With rehearsals for the Big Spring Symphony Chorus performance at Pops in the Park now under way, members of the Big Spring Fourth of July Foundation, the event's organizers, are hard at work raising the approximate $40,000 needed to stage the show.

With a little less than a month left before the 10th annual "Pops in the Park" concert and fireworks display at the Comanche Trail Park Amphitheater, organizers have raised $21,550 — a little more than half the money needed.

Letters have been mailed to former donors and prospective contributors, according to new Foundation President Jan Hansen, who said she was somewhat pleased with the rate at which the community has responded to the call for donations.

"Actually, we're a little ahead of where we were at this time last year when it comes to total contributions," Hansen said. "Last year we had a little less than half of what we needed at this point, but the community came through so that we had the money we needed in plenty of time. We're still in that position again this year. We still have a long way to go before we reach our goal, so we still need the community to come through for us."

Commissioners hope to settle on location for new county lockup Monday

By STEVE REAGAN

Howard County commissioners are close to deciding on a preferred site for a new county jail.

When commissioners meet at 10 a.m. Monday on the second floor of the courthouse, they are scheduled to enter into executive session to discuss possible purchase of property to serve as the site of the new jail.

County Judge Mark Barr recently said the commissioners court had narrowed the list down to three possible sites and hopes to whittle that list down even further Monday.

"If everything goes to plan, we'll have a site selected (Monday), barring some unforeseen situation," Barr said.

Commissioners have been searching for a new home for the jail ever since voters turned down a proposed $10 million jail in North Big Spring late last year.

They started with 13

Sports Editor

In 1990, Howard College pitcher Frankie Rodriguez was drafted in the second round of Major League Baseball's amateur draft by the Boston Red Sox. He remains the highest MLB draft pick to come out of Howard College to this day.

It was thought that Howard would have another player selected in the early rounds of Friday.

Shortstop Tyler Ladendorf was reportedly ranked by some scouts as a possible fifth round pick, meaning he would be selected sometime Thursday afternoon. However, his name was never called during the draft's first day. Instead, he waited until Friday evening to be drafted in the 34th round by the San Francisco Giants.

This marks the second consecthe 2007 MLB draft that began utive year that Ladendorf was amateur draft. Last year, he was drafted right out of high school by the New York Yankees with the 1,034th pick. This year he was selected just three picks higher as the 1,031st selection. There were 1,453 total players selected in the 2007 version of the MLB amateur draft.

Ladendorf, a freshman this spring, turned down a $170,000 signing bonus from the Yankees May 31, making him eligible for this year's draft. Unfortunately, tion until the June 1 deadline, giving other Major League teams a minimal amount of time to visit with him.

Howard Hawks head baseball coach Britt Smith expects Ladendorf to turn down the Giants' offer this year, also.

"I had seven or eight Major League teams contact me about Tyler," he said before the draft. "I think there's a very good

Spurs' Parker has Cavs praying for help

SAN ANTONIO – Darting around the court - and the Cleveland Cavaliers — in Game 1 of the NBA finals, Tony Parker was nearly unstoppable.

He scored 27 points to help the San Antonio Spurs beat the Cavaliers, who spent Friday scheming ways to contain him.

But if the Spurs had gotten their way four years ago, Parker, perhaps, wouldn't even be here.

"That never happened, so I'm happy about that and I'm happy that Tony is playing," Tim Duncan said. "Let's just leave it at that."

The "that" - or who, to be more specific — Duncan was referring to is Jason Kidd. In the summer after the Spurs won their second NBA title, in 2003, the team was aggressively recruiting Kidd, who was and still is with the New Jersey Nets.

Had Kidd signed on, it's possible Parker wouldn't be three wins away from his third NBA title.

"It was just that summer of '03, and then after that I forgot about it," Parker said. "Then I was just focusing on me trying to improve and get better as a basketball player."

That's what he did, and now the 25-vear-old Parker is emerging as the heir apparent to the Spurs' No. 1, Duncan. "If you look for one person that's a steady impact throughout the finals, I'm looking for that second person to be Tony more so than anyone else," former Spurs star David Robinson said. "If there's anybody other than Tim that even has a chance to be an MVP of the finals, it would be Tony." Teammate Michael Finley said Parker should be mentioned with the top point guards in the league — such as Kidd — and is always looking to know how he can improve.

good games, after the bad games just to let him know there's room for improvement," Finley said. "He could have done this a little bit better, he did this good, but he's always open for constructive criticism and I think that's what's going to help him in the long run."

Parker's quickness is a major element that sets him apart, along with his ability to drive the lane for acrobatic layups that he makes look all-too-easy.

"He gets shots right up to the rim," Duncan said. "They have arguments all the time about who's the best fastest in the NBA, and I don't know if he's the fastest, but he will get around just about anybody."

The point guard was drafted at age 19 by the Spurs in 2001 as the 28th overall pick. Before that, he played two seasons in the French A League.

"It's night and day," Duncan said. "I honestly didn't know what to expect with him coming in here. ... I had no idea he'd become the player he is right now."

Duncan said Parker went through "hell and back" in his development over the last few years. Parker doesn't deny he's been pushed hard, mostly by Spurs coach Gregg Popovich.

"It was a little bit like father and son," Parker said. "He was always hard on me. He always screams at me and always tried to push me because I'm a little bit like nonchalant sometimes in practice and a little bit lazy, so he's always like behind me.' On the court, though, Parker only makes tough shots look nonchalant. His quick drives to the basket and ability to change pace — when he looks like he's at top speed, he can turn it on and tear away even faster — require an athleticism that has stunned and impressed opponents. "He's very good, he's very quick, and he knows where he wants to get on the court," the

Owls take Game 1 from Aggies, 3-2

By The Associated Press

HOUSTON — Jordan Dodson singled home Danny Lehmann in the bottom of the tenth inning to give Rice a 3-2 win over the Texas A&M in Game 1 of the Houston Super Regional.

With two outs, Lehmann singled and got into scoring position when Joe Savery followed with a walk. Dodson, who scored the tying run with two outs in the ninth inning, then hit Gary Campfields first pitch to left field scoring Lehmann.

Down to their final two outs, the Owls tied the game in the ninth when Diego Seastrunk tied the game with a bloop single to center.

Bobby Bramhall (6-2) pitched the final two and two thirds innings for Rice (53-12), who are just one win away from their second straight College World Series appearance.

Ryan Berry pitched into the eighth inning for the Owls and gave up just two earned runs while walking two and striking out 10. It was the fourth time this year that Berry has stuck out at least 10 batters in a game.

The Aggies scored first when Blake Stouffer led off the second with a double and scored on a one-out single by Luke Anders. Texas A&M took a 2-0 lead in the third inning with a double by Brandon Hicks.

The Owls got a run back in the fifth when pinch runner Derek Myers scored on an error by Hicks.

Myers entered the game for J.P. Padron who also reached on a two-base error by Ruggiano. But with runners on first and second, Newmann got three straight outs keeping Rice from tying the game.

Mississippi St. 8, Clemson 6

Mitch Moreland hit a two-run home run within minutes of being taken in the Major League Baseball draft Friday, leading Mississippi State to an 8-6 victory over Clemson in their super regional opener.

The Bulldogs (37-20) need one more win in the best-of-three series against the Tigers (41-22) to advance to the College World Series. The victory came in front of a super regional-record crowd of 12.620.

Moreland, taken 530th by the Texas Rangers, hit his sixthinning homer off Daniel Moskos (3-6). The Clemson starter, taken Pittsburgh Pirates, allowed five earned runs and nine hits in five innings.

Moreland added an RBI double in the seventh inning, and Connor Powers hit a two-run homer for the Bulldogs, who rallied from 2-0 and 4-2 deficits.

