Let them come by air or sea — or in this case, Comanche Trail Lake as the Big Spring Model Aircraft Association prepares for its 15th annual Don McKinney Float and Fly set for Saturday and Sunday.

annual event, which will be held at Comanche Trail Park near the Dora Roberts Community Center, is expected to take to the skies of the park from 10 a.m. until 4 p.m. Saturday and 10 a.m. until "darkthirty" Sunday, will offer model aircraft pilots and enthusiasts the chance to take off from the waters of the city's municipal lake. Don McKinney, who the event was named after several years ago, said the annual BSMAA event is loaded with fun for everyone in the family.

Forsan celebrating homecoming against Seagraves

By JEFF LANE

For Forsan's Buffaloes, tonight's game with Seagraves' Eagles takes on two significant roles.

Special to the Herald

Not only is it the Buffs' first home game of the 2007 season, but they will also be celebrating homecoming.

The Buffs (0-1) celebrate Homecoming 2007 tonight as they welcome the District 7-1A Eagles (1-0) to Buffalo Stadium.

The Buffs came out on the losing end last week against the Kermit Yellow Jackets, 30-7, while Seagraves won by a narrow margin over Wink's Wildcats, 15-6.

Seagraves beat Forsan last season, 21-7 for their Homecoming game. This year, Buffs' head coach Tommy Thompson is expecting a different

"We had just come off a big win against Kermit last year and were feeling good about our chances,' said Thompson. "But we came out flat, or maybe the extra incentive they had with Homecoming just gave them a little more of an edge.

The Buffs hope to take advantage of that same Homecoming edge as they are still trying to find their stride in 2007 with the offense adapting to the new spread look.

"It is coming along, and we did have some success last week," Thompson said. "The drive we had to start the third quarter really showed us we have the personnel and the ability to be successful."

Forsan found the end zone for the first time this year on a touchdown drive that ate up nearly nine minutes of the quar-

"Coach (Dave) Park is always working to improve the defense, throughout the week in practice and on the fly during a game," said Thompson. who moved over from Hamlin and will be trying to help his new team defend the 2006 District 7-1A title.

"Seagraves had a tough team last year and they have a lot of experience returning," Thompson said. "Having a new coach may have some effect on the team, but overall it should not be negative. We will have to play exceptionally well to take the win."

"Losing the first game The Eagles enter this of the season was not the end of the world," he continued. "Of course we wanted the win and need to get on that track this week. But, four teams in our district lost last week, three won and one did not play. One game into the season does not count anyone out."

Thompson knows homecoming games can give teams incentive to perform well and help them find the intensity and drive to win, but they can be a distraction. However. he said he is not concerned with how the team

Steers spotlight: Team captain Jon Smith

Big Spring's Jon Smith actively carries out his team captain responsibility for the Steers' football team. He and his teammates travel to face San Angelo Central at 7:30 p.m. tonight. Smith believes the Steers will come home with a win.

No matter the sport, one of the greatest individual honors that a player can receive is to be elected team captain.

That's exactly Big Spring Steers' captain Jon Smith views the accolade.

'It's a much bigger responsibility than what I had last year," said Smith. "I take it personal. It means that I have to do right on the field, in the weight room and in the classroom."

Smith is one of three team captains for the 2007 Steers football team, being joined by seniors Matt Casteneda and Justin Amaro.

First-year Head Coach Mike Ritchey acknowledges Smith as a needed presence on and off the

"Jon has been a spark plug for the team," said Ritchey. "He's played well on defense and offense and leads by example. He was very energetic during two-adays and kept spirits high. We can count on him to lead by his example and not just by rhetoric.'

at offensive tackle, but found himself benched through the season. He feels that a change in the coaching philosophy has helped him step up his game a notch.

"Last year wasn't very good for me. I felt like I only ever got negative feedback and didn't hear anything positive," said Smith. "Then after our first win at Andrews, I was benched. This year everything is much more positive. The coaches treat me in a more positive manner.

"We have a good team this year," he continued. "We may have lost our first game, but we know what we're capable of. We're better this year because our coaches know how to connect with the players better. They're more encouraging and tell us how to get better without dogging us. That was the problem last year. I'd be told how bad I was doing and it'd just upset me."

This season, Smith starts at both offensive guard and defensive tackle.

"Last week was the first game that I ever played on defense," he

Colts tramble Saints in NFL's season opener

By MICHAEL MAROT

AP Sports Writer

INDIANAPOLIS The Indianapolis defense just wanted a fresh start in 2007.

The Colts did far better than that.

A year after becoming the butt of league-wide jokes, Indy's rebuilt defense was dominant Monday night in the NFL season opener, even outscoring last year's top-ranked offense in a 41-10 rout of New Orleans.

"Who cares if they were the No. 1 offense, this is a new year," former Pro Bowl safety Bob Sanders said of the Saints. "That's what we've been saying all along. This is a new defense, a new offense and we did what we had to do. We played physical, smart and fast."

Super Bowl MVP Peyton Manning and his teammates looked like they were in championship form — thanks in large part to the good field position and scoring opportunities the defense provided.

Manning finished 18-of-30 for 288 yards with three touchdowns, and Joseph Addai carried 23 times for 118 vards and a TD. Pro Bowl receivers

Reggie Wayne and Marvin Harrison combined for 11 catches, 198 yards and three TDs — all against Jason David, the former Colts cornerback who left the champions as a restricted free agent in April.

"It was just another day at the office," Wayne said. "I gave him (David) a free touchdown, so I guess that was the appreciation we gave him."

New Orleans (0-1) managed only 293 yards in offense and one field goal. The other score came on David's nifty 55-yard fumble return for a touchdown.

