Delbert Downing To Manage Midland Chamber Of Commerce

Delbert D. Downing, assistant manager of the Scharbauer Hotel and prominent civic worker, Tuesday was named manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce by the organization's executive committee, and will take office about November 1.

Downing succeeds Bill Collins who recently resigned the position to become editor of The Midland Reporter-Telegram. Collins had held the position 10 years.

The new Chamber of Commerce executive has been assistant manager of the Scharbauer Hotel for the last nine months, and previously was associated with Fred Wemple for 14 months.

He came to Midland in 1938 as manager of Safeway Stores, Inc. He resigned from Safeway in 1943 to join the American Red Cross as a field director, and in that capacity served 17 months overseas. He returned to Midland in December, 1944.

Well Known Over West Texas Downing is well known over West Texas, and has been active in civic affairs for a number of years. He is a popular speaker and has addressed numerous public gatherings over this section of the state.

A native of Stephens County, Texas, Downing resided in Breckenridge before moving to Midland. He is 35 years of age, is married and has three children.

Downing is chairman of the Midland District, Boy Scouts of America, and is a former president of the Midland Junior Chamber of Commerce. He is a member of the Midland Rotary Club and is a past-president of the Breckenridge Rotary Club. He also is a former vice-president of the Lions Club here.

Has Held Many Civic Jobs Active in affairs of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, Downing is a member of the organization's highway and junior college committees.

He is a deacon of the First Christian Church, and teaches the Every Man Bible Class which meets each Sunday in the City Hall.

He has served as president of the Midland County Tuberculosis Association, the Midland Infants Paralysis Association, and of Town Hall.

Legion Will Meet Tom Sealy, vice-commander, will preside at a meeting of the Woods W. Lynch Post, Number 19 American Legion of Midland, at 8 p. m. Tuesday in the county courtroom.

Weather Clouds breaking and warmer Tuesday afternoon. Returning cloudiness Wednesday morning with widely scattered rains and slightly cooler. Maximum temperature Monday was 76 degrees, minimum 50 degrees.

Lifting Of Other Controls To Follow End Of Meat Ban

President Frees Livestock And Meat Of Controls

OPA, Agriculture Department To Legally Clear Out Tuesday

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Government formalities ending price controls on meats went forward swiftly Friday in the wake of President Truman's decision that decontrol is the "only remedy" for the nationwide shortage.

First to act were OPA Administrator Paul Porter and Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson.

Porter drafted an order lifting price controls from livestock, meat and other livestock products.

Anderson promptly approved it.

A formal proclamation ending the controls was to be issued by Porter later in the day.

Along with the passing of price ceilings on meats, OPA said Tuesday that slaughter controls also expire immediately.

Arval Erikson, director of meat enforcement for the pricing agency, told a reporter that the entire slaughter control program had been ended by President Truman.

Under this program the government controlled the number of live animals that could be converted into meat by any packer or other slaughterer.

Applause And Taunts The Chief Executive—to the tune of Democrats' applause and criticism, Republican taunts and industry jubilation—also signalled an earlier end to virtually the whole series of wartime restrictions, except those over rents.

Truman said the removal of ceilings on items other than meat will be speeded up and this will hasten the end of wage controls.

Sharply reversing his previous stand, the President told the nation the "real blame" for his action "lies at the door of the reckless group of selfish men who, in the hope of gaining political advantage, have encouraged sellers to gamble on the destruction of price control."

Speaking in a nation-wide broadcast Monday night, three weeks before the congressional elections, Truman said that OPA and the Agriculture Department would formally scrap the meat price lids Tuesday. Their action was all that was required to make the elimination of controls legally effective.

However, no great quantity of meat is expected to begin appearing in butcher shops for perhaps 10 days—the time usually required to get livestock from the farms to the meat counters.

Truman's dramatic decision, climaxing a mounting furor over meatless menus, drew immediate Republican cries of "death bed repentance," "confession of failure," and "too late."

Administration Camp Approves In the Administration camp the reaction was generally favorable, but Rep. de Lacy (D-Wash.) indicated disapproval by calling for a "national meat buyers' strike" to hold down prices of meat and other items.

Rep. Monroney (D-Okla.) termed the President's action a body blow at inflation control.

The American Meat Institute hailed the decision, but cautioned that it "will not mean much more meat for consumers in the immediate future."

Meat stocks, the institute said, are at a low level and the distribution "pipe lines are completely empty."

In deciding to follow the advice of many of his party leaders and discard ceilings, Truman in turn denounced "a few men in Congress who, in the service of selfish interest..."

Cattle Starts Moving To Packing Houses

Beef cattle as far as the eye can see in this view of the Nebraska Feed Lot Company's lots at the southwest limits of Omaha, Neb., were expected to start moving to the slaughter pens and packing houses Tuesday as President Truman lifted price controls on meat and livestock effective Tuesday.

Rent Soon May Be OPA's Sole Price Power

President Lifts Curbs On Meats And Livestock

By ROGER D. GREENE
WASHINGTON—(AP)—

Top Administration officials Tuesday forecast the swift passing of all government curbs over wages and prices—except rents—as a result of President Truman's decision cutting meat and livestock free of OPA controls.

One highly placed official said an important precedent has now been set; the way is open for pressure from all sides to blow the lid off the controls that are left.

"There is no question this speaks the end of OPA and wage regulation," this official told a reporter privately.

He added that a major factor in the President's decision was the feeling that if the government did not act decisively, Congress would return on January 1 in a mood to kill the whole control setup anyway, rather than wait for it to die next June 30.

"Tuesday only a shell remains of what we had in the way of controls up to Monday night," the official said, "and those controls, in turn, were little more than window-dressing compared to what we had on June 30."

It was on June 30 that the life of OPA officially expired, only to be revived in a milder form by Congress on July 25.

Truman himself said the meat action could not be considered an "isolated transaction."

"Meat is so important a part of our cost of living that removing price controls on it may have an effect on our economic structure generally," he added.

Hence, Tuesday's decontrol action, the President went on, means that the "programs of lifting controls will have to be accelerated un-

Negro Woman Takes Stand In Slaying Trial

Lillie Mae Pate, a Midland negro woman, was on trial in 70th District court here Tuesday on a charge of murder in connection with the fatal stabbing of her husband, Edgar Pate, in Midland May 8.