John Lalor (3-1) picked up the win with three innings of two-hit relief, and Aaron Weatherford earned his seventh save.

Andy D'Alessio and Taylor Harbin hit back-to-back home runs in the sixth inning to briefly give Clemson a 5-2 lead. D'Alessio finished with three RBIs and two hits. Doug Hogan also had two hits, including a solo home run in the eighth inning.

Louisville 9,

Oklahoma St. 0

Zack Pitts allowed only four hits over seven innings and Louisville hit three home runs in the super regional opener.

Howes, Isaiah Chris Dominguez and Pete Rodriguez homered for the Cardinals (45-21), who can advance to the College World Series with a win Saturday.

Pitts (10-3), the Big East Pitcher fourth overall Thursday by the of the Year, struck out six and walked two.

> Oliver Odle (7-5) took the loss for Oklahoma State (41-20).

North Carolina 9, South Carolina 6

Reid Fronk singled home the go-ahead run in the seventh to complete North Carolina's rally from a six-run deficit in the super regional opener.

The Tar Heels (52-12) claimed their third straight come-frombehind victory, scoring the runs with two outs to move within one win of their second straight College World Series.

North Carolina erased a 6-0 deficit by scoring three runs in the sixth and four in the seventh, tying the game on Jeff Jeffords' two-out walk with the bases loaded to No. 9 hitter Garrett Gore.

Fronk then greeted reliever Will Atwood with the single off second baseman Travis Jones' glove that made it 7-6.

South Carolina took a 6-0 lead on Robbie Grinestaff's pinch-hit grand slam in the sixth. James Darnell hit his 19th homer on the third pitch of the game for the Gamecocks (45-19), who lead the nation with 112 home runs.

Brew it sweet

The North-South divide continues when it comes down to iced tea

More than 140 years after the Civil War ended, a Mason-Dixon line of sorts still persists when it comes to iced tea.

Order an iced tea at a restaurant in the Deep South or Texas, and the frosty beverage set before you likely will be a world away from what you'd be served in New York or Chicago.

Sweet tea, as Southerners call their iced tea, is named for its two key ingredients — tea and lots of sugar. There's no such thing as an unsweetened sweet tea. And unlike its summerloving Northern counterpart, sweet tea is consumed yearround.

"About 85 percent of tea consumed in the U.S. is iced. And no one in the world except for us drinks sweet tea and no one in the U.S. sweetens their tea as much as they do in Southeast," says Peter Goggi, president of Lipton's Royal Estates Tea Co.

Sweet tea is something people either love or hate. And often that relationship is determined by geography.

"It's just very, very sweet. Most people who try it in the North don't like it," says Linda Stradley, food historian and founder of food history Web site http://www.whatscookingameri ca.net. "The first time I tried it, I didn't like it. But then I got addicted to it."

executive food editor at Southern Living magazine.

"The tanning inequality cleanse your palate, there's sweetness from the sugar and then the acidity from the lemon," he says. "It goes well with a lot of food."

Nonetheless, there is nothing delicate or ethereal about sweet tea.

Why the emphasis on sweet in the South? Stradley speculates sweet tea may have started as a sugar-and-tea punch.

Another theory is that sweet tea may have just been a cheap and convenient stand-in for wine and other alcoholic beverages, which historically were less available and frowned upon in the South.

"Sweet tea has always been a substitute beverage for what wine was doing in other regions," says Scott Jones,

In addition to the loads of sugar, sweet tea is characterized by an extremely strong tea taste. Sweet tea usually is brewed hot, with tea bags squeezed to get every last bit of flavor.

Sugar then is mixed in while the tea is hot to maximize the amount that dissolves. Water then is added to dilute some of the potency and increase the volume, then the tea is refrigerated to chill.

"Everything they tell you not to do with tea today is pretty much how sweet tea is made," says Jones, referring to the lower water temperature and more nuanced approach most hot tea drinkers use. "My mom would boil the tea bags in the water, and then squeeze the living daylights out of them."

Classic sweet tea preparations end there. Pour the tea over ice and serve with a squeeze of lemon for the perfect finish.

As with many regional food favorites, sweet tea tends to be more about memories and loyalty than precise recipes. No one, it seems, can quite make sweet tea as well as your mom or grandmother did.

"I make it how my mother made it, with regular tea bags, sugar and boiling water. There's no new-age tea making kit or anything like that," says Whitney Sloane Sauls, 27, of Ocean Isle Beach, N.C. "It's just so refreshing and it brings back Allow to cool completely at room temperature, then refrigerate. good memories of childhood and of growing up."

If classic sweet tea sounds too cloying, you can offset some of the sweetness with fruit.

"You can add blueberries, peaches or pears some kind of berry or peach infusion," says Jones. "A raspberry infusion works well."

And don't feel guilty about modifying a Southern tradition. It turns out sweet tea's role in Southern cuisine is evolving.

Twenty years ago, it was hard to walk into a restaurant in Texas, Arkansas, Louisiana, Alabama or other parts of the Southeast and find anything but sweet tea.

But increased health consciousness as well as the growth of chain restaurants that cater to a national audience means unsweetened tea is becoming increasingly popular.

"A lot of these old-school men and women who were weaned on sweet tea you now see them drinking unsweetened iced tea with a lot of pink and blue packets," Jones says. "There's been an explosion of diabetes in the South, and the doctors are saying you have to cut the sweet tea out."

There's also more competition. The introduction of bottled iced teas and premium tea drinks at places like Starbucks means would-be sweet tea drinkers have a lot more choices.

Still, it's hard to imagine a Southern BBQ joint or family reunion without sweet tea.

Smooth style

Ingredients

- 1 pinch baking soda
- 2 cups boiling water
- 6 tea bags
- 3/4 cup white sugar
- 6 cups cool water

Directions

1. Sprinkle a pinch of baking soda into a 64-ounce, heatproof, glass pitcher. Pour in boiling water, and add tea bags. Cover, and allow to steep for 15 minutes.

2. Remove tea bags, and discard; stir in sugar until dissolved. Pour in cool water, then refrigerate until cold.

Sweet tea fans say the beverage will always be a part of Southern meals and traditions.

"People who grew up drinking sweet tea will continue to drink it, though maybe not so much since there is more health consciousness these days," says Sauls, who looks forward to introducing her children to the drink.

"I plan on putting them on the beach and giving them their own cups of sweet tea so they can enjoy it just like I did growing up."

chance that he will be wearing a Hawks baseball jersey again next season."

The Tampa Bay Devil Rays were showing the interest most in Ladendorf. The organization talked about taking him with the first pick in the fifth round.

However, the Devil Rays' fifth-round pick came and went without Ladendorf's name being called. After that point, Smith and Ladendorf both understood that it would be a while until he was drafted because of the amount of money that Ladendorf was able to demand.

"Tyler called me during the seventh round and told me he'd be back next year," said Smith after the draft. "The only reason he fell was because of the money issue. It works him out better for because now he gets another year to show these teams what he can do."

Ladendorf's greatest appeal for Major League clubs is his speed. He led the nation with 65 stolen bases on 65 attempts this past season. He also batted .425 as the Hawks' lead-off hitter.

Smith feels that Ladendorf could be worth a first-round pick if he duplicates last season's production next year.

"Tyler can only make his stock better with what he is doing on the field," he said. "We know what he can do on the field and we are certainly happy with that, but I'm really proud of what he has done in the classroom, as well. His performance in the classroom and keeping his college eligibility will only allow him more bargaining power in the long run."

Smith says that several national collegiate powerhouse programs are recruiting Ladendorf. He should have his pick of the litter.

