Palestine Court Rejects Attempts To Stop Removal Of 4,000 Jews To Cyprus

By CARTER L. DAVIDSON
JERUSALEM—(P)—The Palestine government's high court rejected Thursday an attempt to prevent deportation of nearly 4,000 uncertified Jewish immigrants to Cyprus, and it was announced officially that three British troopships would leave immediately with the refugees.

Humble's 2 Sims Tested For 36 BOPH On DST

Humble Oil & Refining Company has practically assured a new Ellenburger producing area in extreme West Andrews County at its No. 2 Sims.

Speculation arose that the court decision might cause underground violence, dormant for 10 days, to flare anew. A Jewish agency spokesman, denouncing the ruling as "legal absolutism," said it had caused rising tension in Palestine.

The Jewish Community Council in Jerusalem appealed to Jews to keep three minutes of silence at 3 p. m., halting all business and traffic, in sympathy with the deportees.

The court discharged a habeas corpus writ granted Monday to Jewish lawyers, who had filed an action demanding the Palestine government show cause why the refugees should be deported.

The Jews arrived off Palestine without immigration certificates aboard the rickety freighter Lochita. Two of them were killed in an hour's riot at Haifa Jetty Monday.

That project ran a 75-minute drillstem test at 10,492-535 feet. Recovery was the 1,450-foot water blanket, and 3,250 feet of clear, 42-gravity oil. It was calculated that the oil recovered was 46 barrels, or at the rate of 36 barrels per hour. A 3/4-inch tubing choke was used for the test.

People Of Russia Convinced Britain, US Against USSR

By EDDIE GILMORE
MOSCOW—(P)—The Russian people, convinced that the Soviet Union is making important concessions at the United Nations and Foreign Ministers Meetings in New York, are beginning to ask when the United States and Britain will start doing the same.

There is a growing feeling among the people that the Soviet Union is going a long way toward assuring collaboration, making concessions in a volume which has not to date been matched by the British and Americans. Without going into the merits of the situation, that is the way the people talk and feel at present.

United Nations Facing Major Clash Over Russia's Move To Inject Veto Into Proposed Arms Agreements

By MAX HARRELSON
LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y.—(P)—The United Nations faced a major clash Friday over Russia's move to inject the veto into international machinery to detect and prevent violations of proposed agreements outlawing atomic weapons and reducing other armaments.

The release of Danubian ships by the United States, incidentally, is not considered here as a concession, but as the righting of a "wrong."

The people are convinced as much as at any time previous that the United States and Britain are working en bloc, principally against the Soviet Union.

Seven Texans Die Violently Over Thanksgiving

By The Associated Press
At least seven Texans suffered violent deaths over Thanksgiving Day, though none were attributed directly to the celebration.

Three persons were fatally shot, two were killed in a train wreck, one woman burned to death and a rancher was killed when he fell from his horse. There were two traffic deaths.

Lewis Is Ordered To Trial Immediately For Court Contempt

WASHINGTON—(P)—Federal Judge T. Alan Goldsborough ordered John L. Lewis to trial on contempt Friday and upheld the court's right to enjoin a walkout in the soft coal mines despite federal anti-injunction laws.

Overruling Lewis' motion for dismissal of the contempt action brought by the government, Goldsborough declared:

"The Norris-LaGuardia Act did not and does not apply, and the court has the same rights as it had prior to passage of the Norris-LaGuardia Act."

Goldsborough said his court had the right to enjoin "a labor union which was about to do something against the good of the public and the union itself."

Lewis and his United Mine Workers contended that the Norris-LaGuardia Act, curbing the use of restraining orders and injunctions in labor disputes, nullified Goldsborough's restraining order of November 18 and was grounds for dismissal of the whole contempt of court action, saying Lewis had the right to ignore it.

Government attorneys on the other hand contended the law did not apply where the government itself was acting as operator of the 3,300 soft coal mines seized during another crippling strike last Spring.

Goldsborough's ruling cut short a day and half of argument by attorneys for Lewis that the court lacked authority to restrain the UMW from terminating its government contract. This notice by Lewis was followed by a walkout of 400,000 miners.

