Hospital joins county

Tax increase proposed

The Castro County Hospital District has proposed a 37.78 percent tax increase, blaming the hike on "tremendous increase in charity care" and bad debts as well as expensive legal fees incurred in the continuing lawsuit brought against the hospital by Texas Rural Legal Aid.

The proposed increase will also help pay for a 10 percent salary raise for hospital employees.

Interested citizens will have a chance to discuss the proposed increase with hospital board members during a public hearing set for Thursday, Aug. 7 from 7 to 8 p.m. in Plains Memorial Hospital.

According to hospital administrator Jack Newsom, charity care alone has increased 400 percent in the past year. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare increased the hospital's service area to include Deaf Smith and Parmer counties, adding approximately 32,000 people to those applying for free care.

Under the Hill-Burton program, a federal program which supplied $361,037 in building funds, the hospital is required to provide "a reasonable amount of free care." Also, the state law which created the hospital district requires that Plains Memorial Hospital be responsible for indigent care in Castro County.

Newsom says the amount of tax money spent in free care far outweighs the initial grants from the Hill-Burton program.

"We are furnishing an estimated $58,000 per year and have been furnishing this amount since 1964," he said, adding, "there are still nine more years on the agreement."

Under the program, the care period is 20 years from the last money received. The hospital collected $226,037 in 1964 and $135,000 in 1969.

Newsom estimates that patients and taxpayers will pay more than $1 million in services and indigent care under this agreement.

"Everybody thinks when people apply for free care, we fill out a form and are reimbursed," Newsom said. "That's not true. We pay for the care ourselves, it's paid for by taxes," he added.

Normally the hospital can keep up with increased expenses by raising the hospital charges, but, Newsom said, "startling changes in the past year" have forced the proposed tax increase.

Another factor in the proposed tax increase are several lawsuits facing the hospital, including the suit filed by TRLA on behalf of Mr. and Mrs. Isidro Aguinaga whose 11-month-old son died in December of 1978.

The suit claims the hospital was negligent in refusing to admit the small child, who suffered high fever and dehydration, because his parents could not pay.

This lawsuit, and several others, are still pending and Newsom estimates that legal fees will cost $60,000 during the next year.

Because of expenditures in these areas, funds are not available for hospital improvement, Newsom said. A new intensive care unit monitor, a patient-to-nurses station call system, an improved telephone system and remodeling of patient rooms are badly needed, he said, but cannot be fit into the budget.

The proposed increase will produce approximately $75,960 in revenue. The board will meet Aug. 21 for a final vote on the tax increase proposal.

A tornado with a "whipping tail" dipped out of a violent storm cloud early Sunday and shredded a huge onion-processing warehouse in Northeast Dimmitt.

The landmark steel building, owned by Panhandle Compress & Warehouse, had been leased for the past seven years by La Mantia, Cullum, Collier & Co., Inc., for onion processing. It's where Dimmitt had held its annual Halloween Carnival the past several years.

Luckily, no one was killed by the tornado, which struck at 1:07 a.m. according to time clocks recovered from the building's rubble Monday.

But Eloy Cano, a night watchman for LCC, received a broken nose and severe facial cuts, while another watchman, Henry Trevino, escaped the storm's fury by getting under an onion processing machine that was bolted to the building's concrete floor.

When he heard the tornadoic roar, Cano got into his pickup—which was parked inside the building—and lay on the floor. But the tornado hurled a 2x4 board downward through the cab and it hit Cano in the face. Cano's pickup cab was later crushed by flying timbers and debris as the tornado hurled twisted sheet metal 600 yards or more.

Cano was treated and released at Plains Memorial Hospital.

Loneta Jordan, who lives at 401 NW Fourth St., saw the tornado in the brightness of the staccato lightning that accompanied the storm. She confirmed that it traveled in an unusual southeastward direction—as indicated by the trail of debris from the vegetable shed—and said the funnel came down at a 45-degree angle, pointing southeast.

The tornado narrowly missed the hospital, she said.

"I was sitting in my living room and I heard the roar, like the engine of a freight train," Mrs. Jordan said. "I went to the front door and saw it forming. It was just the other side of the hospital, and it nearly scared the life out of me. I thought, 'Oh, my goodness, what if it hits the hospital?'"

"When it got down low, the tail started whipping. I went to get my husband; it was just moving beyond our trees out in the front yard then. By the time we got back to the door, it was stirring up so much dust we couldn't see anything. Then it started raining mudballs."

"It happened so fast. When I first saw it, it was just forming and the tail was coming down. It moved out of sight in just a few seconds."

"It wasn't as big as most tornadoes, but it looked plenty big enough to me—I'm scared to death of clouds."

"We're lucky," Mrs. Jordan added. "I hate it that it hit the vegetable shed, but it could have been a lot worse."

The surrounding winds twisted six limbs off a large tree on the south side of the Jordans' house and stacked them "just like a human would do" alongside their car in the driveway.