For now, Ladendorf, a first-team All-Western Junior College Athletic Conference selection, will develop a relationship with the Giants and attempt to use his last year of eligibility at Howard to his greatest advantage.

Ladendorf is the first Howard College baseball player to be drafted since 2005, when J.W. Brown was drafted in the 46th round by the Cincinnati Reds.

Davis Cowboys' new left guard

The Associated Press IRVING — Leonard Davis believes he's finally back where he belongs.

Not just in his native Texas — where he returned this offseason after signing a sevenyear, $49 million deal with the Dallas Cowboys – but also at the guard position.

Davis played guard and tackle while starting all 91 of his games in Arizona, but where the 6foot-6, 366-pound lineman would play in Dallas wasn't clear until guard Marco Rivera was cut

Rose Magers-Powell, the Big Spring High School Hall of Fame volleyball star and 1984 Olympian, will again be conducting a volleyball camp at BSHS this summer.

The camp is scheduled for July 30-Aug. 1 with sessions for middle school

Thursday. "I feel like I'm better at guard," said Davis, who played both guard and tackle in six seasons with Arizona. "At tackle in the pass set you might have a guy three to five yards outside you, but at guard you've still got to be quick because the guys right there in front of me. I'm really using my size and strength at either position."

Davis' versatility was part of the attraction for the Cowboys, who gave him a team-record $16 million signing bonus. They also liked his selves to keep him out of the paint."

Graumann, the symphony and chorus' director, has begun holding the chorus rehearsals at 7 p.m. on Tuesdays at the First United Methodist Church. Graumann stressed that everyone is welcome to join the Symphony Chorus for the July 3 Pops in the Park show.

"If you have Graumann thought about singing with the chorus before, but didn't feel like you could commit the time required, this is a opportunity, great Graumann said. "We only have three weeks of rehearsals left.

"I would like to encourage any interested singers in giving the chorus a try," he continued. "We work on some challenging music, but most of all we have a good time doing it. And it is especially meaningful to perform magnificent music from this great country which is our own."

Crowds have packed the amphitheater each year with between 10,000 and 12,000 attending the concert and fireworks program on July 3. Both Hansen and Graumann the committee said expects as big a crowd or even larger this year.

"The committee has managed to expand the show ... making it bigger and better every year," Hansen noted. "And over the years, the crowd has also continued to grow. We're planning on having a great fireworks show, and since we'll again have a very good local band playing before the symphony takes the stage, I expect we'll have an excellent audience. Hopefully it will be the biggest we've ever had."

Before that can happen, however, the organizing committee must raise the money it needs.

Donations making the concert and fireworks show possible come from local businesses and individuals, as well as corporate sponsorships. What's more, they make it possible for the organizing committee to open the gates for all comers free of charge.

"It is the entire community's celebration, that's something we always want to stress," Hansen said. "It's a chance to gather with friends and family at the park and join our neighbors in celebrating the fact that we live in the greatest country on earth.

"We really believe that nobody celebrates the Fourth of July holiday like Big Spring does. In fact, the show brings visitors from outside our community and we think it's important to make sure we continue to have a quality show for everyone to enjoy.'

Presenters of this year's event already include the Big Spring Herald, Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce, the city of Big Spring, the Big Spring Symphony and Chorus, The Click Ranch, KBYG and KBST — each providing donations of $5,000 or more in funding or inkind services.

For those unable to serve as "Presenters," Hansen noted that the committee is also seeking support at different levels "Star and Stripes" sponsors that donate $3,000 or more, and "Rocket" sponsors, donating $1,000 or more. Thus far, the only Stars and Stripes sponsor for the show is Fiberglass Systems. Rocket sponsors to date include Alon USA, Medicine Center Pharmacy, Scenic Mountain Medical Center and the Worthy Company. "We really want to thank those who support us, no matter how much people are able to contribute," Hansen said.

While committee members are conducting their fund-raising efforts, Becky Crane, who cochairs the organizing committee with Hansen, is coordinating the list of businesses and organizations wanting to operate vendors' booths during the show. She can be contacted at 267-5449 or at the show, by asking them 517-0373. She can be emailed at rcrane@suddenlink.net. Vendor packets are already available at the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce

According to VMC spokesman Jerry Groves, the monument "will honor all veterans of all branches of all conflicts and wars — past, present and future."

Members of the VMC are already expressing their thanks for the Eagles' support of the project.

"We're really excited about this project," said VMC President Gene Wilson. "The fact that the Eagles are wanting to do this again... to help raise money to help us make this addition to the memorial is absolutely fantastic. We really can't thank them enough for their commitment."

Entry fees for the fajita cook-off will be $10 per two-person team, and Eagles Bingo spokesman Billy Light said teams are encouraged to "cook enough fajitas to sell." Teams will be cooking beef or chicken fajitas, and they are also allowed to enter both divisions.

shows its support for the Vietnam Memorial is nothing short of humbling.

"It just never ceases to amaze us," Wilson said. "Time and time again, whenever we start a project to expand the memorial or need to raise money for maintenance. the people and businesses in Big Spring and the surrounding area always step up and are counted. And words simply aren't enough to let people know how much we appreciate the way they back us."

The project represents one of the two fund-raising events the committee is allowed to hold each year by law.

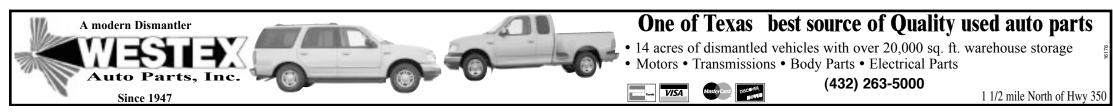

"That's one of the reasons that it's important that the Eagles help support us like they do,' Wilson explained. "Our tax-exempt status limits the number of fund-raisers we can have each year, so we need people to come out, have fun in the competition and enjoy a fajita meal.

"We need them to help us make sure we have a memorial that not only honors Vietnam vets, but all American veterans."

Wilson added that anyone wishing to make a tax-deductible contribution toward the memorial's upkeep can mail them to: Vietnam Memorial Committee, P.O. Box 2854, Big Spring 79720.

Federer faces familiar adversary in Nadal at French final

By STEVEN WINE

AP Sports Writer

men's final is such a tossup that the participants disagree about who's the favorite.

Roger Federer?

"Unbelievable player," Rafael Nadal said. "For that reason, he is the favorite."

Or maybe it's Nadal.

"He has already won the title twice," Federer said. "So I'd say heis a favorite."

They'll have to settle the matter on the court. And given the stakes, the final will be the match of the year.

On Sunday, the top-ranked Federer will bid for the only Grand Slam championship to elude him.

The second-ranked Nadal will try to become the second man since 1914 to win the tournament three times in a row, and the first since Bjorn Borg in 1978-81.

"I'm going to play against the best player in tennis history," Nadal said. "I think it's going to be a very beautiful match."

On that point, Federer agreed. "It's going to be a wonderful, wonderful match," he said.

Playing for the women's title Saturday were three-time champion Justine Henin and 19-year-old Serb Ana Ivanovic, a first-time Grand Slam finalist. Henin sought to become the first player since Monica Seles in 1990-92 to win three consecutive French Open titles.

Federer is bidding for his PARIS — The French Open fourth consecutive Grand Slam title, something last accomplished by Rod Laver in 1969.

"Honestly, I don't want to think about it too much,' Federer said. "I've never achieved such a thing, so I don't know how I'll feel. But I want to do my best, keep focused on this match, and win Roland Garros.

"And that would open the door to the Grand Slam _ four titles in one year."

