Ozonans celebrated the nation's Bicentennial in fine style. The county fair was a big success in spite of brief rain showers which threatened from heavy clouds throughout the day. Almost everybody turned out to celebrate, braving the damp. There was a little something for everyone throughout the two days, beginning with the county fair, the combined worship service on Sunday and the ringing of the bells at 1 o'clock Sunday.

Any activity was available from children's "go fish" to golf, bridge and television. Activities at the country club even included a head-standing contest and a beer guzzling contest. In the head-standing contest, male was pitted against female and as tradition would have it, the male won (by devious means, of course). The beer-guzzling contest featured the young and the crazy; there were no female contestants.

KCTV, San Angelo, featured Ozona's Bicentennial Fair in the 10:30 news Saturday night. In full color, it was a beautiful presentation with narration. It ran a good six minutes and opened with the camera zoomed in on the Ozona sign (Biggest little town in the world). All booths at the fair were shown. The ladies in their old-fashioned dresses, the decorated booths and the fair decorations, done by members of the sorority, gave it a real old-fashioned county fair look, and it might have been a Fourth of July near 200 years ago. The narrative faded out with a closing shot of the sign, and Ozonans who saw it were impressed. Hope you didn't miss it.

The daily paper didn't do so well by us. Mrs. Harrell, (not Mrs. Barrell) wrote a very informative sketch on the history of Crockett County. However, the pictures she sent of the first town well and the early residential section were not used, and the captions on those used left much to the imagination. We can certainly sympathize with newspaper people and the inevitable mistakes that crop up, but we feel an historical edition should get extra scrutiny from proof readers and lay-out people. We don't have the staff to put out a special edition, and we didn't try. It was, after all, the nation's birthday. We will have a special edition to mark the Crockett County Centennial. We have ten years to work on it, and we are expecting to come up with a special edition to rival the one put out on the county's 50th birthday, which has been called a masterpiece by many.

We can't afford to complain about rain in this part of the country, but the rain did cut down on our pictorial edition we had planned for this week, and many of the arts and crafts had to be covered to prevent water damage. However, we feel several of the shots are worth reproducing and we offer them to you. We planned a shot of each booth, but weather did not permit.

We enjoyed much of the televised activities during the day Sunday. Some really spectacular events took place over the nation. However, we did get so weary of hearing from many newscasters how much we have

COMBINED CHURCH WORSHIP SERVICES in the park Sunday was part of the 2-day observance of the Bicentennial celebration. Ozona churches dismissed at 11 o'clock in order that members could attend the outdoor services and enjoy an old fashioned dinner on the ground. Over 300 persons attended the services.

Moore Oilers Win Ozona Little League Championship

Moore Oil won the season Little League Championship with a clear-cut win of the second half of play. Three teams, Moore Oil, Crockett Automotive and Ozona Oil, tied in the first half of play.

The teams wound up play for the season last Thursday night and All Stars were announced.

Gas Wildcat Slated For Crockett Co.

KCM Co., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Pierce, a 12,500-foot Ellenburger gas wildcat in Crockett County, 30 miles southwest of Ozona and two miles southwest of Canyon, 3 1/2 miles southwest of Strawn and Ellenburger production in the Miller gas field and two miles northeast of a 12,022 foot failure.

Location is 1,140 feet from the south and 1,320 feet from the west lines of 148-0 GH&SA. Ground elevation is 2,119 feet. The Miller field produces from the Canyon at 5,592 feet; Ellenburger, 11,330 feet and Strawn, 11,266 feet.

The failure, Delta Gulf Drilling Co. and Ted Weiner No. 1 P. T. Robison, was abandoned July 1, 1952 at 12,022 feet in the Ellenburger.

ONE OF THE MOST COLORFUL booths at the County Fair Saturday was the Home Demonstration Club's "Country Kitchen." It was complete with wood stove, wash basin, oil lamp and gingham curtains. The club members were all in old-fashioned dresses and bonnets and served some delicious baked goodies.

Rainfall Amounts To .70 Of Inch

In spite of missing the really heavy rain showers which fell around the area over the weekend, Ozona managed to record .70 of an inch of rainfall by noon Tuesday.