A jury, picked late Monday from a special venire of 180 persons, assisted of A. T. Barrett, Jr., Ed Eubanks, L. L. Butler, George R. Gibson, Fount Armstrong, J. D. Douglas, Charles Bush, Charles Allen, J. C. Franklin, Barron Wadley, G. F. Eckart and A. C. Caswell.

Defense witnesses were questioned in the Tuesday morning session and the defendant herself was called to the stand.

Says She Was Scared She kept saying she was "scared" of her husband but would not admit being "mad" at him. She reviewed the circumstances leading up to the stabbing, saying she admonished her husband for his drinking and she said he struck her.

White men, former employers of the negro woman, were called as witnesses to verify her character, "good or bad." A white doctor also testified. Several negroes were called as witnesses.

The courtroom was not crowded, but many negroes were among the spectators.

Midland Takes Lifting Of Meat Controls In Stride

By TANNER LAINE

Midland, in the heart of the beef cattle country, took the lifting of meat controls in stride Tuesday because there never has been too much of a shortage here, especially of beef.

The greatest concern of Midlanders was what will happen to the price? And when will bacon and ham be back?

Housewives and consumers think the price will go up. Butchers and packing house representatives contend the price may rise some at first but will seek a level cheaper than former OPA ceilings. They say competition will work itself out and result in a normal price for meats.

Strikers Sabotage Power Transformer

PITTSBURGH, Pa.—(AP)—The strikebound Duquesne Light Company announced a high-powered bullet was fired into a large outdoor transmitter Tuesday, reducing the supply of electricity to the Pittsburgh industrial area.

It was the third instance of sabotage recorded by police in the 22-day-old power strike.

The company said the shooting occurred at its Colfax Station near suburban Springdale.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

PARIS—(AP)—The Paris peace conference ended officially Tuesday after Yugoslavia, in a last minute dramatization of her dissatisfaction with its decisions, formally withdrew from the 21-nation deliberations.

KANSAS CITY—(AP)—Most slaughter cattle prices advanced $2 to $4 higher with fed steers selling from $20 to $24, as compared with a top of $27 in August after meat prices had been decontrolled.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Paced by the prominent meat packing issues, stock market prices leaped upward in early trading Tuesday in the wake of President Truman's decontrol pronouncement, but the pace slowed in the second hour, and many prices dropped back under their early best.

BELGRADE, YUGOSLAVIA—(AP)—A special three-man UNRRA investigation committee reported Tuesday it had found "no evidence of diversion" of large quantities of the world relief organization's supplies for the use of Premier Marshal Tito's Yugoslav army.

Texas Cattlemen, Housewives, Packers Acclaim Decontrol Of Meat, Livestock

By The Associated Press

Most Texas, particularly housewives, meat packers, ranchers and grocers, were smiling Tuesday in anticipation of a plentiful meat supply and good prices following President Truman's releasing meat and livestock from price control.

A few were skeptical as to immediate relief, while others continued to criticize the national administration for having returned to meat control last August.

J. G. Montague, counsel for the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers' Association, hailed the President's order as the best news for the meat industry since the Declaration of Independence and predicted movement of cattle from the ranges to the market will begin in a few days. He said processed meat probably will not be plentiful in retail butcher shops for another week or 10 days, however.

"The price of cattle at the markets will be high again," he said. "There is nothing to keep prices down, but they will settle shortly. If controls had remained lifted in August we would not have to go through this readjustment again. It all would have been over by now."

C. E. Weymouth of Amarillo, president of the Texas and Southwest Cattle Raisers Association, said the decontrol action is "the most constructive move that President Truman has made since the end of the war."

An outspoken critic of controls, the Panhandle ranchman said, "The President turned the industry back to itself. We can correct the bad administration."

Weymouth asserted that ranchmen have never hoarded their animals.

"When stock are ready they must go to market," he added.

In welcoming the decontrol action, John Edner, head of the Wichita Meat and Provision Company at Wichita Falls, said that city will have an ample supply of veal and beef within a week or 10 days. He said pork will still be limited due to a shortage of hogs.

Edner asserted that decontrol was the only possible means of straightening out the cattle business, and added it would take a year or two to return the same quality of meat to market that consumers enjoyed before control.

He expressed a belief that prices would level off on beef and veal to a 10 to 15 per cent increase within 30 days.

In Dallas, John Neuhoff, meat packer, said that "with legitimate packers able to bid with black-marketers, more people will get more meat. There are cattle on the range that would be sold in the stability of supply and demand but were withheld under artificial price control."

Says Prices High at First Abe Rubin, another Dallas packer, said prices "probably will run a little wild for the first 30 to 40 days."

Grocers seemed generally happy to see the controls withdrawn.

"It's been so long since we've had meat. I've got used to it," one grocer commented. He admitted that many shoppers, who found meatless counters became irritated and left the stores without making other purchases.

"Now maybe we can get some meat," a Dallas housewife said. She said she didn't like to see meat prices spiral but was tired of meatless meals.

At Lubbock, Meat Packer Claude Keeton termed the lifting of controls the best thing that could have happened.

"Everybody will have plenty of meat within 30 days," he said in expressing an opinion that the price of meat will not go much higher.

Another packer, Alex McDonald, said he believed the lifting of price ceilings would have little effect, either on price or supply of beef, predicting the price of hogs will go up six to eight cents per pound.

Criticism of the President's action was voiced at Fort Worth by O. A. Knight, president of the Oil Workers International Union, CIO.

"The President's action won't be helpful to the working people and prices probably will go sky high," he asserted. "If prices go much higher there will be a tremendous clamor for higher wages. I would have been more content if all controls were left in effect on V-J Day and continued until production caught up with demand. It's like working on a treadmill to secure wage adjustments and then find prices sky-rocketing."

"I believe we definitely need price controls," was the reaction of another labor leader, A. R. Hardesty, CIO regional director. "However, under the present OPA Act and with the lack of cooperation OPA has received, it seems to me that we would be better off without the control."

Regarding President Truman's comment that removal of wage controls would be accelerated, Hardesty said, "prices must be stabilized before wages can be. If prices keep increasing labor must do its best to keep up."

