Royal Jewels Worth $2,000,000 Disappear

U. S. Investigators Launch Treasure Hunt In Berlin

By EDWIN SHANKE
BERLIN —(P)— The vanishing jewels of German Royalty lured American investigators on a $2,000,000 treasure hunt Saturday night through a bizarre maze that already has involved a dozen nationalities in Berlin's underworld and promises to lead to an international incident.

German Prince Ferdinand Von Schoenaich-Carolath told interviewers he and his wife had submitted to truth serum tests to satisfy investigators of the accuracy of his story that the jewels belong to his mother, Princess Hermine, the late widow of Germany's last kaiser, had mysteriously disappeared from a trunk in the house of an American friend where he had kept $5,000,000 of the German royal treasure. A woman emissary, he said, had "risked her neck" to smuggle the jewels from his mother's apartment at Frankfurt-on-Oder in the Russian zone, where she died Thursday, into the American sector of Berlin.

To Address Lions

Price Daniel, attorney general of Texas, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Midland Lions Club Wednesday noon in the Crystal Ballroom of the Schaefer Hotel. The "Tidelands Question" will be the subject of his address. Members of other civic and service clubs and of the Midland Bar Association are invited to attend. James L. Daugherty, Lions president, will preside. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel will arrive here Wednesday morning and will spend the night before going to Monahans Thursday. He will be the guest of the Midland Bar Association at a meeting Wednesday night.

Reds May Make Demand

American quarters said the disappearance of Princess Hermine's jewels had the possibility of international complications because they had been smuggled from the Russian zone and the Russians might demand the rest of the treasure be returned.

The remaining 66 pieces have been deposited under U. S. guard in Frankfurt-on-Main, American headquarters city in Germany.

No Americans Involved

"We are stymied," said O. R. Carlucci of Bloomfield, N. J., head of the American investigators. "The one fact we have established is that no Americans are involved. Our report is now being prepared for higher authorities."

All I could tell the investigators, the prince said, "was that there were two keys to the trunk and I always kept both of them with me on a single string. One day, between morning and night, I lost one of those keys out of the brief case I was carrying with me and that night I noticed that 29 of the best pieces were gone."

The woman emissary, whom police refused to name, brought the jewelry to Berlin in a valise so it could be sold and the proceeds invested, the prince said.

The stuff was dumped out on the bed in the prince's apartment in the American sector. He took a hasty inventory and then stuffed it in the trunk with old clothes piled on top.

Then the prince got uneasy when he thought he was being shadowed. He moved in first with one friend and another, and finally into the apartment of his American friend, Michel G. Stecherblime, of New York City, a former special investigator for the Criminal Investigation Department and now an American-Russian liaison officer.

The biggest treasure hunt since the Hesse crown jewel case at Kronberg Castle got underway when the Americans were called in and found the trunk unopened and full of the jewels in a small case dumped on the table in the prince's room. Also missing was 75,000 marks ($7,500) in cash, part of the proceeds from the sale of a necklace.

Britain To Keep Troops In Greece

WASHINGTON —(P)— Great Britain was reported by diplomatic authorities Saturday to have reassured the United States that British troops will not be pulled hastily out of Greece, despite earlier plans to withdraw them by Autumn. The British force now there numbers only about 6,000 men, but both American and British officials regard the presence of this group as a stabilizing factor in Greece.

Hope To Prevent Crisis

Fresh rumors that it would be withdrawn as part of Britain's economy program were described authoritatively here as at least partly responsible for an increase in popular jitters in Greece recently.

Other upsetting influences include the Russian veto last month of the American proposal to create a United Nations Greek border commission and persistent rumors that Greece's communist neighbor states have some sort of international brigade ready to go into action at the proper moment.

Claims Staked Reputation On Giant Airplane

WASHINGTON —(P)— Howard Hughes told Senate investigators Saturday he began spending for entertainment when he got confidential word that Army officers considered him a "stuck up" rich man who wouldn't "kow-tow."

Also, the millionaire plane designer, manufacturer and flier solemnly testified he would leave the country for good if his giant, much-criticized cargo plane fails to fly.

"I put the sweat of my life in this thing," Hughes told a war investigating subcommittee. "My reputation is rolled up in it."

"I have stated several times if it is a failure, I would leave this country and never come back. And I mean that."

Hughes said he could not guarantee the plane would fly or that it would be a success, but he only hoped it would. But he said the criticism of the project and of the money spent on it was "unjustified."

The subcommittee is investigating the wartime contract the government gave Hughes and Industrialist Henry J. Kaiser for the aerial cargo craft—the world's largest plane. It also is looking into Hughes' contract during the war for photographic reconnaissance planes.

None Were Delivered
None of either was delivered while the fighting was on. The committee wants to know why.

Hughes gave another installment on his story Saturday, along with a lecture on aeronautics.

Saturday's installment went again into expense accounts for entertainment charged to Hughes' company. Absent, however, was Hughes' publicity man John W. Meyer who has told of spending $164,000 in entertaining wartime officials and their companions. The committee is seeking elaboration from Meyer.

Hughes told the questioning Senator Ferguson (R-Mich), chairman of the subcommittee he had heard that army officers considered him a "stuck up" rich man who thought himself too good for them and sat "out in my backlitch in Hollywood instead of coming to Wright Field to kow-tow."

Wright Field, at Dayton, Ohio, is headquarters for the Army Air Force and Hughes, without giving any names, said "I was told of this in confidence in a Dayton Hotel, by one of the high-ranking officers at Wright Field."

Authorized Spending
Hughes said generals and officers all down the line "complained that I was a rich man and did not bother with them."

It was then, he said, he authorized spending for entertainment. "But in an almost hurt tone, he denied that any entertainment expenses were part of some $150,000 in costs for the flying boat which he said the government refused to allow."

Before the committee quit for the day—the hearing goes on again Monday—Hughes testified:

1. He "certainly" knows of no "fraud or corruption" on anyone's part in obtaining the contract for the 200-ton flying boat.

2. "Hatred" of Army officers precluded (Continued on page 5)

Marshall Agrees To Meeting Soon On Ruhr Industry

WASHINGTON —(P)— The United States agreed Saturday to an early American-British meeting with France to receive and study French views on the Anglo-American plan for increasing industrial production in Western Germany.

The American action is considered a diplomatic triumph for French Foreign Minister Bidault who protested against the industry plan.

The U. S. agreement was disclosed by the State Department with release of a note from Secretary of State Marshall to Bidault. This note also disclosed that the American government is "prepared to receive and discuss the French views on management and control of the Ruhr coal mines with the French and British governments."

Near Agreement On Mines
The injection of the coal mine control issue into the negotiations with the French indicated that the United States and Britain are near agreement, if in fact they have not already reached an accord, on coal mine control.

The mines are in the British zone which was merged economically with the American zone early this year.

Saturday's development was the latest in a long series beginning in mid-July when reports from Berlin indicated that British and American zone authorities had reached substantial agreement on a plan to lift the level of German industry to approximately 11,000,000 or 12,000,000 tons of steel annually. Present steel output is less than half that.

The time and place of the meeting, the State Department said, will be announced later.

Baylor Professor Finds New Drug To Fight Tuberculosis

HOUSTON—(P)—Thanks to the sharp eye of a Baylor medical school professor and an almost discarded piece of glass, a new medicinal weapon is being forged in the search for a tuberculosis cure.

Several months ago, Dr. Edwin A. Johnson, 34, assistant professor of bacteriology and immunology, was examining some glass plates he was preparing to throw away. He had used them in cultivating molds from dust gathered in the school's laboratories.

In examining the plates, Johnson found a mold-like organism inhibiting the growth of another mold. The new substance seemed to be pushing the old mold off the culture plate.

Working on a theory that if an organism can prevent the growth of molds it can also halt the growth of tuberculosis germs, which are in the same general class as molds, Johnson went to work with his microscope and test tubes.

The result was the drug mycomycin, which, Johnson says, potentially is more effective than streptomycin, which has been described as a "wonder drug" in the treatment of tuberculosis and other diseases.

TEXAS WAGE EARNERS ARE DRAWING MORE MONEY

AUSTIN—(P)—The Texas Employment Commission Saturday reported that a million Texas wage earners have seen their weekly earnings jump from an average of $21.31 in 1939 to $44.72 in 1947.

Industrialization of the state during this time has been responsible for the increase in salaries, said the commission.

Voters Face Several Issues In August 23 Elections In Texas

AUSTIN—(P)—Texas voters will go to the polls August 23 in an election born as submission of a constitutional amendment, but which has grown to include six different issues.

The proposed change in the state's fundamental law to give state-supported colleges and universities a $30,000,000 building program over a period of 20 years remains as the only question to be submitted on a statewide basis.

But special congressional and legislative elections in four different districts and county road plan elections in at least 33 counties—all set for the same day to save money—have stimulated interest.

This is particularly true in the 16th Congressional District in far West Texas, where seven candidates are slugging it out, and in the 9th District of South Texas where nine congressional aspirants are in the field.

Expect Larger Vote

In State Senatorial District 18, there are three candidates. All of this is expected to result in a larger-than-average vote on the college building amendment. Submissions alone seldom produce more than 150,000 to 175,000 votes.

Here in brief is what will be voted on in the various elections Aug. 23:

1. Statewide—submission of college building amendments.
2. U. S. Congressional District 16—Special election to fill vacancy caused by resignation of Rep. R. E. Johnson of El Paso.
3. U. S. Congressional District 9—Special election to fill vacancy caused by death of Rep. Joseph Mansfield of Columbus.
4. State Senatorial District 18—Special election to fill vacancy caused by death of Rep. J. P. Fant of Jefferson.
6. In 33 counties and perhaps more—special election on whether or not these counties will adopt optional road law plan authorized by 50th Legislature.

Attempt To Smuggle Narcotics Into Texas Penitentiary Halted

DALLAS—(P)—An attempt to smuggle narcotics into the Texas State Penitentiary has been disclosed and an ex-convict and his wife were charged Saturday with illegal possession of narcotics.

Tommy English Bryant, 37, a paroled convict from the state penitentiary, and his wife, Nora Vivian Bryant, were charged before Justice of the Peace W. L. Sterrett.

Bryant was arrested Saturday in Madison, Wis., on the charge filed here. He waived extradition.

A raid on a farmhouse near Mesquite, Texas, resulted in the arrest of Mrs. Bryant.

Bryant was convicted here in 1941 for armed robbery and burglary and sentenced to 50 years in prison. County Identification Bureau records showed. He escaped from the penitentiary Oct. 8, 1941 but was recaptured in Memphis, Tenn.

He was tried in 1942 and given additional prison terms for robbery and burglary at Marlin and Odessa, and was paroled in 1943.

Record Sum Goes Into Texas Construction

AUSTIN—(P)—A record amount of money was poured into Texas construction in July, but steep prices still are retarding the building of homes, the Texas Contractor, weekly construction news magazine, reported Saturday.

"High prices are still the stumbling block holding back home building on a tremendous scale. It is hoped that production of materials will reach such proportions that prices will automatically come down within reason," the magazine said.

Total construction awards for July were $63,587,522. Almost half of this amount, $28,983,338, went for housing. July of last year the amount for housing was $15,365,217.

The breakdown of all construction for July 1947: residential, $28,983,338; non-residential, $26,004,621; and engineering, $8,599,563.

Ploeser Says Truman Took 'Easy Way Out'

WASHINGTON—(P)—Rep. Ploeser (R-Mo) chairman of the House Small Business Committee, declared Saturday President Truman took the "easy way out" in vetoing legislation to continue subsidies on copper, lead and zinc.

The President said in a statement he vetoed the bill because that while subsidies helped stimulate production of non-ferrous metals during the war, "no adequate reason is apparent for continuing" them now. He said market prices for copper and lead, for instance, are high enough so that subsidies

Henrietta Has High Temperature Of Week

HOUSTON—(P)—Texas weather took a strong swing toward the eastern half of the state this week as temperatures from the Red River to the Gulf Coast zoomed over the 100 mark for a prolonged stay.

Galveston and Pierce were the only stations of the eastern division of the Texas section of the U. S. Weather Bureau to fail to report temperatures of 100 degrees or higher during the seven-day period ending Saturday.

Most of the division, however, recorded 100 degrees or above on at least four of the seven days.

In the way of contrast, the western division, ranging from Alpine to El Paso to Amarillo, did not report a reading above 99 for the week.

Henrietta, with 110 Friday had the highest temperature reading of the week, while Muleshoe recorded a 59 last Sunday night for the week's low.

Humble's Deep Discovery In Crockett Flowed At Rate Of 360 BOPD, Natural

Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1 Mitcham, Northeast Crockett County Ellenburger wildcat, 14 miles northeast of Ozona, flowed oil at the rate of 360 barrels per day, natural, and is preparing to wash the producing formation with a small treatment of acid.

This production indicates that the project will be completed as a commercial oil well, and the discovery for a new deep field in Crockett County.

Located 810 feet from north and 660 feet from east lines of section 12, block AB, D&E survey, this development is 12 miles east and two miles south of the recently completed Sinclair Prairie Oil Company and The Atlantic Refining Company No. 1-66 University, another Ellenburger discovery.

The Humble wildcat is making its oil flow in perforated sections in the casing at 8,092-8,105 feet. Total depth of the hole is at 8,165 feet. The lower zone showed some water—but it is plugged off with cement.

The Sinclair and Atlantic No. 1-66 University, located 1,980 feet from north and east lines of section 30, block 46, University survey, completed for a natural daily flowing potential of 1,240 barrels of 46-gravity oil, from pay at 7,530-7,575 feet.

It has been assigned a temporary daily allowable of 112 barrels—exempt from shutdown days. The area surrounding it has been designated as the Midway Lane field.

Humble No. 1 Mitcham, washed perforated sections, listed above, with water. It kicked off and flowed at the rate of 15 barrels of oil per hour. The petroleum had an average shalokout of three-tenths of one per cent sediment and wash water. No formation water was shown.

The flow was through a one-quarter-inch tubing choke. Gas-oil ratio was 857-1. Corrected gravity was 41.7 degrees. Flowing tubing pressure was 190 pounds and flowing casing pressure was 710 pounds.

C. W. Brown of McCamey, is rigging up cable tools to drill his No. 1-C A. C. Hoover, at a 2,500-foot wildcat in West Crockett County, about two and one-half miles northwest of the Clara Couch field.

The hole will be 330 feet from east and 1,550 feet from north lines of section 2, block 1, G&SF survey.

SEABOARD GETS MORE SHOWS IN SE DAWSON DEEP TEST
Seaboard Oil Company of Delaware No. 6-A Robinson, Southeast Dawson County wildcat, about 15 miles southeast of Lamesa, 1,979 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 37, block 34, TP survey, T-5-N, and in the shallow Sprabery field, was coring below 7,132 feet in a lime, sand and shale formation.

A core at 7,125-37 feet recovered 10 feet of sand, with streaks of shale. There was a slight show of oil in the top one and one-half feet of the core.

A core at 7,137-52 feet, recovered four feet of sand and shale, with no shows; three feet of finely granular tight sand, saturated with light green oil, and six feet of sand, with shale streaks, and with no shows of oil.

seven miles southwest of Kermit, is reported to have spudded to 265 feet in redbeds and shale, and to have set 20-inch surface casing at 256 feet, with cement.

Operator is slated to drill plug and drill ahead early in the week.

OHIO SPOTS ELLENBURGER PROJECT IN FULLERTON
The Ohio Oil Company has filed an application with the Railroad Commission, requesting a permit to drill a semi-wildcat to test the Devonian and the Ellenburger on the west side of the Fullerton field, in Northwest Andrews County.

It will be Ohio No. 201 University, (3764), and is 985 feet from north and 660 feet from west lines of section 5, block 13, University survey. That puts it almost a mile south of nearest completed producers from the Ellenburger, in the Fullerton field.

The prospector is a twin to Ohio No. 1-A University, a producer from the regular Fullerton pay above 7,200 feet.