The massive destruction at the big onion shed bore all the earmarks of a tornado. Not a wall was left standing in the huge building, which was 60 yards wide and 130 yards long.

Walls were ripped out by their foundation, and one 30-ft. wall section was hurled 200 yards. But loose onion sacks in opened boxes inside the building were left untouched.

Twisted sheet metal, power poles, beams, wall sections and wire were strewn everywhere. But front-loaders inside looked as if they had just been parked there.

Debris was scattered 600 yards or more southeast of the warehouse, but nearby buildings in the tornado's path—including several mobile homes and the Church of God of the Firstborn—were undamaged.

Lee Drake, LCC manager, said he expects the damage total to the building and equipment to be in the half-million-dollar range.

LCC started a massive clean-up operation Sunday morning in an effort to get its onion-processing equipment back into operation. And the company is getting help from all directions.

"The Dimco plant here, and the Howard Gault plant and Barrett & Fisher in Hereford are processing onions for us until we can get back into operation," Drake said.

(The company had some 600 tons of onions "in the bag" and ready for processing, but there were few onions in the warehouse itself when the tornado hit.)

"Southwestern Public Service has been knocking itself out to get electricity to us, and they think they'll have it ready to tie in Thursday morning [today]," Drake said.

"We think we've got our equipment all ready to go," Drake said. "Of course, the big test will come when we tie in the electricity. We could be delayed an extra day or two, but I hope not."

He added, "It gives you a good feeling when so many people are willing to help, without any monetary considerations. The power company, the machine shops, farmers, other shippers—just a whole bunch of people have really been great in helping us, and they've been going way beyond the call of duty."

"We had people in here at noon Sunday offering their services," he said. "Our own people worked extra on Sunday. The Compress people came in from Lubbock Sunday—they've been putting in double shifts, too—and have offered to let us use any of their other buildings. The insurance companies have sent people in to inventory for us, which they didn't have to do."

LCC is asking the public to stay out of the area, for safety's sake.

"There are nails sticking out of tin and boards that can ruin a tire or a foot," Drake said. "We wouldn't want anyone getting hurt."

Once the processing equipment is back in operation, it will have three more weeks of work to do, "if we can get our big machine rolling again," Drake said. Field work in the strike-plagued onion harvest is expected to be finished in two more weeks.

"Now that we've had a hail, a strike and a tornado, we've got a man up in the elevator keeping a lookout for a tidal wave or volcano," he quipped.

Commission reviews increase

Loss of federal and state funds and costly attorney fees are the principal reasons the County Commissioners gave Monday night for their proposal to increase the ad valorem tax by 22.4% and the county road tax by 87 1/2%.

The commissioners heard complaints and questions from seven people who expressed the concern apparently felt by many Castro County residents.

"How many dollars in additional income does this increase mean for the county?" Amstar Manager Doug Lapins asked. "There needs to be some justification of the tax increase," he added.

County Tax Assessor-Collector Jerry Heller said that revenue from the county ad valorem tax is being increased from $424,172 in 1979 to a proposed $536,197, and the county road tax from $126,288 in 1979 to $287,724. [See COMMISSION, Page 11]

Hereford wins BR title

The Hereford All-Stars, facing their first do-or-die test, defeated Plainview twice Saturday to capture the West Texas Babe Ruth championship here.

The two-win comeback propelled the big Hereford lads into the Southwest Regional Tournament to be played at Houma, La., Aug. 2-7. There, they'll face two other Texas teams and the state champions from New Mexico, Oklahoma, Louisiana and Mississippi, plus the host Houma team. The regional winner will advance to the National Championship Tournament at Williston, N.D.

It was Plainview that handed Hereford its first loss in the playoffs, by a 7-4 count in the winners' bracket semis last Wednesday night.

The loss dropped Hereford into the playback bracket of the double-elimination tournament. But the lads from Deaf Smith County, playing almost flawless ball, eliminated Lamesa 9-2 Friday to get another crack at the fine Plainview team in the Saturday afternoon championship bout.

After trailing for four innings, Hereford forged ahead of Plainview 5-4 in the fifth, then blew the game open with a seven-run rally in the sixth to win 12-4 and force a championship playoff Saturday night.

Pacing the Hereford victory was slugger Steve McCracken, who clouted a home run in the bottom of the third and blasted a three-run homer in the sixth. Plainview's Steve George also put one over the fence for two runs in the first.

In Saturday night's title playoff, Hereford's big bats put Plainview in the hole in

Commissioners discuss county record systems

The Castro County Commissioners Court Monday heard reports from County Tax Assessor-Collector Jerry Heller and County Clerk Zonell Maples on progress in their business record keeping systems.

Heller recommended that his office use the computer data service of the relatively new KMK Enterprises of Plainview rather than the presently used service of Western Data in Waxahachie, Texas. Heller reported that he had lately been displeased with the slowness of Western Data.

"I think this company (KMK) can do more service, cheaper and faster," Heller said, adding, "It would be a lot handier."