Federer seeks his 11th major title, which would tie Laver and Borg for third on the career list. He can become the sixth man to win all four Grand Slam events, joining Fred Perry, Don Budge, Laver, Roy Emerson and Andre Agassi.

"He has more pressure at the moment than me, because what's at stake for him is probably more difficult than just winning a final," Nadal said. "What he's aiming at is winning a Grand Slam.

Whether Federer was already feeling the pressure or merely enduring a bad day, he looked lackluster in the semifinals but overcame a deficit in every set and beat Nikolay Davydenko 7-5, 7-6 (5), 7-6 (7). By reaching his eighth Grand Slam final in a row, Federer broke a record originally set by Jack Crawford in 1933-34.

Afterward, he hardly sounded nervous.

"It's a great feeling being in these big matches over and over," he said. "I love it."

Nadal advanced by beating Novak Djokovic 7-5, 6-4, 6-2.

It was the Spaniard's sixth consecutive win in straight sets.

"He's the best player in the on this surface," world

Djokovic said. "He's physically stronger than any other player on the tour."

Nadal improved to 20-0 at Roland Garros and 33-0 in bestof-five-set matches on clay, and he became the first man to reach three consecutive French finals since Jim Courier in 1991-93.

Nadal won a record 81 consecutive clay matches before losing to Federer in the Hamburg Masters final last month.

That improved Federer's career record to 4-7 against Nadal, including only 1-5 on clay.

Federer's bid to complete the career Slam was spoiled at Roland Garros each of the past two years by Nadal, who won when they met in the 2005 semifinals and the 2006 final.

Deadline nears for your entries in rodeo parade t's almost time for the 74th annual Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo — there's little more than a week left to get in those entries for the annual rodeo parade, which officially gets the three-day run of events started.

The Big Spring Cowboy Reunion and Rodeo is the oldest continually running professional rodeo in the nation, and doesn't take a back seat to any when it comes to the talent that arrives each year to compete.

Many of the top competitors from the Professional Rodeo Cowboys Association (PRCA) and Women's Professional Rodeo Association (WPRA) will display their talents during the event's three-day run from Thursday, June 21, through Saturday, June 23, each performance beginning at 8 p.m. in the Big Spring Rodeo Bowl.

However, the rodeo officially begins at 5:30 p.m. that Thursday when the rodeo parade lines up at 11th and Main — that's right, the staging area for the procession has been moved - and then snakes its way through downtown Big Spring.

Let's make this the best rodeo parade we've ever had. Anyone can enter, all you need to do is fill out a parade entry form which is being included in each Wednesday and Sunday edition of the Herald. Then just return them to our office.

That's important because the deadline for entries in noon Monday, June 18. Like last year, the rodeo association's directors have expanded the entry divisions for the parade and even sweetened the pot with prize money for the best entries.

We deserve better from government hat it was ... was... No, strike that. What it is ... is nonsense. Might even ought to be printing that in all capital letters, as in NONSENSE.

Or maybe it's just no sense. One thing is certain, I'm fed up with our federal government. Well, not all of it. but much of it.

I'd had all of the Bush administration I wanted when George W. was the governor of Texas, so I'm not really putting Dubya & Co. on the list this time around.

No, this rant started out with Sen. James Inhofe of Oklahoma.

But all of Congress deserves to be chastised these days. That's right, the current wrangling taking place in both the U.S. Senate and the U.S House of Representatives — particularly where the issue of immigration reform is concerned — have become nothing more than a sick joke.

My suspicions along those lines were strengthened Thursday afternoon when I checked the Associated Press wire and saw this: "Texas senators back English as national language.

Well, bless my soul!

Thousands of young Americans dead in Iraq and Afghanistan; millions of American children without any kind of health insurance; gasoline prices still in the $3 per gallon range and the United States Senate decides it needs to approve an amendment to the immigration bill declaring English the national language of the U.S. government.

The amendment, sponsored by Sen. James Inhofe, R-Okla., was approved 64-33, with 17 Democrats joining 47 Republicans — our Sens. Kay Bailey Hutchison and John Cornyn among them - in support. Sen. Pete Domenici, R-N.M., was the only Republican voting no.

That AP story also noted that both Hutchison and Cornyn voted against an alternate amendment sponsored by Sens. Ken Salazar, D-Colo., and Domeninci that acknowledges English as the nation's common language. It passed, 58-39.

Now get this, Salazar's amendment will force the opposing amendments to be worked out in a conference committee.

Salazar said it's an issue states should decide for themselves. No, it's a non-issue.

Come to think of it, such things aren't sick jokes. They're simply stupid. And if you ask me, it ought to be criminal.

It's that kind of nonsense — our elected leaders' almost perverse need to load up any bill under consideration with amendments, most of them usually intended to benefit some interest group and rarely, it seems, to better their overall constituency — that creates distrust, and worse still, apathy, in the electorate.

Sen. Hutchison, by the way, had her office trumpet the fact that she'd offered an amendment to the immigration bill that would made sure no illegal immigrants are allowed to be added to Social Security rolls.

Sounds good, doesn't it? The only problem is that the law already denies illegals the ability to file for Social Security benefits. That's right, illegals have to pay into the Social Security Trust Fund — employers must take deductions from their paychecks — but they can't get that money back.

And therein lies the real rub. We already have plenty of laws on the books in this country to handle illegal immigration. We simply have never enforced them.

Who's to blame for that? Well, the federal government, of course... And you...

And me.

That's right, we're all to blame.

The federal government and the majority of Americans really don't want our current laws enforced.

Business wants cheap labor, and that's something illegal immigrants provide. For decades illegals have done the jobs that too many of our good citizens believe they're too good to do.

Some would argue that if businesses paid better wages for those jobs, that would change. They'd be jobs Americans want, right?

Well, yes, it's true, that if higher wages were available for farm work and many of the manual labor or other "un-skilled" jobs most illegal aliens fill, they would, indeed, be taking jobs away from American citizens.

Americans want cheap food and clothing, though.

You start doubling or tripling the amount those jobs pay and the cost of living in the United States probably doubles, as well.

That's why the federal government has never adequately enforced our immigration laws and most likely never will.

And that's why, when all the wrangling over the Senate's immigration bill is said and done — it probably died Thursday night, anyway — nothing is going to be done.

Why don't we demand more of our elected officials? Maybe it's time we did.

The six divisions are for floats, riding clubs, custom and classic cars, bicycles, tractors and motorcycles.

The entry deemed best by judges, regardless of division, will win a $100 prize this year, while the secondplace entry will receive $50. A $25 prize goes to the entry finishing third.

In addition, the top entries in each of the six entry categories will receive plaques.

So don't forget to shine up those books, dust off that hat, pull on your favorite jeans and join in the parade. Saddle up your horse or put a new coat of wax on that custom or classic automobile. Maybe a group of you would like to enter a float. We'd even like to see plenty of decorated bicycles and a posse of stickhorses in the procession.

Remember, participation is what both we and the rodeo association would like to see. We hope you'll all join us.

A SMALL PRAYER

by K. Rae Anderson

May we anchor in and concentrate on Your positive changes for our life, Lord.

YOUR VIEWS 1

To paraphrase, we can also pray,

Let it be my prayer and yours.

TO THE EDITOR:

Recently, my 24-year-old son had to make an emergency trip from Waco to Lubbock. It was his first time on a Greyhound bus and it was a long trip. Because he had to leave unexpectedly, he boarded the bus without any money and having not eaten.

I attempted to wire transfer some funds to his first stop, but they were unable to cash the transfer, so I called the bus station in Big Spring, where there would be a five-hour layover, and spoke to a gentleman named Rav.