It will not attempt to produce from the section above 7,200 feet, but will dig to around 9,900 feet, but will finish as a dual-completion, if it finds commercial production in the Devonian and in the Ellenburger. Operations will start as soon as the permit is granted.

Operator is slated to drill plug and drill ahead early in the week.

ROWAN COMPLETES CLEAR FORK WELL IN TXL AREA
Rowan Drilling Company No. 6 J. E. Parker, on the south side of the TXL, multi-pay field, in West Ector County, 1,977 feet from north and 2,150 feet from west lines of section 40, block 45, TP survey, T-1-S, and a twin to an Ellenburger producer, has been potentialized as a flowing oil well from the TXL-Upper Clear Fork pay.

It made a 24-hour initial production of 434.94 barrels of 40-gravity oil, with gas-oil ratio 965-1, flowing through open two-inch tubing.

The pay at 5,220-5,634 feet, had been treated with a total of 20,000 gallons of acid.

HUMBLE STILL TRYING TO TEST SHALLOW OIL SHOWS
Humble No. 1-B J. E. Parker, 680 feet from north and west lines of section 2, block 45, TP survey, T-2-S, and about one and one-half miles south of nearest completed producer from the Clear Fork, in the south side of the TXL field, was making second attempt to set a packer, to the zone from about 5,757 feet, to total depth at 5,960 feet, can be treated with acid.

That interval developed 180 feet of oil and gas cut drilling mud, during a 75-minute drillstem test. Operator will inject the acid to try to make the zone yield oil in commercial quantities.

HUDESPETH PROSPECTOR IS MAKING SLOWLY
Seaboard and Shamrock Oil & Gas Company No. 1-C University, wildcat to 4,500 feet, in Northwest Hudspeth County, about 55 miles northeast of El Paso, and 1,884 feet from south and 1,786 feet from east lines of section 45, block C, University Lands survey, had reached 1,241 feet in hard, dry lime, and was drilling ahead with cable tools.

HUMBLE FOUND WATER IN ELLENBURGER IN REAGAN
Humble Oil & Refining Company No. 1-D Sawyer, East Reagan County prospector, about 14 miles northeast of Big Lake, and 660 feet from north and west lines of section 78, block 1, TP survey, had bottomed at 9,810 feet, in a limestone section, which has been identified by unofficial, but informed sources as being the upper zone of the Ellenburger.

A drillstem test at 9,765-9,810 feet, with the tool open two hours, recovered 280 feet of drilling mud and 6,920 feet of salt water. No shows of oil or gas were developed.

No official information on the top of the Ellenburger has been released. It is understood that operator plans to plug back to test shows of possible production up the hole. Location of those shows has not been learned.

TEXACO SWABS SOME OIL IN NW CRANE WILDCAT
The Texas Company No. 31 Connell, Northwest Crane County exploration, 1,977 feet from south and 662 feet from west lines of section 29, block B-16, psi survey, and two miles west of the shallow Jordan field, was swabbing to test on perforated section at 6,920-55 feet, in the Clear Fork-Permian, where a 1,000 gallon acid shot had been injected.

The well was swabbed to pits for seven hours, after the treatment. It was then turned to tanks, and in 13 hours swabbed 69 barrels of fluid, of which eight per cent was water. The remaining 92 per cent was supposed to have been new oil. Swabbing was continuing.

HOW HOCKLEY PROJECT IS TO CHECK SLIGHT SHOWS
George P. Livermore, Inc., No. 1 DeLoache-Texaco, Northwest Hockley County wildcat, about three miles northeast of Whiteface, and 440 feet from south and west lines of labor 24, league 78, Shackelford County School Land survey, was bottomed at 4,783 feet, in San Andres-Permian lime.

A string of 5 1/2-inch casing had been cemented at 4,765 feet. Operator will drill plug and make production tests on the open hole early

He's Telling 'Em

Bearded like a Biblical prophet, 66-year-old Shelby Ever Gragg, North Carolina preacher, points an accusing finger at a known bootlegger and sounds off about the evils of drinks. Elder Gragg was one of a number of religious speakers at the annual "Singing on the Mountain" festival at the base of Grandfather Mountain, Linville, N. C. Every year since 1924 mountain folk of North Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Kentucky and Georgia have gathered there by the thousands to sing and listen to music and oratory.

Devonian And Magnolia Are To Drill Wildcats In Northeast Lea Regions

HOBBS, N. M.—Locations for two wildcats to drill to between 5,100 feet and 5,900 feet, in Northeast Lea County were reported Saturday.

Devonian Oil Company No. 1 Santa Fe, in southeast corner of southwest quarter of section 10-9-37e, is scheduled to go to at least 5,100 feet to explore into the formation which was found productive, several months ago at the same concern's No. 1 Federal-Brown, about two and one-half miles to the southeast.

Drilling with rotary is to start immediately. The No. 1 Federal-Brown completed for a daily initial production of 148 barrels of oil from pay which had been drilled to a little below 5,000 feet. That discovery is not now being produced on account of lack of pipe line outlet.

Standalone Pipe Line Company is due to have a line in operation soon which will take oil from that well, and from any others which may be drilled in the region.

Will Go To 5,900 Feet
A few miles to the southwest of the new Devonian exploration, Magnolia Petroleum Company is to drill its No. 1-A Santa Fe-Pacific, to approximately 5,200 feet, to test into the San Andres-Permian.

It will be 660 feet from south and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 33-10-36e. Magnolia has a considerable block of leases surrounding the drillsite. Operations are due to get underway immediately.

Richfield Oil Corporation No. 1 Mullis unit, about 20 miles east of Lake Arthur, in Southeast Chaves County, and 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from west lines of section 21-15-29e, ran a 15-minute drillstem test at 11,900-965 feet, in Ellenburger dolomite which was topped at 11,762 feet on an elevation of 3,809 feet.

There was a light blow of air during the period. Recovery was 33 feet of drilling mud, with no shows of oil, gas or water. The Ellenburger formation has not yet logged any signs of petroleum.

The project is now making hole past 12,003 feet in the Ellenburger dolomite.

Conoco Project Continues
Continental Oil Company No. 1 Laikford, about one and one-half miles northeast of Hagerman, in South-Central Chaves County, and 1,980 feet from east and 660 feet from south lines of section 24, block A-52, psi survey, had reached 9,714 feet and was drilling ahead in Simpson lime and shale.

Interested observers are expecting this project to enter the Ellenburger at any time.

MABEE GETS SOFT DRILLING IN HEYDRICK EXPLORATION
Guy Mabee Drilling Company No. 1 Heydrick, wildcat to 8,500 feet, in Southwest Andrews County, between the Martin and the Block 12 fields, and 980 feet from south and 660 feet from west lines of section 6, block A-41, psi survey, encountered soft drilling at 7,512 feet, in lower Permian lime.

Operator was making a little more hole. If the soft zone continues, a drillstem test likely will be run early in the week.

SW ECTOR PROSPECTOR IS STILL IN SIMPSON
Humble No. 1 Yarborough and Allen, Southwest Ector County prospector to test the Ellenburger, 660 feet from north and 1,980 feet from east lines of section 18, block B-14, psi survey, and seven miles west of the discovery well of the Penwell-Ellenburger field, had reached 10,340 feet, and was drilling ahead in Simpson lime and shale.

The project is contracted to 2,500 feet from south lines of section 2-14-26e, had penetrated past 4,850 feet and 5,900 feet, in Northeast Lea County were reported Saturday.

The exploration is contracted to drill to granite, unless it develops production before reaching that formation.

The Mud Pusher

MUD SCHOOL IS TO TREAT SPECIAL AREA PROBLEMS
—During the last half of the two-week Oil Well Drilling Mud School to be held in Midland from August 11 to 22, inclusive, special study will be made of mud problems which are peculiar to the Permian Basin.

—Men from the oil industry, who have had special experience and training in handling those problems, will lecture and lead discussions, during the class programs which will cover those problems.

—On August 18 the subject of the school will be "Factors Determining Mud Programs in the West Texas Area."

—"General Drilling Mud Costs," will be discussed during the August 19 sessions. That program will give information on open pits, closed pits, and the size and shape of mud pits. It will also include discussions of mud circulating systems and mud pumps.

—On August 20, the special subject for the school will be "Low Water Loss Muds, Wall Building Properties of the Muds," and a discussion of "Which Mud To Use in Coring."

—The last two days of the school, August 21 and 22—will be given to studies of, "Carrying And Lifting Capacity of Muds."

—This school, which is being sponsored by the American Association of Oilwell Drilling Contractors, The University of Texas, State Board of Vocational Education, will hold two classes each day, of Monday through Friday, of the two-weeks period. The morning class will be from 9 to 11:30 p. m., and the afternoon session will be from 2 to 4:30 p. m.

—Kye Trout will be in charge of the sessions which will be held in room 307 of the Midland High School building. Both classes will cover the same subjects.

—The West Texas Geological Society and the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, are cooperating with the program, through special committees.

OSSC EXECUTIVE HAS MOVED TO MIDLAND
I. Dee Campbell, executive vice president of the Oil States Supply Company, is a new resident of Midland. He is presently at Hotel Scharbauer, but is trying to secure a house or an apartment, so he can bring his family here.

—He came from Fort Worth, where general offices of the company have been located. Those offices have been closed and the office work of the concern will now be handled out of the concern's Permian Basin store at Odessa.

—Charles Garrison has recently joined Oil States Supply Company and is now manager of the Odessa store, Campbell reported. Garrison has previously been connected with another oil field supply company.

SINCLAIR TO PAY SPECIAL NEW MEXICO CRUDE TAX
—Increased revenue for Eddy and Lea Counties, New Mexico, oil producers will result from an announcement Saturday by Sinclair Prairie Oil Company, one of the larger purchasers of crude oil produced in Southeast New Mexico fields, that it will absorb the two per cent "emergency school tax," assessed on oil processed outside the state.

The Midland Permian Basin headquarters of the crude marketing division of the Sinclair Prairie stated that, effective August 1, 1947, and until further notice, the firm will pay the privilege tax of two per cent levied by Section 76-1404 New Mexico Statutes 1941, on oil purchased by it, and will not exercise its right to deduct the amount of the tax from the amount due the owner, or holder of the taxable interest, for the oil so purchased.

—Sinclair Prairie currently is buying more than 22,000 barrels a day of New Mexico crude.

AIMES WILL MEET AT ODESSA AT 6 P. M. MONDAY AFTERNOON
—A paper covering the history, geology and reservoir characteristics of the various pay sections of the TXL field in Ector County, will be presented at the monthly meeting of the Permian Basin Chapter of the American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, at 6 p. m., Monday at the Ector County Park, in Odessa.

—C. D. Cantrell, Jr., of the Midland district geological department of Phillips Petroleum Company, will be the speaker. He will use several slide pictures to illustrate the paper.

—Following the program, a fellowship hour will be held, and a barbecue dinner will be served by the Odessa Chuck Wagon Gang.

SHELL DEPARTMENT IS IN NEW OFFICE LOCATION
—Shell Oil Company's treasury department for the Midland area headquarters of that concern is now located in the Dunagan Building at 605 West Missouri.

—The organization is occupying 5,000 feet of floor space in that location.

—That office handles practically all feet. Operators will drill ahead to that level. If the zones, from the current level of operations, to 2,500 feet, do not show better possibilities of production than those logged in the 1,635-1,900 foot interval, that horizon will be shot with nitro glycerin and an attempt made to complete the well as a commercial producer, and a discovery from that section.

financial disbursements made by the company for all of its operations in the territory included in the Midland area.

In a few nights it will be here, folks, the 1947 football season. Yeah man, and mighty welcome indeed is King Football.

Coch Barnes (Foot) Milam ain't gonna like this but we say with a little bit of luck, and IF quarterbacking, centering, and end play, come through—watch out for the Bulldogs in 3-A.

The Purple will be bigger this fall than in several seasons. Midland will be unseeing from the T-formation this campaign. Odessa and Abilene have the favorite's seats. That suits Midland just fine. No pressure! And we have everything to gain.

We will be glad to be in that press box come September than we ever have in our life. A fighting, 1947 Bulldog machine is one of the reasons.

We said the '47 Bulldogs were bigger. Here is how the blue-ribbon lineup probably will show (with weights): Ken Goode (160) and Fred Dunn (170), ends; Donald Deal (180) and Howard Bennett (185), tackles; John Scrogins (200) and R. A. (Bill) Whitson (170), guards; Charlie Monerief (155), center; Al German (150), Cecil Stephens (140), Bill Little (180), Danny Goode (160), David Hyatt (180), backs.

Thank you, fans, for your kind words about our piece directed at Howard Green, president of the Longhorn League. We are in receipt of a nice letter from Green in which he promises to visit Midland. That is what we wanted. And when he comes we will have gotten what we shot at. Our blast at Green brought in more ams than any production from this typewriter in a long time. Maybe we ought to go in for fire and thunder more often. And when they don't treat Midland right, we will.

A job "well done" was done in Midland this summer by our high school and other associated schools. This was the summer recreation program of 1947. A report of it shows: enrollment totaled 420 whites and 113 negroes for a total of 533 youngsters; average daily attendance for whites was 115, for colored 53. The swimming program was most successful.

Last summer the enrollment was only 203 with average daily attendance of 40.

The average age of youngsters participating was 10 years.

Recommendations for next year are: stress on the morning play. More playground space and equipment is needed.

The director, Barnes Milam, wishes to thank the City Council for its use of the swimming pool.

It is a doggone shame that a bunch of Midland kids had to band together themselves and form a baseball team this summer. This

TAAF Softball Finals Set For 4:45 Sunday

Dowell Incorporated of Midland and Big Spring Hardware will meet at 4:45 p. m. Sunday in the Midland Softball Park in the finals of the TAAF district softball tournament.

Saturday night in the semi-finals, Dowell won over Moore Brothers of Odessa, 6-5, in extra inning play.

Big Spring Hardware eliminated the Pyote Rattlers, 8 to 3.

Dowell had a battle with the Odessa nine. Rylee got a single in the last of the eighth and stretched it into a run on the leftfielder's error. Garrison struck out 16 Moores, two of them in the last of the eighth inning when a desperate crisis was on.

The state TAAF headquarters upheld a protest by the Pyote Rattlers that Wink All-Stars used two ineligible players when the Winkers bowled the Rattlers, 15 to 3. So the game went to Pyote, 1-0.

In quarterfinals Friday night, Big Spring Hardware romped on Sandhills Gulf, 9 to 1, and orange-suitied Dowell Incorporated of Midland bested Mackey Motors of Midland, 7 to 1, with Pete Garrison twirling one-hit ball. The Dowells played errorlessly.

Early round scores (tabbing advancement): Big Spring Hardware 4, Midland JayCees 1; Sandhills Gulf 9, Kermit All-Stars 0; Wink All-Stars 8, Roberson Sinclair of Midland 5; Pyote Rattlers 9, Rocky Ford of Midland 5; Shell Oil of Midland 16, Stanton Webb Grocery 1; Moore Brothers of Odessa 4, Crane VFW 1; Mackey Motors of Midland 7, Shell Oil Notes 3; Dowell of Midland 7, Odessa Stanton 4; Moore Brothers 3, Shell Oil of Midland 2; Wink All-Stars 15, Pyote Rattlers 3 (contested).

South Dakota Has 111-Degree Heat

By The Associated Press
One hundred degree plus heat returned to a wide area of the sun-seared Midwest Saturday and weather forecasters said no "real relief" in rain or substantially cooler air was in sight.

The new heat wave worked eastward from Montana and the Southern Great Plains states bringing temperatures in excess of 100 degrees to South Dakota, Missouri, Nebraska and Western Iowa. Temperatures up to 100 degrees were forecast for the Great Lakes area by Monday.

Pierre, S. D., was one of the hottest places on the weather map with a 111-degree reading.

Forecasters said a brief cooling off would take place Monday in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota and bring temporary relief to most of the Midwest by Tuesday night. However, they predicted temperatures would start rising again two or three days later.

