the ball club is making predictions about what will happen at Ebbets Field when baseball's first three-game playoff series resumes Thursday, but the Red Birds are a loose, confident ball club after their 4-2 opening win at St. Louis Tuesday.

Three hits by Rookie Catcher Joe Garagiola who drove in half the winners' runs was another highly-important factor in the all-important first game win.

Not since the Cards left Boston September 19 had they cut loose with a hitting attack like they showed the Brooks' five pitchers. Only Stan Musial's seventh-inning triple was for extra bases but there were hits at timely points.

The score: R. H. E.

Bulldogs Work Hard In Drills

By TANNER LAINE
The center of the line, the centers, guards, and tackles, who will be about the busiest men in Midland Friday night playing Plainview, got a rough and rugged practice Tuesday afternoon as the Bulldogs chalked up drill number two this week.

There was scrimmaging too. At first it was the dummy variety and later it was hammer and tongs and hit 'em hard.

Not a Bulldog escaped a hard practice Tuesday as the Bulldogs worked with a lot of fire and pep.

The backs did a lot of fancy ball handling and running. Coach Earl Glasie had them spinning, handing off the ball, and running "hell-bent-for-election."

Off on another patch of grass, Coach Barnes Milam toiled with his linesmen. They blocked and charged. There was plenty of both. Morris Howell, tackle, showed a lot of good blocking stuff and so did Dewey Kirby, end and back. At times John Scrogins was a mean linesman. Jack Kidwell and Ben Olliff, the ends, had some very good moments in the blocking drill.

To top off the session the coaches let the B Bulldogs test the second string Bulldogs. This was a rowdy and lively competition.

Are in Good Shape
Midland came out of the El Paso gruelling in good shape. Barney Hightower, the blocking back and defensive demon, is sporting a battered up mouth from where the Panthers popped him. Bobby Cole's eye has healed from a cut in the Brownfield fracas. His passing arm is limber as a whip and his punting toe is still so accurate.

And what's more he can run for anybody's ball club.

The Bulldogs will look for deception and lots of fire from the Plainview Bulldogs. The Midlanders probably will outweigh the visitors.

Plainview features little Donnie Meyers in the backfield. Jim Graham is the rammung fullback. Bill Ewton is a fine end. However Jack Bond, all-district end, is out with a broken hand. He may be put in for special plays. Richard McNaughton, tackle, is out with a bad knee.

The upper Plains country boys have won two games this season, beating Lamesa, 27 to 0, and Electra, 20 to 6, using a "screwy defense."

Plainview won nine games and lost one last year.

Dallas Blasts Atlanta In Dixie Opener, 13-3

ATLANTA (AP)—A hard hitting and fancy fielding Dallas team from the Texas League held a one-game advantage in the Dixie Series Wednesday, battering the Atlanta Crackers of the Southern Association 13-3 Tuesday night in the opener of the renewed inter-league competition.

The teams resume play here Wednesday night with H. K. Perry slated to take the mound for Dallas and Earl McGowan for Atlanta. The third, fourth and if necessary the fifth games will be played in Dallas starting Sunday with the possible sixth and seventh tilts here next Thursday and Friday.

Cana hurled by Dallas Tuesday night.

Martin and Vincent Pinzon, commanders of the Pinta and the Nina in Columbus' expedition, put up the cash for their ships; Isabella of Spain furnished only a small part of the money needed.

City Elementary Schools To Launch Sports Program

The Midland elementary school students will take part in an intramural as well as inter-school sports program beginning the week of October 7-11, Wesley Martin, West Elementary principal and spokesman for the setup, announced Wednesday.

The purpose of the program is to give every boy and girl in the elementary schools an opportunity to participate in a competitive game, Martin pointed out.

As the program gets underway, the boys of the 4th and 5th grades will play touch football, while the girls will play softball.

Tournaments within each school will be played during the year in different sports. The champion of each school will be determined, and will play the winners of the other schools next spring to determine the city champions in each sport.

The program will include touch football and softball for the boys, and softball and other playground contests for the girls.

It need not come to this—even though new cars won't be plentiful for some time. Our famous Motor Rejuvenator check-up can keep your old car humming along in great shape. Our specially trained mechanics using time saving tools, will give you a real Chrysler-Plymouth engineering job, than which there is none better! Your car will act younger, handle smoother, and be in all-around better shape when the time comes to trade it in.