Showers which fell over the weekend amounted to .30 of an inch, and a heavy rain shower early Tuesday morning added another .40 of an inch.

The brief rainfall brought a little cooler temperatures to the city, and failed to cancel Bicentennial activities which took place almost entirely in the city park here.

The rainfall was the first measurable amount in several weeks, in spite of afternoon thunder cloud build up almost daily.

Church Of Christ Bible School Set

The Vacation Bible School of the Ozona Church of Christ begins Monday night, July 12 and concludes on Friday night, July 16.

Classes for ages, Cradle Roll through Adult, are scheduled for each night at 7:30 p.m.

Ian Fair, dean of the Sunset School of Preaching in Lubbock, and former missionary to South Africa, will be the guest teacher of the adult class. Fair is an excellent Bible teacher and will present some stimulating lessons.

Everyone in the community is invited to attend these five days of Bible study.

Vandals Swipe Banners

Vandalism struck the courthouse sometime Monday night. Ropes were cut and three of the graphics arts banners were taken from their places in front of the courthouse.

Members of the Historical Society and the committee who made the banners have asked that they be returned, no questions asked. Plans had been made to leave the banners up throughout the month, and then to use them on special occasions for the next ten years or so.

Bicentennial Celebration Is Good Community Effort Here

The Bicentennial celebration here was a true community effort. Many Ozonans worked long and hard at making the weekend event a memorable occasion and a most successful one.

Ozona's Bicentennial celebration got under way promptly at 10 o'clock Saturday with the opening of the county fair in the city park. Rain showers throughout the day did little to dampen the spirits of the celebrants or limit the attendance. The Bicentennial Singers, who were scheduled to open the fair with a performance, were unable to do so, because of moving the piano in the rain. However, the sun was out around 4:30 and the group gave a moving performance.

The Beta Sigma Phi Sorority chapter sponsored the fair, and members began decorating the park around 8:00 o'clock Saturday morning in spite of sprinkling rain. Large, red foil-covered letters proclaimed "County Fair," above the information booth which faced Highway 290. Flags and red, white and blue paper balls decorated the fair grounds.

Each organization set up its own booth, and decorations varied, all using a Bicentennial theme. The information booth was an attractive little nook with a counter topping the U. S. Flag. Fair visitors registered on a parchment scroll which has been presented to the Crockett County Museum for permanent exhibit. Chamber of Commerce manager, Joann Babbitt, manned the booth, which was the chamber's contribution to the fair.

Graphic arts banners decorated the fair and the courthouse grounds, all carrying a Bicentennial theme. The focal point on all banners was an Ozonan's entry for the Bicentennial Logo Contest. Mrs. Jackie Womack's entry was selected and made the official logo several months ago. It appears on the top right side of this newspaper as it has for many months.

Many beautiful handmade items were on sale at the sorority's arts and hand crafts booth. A variety of useful items from sunbonnets to terrariums were offered, all made by sorority members. Nearby, children sifted for prizes in two large tubs of sand.

The "Chores of the Past" booth, sponsored by the Womans Forum, had no articles for sale, but offered demonstrations, such as churning for butter, making soap, and stilt making with wire and tin cans.

The Womans League booth offered hot dogs, cold drinks, commemorative balloons and hats, plus a "go fishing" pond for the youngsters. Popcorn and snow cones were selling at a brisk pace at the Veteran's of Foreign Wars booth.

The Home Demonstration booth was one of the more cleverly done booths and members spent much time re-creating a country kitchen, complete with wood stove and checkered curtains. Baked goods and handmade kitchen items were on sale. Miniature fruit pies, made by club members, sold out almost immediately.

The traditional Fourth of July watermelon booth was manned by the 4-H clubs.

Members of the newly formed Crockett County Womans Club aired up 700 balloons for their dart-throwing booth. They also offered boat floating for the younger set.

The Eastern Star had the cake booth and sold out as fast as members brought their homemade cakes to the park.

At least five booths were scheduled but did not get set up. There was an art showing by pupils of Mary Brocker's art class and an encyclopedia display which were not mentioned earlier.

At 2 o'clock youngsters races were held with three divisions in each race. Bicentennial 50¢ pieces were given for prizes.