A baby was born in a hospital in continental United States on the average of every 15 seconds during 1946.

A. & M. Board Approves Two Big Projects

LUFKIN—(P)—The board of directors of Texas A&M College meeting here Saturday approved two projects which would give the college 24,500 acres of government land for experimental farm work.

A contract for the Blue Bonnet Ordinance Plant at McGregor was approved. This involved 16,000 acres. The other was a recommendation that a contract for the Pantex project near Amarillo be signed if Texas Tech fails to secure a significant lease soon for the 8,500-acre tract.

Indians Drop To Dusters

Vernon was stronger at the hitting and pitching and the Dusters beat the Midland Indians, 10 to 5, Friday night.

It looked as if Midland might slay Vernon. Henry and Eddie McIlillo, first two Indians up, hit consecutive doubles. Then Jim Prince snapped out his 30th home run of the season.

But Ernie Nelson, seeking his 20th pitching victory of the season, didn't have his stuff and the Dusters got increasingly rougher.

The two centerfielders furnished the thrills of the night. Smith of Vernon made a beautiful catch of Henry McIlillo's blast in the ninth inning. Smith just flat robbed McIlillo with a one-handed spear of the ball against the scoreboard.

Arnold Davis of Midland came thundering in earlier in the ninth to take a ball that in normal conditions was a certain Texas Leaguer hit. Davis then fired the ball to first and caught off a runner for a pretty double play.

It was almost an impossible catch and a great throw-in.

Henry McIlillo hit a home run for Midland in the sixth frame. Simon of Vernon hit one in the eighth with two mates aboard.

Chapetta, Duster outfielder, got five hits for five trips.

South's Gridders Win At El Paso

EL PASO—(P)—The South licked the North 27-7 Friday night in the All-Star football game of the Texas Coaching School.

A crowd of 8,000 watched the players from the lower districts of the Texas interscholastic league whip their upper bracket foes in thorough fashion as Kyle Rote of Thomas Jefferson (San Antonio), Sonny Wyatt of Austin and James Mott of Lufkin carried the brunt of the offense.

The South won with a 27 to 7 score. We have an ideal set-up as far as reporting the game is concerned. Having watched both teams work out all week, then come home, listen to the game over the radio, read reports of the game, then write our story. Wouldn't that be a gravy train for a sports writer. Always right because hind-thought is better than fore-thought, always.

The rail birds predicted all week that the North had the best line, and the South had the best backs. . . and favors went to the South club because they were running strictly from a T-formation which is easier to build an offense in four days' time.

The North scored first and at the half-time the score was 7 to 7, and the North had a slight advantage. But the second half was all in favor of the South where speed in the backfield turned the trick.

Kyle Rote, the great Thomas Jefferson back, showed the coaches that he was all-state and no mistake. The boys from this section showed up well. Billy Moorman, Herman Foster, Steve Dowden, Hayden Fry from Odessa were starters for the North. Dornan Barton, of Ft. Stockton; John Medanich, of Pecos; and Abe Lincoln, of Sweetwater. . . all were on the North starting line-up, also.

All in all it was a great coaching school. Over 900 coaches registered from Texas and visiting states. Probably the largest attendance of any coaching school ever held anywhere.

Canadian Champion Is Held In New Orleans

NEW ORLEANS —(P)—Johnny Greco, Canadian welterweight champion, his manager, Frankie Doyle, and his trainer, Mickey Genaro were arrested Saturday after they allegedly struck fight promoter Louis Messina who, Friday night, entered the ring during the tenth round of a fight between Greco and Cosby Linson.

Messina, whose license was revoked by the State Boxing Commission pending investigation of his unauthorized entrance into the ring, said the trio attacked him on the street here and charged him with saving Linson from "a sure knockout."

Messina jumped into the ring in the 10th round Friday night and separated the fighters, gesticulating wildly and pointing to Linson's cut eye. Police waded him from the ring and the fight continued, with Linson winning a unanimous decision.

The 111-degree mark, hottest reported in the state, was set at Killgore.

Most of Texas sweltered in temperatures 100 degrees or above.

Kiwanians Deplore North Carolina Event

CHICAGO —(P)—Trustees of Kiwanis International declaring the Ahoskie, N. C. Kiwanis Club "erred in failing to deliver" a Cadillac automobile "doorprize" to a negro winner last month, Saturday formally "deplored" the Ahoskie Club's "conduct in violating Kiwanis policy."

The trustees also urged the next Kiwanis International convention to outlaw any Kiwanis-sponsored "raffles, lotteries of similar games of chance."

Herman Keiser Clings To Lead

SPOKANE, WASH.—(P)—Gaunt Herman Keiser of Pontiac, Mich., fired an even-par 70 to cling by a single stroke to the lead in the third round of the $10,000 Esmeralda Open Golf Tournament at the Indian Canyon course.

Dusty winds and a sudden rain combined to put the par smashers off their game.

Ed Furgol of Pontiac, Mich., who has chopped steadily at the Keiser advantage, had a 69 to take over second place with 205 for the 54 holes. One day of play remains in the chase for the $2,000 top money.

Ellsworth Vines of Los Angeles matched the Furgol 69 and Ben Hogan of Hershey, Pa., had even par, the two of them sharing third spot one blow back of Furgol.

Keiser and Furgol apparently had the inside track to top cash in Sunday's final round on the strength of their steady play to date.

Forest And Pasture Fires Are Reported

Forest and pasture fires swept sections of Texas Saturday as a heat wave, which contributed to the fire danger, jumped to the 111 degree mark in at least one place.

A forest fire was burning eastward from Elysian Fields, Texas, Saturday night. Starting Friday night, it already had destroyed a farm dwelling. Another forest fire burned 200 acres north of Marshall Saturday afternoon, endangering a suburban residential area. The commissioners' court of Harrison County declared the fire situation an emergency.

A pasture fire in the Wichita Falls-Iowa Park-Electra area had burned 1,600 acres by Saturday night and still was burning.

A number of fires were spotted near Jacksonville.

The 111-degree mark, hottest reported in the state, was set at Killgore.

Most of Texas sweltered in temperatures 100 degrees or above.

Large Cotton Crop Predicted For Texas

AUSTIN —(P)—Texas cotton farmers can anticipate the largest crop this state has had since 1940, the United States Department of Agriculture said Saturday.

The USDA's crop reporting board said, as of Aug. 1 3,200,000 bales of 500 pounds gross weight would be produced in Texas.

This would mean almost double the production of last year, when farmers bemoaned a poor crop of 1,889,000 bales, and would be 6 per cent above the 10-year average from 1936 through 1945, of 3,021,000.

Acreage for harvest, allowing for average abandonment on the acreage in cultivation, will be approximately 8,156,000, up 36 per cent from last year.

A very large proportion of this increase came in the Northwest high plains counties.

"In the future," the officials said, "any dairyman found putting water in milk will be faced with the same penalty. All have been warned several times against such practices."

Four other dairymen and a milk distributor were granted a week's probation to see whether they will take necessary steps to obtain Grade A certificates. If they do not, they will be prohibited from continuing in business, the officials stated.

Health laws apply to groceries and meat markets, also. Dr. Sadler and Howard observed. Two meat markets here are on probation until their sterilizing equipment is improved and other sanitation practices adopted. In these markets, unwrapped meats were being displayed on counters, they said. Grocery owners have been cautioned especially to keep screen doors in good condition.

A man who was selling uninspected meat was stopped from doing so. All meats must be inspected—either federally, as in the case of major packing company products, or by a local veterinarian if the meat is produced here.

104-A Wilkinson Bldg. Phone 114 Many Cities And Counties In Texas Have Same Names

By JACK RUTLEDGE Associated Press Staff When we started giving the origin of names of Texas towns, we said early settlers had a tough time trying to find 4,000 names, all different.

Well, Mrs. Ida M. Darden of Austin proves just how confused they really got. The pioneers needed both city names, and county names. They'd name a city, and then later name a county by the same name.

But in most cases, the county and city would be widely separated.

For example, there is a Henderson County, and a city of Henderson. But the city of Henderson is not the county seat of Henderson County. Henderson is the county seat of Rusk County, and Athens is the county seat of Henderson County.

Towns In Two Counties Austin is the state capital, and the county seat of Travis County. But Austin was too good a name to use just once and forget, so they named a county that, too—Austin county, whose county seat is Belleville.

Mrs. Darden lists these names, which are both county seats and counties, but which are not in the same area at all: Houston, Cameron, Caldwell, Bowie, Pecos, Kenedy, Taylor, Franklin, Anderson, Tyler, Terrell, Aransas, etc.

She could have listed Texarkana, too, which is not only in two counties, but in two states—Texas and Arkansas.

Diamonds are found in shades of green, pink, deep blue, brown and even black.

Florida Governor Says Advertising Will Pay Texas

AUSTIN—(AP)—The tourist trade brings $600,000,000 a year into Florida, and the governor of that state thinks Texas is missing a good bet by not advertising its attractions more.

"You have so many things to offer so many people," said Gov. Millard F. Caldwell on his recent visit to Gov. Beauford H. Jester, urging Texas to put a little state money into advertising.

The tall, lean and handsome chief executive said Florida spends $500,000 a year from its general revenue fund on advertising.

"While it is difficult to figure in dollars and cents just exactly what return we get from the investment, we have evidence that it is resulting in additions to our industrial and agricultural life," he explained.

"Our state advertising effort is to put forward the advantages of Florida for industry, agriculture and home ownership."

Florida, he went on, has had too much of the promotion type of advertising emphasizing bathing beauties and beach scenes.

"We are getting away from cheesecake—but not all the way away," he grinned. "Our ads go something like this: they show the beaches and beauties, saying this is one aspect of our state. Then they say: but there is another side. And then we present the more substantial picture."

"Florida was sold by promoters as a Utopia where wealth abounds and there is no work—just play and profit."

"There is no such place. We've got what it takes to make wealth, but it has to be dug for in Florida, as in Texas."

Numerous efforts have been made in recent years to pass legislation in Texas calling for state advertising. They have all failed, but advocates of the idea hope to try again at the next session of the legislature.

Poles Report Uncovering of Nazi War Crime

The photo above, received from official Polish sources, with caption material supplied by Polish authorities, shows members of a Soviet war crimes commission examining a collective grave of Russian prisoners of war. This is at Komarowo Camp, near Komarowo, Poland, and commission members said they found mass graves of 25,000 victims of the Nazis.

Air Freight Now Is Big Business

By S. BURTON HEATH NEW YORK — (NEA) — Air freight, which cut its teeth expediting the tools of war, has grown to big business in peace. And the strange things that people ship by air have built air freight into a lot of headaches the airlines never expected.

It would be impossible to name a commodity — from radioactive isotopes to very active ants — that isn't carried as routine by regular or charter airlines to and from every part of the world.

Air freight is probably the biggest reason why so many small, unscheduled airlines can operate in competition with the big, regularly-scheduled carriers. And it has created a number of small but busy air freight forwarding companies who take over when somebody wants to ship a horse or a house, and follow through.

Go After Business These forwarders own no planes, but do all the leg-work necessary between the shipper and the airlines, charter or regular. They are going after a business which, before the war, was handled almost entirely by the Air Express division of Railway Express Agency, but most of them have their eyes on merely a specialized share of this business.

Typical is Stark Air Shipping, Inc., a forwarding company headed by John S. Gorby. During the war, Gorby was air freight coordinator in the Central Pacific for the Naval Air Transport Service.

Among his problems were expediting air shipment of smoke-pots to Okinawa, and flying fresh vegetables—cucumbers, corn, and even watermelons—from farms on Guam to the battling U. S. Marines on Iwo Jima.

A peace-time problem he had to meet recently was air freighting corpses—the bodies, often, of elderly Latin Americans who had come here for medical treatment, died, and are being returned for burial.

With the extra weight of a sealed outer metal box required by health regulations, it costs about $1,000 to return a body to Caracas, Venezuela, and more if it goes further south.

Right now he is handling a shipment of 10 Piper aircraft to Buenos Aires, a plane-within-a-plane shipment idea which Royal Dutch Airlines started between New York and Europe last month. The south-bound Pipers are flown to Miami, taken apart, and loaded in Pan-American DC-4s. The freight bill per plane is $2250, but the shippers feel the cost is outweighed by the time saved over ocean freight, which booms their competitive position.

American Overseas Airlines brought 48 race horses, 8 to the Kermit Officer Fined On Charge Of Assault

KERMIT—Sam Bynum, city police officer, was fined $100 and court costs in county court Wednesday by Judge J. B. Salmon on a charge of aggravated assault. Bynum pleaded guilty to the charge and waived trial by jury.

The charge resulted after Bynum arrested a man Saturday night for drunken driving, and then, according to testimony presented in a hearing Monday night before the City Commission, beat him with a blunt instrument after he had been handcuffed.

The man was fined $50 and costs, with a six-months suspension of his drivers license. He then filed the aggravated assault charge against Bynum.

Bynum was dismissed Tuesday by the City Commission and his companion police officer, Earl Wichter, resigned.

Largest Telescope In World Will Be Installed In Fall By RALPH DIGHTON PASADENA, CALIF.—(AP)—Some time this Fall the largest telescope in the world will begin probing the heavens for their secrets.

The telescope's 200-inch mirror, which is expected to bring into focus stars never before seen by man, is virtually ready to be placed in the 135-foot high revolving aluminum dome on top of Palomar Mountain.

The 200-ton instrument which will support and guide the mirror on its sweep of the universe is completed except for installation of certain control mechanisms.

For 19 years, the best brains of the world have labored to make this greatest dream of astrophysics come true. More than $6,000,000 have been expended. But one mishap could set the project back several years.

There is a big danger that the mirror could be overground. Polishing already is within less than a hair's breadth of perfection, but the final "figuring" goes on. Secondly, there are hazards in the necessity of trucking the mirror from here to the summit of 5,500-foot Palomar Mountain, 125 miles to the south.

If the mirror has been overground, or damaged in transit, replacement will require at least three years and perhaps longer.

After the mirror is installed in the observatory, there will follow another month or six weeks of testing instrument and glass together before construction crews turn the telescope over to astronomers.

Scientists are wary about setting dates, but sometime this Fall they expect to be able to see a billion light years out into space with the aid of the Palomar telescope.

They won't actually "see" stars through the scope, which is actually a gigantic camera. They will take pictures of stars mirrored in the aluminum-coated glass disk at the base of the telescope tube.

The observer, operating a camera 55 feet above the mirror, will be able to see little with his own eyes that he couldn't see through any other telescope.

But during all-night-long-exposures, the mirror will collect light focus it on the photographic plate. Only after the plate is developed will the observer know what the giant mirror, 1,000,000 times as keen as the human eye, has "seen" during the night as the telescope rotated on its axes.

The electrically driven telescope is geared to find any sector of the heavens at the push of a button. With the setting of certain dials, it will stay focused on that sector automatically, swinging from horizon to horizon between sundown and dawn.

Mathematicians have figured out that this neat little trick is like aiming a rifle at a moving 25-cent piece 25 miles away—and hitting it at will.

U. S. Girl Undergoes Hardships To Teach Poles About America WARSAW, POLAND—(AP)—A lone American girl, pretty 21-year-old Anne Waterman, who admits she "never had it so bad," is staying another year in war-ravaged Warsaw to teach Poles how to think and speak in the American way.

She's the youngest—and only American—teacher at Warsaw university where she instructs in English. She does that for one hour, at eight p. m. every Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

Her class is composed of pupils whose ages range from 16 to 60. The average is 23 years old. Sometimes, she has as many as 80 students. Other times, the figure drops to 10.

Miss Waterman says it's been a tough battle to put across her "program" in Soviet-backed Poland where there's much government-inspired anti-American feeling nowadays. But even if her university class occasionally dwindles, she always has a big list of persons who want private lessons. And many specifically request to learn what American slang expressions mean.

Miss Waterman is the stately-eyed, blonde, baby-faced daughter of Dr. Alan T. Waterman, of Washington, a scientific expert for the Navy department.