Albert Kirchhoff, owner of KMK said, "We're trying to create a good local service." He further said that his company can provide the tax roll data service "at a substantial savings."

His company also has the capacity to compute voter registrations and delinquent tax records.

The commissioners requested that Heller learn when the present contract with Western Data expires and when KMK Enterprises can begin serving Castro County.

County Clerk Maples reported that the new microfilm security and computerized index system was being readied but was faced with a couple of problems.

The camera's operation may cause an over-load on the electrical circuit and it must have an independent line. The camera can not be used until the line is installed, Maples said.

Also, when the outmoded photostat system is no longer used, the clerk's office will have no way to make certified copies of the old records made by the photostat. Such copies can not be made on the copier presently used in the clerk's office.

The county board requested that Maples contact Xerox Corp. about the possible purchase or lease of an updated copier that will make copies of the old deeds.

The county commissioners signed a resolution opposing the state's proposed take-over of playa lakes on private property. The resolution will be sent to representatives, to senators, and to the Texas Association of Counties.

State tournament nets $2,200 for Kids, Inc.

Dimmitt Kids, Inc., will receive a financial boost of more than $2,200 from the West Texas Babe Ruth State Tournament.

David Schaeffer, Babe Ruth League president and tourney director, said the tournament income will help buy some needed uniforms and ballpark equipment.

Gate receipts totaled $2,090 during the six-day tourney, while program ads brought in another $1,600 and concession-stand sales grossed $1,360, Schaeffer reported.

Expenses ran $950 for umpires and scorekeeper, $500 for printing and supplies, $250 for trophies, $250 for baseballs and approximately $860 for concession stand supplies.

"We're hoping to buy some new uniforms and a mower for the ballparks this year," Schaeffer said. "Also, the tournament income may make it possible for us to buy a new ice machine for the concession stand, which would be pretty expensive."

That's good news for Kids, Inc., which has had to forego new baseball uniforms for several seasons and had to initiate players' fees this year to meet expenses.

Kids, Inc., is funded mainly by the United Way, which has had poor support the past several years. Schaeffer explained that the tournament proceeds, by going into the Kids, Inc., general fund, will benefit all junior sports programs—boys' and girls' basketball, girls' softball, Little League baseball and Babe Ruth Baseball.

An Added Touch of Beauty

Robert Louis Stevenson said:
'The world is so full of a number of things, I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings.'

God's world is filled with loveliness, but we need to add our own touch of beauty, so that we might be builders of a better world with Him. Each of us was given talents which would enable us to contribute to the world and mankind something great and lasting and beneficial. May each of us use these talents to the Glory of God. Add a touch of beauty to your life this week by attending church.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny, the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Shorthorn officers elected recently

Area residents were elected officers of the Big Country Shorthorn Association during the Northwest Texas Shorthorn Field Day held July 12 in Plainview.

Elected were Luke Acker of Nazareth, vice-president; Mrs. Fred Acker of Nazareth, secretary-treasurer and Morgan Dennis of Dimmitt, director.

Shiela Acker of Nazareth was second place junior in the breeding stock judging. Dr. John McNeil, Beef Cattle Specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, presented a slide presentation on improved management techniques.

Lisa McAneer, National Shorthorn Lassie Queen of Clarendon reported on the World Shorthorn Congress held in Calgary, Alberta, Canada earlier this month.

Airman Booe completes air exercise

Airman First Class Michael L. Booe, son of Doris G. Horton of Hart, recently participated in Global Shield 80, a Strategic Air Command (SAC) exercise at Carswell Air Force Base in Fort Worth.

The exercise was designed to test the ability of SAC forces to react to emergency wartime conditions.

In addition to providing aircrews with realistic training, Global Shield 80 provided training experience for support personnel, including ground and missile crews.