Meats for All Comes Merrick Davis, livestock raiser at Albany, said "there'll soon be meat for all comers."

"Decontrol will be the solution to a mighty confused setup," he said. "I believe that plenty of meat will be back on the market and soon. Although the price may advance some, the market will straighten itself out through supply and demand.

El Paso cattlemen predicted a fresh wave of meat on markets with high prices gradually leveling off.

R. L. Ziegler, stockyard owner, said prices of meat will be high for a short while and "then cheaper meat will be had in the next five or six months."

B. C. Cline, stockyards manager, said, "I think we're going to see the biggest livestock movement we have seen in the last 30 years. It will be only a matter of weeks before there will be plenty of meat on everybody's table."

W. F. Frederick, livestock dealer, predicted there will be $30 cattle in Chicago in the next day or so. He also predicted prices will level off in two or three months "because of over supply."

Melon-colored chambray styled for mothers-to-be.

The days are happily over when a mother-to-be depended on a smock for all practical purposes. New York's designers as of this season are showing maternity cottons the year 'round in styles which can do double duty for house and marketing. The dress pictured, in melon-colored chambray, is typical of the prettily-styled and yet utilitarian Fall cottons seen in the new collections. Like many other tubular frocks, it is adjusted with elastic at the waist.

Mrs. C. O. Watts is Guest Speaker At WMS Meeting

Mrs. C. O. Watts, former executive secretary of the Woman's Missionary Union of California, discussed "Things We Should Know" at the meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society of the First Baptist Church Monday at the church.

Mrs. Thurman Pylant, president, directed the meeting and Mrs. J. M. White gave the devotional on "The Watchword for the Year." The opening prayer was given by Mrs. W. B. Preston and the closing prayer by Mrs. Barbara Wall.

Talks were presented by Mrs. R. C. Walker, on stewardship; Mrs. S. M. Eskine on young people's work, and Ruth Elaine West on Christian schools.

Following the covered dish luncheon officers of the society were installed by Mrs. Vernon Yearby. Present were Mmes. G. D. Woodford, Walker, William H. Pomeroy, Jr., Preston, O. R. Collins, R. E. Kelley's Play Will Be Presented In Midland Oct. 21-22

The Community Theater's October production "The Torchbearers" was written by George Kelley, who is recognized as one of the country's outstanding play writers.

Plays written by Kelley have remained popular through the years. "Craig's Wife," written in 1925 and a Pulitzer Prize winner, has been presented both on the stage and in films with Rosalind Russell playing the lead in the latter. Frederic March and Florene Eldridge were cast in the recent radio production.

"The Show Off" is another of Kelley's plays which has remained in the limelight. Joe E. Brown was heard in the radio presentation of this play.

"The Torchbearers" will be presented October 21 and 22 in the City-County Auditorium under the direction of Art Cole.

MODERN STUDY CLUB WILL HEAR MEMBER OF VOTER'S LEAGUE

Mrs. Karl A. Mygdal of the League of Women Voters will be guest speaker at the meeting of the Modern Study Club at 3 p. m. Wednesday in the home of Mrs. Austin Flint, 1010 West Tennessee Street.

Legislation in Today's World will be the program topic. Also appearing on the program will be Mrs. C. L. Sherwood, who will use as her subject, "Our American Government—What Is It? How Does It Function?" and Mrs. W. E. Price will discuss "The 1946 Revision of Texas Election Laws."

The club held a rummage sale Saturday to raise additional funds to apply on the pledge made to the Midland Memorial Hospital Foundation.

Episcopal Auxiliary Receive Letters From Czechoslovakia

Highlight of the program presented at a meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary of the Trinity Episcopal Church Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. Paul Kolm was the reading of two letters from families in Czechoslovakia who received Christmas boxes filled by the auxiliary. Co-hostess was Mrs. J. P. Ruckman.

The meeting opened with the group repeating the auxiliary prayers in unison after which a special prayer was offered for the missionary effort. A devotional was conducted by Mrs. Robert Roark.

During the business period plans were made for members to attend the regional meeting in Abilene for the Woman's Auxiliary of the Missionary District of North Texas. Mrs. Kolm is district vice president.

The Rev. R. J. Snell urged the women to attend the services to be conducted in Midland by the Rev. Robert Brown of Waco.

Perfect Coffee Is Inventors' Goal

(Posed by Gina Janss, society songstress)

Tubular aluminum pot is latest device for brewing coffee. When beverage has drained from upper tube into lower container, metal collar between the two is removed. Sharp edge of the lower container is designed for dripless pouring, eliminates need for spout. Inset left, new water kettle has mushroom-shaped base, will boil a quart of water in three minutes.

By KAY SHERWOOD
NEA Staff Writer
The perfect coffee brew vies with perpetual motion as a postwar challenge to inventive minds, judging from the number of bright ideas appliances which are headed for the American kitchen to improve the flavor of the cup that cheers.

The latest coffee pot marvel is spoutless—a towering pair of aluminum tubes, one of which is cork-collared for handling, and the other, designed to do the inside job, is perforated for releasing the brew. To the skeptical coffee maker, this newcomer may look more like a Chinese box of surprises than a pot, but inventor-claims made for it are six cups of top quality coffee brewed in three minutes.

Operation? The coffee-filled inner tube sinks slowly under its own weight into the hot-water-filled outer tube. Water flows over the grounds through the perforated inner tube. After the coffee is twice stirred vigorously, the inner tube is raised and rested on the removable aluminum collar of the outer

LOOK OUT FOR PIN-WORMS

Recent medical reports reveal that an amazing number of children (and grown-ups too) may be victims of Pin-Worms—often without suspecting what is wrong! And these pests, living inside the human body, can cause real distress. So watch out for the warning signs that may mean Pin-Worms—especially the aggravating rectal itch. Get JAYNE'S P-W and follow the directions. P-W is the Pin-Worm treatment developed in the laboratories of Dr. D. Jayne & Son, after years of patient research. glasses marked to show the amount per cup to pulverize.
Boon for the hostess is a buffet set with a glass vacuum type coffee-maker, extra serving decafer and a tiny, streamlined electric stove which makes coffee on the high heat burner, keeps it hot over the low heat burner.
To end hit-or-miss measuring of coffee there are dispenser storage cans to hang on the wall. These automatically measure a tablespoon at a time directly into the pot. Also new is a flexible snap-on lid for coffee jars which, makers claim, will keep coffee fresh longer. Now used by many manufacturers, the lid pries up with a spoon, pushes down with the hand for an airtight re-seal.