"The court repeats," Goldsborough said, "that this proceeding was for the sole purpose of maintaining the status quo in this dispute."

Before handing down his decision, the judge had remarked that Lewis in effect had "pled guilty" to contempt by refusing to obey the court's order to keep the coal contract in force.

This was promptly challenged by one of Lewis' lawyers, T. C. Townsend, who said:

"He hasn't entered any plea of guilty, your honor."

After some argument over legal technicalities the judge ruled: "The motion to discharge and vacate the motion is overruled."

He then called a five-minute recess. Chief government counsel John F. Sennett announced that the government was ready to present its first witness against Lewis—Navy Capt. N. H. Collinson, federal coal mines administrator.

Court Has Right
In his statement leading up to dismissal of the UMW motion, Goldsborough declared that the court union which was about to do something against the good of the public and the union itself."

Friday's session opened with a renewed defense attempt to win dismissal of the contempt action against Lewis, who as before, sat with jaw upthrust, rarely speaking to his 10-man legal battery.

The proposal for a truce in the economy-sapping crisis came from Edward R. Burke, president of the Southern Coal Producers Association.

He told a reporter that if Lewis would call the 400,000 miners back to work, the owners of the federally-seized mines would be "very happy" to discuss contract terms with the union chief.

"We are even willing to talk about a shorter work week," Burke said Thursday.

A reduction of the miners' present 54-hour week with no loss in pay has been reported to be one aim behind the determined United Mine Workers stand against the government.

California, Illinois and Michigan each reported five traffic deaths while four fatalities each were reported in Arizona, Florida, Georgia, New York and Ohio; three each in Indiana and Pennsylvania; two each in Colorado, Connecticut, Missouri and North Carolina, and one each in Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Mississippi, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, Tennessee, Texas, Virginia and Washington.

City Police Report

Limitations Lifted From Use Of Grain By Liquor Brewers

WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman announced Friday that the Agriculture Department will permit distillers and brewers to use more grain, and will remove limitations on the domestic distribution of flour.

The White House announcement attributed the move to the favorable grain supply and the shortage of transportation facilities for relief exports abroad.

The statement said Secretary Anderson is taking these actions Friday:

"1. Remove the limitation on the domestic distribution of flour.

"2. Permit brewers, for the quarter beginning December 1, to use as much grain as in the corresponding months of 1945 and 1946, but retain the prohibition against their use of wheat and the limitation on their use of rye."

"3. Permit distillers to use unlimited quantities of corn below grade three but retain the prohibition against their use of wheat and the limitation on their use of rye."

PHILIPPINES TO DEVELOP HOME PRODUCTION
MANILA—(P)—President Roxas said Friday that the Philippine government would attempt to stop "the enormous drain on our resources" for food importations, through development of home production.

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON—(P)—President Truman reportedly is being urged by some Capitol Hill friends to center his fire on a few major issues in recommendations to the new Republican-controlled Congress.

Several influential Democrats said privately they hope Truman produces middle-of-the-road proposals for legislation on labor, housing, taxes and expenditures, the military draft and possibly Army-Navy merger.

They would prefer that he not attempt to cover the broad field of suggestions he made to the last Congress.

With the Republicans now in control of the legislative machinery and likely to pursue their own objectives, many of the Democrats think it would be wise for the President to present his ideas only on the top issues.

Support Agriculture, Youth, JayCeers Told

Delbert Downing, manager of the Midland Chamber of Commerce, dropped suggestions for Junior Chamber of Commerce sponsorship in youth welfare and agricultural programs of the county at the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the JayCeers Friday at the Schaubauer Hotel.

Downing said "a place where children play is a good place. We should direct this play to worthwhile benefit to the children."

He advised the JayCeers to actively support agricultural projects for club boy and girl age youth.

John J. Redfern spoke in behalf of the Christmas Seal Sale now in progress.

Various committee chairmen announced plans for the JayCeers Christmas Activities campaign in Midland.

Social Situations

THE SITUATION: You borrow a household commodity such as sugar from a neighbor.

WRONG WAY: Feel that if it is only a small amount it need not be returned.

RIGHT WAY: Realize that the best way to keep on good terms with your neighbors is to be scrupulous about returning anything you borrow, however trivial it may seem to you.