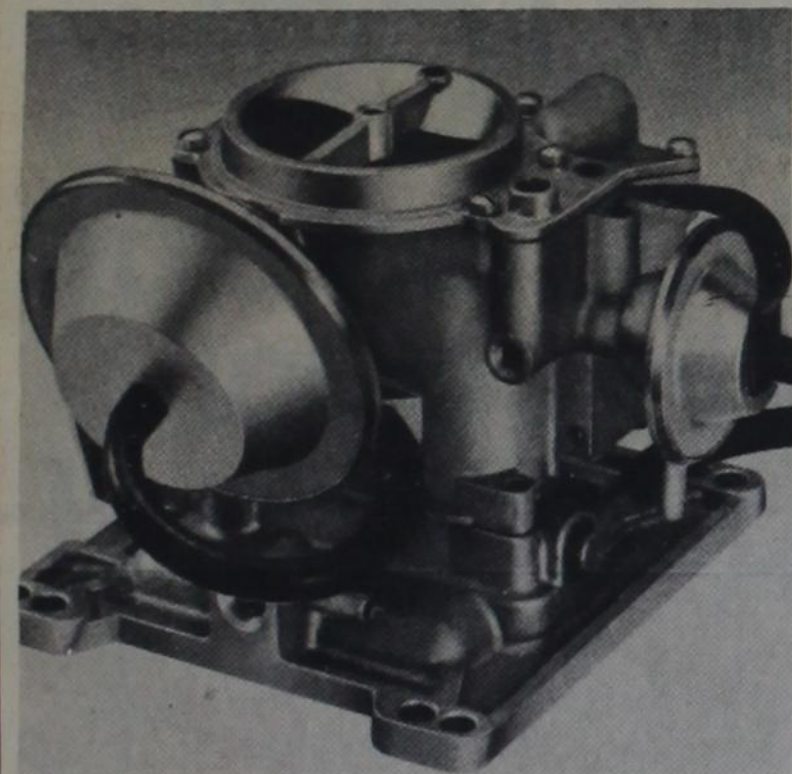

agri-facts

More necessary than any tractor, more important than the best fertilizer, more critical than the highest developed hybrid, needed more than the most modern technology... in fact, as important as the land itself is the endangered resource called incentive. Whenever this resource is plentiful, production increases, technology continues to improve and consumers benefit by having more and better food and fiber. When incentive is reduced, production lags, fewer risks are taken and scarcity could easily become a threat. There has almost always been a good supply of incentive for the American agricultural producer. Hopefully all of us will do our part to make sure this most important of resources continues to be abundantly available.

First there were Carburetors.

Then fuel injection systems. Now there is the WOODWORTH FUEL-INDUCTION VCCV Fuel-Induction Carburetor

Together, these principles mean the Woodworth VCCV gives remarkably better engine performance for any gas engine—automotive, marine, farm or industrial.

An increase in gas mileage up to 25%. Your mileage may vary depending upon your car's condition, optional equipment and your driving habits.

The VCCV starts the engine instantly, then requires only seconds to reach full operational efficiency.

The VCCV is independent of any outside pressure changes; maintains its high efficiency at any altitude.

The VCCV won't allow stalling on stopping, thanks to an idle circuit that avoids engine loading.

The Woodworth VCCV: Simply said, it's today's most advanced fuel mix/delivery system.

More about

Kim will be married soon to Brent Armstrong. Her parents are Earl and Delores and Brent's are Charles and Courtenay. Several out of town guests were there, Jonetta and Kathy Elliott from Fieldton, Opal and Jewell Elliott from Hereford and Charles' mother Mrs. W. E. Armstrong from Lubbock, Mrs. Ross Foster, Mrs. John Srute, Mrs. Lacy Armstrong and Mrs. Laurel Baker.

Cindy Dyer was honored with a bridal shower in the home of Mrs. Frank Wise Thursday morning. Greeting the guests were Mrs. Wise, Miss Dyer, Mrs. Goldman Dyer and Mrs. Byron Ford, mother of the groom-to-be, from Lockney.

Very pretty American Beauty roses accented brass and china appointments on the serving table that was covered with a beige cut-work cloth. Those serving were Linda Wise, Ronda Wise and Joyce Bills of Earth. 31 hostesses assisted Mrs. Wise. Approximately 85 guests called. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Byron Ford, Mrs. Clara Jeffcoat, Diane Johnson and Nell Glasscock, all of Lockney, Mrs. Marvin Axe of Vega, Mrs. Bill Cleavinger of Wildorado, Mrs. Ronald Cleavinger and Mrs. Ed Dawson of Springlake and Mrs. Dave Templeton and Mrs. Ray Axtell of Earth.

Cindy Dyer was honored Saturday morning with a lingerie shower in the home of Mrs. Bill Snider. Linda Snider, Susan Wise and Teresa Bruegel were hostesses for the occasion. 23 guests attended. Out-of-town guests were Flo Touchstone of Lubbock, Treena Ashton of Lockney, Virginia Malone of Hereford, Joyce Bills of Earth and Melissa Barrow of Floydada.

Mrs. George Sides was hostess Saturday morning with a coffee and shower for Cindy Dobbs, bride-elect of D. Jay Lewis. Mrs. Betty Lewis, mother of the groom-to-be, and Geneva Dobbs and Cindy assisted Mrs. Sides in greeting the more than 50 guests who called. Connie Wakefield, Ann Vezeche of Fort Worth and Debra Ball served the punch, hot sweet breads and fruit from a table covered with a beige lace-trimmed cloth, with pink carnations arranged with burgundy tapers, the bride's chosen colors. Many out-of-town guests were there.

David and Ann Hays, Scott and Dondi have returned from a two week trip through parts of New Mexico, Arizona, Nevada and California. In Arizona saw the Painted Desert, Petrified Forest and the Meteor Crater and the London Bridge at Lake Havasu.

The highlight of the trip was Disneyland (arrived there on Scott's 14th birthday) and Knott'sberry Farm in Anaheim, California where Scott and Dondi panned for gold. Disneyland was celebrating its 25th anniversary.

