Things have been a 'poppin' so fast in Ozona for the past several weeks. It's been hard to get all the news out and work on ads over the weekend. We've been lucky the past couple of weeks to have a couple of stories by the "old pro," Mr. White. Nobody knows how much these contributions help an overworked editor like yours truly. Of course, Mrs. Post and Debra always come through for us and their contributions are widely read. Bill Morrison does a good job for us on occasion, but his column has been absent from these pages for several weeks, spring fever, we guess.

We've had an over abundance of sales and new businesses cropping up, and it has certainly served to keep us busy. We've been stretched so thin it's been impossible to get around to this column every week. Like most of our readers expect, we've had some complaints that it gets sort of dull and boring with this column absent, nothing to disagree with when the paper is full of "just plain news." We've even had several requests for some political comment, due to the election year, etc.

Speaking of political comment, I've heard so much comment on the news and in the papers that I've been rather turned off as far as the general elections are concerned. After viewing all the presidential candidates and hearing their shopworn philosophy, I've become as apathetic as your average American voter and some what jaded too. I've come to the conclusion that if you shook them up in a paper bag and turned them out, you could pick one blindfolded who would be as good or as bad as any in the race. It's also become pretty obvious that the country is being run by a Congress, the majority of which seem to be there to oppose any constructive legislation and do not find a bill worthwhile unless the cost runs into the billions of dollars. Billions we do not have as it happens. So, does it really matter who wears the crown?

I am really sick of the antics of professional politicians. I don't really give a damn that Scoop Jackson can ride an elephant, that Jimmy Carter got a peanut subsidy, that President Ford's campaign manager tried to get favorable treatment from a government agency for a family-owned ski resort, that they all predict victory in every presidential primary and have a perfectly plausible excuse when they lose, making a loss sound like a victory. In fact I am of the opinion that presidential primaries are for the birds and don't mean a thing when it gets down to selecting the candidates. We, here in Texas are burdened with a presidential primary for the first time this year. This came about when Lloyd Bentsen declared his candidacy for President. Now when Senator Bentsen quit the primary circuit due to poor showings, here we are saddled with the expense and trouble of a presidential primary. The ballot is so complicated, besides being done in Spanish as well as English, it will take a Philadelphia lawyer to sort it all out. The new election laws, federal and state, seem to be incompatible, adding to the confusion. Officials don't know what they are doing, small wonder. Printers are unable to decide how to print the ballots and have no time to go into lengthy legal couched details, even down to the size.

Good grief! It's just possible that yours truly will take this election year to go fishing

Crockett County History Book Due To Make Debut By July 4

By W. E. White
Sometime in this Bicentennial year, hopefully by the nation's 200th birthday on July 4, a new literary work will make its debut to the people of Crockett County. It will be a historical treatise, but not in the nature of a historical novel, nor a frontier story, nor a cowboy and Indian story, nor a saga of the hardships of early American frontier life. It will, in fact, be all of that, told by a very large number of individuals, some from experience, others from stories handed down by their ancestors, and still others from the writings of others in times past and present. It will be a new history of Crockett county, told mostly by Crockett county folk and about Crockett county people, times and events. It is the Bicentennial effort of the Crockett County Historical Society begun nearly two years ago as an idea developed in a meeting of the Society. The book is now assembled and in the hands of the printers who have been earnestly implored to have the book ready for distribution by the Fourth of July this year. Family stories will make up a large part of the book.

These are stories written by individual members of the several families, or by designated persons who gathered the information and presented it as a part of the book. There are stories about various enterprises that have been developed in the county, about the county's organization, government, growth, prosperity and adversity. There are stories about triumphs of organizations and individuals, about the disasters that have overtaken the county's people, towns and business efforts and about the heady potions of community loyalty that have combined to make Ozona and Crockett county the "Best Place on Earth to Call Home."

Although this new History of Crockett County is, as stated, the work of a great number of people, more than a modicum of credit and a large measure of praise for the success of the Historical Society's project must go to the Society's enterprising president, Mrs. Pleas Childress. It had to be a labor of love for one to have spent as much time, effort and agony over the tremendous job of getting so many people to do so much. She has spent long, long hours, begged, negotiated, cajoled and sometimes maybe harassed those whose stories she sought.