While in Washington, she said, a woman attached to the Polish embassy met her and told her of the great need for teachers in Warsaw.

She gave me a glorified picture but warned me to expect nothing in the way of comfort—only what was left," said Miss Waterman.

"But I had always been a party girl and I wanted to show my family that I could do something worthwhile. I sat out the whole war, studying at Vassar, with the exception of a little U.S.O. and hospital work.

"I went to the Polish embassy and they agreed to send me to Poland. That is, to accept me as a teacher, for I paid my own way over here. I left the United States in November, 1946.

Division Of Traffic Services Is Added By Highway Department

AUSTIN—(AP)—Creation of a division of traffic services combining traffic engineering, landscaping and road information branches of the State Highway Department was announced Saturday by State Highway Engineer D. C. Greer.

Fred T. Bennett, a native of Mexia, was named engineer of traffic services. He has been with the Highway Department 22 years.

"As we progress in our work of building safety into the highways, the activities of our traffic engineers assume a growing importance. Better condition of their functions with the field and main office will be possible under the division of traffic services," Greer said.

MIDLAND CAREER WOMEN—

Jane Marie Johnson: Geologist, Oil Man's Dream In One Package

Oil men, don't rush her too quickly—but five feet, one and one-third inches of streamlined figure, dark brown hair worn in a halo fluff, blue-gray eyes, a dynamic personality, a successful career, and a thorough understanding of her work—well, what else could you want in a geologist?

That is vivacious Jane Marie Johnson, who is one of the few women consulting geologists in Midland today. Arguing on the side of women's places in this career, Miss Johnson recognizes the fact that men still protest to resist women geologists, but she sees no justification for this protest, because she thinks "women are more conscientious and work at it harder."

Jane Marie Johnson

If Miss Johnson, herself, is an example of the career woman, we will uphold her argument, because even at the age of 28 she has shown that a little hard work can put a woman at the top of the career ladder.

She became interested in geology because her "whole family is in the oil business except mother." Not wishing to be a school teacher or study home economics, Jane just naturally turned to geological work. Having lived in Midland since she was a sophomore in Midland High, Jane couldn't keep herself from coming back here after attending the University of Texas. At first, she worked as a stenographer for various oil companies, including Gulf, Tidewater, and others. Then, she became a geologist because her father, H. Frank Johnson, wanted her to become one.

For seven years, Jane Marie has worked around Midland doing "a bit of everything" in the geological field—which included being a partner in the firm of Anderson, Huffman, and Johnson for three years. At present, she operates for individual oil men and her father from her own little office in her home, 911 West Missouri Street.

Miss Johnson "can't imagine being an independent oil operator," although geology is a step. She would just rather do "odd jobs for people who get in tight and need a geologist." And "everyday," Miss Johnson says, "people get in trouble and need me."

According to Jane, who is a member of the Midland Geological Society, "geology proves to be a good field for women, and they can work up to a good position if they are content to sit in offices, run samples, and work on maps. Some women may want to go out in the field," says this experienced geologist, "but if they do they don't want to go back."

Miss Johnson, of course, found "sitting on wells" exciting, but she also found that it is no place for a woman. "The most difficult thing," she says, "is approaching the man in the field and telling them that you are the geologist who has been sent out." Miss Johnson found during her several missions into the field (one of which lasted for three days and nights) that there are other little inconveniences—like having to sleep in your car, no wash-room facilities, and a scarcity of help when you have flat tires (similar to the time she had three on one trip).

Miss Johnson will continue to do work at her home this Summer, but she plans to open an office with a geologist friend soon.

That is what is meant by "dynamic." And she still has time to be a member of Beta Sigma Phi, read "mysteries," and play golf.

RETURN TO MIDLAND
Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Brotherton and son, Len, 403 North C Street, returned this week from a two-week's vacation in Colorado.

Kermit News

KERMIT—Mrs. J. H. Willford, of Odessa, is to present a review and discussion of the book "American Daughter" at the Methodist Church Monday night. Members of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the church are sponsoring the review. Invitations have been extended to many Kermit women to attend.

Mrs. Cullen Akins was honored recently with a farwell desert-bridge in the home of Mrs. W. E. Reneau. Mrs. Akins and two children are moving to Odessa where Mr. Akins is manager of William Cameron Lumber Company. He has been traveling between Kermit and Odessa several months while their new home in Odessa was being constructed.

Mrs. W. A. Langbien was hostess Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. C. H. Hickman, honoring Mrs. S. E. Burnett with a pink and blue shower, and bridge party.

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Burrows and son, Ken, are spending a few days vacationing and fishing at Red River in New Mexico.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Stovall and two daughters returned recently after a trip to Dallas. The Stovall's son, John, will remain in Edgewood until about September 1. They have been visiting Mrs. Stovall's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Farmer.

Three brothers of Kermit and their families are attending a family reunion this weekend on the Llano River, near Menard. Mr. and Mrs. Leon Rose and Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Rose left here Thursday morning and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Rose joined the group Friday. They are to return home Sunday.

Kathryn Everett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Gus Everett, was honored recently on her seventh birthday when her mother entertained a group of youngsters. A large, decorated birthday cake was served with ice cream to the children on the lawn.

A total of 37 Boy Scouts are scheduled to leave here Monday to attend a week camp at Camp Louis Farr, near San Angelo.

GIVES YOU "FOOD FOR THOUGHTS"

Perhaps the thing that gets you down most of all is ill health. So long as you are feeling well and have strength and stamina, you can take defeat and get up and try again. But when your head aches and you are dizzy, when you're weak and short of breath, when your stomach hurts badly and you're feeling quite depressed, when your back is tired and aching and your nerves won't let you sleep, you may feel that you're defeated and perhaps you'll want to weep.

But that is not the time to do it; never falter, never quit. Find the cause, have it corrected, and you'll soon be feeling fit.

Just as there is a key to your house, so Chiropractors say there is a key to your health. That key, they maintain, is the spine. This is true because the nervous system directs and controls all other systems and in turn is distributed from the spinal column.

Should an accident or fall sublaxate a vertebra, nerve trunks will be pinched. This lowers resistance and in time, ill health will be present—pain and a headache are usually the first warning.

Heed this warning as did the following cases. Consult a Chiropractor and soon he will set your house in order.

V. L. Case No. 12,110, Woman, Age 41 --

was nervous and had a peculiar deafness and head noises. She couldn't sleep, had indigestion and faulty elimination. There was also a tired, numb feeling in the neck and right arm. After suffering long and becoming almost despondent, Chiropractic was tried and wonderful results obtained.

V. L. Case No. 12,131, Man, Age 34 --

complained of headaches and a pain in the back that shifted from place to place. Elimination was poor, he was tired all the time and found it difficult to keep working. Someone told him to try Chiropractic, which he did and was soon feeling fine.

V. L. Case No. 11,750, Woman, Age 39 --

had severe headaches and pain in the back of her neck. She was very nervous, tired all the time, had pain under her right shoulder and in her chest. Elimination also was poor and she suffered considerably from indigestion. After giving other remedies a trial, she turned to Chiropractic and soon was well.

Skirting the News

By BEVERLY

"Make hay while the sun shines"—that is the dominant idea now, because seeing Fall suits and coats in department stores reminds us that Old Man Winter is just around the corner—and then gone will be the watermelon parties, the lawn buffet suppers, the swimming parties, and picnics that have been holding Midland society in their sway—and gone will be all of the enjoyable vacation trips that have kept people "swishing" in and out of our city.

TO AND FROM MIDLAND—Guests of the L. OTIS BAGGETTS were Mrs. Baggett's mother, MRS. J. C. BLOXOM, of CORPUS CHRISTI and a friend and former Midlander, little DICKSIE ANN GRIMES, of ALVIN, TEXAS. The DWIGHT W. McDONALDS and their children, JOAN and DWIGHT, have gone to CLEBURNE . . . and JOAN will go on from there to CHICAGO with her grandmother. . . . JUNE WALKER has returned to her HOUSTON home after a visit with the C. W. BEAUCHAMPS. . . . MR. and MRS. JOHN P. BUTLER have "taken to the mountains" of NEW MEXICO and COLORADO. . . . A visitor of the W. H. RHODES has been BETTY TRAMMELL of SWEETWATER. . . . GENE SHEL-BURNE, JR., has been here to see his parents, and BOB CAMPBELL has been visiting MR. and MRS. RICHARD JONES, SR. . . . We were happy to see CM/3 THOMAS N. DAVIS back from CHINA. . . . And little ELINOR DUNN of ACKERLY has been enjoying a visit with MR. and MRS. JEWEL RUSSELL. . . .

A gala event of the week was the chicken barbecue celebrating JAMES WALKER'S 20TH ANNIVERSARY WITH THE MIDLAND FIRE DEPARTMENT . . . and showing their appreciation for Mr. Walker's service (and MRS. WALKER'S, too) were many Midland notables, such as MAYOR R. H. GIFFORD, CITY MANAGER R. C. HOPPE, CITY SECRETARY J. C. HUDMAN, WATER SUPERINTENDENT A. B. COLE, CITY BOOKKEEPER LOTT WILLIAMS, AND ONE OF THE FIRST VOLUNTEER FIREMEN IN MIDLAND, W. B. STANDEFER. . . . Our BIRTHDAY GREETINGS go to a couple of little ones this week. . . . SUSAN VAN HAMLIN, four-year-old daughter of MR. and MRS. H. H. HAMLIN, and three-year-old JANA CLAYTON, daughter of MR. and MRS. DOYLE CLAYTON. . . . To another youngster (and a brave one at that) goes our wishes—wishes for a speedy recovery—to six-year-old MIKE JONES, son of MR. and MRS. LEEMAN L. JONES, who underwent surgery in a Big Spring hospital last week. . . . We are SORRY TO LOSE . . . MR and MRS. J. P. SHREEVES to LARAMIE, WYO., soon. . . . And the SUPERIOR OIL COMPANY here is particularly sorry to see Mr. Shreeves go, because he has been their production manager. . . . MEMO TO CONSCIENTIOUS COOKS: A "dash" of an ingredient called for in a recipe usually means less than 1/8 teaspoon, say home economists. . . . SURVEYS SHOW that most young men present their diamond engagement rings just before escorting a girl to a social affair. . . . GALA REOPENING GREETINGS to the studios of THE WATSON SCHOOL OF MUSIC, which open Monday. . . . CONGRATULATIONS TO: The 13 new members of the BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL WOMEN'S CLUB of Midland. . . . Vera Bartine, Gwynth Herring, Ann Graham, Caroline Keising, Mrs. Marie Patton, Mrs. Aline Smith, Clara Gabbert, Ruth French, Jo B. McNeal, Ada Russell, Mrs. C. H. Churchill, Marie Shoochman. . . . BEAUTY HINTS: A light, airy, and delicate perfume can help the stout woman put over the illusion of less bulk. The effect of a light fragrance when wafted about by the large woman, says perfumer Bernadine de Tuvache, is to make her seem daintier and more feminine. . . . Madame suggests comely scents to create an enveloping aura. . . . Suggested areas for application are shoulder pads, handkerchiefs, gloves, and inside of handbags.

Pioneer Announces New Flight Schedules

Pioneer Air Lines will begin new flight schedules Friday, August 15, to provide better service over the entire system and especially to give better connections at Pioneer's junction points and with other lines, C. R. Vandervoort, traffic manager here, said.

Service between Midland and other points will be unaffected, except that changes will be made in arrival and departure times of the six flights daily. Under the new schedule, the north-bound flight will leave Midland Air Terminal at 10:51 a. m.

the east-bound flights will leave at 7:40 a. m., 3:45 p. m. and 6:40 p. m.; south-bound flights (to Houston) will leave at 11:15 a. m. and 4:19 p. m.

The new timetable, besides providing for almost immediate connections at junction points, contains schedules which permit one-day round trips between Houston and Dallas and between Dallas and Fort Worth and West Texas points.

New operations also will add two new flights, one each way, between San Angelo and Amarillo.

With the Teen-Agers

The teen-agers who capture the limelight this week are the QVV's with their "rush parties" that began Tuesday morning when PATSY COLLINGS, JOAN LEE and BETTY McCAIN kidnaped prospective pledges for the QVV's Surprise Breakfast given by RITA DUNLAP at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Hanks, followed by a "coke" party given Tuesday afternoon for the prospects by JOY GUYTON. Cokes, cookies, and candies were served.

The table, which was covered with a white linen table cloth, held slices of cold ham, potato salad, fruit salad, ice cream, and cakes decorated in the club colors. The buffet held tea, nuts, and candies.

The week's activities culminated with a tea Friday given by BETTY McCAIN. Tea punch, sandwiches, cakes, and mints were served from a table covered with a white Irish linen cloth and centered with a fruit arrangement, with candles at each end.

GLARING SUNLIGHT REVEALS FAULTS

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Grooming faults that may pass unnoticed indoors will not escape so easily on a sunny beach. Here are two examples seen often enough in the glaring light of the sun to call for a few words of warning.
Take eyebrows plucked for cleaner outlines. A slight regrowth of stragglers might escape the notice of even the gimlet-eyed when you are indoors, but not so when the sun's powerful searchlight "picks up" the strays. If you're in the habit of plucking out brow hairs, better ply your tweezers before you go to the beach.

Take bleached or dyed hair. Made more glaring under the bright light of the sun is the dark line of demarcation between a girl's own hair-color and the artificial one she wears. Beachgoing time is not the time for her to skip her touch-ups, if she wants to keep her color-odge a secret.

Youthbuilders Work To Make A Better World

By ADELAIDE KERR
AP Newsfeatures Writer

Twenty-five youngsters of junior high school age were in the thick of a hot forum discussion in Public School 40 in the East Twenties, in New York. Ideas flew back and forth in volleys, as boys and girls, whose parents came from a dozen different countries, made their points.

The subject they had chosen for discussion that day back in 1938 was: Hitler's treatment of the Jews in Europe.

Gradually the youngsters became interested in the parallel between "ganging up" on some people in other countries and "ganging up" on some people in 20th Street in New York. Soon they were deep in a discussion of the neighborhood fights, which were numerous. They came to the conclusion that the fights were encouraged because their parents had brought old jealousies, hatreds and resentments with them from "the old country."

The youngsters decided there must be some kind of message which would reach their parents, so they decided to print a magazine "Listen, America, Now," playing the theme: If the United States is to be a strong country it must be united; there is plenty of room for different people.

This was born in 1938 the pattern for Youthbuilders, Inc.—a national organization now operating in New York, Philadelphia and Chicago in connection with public schools to teach youngsters the skills of group action and build them into responsible constructive citizens.

Sabra Holbrook, Youthbuilders' founder and head, had been searching for that pattern a long time. Mrs. Holbrook, young, fresh-cheeked and blue-eyed, was born the daughter of Robert Rollins, president of the Worcester, Mass., Electric Light Co. After graduation she served as a social worker in the Judge Baker Foundation of Boston, dealing with delinquent children.

After her marriage to a New York advertising man and after motherhood, she began to seek the answer. A friend introduced her to a New York school board member and William Jansen, then assistant superintendent and now superintendent of New York Public Schools, sent her into a junior high school to visit with the youngsters and find out what interested them. She reported that they did not want to be talked to; they wanted to do the talking and were bubbling with ideas. It was decided to bring some junior high school youngsters together for talk. So the forum was held in Public School 40 after school hours.

From that tentative beginning the project grew. The New York school board asked Mrs. Holbrook to train teachers and eventually selected special teachers to supervise their work. Today Youthbuilders is incorporated. Mrs. Holbrook and three other women give their services free to running the office. Last year Youthbuilders' work was carried on in 109 schools in New York, 25 in Philadelphia and ten in Chicago, as part of the school curriculum.

"Youthbuilders' work always follows the same pattern—discussion, investigation and action," Mrs. Holbrook explains. "The youngsters choose their own subjects. They generally choose something on a national or international level and then the discussion is brought back to their community."