The Main Street Electrical Parade at night was most spectacular. The floats were scenes from Walt Disney film classics containing half-a-million tiny twinkling lights. Some floats were 14 feet high and 75 feet long.

The unusual music is transmitted to each float's amplifier which broadcasts the melodies in a unique sound system. The parade was followed by a big fireworks display. Saw many Walt Disney characters and Dondi got their autographs.

Then toured Movieland Wax Museum in Anaheim. On to Burbank, Calif. and toured Universal Studios, saw four stage shows and rode the tram to the "backlot" where movies are made.

On to San Francisco where they rode the cable cars, took boat tour to Alcatraz Island where a movie "Riot of 46" was being filmed. This movie will be aired in November. Rode across the Golden Gate Bridge and shopped at Fishermans Wharf. Drove down the most crooked street — 10 hairpin curves in one block.

Toured Kings Canyon National Park and Sequoia National Park east of Fresno, Calif. Saw the largest living tree in the world, "The General Sherman" which is as tall as a 27-story building.

On to Las Vegas, Nevada, saw the fabulous lights down the strip. Stayed at the Tropicana Hotel on Las Vegas Strip. Then to Calico Ghost Town east of Barstow, Calif.

Social Security in Castro County

By JANICE B. ULMER

On June 9, 1980 President Carter signed into law the Social Security Disability Amendments of 1980. In his statement accompanying the bill he said, "It forms a balanced package, with amendments to strengthen the integrity of the disability programs, increase equity among beneficiaries, offer greater assistance to those who are trying to work and improve program administration."

Popularly known as the Pickle Bill, sponsored by Representative Jake Pickle from Texas, it makes several changes in the disability program. It is designed to help disabled beneficiaries return to work by minimizing the risks involved in accepting employment.

Some of the specifics include:

—Automatic reentitlement to benefits if an attempt to return to work fails within one year;

—Continuing Medicare protection for up to three years after a person returns to work, and by providing immediate reentitlement to medical benefits if the individual subsequently returns to the disability rolls; and —By taking account of an individual's disability-related work expenses in determining eligibility for benefits.

These amendments also provide for a limitation on the maximum benefits available to the family of a disabled person. This is in response to the specific problem encountered by disabled workers who receive cash disability benefits that are greater than their previous employment income. The benefit limitation will not apply to people currently receiving benefits.

These are only a few of the changes made by the amendments. The specific dates of enactment vary with each provision. For further information concerning these changes or any other aspect of our programs, call our toll-free number, 1-800-392-1603 or drop by the local office at 1401-B West 5th Street, Plainview, Texas.

FURROW DIKING—Clayton Jobe examines the furrow dikes on Gail Crum's farm northeast of Dimmitt. In 1980 furrow blocking research, considerable settling and flattening of beds was noted, but overtopping of the furrow blocks did not erode the dams in the clay loam soil. Rain runoff was reduced two and a half inches.

Interest gaining in furrow diking

By BARNEY G. LEE
S.C.S., Dimmitt
Furrow diking is gaining renewed interest in Castro County. Methods of furrow diking were developed during the 1930's and the 1940's but were abandoned during the 1950's. However, today we find new interest because of rapid depletion of the Ogallala Aquifer with better technology in applying furrow dikes on our farms.

southern Great Plains are normally controlled by the available water. Cotton and grain sorghum are highly responsive to water, even one inch of additional stored water can produce significant yield increases. Furrow dikes give the farmer this added available water. This diking technique must be correlated with the time of greatest potential runoff and crop water use.

As irrigation water is being reduced in Castro County, many local producers are again trying the furrow dike method of conserving our precious rainfall. For more information on furrow diking, contact your local S.C.S. office at 647-4324, or come by our office at Third and Bedford in Dimmitt.

● On the go
Susie Cluck and Carla King visited relatives and friends in Clarendon last weekend. Carla went to school at Clarendon Junior College.

Weed control was a main concern when furrow diking lost interest in the 1950's. However, weeds can now be controlled with herbicides instead of tillage; thereby reducing the need to travel through diked furrows. When cultivation is necessary, sweeps or lister bottoms can be mounted ahead of the front tractor wheels to remove the blocks. The blocks are then replaced behind the cultivating equipment. This is all done in one operation.

ROTARY OFFICERS INSTALLED—Ronnie Parker was installed as the 1980-81 president of the Dimmitt Rotary Club during their annual installation banquet held Thursday night. This is Parker's second term as Rotary president, having served in 1967, the year after the club was chartered. Also installed, from left, were Keith Mussett, president-elect; Judith Smith, sweetheart; Danny Rice, secretary. Not pictured are Jerry Heller, treasurer and Bill Harmon, vice-president.

Sherman: Give education priority

Max Sherman stressed moving education back to the "top of the agenda" when he spoke to Rotarians at their annual installation banquet Thursday night.

"American education, at all levels, is a response to a product of American experience. Each category or level of American education emerged, it is interesting to recall, at the same time and all within a single decade; the Boston Latin School came first, in 1635; Harvard College, the following year, 1636; and 1642 saw the first general law for compulsory education," Sherman said.