Over 300 persons gathered in the park for the combined worship services and picnic lunch in the park. A brief but heavy rain shower about 30 minutes before the services were to begin did not interfere and the service began promptly at 11 o'clock with the call to worship. The invocation was given by Mark White before the congregation sang "America." The entire service was devoted to the nation's 200th anniversary. Rev. Ben Bohm-

ARTS & CRAFTS BOOTH offered a multitude of decorations. The Alpha Alpha Mu Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi had this offering. The covering was necessary to keep rain off the items, all of which were handmade by sorority members. The sorority also sponsored the fair and decorated the park prior to the opening of the fair.

HOT DOGS WERE THE FAVORITE OF THE DAY at the Ozona Womans League booth, and most members were kept busy during the noon hour trying to keep up with the customers. The fine rain which was falling made things messy, but seemed to whet appetites.

The Parable Of The Foolish Farmer

Americans - and, more especially, American politicians - are inclined to think much more about domestic problems than those on the international level. In a typical survey, one Representative in Washington recently asked his constituents for their opinions on busing, crime, government spending, economy, energy, education and environment. All very important, yes. Unfortunately, not one question was asked concerning our military strength, or our foreign policy, and certainly no question on the subject of the world balance of power.

If we may indulge in the use of parable, the situation is similar to that of a foolish farmer - and, thank Heaven, there are very few in America - whose farm of several hundred acres lies alongside a broad river. The problems of managing the farm are large and complex. The farmer spends many hours in making hard decisions. What kind of crops should he plant this year? How much of his acreage should be devoted to one crop, and how much to another? How much fertilizer is he going to need, and what is the cost going to be? What kind of expensive equipment will he need to buy, replace, or repair? When will be the best time to plow, and to plant? And when will be the best time to bring in the harvest? If all of his calculations are correct, maybe - just maybe - his income will exceed his investment.

For some strange reason, however, nowhere in his calculations does he consider the fact that a little ways downstream a dam is being built. The builders of the dam have made it abundantly clear that they are going to continue to build the dam higher. The water level in the river is plainly higher than it used to be, and indeed, several farms downstream have already been flooded. But the farmer says, "Whatever happens to those other farms is none of my business. The smart thing to do is to take care of my own, immediate affairs. I have enough problems."

There are not many foolish farmers, but there seem to be a lot of foolish Americans - especially politicians. The builders of Soviet imperialism have made it clear that they intend to build their empire higher. The floodwaters of Soviet dictatorship have already exterminated freedom over one-third of the world's landmass, destroying many countries who (unfortunately for them) were "downstream" from us. Year after year the Soviet empire grows, and freedom diminishes. Yet altogether too many people continue to give all of their time and attention to purely "domestic" issues. The flood waters aren't that far downstream.

The African Blood Bath Begins

The bitter harvest of America's new policy of interference in the internal affairs of southern Africa has begun: heightened guerrilla warfare in Rhodesia, in the United States anti-South African demonstrations, and even solicitation on the streets of Washington to send a military force to fight in southern Africa. Predictably, the same groups which so strongly opposed U.S. help to our friends in South Vietnam are now rallying in favor of the destruction of our natural friends and allies in Africa. Through it all, of course, is the seeking double standard which for so long has been so fashionable in the United Nations. The most abject tyranny of white over white or black over black is condoned, rationalized, forgiven. But the white minorities of southern Africa can do nothing right. They are universally condemned as the embodiment of the most monstrous and hideous of all evils - the rule of a white minority over a black majority. They must now either agree to their political and cultural extinction, say their foes, or else be destroyed by force.