Her enthusiasm has radiated from the Museum rooms to attract many volunteers to help with the assembly of materials, writing and re-writing of articles and stories, of legging the town to pick up pictures, copy of taking the message personally to get action from contributors.

Mrs. Childress will be the first to heap praise of these faithful helpers, for without them such a huge task could never have been accomplished, even with the enthusiasm of a Geniece Childress. She will want to give praise for their help to Mrs. Clay Adams, Mrs. R. A. Harrell (Crockett county's most diligent historian), Mrs. Ted White, Mrs. Bill Cooper, Mrs. Fred Hagelstein, Mrs. Jackie Womack, Mrs. Douglas Moore (a brand new Ozonan who has lent valuable assistance with her typing ability), Mrs. Joe Clayton, Mrs. Chas. Black, Mrs. Gene Perry, and Mrs. T. J. Bailey. And she will insist that this writer claim some credit for his sporadic assists in the project.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

You well know that April is one of the busiest gardening months of the year. It's time to sow grass seeds, or shape up the established lawn; select and plant annuals and perennial flowers for summer color; plant container-grown ornamental shrubs and trees; divide and replant bulbs as foliage matures; tend roses and the vegetable garden; feed nearly all plants; and counter-attack harmful insects and diseases.

If you are impatient for color, purchase seedlings already in flower. Most nurseries and garden supply shops have petunias, marigolds, ageratum, alyssum and many others for sale in bloom. They can be planted directly into beds for distant viewing, or they may be grouped in containers for cheerful close-up color.

This month is a good time to set out geranium plants. Massed in the flower bed or border, they have a colorful impact. They are easily grown and will tolerate a wide range of conditions. Any good, well-drained soil with several inches of compost or peat moss spaded into the top 6 inches will produce good plants. A half cup of 8-8-8 fertilizer for 50 square feet should also be added to the soil. Allow ample space—15 inches for the plants to grow and develop. Water and fertilize the plants regularly, and they will provide a solid blanket of green foliage topped with attractive flowers.

Select caladium tubers as soon as they are available at garden centers. Plant them in a shaded spot when the soil temperature warms to about 70 degrees. Space tubers 12 to 18 inches apart in a loose soil high in organic matter. Cover the tops with no more than 2" of soil.

If you have limited space, you have an opportunity to grow succulents outdoors in plastic or clay pots or half-pots that will fit on patio walls. A wide variety of succulents can be planted in coarse sandy soil which allows good drainage. Hang them where there is plenty of sunlight. Succulents have the capacity to hold large amounts of water within their leaves or modified stems. Since little watering is required, they make an easy to maintain wall garden.

If you have pots of perennials that you want to root this spring, now is a good time to take cuttings. This works well with geraniums, chrysanthemums, coleus, begonias, pinks, santolina, herbs, sultana and many others. Take the cuttings 3" to 5" long, retaining leaves on the upper half of the cutting. A root promoting substance is not necessary, but the use of one will give uniformity in rooting and will promote development for a heavy root system. Stick cuttings in containers having a mixture of equal parts perlite and peat moss. Given high humidity and a

by Debra Price H. D. Agent

Good planning begins with a good meat choice. Your best choice now and through April may very well be beef. Beef is in unusually heavy supply and retail prices have moved downward. This suggests that it is a good time to buy and freeze, buy and serve, and buy and save.

According to marketing specialists with USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, beef supplies in March were 10 percent higher than a year earlier and in April about 15 percent higher. Marketing specialists also say that it's beef from cattle which have been fed grain that is making up the greatest part of the increased supply.

For those interested in economy as well as good eating, some beef buying tips should include reminders to buy it right, cook it right, and freeze it properly. You could realize savings in time as well as in dollars.

In buying right, select the cuts in the size that will fill your family needs. Another economical buying plan is to determine the cost of the serving rather than the cost per pound.