Brides Attend Housekeeping School Set Up In 14th Century British Castle By Countess Of Devon

By BARBARA WACE
LONDON.—(P)—A domestic science school where debutantes can learn to cook and scrub has just been started in an historic 14th Century castle by the Countess of Devon.

"I think it so important that girls from abroad should mix with our girls and get to know each other in a simple home with a really good foundation and background," said the Countess of Devon, whose husband's earldom goes back to 1553. "I hope very much we'll get some girls both from the United States and from the Dominions."

Only 25 girls will be accepted for each nine-month course. They will learn the housewife's routine in really feudal surroundings.

They can dust the hearthrooms, scrub the antique staircases, make the four-poster beds and darn the fine linen sheets.

But they won't learn American cooking, so the would-be husband must give up ideas of such delicacies as pumpkin pie, cranberry sauce, hot biscuits or real apple pie.

"You can't learn more than the basic cooking in a year's course which aims to cover every side of home making," said the countess. "I hope, however, that nice salads will be one of the things the girls will learn."

The girls will learn from qualified domestic science teachers and will be trained to take the National Council of Domestic Science examination at the end of the year. But much will be shown them by the countess herself, who is an excellent cook and manager.

"We will teach them how to keep accounts," said the countess, "and how to run the house in every way. Everybody ought to know how to do her own work these days. Everybody has to, and if girls don't know how to do it well, they spend all their time at it."

Modernizing of Powderham Castle's old-fashioned kitchens and laundry hasn't progressed as well as the countess could wish, but there are a washing machine, several gas and electric stoves and a kitchen range.

The earl, who is 32, won't take an active part in the school, but his wife says he is extremely interested, and has helped convert some of the 60 rooms in the castle into bright dormitories.

Right Way: Have the person who answers the door explain that you are ill.

The situation: You are being introduced to someone who doesn't remember meeting you before and says, "How do you do?"

Wrong Way: Say, "We've met before."

Right Way: Say, "How do you do?" and let it go at that.

Spiders Spin Webs In America's Arsenal On Houston Ship Channel

HOUSTON—(AP)—Spiders are busy spinning cobwebs in America's arsenal for democracy.

More than $45,000,000 in special tools and equipment from each of the 48 states is being maintained in stand-by condition at the Dickson Gun Plant on Houston's ship channel.

Although spider webs have replaced the 3,000 employees of the wartime plant, it would be possible to restore the plant to production of essential artillery within six months after declaration of a state of emergency.

The plant is one of 31 throughout the nation designated by the War Department to be maintained in semi-readiness for production. The Houston Plant is the only one for manufacturing artillery.

Lathes, boring machines, shapers, milling and rifling machines and other equipment have been shipped to Houston for processing and storing from war plants over the nation.

New Oil Loading Rack At McCamey

McCAMEY—A 50-riser oil loading rack with a capacity of 50,000 barrels daily is scheduled for completion immediately for the Humble Pipe Line Company, G. N. Irvine, Sr., district superintendent, announced.

The new 1,000-foot rack is located on Santa Fe track east of McCamey.

A 10-inch pipe line recently was laid from the McCamey Humble tank farm to the rack, and another tie-in with the Gulf pipe line east of McCamey will be made at an early date. A new pump station is scheduled to be erected on the Humble tank farm to serve the shipping needs of the rack.

The Santa Fe has laid new track to the south of the rack and has made necessary tie-ins where needed. It is reported that the Santa Fe will bring to McCamey a switching crew and engine to serve the new installation.

Officials said about 50 cars of crude oil, about 15,000 barrels, would be shipped daily, with shipments to be increased as needed. The oil will be shipped to several Texas refineries to help offset the current oil and gasoline shortage. The rack, to begin with, will operate on an eight-hour schedule.

Irvine said construction of these new facilities will necessitate the employment of about 25 extra men by the Humble company.

"One of the most important features of the new rack," Irvine said, "is the new safety features which include all non-explosive lighting, explosion proof motors, gas masks to be used when workers are exposed to gases, and new, up-to-date fire fighting equipment."

Oil Firms Seek Coastal Land Leases

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The Bureau of Land Management said a recent Supreme Court decision awarding the federal government paramount rights to submerged oil lands of California has touched off an avalanche of off-shore applications.

C. R. Bradshaw, assistant chief counsel for the Interior Department, said a reporter 402 applications for off-shore leases—all off Louisiana—have been received since June 27.

Most of the new applications are from oil companies, including major concerns, but a number are from individuals.

Since the question of ownership of off-shore lands in the Gulf of Mexico has not yet come into court, the land bureau is unable to take any action, merely holding the applications.

Bradshaw said so far as he knew no applications were received with reference to submerged lands off Texas.

Ken Regan Drilled 24 Dry Holes In Area

It was a tough setback for Ken Regan, when, fresh out of World War I with a few savings, he watched his first oil test go dry.

Hard times followed, but the enthusiastic apostle of West Texas development never gave up. Today at 54, Regan has made a moderate success as a farmer, rancher and small independent oil operator. He is currently in the Congressional race as the Permian Basin's first hope for a seat in Congress.

That first dry hole wasn't the only disappointment of its kind to hit Regan during his 27 years in West Texas. He calculates that in Reeves County alone he has participated directly or indirectly in the drilling of 24 dry holes.

Conservation Plans Approved On Midland County Farm Units

Supervisors of the Martin-Howard Soil Conservation District approved soil and water conservation plans on the Midland County farms of V. R. Drake, O. F. Crawford, J. M. Franks, A. J. Norton and Marlin Gonzales at their regular meeting at Stanton last week. Those attending were Gordon Stone of Stanton; Edmund Tom, Stanton; Herd Midkiff, Midland, and E. J. Hughes of the Soil Conservation Service.

The complete soil and water conservation program planned by these farmers include such measures as contour cultivation, crop residue management, cover crops, crop rotation, soil building crops, and re-seeding pasture and retired fields to native pasture grass.

R. O. Brooks and J. M. Franks completed soil and water conservation plans on their farms last week. Some of the conservation measures included in the plans were crop residue management, cover crops, and re-seeding native grasses. Assistance in planning was furnished by the Soil Conservation Service.

An irrigation survey has been completed on the farm of B. W. Blakemore of the Airport Conservation Group last week.

McCamey Club Women Attend Encampment

McCAMEY—Nine members represented the Garden and Women's Home Demonstration Clubs of Upton County at the two-day encampment at the Christoval Recreation Park last Tuesday and Wednesday.

Swimming, boating, games, strolls through the park, and kodaking were entertainment features. Evening entertainment was provided by the 4-H Club girls of Tom Green County.

General Bradley May Succeed Eisenhower As Chief Of Staff

By JAMES THRASHER
NEA Staff Correspondent

NEW YORK—(NEA)—It remains to be seen whether Gen. Omar Nelson Bradley succeeds his West Point classmate, Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower, as Army chief of staff. But when a Veterans Administration spokesman on a tour of American Army installations in Europe and the Mediterranean, as Bradley is about to do, it may be assumed that something more than routine VA business is involved.

It may also be assumed that, if Bradley takes this post, he will leave his present assignment without much reluctance. When he received the President's invitation to head the VA, more than two years ago, Bradley remarked, "It's not the sort of job I'd go out looking for."

The Veterans Administration was unprepared to take on care of 17,000,000 returning service men. It creaked with age and inefficiency. The personnel was inadequate and in many cases, incompetent.

Brilliant Record
Bradley obviously was the man for the job. The war had shown him to be a man of brilliant planning and organizational ability. As President Truman was looking for a man who, first of all, had the veterans' respect and their interests at heart, so Bradley was an almost inevitable choice.

There was nothing phony about Bradley's esteem and concern for the infantryman. Indeed, there is nothing phony about the man himself. The modesty and lack of front of this tall, lean, muscular Missourian of 54 are qualities not often encountered in a four-star general.

At Fort Benning, Ga., where he was commandant in the early days of the war, he would never permit the men to try a new obstacle course until he had tried and approved the rough run himself. A baseball star at West Point, Bradley still keeps in excellent condition through calisthenics, golf, fishing and hunting. In North Africa he lived in a tent and munched K rations uncomplainingly with his men. In France he refused to let an aide use his name or rank in order to get food. When food couldn't be had by swap or purchase, Bradley did without.

"Grape-cure" stations, set up in a number of popular French resorts including Cannes, Nice, Menton, and Avignon, are not alcoholic cures, but provide unfermented grape juice for sufferers from a number of gastric ailments.

Ken Regan

Here, however, is where the far-sighted Regan optimism comes in. He points out that in nearby Ector County some 30 dry holes were sunk before the start of the boom which made that county one of the most important in the country.

"Somebody'll do it one of these days," he says. "With oil all around, there's bound to be oil in Reeves County as well as western Ward County." And he cites the history of oil in Florida, where geologists rejected the land as non-productive two years before oil was struck in rich quantities.

Regan was down to his last pair of britches before he finally made the grade after that first dry hole. He tells how he was umpiring a baseball game in Pecos with baseballs stuffed in his trouser pockets.

Last Pair of Pants
"One of the seams split wide open," he said. "It was my last pair of pants and I was beginning to wonder if I'd made a mistake in coming to West Texas."

Shortly thereafter came a stroke of luck. Along with several others he invested in a piece of Loving County land. Oil gushed up and the famous Wheat Pool was born. Regan's was only a part of the venture, but it meant money in the pockets of the young operator.

Regan has not grown stuffy through the years as the breaks came his way. He has not forgotten his modest start as a teacher's son in Mount Morris, Ill. He still uses the expression, "Tiptoin' for chile," meaning the hard business of scratching for a living.

"I've driven roads through West Texas in every state of emotion," he says. "I've been mighty discour-

Something's Fishy

Some remark in the staid Congressional Record has this fellow open-mouthed and wide-eyed in amazement. The fish, a 14-pound rock, was caught in the Chester River by a party of Capitol and Washington, D. C., policemen.

McCamey Will Have New Street Lights

McCAMEY—A program designed to provide a more efficient lighting system in the downtown and residential districts has been instituted by the City of McCamey and the West Texas Utilities Company. The utility company recently started the installation of 30-foot poles in the business area. The modern white-way system should be completed on Fifth Street and Burleson Avenue by early Fall. Other new lights will be installed in the residential sections, particularly around the churches and in the City Park area. Lights will be placed at strategic points throughout the city.

Texas To Have New Traffic Code Sept 5

By MAC ROY RASOR
Associated Press Staff

AUSTIN—(AP)—Bangum N. Bluff, eminent master in banging up other people's cars and bluffing his way out before even giving his name, is in for a big surprise this fall.

The 50th legislature's newly-enacted uniform traffic code prescribes that Bluff—and all other drivers involved in accidents—have certain responsibilities which they must perform. Otherwise, they are subject to being housed rent-free in any jail or assessed a not-so-nominal fine.

The uniform traffic code is part of a nationwide plan to provide drivers with the same driving rules in El Paso or Texarkana, on farm Highway 366 or U. S. Highway 80, in Texas or Maine—altered locally only when local driving conditions so require.

Rules Are Specific

When drivers follow the same rules wherever they go, sponsoring agencies believe there will be fewer traffic injuries and deaths, less property damage, less embarrassment both for drivers and law enforcement officials, over conflicting laws from place to place, and an easier way provided for all to learn and understand traffic rules.

The new Texas law, effective everywhere an automobile can go in Texas after September 5, sets up important specific rules which apply to every motorist involved in an accident, big or small.

If you drive a car, you should commit this law-required procedure to memory—if you entertain no desire to be a co-accident of Bluff's.

1. If involved in an accident in which a person is injured or killed or property damaged, you must stop your car immediately.
2. Failure to do so would subject you to as much as a $5,000 fine or a five-year prison sentence or both in the case of an injury or death. You will be guilty of a misdemeanor if you fail to stop when property is damaged.
3. Give your name, address, and your car's registration number and if asked, show your driver's license to the person struck or driver of the vehicle struck.
4. Render aid if necessary, including carrying or arranging to carry injured persons to a physician or hospital if necessary or if requested by the injured party.
5. If you strike an unattended vehicle, stop immediately. Either locate and notify the owner or operator or leave in a conspicuous place in or on the vehicle a written notice giving your name and address and a statement of the circumstances.
6. If you strike fixtures legally upon or adjacent to a highway, follow the same rules set out for striking an unattended vehicle.
7. If there is an injury or death, notify immediately the police, sheriff or highway patrol.
8. If there is an injury, death or property damage in excess of $25, forward a written report of the accident to the department notified within 24 hours.
9. Such reports are by law confidential, except for names, and shall be without prejudice to the person reporting.

Violations subject offenders to as much as $200 fine, except where it is otherwise noted to be more.

The striking picture above shows Pamela Mountbatten, right foreground, as an interested spectator during a prayer meeting led by Mahatma Gandhi at Lahore, India. Between the Hindu leader and the daughter of Lord Louis Mountbatten, viceroy of India, is Rajkumari Amrit Kaur, a Gandhi disciple. At extreme right is unidentified member of the Indonesian delegation.

BASTOGNE, BELGIUM—(NEA)—It's been a very pleasant summer in the Ardennes this season. The weather has been balmy and perfect. The youthful hikers and cyclists are seen along the beautiful highways and roads, and resting in the fields. Shiny new cars whizz along the roads. Buses with glass tops loaded with sightseeing Swedes roll quietly by. The picturesque countryside—in some places—looks like it always has for the past several hundred years.

But in most places it's difficult to go very far without being reminded of the grim business which was taking place on these soft green hills, quiet farms and cool woods two and one-half years ago. It was the Battle of the Bulge, the German's last desperate and vicious attempt to stave off defeat in World War II.

The deep scars of that battle are left on the land and on the people here.

The farm houses which haven't been repaired are the ones in which the owner and probably his whole family were killed. It's been tough enough trying to make the wrecked homes of the survivors habitable. You can tell by the lighter, re-used brick, which ones have been repaired. The stores and homes in the small towns of the Ardennes—Bastogne, Hoffalize, St. Vith, Diekirch and others—are the same way. If the owner or occupant was killed, it probably hasn't been repaired. You also see Belgian tourists helping to rebuild homes and barns, spending their vacations this way.

It's even the same way in a few of the tiny ruined churches.

Although Victoria Falls in Africa is more than twice as high and wider than Niagara, more water flows over Niagara in a year than over Victoria because the African falls are greatly reduced in the dry season.

Ken Regan Drilled

aged and then again I've felt I was on top of the world.

"There was the time my partner and I thought we'd hit oil in one of our drillings. That shiny rich green stuff was bubbling up all velvety around the 10-inch hole. We rushed out and bought up nearby land. We piled up 6,000 acres and we figured it would sell for $1000 an acre. That makes six million. Half of it would have been mine.

Dreams Exploded

"But the oil turned to salt water. Our dreams exploded. The water had pushed oil up ahead of it."

Regan laughs about talk that he is a rich man and he is honest enough to admit he wishes he were on easy street. He has never been tied in with any major oil company. His scattered holdings are leased for farming and grazing in the hope of future oil development.

Oil, however, is only one of the development programs he's interested in. He helped organize the Canteloupe Association in Pecos, Reeves and Presidio Counties and assisted in marketing the first cars of Pecos canteloupes in New York City back in 1931.

He knows problems of irrigation. When Red Bluff farmers needed storage for water supply, they sent him to Washington to help get action on the Red Bluff Dam. With aid from those who had spent lifetimes working for the project, Regan got the job done, and the dam was built at a cost far below the original Washington estimate.

Elected Mayor

Civic affairs absorbed Regan's attention when friends, aware of his ability to produce results, elected him first as a city alderman and then mayor of Pecos. He returned from one out-of-town trip to find he had been elected president of the Pecos Chamber of Commerce.

When West Texas landowners became aroused over a Supreme Court decision affecting mineral classified lands, he and the boys with their boots on went to Austin and presented their problem to the Legislature. Regan by force of leadership became their spokesman. The legislative relief was granted. And when 1933 rolled around, ranchers threw in their support to send Regan to the Senate in Austin for a four-year term.