Unjudicial Trial

Congressional investigating committees have no power to punish an alleged offender, but they nevertheless perform a quasi-judicial function. Since their hearings often attract more public attention than court proceedings, they have a responsibility to conduct them in a fair and orderly manner. For as far as the average public judgment is concerned, a congressional investigation is approximately a legal indictment, arraignment and verdict.

Under these circumstances it seems a pity that these committees sometimes fail to conduct their hearings with anything resembling judicial procedure, as the House Merchant Marine Committee obviously failed in its investigation of wartime shipbuilders' profits.

These hearings followed a not unfamiliar pattern. First came some sensational accusations by the "prosecution"—such eye-catching statements as the charge that "never before have so few men made so much money with so little risk", which was made by Ralph E. Casey of the General Accounting Office.

The opening guns were answered somewhat less noisily by the accused, who called the charges misleading, all wrong, absolutely ridiculous and wholly untrue. And as the hearings proceeded it developed that the "indictments" were indeed supported by half-truths and omissions scarcely strong enough to have sustained them in a court of law.

Marvin Coles, the committee counsel, charged shipbuilders with exorbitant profits (ranging up to something like 11,000 per cent) as compared with their capital investment. But he was not prepared to say whether these profits were before or after taxes. And he admitted that some of his profit figures were taken before contract renegotiation had been completed.

Coles didn't mention anything about services rendered, or about the increasing speed and efficiency with which war-saving, life-saving-ships were built.

He didn't mention the fact that the government built and owned most of the shipyards. He neglected to state that "the shipbuilders weren't capitalists, but hired men... the contractors' earnings weren't profits on invested capital, but fees paid for work done".

It may be that some shipbuilders did receive exorbitant profits. If so, it is Congress' business to find it out. But Congress can't possibly do that unless it has some sensible, detailed facts to work with instead of a meaningless assortment of figures.

Since the facts aren't at hand, the hearings have been put off until after next month's elections. But in the meantime the "prosecution" undoubtedly has done an effective job of trying and convicting the shipbuilders before that considerable segment of our population which spends more time in running than in reading.

Fateful Choice

After conferring with the Democratic National Committee, Henry Wallace and Senator Claude Pepper, the most forthright Democratic critics of certain Democratic Administration policies, have decided to speak in favor of their parties' candidates.

Naturally, we don't know what was said in this huddle with the committee. But we presume that the dissident duo made the fateful choice between damning the Administration's foreign policy with faint praise, or praising it with faint damns.

Nazi Hangings May Start Late Tuesday

NUERNBERG—(AP)—Official reports circulated here Tuesday that the hangings of the 11 condemned Nazi ringleaders would begin in the Nuernberg prison yard at 5:01 p. m. (CST) Tuesday, 12:01 a. m. Wednesday, German time.

It previously had been expected that the executions would start at dawn, although there had been no official announcement concerning the time.

It is expected that the executions will take about three hours altogether.

The four power commission has made plain that there will be no official announcement concerning the executions until after the last man has gone to the scaffold.

Reports that the hangings will begin at one minute past midnight Tuesday night were given credence by an American officer, a Russian colonel and several prison employees.

Probably on Scaffold
There has been no information given out concerning the arrangements for the hangings, but if they are to be completed within three hours this probably will mean that more than one scaffold will be employed.

The 11 men scheduled to die are: Herman Goering, Joachim von Ribbentrop, Field Marshal Wilhelm Keitel, Col. Gen. Alfred Jodl, Ernest Klotenbrunner, Alfred Rosenberg, Hans Frank, Fritz Sauckel, Arthur Seyss-Inquart, Julius Streicher and Wilhelm Frick.

Briefing officers told correspondents at the regular morning news conference that they had been forbidden to answer any questions concerning the time of the execution or the details of any arrangements for burial.

Pioneer Ranchwoman Dies Tuesday At Home Of Daughter

Mrs. R. E. Vanhuss, 84, pioneer Midland ranchwoman, died Tuesday morning at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Minnie Dozier, 200 South A Street.

She had been sick since last March and complications during last week caused her death.

Mrs. Vanhuss came to Midland 38 years ago with her late husband. He died in 1934. They ranched 20 miles south of Midland on the Rankin Highway.

She had lived with her daughter for the past two years. As an active member of the Methodist Church, she was a past president of its women's society. She also was a past Worthy Matron of the Eastern Star.

Survivors include: a daughter, Mrs. Dozier of Midland; two sons, E. V. Vanhuss of Pacific, Ore., and Bill Vanhuss of Bernalillo, N. M.

Also surviving are grandchildren: Mrs. Chester Davis of Buenos Aires, Brazil; Mrs. Clint Conghan of Goldsmith; Earl Vanhuss, New Orleans, La.; Bill and James Vanhuss, Bernalillo, N. M.; Bob Dozier, Midland; Mrs. John Moppett of Odessa; and great-grandchildren, Clark Davis of Buenos Aires, Craig Conghan of Goldsmith, and Carol Conghan of Goldsmith.

Funeral services are pending the arrival of relatives.

Clover Is Blamed For Sexless Sheep

MELBOURNE—(AP)—A new disease which affects the fertility of sheep is threatening the reproduction of flocks in Western Australia and parts of South Australia and Victoria.

An Australian Government research officer, disclosing the presence of the disease, said it was thought originally it was associated with an early type of clover known as dwalganup, but now there was some suggestion that later clovers such as Mt. Barker and Tallarook were involved.

The officer said the clovers seemed to contain substances closely allied to oestrogen, a female hormone and similar to stilboestrol, a manufactured chemical used in human therapeutics and veterinary work. The substances, he declared, seemed to upset the ductless glands system of animals and affected the breeding organs of ewes.

Dreamboat Forced To Turn Back On Paris-N.Y. Hop

PARIS—(AP)—The Pacusan Dreamboat returned to Orly Field Tuesday when mechanical trouble developed a few hours after it took off in an effort to break the trans-Atlantic speed record between Paris and New York.