Burglar Loses on Points

At left, above, 13-year-old John Behanna displays his bow and arrows which bagged a burglar. Prowler entered Behanna home and forced the family upstairs while he proceeded to ransack the lower floor. Elder Behanna found boy's toy and shot arrows into window of neighbor's home, as seen at right. Neighbor called police who captured the intruder.

Unions Don't Want Law Passed Which Would Forbid Strikes In Essential Industries And Compel Arbitration

WASHINGTON—(AP)—In becoming a great industrial nation we never have learned how to have industrial peace.

The coal strike is a good example of that. This one strike, if it lasts long enough, can cripple the country and bring on depression. But just cock your ear and listen to the ideas flying around on how to have peace between labor and management.

Senator Joseph Ball, Minnesota, has talked more than any one about ways to curb the power of unions. Now Senator Fulbright, Arkansas Democrat, has an idea—an idea which unions hate—for keeping labor peace.

It's this: Congress should pass a law forbidding strikes in essential industries and compel arbitration. (Essential industries most surely would include coal, oil, steel, power companies, railroads and other public utilities.)

Somewhat along the same line, Senator Ferguson (R-Mich.) has suggested a system of labor courts to handle disputes involving the public welfare.

Compulsory arbitration, generally, would mean this:

When a union and an employer can't agree, the government steps in, appoints an Arbitration Board. The Board examines the case and gives a decision. The decision is final.

The union can't strike nor the employer shut down his plant while the Board is working.

Labor-people, whenever an idea like that has been offered, crow back and say:

"Is that so? You can set up compulsory arbitration but you can't compel men to work if they don't want to."

Maybe so. But if Congress tried to push through compulsory arbitration, it probably would try to set up penalties on unions which refused to accept the Board's decision.

Strongest Curb On Unions

Yet, Congress would have to be in a pretty stern mood to pass a compulsory arbitration law. It's about the strongest curb on unions that could be passed.

(As noted, it wouldn't apply to all unions and all industries but only to those industries which affect the national economy or the public welfare.)

Since our society is continually growing more complex and so many activities affect the public welfare, Congress might have severe difficulty drawing a line between an essential and non-essential industry.

Memorial To Former Governor Is Unveiled

AUSTIN—(AP)—A memorial to James E. (Farmer Jim) Ferguson was unveiled here Friday in the presence of members of his family and close friends at the State Cemetery.

Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, the former governor's widow who was also governor, was among those who heard Judge Ray Starnes of Gladewater and Austin laud Ferguson as one who "thrived on political battles who 'hated' well but never hated for keeps."

Starnes recalled Ferguson's contributions to the progress of Texas as "laws for the protection of tenant farmers, more abundant money for rural schools, free textbooks for boys and girls, the mapping out of a great highway program, the introduction of successful business management into the penitentiary."

Addressing Mrs. Ferguson, Starnes unveiled the monument as "a shrine for those who loved him and who love you."

SOCIETY

THE REPORTER-TELEGRAM, MIDLAND, TEXAS, NOV. 29, 1946—3

Rev. B. J. Martin Is Guest Speaker At Church Breakfast

"What Is Your Life" was the subject of a talk by the Rev. B. J. Martin, pastor of the First Baptist Church in Ballinger, who spoke at the annual Thanksgiving breakfast sponsored by the Training Union of the First Baptist Church Thursday.

Mr. Martin used as his illustration of life the rose, pointing out that it's a bud at the beginning slowly opening to reveal its beauty, and finally when its purpose is fulfilled, the petals drop off. Then it is gone but the fragrance lingers on.

The guest speaker was introduced by the Rev. Vernon Yearby, pastor of the First Baptist Church. Bob Campbell served as master of ceremonies.

Mrs. E. L. Phillips gave two Thanksgiving readings. The girls' trio including Genora Brown, Ruth Hall, and Anne Upham sang "Fairytale Lord Jesus" accompanied by Mrs. Raymond Hall.

The breakfast tables were decorated in a Thanksgiving theme with autumn leaves, bronze and gold mums, brown and gold crepe paper, and pumpkins.

Roll call was answered with "Some Happiness I Could Give to Others."