I have to tell you, after to speaking to Ray, who was so kind and generous to help me find a solution for my child, and after speaking to people at the taxi service and the Wal-Mart and the 24-hour truck stop, I was in disbelief. Every single person I spoke to was kind, helped me to orchestrate getting my son some money so he could eat and take his required medication.

I was so impressed that I looked up Big Spring the next morning on the computer and declared to my husband that when our younger two sons graduate, I want to move our teaching careers to Big Spring where people are just plain good!

Thank you for fostering an attitude in your community that is generous and kind, and a special thanks to Ray at Greyhound! Look for us in a few years!

Peace making is not a passive pastime. It requires alert, aware activity and full attention at all times.

Peacekeepers keep on keeping on as people with a worthy purpose for which they put forth the effort it takes to maintain peace in their own hearts and lives. People of peace recognize that peace-making and peace-keeping require deliberate choices and constant vigilance.

St. Francis of Assisi, a follower of Jesus Christ, prayed, "Lord make me an instrument of your peace."

"Lord, make our nation an instrument of thy peace." NANCY LEMOINS PATRICK BIG SPRING TO THE EDITOR: I would like to take this opportunity to say thanks to the Vietnam Memorial Committee, the Hangar 25 personnel and all the volunteers that gave their time and work to feed the motorcyclists that took part in the Ride to Remember from Midland to Big Spring on Memorial Day.

The Vietnam Memorial Committee always goes out of its way to welcome everyone and even hold up its service to wait on the bikers. They don't have to because the service is not about the Ride to Remember, it is a day to remember, and that is what the ride is about.

This year there were more than 700 in the ride, the largest by far in the event's seven years of existence. The service was great and the food at the museum was excellent. Everyone enjoyed it.

Thanks to the people who came out on Gregg Street and showed their support.

Again, thanks for everything, Hangar 25, all you volunteers, the Vietnam Memorial Committee and all the law enforcement officers who led the way.

Thanks are also due to all the media for coverage of the event.

TO THE EDITOR:

I am writing this to say shame on those gang members that decided to spray paint the dugouts and concession stand at Hollis Field at the Roy Anderson Complex.

It is a shame all they have to do is to try and destroy property that does not belong to them. This made all of us very angry and the girls did not need to see that kind of ugly art work — if you want to call it art work.

Really, it is ugly and horrible that these kids can get away with stuff like this. The property has since been repainted and I hope it stays that way.

You want wannabe gangs need to grow up and take action for what you do. I have been to Teen Court and some of the things that these kids get in trouble for is nothing to what you "gangs" do. You are such cowards that you hide.

Again shame on you for doing what you did!

TO THE EDITOR:

This new immigration scheme is racist. There are six billion people in the world, living in almost 200 countries. This proposal grants special treatment to 30 million Mexicans and Central Americans, plus their relatives, while penalizing all other nationalities who remain in their home countries dreaming of United States citizenship.

The Haitians and Africans, Poles and Latvians, Indians and Pakistanis...

Are they not also worthy human beings? They have been promised a legal and orderly application process.

Ordinary citizens — Republicans and Democrats – are not antiimmigrant. Our politicians are.

Once again, they are selfishly responding solely to business interests and to potential new Latino votes.

Fran and Lee Emerson of Big Spring will celebrate their 50th wedding anniversary Thursday, June 14, 2007. They were married June 14, 1957, in the First Methodist Church of Oskaloosa, Fran's Iowa, home church.

Lee was born in Lake Park, Iowa, and grew up in Swea City, Iowa. Fran Frances (nee Ruth Livermore) was born and grew up in Oskaloosa, Iowa. They met at the University of Iowa where Lee attended Garrett Fran and Lee Emerson their respective degrees. Lee served in the U.S. Army in Korea in 1952-1953. He attended the University of Iowa and graduated June 7, 1957, with a degree in business administration. Fran received her degree in June 1956 in speech pathology and worked as a speech therapist for a year before their marriage.

> Following graduation and marriage, they moved to Evanston, Ill., where Fran taught speech correction in a nearby community. Lee spent a year of clinical pastoral education at Iowa Methodist Hospital in Des Moines, Iowa, and was ordained a United Methodist minister in 1963. They moved to Cincinnati, Ohio, where Lee worked as a chaplain Longview State at Hospital. Fran again taught in various schools as speech therapist.

Lee and Fran have two children, Anna Kleid in Kenosha, Wis., and Gil Emerson in Vernon Hills, Ill. Anna has two girls, Kala and Jamie Kleid. Gil has a boy, Cory and a girl, Lea Emerson.

After 10 years in Cincinnati, they moved to Libertyville, Ill. Lee became chaplain at the VA Medical Center in North Chicago, Ill. After 13 years there, Lee transferred to become chief of chaplain service at the Big Spring VA Medical Center in Big Spring. He retired from there in 1995. Fran taught speech therapy in the Big Spring public schools from 1987-1997.

Since retirement they have both become very active as volunteers in the community.

Their activities include Rotary, Retired Teachers Association, Symphony Guild, Symphony Association Board, Keep Big Spring Beautiful, Friends of the Library, United Methodist Women, both were working on Theological Seminary and Church Women United, Howard County Genealogy Society; the Big Spring State Hospital Volunteer Services Council, and board chairman of the Government Employees Federal Credit Union.

LIFE

They plan to celebrate their anniversary all year long with friends and family in Libertyville, San Antonio, Illi., Wis., Kenosha, and Columbia, Mo.

Following an Alaska cruise, they will return to Big Spring where they have lived for the past 20 years.

The result of a world with tight spare oil capacity is that rather than focusing on supply, or more specifically OPEC's behavior, an increasing amount of attention must also be paid to the demand side of the equation. In short, demand matters more now than ever before.

A little history ... from 1970 through 2005, overall average crude consumption per person measures 4.7 barrels per year. Between 1970 and 1984 consumption averaged about 5 barrels per year, and between 1978 and 1979, consumption hit a 5.4 barrel plateau. Over that year alone, average real oil prices climbed from $46.35 to $62.27.

In the late 1970s, though the global economy had already started to weigh on demand before prices peaked, the high price of oil over this period led to a decline in demand as well. By the time oil prices peaked in 1980, demand was already in a freefall.

In a nutshell, the high oil prices had led to a secular shift in consumer demand. OPEC tried desperately to maintain prices by holding back production; however, their efforts were to no avail as the change in behavior could not be stopped.

Between 1985 and 2003 demand averaged 4.5 barrels per person, per year. Then, as prices broke upwards from their nearly 20-year trading range, demand also surged to 4.7 barrels in both 2004 and 2005.

Now, the question analysts ponder is how high prices have to go before a new secular shift in demand occurs. The answer is illusive. However, speaking more generally, there is an oil price that will stifle demand.

Today, we see little in the way of an imminent demand shift. Whether the current prices will eventually stifle demand growth remains unclear. On average, demand has grown 1.7 percent over the past 10 years and the IEA estimates demand will show similar gains this year, up 1.8 percent from 2006.

Quick news...

• Following the EU's ambitious announcement of 10 percent biofuels use for transportation by 2020, numerous European nations are offering incentives to farmers to plant crops that could be used to produce biofuels. In Italy for instance, the NYT reports "the government guarantees the purchase of biofuels crops at $13.42 for 100 pounds." Those guaranteed prices are about two times those of 2006 durum wheat which is used to make pasta. • The so-called "agflation" concerns, the idea of higher agricultural crop prices increasing the costs of other products such as meat was echoed by Cargill this week. The new CEO, Gregory Page, suggested a subsidized biofuels industry could lead

The potential deal may face long odds.

The mayor of Austin told the Austin American-Statesman that an agreement is unlikely.