The Army's Hawaii-to-Cairo B-29 taxied back on the field at 1:10 p. m. (6:10 a. m. CST), two hours and 45 minutes after taking off. The return followed a message saying that the ship was experiencing "mechanical trouble".

Ground crews were on the spot to check the difficulty, the nature of which was not made known at once, thus making it impossible to estimate the length of the delay it would cause.

With Col. C. S. Irvin of St. Paul, Neb., at the controls, the Dreamboat was airborne at 10:25 a. m. 3:25 a. m. CST for its effort to scrap the present speed record between Paris and New York.

Had Hoped to Average 313
Irvin had hoped to hold the B-29's throttle wide open for the entire 3,600-mile trip so as to cover the distance in 11 1/2 hours at a rate of 313 miles per hour. The present Paris to New York record is claimed by a TWA Constellation, which made it in 14 hours and 39 minutes on Oct. 7, 1945, maintaining an average speed of 284 miles per hour.

The Dreamboat, which reached Cairo October 6 after a 8,500-mile non-stop flight across the Arctic from Honolulu, averaged 240 miles on that trip, which crew members said was a record for a flight of such a distance.

The Dreamboat crew had hoped to check in at New York at about 2:45 p. m. (CST) Friday by flying over LaGuardia Field and to continue to Washington without making a landing. Colonel Irvin had been ordered to report to Gen. Carl Spaatz in Washington Friday.

Church Fund Rally Convenes In City

Presbyterian leaders of West Texas and New Mexico convened in Midland Tuesday for a rally held in connection with the $1,000,000 Texas Presbyterian Educational Fund.

An afternoon business session was scheduled at 2:30 p. m. at the Presbyterian Church here. A dinner was scheduled at 6 p. m. in the Crystal Ballroom of the Scharbauer Hotel and a night session also was planned at the church.

Representatives from Colorado City, Coahoma, Big Spring, Odessa, Barstow Pecos, Van Horn, El Paso, Fort Stockton, Andrews, Seminole, Seagraves, Levelland, Lubbock, Tahoka, Crosbyton, Clovis, N. M., Portales, N. M., and Lovington, N. M., were attending.

W. H. Hester of Lubbock was to preside at the afternoon session with the Rev. Hubert Fopper of Midland directing the evening meetings.

The general campaign in the church will be conducted November 17-24.

Controls—

der existing legal standards. I have directed all the agencies of government to cooperate in speeding up those plans to an extent compatible with our economic security.

As a first step in that speed-up, OPA Administrator Paul Porter planned to confer Tuesday with price and Agriculture Department officials on the fate of price restrictions which still prevail over 40 per cent of the nation's total food supplies.

Other Expectations
Among other things, officials in a position to know predicted:

1. An immediate return of restaurant prices to the cost-plus-profit basis of last Summer. Thus if the cost of meat goes up, restaurant prices will keep pace.
2. Ceilings on building materials, still in short supply, will remain fixed.

One high OPA official shied, however, at discussing what might happen to controls on automobiles, refrigerators, washing machines and other articles whose supply still falls short of demand.

"It depends on how soon we have industrial peace," he said.

"There are three big 'ifs'. If wages and prices remain steady, if there is no second round of strikes, and if we get increased production to match the demand, then, as Mr. Truman said, the shortages will disappear and the need for government controls will pass."

On the other side of the picture, the official cited the October 3 warning of Reconversion Director John R. Steelman that a "further rapid price rise" might stifle demand for goods and "precipitate an early and severe price collapse, with serious economic and social consequences."

Midland Takes—

house representatives predict meat will be plentiful. Top quality meat will not be evident right at first but it is coming, they said, predicting that meat will be cheaper in 60 days when choice cuts are here.

One housewife struck the keynote of the day as she appeared at a butcher counter of a popular grocery and asked: "Have you got any bacon? When can we get bacon?" Her concern was the chief concern here. Beef was stacked in counters already.

One butcher explained his contention that meat prices would not skyrocket. He said when price control on meat recently had been off two months the price did not go out of reason and was even lowered at the last.

The ranchers did not have much to say. They laughed at the suggestion they had performed any kind of a producers' strike by holding back beef cattle in anticipation of the death of price control. "This was not true," they explained because ranchers in the Midland section produce beef cattle which is fattened and sold in the Middle-west.

Cattle for slaughter still is scarce, a packing house reported. But it did not elaborate as to why. The packers expect better beef cattle to start coming in soon but not in a flood.

One cheering note, very so, came from a butcher who said: "Yes, bacon and ham and pork will be seen often. Beef has never been the big problem out here."

A rancher said he got a big kick out of Truman's speech in one part when the President said the government even had considered conscripting beef cattle right off the range. "That would be quite a program," said the rancher.

Just about as good an example as any to prove the lifting of price controls on meat did not have near the dramatic effect here it had in the crowded East is shown by the comment of a citizen: "My daughter-in-law in the East wrote us asking if we could get any kind of meat. That very day we had T-bone steaks for dinner in Midland after bacon for breakfast."

developing the case, had traveled as far as North Dakota in meat price investigations during the last six weeks which preceded filing of the complaint at Pecos.

No Comment On Speech
Neither Hudson nor Barnes cared to comment on possible enforcement aftermaths of President Truman's new pronouncement on the nation's No. 1 food problem.

They conferred in El Paso Sunday with U. S. District Attorney James McC. Burnett before filing the complaint Monday with John R. Dean, U. S. commissioner at Pecos. Deputy U. S. Marshal Louis Robertson of Pecos was to serve a warrant providing for the arraignment of the Midland man at Pecos Tuesday.

Overcharges or "side payments" totaling $199.24 in the three instances occasioning the three complaints were alleged. The purchasers listed as material witnesses included the Brooks Grocery Store and Elmer Sellers Cash and Carry Market at Midland. Dates of the sales cited were Jan. 7, Feb. 25 and April 1, this year.

Out Of City
S. L. Alexander of Midland, owner of the A&M Packing Company, was not in the city Tuesday and could not be reached for a statement.

A representative of the company said, "We are aware the OPA has been trying to work up a case against us for some time. No arrests have been made nor has any enforcement agency made an appearance at our plant. Mr. Alexander is out of town."