Present were Mrs. J. L. Lock, Mrs. L. C. Mills, Mrs. F. A. Bird, Mrs. L. G. Webb, Mrs. L. H. Moncrief and a visitor, Mrs. Gilbert Blankenship.

The Indestructible Veto

Two smaller members of the United Nations, Cuba and Australia, have fulfilled their promise that they would seek abolition of the Big Five's veto. They were scolded and slapped down for their pains.

America's Senator Connolly was very kind about it. He deplored the frequent, trivial use of the veto. But he urged the veto's retention for the sake of Big Five unity.

Russia's Vishinsky seemed very angry. He charged the little nations with a concerted, underhand plot to wipe out Big Five harmony. He warned again that "nests of fascism" remain in Europe, though the warning did not seem particularly germane to the subject of the veto, or of the request for its abolition by two decidedly non-European countries.

But though the American and Russian speakers differed in their approach and argument, they agreed that in union there was strength, and that there would be neither strength nor union without the veto power.

This argument might seem more acceptable if there were any evidence of real unity among the Big Five (or rather, between Russia and the Big Four), or any indication that the veto power is going to achieve that unity.

Perhaps it should be recalled that the Big Five veto is not an instrument of inspired logic, born of free and open debate. It was agreed to by Roosevelt, Churchill and Stalin at their Yalta meeting, after the Dumbarton Oaks conversations had failed to settle the question of voting procedure.

The war was by no means won when the Big Three met at Yalta. Roosevelt and Churchill were in no position to quibble over Russian demands. Neither, of course, were they in a position to foresee the truculent nationalism of Russia's diplomatic behavior after the war.

So the veto was agreed upon before the San Francisco Conference, and justified in the course of it. In San Francisco, too, Russia was in a commanding position, since her help was still needed in the war against Japan.

Thus we have the veto, object of muttered complaints for a year and a half and now, at last, of formal protest. It will not be abolished outright, but hopefully the Big Five will try to improve it. What can they do?

Two partial solutions come readily to mind. They might limit the use of the veto to extreme measures, such as imposition of economic sanctions or armed intervention against one of the Big Five. That undoubtedly would speed up the Security Council's functions. But in decisive matters the Big Five member involved would still be in the position of an accused man who, at a trial's end, could cast his vote with the jury and assure his own acquittal.

Or the Big Five might agree to revise voting procedure by apportioning votes to each UN member on the basis of its population, and then decree that only simple or two-thirds majorities be required to enact resolutions. This would actually abolish the veto, but at the same time it would give the great powers the commanding position which they deem necessary.