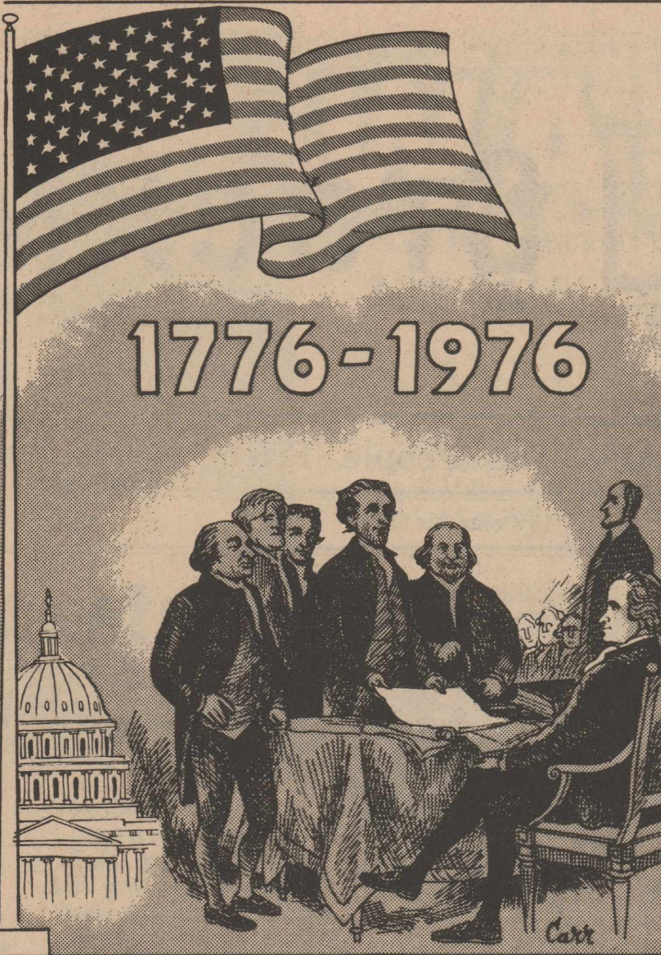

Even the simple fact of a meeting between Secretary Kissinger and South African Prime Minister John Vorster has been condemned by some as "an insult to the black people." Attempts to maintain order by South African police in the face of rampaging rioters are denounced as "murder".

Dr. Kissinger correctly stated the problem on the occasion of his meeting with Vorster: "The problem," he said, "is whether it is possible to start an evolution in South Africa in which sufficient guarantees are given to the minority so a system can evolve that the majority of the people want and that is bearable for the minority."

Unfortunately, Kissinger's earlier "Lusaka Doctrine" came down hard on the side of black Africa, and virtually guaranteed a blood bath, whatever its intentions. It made a moral judgment against the whites without regard to the factual situation, and it gave encouragement to militant and irresponsible elements to use force rather than reason.

All of which certainly delights our communist enemies. They well know how to fish in such troubled waters.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN—Major House committees and Speaker Bill Clayton offered a grab-bag program to save 10 to 15 per cent on utility bills and renewed a call for a special legislative session.

Clayton said he had discussed the proposals with Gov. Dolph Briscoe. Briscoe has been cool toward a special session unless he can be convinced substantial immediate savings in gas and electric bills would result.

Recommendations include elimination of the five per cent state-local sales tax on utility bills and a new state tax credit for investor-owned utilities. The latter is supposed to save consumers 10 to 12 per cent monthly if enacted.

Tax reduction proposals would reduce state revenue about $500 million over the next three years, but Clayton said an anticipated surplus of more than $2 billion would make this painless for government.

Among other recommendations: —Restructuring natural gas levies to shift $36.6 million of the burden from Texas to out-of-state consumers.

—Prohibition of take-or-pay provisions for more than 80 per cent of deliverability in future natural gas sale contracts and a guarantee of make-up periods of not less than two years to use gas bought under such provisions.

—A requirement that the Railroad Commission hold public hearings on re-determined prices of gas and pass-through charges to consumers.

—Uniform application of all gas cost adjustments to consumers regardless of class or amount of consumption.

ABC Head Quits
Alcoholic Beverage Commission Administrator Luke Robinson quit his job under fire.

Robinson pointed to disension on the commission as his reason for bowing out after only a nine months trial. He said he would not "play games with the people's business..." and not break before the winds of political pressure.

The new administrator ordered a series of raids last fall and insisted on strict application of a law requiring 51 per cent of stock in establishments which sell alcoholic beverages to be owned by Texans.

Democrats Seek Truce
Democrats, troubled with friction over state party leadership, held summit truce talks here last week to discuss patching up differences for a united general election campaign.