"In America, we did not limit education only to nobility. Had we done so, few, if any, of us could have attended. We have offered the benefits of education to all our citizens. Many of our problems arise as we continue to meet this challenge," he added.

"The state of Texas is part of this educational tradition. Our constitution recognizes the need for sound public education. Two million acres of land were set aside for higher education. Over 50 percent of each tax dollar is expended for education. Often we disagree with the allocation of funds, but as a state, the commitment is there," said Sherman.

"Recently I was asked to address a group of legislators from 15 southern states. I concluded my remarks with this statement: I am grateful for my experience in education. As the American dream says, education has been the gateway for people in America. If as an overworked, overlobbied representative, you ever lose faith in education, just go once more to a college or a high school commencement and shake hands with several hundred kids who have worked and studied hard." "Many of them also have worked 20 to 40 hours a week to have the money to go to school. When you see the pride and joy of families who gave so much of themselves and their means to make this education possible, you won't lose faith in the system," he said.

Sherman quoted Carl Shur, in an address he gave in 1859. "Ideals are like stars; you will not succeed in touching them with your hands. But like the seafaring man on the desert of waters, if you choose them as your guides and follow them, you will reach your destiny."

"Educational opportunity and individual fulfillment are such standards and ideals. The best way to reach our goals as individuals and as a nation as we enter the 21st century is once again to put education at the top of the agenda," Sherman concluded.

Ronnie Parker was installed as club president during the

Fireman Sadler attends school

David Sadler, volunteer fireman on the Sunnyside Volunteer Fire Department of Dimmitt attended the 51st Annual Texas Firemen's Training School held last week. The school, attended by nearly 1,880 students representing about 700 cities from more than 20 states, was held on the Texas A&M University campus.

Firemen choose their course at the school from a list including Fire Fighting, Fire Prevention, Fire Department Officer Training, Fire Department Pump Maintenance, Specialized Fire Protection and Disaster Rescue Training.

Fireman Sadler was sponsored by Castro County Farm Bureau and Texas Farm Bureau Insurance Companies by contributing toward the cost of the school.

MAKE small rooms look larger by "wall washing" — lighting a larger area of wall. Such lighting draws attention toward the boundaries of the room. Wall-washer fixtures light the wall smoothly from top to bottom and may be recessed, surface-mounted or portable.

REPLACEMENT of inexpensive watches may cost less than a repair expense.

Cadet Eddie Gonzales, son of Mr. and Mrs. Juan Gonzales Sr. of Hart, recently received practical work in military leadership at the Army ROTC advanced camp at Fort Riley, Kan.

The five-week ROTC advanced camp provided an opportunity for cadets to develop and demonstrate leadership capabilities in a field training environment.

Most cadets fulfilled their advanced camp requirement during the summer between their junior and senior years in college. However, there were a number of graduating seniors who received Army commissions at the completion of camp.

Gonzales is a student at West Texas State University in Canyon.

VETERAN'S SERVICES

By BEDFORD W. SMITH
County Service Officer

The 33rd Annual Statewide Service Officers Conference is scheduled to be held October 20-24 at the El Tropicana Motor Hotel in San Antonio. It's for all County Service Officers, Veteran Affairs Commission Service Officers and Department Service Officers of the various veteran organizations, and all others interested in veteran benefit programs provided through federal and state governments. Included in invitations to attend are Post, Chapter and Barracks Service Officers. There are no registration fees. The only expenses are transportation and room and board while in San Antonio. Interested people can check with us for details.

Veterans planning to enter college this fall who are finding it hard to accumulate the extra money they will need to supplement their GI Bill education benefits are urged to investigate the VA work-study program.

GI Bill students can work up to 250 hours per semester for VA and receive $775 in addition to regular education assistance allowance.

Priority for participation in the work-study program is given veterans who have a 30 percent or greater service-connected disability and consideration is given to financial need, motivation and the nature of the work to be done.

Veterans are not required to work the full 250 hours. They may work any portion of the time that meets their financial needs and fits their individual study programs.

Jobs are available for VA-related work on a given campus or at a VA facility.

An advance of up to $310 is available as soon as the employment agreement is processed. The advance covers the first 100 hours of work.

After the first 100 hours, VA pays work-study students after each 50 hours of work.

Veterans desiring to participate in the work-study program or those who want additional information or assistance should contact their nearest VA regional office or veterans counselor on campus.

Dimmitt youth injured Sunday

A 15-year-old Dimmitt High School sophomore lost two toes as a result of a shooting accident which occurred Sunday afternoon at the Milton Bagwell farm west of Dimmitt.

Curt Fitzgearld, who was shooting with friends, slipped as he turned a corner around a trailer house and triggered the gun. A bullet sliced between the second and third toes of his left foot, shattering the bone.

He was taken to Plains Memorial Hospital emergency room and both toes were amputated.