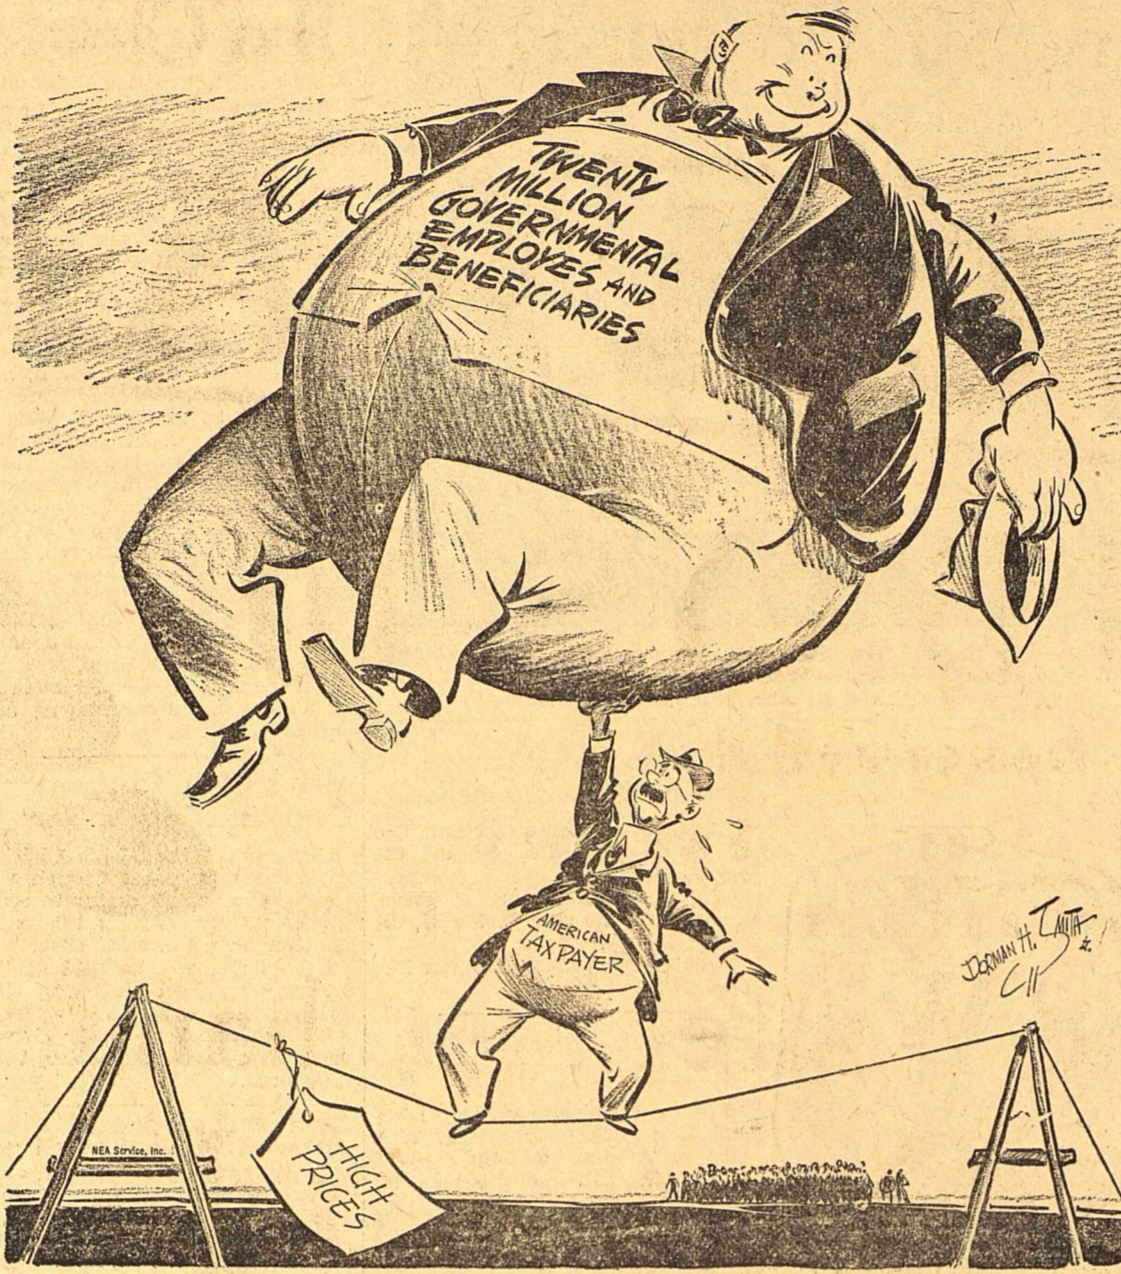

Neither of these actions, however, is at all likely. For each would involve a Charter amendment. And the Big Five have the power to veto any changes in the Charter.

The world lies before the man who doesn't himself. One of the best ways to get less is to be absolutely content with little.

Disagreement Comes Over Best Uses Of McCloskey Hospital

DALLAS —(P)—Sharp disagreement apparently had come to two groups over best use for McCloskey Hospital at Temple, with one group asking that part of the hospital be utilized to house some government agencies, and an American Legion group insisting that it be retained for Veterans Administration uses exclusively.

The Dallas Morning News said that Emmett Streetman, commander of the American Legion Waco District, reported that 22 district posts have begun a fight to retain the former Army General Hospital as a VA facility.

Frank Mayborn, publisher of the Temple Telegram, told The Dallas News that a delegation of which he was a member, "sought to get part of the buildings sprawled over the 219 acres for other government agencies and utilize all the space." Streetman said a special convention of district post delegates was called last Sunday. As a result of this meeting, he said, telegrams were dispatched to Gen. Omar Bradley, VA administrator, and others asking that the unit be continued as a VA facility. He also told The News that it was reported at the convention that the VA planned to begin treatment of tubercular patients at the surgical and medical hospital.