Texas members of the Democratic National Committee, State Chairman Calvin Guest, Bob Armstrong (who heads Jimmy Carter's presidential nomination campaign) and AFL-CIO President Harry Hubbard talked over plans for the fall campaign in a three-hour session.

Health Planning Act

WASHINGTON—A federal law that was supposed to streamline health care services could undermine health care in rural areas.

The National Health Planning and Resources Development Act is supposed to eliminate waste and inefficiency in health delivery systems by coordinating previously overlapping state and local health care programs.

But the 1974 law has degenerated into a bureaucratic nightmare which will substitute rigidity for flexibility in health delivery systems, create more paperwork rather than less, and is deny modern medical facilities to the rural areas of our country, the areas that need them most.

Furthermore, the Health Planning Act is politicizing medicine, and could serve as a stalking horse for an expensive, inefficient and unnecessary national health insurance program.

Essentially, the Health Planning Act gives boards authorized by the federal government power to determine where hospitals and clinics will be built and what health care services will be provided at them.

The act divides the United States into 205 "health service areas," 12 in Texas, and creates health systems agencies (HSA) to coordinate planning in each of the health service areas.

The health systems agencies are governed by a board nominated by the governor of each state, subject to the approval of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW).

The primary responsibilities of the health systems agencies are to prevent duplication and waste in health delivery systems and to monitor the use of federal health funds.

The streamlining sounds good in theory, but what it means in practice is that the HSAs are restricting specialized health care services such as obstetric, pediatric, intensive and coronary care to the metropolitan areas.

This results in fewer, smaller rural hospitals providing primary care only. The subsequent transfer of seriously ill patients to metropolitan health care centers drastically reduces the income of rural hospitals, causing a loss of skilled personnel and the concomitant discontinuance of even more services.

The act also aggravates the shortage of doctors in rural areas. Good physicians cannot be expected to remain long in an area of primary care where they can participate in only a part of a patient's treatment, and young doctors will not be attracted to a rural practice limited in such a way.

The streamlining doesn't save any money, because even though some duplication has been eliminated, an expensive new administrative bureaucracy has been added, as well as the cost of transferring patients from rural hospitals to hospitals in cities.

What I find most objectionable about the act is that an individual's freedom of choice of hospital facilities, treatment and physicians will be replaced by a cumbersome and bureaucratic plan totally devoid of the human element so necessary in effective medical care.

For these and other reasons, I have introduced a bill to repeal the National Health Planning and Resources Act.

you and the LAW
PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I've been living with a man for three years. We have one child. He has two children living with us. If he should die without leaving a will, would I have to go to court to claim his Social Security, and the house we are buying?

A: Any claim by a common law widow concerning Social Security benefits would depend on whether she could prove to the Social Security Administration that the common law marriage met the law's requirements. The rights of two people buying a house depend on many factors, including whether there is a valid common law marriage or whether the property was bought by them jointly as tenants-in-common. If the home is the family home-stead, and if the common law marriage is valid, the widow has a community 1/2 interest in the property and the right to remain in the house for her lifetime, so long as the mortgage or other debt on the property is paid. If there was no valid common law marriage and the property was purchased by them jointly, she would own 1/2 as a tenant-in-common.

Q: Before my husband and I recently separated, he asked me to sign a blank income tax return; I refused. I told him I would sign a completed form, but the deadline has passed and I haven't received it. Could he have filed the return without my signature?

A: The Internal Revenue Service cannot process a joint tax return with only one signature. You should contact IRS to learn whether a joint return has been filed in your name. If it has been filed, IRS will explain how to correct the situation. If no return has been filed, you should file a return to avoid penalties for failure to file.

Q: My mortgage company recently increased my monthly house payment $8 per month. The company said the increase was for "future insurance needs." However, I am purchasing the home-owners insurance policy myself - it is not being purchased by the mortgage company. Is there any way I can prevent this increase?

A: Mortgage companies are not regulated by any state or federal agency, as to their use of escrow funds. Therefore, there is no administrative procedure available to challenge a mortgage company's increase in your monthly payment.

Q: While my son is away from home without permission, am I legally responsible for any damage he causes?