He was released Tuesday and will remain on crutches for two weeks.

'I CAN'T BELIEVE IT!'—In one of the best plays of the West Texas Babe Ruth State Tournament here, Plainview's B. Terrell is out at the plate after being tagged by Hereford catcher Ricky Martinez in the second inning of Saturday afternoon's championship game. Terrell, sprung from second base by a long fly to left field, had sped homeward in what appeared to be a safe attempt. But Hereford left fielder Mickey Stengel made a perfect peg to home plate for the out. Calling the play is umpire John Brooks. Hereford won the game, 12-4, to force a Saturday night playoff, then captured the championship with a 12-7 win.

Repairs to begin on schools

The Dimmitt School Board in its July meeting began plans to repair the high school gymnasium roof deck, the Middle school gymnasium roof and the expansion joints in the three school buildings by mid-November.

More about Commission

The tax increases create $273,461 in additional income, Heller said.

Deanne Clark and Stephanie Love wanted to know where the money will be used.

"The county lost about $200,000 in Revenue Sharing funds and state lateral road funds," Heller said, adding that other expenses include inflation, salary increases and attorneys' fees.

"Law suits have cost us and the hospital district," said Commissioner Edd Wilson.

Last year's budget did not include enough income to cover the $40,000 in attorneys' fees to fight Texas Rural Legal Aid's law suits concerning boundary disputes and realignment of precinct divisions. The commissioners are concerned that more legal suits will be forthcoming. They support the Castro County Housing Authority in its legal battle with TRIA.

Heller told concerned farmers Morgan Dennis and Bruce Fields that No. 1 irrigated land is valued at $300 an acre and had been taxed at 99 cents an acre, but the increase will change the taxation to $1.35 an acre. No. 1 dryland will be about one-third of that.

Dennis expressed concern that farmers will be taxed out of business and forced to leave Castro County.

Fields spoke about the poor conditions of some county roads and expressed the hope for better roads with the increased taxes.

"We're keeping old machinery and not buying new machinery that we are in desperate need of," Wilson said, adding, "Our taxes have been lower for several years than surrounding counties."

"County ad valorem hasn't been changed since 1976," Heller added.

Lapins said that Amstar's increased tax bill "is not much incentive for us to put more money into the plant. We're looking at more investment and expansion. $31,000 increase is a pretty heavy blow to us."

He wanted to know "how much more burden" Amstar must carry for the county.

Heller said that Amstar paid approximately 10% of the total county taxes in 1979.

"We've tried not to raise taxes," Commissioner Ed Bennett said, adding, "but we're at a point where we have to."

"We're just going to cover our budget, not lay money in the bank," Commissioner Al Maurer said.

Heller said there is no end in sight for tax revision. The county and the whole state are in for a jolt next year, he said, with the reappraisal and increased valuations mandated by state and local legislation.

Lapins said he felt that his was a legitimate concern, but he was satisfied for now "as long as everybody carries their fair share."

More about

Tourney . . .

[Continued from Page 1] the second inning with a nine-run rally that was highlighted by another three-run homer by McCracken. Plainview fought back with a run in the third and three in the fourth as George blasted another one-run homer. But Hereford, after going ahead by 12-4 with a run in the sixth and two in the top of the seventh, fought back a last-gasp three-run rally by Plainview in the final inning to win, 12-7.

Hereford was awarded the tournament's sportsmanship award as well as the championship trophy.

The Castro County All-Stars, who drew a courtesy bye into the state tourney, held their own with victories over two district champions before they were eliminated in the semis. Castro County finished fourth in the seven-team tourney behind Hereford, Plainview and Lamesa.

The CC lads topped Granbury 16-1 in the opening round, lost to Hereford 18-7 in their second outing, and eliminated Morton 7-4 before losing to Lamesa, 15-5, in the semis.

Morton and Granbury shared fifth place, while Top o' Texas finished seventh after being eliminated by Granbury 14-13 in the first round of the play-back bracket. The tourney was well-attended as fans came in from throughout the northern one-third of Texas. They brought parasols, lawn chairs and "viewing vans," and made themselves at home in beautiful baseball weather.

"I couldn't believe the temperature in the 80's in mid-afternoon, and the cloud cover in the evenings," said the coach from Granbury in Northeast Texas, where the stifling heat wave still has not relaxed its grip.

Blood pressure clinic slated

A county-wide Blood Pressure Clinic, sponsored by the Castro County Unit of the American Heart Association, will be held Friday from 8 to 12 and 1 to 3 in the Commissioners' Courtroom on the first floor of the county courthouse.

The clinic will give free blood pressure checks, and students at the Plains Memorial Hospital Vocational Nursing School will conduct the tests.

Bruce DeArmond, certified respiratory therapist at Plains Memorial Hospital will be in charge of the clinic.