Out of 700 bills passed by the Legislature in 1933, 70 were introduced by Regan, and two years later the big amiable Irishman was unanimously elected president of the body. It was the first time this honor had gone to a freshman member of the Senate.

During this term in the Senate he played an important part in the adjustment of inequalities for land left vacant by oldtime surveys. He was instrumental in having the state refund cotton farmers for money paid out on the rate of $2 a bale for protection against the pink boll worm.

He deserted politics in 1936 to earn some "ham and egg" money and then came the war. Though over age, he volunteered and served in Army Air Forces Intelligence. "Been Fortunate"

About himself Regan says, "I am not filthy rich or nearly so, but I have been fortunate in my 27 years of business activity in acquiring sufficient property and income to enable me to serve this district impartially, energetically and without obligation to any individual person, firm, corporation, other than that to citizens of this district who through their votes may bring about my election.

"The folks of West Texas have been good to me. They received me as a youth and they have honored me as I grew older. Win, lose or draw in this Congressional race, I'll be available whenever I can be of service to West Texas."

Regan now lives in Midland, where he moved from Pecos because of business interests after winding up his part in the war. He owns a modest five-room house, and it pleases him to say that he paid for it with cash. If you drive by for a visit, you'll undoubtedly find Oscar, his Irish terrier, sitting watchfully on guard for the attractive Mrs. Regan.

And if you steer the conversation to the current race, you'll probably be invited to Washington for "cherry-pickin' time," although Regan will frankly admit "it's going to be a hard fight with a short stick."

Tip from the Smart Sex

Who is it that's first to spot—and quickest to go for—a really fresh new fashion idea when it comes along?

The ladies, of course!

And who is it that, according to careful surveys, put Buick far ahead of its price class and up among the lowest-priced three when they name the car of their innermost choice?

The fair sex—but naturally!

And who is it, when you come right down to it, that gets the most practical use from enough stirring Fireball power to handle the day's travel-jobs without strain and struggle?

Who relishes most the restful ease of wide, cushiony seats, and the blissful gentleness of all-coil springs that make rough roads well-mannered and good roads glass-smooth?

Who goes for a car big enough to be company-minded—yet light and easy enough in handling to park without a tussle, and flit shadow-light through market-hour traffic?

Who, good friends, has the family's smartest eye-for-a-buy—the shrewdest size-up of what's really good?

No one but the Lady of the Household!

So we toss out this thought to you menfolks:

Chances are that you've been hankering for the kind of thrill that lurks in this great-hearted, great-powered beauty.

You'd sort of like to get your hands on a car as big and mighty as this—if you thought the better half could be sold on it.

Take our tip—she's already sold. Favored as it is by red-blooded males, no Buick we've ever offered has won the smart sex quite like this one.

So why not pull a pleasant surprise some evening soon? Just come home and say, "Well, I placed an order for a Buick today. They're taking 'em with or without a car to trade."

Then watch her fall all over your neck!

Philippines Alert For Gold Shipment

MANILA, P. I.—(AP)—Reports of a projected shipment of 377,000 ounces of gold to Macao for a quick black market profit of $6,000,000 alerted the Philippines, China and Hong Kong.

That amount of gold is worth $13,195,000 at the world price of $35 an ounce but would bring $19,277,000 at Macao's $51 black market rate.

The China Mail, published in Hong Kong, reported that several Catalina flying boats had been chartered to take the gold from Manila to Macao, for resale into China's inflation nurtured black markets.

The Philippines' finance secretary,

2,700 Fish Rescued From Vanishing Lake

LODI, CALIF.—(AP)—Rescuing fish from drought-stricken lakes is quite a chore for California fish and game authorities.

From nearby Green's Lake, down to three acres instead of its normal 30- or 40-acre surface because of low rainfall, wardens recently seized 1,500 adult black bass and 1,200 square-tailed catfish.

The refugees await wetter times in Lodi municipal lake and the Central Valleys Hatchery.

Miguel Cuaderno, snapped: "No export licenses have been granted for such shipments, you can be sure of that." Customs officials immediately were alerted.

Farben Trust Called Economic Weapon Which Weakened Early U.S. War Effort

NEW YORK—(NEA)—The Nuremberg indictment against Dr. Hermann Schmitz, chairman, and 23 of his colleagues in I. G. Farbenindustrie, is very specific in describing how they successfully sought to use "the international cartel as an economic weapon . . . to weaken the United States as an arsenal of democracy."

At Berlin's International Auto Show in 1936, Farben interests displayed this machine to show how they had developed a synthetic rubber that would stand up under use. At the same time, Farben's American subsidiaries were blocking production of this buna-type rubber by an American oil company.

This indictment pulls together a lot of things. But not many of them are really new. I have been telling many of them, whenever I could get an audience, for the last 29 years. Dr. Schmitz, his company and a number of its agents have been under several indictments, in U. S. courts, ever since 1941, as yet, strangely, untried.

This Nuremberg indictment alleges that Farben, inspired by Dr. Schmitz and his colleagues:

Restricted production of magnesium by Aluminum Company of America and Dow Chemical Company;

Dictated the terms by which atabrine (quinine substitute) could be made by Winthrop Chemical Company, which was owned jointly by Farben and Sterling Products, Inc. (now Sterling Drug, Inc.);

Delayed production of buna-type synthetic rubber by Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey;

Prevented sale of a special ammunition to the British by E. I. duPont de Nemours.

Dr. Schmitz was not merely the elder statesman of Farben. He was its "triple threat." He headed the German, American and Swiss I. G. companies. He was active in the chemical, coal and steel combines. He was leader in industry, finance and government. He contributed of all to Hitler and the Nazis, specifically, and not merely to the German nation.

It was Dr. Schmitz who conceived and executed the idea of sending sons, brothers and relatives of Farben leaders, together with trusted employees, to the United States to become naturalized, so that they could better direct Farben's American subsidiaries and plot against our national welfare.

Until the war prevented, Dr. Schmitz himself made frequent visits to the United States to oversee these activities, and maintained close personal acquaintance with the top men in American industry.

Georg von Schnitzler and Max Igner paid frequent visits to their relatives who had been sent to this country, to confer with them on espionage, propaganda and other fifth column activities.

Wilhelm Rudolf Mann and Philipp Heinrich Hoerlein handled details of the cartel tie-ups of atabrine and other drugs.

Fritz ter Meer was a director of the American I. G., and so responsible for its extra-legal activities, and also of General Motors' automobile subsidiary in Germany.

Johann August von Knieriem, Farben's chief counsel, already has testified in an American court that he wrote "postwar camouflage" on the margin of his file copy of an agreement made between Farben and Standard Oil of New Jersey after the war in Europe had begun.

It may be that these war crimes would have been overlooked, in Germany's defeat, if their respectable perpetrators had not been found, by investigators, to have been implicated in the reign of horror that most Americans had attributed only to the lower Nazi gutter scum.

But this trial, when it comes, will produce evidence that the vilest acts of the Nazis were made possible and indeed abetted by men who were accepted at face value by the top level of American business and government.

Eighteen years ago, in a protest against Senate ratification of the Kellogg peace treaties, I suggested that the most effective way to outlaw war would be "to do away with all rules and regulations for the

Let The Citizens Decide

A proposed million-dollar bond issue for the City of Midland affords citizens the opportunity of determining just what they desire and need in the way of municipal improvements for ever-growing Midland.

The issue will affect all citizens in every section of the city, and everyone should be interested in the proposal and what it includes. Some of the items are urgent and essential to the life and growth of the community, while others perhaps are not quite as urgent. It is up to the voters to decide. The greatest danger may be in not including all current needs and in not voting sufficient funds to take care of future growth and expansion. The voters also must determine this.

It is up to citizens to study the proposals thoroughly before making their decisions. Some citizens doubtless are of the opinion that one or more needed projects are not included in the proposed issue, and in such case the individual should discuss with city officials now the possibilities of including such projects in the issue before it finally is submitted to voters.

Midland's every need for municipal improvements should be included in the bond issue, so tax-paying voters may determine by ballot just which projects they favor.

Taxpayers must foot the bills and taxpayers must decide what they need and want. That is the American way of which we are so proud.

Approximately half of the proposed million-dollar issue is for developing new sources of water supply and bringing water to the city. Surely this item is a must, and funds for water improvements perhaps should have been voted long ago. But it is not too late now. The figure also includes extensions to the water system in all sections of the city and provides for an adequate distribution system.

Another $145,000 is earmarked for sewer system extensions and additions to the sewage disposal plant. Another badly needed project.

Other projects included in the original proposal: storm sewer drainage, $30,000; enlargement of fire department quarters, $25,000; sites for fire department substations, $6,000; two playgrounds (one on South Side and the other on North Side) $50,000; streets and street markers in all sections, $20,000; paving (revolving fund for long-range program), $100,000; municipal golf course and swimming pool, $100,000. Numerous other projects doubtless will be suggested, although the issue seems to be a well-balanced, long-range program.

But it is important that every municipal need be included in this bond issue for developments and expansions.

Then—let the citizens decide.

Whip Of Progress

Most of us think the "boom" days of the oil industry ended many years ago, and that the industry can now take it easy and supply the public's needs with its present facilities.

The truth is that oil is engaged in a tremendous and dramatic race to bring output up to the enormous civilian demand which came after the war.

Geologists and producers are searching for new oil reserves in every corner of this country—and in a long list of foreign countries as well. As rapidly as the necessary materials can be obtained, they are sinking new wells and enlarging refineries. The laboratory technicians are seeking new methods of getting more oil products out of each barrel of crude, and for producing oil from sources which so far have been untouched. Never in history was so much oil needed as now—and never in history was so much knowledge, money and sheer drive given to producing it.

Competition within the industry is extremely keen, both in obtaining supplies of crude and in seeking public favor with ready-to-use oil products. That in itself is the best guarantee that the demand will be met with a minimum of shortages—and that the price charged will be as low as current costs allow. Oil isn't standing still. The whip of progress is keeping it on the run.

Reward For A Deserter

A most pleasant item of postwar news is the announcement that James Minker has been released from an Army jail house, given an honorable discharge at President Truman's order, and sent home. Young Minker is the lad, who, tiring of guard duty in the States, deserted, re-enlisted under an assumed name, and was fighting as a paratrooper in France when they caught up with him.

A military court gave the eager soldier two years at hard labor with a dishonorable discharge at the end. Minker definitely broke the rules, but we don't think he deserved his punishment. Fortunately, he didn't have to serve out his term and go home in disgrace. It's good to know that once, anyhow, common sense has triumphed over the rule book.

Hung Up

Bombs Made To Ruin Germany May Now Help Restore It

WEISBADEN, GERMANY—(AP)—The United States Air Force in Europe, with more than 80,000 tons of surplus bombs on hand, has an idea that the munitions made to destroy the German economy can be used to help restore it.

Maj. Gen. Idwal H. Edwards, USAFE commander, said that methods by which fuel, lubricants, and other material are recovered from the "napalm" incendiary bombs already are being used.

Moreover, the general said, it is believed that nitrates, a fertilized material critically needed for depleted German farm lands, can be recovered from high explosive bombs, German explosives, said General Edwards, are unusable for this purpose because they used a high percentage of nitrate substitutes.

The huge quantities of bombs piled up in the American Zone of Occupation are only a part of the administrative and surplus problems inherited by General Edwards.

Planes Are Scrapped
Wartime airplanes, in varying conditions of usefulness or mere piles of junk, still crowd dozens of the abandoned airbases of the zone, but since V-E Day the original surplus of 17,000 airplanes, of all types has been greatly diminished. These planes—bombers, fighters, transports, and gliders—cost $2,265,000,000 and were in Germany, England, France, and Belgium when hostilities ceased.

One of the most recent counts, on May 1, showed 2,378 airplanes left, a figure which includes 482 B-17 Flying Fortresses, 27 of the familiar old C-47 twin-engine transports, 1,155 P-47 fighters and 2,469 gliders.

There is little peacetime use for the combat airplanes. Even though many of them are in excellent flying condition, the cost of operation would be prohibitive for commercial users. After the usable instruments and other equipment have been stripped from the combat aircraft, they are scrapped.

USAFE presently has 111 Flying Fortresses and 205 C-47 transports scheduled for scrapping because they are obsolete, no longer required either for military or civilian use or because they are too worn or damaged to be flyable.

Dam Gets Good Ribbing

The "whatsit" picture above was taken inside the steel framework of a 4400-foot siphon on the Columbia Basin Project, Coulee Dam, Wash. It shows steel hoops, each 84 feet in diameter which will serve as ribs for a two-foot thick concrete shell.

Dirt, Squirt And Quirt

— FARM, DAIRY AND RANCH NEWS —

By STANLEY FRANK

At the close of the week it was reported that several ranchmen in this area have turned down offers of 18 cents a pound for their lambs.

Big Spring's rodeo has been applauded by a number of Midlanders as being a snappy, entertaining show from start to finish. A particularly popular specialty act was that of Pesky, a Border Collie owned by a Mr. Snodgrass of Mountain Home, Texas.

This dog did things with a handful of sheep that thrilled everybody in the audience, especially those who had ever tried to make sheep go where they didn't want to go.

Then there were clown acts which, unlike a lot of rodeo clown acts, were funny enough to make a lot of people laugh.

The outstanding feature about Big Spring's show this year was the rapidity with which contests were staged. It was an action show all the way through, with relatively few of those empty periods when the crowd was left to wonder when something else would happen. Earl and Jack Sellers' rodeo stock was used and, though this is not the roughest rodeo string in the country by far, it did a good job of keeping something going in the arena.

A wolf chase was scheduled for Saturday on the Homer Tippett Ranch just north of Rankin, according to Herschel Shaw, who visited here from Rankin Friday. Two wolves have been spotted in one of the Tippett pastures, and ranchmen and cowboys of that section were planning to gang up on the varmints.

Six West Texans returned last week from a fishing trip to Boquille Lake in the state of Chihuahua, Mexico, and brought back some fish stories flavored with Spanish adjectives.

On the trip were C. C. Thomas of Midland; Clint Shaw and Walter Haral of Rankin; and Charles Haral, Roy Phiestler and Jack Hubb of Port Stockton.

Clint said the group must have caught 375 pounds of bass. They brought back 230 bass and ate an average of 15 fish every meal during the trip.

Jeff Dunham, inspector for the Texas and Southwestern Cattle Raisers Association, said it's dry everywhere he's been lately, including all sections of Midland County. However, cattle here are holding up extremely well, he said, and there are a lot of fat ones in the county.

Pete Ainsworth, who handles the sheep operations of the Spade Ranch at Colorado City, last week attended the rodeo at Big Spring and got in several plugs for the Colorado City show September 3, 4, 5 and 6. Though it's extremely dry, livestock in the Colorado City area is holding up very well, Pete said.

Another rodeo booster at the Big Spring show was Ed Aiken of Sterling City, who lost no opportunity to invite everybody to an American Legion-sponsored night rodeo there August 15 and 16. N. A. Pitcock of Aspermont and Walton Poage of Rankin will be featured in a matched roping, he said, and there will be barbecue and dancing.

Norman Dawson, with 1,500 acres in cotton northwest of Midland, says he might make half a bale per acre if it would rain exactly right between now and picking time. He operated five 4-row tractors to put in this crop, and it looks as though it has a chance to pay off. Altogether, he farms 2,280 acres.

Norman Drake, Midland 4-H Club youth, has a nice group of calves on feed for next Spring's shows. He has two steers from Winston Brothers herd at Snyder, two from the Midland County ranch of O. H. McAllister, and one which he obtained from A. G. Bohannon of Midland.

Norman has these calves in a concrete tile barn of their own. He keeps flies out of the barn with DDT, gives his steers plenty of the right kind of feed, and already is well on the way to showing some well-fitted cattle come Spring. He figures the lightest steer will make around 350 pounds now, the heaviest 475.

Norman, during his three years of feeding show steers, has exhibited six head and has won three championships—two at Midland and one at Odessa.