TIME FOR A CHECK-UP!

After last summer's hot and dusty mileage, your car is tired and rundown. It hasn't got the pep, the spruce appearance, the spring in its joints it had last May. It's time to take it to your Humble station for a check-up. These services are essential after a summer of hard driving.

- TIME TO CHANGE OIL
Drain dirty, diluted, dangerous summer oil. FLUSH, and refill with Balanced 997—it's a good number! Or with Esso Motor Oil—unexcelled!
- TIME TO LUBRICATE
Humble charted lubrication gets into every bearing with the right lubricant for smooth, long-life operation.
- TIME TO CHECK COOLING SYSTEM
Drain, flush, and refill the radiator. Replace worn fan-belts and drippy water-hose.
- TIME TO CHECK TIRES
Rotate your tires for longer wear. Replace treadbare tires for safety's sake. At many Humble stations, you can get Atlas Tires, with the unconditional warranty.
- TIME TO CHECK BATTERY AND BATTERY CABLE
Does yours need recharging or do you need a new Atlas battery? And don't forget frayed battery cables—they can give you a lot of trouble.
- TIME TO CHECK WINDSHIELD WIPER BLADES
You'll need a clean sweep on your windshield this winter. To drive safely, you must be able to see.
- TIME TO CHECK YOUR SPARK PLUGS
Replace burned, cracked spark plugs for more efficient operation and for better gasoline mileage. At many Humble stations, you'll be able to secure Atlas Champion.
- TIME TO WASH, POLISH AND WAX YOUR CAR
Save that paint. You'll want your car to look good until next Spring.
- TIME TO CHECK DIFFERENTIAL AND TRANSMISSION LUBRICANTS
These should be changed every 5,000 miles. When was the last time you changed yours?
- TIME TO FILL UP WITH ESSO EXTRA
The best gasoline you ever used!

HUMBLE

Humble stations are fully equipped and Humble men are carefully trained to render "check-up service." The Humble products they prescribe are second to none. For satisfactory service from your car this winter, stop for check-up service where you see the Humble sign... NOW!

Shade of Sycamore

By PERCY MARKS Author of "The Plastic Age" "A Tree Grown Straight" Etc.

THE STORY: The wedding, and its accompanying strain, are finally over. Bart is the perfect lover and Gayle is deliciously happy during their protracted honeymoon. But a shock awaits their return to New York. No sooner are they settled in a hotel suite than Miss Holland phones to announce that old Mr. Bartlett has just died.

MR. BARTLETT'S death threw everyone's plans awry. Instead of beginning at once, as they had planned, to furnish their new completed house, Bart and Gayle left immediately for Sycamore. The huge reception Mrs. Bartlett had expected to give for them was, of course, forgotten. Life was entirely suspended, it seemed, until after the funeral.

Gayle's grief was deep. In her few meetings with Van Dyke Bartlett, she had come to love him, and all through her honeymoon she had looked forward to telling him how happy she was. She had little time for tears, however. Bart needed her constantly. He clung to her like a frightened child. "I wish I'd known him better," he whispered repeatedly to her. "Oh, Gayle, I wish I'd known him better." And then, his black eyes dull and confused, he would ask, "I don't know what to say to Mother. She looks awful, Gayle."

"I know, dear. Don't say anything. Just love her. That's the most you can do." Mrs. Bartlett did look awful. She did not weep, but her control was far more frightening than tears. There was something almost inhuman in her icy calm. She never broke, not at the funeral and not later at the reading of the will. If she wept when alone, no one knew, and Gayle could not believe she ever wept. The will held surprises for no one but Gayle and Miss Wallace. They were mentioned in separate codicils. The first provided that ten thousand dollars be given to Dorothy Wallace, "incomparable nurse and devoted friend"; and the second, executed the day Bart and Gayle were married, stated, "To my daughter-in-law, Gayle Kent Bartlett, I hereby bequeath my most precious personal possession, the pearl pendant, pearl earrings, and pearl brooch which once belonged to my beloved mother."

Outside of large bequests to various charities, the remainder of the estate was left to his wife, Ellen Octavia Bruce Bartlett, all of it to be held in trust for his son, Bruce Van Dyke Bartlett. There was no legal provision made for the allowance Bart received, since Mr. Bartlett had had no fear that his wife would ever lessen the allowance.

WHEN once they were back in the hotel in New York, Bart soon became himself again. Perhaps he grieved, Gayle did not know, but she was careful not to mention his father any more than circumstances forced her to. She acted, as best she could, as if there were no sorrow clouding their happiness and their plans.

The furnishing of the house was a task so monumental that at times Gayle wondered if it would ever, if it could ever, be done. Bart was partly disturbed by her industry and partly amused by it. "You don't have to kill yourself shopping, sweetheart," he protested when he came home to the hotel suite to find her prone on the bed, her feet aching, her back aching, her head aching. "What's the use? Take the best and be done with it."

"But there isn't just a best!" she wailed. "There's just a most expensive!" "Well, the most expensive is usually the best." "It is not! Don't you believe it. I know better than that. You might just as well say the best pictures cost the most, and that's utter nonsense. Sometimes they do, of course, but lots of times they don't. And it's the same with iceboxes and ranges and linoleum. I won't go out and throw your money around. Have you bought the bar yet?"

"No. I haven't seen just what I want." She laughed in glee. "All right, smarty. You multiply that old bar about two hundred times and you'll have an idea what I'm up against."

SHE was up against more than mere shopping; she was up against a shockingly expensive interior decorator who was determined to have his own way. He had offended her on their first visit together to the house. In her innocence, she thought she ought to tell him in general what she wanted for each room, but she had hardly begun, when he lifted his hand.

"Please, please, Mrs. Bartlett," he pleaded; "I beg you. I must get a picture; I must visualize—and how can I when you intrude on my imagination with suggestions of this and that?"

Finally Gayle had looked him square in the eye and said: "I'm sorry, Mr. Dayton, but we don't want a work of art. We want a home. You are an artist. I'm afraid we shall have to find someone more on our level." And once he was out of the way, Gayle found a middle-aged decorator, a woman who seemed to understand what was wanted after five minutes talk. "Nice," she said, "but not too nifty. You want a sofa with style, but you don't want one that'll give you heart failure if your husband takes a notion to sprawl all over it."