KEG NOT INCLUDED—This humongous hound is going to eat Animal Warden Charles Whitman out of house and home if somebody doesn't buy him soon. Nelson tells Kiwanians he 'wouldn't trade' year

"I wouldn't trade my AFS year in France for anything," David Nelson told Kiwanians Monday at their regular meeting. Nelson spent this past year in Anney, France, a town of 50,000 where he lived with a French family and attended French schools. "The school system is much stricter in France than it is here. At the age of 15, kids have to decide what they are going to do for the rest of their lives. There are four choices, and I was put with the group that focused on philosophy, literature and languages," said Nelson. Nelson also spoke about European customs and traditions. "Their culture is much stricter and more traditional than ours. Etiquette is a very important part of their lives," he said. "The main concern of the French people is to keep France as it is. They don't like their dependence on any country because it threatens their individuality. They want to keep their traditions and life styles," he added.

"The family life is much different than ours here. My French father told me when I first got there that the family was a monarchy and he was the dictator. I thought he was joking, but he was very serious. There is no question of the authority in the home," Nelson said. "It was a very valuable experience — learning a new language and a new culture, and being able to compare that culture with the life here in America," he said. "I strongly recommend juniors and seniors to look into the program. If I had the chance to do it over again, I'm sure I would," Nelson said. Also on Monday, new member Gary House was welcomed by President Bob Murdock, and Charles Richard discussed plans for the Harvest Days parade on September 6.

go to Dallas on July 25 for interviews. The final selection of the new director from this district will be announced during TASB's annual House of Delegates Convention on Sept. 27.

—Planned to send Clark as a delegate to that meeting, with Don Gregory as alternate.

—Approved three resolutions prepared by Clark and plans to submit the resolutions to TASB for introduction at the convention. In part, the resolutions state opposition to "collective bargaining, arbitration, strikes, dues checkoff and unionism," and opposition to support of "secular humanism as a religion and behavior modification as a means to promote usurpation of authority."

—Revised bus routes 9 and 12 to include the route formerly run by bus 10. The bus consolidation still meets the needs of all families involved but saves the district in operation expense.

—Approved the purchase of a 1980 Ford LTD and a 1980 Chevrolet Malibu formerly used for drivers' education, courtesy of the local auto dealers.

Castro County Sheriffs Department reported a burglary at Vardell Fuel Company sometime during the weekend.

According to Sheriff Granville Martin, merchandise totaling $400 was stolen, including a 19-inch black and white television and a carburetor.

The case is still under investigation.

Police calls

More than $200 worth of merchandise was stolen Saturday night from Killingsworth Construction Company. The burglar apparently broke in through the back door police said, although there are no force marks.

Swiss-Canadian cowboy rides through again

Do you remember Jake Schaffhauser, the man who rode through Dimmitt eight years ago on his way to Argentina?

He was trying to break the world's record for the longest distance travelled on horseback, planning to make a 12,000 mile trip from Fort St. John, British Columbia, Canada to Argentina and Chile.

Well, the Swiss-Canadian cowboy was back in Dimmitt again this week, visiting his old friends, the Don Schillings.

"I had two weeks to travel, so I decided to visit the friends I had made on horseback," said Schaffhauser.

He spent the night with the Schilling family in 1972 when he was moving towards his final destination in South America.

After he left Dimmitt eight years ago, he moved southward to Mexico, where both of his horses died.

"I was in good physical shape, but the horses just couldn't take the heat," he said.

He then hitchhiked to Panama, where he ended his 20 month quest to break the world's record.

Since his trip by horse, Schaffhauser has spent time in Africa and Columbia doing missionary work. In Columbia, he was associated with the Wycliffe Foundation.

His plans for the future include going to seminary in Minneapolis and travelling to India to do more missionary work. He has prepared to go to India by spending time in Germany taking a linguistics course and studying Hindu.

Schaffhauser says that his main purpose in trying to break the world's record eight years ago was to try to meet people and see other ways of living.

"Since I was alone all the time, I had to decide to meet people. Between New Mexico and the jungle, I only spent seven nights out on the road, all the other times, people took me in, just like the Schillings," Schaffhauser added.

Don Schilling said he didn't expect the visit.

"I was real surprised to see him again. He told us that he would write when he got to South America, but he never did. I guess that's because he never got there, but we were real glad to see him again," Schilling said.

"He is one of the finest men I have ever gotten to meet," he added.

tutional to take away private property," Commissioner Al Maurer said.

The commissioners also signed a resolution seeking authority from the state for county control of fireworks.

In other action, the county board:

—Donated $400 to the Castro County Fair Association to help with upkeep and expenses of putting on the fair. Part of the monetary support will go to the purchase of a new display case for baked foods entries.

—Awarded a contract to C. R. Law Tax Records, Inc., a subsidiary of Western Data, to compile a delinquent tax record of all such taxes from 1939 through 1979.

—Awarded a contract to Ivey Insurance Agency for vandalism coverage to be added to the present policy for all county buildings at $134.

—Made plans to advertise for bids on the trim and roof repair on the new county building east of city hall and for bids on hospitalization insurance for county personnel.