Charlene Taylor, office secretary at the Midland Production Credit Association office here, last week took a vacation trip to San Antonio; this week she plans to take another trip to the Davis Mountains and to a family reunion at Comanche.

The Department of Agriculture Friday estimated United States wool production in 1947 at 256,302,000 pounds. Twenty-four million pounds under last year, and 104,000,000 pounds less than average production from 1936 through 1945; the decrease was explained as being the result in fewer sheep being shorn.

This year, the department estimated, total sheep shorn in the nation will figure only 31,723,000 head, or 3,000,000 head less than last year and more than 13,000,000 head under the 10-year (1936-45) average.

Jimmie Collette, 19, is cautious as he tickles the nose of the sleepy little pony who's trying to take a nap after his lunch. Jimmie's a visitor to the pony farm of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Wheeler, in Medina County, Ohio. They raise ponies for sale to carnivals, circuses and as pets. Some of the less attractive ones are sold for work in mines.

Foreign War Supplies Held In U. S. Zone

BERLIN—(AP)—The American Military Government has discovered large quantities of war material, which apparently had been manufactured for an unidentified "foreign power," secreted in stockpiles in two German factories in the United States sector of Berlin.

The two factories were closed immediately and the factory officials taken into custody.

Semi-completed gyroscope motors used in aircraft, submarines, and tanks; wings and body parts of Link trainers; theodolites for use in observing the trajectories of guided missiles such as the German V-1 and V-2; submarine periscopes, and similar precision instruments were found in the Friedenau and Mariendorf plants of Askaniawerke, one of the biggest general instrument businesses in the world.

Manufactures Instruments Askania, which now employs between 700 and 1,000 workmen in Berlin, has branches in other sections of Germany and foreign countries and during the war was engaged almost entirely in manufacturing military instruments.

"Evidence which is now being carefully sifted indicates that the war material was being manufactured for a foreign power without the sanction of the office of military government," the statement said.

It may take about a week, it added, to determine if there was a violation of an Allied Control Authority Law forbidding the manufacture, transportation, or storage of war material.

The material was discovered when an inspection began in response to repeated requests from factory officials for more floor space and assistance in rebuilding their business.

Police, standing guard at a German factory, told correspondents they had orders to prevent any of the plant's equipment from being removed by the Russians.

Officials Arrested Five officials of the plants were taken into custody and are expected to be tried before an American Military Government general court. Asked to state whether the foreign power for which the plants were working was Russia, an American Military Government official replied:

"These men have not yet been tried, but when they are brought into court their trial will be open to the press and public."

Mariendorf is a borough adjacent to the Russian Sector of the city. A German left in charge at Mariendorf said that plant had "close ties" with another Askania unit in the Russian Sector and under Soviet control.

Botanists say that a flower rarely comes in three of the primary colors; there are red and blue sweetpeas, no yellow; red and yellow zinnias, no blue; red and yellow roses, no blue.

American forests are estimated to contain 1,600 billion board feet of saw timber, while the annual estimated drain on them is 54 billion board feet. The forests' annual growth is 36 billion board feet.

Due to improved fire protection, the U. S. Forest Service recently found that, for the first time, overall growth in cubic feet approximately equals the loss of timber due to fire and other causes.

Oil Firm Workers Get Wage Increase
NEW YORK — (AP) — Sinclair Oil Corporation announced a new wage agreement had been signed by its subsidiaries and the CIO Oil Workers International Union, providing a 15c-an-hour increase in base pay rates for about 9,000 employees.

Under the agreement, the corporation said, "A fixed cost-of-living adjustment of 10c an hour to be paid regardless of fluctuations in the consumer price index" also is provided.

The settlement stated that, for the year following the July 1 effective date of the contract, there should be no wage demands except such "classification inequities" as may arise.

A wage adjustment for salaried employees other than union-represented, retroactive to July 1, will be announced soon, the company said.

Forrestal, Secretary of Defense

Royall, Army

Sullivan, Navy

Symington, Air

To James V. Forrestal, the nation's first secretary of defense, goes the historic job of welding the Army, Navy, and Air Forces into a single military establishment under the new Armed Forces Unification Law. The blueprint sets up the three services as co-equal departments under the defense secretary. In the sweeping reorganization, the most likely candidate for the job of secretary of war is Kenneth C. Royall, the present secretary of war. John L. Sullivan, acting secretary of Navy, is expected to get the post of secretary of Navy, and W. Stuart Symington, assistant secretary of war for air, will probably be named secretary of air.

Europe's Biggest Problem Of Tomorrow Is Youth Of Today

BRUSSELS, BELGIUM—(NEA)—Europe's biggest problem for tomorrow is her youth of today; it hits you in the eye wherever you go on the continent.

The generation of European youngsters now in their early teens has come to regard black markets, occupations, hunger, political strife, broken homes and all of the other troubles of war and its aftermath, as a sort of normal existence. It is about all they have ever known. While their parents have been making war, they have become a neglected generation.

As a result a sort of cynical, Godless and lawless creed has spread among these young people which is far worse than any juvenile delinquency problem in America.

The 13-year-old boy who claims he makes more than the average factory worker selling filthy pictures and kindred items in front of a Brussels' cafe is the envy of all his friends. The lad is convinced he's in a strictly legitimate business. About half the black market stooges in Prague, Paris, Brussels, Amsterdam and other cities are kids of 15 and 16. The slick techniques of the 13 and 14-year-old pickpockets and petty thieves in the cities astonish even the seasoned cops.

Just as shocking is the cynicism and lack of faith you find among the children of the better families. The 14-year-old son of a fairly wealthy French merchant speaks his mind:

"Papa is a fool. He wants me to go to church and expects me to believe what they say there."

Iceland is about the size of Virginia.

Raymond Duncan Says Paris Is 'World City' Of Culture

PARIS—(AP)—Raymond Duncan, brother of the late Isadora Duncan, famed dancer, proposes that Paris should be made an independent "world city" for painters and musicians, philosophers, writers, and aesthetes.

"It would be simple, even easy," said the artist who explained he got the idea from Victor Hugo.

"We could move the factories to Lyon. The French government could go to Bordeaux. We could clear out all the things that clutter Paris and dim its beauty.

"Paris is already a world city. We ought to declare it one."

Busy on New Book

Duncan, whose elegant white flowing robes and open-toed sandals—which he makes himself—have been among the tourist sights of Europe since 1903, explained his idea in an interview at his studio, headquarters for Left-Bank "advance guard" painters, writers and various intelligentsia.

He has just started writing a book to push his world city plan and a lot of other ideas that have occurred to him since his childhood in San Francisco, where his family settled during the California gold rush.

Duncan explained his inspiration for turning Paris into an aesthetes' paradise came after he bought an obscure pamphlet by Victor Hugo one rainy day in a Seine bookstall. In the pamphlet, the great French novelist heralded the opening of an International Fair in Paris in 1878 saying Frenchmen should realize Paris "no longer belongs to France—Paris is a world city."

"I'm translating it into English and hope to see it published in the United States," Duncan said. He added that he had no compunctions about separating Paris from France.

Cities All-Important

"Maybe it wouldn't have to be separated politically," he said. "Anyway, cities are more important than nations. Cities have character and individually. Nations have so many people without any feeling—peasants and all kinds of people you and I wouldn't want to know."

The American-born aesthete was hopeful of getting solid backing for his Paris world city plan from understanding people in New York, where he recently spent four months.

"There are people in New York who will understand me," he said. "New York would never do for such a center as I plan, but it does have its points. What a wonderful—and terrible place. It's more like a mining camp than anything else."

The first mechanical process for the manufacture of felt is believed to have been discovered about 1820.

Press Of Business Almost Crushes Him

YORK, NEB.—(P)—Supt. T. R. McNickle of York city schools learned a half-horse power drill press was offered for sale as surplus government property. He thought it would make a fine addition to the high school agriculture shop, and ordered it. Sorry, said the government, the press no longer was available but another press could be had from Tulsa. A few days later a huge truck pulled into the school yard and started to unload, not the little press ordered, but a 25,000-pound multiple drill press with five motors. McNickle stopped the unloading in time.

COLEMAN FACES SHORTAGE OF WATER

COLEMAN, TEXAS.—(P)—Coleman city officials are working on a plan to haul water in by rail from Lake Brownwood to supplement a critically short water supply here. The hauling would begin about August 15. In a bond election Tuesday, Coleman voters approved a $350,000 bond issue to build a new filtration plant and a 28,000-foot pipeline to connect the plant to the new reservoir which will be formed by Hord's Creek Dam. The reservoir will not be ready for use until March, 1948.

SECTION FOUR

Look Around, See What Is Midland

By TANNER LAINE

We came to Midland in 1940, when did you? There has been a big turnover in population and citizens in the last 25 years, as if we of this bustling city didn't know. Whether you have been a Midlander since the turn of the century or two weeks—haven't you noticed some things, typically Midland? Bet you have.

They say, and we are inclined to believe it, if you wait long enough in the lobby of the Scharbauer Hotel you will see anybody in the world you are looking for.

That lobby with its big-hatted cowmen is a Midland typical. They sit around and make deals in guarded tones and a man's word is as good as his signature on a check, for a million or so.

Ever notice how many people wear boots every day in Midland? You have a merging of the oil and cattle business in Midland. This is the oil capital of the Permian Basin and the cattle capital of a wide ranching area.

The Chamber of Commerce slogan here is "Where Cowtrails, Pay Dirt and Airlines Meet." We have told you about the oil and cattle. Now Midland has two major airlines and another is coming. Midland surely is ideally situated on air routes.

Midland got its name for being midway between Fort Worth and El Paso.

What a bunch of coffee drinkers Midland has. They crowd the cafes at 10 a. m., and again at 4 p. m. There are a lot of coffee-drinking groups, habitually together. They may be office cronies or business associates. Anyhow we have a lot of groups, who drink coffee together daily.

The Windy Corner
Ever try to guide your car around the postoffice block? Pretty hard job isn't it? It seems like everybody in town goes to get mail at the same time. The traffic of pedestrians and cars around the post office is brisk. Guess they do it in other towns too, but, oh brother, in Midland they sure do.

What happens on a windy day around the Petroleum Building corner? Aw, don't tell me you haven't noticed. Men grab their hats rounding that corner, and women grab their skirts. That is the windiest corner in all West Texas. We noticed it first when the wind blew a pencil off our ear. Well, that's a good story.

You are liable to see a horse in a trailer of finest conveniences, everything from sun glasses for the pony, in Midland. This reporter isn't one of them, but Midland is a wealthy little city with more than a dozen millionaires. And you very likely wouldn't recognize a one of them; they are that down-to-earth and unobtrusive.

The average Midlander on the street is well-dressed but not overdressed. Very few Midland businessmen wear coats to work. The oil gals, office secretaries for the many companies here, are a pretty picture going to work in the morning and leaving work in the afternoon—that's about the only time you see them.

Midland doesn't have much night life. Night clubs have trouble making a go here. Guess everybody (Continued on Page 3)

Government Financial Experts Say Britain May Need U. S. Help Soon

By SIGRID ARNE

WASHINGTON.—(P)—It is pretty well recognized here among government financial experts that "something may have to be done for Britain" if it takes too long to figure out details of the Marshall Plan.

Britain, as well as a big chunk of Western Europe, stands to get some kind of help under the Marshall plan after the countries decide, first, what they can do to help themselves and, second, exactly what they need from us.

But in the meantime it looks as though Britain may reach the bottom of the barrel by next March or April.

The Marshall Plan must be ironed out by Congress, and Congress is not due back until January. There is little hope it will make up its mind before March.

May Seek Separate Loan

If there is any further delay, financial experts are guessing that the lawmakers will be asked to lay aside the Marshall Plan long enough to give quick and urgent attention to a separate loan for Britain.

A nation which begins to live off its nest-egg is in exactly the same position as a family which does it. It is headed for bankruptcy.

Government financial experts would like to think that any U. S. government money poured into Europe is a good financial risk. But the United States may be asked to disregard traditional investment policy and simply put money into Europe to stem Communism.

Communism Threatens

Communism lies around any corner where people are eating too little and where factories might close for lack of raw materials.

For U. S. plans of a normal trading world, Britain is the king-pin because it is the great world trader. Its 47,000,000 people can't raise their food and don't produce much of the raw materials for their factories. Hence they buy much abroad, and hence they keep world trade moving at a good pace—when they're buying.

Part of their current trouble is a financial case which the United States helped to build. It is a provision in the $3,750,000,000 British loan which says that beginning last month Britain must pay off in either pounds sterling or American dollars to any nation from which it buys.

The British are doing it. But at the same time their dollars are disappearing at a greatly increased rate because most of the countries want dollars so they in turn can buy from America.

Home Grown Barn Is Not Just Hay

DES MOINES, IOWA.—(P)—

Forty-two thousand board feet of oak, logged and sawed on the farm, went into the building of a barn on the H. J. Grady farm near Harper's Ferry, believed to be one of the larger barns in that northeast Iowa area.

A planing mill as well as a saw mill were moved onto the place to prepare the lumber for the structure which measured 100 feet by 38 feet. The basement is concrete blocks. At a barn raising, 68 carpenters and neighbors helped construct the building and the structure was dedicated with a barn dance.

When the second hay cutting is completed, Grady said he expected to have about 100 tons of alfalfa, clover and timothy stored by this winter for his 70 head of purebred Hereford cattle.

The average farm in the United States was 200 acres in 1945, an increase of 20 acres over the 1940 average and 50 acres over 1920.

COMIC STRIPS AND RADIO GAGS

Although comic papers and near-comedians work overtime on crude, alleged jokes about drug stores selling everything but drugs, the chief interest of every pharmacist worthy of the name is in the prolongation of life and the alleviation of suffering. If we had to part with every department in our store but one, the one we would keep would be the prescription department. It is here that we are privileged to co-operate with your doctor in relieving your ills, in restoring health to you and the members of your family. This brings to us far more satisfaction than we could hope to enjoy from any other department of the store. Consider us your prescriptionists.

It's a Fire Engine

The modified M-8 cargo tractor pictured above was especially designed by the Air Materiel Command, Wright Field, Ohio, to combat airplane crash fires in Arctic weather. It was shipped to Ladd Field, Alaska, by cargo plane. An upper section, weighing 12 tons and looking like a small boxcar, houses the fire-fighting equipment. A tank holds 1000 gallons of water and 100 gallons of foam solution. It carries a crew of six.

Flighty Air Travelers Sometimes Even Forget Baby

By NEA Service
 MIAMI, FLA. —(NEA)—Travel stampedes the rational mind, says Ray Plummer, custodian of a big airline lost-and-found department here.

A New York businessman en route to Latin America serenely marched away from the Miami terminal leaving $30,000 in cash sitting in the customs room.

A young mother blithely boarded a plane in Miami and was half way to Havana before she discovered she'd left her baby at the terminal.

A dignified executive of a rival airline flew by Pan American Clipper to Central America with a briefcase full of operating contracts for routes competing with PAA's. When he landed, he reached up his hat and coat and departed without a backward glance at the all-important contracts.

Presiding over an office that looks like a cross between a pawnshop and a museum, Plummer carefully guards more than 7,000 articles a year that are left on company property or on airplanes. Only a part of these articles are such things as coats, hats, glasses and other run-of-the-mill items you normally expect people to leave behind them.

One passenger succeeded in losing a tombstone. How or why, the records do not show. But its loss and recovery are recorded.

Plummer is still trying to figure out how a lady traveler got off a clipper in Miami minus one shoe—and didn't miss it until two days later. The shoe was found wedged between the seat and the wall of the plane.

Some travelers insist on recovering the most significant items. One man telephoned to ask for a button his wife lost from her suit. Where had she lost it? Somewhere, in South America.

Another insisted that Plummer send a radiogram in an effort to locate a misplaced handkerchief.

For alarm clocks and tom-toms, false teeth and buttons, Plummer's "bloodhound department" goes sleuthing by radiogram all over Latin America.