Second Anniversary Of First 'Blue Baby' Operation Celebrated

BALTIMORE —(P)—Two years ago Friday, little Miss "E. M. S." was wheeled into the surgical amphitheater at the Johns Hopkins Hospital for a delicate operation to correct an insufficient flow of blood into her lungs.

"E. M. S."—her identity is a medical secret—died, but the operation, performed 270 times since that first attempt, has given new hope to the parents of "blue" babies throughout the world.

The surgical technique, developed by Dr. Alfred Blalock and Dr. Helen B. Taussig, head of the Children's Cardiac Clinic, has been successful in about 80 per cent of the cases. There was no "blue" baby operation on the schedule Friday. Ten-year-old Judy Conner, Richmond Hill, N. Y., was to have been the "anniversary" case, but her operation has been postponed a few days. In the two years since E. M. S. was operated on, the hospital has been belaguered with letters and telegrams from parents of afflicted children. The Cardiac Clinic has scheduled 250 more operations and has made appointments for examinations at the rate of two a day through next May. It has 200 other requests for appointments.

POLAND STUDIES NOTES

WARSAW —(P)—A foreign ministry spokesman said Friday the government is "studying" British and American notes urging guarantees of equal rights of parties in the January 19 general elections but declined to comment whether or when the notes would be answered.

FRENCH PROTEST SELLING

HANOI —(P)—Gen. Louis Moller, French commissioner for Tonkin, protested to Viet-Nam's president, Ho Chi Minh, Friday the reported shelling of the French cruiser, Suffren, and another French warship, by a Viet-Name shore battery off Haiphong.

Russia's German Zone Being Made Five States

BERLIN —(P)—A spokesman of the German Central Administration of the Russian Occupation Zone said Friday the Soviet Zone of Germany was being split into five states with separate provincial governments for each.

The policy of splitting the Russian Zone into states, each with a government, represents a sharp change in Soviet policy for Germany and was interpreted in some quarters as indicating Moscow has swung over to the Western view of Germany should have a government on "federal-state" lines instead of a strong central administration.

CALL ME LIZ

XXI
ELISE had taken the taxi that night. She had gone to the Condon home and she had helped Janice dress and pack and then she had driven to the airport with Janice and her father.

Toge and she and Arthur Condon had stood at the end of the runway with a chill down wind whipping around them and watching the plane carrying Janice fade into the still dim sky.

It was on the drive back home that M. Condon had spoken to her about what was really worrying him. He told her of his recent concern about Russel and that he himself had urged the trip which had turned out so badly. He sighed heavily.

"I'll never be able to forgive myself if either one of the boys is hurt seriously."

"Hurt seriously?" The words brought the feeling of panic back to Elise.

After a moment she said uncertainly, "You mustn't blame yourself for that, you know. You meant it for the best."

Arthur Condon looked at her thoughtfully. "I've sometimes thought, Elise, that Russel is in love with you. Now, I don't mean to pry—it's your affair and his, but I want you to know that nothing would make me happier than to have you and Russel marry."

This on top of her sudden and shattering realization that it was Red McFan she loved instead of Russel was more than Elise could stand. It was all she could do to hold back hysterical tears.

"Mr. Condon—please—please—"

Of course he misunderstood her reaction.

"There—there—" he said condescendingly. "I shouldn't have talked about it now. I know you're worried."

If he really knew the truth, Elise had thought in stony despair. Two weeks and now staring up at the calendar, thinking back into the unhappy wretched days and hours that had passed, the same contradictory regrets and wishes were still spinning through her mind as they had that morning.

If she only loved Russel and was worthy of the approval of his father. If only she hadn't fallen in love with Red McFan. If only she hadn't mailed the letter to Russel saying that she would marry him.

If... If... If...

Only with this difference; she knew now irrevocably that she had to accept things as they were. She had hurt Russel deeply once by refusing to marry him. She could not repeat it again, when she had actually given her promise.