Private equity firms Kohlberg Kravis & Roberts Co. and Texas Pacific Group are trying to buy TXU for $32 billion and build three coal-fired plants opposed by many environmentalists.

Tyson recalling 40,000 pounds of ground beef sold in 12 states

SPRINGDALE, Ark. (AP) – Tyson Fresh Meats Inc. on Friday recalled more than 40,000 pounds of ground beef shipped to Wal-Mart stores in 12 states after samples tested at a Sherman, Texas, plant showed signs of E. coli contamination.

No illnesses had been reported. Springdale-based Tyson Foods Inc. said the recall is not related to contaminated ground beef distributed by Californiabased United Food Group LLC.

The recalled products were sent to Wal-Mart stores in Alabama, Arkansas, Colorado, Kansas, Kentucky, Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas, Tyson said.

Wal-Mart has removed the products from its meat cases and is destroying the recalled ground beef still in its possession, officials said.

Tyson recalled 40,440 pounds of ground beef, all of which had sell-by dates of June 13. The ground beef was sold in prepackaged trays that were placed directly into the meat case.

The recalled products include:

-1 1/2-pound trays of Angus steak burger all natural, 85/15, six quarterpound patties:

—1.33-pound trays of Angus steak burger all natural, 85/15, extra thick, 4 1/3-pound patties;

-2 1/4-pound trays of 73/27 all-natural ground beef; and

—5 1/2-pound trays of 73/27 all-natural ground beef.

Sheehan selling protest site to California radio show host

FORT WORTH (AP) — Cindy Sheehan will sell her 5-acre war protest site near President Bush's Crawford ranch to a California radio talk show host who will preserve it as a peace memorial, her spokeswoman said Friday.

Sheehan, who announced on Memorial Day that she is leaving the anti-war movement, will sell the land for $87,000 to Bree Walker, Sheehan's spokeswoman Tiffany Burns said.

"Cindy is happy the land is going to be used for something positive," Burns told The Associated Press in a telephone interview. "But Cindy does not plan to have a continued presence there.

A telephone message left with Walker, a former TV news anchorwoman, was not immediately returned.

Burns said Sheehan has been a guest on Walker's radio program several times and that Walker supports Perry said in a statement. Sheehan.

gardens and made other improvements that boosted the land's value, Burns said

Sheehan had said she would not willingly sell to Move America Forward, a pro-troop organization, which wanted to buy the land to erect a monument. The land in Crawford, about 100 miles south of Fort Worth, is near downtown and is about 7 miles from Bush's ranch.

Sheehan gained national attention from her grassroots vigil in August 2005 when she camped in ditches near Bush's ranch for 26 days, demanding to talk with him about her son's death. Army Spc. Casey Sheehan was killed at age 24 in an ambush in Baghdad in 2004.

Sheehan's protest that summer drew more than 10,000 people to the small town that overwhelmingly supports the president. But it also drew counter protests of Bush supporters, including a large downtown rally after a cross-country tour called "You Don't Speak for Me, Cindy!" sponsored by Move America Forward.

Perry signs measure requiring seat belts on school buses

AUSTIN (AP) — All school buses will have to be equipped with seat belts that cover the riders' lap and shoulders under a bill Gov. Rick Perry signed into law on Friday.

The law applies to buses purchased on or after Sept. 1, 2010. Charter buses that are used to transport schoolchildren also have to be equipped with seat belts by Sept. 1, 2011.

The legislation was inspired by the deaths of two Beaumont high school students who were killed last year when the chartered bus carrying their soccer team overturned.

"This legislation will not only save lives, it will give parents peace of mind every morning their children leave their home for school and climb aboard a bus,"

Ex-El Paso County official pleads guilty in corruption case

STATE

EL PASO (AP) — The former chief of staff for the El Paso County judge pleaded guilty Friday for his role in what authorities describe as a conspiracy to defraud the county by fraudulently securing vendor contracts.

John Travis Ketner pleaded guilty to two counts of conspiracy to commit mail fraud, one count of conspiracy to commit wire fraud and one count of conspiracy to commit bribery. No sentencing date has been scheduled.

Ketner resigned last month as chief of staff for County Judge Anthony Cobos. His resignation came just days after the FBI raided the offices of Cobos and two county commissioners, part of an ongoing federal investigation into public corruption.

Perry signs Texas Youth Commission reform bill into law

AUSTIN (AP) - Gov. Rick Perry signed into law sweeping reforms of the Texas juvenile justice system Friday, putting in motion attempts to revamp an agency rocked by allegations of sexual abuse of inmates by staff and a possible coverup by agency officials.

"This legislation will change the broken culture at the youth commission so that it can fulfill its mission of rehabilitating troubled youth," Perry said.

The Texas Youth Commission incarcerates about 3.800 offenders ages 10 to 21 who are considered the most dangerous, incorrigible or chronic. The commission operates 15 prisons, nine halfway houses and numerous treatment and counseling centers.

Radical reforms to the agency erupted into one of the major issues of the recently completed legislative session after the disclosure of the alleged abuse. Since the scandal broke, several top officials have resigned and the agency was put in conservatorship.

State lawmakers voted for a complete overhaul by improving staff-to-inmate ratios, creating strong new investigative powers to look into claims of abuse. and prohibiting courts from sending youths to state lockups for misdemeanors.

"We had to restore confidence in the agency. It needed a complete change," said Rep. Jerry Madden, a Richardson Republican, who along with Sen. Juan "Chuy" Hinojosa, D-McAllen, were the primary architects of the bill.

The legislation also established a family "Bill of Rights" on visitation and contact with inmates and how to file grievances. A new ombudsman office will act as an advocate for inmates.

"We have to make sure this isn't just a piece of paper but actually saves lives," said Ana Yanez-Correa, executive director of the Texas Criminal Justice Coalition, which lobbied for the changes.

Jay Kimbrough, who was appointed conservator over the TYC in March, was replaced Friday by Ed Owens, who had been the agency's acting executive director.

School officials plead innocent in corruption case

McALLEN (AP) — Six people, including a Pharr-San Juan-Alamo schools superintendent and two school board members, pleaded innocent Friday to a sweeping federal indictment alleging cash, trips, and gifts were swapped for votes on district construction and insurance contracts.

Superintendent Arturo Guajardo, school board members Roy Navarro and Evangelina Garcia-De Leon, her husband Ricardo De Leon, and contractors Arnulfo Olivarez and George Hernandez, told a federal magistrate they were not guilty of charges in a 22count indictment unsealed Tuesday.

A seventh defendant, Rogelio "Roy" Rodriguez, who already faced previous corruption charges relating to district contracts, was arraigned separately on the new charges last week.

All remained free on $100,000 bond pending a July 7 trial.

Federal investigators say the school officials took more than $600,000 worth of bribes that included payments of up to $210,000, Las Vegas trips, guns, prostitutes, and $14,000 worth of tickets to the NCAA Final Four.

The indictment charges all defendants with conspiracy to commit extortion, and the school officials are also charged with extortion. All counts carry a maximum prison sentence of 20 years in federal prison and fines of up to $250,000.

ous lobbyists and lawmakers are working to preach the benefits of coal-to-liquid projects. The coal states are looking to push legislation calling for construction loans on coal-to-liquid projects; they are looking for minimum prices along with guaranteed purchases from the government through 2032.

 In southwest England, surfers are up in arms about the Wave Hub project. The Wave Hub project is a proposed $56 million energy plan. If completed, Wave Hub would generate about 20 megawatts of electricity and would be the largest wave-power project in the world. In the past, surfers were known for their environmentallyfriendly demeanor, but the "not in my backyard (or on my beach)" mentality seems to override even green energy projects. The wave power generation system could cut wave height nearly 13 percent.