Ray Plummer, airline lost-and-found custodian in Miami, looks over a tempting item of loot a plane passenger left behind.

Consul Finds Love Is Part Of Business

TIHWA, CHINA —(AP)—Playing adviser to the lovelorn in a romantic scandal which threatened the life of his cook was a recent extracurricular duty of the American consul, J. Hall Paxton, of Danville, Va., in this far remote capital of Sinkiang province.

One morning when his strapping blonde Russian cook, Maighle, did not appear to serve breakfast, Paxton went to investigate. He found the woman crying. Her husband, Maighle sobbed, had accused her of flirting with the Chinese Air Force and was going to kill her. A Moslem, the husband, usually a timid, brow-beaten fellow, had suddenly asserted himself. Under Moslem rules he had his choice of forgiveness, divorce or killing, and strongly favored the latter.

Paxton, moved to save an exceptionally good cook, invited the husband to come and see him and persuaded the suspicious Moslem that his doughy wife was true to him.

The Telephone Laboratories developed this amazing little electronic tube, that played a big part in war, and is now powerful in telephone and television fields. The "works" of this tiny giant are so small they have to be examined under a magnifying glass.

This tube makes possible the sending of hundreds of long distance telephone messages, or the living patterns of television, over a single channel.

Control Of Eels Is Slippery Trick

GUERNEVILLE, CALIF. —(AP)—There is a perfectly good river, north of here.

But the Lamprey eel persists in swimming up the Russian River to spawn. Then it floats downstream in a dead or dying condition, and for two weeks each Summer small boys herabouts are hired to fish these expiring eels out of the Russian River before they float down to where cash customers of the local resort area are frolicking in the water.

Resort owners and chambers of commerce have pointed out State Fish and Game people that it is bad business for cash customers to emerge from a plunge with dying eels draped about their necks, and cannot something be done about Lampreys? At least during the two-weeks spawning season?

Capt. Lee Shea of the game patrol suggests with a wink that Congress or somebody might try repealing the natural laws that govern the migratory and reproductive habits of Lamprey eels, but he doubts if the eels would pay any attention.

BRANDED TREES

Berlin Beggars Help Criminals

BERLIN—(AP)—Berlin's police have declared war on the beggar nuisance which is plaguing the city, because many of the beggars have been found to be making a handsome living by doubling as blackmarketers and "spotters" for burglary gangs.

A directive from police headquarters warned householders in all four occupation sectors of the city to beware the "harmless beggar," because a large percentage of the thousands which infest Berlin's streets and squares had been proved to be engaging in criminal activities.

Often, police found, a beggar was offering blackmarket wares for sale to the very persons from whom he was asking alms.

As special peril, police warned against the house-to-house beggars who made the rounds in the American sector of the city.

"The American families," said a police report, "are the special target of professional beggars for two reasons. The Americans are the best fed and supplied, and they have a reputation for generosity." The Americans were warned that often beggars are spotters for burglary gangs and the mission is to "case" a house for a night-time break-in.

Police discovered also that in many cases professional beggars were carrying faked worker's registrations which entitled them to the food ration of heavy workers while they were plying their dishonest profession in the streets. In those cases, what the beggars achieved in alms they peddled in the black market.

For awhile we did, and you probably do, wonder where the fire was when the siren sounded at sharply 6 p. m. on Wednesday. Always seemed to go off at that hour. Well, that's fire practice time in Midland.

The Texas and Pacific sends roaring, whistling freights on its mainline through Midland, as if you hadn't heard.

Newsboys here never seem to shout the headlines but merely say "Midland paper, mister".

Do you know what significance has radio station KORS. The "C" and the "R" stand for Clarence and Ruth and the "S" for Scharbauer, who established the station.

Midland is a city, which won't back a loser. Any sport will find that out. If the high school team wins, the attendance is up, if that team loses, look out attendance. The Midland Indians are finding that so. When the Tribe is up, they go to the ballgame, when it is down, woe!

Has every youngster in Midland got a bike? Sure does seem like it.

Midland is a church-going town. And the folks stand outside talking after services. Ever see them?

You think you observe closely, what business institution in Midland has its initials on its doors as handles? Here's a tip—"FN".

No matter how long a movie is showing, Midlanders want to see it in its first performance, and they flock to the theaters on Sunday for the first showing.

Midland isn't a country town. For on Saturday afternoon the streets are more deserted than on week days. Accounting for this is: oil companies don't work office personnel on Saturday afternoon.

Some say Midland has the worst car drivers in Texas. Others say they are not so bad. We don't own a car, therefore our fenders aren't dented, if the first premise be true. There are lots of traffic violations here. That is known.

You will hear chicken fried steak ordered more than any other food in Midland. And aren't there more people eating out than any place you ever saw?

Athletes of Midland high school here have a peculiar custom. When a boy makes a varsity team he gets his hair dyed blond. Some of the darkest-haired boys we ever saw have sported very blond hair here at times.

All right, so you know Midland pretty well. Okay, how many stories in the Petroleum Building? What is the flag flown daily?

What does that Bible verse say on the sign "Go To Church" on the courthouse lawn? And what verse of Scripture is it? What street does the courthouse face? Where is the dividing line between North and South Main Streets?

What are the streets named for? Are they avenues as well? What's the elevation of Midland?

What are the answers? You will find out someday if you stay a Midlander and are interested enough. Besides we can't answer each of them. Will tell you one answer:

The Bible verse on the "Go To Church" sign is Psalms 122. See if that isn't right. Then you won't forget it.

English Breakfast Muffins Easily Prepared In Own Kitchen

By GAYNOR MADDOX
NEA Staff Writer

A good Sunday breakfast should begin the "day of rest," and a pleasant but not backbreaking supper should close the day happily for everyone in the family.

English muffins can be quite simply prepared in your own kitchen. Hearty-sized muffins are a perfect bread for Sunday breakfast—split (with a fork or fingers—never cut), toasted and spread with melted butter while piping hot. Unlike most hot breads, these muffins keep for several days when stored in a covered jar.

English Muffins
(Yield: 12 muffins, 4 1/2 inches in diameter)

One-half cup boiling water, 3 tablespoons butter, 1 1/4 teaspoons salt, 2 tablespoons sugar, 1/2 cup bearingly so, but it is groupish. Mrs. Smith, whose husband works for an oil company, chums with Mrs. Jones, whose husband works for the same concern. They go to the grocery store together. Some say this clannishness is born of a new population here—people just haven't branched out in their acquaintances—they only know the people, who work by side.

Midland used to get bad whiffs when the wind was right from its dump grounds. That has been corrected by a new system of dumpage and coverage.

What high school class is emblazoned on one of the overhead water tanks. Ever notice?

Look around—you may see something—that's Midland.

evaporated milk, 1 yeast cake, 1/4 cup lukewarm water, 1 egg, beaten, 4 cups sifted flour.

Pour boiling water over butter, salt and sugar. Add milk. Dissolve yeast in the lukewarm water and add with egg, and 2 cups flour to first mixture. Stir to blend well.

Add remaining flour and knead until firm and elastic. Let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour. Toss on floured board and roll out 1/4-inch thick. Cut in 4-inch circles. Leave on board. Cover and let rise until double in bulk, about 1 hour.

When light, lift carefully to hot ungreased griddle or heavy frying pan. Bake slowly. (The griddle should be heated well and then the heat turned very low so that the muffins will brown slowly.) Muffins should bake about 7 minutes on each side.

Tongue And Asparagus Sandwich.
(Yield: 6 sandwiches)

Six slices bread, mayonnaise, 1 No. 2 can asparagus spears, 1 12-ounce can luncheon tongue, sliced, or 6 slices ham, 1 tall can evaporated milk (1 2/3 cups, 1/2 pound sharp American cheese (about 2 cups grated).

Spread bread with mayonnaise. Lay slices of tongue or ham on mayonnaise. Heat asparagus in its own liquor. Melt cheese in milk over hot water and stir until smoothly blended. If cheese is not of a type that melts rapidly, cut in small pieces or grate before adding to milk. When ready to serve, lift stalks of asparagus from liquid and lay on meat. (There should be about 3 stalks asparagus for each sandwich.) Pour hot cheese sauce over asparagus. If you like, pop it all under broiler for a few minutes to turn to a lovely brown.

Hoover Issues Birthday Message

BOHEMIAN GROVE, CALIF.—(NEA)—Herbert Hoover, America's only living ex-President, declared in a birthday message that "free nations have but one of two possibilities" if they are to reverse the "tide of disaster."

One, he said, "is cooperation from Russia, which is improbable," the other, "making peace among the peoples outside Russia and her satellites . . . which is possible."

The message, issued at his Summer camp here, where he will observe his 73rd birthday Sunday, follows:

"Another year after the war's end finds the earth without peace, little recovery in production, increasing danger of starvation abroad and alarms of another world war.

"One nation alone, by refusal of cooperation and destructive acts, is responsible.

"If we are to reverse this tide of disaster, then free nations have but one of two possibilities; first, cooperation from Russia, which is improbable; second, making peace among the peoples outside Russia and her satellites, together with subjugation of her international poison squads, which is possible.

"If neither is done, then an armed United States can live in reasonable comfort, use our food surplus to stave off starvation and wait, even if it means isolation which is most undesirable. . . ."

Free Enterprise Is...

A lot of little things . . . and some big things, too. It's our right to live our own lives . . . run our ranches, farms and businesses in our own way . . . without needless interference. It's our right to criticize the government and those in high offices, or make a speech on the public square. It's our right to go when and where we choose . . . to work or not, as we please.

Free enterprise offers opportunity to all. It rewards hard work, ingenuity and thrift. It thrives on competition and raises our standard of living . . . encourages invention, stimulates research and promotes progress. It offers us a chance to save and invest and build and grow.

Free enterprise is the most American thing we have. It is America. Let's keep it.

Your account or your loan is always welcomed as an item of business.

Return of American War Dead Underway

Under the direction of U. S. Army personnel, Belgian workers start disinterring one of the American war dead at the U. S. Military Cemetery at Henri-Chapelle, Belgium. The wooden coffin in the background is used to transport the body to the identification point at the cemetery before placing it in a casket and shipping it to the next of kin in the U. S.

McKenney on Bridge

By WILLIAM E. MCKENNEY
America's Card Authority

For many years I have been corresponding with Frank E. Lyons of Kingston, Jamaica, but it was only recently that I had the pleasure of meeting him in person. There is a good deal of bridge played in Jamaica.

Last year a Jamaica team participated in the national championships tournament at Hollywood, Fla., and that team is now known as the Hollywood Four. Mr. Lyons expressed the hope that a U. S. team will participate in one of the Jamaica tournaments before long.

In discussing today's hand, Lyons remarked that sometimes we can make the opponents help us

Rover Really Roves, SPAC Complains

SAN FRANCISCO—(AP)—How well did you provide for that pet you left behind at vacation time?

The San Francisco Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals notes a sudden rise in stray cats and dogs that coincides with the summer vacation season. In April it picked up 1,255 cats and 1,738 dogs. By June the number had risen to 1,616 cats and 2,240 dogs.

"Too often," says Charles Friedrichs, local SPCA secretary, "neighbors who promise to look after Rover are careless. Other vacationers abandon their animals rather than turn them over to the SPCA."

Egyptian Job Act Signed By Farouk

CAIRO—(AP)—King Farouk has signed a royal decree to put into effect Egypt's new company law, designed to make more work for Egyptians.

To take effect in three months, the law applies mainly to joint stock companies formed in Egypt. Its advocates hail it as a long overdue guarantee of work for Egyptians, but critics warn that it will discourage foreign capital needed for Egypt's development.

The legislation specifies percentages of employees who must be Egyptians and the share of pay rolls which Egyptians must receive.

It prohibits holders of salaried government posts from becoming board members of any joint stock company, and stipulates that at least 40 per cent of a company's directors must be Egyptians. Within three years after the law goes into effect at least 73 per cent of a company's technical, administrative and clerical employees must be Egyptians and they must receive at least 65 per cent of the salaries and allowances paid.

to play a hand well. He won the opening club lead in dummy and ruffed the club in his own hand.

Then he took one round of hearts and led the nine of spades. East won this with the king and made a nice return when he came back with the nine of diamonds. Lyons put on the queen, forcing West's ace.

West found himself in a bad spot at this point. He could lead a diamond—right into declarer's king—ten—or lead a club, which would give declarer a sluff and a ruff.

He chose the only other course and cashed the ace of spades, but when he continued with the queen, Lyons ruffed, went over to dummy with a trump, ruffed another spade, re-entered dummy with the king of hearts, and discarded his ten of diamonds on dummy's fifth spade.

It is said that it is possible to make a razor blade that would keep its edge indefinitely without stropping, but such a blade would cost approximately $25.

'Five O'Clock Shadow' Says Boy Whose Knees Get Dirty In Hurry

By JACK RUTLEDGE
Associated Press Staff

Signs of the times:
The younger generation reads the ads, too. A young Texarkana boy and his mother were going to town. She was checking him over to see if he had got dirty since his bath 30 minutes before.

Everything was all right except his knees. They were definitely dirty.

"Aw," he said dejectedly, "it's just five o'clock shadow."

In Dallas a man ran a red light and blamed it on a watermelon.

He told corporation court Judge Frank O'Brien he was alone in the car, with a half a watermelon on the front seat.

"The light turned red just as I got to the intersection," he said.

"If I had stopped that watermelon would have slid right out of the seat and smashed on the floor."

Judge O'Brien reduced the usual $5 fine to $3.

Joe Palooka and Superman are going to school, says Dr. Lavada Ratliff of North Texas State College.

No longer must the comics be hidden under the English or geography books, says Dr. Ratliff. They are being used in classrooms this summer in an education class.

They are termed a modern counterpart of fairy tales, and will be used to help teach reading, history, geography, art, language and science.

A Dallas veteran returned home took one look at rents, and decided to build his own home. His only helper is his mother, who quit her flower garden to help her son build his house.

The veteran is Bert Cook, the mother is Mrs. Bert Cook, Sr.

The home is a two-story, four-room house. He drew his own plans which, he said, "are understandable to my mother and me."

Labor Institute At Penn State Requires Week Of Long Hours And No Overtime For Steelworkers

STATE COLLEGE, PA.—(NEA)—Steelworkers, fresh and clean in their newly-acquired campus attire, are going to college—and liking it.

They go only for a week, sometimes on their own time, but in that week they learn more than the average college student.

This summer, for the second straight year, some 400 such workers attended a labor institute at the Pennsylvania State College.

The Penn State Institute, one of nine operated at key colleges and universities throughout the country this summer, was the birthplace of the project, sponsored by the United Steelworkers of America (CIO).

Men who fought for the eight-hour day and 40-hour week "work" at studying 13 hours a day, from early morning until evening. They do it willingly and without the rewards of overtime pay.

The purpose of the institutes, according to Vincent D. Sweeney, director of public relations and education for the union, is to "go to the heart of the steelworkers' problems not only in the mills, but also in the communities."

From the moment they arrive in the Penn State campus, the workers are an integral part of college life. They're welcomed much as any new freshman class is welcomed; they live in fraternity houses, and go through much the same routine as any other collegian.

"These men certainly know what they're after," says Anthony Luchek, instructor in collective bargaining.

"They go after a subject in the right spirit. They want to know the how and why of everything."

No final examinations are conducted, but over a six-day period, the steelworkers "cram" to grasp the full meaning of arbitration, conciliation, and job evaluation, the history of the labor movement, the responsibilities of labor to the community and to the job, and the secrets of conducting a union meeting.

Locals of the international and students pay for the expenses of registration, textbook, room and board. Women active in their locals are admitted, and they represent about 10 per cent of the total enrollment. Many local and district leaders returned to the Penn State Institute for the second time, and plan to come back again next year.

Before Autumn, the union anticipates that some 2,000 of its members will have taken the courses at Penn State, the Universities of Indiana, Illinois, Wisconsin, New Hampshire, and California (and Los Angeles Branch), Kansas, and Antioch College in Ohio.