A: Parents are responsible for the malicious and willful destruction of the property of others by their child until that child is 18 years old. The amount of responsibility is limited to $5,000 for each act of willful destruction.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

Though the sun has been torrid for days, you can be refreshed in the early morning when passing crisp, fresh roses, day lilies and other blooms you may have in your garden.

Gardening in the southwest in the summer usually depends on scattered showers and artificial watering. Trees and shrubs often give off more than they can get from a parched soil. Therefore, it is important to wet the soil four to six inches deep. When dry enough, cultivate the soil lightly, but do not disturb the roots.

If you mulch your plants it isn't necessary to stir the soil so often, for it prevents soil crusting. Mulches conserve water, time and labor. They insulate the soil from hot winds and sun and help keep weeds controlled. Some of the organic mulches are compost, cottonseed hulls, peat moss, barks and others you may like to use. Some inorganic mulches are pea size gravel, river pebbles and colored volcanic rock. Plan how you want to use the mulch, then select the one that best fits your need and plan, the availability and cost.

Hot weather care for container plants should be observed to have them looking their best. Root growth is inhibited when soil temperatures rise to 90 degrees or higher. Results may be the loss of choice container plants on fully exposed patios or decks. The sun-loving plant that suffers from heat is the geranium. It does well in cooler weather but cannot very long tolerate excessive heat in the root zone. The type container affects the amount of heat to which the plant is subjected. Dark containers absorb more heat than light-colored pots. Since wood is a poor conductor of heat, it makes a good container material.

Precautions to assure little damage to container plants during hot weather are these-

1. Group plants together so they will shade each other.
2. Check plants daily to determine their water needs. The smaller the container, the more often the plant needs water.
3. Cool plants during the hottest days with a water spray early or late.
4. If you must be away for a few days, move plants to a shaded area and ask a friend to water them regularly.

Debra Says

Microwave Ovens are a popular aid for helping homemakers save time--but don't use them for home food preservation.

Microwave ovens do not allow even heat penetration into the closed jars, and the metal lids interfere with heat distribution. This is not an acceptable method of canning, blanching or drying vegetables at home, because harmful bacteria may not be destroyed.

Blanching vegetables prior to freezing kills enzymes that otherwise would continue to work and cause undesirable changes in the food. The recommended method of blanching is in water. Or steam blanching may be used for dried foods. But blanching in the microwave is not recommended because of uneven distribution of heat.

Drying foods involves control of time and temperature. Since the temperature in a microwave oven cannot be controlled it should not be used for drying fruits and vegetables at home.

2 cups water
Cut two small slits in each pepper. Wear rubber gloves to prevent burning hands. Dissolve salt in 4 quarts water. Pour over peppers and let stand 12 to 18 hours in a cool place. Drain; rinse and drain thoroughly. Combine remaining ingredients; simmer 15 minutes. Remove garlic. Pack peppers into hot jars, leaving 1/4 inch head space. Adjust caps. Process half-pints and pints 10 minutes in boiling-water bath. Yield: about 8 pints.

PEACH JAM
2 quarts crushed, peeled peaches
6 cups sugar
1/2 cup water
Combine peaches and water; cook gently 10 minutes. Add sugar; slowly bring to boiling, stirring occasionally until sugar dissolves. Cook rapidly until thick, about 15 minutes, stirring frequently to prevent sticking. Pour, boiling hot, into hot jars. Adjust caps. Process 10-15 minutes. Yield: about 4 pints.

In the middle of the giant city, the lake is an oasis, removed from the bustle and din, just a stone's throw beyond. It is strangely quiet, peaceful, giving the visitor a moment's pause, a time to think.

All of us need that moment to pause, that time to think.

We need, now and again, to stop and ask ourselves the questions about the deeper things in life which we gloss over in the pace of everyday living. We need to dwell on spiritual things, to assess our sense of values and to wonder if we are truly living in accord with God's wishes.

Sometimes it is much easier to keep on rushing than it is to stop for a moment and take stock. Sometimes it is easier to keep on going (in what may well be the wrong way) than it is to stop and change directions. The greatest opportunity for contemplation and meditation is in your church. Here you will find spiritual resources to help you reassess and strengthen your life.