• For the first time in its history, China National Offshore Oil Corp. has announced it will undertake deepwater exploration projects in offshore China by itself. Previously the company had always partnered with other companies when completing deepwater work. The waters off of China's coast are thought to be some of the more promising exploration zones available to non-OPEC nations.

• The talks between Palestinian Authority President Abbas and Israeli Prime Minister Olmert are set to restart next week. Recently, the Israeli security cabinet rejected seeking a cease-

Atlantis blasts off on first flight of year

CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (AP) — The space shuttle Atlantis, fresh from a fiery and nearly flawless launch, was in hot pursuit of the international space station on Saturday, but won't catch up until Sunday.

Atlantis' seven-man crew was closing the gap between the two space bodies by 920 miles every 90-minute orbit. By 9 a.m. EDT, the shuttle was scheduled to be 8,630 miles away from its destination. Atlantis was to dock with the space station Sunday afternoon.

During the 11-day flight, the astronauts will deliver a new segment and a pair of solar panels to the orbiting outpost. They plan three spacewalks on Monday, Wednesday and Friday — to install the new equipment and retract an old solar panel.

On Sunday, astronaut Clayton Anderson will replace astronaut Sunita Williams as the U.S. representative aboard the station, space and Williams will return to Earth aboard Atlantis. She has spent the past six months in orbit.

Much of Saturday's work was designed to set the stage for Sunday's docking and the tasks that follow.

Bush urges Congress to pass immigration legislation

WASHINGTON (AP) -President Bush, calling the nation's current immigration situation unacceptable, urged senators to try again to pass legislation that he described as imperfect but the best option available.

In his weekly Saturday radio address, Bush said the bill would not grant amnesty to illegal immigrants, that they would set the bill aside with no Bush accepted the recomhave to pay fines and take other steps to get on a path to legal status and possibly citizenship.

"Securing the border and upholding family values are not partisan concerns," the president said. "They must be addressed, and this bill is the best way to do it."

his Bush recorded address Friday in Germany where he was attending a summit with other world leaders.

The White House and a bipartisan group of senators drafted the wideranging bill, but they could not overcome steady attacks from the left and right during weeks of Senate wrangling. When the Senate failed Thursday to end debate and schedule a vote, Democratic leaders promise of reviving it.

Pentagon tabs Adm. Mike Mullen as head of Joint Chiefs of Staff

WASHINGTON (AP) -Bitter divisions over the Iraq war, particularly on Capitol Hill, led the Bush administration to change course and replace Gen. Peter Pace as chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, a grim Defense Secretary Robert Gates said Friday.

Gates said that despite earlier plans to recommend Pace for a second two-year term as chairman, he instead was recommending Adm. Mike Mullen, currently chief of naval operations, to take over when Pace's term expires Sept. 30. President mendation.

"I think that the events of the last several months have simply created an environment in which I think there would be a confirmation process that would not be in the best interests of the country," Gates said. "I wish it were not necessary to make a decision like this. But I think it's a realistic appraisal of where we are."

Bush praised Pace, saying he has "relied on his unvarnished military judgment, and I value his candor, his integrity, and his friendship."

"Pete's job has been to help ensure that America's military forces are prepared to meet the threats of this new century," Bush said in a statement issued in Rome.

Is it meant to lead to peace or to Israel's destruction?

Early in 2002, Crown Prince Abdullah of Saudi Arabia granted an interview to Thomas Friedman of The New York Times, in which he declared that if Israel were to withdraw from the "occupied territories," full normalization of relations with the Arab countries would ensue. That interview was published in The New York Times on February 17, 2002. It became known as the Saudi "Peace Initiative" and was considered a "breakthrough" on the road to peace in the Middle East.

What are the facts?

An Arab ultimatum. By the time the dust settled and the Saudi "Peace Initiative" was formalized, its demands were substantially expanded. It called for 1) full Israeli withdrawal from all territories occupied since 1967, including the "Syrian Golan Heights;" 2) achievement of a "just solution" to the Palestinian refugee problem; 3) acceptance of the establishment of a sovereign independent Palestinian state in the West Bank and Gaza Strip, with East Jerusalem as it capital.

The most unacceptable of those can be determined, there were about 650,000 refugees during the 1948 War of Independence. It can be assumed that virtually all of them are by now deceased. But the claim for "repatriation" has been extended to their descendants, who are by now said to have increased to 5 million. These "refugees" have been kept in "refugee camps" for sixty years, for the purpose of keeping the sore festering and to overwhelm Israel when the time came. The twentieth century, with its wars and dislocations, has produced millions upon millions of refugees. The Palestinian "refugees" are the only ones who are being taken care of by UNWRA, an agency of the United Nations created especially for them. No other refugees have similar consideration. The maintenance cost of the "Palestinian refugees" is billions of dollars a year. Who pays for most of this? You guessed it: the United States, of course.

The clear reason that the "repatriation" of these "refugees" (or rather their descendants) into Israel is unacceptable is that, besides their absorption and integration being an economic impossibility, their influx would immediately destroy Israel as a Jewish state and as the last refuge for all persecuted Jews in the world. Some believe that the concept of Israel as a Jewish state is an anachronism and should be done away with. But the reality is that Israel was created as just that, the state of the Jews, by mandate of the League of

"The Arabs...must teach their children...that their future and their welfare are inextricably and prosperity of Israel."

Nations, by the Balfour Declaration and by the decision of the United Nations. Saudi Arabia and the other Arab states that have adopted the Saudi "Peace Initiative" as their own, will not accept any discussion or any modification of their proposal. It is "take it or leave it." It is an ultimatum. They threatened that, if Israel did not accept the plan in its entirety - it will have renounced peace and will face the "lords of war."

What about the other two conditions of the "peace initiative"? Full withdrawal from the "occupied three conditions is the second. As best bound up with the future, welfare territories" is impossible, given the virulent hatred of the Arabs against the Jews, their bizarre unwillingness to even acknowledge Israel's existence and their declared intention of destroying it by any means. Israel committed the foolishness of returning the vast Sinai - an invaluable strategic buffer zone and source of all its potential petroleum needs - to Egypt. It committed the further folly of withdrawing from the south Lebanon buffer zone and the even greater folly of turning Gaza over to the Arabs. It is true that Israel and Egypt have been at peace the coldest peace conceivable - but mortars and rockets are almost daily launched against Israeli cities from both Gaza and from southern Lebanon. One can imagine what incredible destruction would be wreaked on Israel if it were to commit the ultimate folly of turning the so-called "occupied territories" over to its deadly enemies, sworn to its destruction. The entire country - its population centers, its industrial infrastructure, its utility installations, and its international airport - would be subject to daily barrages from the Judean Heights. The most advanced weaponry, including fighter planes and tanks, and quite likely even Syrian and Iranian troops, would be stationed in the "West Bank." Without the Judean Heights and without the strategic Jordan Valley in its control, Israel would be utterly indefensible and an easy victim of those who ceaselessly dream of its destruction.

If the Saudi "Peace Initiative" is not the solution to the apparently interminable Arab-Israel conflict, what then is? The first step is for the Arabs (and for the Iranians) to accept the reality of Israel's existence and permanence, not to teach their children that the Jews are the sons of monkeys and pigs, and not to educate them to become suicide bombers and martyrs. They must teach them that Israel is here to stay and that their future and their welfare are inextricably bound up with the future, welfare and prosperity of Israel. That may be a long time in coming, but no real peace is possible without it.

BSHS's Crystal Ward 'Outstanding Performer'

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

Musically speaking, Crystal Ward has moved into an exclusive neighborhood.

Ward, a senior flute/piccolo player with the Big Spring High School Band, was selected as an Outstanding Performer at the recent 2007 Texas State Solo and Ensemble Contest in Austin.