YES, she was resigned to the necessity of going through with it... but that did not stop the ache in her heart, or the wild fluttering of forbidden ecstasy there when she thought what might have been if she had had the sense to face her real feeling about Red McFan in time.

Easy to realize now that she had been attracted to him physically from almost the first moment they met. She remembered the feeling she had had the night they first danced together. And the aching pity she had known the evening Russel and she had found Red drunk in Tonelli's after Jackie had thrown him over.

But she had been too proud and too snobbish to face it then. Trying to fool herself into thinking that she hated and despised him and resented his presence. The resentment at least had been real, an instinctive resentment because he had so easily upset the plan of her life. But what a thin disguise her constant quarreling with him had been for the wild love beating in her heart.

For she loved him the way she had dreamed of loving Russel... the way she had wanted to love

Russel. With all the breathless palpitation and the passionate yearning which she had tried to tell herself in the sophisticated way of young moderns was just a myth-story writers had created for their own purposes.

Over and over these thoughts churned in an endless circle until at moments she thought she would go off the deep end.

At lunch time she moped into the women's room that opened off the laboratory. In the mirror above the lavatory she saw her face pale and sallow looking from loss of sleep, with great dark circles under her eyes, and was so miserable she didn't care how she looked. Which was very bad indeed. Listlessly she applied a little lipstick and turned away from the mirror.

She wasn't hungry; she didn't want to eat. She knew if she went into the cafeteria the smell of the food would only nauseate her. And she was too restless to stretch out on the couch and rest.

Suddenly she remembered a roll of pictures she had left at a camera shop to be developed. They had probably been ready days before, but she had forgotten about them. She'd go by and get them. It would be something to do.

The snapshots as she had expected were ready for her. She looked at them on her way back to the laboratory on the bus.

There were several good pictures among them. One of herself smiling straight into the camera. And another of Russel.

Elise looked at that one a long time. His fair hair brushed back from a straight meticulous part on one side of his head, his deep-set thoughtful eyes, the thin lean planes of his face.

She looked at it and sighed and wondered for the millionth time why she hadn't fallen in love with him instead of Red McFan. Russel was everything most women would want.

She took the pictures back to the laboratory with her and tossed them into the drawer of her work table and forgot about them.

Something happened that afternoon that put them completely out of her mind.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY America's Card Authority (Written for NEA Service)

When a hand is over at rubber bridge most people forget what the other players held, and therefore they cannot have an intelligent and interesting discussion about it. In tournament bridge the hands are preserved. After the game a player can discuss them with the other players, get their opinions and form his own. The standard, accepted principles of the game have been established as the result of discussions of tournament hands.

In today's hand, for example, many players would make the mistake of opening the eight of spades, a singleton, hoping to get a ruff. But tournament players do not.

will tell you that when you hold four of the opponent's trump, you should attack with your longest suit, hoping that the declarer will be short in that suit and that you can ruff him down.

With a spade opening, declarer can win it, pick up the trumps, and lose only a club, a diamond and a spade.

If a diamond is opened, he has to ruff the second diamond, make four leads in hearts to pick up West's trumps, and the club suit has not been established. Thus the contract is defeated.

While it is true that opening a singleton with four trumps will be a winner occasionally, the generally accepted principle is, attack with your longest suit when holding four or more of the opponent's trumps.

Broncho Steam Roller Beats Bulldogs, 55-0

By TANNER LAINE

The mighty Odessa Bronchos came abucking here Thursday, were met and held in check for one quarter to a half by a fighting patched-up Midland team of Bulldogs, then stampeded for a steam-roller 55-0 victory, clearing the last District 3-AA hurdle and heading for the state playoff. The game was played in perfect weather before 5,000 holiday fans bulging the stadium for this annual classic.

Midland fought Odessa savagely and on equal terms until midway of the first quarter. A sliding line defensive was working well against the Broncho T-formation. The visitors got the first tally when Hayden Fry, quarterback found Bill Moorman, end, over the goal-line with a pass from 15 yards away. Byron (Santone) Townsend, bidding for all-state, kicked extra point. The drive for touchdown began on the Midland 47 after a punt, partially blocked and rolling to that point. Neither side could go very far or fast and the first quarter ended, 7-0.