Wool Growers Prexy To Speak At TS&GR Meet

Floyd Myers Marsh, president of the National Wool Growers Association, will report on the activities of the NWGA in the field of legislation, predators and marketing at the 61st Annual Convention of the Texas Sheep & Goat Raisers' Association in San Angelo July 16-17. Marsh is a native Californian and received his B. S. degree from the University of California at Davis. He is a very effective and energetic worker for the sheep industry. Many people have said that his persistence has opened doors in Washington that some people thought were bolted shut. He will speak at the afternoon general session on Saturday, July 17.

Texas Congressman Bob Krueger of New Braunfels will be the keynote speaker at the morning session of the TS&GRA Convention. A graduate of Southern Methodist University, a Rhodes Scholar, and the youngest dean of the College of Arts and Sciences at Duke University, Mr. Krueger returned to Texas upon the death of his father in 1973, both to take on family and community responsibilities and to undertake the career of public service that he had planned while in England, where he came to appreciate the importance of American government by viewing it from abroad. He won the Democratic primary over five other candidates and then was chosen by the people of the 21st District (the largest in land area in Texas) over Republican and American Party candidates in November of 1974. Since that time Texans have found him to be very receptive to their problems and tireless in his work for better national government not only for the people of Texas but for the United States.

James T. Hunt of Sonora, president of the Mohair Council of America, will report on the activities of the Council and its Mohair Producers Board, which was established by special referendum this past year. Hunt is a native of Sonora and has ranching interests in Sutton, Schleicher and Edwards Counties, where he runs Angora goats, sheep and cattle.

Karl Bareither, an estate planner from Grand Junction, Colorado, will address TS&GRA members and directors during the 61st Annual Convention. A Chartered Life Underwriter, Bareither founded Agri-Financial Planning and has provided estate planning service for several agriculturally-oriented associations. In addition, he has completed an advance course on Estate Protection at Purdue University and serves as membership chairman of several ranch associations.

Convention headquarters will be the LaQuinta Motor Inn, and registration will begin at 9:00 a.m. Friday, July 16. TS&GRA standing committees will meet at 1:30 p.m. American Cyanamid will host a reception that evening, followed by a dance. Saturday, July 17, will be devoted to the full-day general session. American Cyanamid will host a reception that evening at the Coliseum, followed by the Special Recognition Barbecue.

Members of the Historical Society planned to leave the banners up at least during the month of July. They were shocked and dismayed to discover three of the banners missing early Tuesday morning.

July Social Security Visit Set

Garland Gregg, social security representative for the San Angelo Social Security office, has scheduled his July visit to Ozona. He will be at the County Courthouse on Wednesday, July 21st from 10:30 a.m. to 12:00 noon.

Anyone who wants to file a claim for benefits, get information, or transact other business with the Social Security Administration may contact him at this time. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. Residents of Ozona may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058."

Crime Increases On American Females

By-Sgt. Sidney Lyle
A recent F. B. I. report on rape confirmed that the American female has fallen victim to a most hideous crime at the rate of 26 per 100,000. With the crime of rape increasing year after year, and because the criminal is more sophisticated in his mode of transportation, it becomes necessary for women to practice personal safety techniques that would help them become less vulnerable to attack. Far too many offenders get "off the hook" merely because the victim does not want to go through the degradation of a court hearing, or the fear that her husband or elder son would take vengeance and become the subject of prosecution themselves. Therefore, the best approach is one of prevention.

Understandably, rapes cannot be totally prevented. We can, however, eliminate to a considerable degree the opportu-ity for crime to occur. Although the old cliché, "Remove the opportunity and you remove the crime" holds true, the opportunity cannot be completely eliminated. There are obviously two extremes: dangerously careless conduct (which is totally unacceptable), and 100% safe (which is totally unattainable). What must be achieved is a proper balancing out of the two extremes so that normal routines and activities are altered only slightly, while reducing the opportunity for the crime to occur. The end result of this balance must become cautious awareness.

There are several good rules to follow which will aid in developing awareness. First of all, we must recognize a potential crime hazard when it develops. Example, you are driving in downtown traffic and stop for a traffic signal. Does a hazard exist? Yes, if your doors are unlocked, a stranger may decide to enter your vehicle, or your windows may be down so low a thief can reach inside and remove your purse. Solution, keep doors locked and windows up.