Gayle's sigh of thanksgiving was so deep that it seemed to have originated in her toes. "That's it! That's exactly it." Eventually, the house was furnished. Everything that Gayle could think of that needed to be done was done. Once the pantry was stocked and the servants engaged, she and Bart could at last move into their home.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority

At no trumps you cannot blame a fellow for opening the fourth best of his longest and strongest suit, especially a seven-card suit such as East held in today's hand, but it proved disastrous against Eli Jaye in a recent game in New York.

The bidding was rather peculiar because nobody pre-empted with the six and seven-card suits. South thought that the hands were of normal distribution, but Jaye (North) decided against the double and correctly went to three-no-trumps.

If East had opened a heart, there was nothing to prevent declarer from taking at least eleven tricks.

With the spade opening dummy's jack won the first trick, and to guard against the four-two split in diamonds, Jaye cashed dummy's ace of hearts, then ran off seven club tricks, discarding a heart and three spades from dummy. West could not hold his four diamonds and the king of hearts, and as a result Jaye made seven-no-trump for a top score in the duplicate game, though his contract was only three.

In tournament bridge, even though his contract is only for game, declarer still has to make the maximum number of tricks. Otherwise he will get a bad score, as the entire scoring is on a match-point basis.

Thomas Goes On Trial In Sweetwater Court

SWEETWATER —(AP)—A special venire of 144 men was to be examined here Tuesday as state and defense attorneys seek a jury for the trial of Jim Thomas, charged with murder in connection with the death of Dr. Roy Hunt, Littlefield physician.

Thomas was found guilty in a Dawson County trial of the case and was assessed the death penalty last year. The verdict was reversed and a change of venue ordered.

The slashed and bound bodies of Dr. and Mrs. Hunt were found in the bedroom of their Littlefield home October 26, 1943.

Cattlemen To Tour Bohannon Ranch

Ranchers of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District will make a field trip at 1:30 p. m. Friday of the A. G. Bohannon ranch. A tour will be made of the ranch and the conditions of the range will be studied to point out the factors contributing to range improvement.

Herd Midkiff, district supervisor, invites ranchers of the district to take part in the field trip.

GOP Leaders Will Broadcast Tuesday

WASHINGTON —(AP)—The Republicans will get their chance at 9 to 9:15 p. m. Tuesday to talk "meat politics" in rebuttal to President Truman.

CBS said the time had been offered the Republicans before GOP National Chairman Carroll Reece announced he had asked all four major radio networks for the same amount of time granted Truman.

Reece asserted the President's talk was obviously political. CBS estimated 44,546,000 adult listeners heard Truman.

'B' Bulldogs, Reserves Tie Up In Game-Conditions Scrimmage

By TANNER LAINE

With the varsity Bulldogs watching after they had drilled on new plays, the Aurora Noncaster "B" Bulldogs scrimmaged the varsity reserves Monday afternoon under game conditions in the high school stadium.

There were kickoffs and officials even as the "B" boys, who didn't look so hot against Big Spring Saturday night, tangled with Coach Earnes Milam's second and third stringers, all the lads who didn't play against Sweetwater.

AP Poll Drops Texas To Third After Irish, Army

By BOB GRUBB
NEW YORK — (AP) — After only a week's absence, Army has returned to the head of the nation's football parade, and Texas has slipped into third place behind Notre Dame.

The country's sports writers, balloting in The Associated Press' weekly poll, were quick to restore Red Blaik's Black Knights, on the basis of their 20-13 victory over Michigan, to the No. 1 ranking they held for two years.

Sixty-three of 139 writers put the Cadets back at the head of the class. Based on a point-scoring system of 10 points for a first-place ballot, nine for a second, eight for a third, and so on, Army collected 1,267 1/2 points.

Texas Gets 38 Votes
The Longhorns squeaked through over Oklahoma by the same score that Army did in beating Michigan. Army previously had defeated Oklahoma 21-7, and because of that game the Texas team had declared it aimed to make Army look bad by comparison.

The Longhorns were given 38 votes for first place, and while they drew more than Notre Dame's 31 for first place, the Irish rolled up a huge second-place score—51 1/2 to 31 for Texas. Apparently Notre Dame's 49-6 trouncing of Purdue made a better impression on the voters than did Texas' decision over the Sooners.

UCLA was placed in fourth position, Michigan fifth, then Pennsylvania, Alabama, Georgia Tennessee and Northwestern.

Oklahoma, having lost to both Army and Texas, got an "E" for effort by being promoted from 22nd to 13th ranking.

Alabama To Play Tennessee Vols On National Card

By AUSTIN BEALMEAR
NEW YORK — (AP) — That dwindling collection of unbeaten football teams, thinned last Saturday by the fall of such stalwarts as Michigan, Yale, Stanford and St. Mary's, is due for another reduction this week when some of the better all-victorious outfits come to grips with each other.

Having met and mastered Michigan 20-13, Army returns to West Point to find its bid for a twenty-third consecutive victory challenged by a Columbia team that is making a habit of spoiling perfect records.

The Lions ran their own victory string to three games Saturday by bouncing Yale out of the unbeaten class, 28-20, just a week after they had put the first blotch of the season on Navy's slate.

Texas, which had all it could handle in turning back Oklahoma 20-13 for its fourth win in a row, now must meet the invasion of an Arkansas team which blanked Baylor 13-0 and is unbeaten in four starts, although once tied.

Alabama and Tennessee, undefeated favorites in the Southeastern conference, collide at Knoxville.

UCLA, which put the first dent in Stanford's hopes for a Pacific Coast conference title, 26-6, moves in against California, the team that knocked St. Mary's out of the unbeaten ranks in a 20-13 upset.

About the only major all-victorious eleven that won't be in any immediate danger this week is powerful Notre Dame. The Irish, who routed Purdue 49-6 for victory No. 3, are idle this week.

The Columbia-Army fust headlines Saturday's Eastern program, which also includes several inter-sectional games.

Virginia, 19-0 victor over VMI, invades power-laden, undefeated Pennsylvania, which handed Dartmouth its first loss 39-6.