The Bronchos notched two touchdowns in the second quarter. They set up the first one with a prodigious pass from Townsend to Bobby Moorman, end, complete for 57 yards and carrying to the Midland two. Townsend faded back and uncocked the long heave like a baseball to the Twin, who had worked behind the safety man of Midland. Fry got one yard. Pug Gabrel then his center for the tally. Townsend converted.

21-0 at Half
Here came the Bronchos again, driving from their own 26 after a punt. Sonny Holderman bolted over for a touchdown from two yards away. Townsend again converted to make it 21-0 at the half.

Odessa went wild in the third quarter as Midland's game lightweights tired from the battle and the green backfield started fumbling. Townsend found a gaping hole and scored from four yards out early in the quarter after a 35-yard drive following a Midland fumble. Santone placekicked extra point. Another Midland fumble, which Odessa recovered on the Midland 25, set up the next Broncho touchdown. Townsend made it after taking a lateral from Fry and galloping 25 yards stumbling over for the marker. This big Townsend again booted another extra point. It was then, Odessa 35, Midland 0.

Fumbles and Scores
Still in the third, Midland fumbled and Odessa recovered on the Midland 24. A reserve-studded Odessa team drove to the one-half yard line from where Hall tore into the line for a score. Patterson cut the uprights for point. This was not enough. Odessa scored again when Tyler, back, intercepted a Midland pass on the Midland 22 and ran over a score. Patterson kicked extra point making it, 49-0, going into the fourth.

Odessa's fourth quarter tally came when Patterson took a backward pass and galloped 44 yards for a touchdown. Patterson's boot was wide and it ended, 55-0.

Three Schoolboy Teams Upset Grid Card, Beat Foes, Take District Titles

By The Associated Press

Upsets and indignation walked hand-in-hand with traditional grudge games Thursday as Texas high school football teams celebrated Thanksgiving Day before record-breaking crowds.

The upsets came when Wichita Falls, Denison, and Tyler walloped and edged favored opponents to annex district titles.

No sooner had the final whistle sounded than bid-district game sites were de-

Cornell, Colgate and Texas Presented Going Away Game To Coaches

NEW YORK (AP)—Cornell, Colgate and Texas made the departures of their coaches memorable occasions in closing their 1946 football schedules Thanksgiving Day.

While Cornell's Big Red loss to Penn at Philadelphia, 20-20, after scaring the daylight out of the Quakers, the game was one that Ed McKeever, who is leaving Ithaca after two seasons, can point to with pride. By losing, Cornell lost the mythical Ivy League title. The championship goes to Yale which has a 4-1-1 record.

The venerable Dana X. Bible with a going-away gift in a 24-7 victory over Texas A&M. Bible, who steps out of the coaching ranks after 34 years, saw his team—rated No. 1 in the nation in mid-October—salvage a third place in the Southwestern Conference standings after an in-and-out season.

Andy Kerr's Colgate Red Raiders came through in storibook fashion to make his exit from the grid picture a pleasurable one. The Raiders were trailing Brown 7-0 going into the third period. Between halves Kerr pleaded with his charges to go out and get three touchdowns. They did just that and won 20-14.

TANNER LAINE

The Midland High School Bulldogs came to the end of the 1946 football trail Thursday, a lane which beset them with hard luck at the finish. And this is what Coach Barnes Milam had to say: "I like the Midland spirit. My corps of assistants and I want to express our sincere thanks to you supporters. It is the best. You sincerely back your boys and that inspires us o thank you and to be resolved to make men out of these boys as well as winning. Thanks from our hearts."

Bids On Winkler Hospital Postponed

KERMIT—In response to requests from some of the general contractors who are preparing to submit bids on construction of more than $300,000 worth of Winkler County hospital facilities, opening date of bids has been changed from Friday, November 29, to Tuesday, December 3, at 2 p. m., J. B. Salmon, county judge, has announced.

Contractors reported they are working on a very short time schedule, and that since Thursday, day before contracts were to be awarded, was a holiday, this would make it impossible to complete bids by Friday.

Architects for the building have informed Judge Salmon that ten sets of plans have been taken out by general contractors.

Winkler County commissioners will meet in regular session Friday and then recess until the following Tuesday.