At home, keep your doors locked and don't accept strangers into your home without proper identification, and then only if necessary. If the person at the door says he is with a utility company, make him prove it. If he says his car is broke down and he needs to use the phone, make the call for him. In any event, don't let the caller inside your home. Everyone is aware of the danger associated with curtains or drapes that do not completely shut out the night, yet many women carelessly overlook drapes or shades that are open just enough to allow a window peeper in. Solution, make your premises secure from outside view, and keep all shrubbery and hedges around windows trimmed so as not to develop a hiding place for the potential peeper or attacker.

Whether you are driving to work, walking to the neighborhood market or remaining at home, the 52,000 reported rapes each year in this country is a clear indication that it can happen to you, if you become careless enough. One thing is for sure, this year there will be 52,001.

Mr. and Mrs. Evart White returned Sunday from Colorado, where they spent a week at Aspen and toured other parts of the state. They were accompanied by their children and grandchildren.

Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Harrell were in Washington, D. C. last week to see their son, Roy Alvin Harrell, off to Niamey, Niger, where he will be Economics Officer for the U. S. Department of State. Mrs. Harrell and their daughter Elizabeth, will join him in Niger shortly.

A tempting offer on a gas grill.

SAVE $30

Right now, we're making you a tempting offer on gas grills with twin burners! Independently controlled twin burners never use more gas than you need. For big meals, use both burners. For smaller meals, save gas and money by using one burner and half the grill. A gas grill adds a new dimension to family meals and entertaining. It eliminates the fuss and bother of cooking outside while it keeps the flavor and the fun. And, because you take cooking heat out of the house and the burden off your air conditioning, you save energy, too.

Buy one of these grills before August 1, 1976, and save.

Ozona Team Places In Big Lake

By-Dean Shaw
The Ozona White Socks traveled, Sunday, to Big Lake for a Fourth of July baseball tournament, capturing the second place trophy.

Teams participating in the tournament were Mereta, Wall, Ozona, and host, Big Lake.

The White Socks' first game became a thriller as Mereta was leading by two runs with Ozona's last bat, when Phillip Mayer hit an inside-the-park home run, bringing in another runner and tying the game up, sending it into extra innings. The Socks held Mereta in the next inning while Gregg Thompson knocked in the winning run giving Ricky Perry the win in pitching the game and sending the White Socks to the finals to play Big Lake, who had previously beaten Wall, Wall then edged past Mereta in extra innings to take the third place trophy as Big Lake beat the White Socks 9-6 to take the first place trophy.

Trophies were awarded to the teams and to individuals who stood out in certain areas. Kirby Corbell received a trophy for the best hitter of the day.

Boys Ranch Rodeo Set For July 10

The Annual All Boy Rodeo at West Texas Boys Ranch will be held in the West Texas Boys Ranch arena, Saturday, July 10th at 7:00 p.m., according to Buck Owens of Barnhart, rodeo chairman.

There is no admission charge to the rodeo. Barbeque will be served for $2.00 per plate, serving 5:30 p.m. to 7:00 p.m.

Featured attraction at this year's rodeo will be the San Angelo Saddle Club in a Pony Express Race.

Boys Ranchers will be competing for All Around Cowboy trophy buckle and ribbons for events such as calf riding, steer riding, goat sacking, goat tying, barrel race, cow-chip throwing, and other events. All events are for Boys Ranch boys only.

Judging will be by Benny Friend and Bill Shaw with stock to be furnished by Boys Ranch.

The rodeo was started in 1965 as an all-boy event for the boys at the Ranch to compete and has since become a traditional July favorite with the public.

If you need a new pump for your private water system, you couldn't make a wiser choice than GOULDS...

We offer the SubSurance Protection Plan that assures your new Goulds submersible will withstand the effects of lightning, corrosion and internal abrasive wear for five years. We can do this because:

- The motor has built-in lightning protection!
- The finest materials make Goulds virtually corrosion-proof inside and out!
- Abrasive resistant impellers and water passages are designed for greater efficiency than any other brand!