St. Mary's comes to New York to renew its inter-sectional rivalry

World Championship And $127,738 Await Winner Of Red Sox-Card Game

By JACK HAND
ST. LOUIS — (AP) — The world championship and $127,738 in cold cash awaits the winner Tuesday as Dave (Boo) Ferriss, the amazing Boston Red Sox sophomore, opposes pint-sized Murry Dickson of the St. Louis Cardinals in the finale of the 43rd World Series.

National League prestige, rocked to its foundations by the all-star game rout, has made a remarkable recovery in the Red Birds' split of the first six games but the power-laden Boston remains the odd-makers favorite at a 13 to 20 price.

Another capacity crowd of 35,000 is expected to pack Sportsman's Park.

Ferriss' 4-0 shutout victory in the third game and his 25-6 regular season win record give the Sox an edge over Dickson, a renovated bullpen artist who plied up most of his decisions since his first starting chance June 7.

Ted Williams Due
On top of Ferriss' past performance chart that includes a series win over Dickson, there is a solid suspicion that the Sox, who never have lost a series, are due to break out at least once with a spurge of extra base blows.

Not even the stoutest members of the "Knock Ted Williams Society" would have figured he'd be going into a seventh game with only five hits, all singles. Williams has been stymied by the variations of the "Dyer shift" and heady pitching by the Cards who have given him very little to hit at.

Most of his teammates join "the Kid" in thinking he is due to tee off on the righthanded Dickson.

Eddie Dyer's Cardinals have been an unpredictable lot since Spring training. Yet when backed up against the wall they have fought back magnificently. That is why you can't count out the Birds even if Ferriss does give the Sox the pitching edge.

American investigators are studying the treatment. Containers for the peroxide-treated milk have to be made of tin, iron, aluminum, glass, or clay products since the peroxide is reactive to iron, copper, lead, and alkalis.

with Fordham. Michigan State will be at Penn State, and Marquette at Pittsburgh.

North Carolina, 33-0 winner over Maryland, will be at Navy, which lost to Duke 21-6, and Yale visits Cornell, 13-9, conqueror of Colgate.

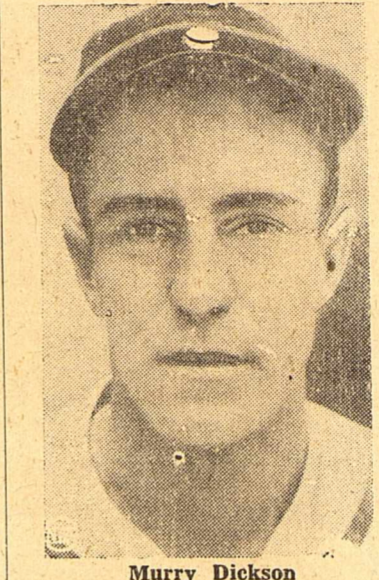

Michigan Vs Northwestern
In the Midwest, where the Big Nine already has been twisted out of shape by upsets, Michigan will take on Northwestern in a game that might produce the conference champion.

The Wildcats turned back Minnesota 14-7 Saturday for their third triumph in as many starts.

A full program in the Big Six sends Kansas State to Oklahoma, Nebraska to Kansas and Iowa State to Missouri.

Other Southeastern Conference pairings will find Georgia Tech, 24-7 winner over Mississippi, at Louisiana State, which stumped Texas A&M, 33-9; Vanderbilt, 20-0 conqueror of Florida, at Kentucky, and Auburn, which whipped St. Louis, 27-7, at Tulane, 25-6 loser to Rice.

Other Southwest Conference games send Southern Methodist to Rice and Texas Christian to Texas A&M Baylor will be at Texas Tech for a non-league go.

Layne Paces Loop In Carrying Ball, Completing Passes

By The Associated Press
A regular football machine is Texas' blonde Bobby Layne who leads the Southwest Conference in passing by a wide margin and has the best average for running with the ball in addition to quarterbacking a team unbeaten in four games.

Statistics released Tuesday by James H. Stewart, conference executive secretary, show Layne to have thrown 45 passes and completed 26 for 437 yards. Against Oklahoma last week he connected with 15 out of 27 for 208 yards—the reason Texas beat the Sooners 20-13.

In rushing Layne has carried the ball 23 times and gained a net of 162—an average of better than 7 yards per run. He also still is the leading punter although kicking only twice. His average is 55.5.

Ken Holland, fleet little Arkansas back, is the leading ground-gainer with 243 yards on 52 carries but his average is only 4.6 per carry. Tied for third are Byron Gillory of Texas and Pete Stout of Texas Christian, each with 141 yards. Stout has carried 31 times, Gillory 23.

Aubrey Fowler of Arkansas ranks second to Layne in passing with 222 yards on 10 completions out of 19 throws and Leo Daniels of Texas A&M is third with 194 yards on 15 connections in 29.

Rice Player Second In Punting
Hugh Keeney of Rice is second in punting with an average of 52.9 on three boots and Bob Goode of A&M is third with 44.5 on two. Best average among those kicking five times or more is that of Frank Guess of Texas who shows 43.1 on six punts.

Marion Flanagan of A&M has returned three punts for 137 yards—an average of 45.6—to lead in this department. George Walmisley of Rice is second with 122 on four for an average of 30.5. Third is Guess with 112 on five—an average of 22.4.

In pass-receiving Jim Canady of Texas leads the field with seven catches for 211 yards. Clyde Scott of Arkansas is second with four for 116 and Max Bumgardner of Texas is third with six for 91.

In team offense Texas has an average of 446 yards per game. The Longhorns have rolled up 968 on the ground and 817 passing. Rice and Arkansas are tied for second with 923 yards each. Rice has 539 rushing and 364 passing. Arkansas shows 585 on the ground and 338 in the air.

Supreme Court Upholds Jehovah Witness Terms
WASHINGTON — (AP) — The Supreme Court has refused to review efforts of Joe W. Buice, a Jehovah Witness of Kingsville, Texas, to win release from military custody on the ground he was never actually inducted into the Army.
The court also refused to review the conviction of Ralph Henry Cahoon, Jr., a Jehovah Witness from Houston, on a charge of failing to submit to induction as ordered by his draft board.
Buice was sentenced by Army Court Martial to six months' imprisonment for refusal to obey an order by his commanding officer, while Cahoon was sentenced to 13 months' imprisonment.