Since small portions of meat cook faster than large portions, cooking time can be reduced by cutting the meat into serving sizes before braising, as in the case of pot roast. Time savings can also accrue by preparing casseroles on range top rather than oven baking. Another time saving tip is to double a recipe, one for serving that day and another to freeze. Fresh beef can be frozen without rewrapping and stored in the freezer for 1 to 2 weeks. When freezing for longer periods it is best to overwrap with a moisture and vapor proof freezer material. By rewrapping it properly, ground beef can be stored for periods up to 3 or 4 months, other cuts from 6 to 12 months.

- A delicious way to serve beef is Curried Steak Strips, CURRIED STEAK STRIPS
- 1-1/2 pound beef round steak, cut 1/2 inch thick
- 3 tablespoons flour
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 2 tablespoons cooking fat or drippings
- 1 teaspoon curry powder
- 1 small onion, chopped
- 1 clove garlic, crushed
- 3/4 cup water
- 1 can (15 ounces) tomato sauce
- 2 teaspoons lemon juice
- 1 cup rice
- 1 package (10 ounces) frozen peas

Cut round steak in strips 1/8 inch thick and 2 to 3 inches long. Combine flour, salt and pepper and dredge beef strips. Brown in cooking fat in large frying pan. Pour off drippings. Stir curry powder, onion and garlic into meat. Add water and cook slowly 30 minutes, stirring occasionally. Stir tomato sauce and lemon juice into beef mixture and continue cooking 30 minutes or until meat is tender. Cook rice and peas according to package directions, drain, combine and serve with curried beef, 6 servings. --0--

IT'S IN YOUR HANDS NOW

Here was the symbol of torture and death . . . during the Roman Empire . . . until that Friday when they crucified a Galilean carpenter.

Then it became the symbol of God's love . . . because the Son of God had died for the sins of mankind.

Except for that one fact there is no more reason to revere the Cross than there is to revere the guillotine, the electric chair, the gas chamber.

And there is no law, no police power, no military force that requires millions of families to remember the Cross and worship the One crucified.

The deepest meaning of this Lenten Season is that Christian believers voluntarily respond to the Sacrifice of Jesus Christ. This Act of Love that changed the destiny of humanity . . . it's in your hands now . . .

First Baptist Youth To Stage Walkathon

Saturday, April 10, several First Baptist Church young people will hike for missions. They will start at the cement plant at the edge of town, and, hopefully, hike 30 miles down the Juno highway to the R. J. Everett house.
Each hiker will have one or more sponsors who will give so much for each mile hiked, and the proceeds will go toward the Annie Armstrong Home Mission Goal which is $1,200.00. It is hoped that there will be at least 30 hikers, and at $1.00 a mile for 30 miles they would earn $900.00 for Home Missions. In addition to the First Baptist Church young people hiking, the preacher has been challenged to hike, and he has agreed to make the hike for $10.00 a mile. Skeptics are saying that he cannot last but for 2 or 3 miles, but 30 miles at $10.00 a mile would mean another $300.00 for missions, and that added to the young people's total would reach the goal. So we welcome any takers who want to keep the preacher walking at $10.00 a mile.

This Sunday the hikers along with their sponsors will be recognized, and the report of the miles hiked and the amount earned will be given.

Last Thursday was All Fool's Day, or April Fool as we say hereabouts, and we thought we got by pretty good without gremlins or any serious and foolish mistakes. However, that feeling was short-lived. Immediately after the paper came out, we discovered we had left out several ads. We discovered this when our ad buyers began telephoning. Upon further investigation, we discovered a whole page tucked under an ad page which had run the previous week. Sure enough there were several ads to be run in last week's paper on the page. Most of the ads were standing ads, or to be run weekly, but the grand opening for the D&C Car Wash was one of the ads and since the grand opening was last Saturday, there isn't much we can do about that except to say "we are sorry." Funny thing too, when something like this happens, every member of the staff is quick to rid himself or herself (whichever the case may be) of any blame. You hear things like "wasn't me." "I never saw that page before in my life." "I didn't do it." "can't imagine how that happened. I sure didn't do it," etc. etc. So we just say the gremlins did it, and let it go at that, the end result is the same. We made a big mistake.