It is an award that was bestowed on only 1 percent of the 22,000 high school musicians who participated in the state contest, according to information released by University the Interscholastic League.

In addition, Ward became the first BSHS Band member in recent memory — perhaps ever - to accomplish the feat.

"In the music world, this is like winning a championship," state Band Director BSHS Rocky Harris said. "This accomplishment is welldeserved on her part. It doesn't surprise me in the slightest that she won it."

Ward

been surprised, but Ward admitted to a bit of a shock.

"I knew I had played well, but there's always room for improvement,' said the daughter of Dr. David and Ann Ward. "Really, it was a total surprise."

Ward earned a gold medal — identical to those awarded to state champions at all UIL events — and inclusion in the next edition of the Harris might not have UIL Book of Champions.

Awards are nothing new for Ward, who has been named to the allregion band all of her three years in high school and was an all-state selection her sophomore year.

Recently, she was named the winner of the Texas Music Scholar Award, presented by the Texas Music Educators Association to high school student who "exemplify attributes of meritorious performance in the areas of scholarship, musicianship and citizenship."

Clearly, music is important to Ward and figures highly in her future plans she hopes to attend either Texas Tech or Baylor University and major in music.

"You learn a lot of selfdiscipline from music. That's one of the main things I enjoy about it," she said. "Plus, it kind of takes my mind off of things when I'm playing."

Community Eyesores Exposed

In an effort to clean up our city, Keep Big Spring Beautiful members and local citizens will be taking pictures of unsightly properties that are a disgrace to the neighborhood and community. These pictures will be published in the Big Spring Herald.

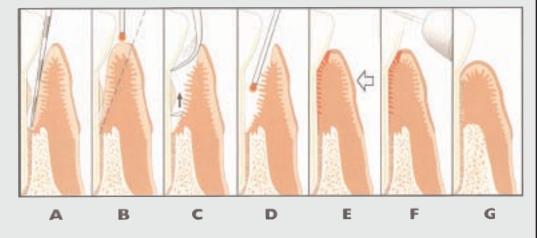

We are trying diligently to turn our community around. We are asking for every property owner and resident to take responsibility for their property. This applies to renters as well. Tenants of rental properties have a responsibility to maintain the property as if it was their own. RESPONSIBIL-ITY and PRIDE are the key words and we ask everyone to take pride in the community and be responsible.

It is springtime and this is generally the time of year people plant, paint, clean and do all sort of nice things to improve the appearance of their home, therefore, we are trusting everyone will step up to the plate and help make a difference in our town. We do not look forward to publishing the pictures of ugly, trashy and just a plain old eyesores throughout our city. Not being responsible can not only devalue your property but the homes, or businesses around you. All members appreciate any help in making Big Spring a better place.

Also, the roll-out dumpsters present another challenge and problem. There is an ordinance which is section 11-7-(B) that reads, the dumpsters are rolled out on the morning of service and returned to the back of your home or residence after being served. The dumpster certainly does not improve the appearance of your property or look good sitting out front of you homes.

Let's all pull together and strive to make Big Spring Beautiful.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS

"It's hard to believe it's not summer yet!" cries the Aries moon. Nature, like life, has her seasons, and that timeline, not ours, seasons the eager beaver in each of us.

When

yield to our own seasonality, we put one foot in front of the other. Instead of picking the early fruit, we allow the fruit of our lives to ripen and fall. How sweet it is!

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Self-censor? Hah! Without skipping a beat, you say what you mean and mean what you say with energy, enthusiasm and even a little artistic license. Then you take a bow.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You have enough courage in your convictions to state them, even if you don't quite have the "why" or "how" down yet. Sometimes you just need to turn on the car and go. Where you'll end up is a fun mystery.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The stars ask you to get more curious about your world, not less. They say curiosity killed the cat, but you're no willy-nilly cat. You're braver and smarter than you think.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Before you place this personal sacrifice, if someone else's achievements on a pedestal, take a look at your own. Give yourself credit for something you've done recently that took courage, no matter how small. large or Everything counts.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Your precarious balancing act continues. Keep all your balls in the air. You'll settle on one story soon, and once you do, the rest falls into place. Nothing's too far-fetched to consider.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Be a busybody. Let off some steam by taking a physical romp or devoting a chunk of time to a project that lifts your spirit. By evening you'll get your glow back.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Any new experiences you share with a partner will cement the relationship like love superglue. The riskier and more outrageously foreign to both of you, the better.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). In the effort-reward equation of work and life, the effort side is heavy right now. But all it hasn't yet, soon pays off. Till then, stick by your good habits. They're working.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You're all fired up, in hot pursuit of someone who makes your heart do whirlybirds. Even if they're slightly standoffish, your intuition whispers that they like you, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Maybe life doesn't turn out the way you pictured it, but some things are better than you could've ever imagined. When you surrender past dreams, something else appears: appreciation for this precious life.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Have energy, will travel. The world's a palace of curiosity and delight. You discover incredible mental chemistry with someone who digs your brainy ways.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). If something needs fixing, you're the handyperson for the job.

Whether they need a spiritual adviser or a piano mover, you can handle it. Your takeaway is immense satisfaction.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: The most famous story in the world opens up with that unforgettable line, "In the beginning there was the word ... " Indeed. This week's Gemini new moon provokes dialogue within the four walls of our minds — and without, in its friendly "talk amongst yourselves" style. So, what's in a word? In a nutshell: power. Words have the power to define, create, uplift, separate and ... begin. They write your todays and tomorrows with intentional elegance or wavering ambivalence. A word is a step in the right direction, or a wrong one. Sometimes it takes saying them before you know whether they're wrong. So choose your words. Write them down. Dance them out.

Go to the mountaintop and speak. The Gemini new moon entices you to improvise, to unambiguously experiment with self-expression. your What is the word you stand on? Love? Peace? Joy? You could spend your entire life living by your word, and maybe you already do. If not, start now. "In the beginning there was ... (your word here)."

CELEBRITY PRO-FILES: Are there more real-life twins born under the sign of the Twins than any other? Mary-Kate and Ashley Olsen are lovable fraternal Gemini twins who may share the same birthday, but they are not one and the same. They seem identical, but since they're fraternal look closely — they're not. These twins distinguish themselves this year as they choose unidentical movie roles!

To be a good declarer, a player must have a mild streak of pessimism in his nature. The optimistic declarer who invariably presumes that the opponents' cards are divided in accordance with normal expectations often discovers too late that an unlucky distribution has defeated

The mark of the expert is that he makes no such assumption. He views each deal, even when he is playing a seemingly easy contract, as though the Fates have conspired against him and takes whatever precautionary measures are available to deal with an unlikely distribution of the oppos ing cards. For example, take this hand where declarer reached three notrump as shown. West led a heart, and East won with the king and returned a heart to dummy's ace. Declarer cashed the ace of diamonds and, when West showed out, discovered his seven expected diamond tricks had suddenly shrunk to three. Even worse, the 11 probable winners he had started with had been reduced to seven, and he eventually finished down two.

Of course, he was unlucky, since a 4-0 break occurs in only one deal out of 10. This, unfortunately, happened to be that one time. But had South been more of a pessimist, he would have said to himself after taking the heart ace at trick two: "What can defeat me? After concluding that only a 4-0 dia mond distribution could jeopardize the contract, he would have taken the protective measure of leading a low diamond from dummy at trick three. In so doing, he would deliberately ncur a 30-point loss on most deals ir order to safeguard himself against the 800-point loss (600 for the vulnerable game and 200 for down two) he might suffer if the diamonds turned out to be divided 4-0.