"You couldn't hold the ball against them," Deuce McAllister said after running 10 times for 38 yards. "There are not a lot of Dwight Freeneys or Robert Mathises on other teams that pressure you like that."

And New Orleans stumbled all night.

Most expected the Colts' defense to be the greatest obstacle to a repeat as Super Bowl champs, especially after losing four starters from a unit that was the league's worst against the run in 2006.

That certainly wasn't the case on opening night.

championship banner waving above the field, the Colts (1-0) showed they are every bit as dominant as last year.

They played fast, aggressive and opportunistic football as they made Pro Bowl quarterback Drew Brees and the Saints' vaunted running tandem of McAllister and Reggie Bush look ordinary.

Freeney, Mathis and their counterparts also managed to keep the Colts close in the first half when the offense staggered. They allowed New Orleans to run only one play in Indy territory during nearly two full quarters, starting midway through the second quarter.

Brees, last year's Pro Bowl starter for the NFC, was 28-of-41 for 192 yards with no touchdowns and two interceptions.

Bush, expected to become more of a focal point of the Saints' offense in his second season, carried 12 times for 38 yards and caught four passes for seven yards.

The lethargic performance was confounding, even to the Saints.

"I think disappointing is more the word for it," coach we struggled in a lot of areas in the first half and that carried over to the second half."

For a while, though, New Orleans had the upper hand.

David's fumble return tied the game at 7, and Olindo Mare's 34-yard field goal midway through the second quarter gave the Saints a 10-7 lead.

But the masterful Manning changed everything.

He led the Colts on five straight scoring drives, starting with one that set up Adam Vinatieri's game-tying field goal with 45 seconds left in the

The Saints looked befuddled the rest of the way.

Addai gave the Colts a 17-10 lead with his 2-yard TD run early in the third quarter, and Wayne expanded the margin when he made up for his firsthalf fumble with a 28-yard touchdown reception three minutes later.

Indianapolis was only getting started.

Linebacker Freddy Keiaho, one of the new starters who played all but one series despite an injured right arm, intercepted Brees to set up Vinatieri's

With Super Bowl towels and a Sean Payton said. "Offensively, second field goal, a 33-yarder, that made it 27-10. Wayne kept it going with a 45-yard TD reception to give Indv an insurmountable 34-10 lead with 10:05 to go.

You saw a flash of what we were capable of in the first half, but Peyton Manning knows all the connections," Saints cornerback Mike McKenzie said. "The big plays were what beat us. It was poor technique on our part. It was a collective effort on our part."

But the defense that gave up a league-worst 173 yards per game during the regular season last year continued to pressure the Saints.

Brees was picked off again in the closing minutes by backup safety Matt Giordano, who ran it back 83 yards for the game's final score.

It seemed a fitting tribute on a night that the defense defied the doubters.

The trick now is to keep playing that way.

"We're not surprised by it because the guvs we recruit are fast guys, smart guys and physical guys," Sanders said. "What we have to do now is keep getting better each week."

will respond.

"Homecoming festivities are everywhere you look this week, with alumni returning and the kids having special activities," Thompson said. "But the guys know they have a football game this Friday and realize that is priority. They have time to enjoy things after they take care of business with the Eagles."

Although the outcome was the same, the Buffs stayed closer, losing 22-8 in a game coach Brad Batla said gave them something to build on.

"We played much better this week, on both offense and defense," said Batla. "There were many positives that we can carry over into next week when we play Stanton."

Forsan was led on offense by Aaron Valle, who gave the Buffs their only score on a 60-yard dash to the end zone.

their opponents get them down will be key for Big Spring.

"I'm proud of the way we stayed in some of the match tonight, but we need to be in the entire game," she said. "We let other teams shut us down. Like tonight against Permian, we won a set and then were completely out of the following one. We got shut down individually. It's something that has to be avoided.

"Wink and Andrews are two very good teams, but we can beat them," Whitaker continued. "It's a mental thing for us. There were several teams we could compete with this season. Now it's time for us to believe that we can."

said. "I've never gotten the chance to do it before. I was always told I don't tackle well enough. It's a transition going both ways. I only get a couple of minutes rest during the kickoffs. I've had to work hard at getting better endurance."

He credits his hard work in the weight room — he squats 500 pounds and benches more than 300 pounds — and the change in the coaching regime for the success he's finding on the field his senior year.

However, although

Ritchey has made the believes that the Steers move from head principal to athletic director and head football coach, Smith still has a tough time calling him Coach Ritchey.

"I still call him Mr. Ritchey," joked Smith. "I can't help it. That's who he is to me. He's obviously my coach, but I just know him at Mr. Ritchey. I can call the other Coach (Phillip) Ritchey by that name, but there will always be a Mr. Ritchey to me as well. I always call him that and he just looks at me strangely. I just shrug my shoulders and say sorry."

Despite his inability to call the man coach, Smith will see great things if Ritchey remains in control of the football team.

"We have a lot of talent and speed," said Smith. "Last year we did a lot of bickering amongst ourselves. We work together this season. We get along well. That's because we have good coaches that actually want to be here and coach us. They're positive role models.

"If Mr. Ritchey stays here then this team could go a long way in the next few years," he continued. "We could be winning state in '08. I really believe we're that good."

As for picking up a win tonight against San Angelo, Smith feels that himself and his offensive line mates need to step up and perform cohesively.

"We've got to work together better and get our blocks," he explained. "If we can gain more confidence in what we're doing then we can give the quarterbacks time to throw and the running backs lanes to run in. That would really help us a lot."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Is it true that the only way to get rid of a temptation is to give in to it? The safest way is to do this mentally instead of actually. In your mind's eye, follow a potential action to the consequences it will most surely bring.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You're surrounded by peacocks — people who dress to impress. Meanwhile, a casual style will make you stand out. Roll up your sleeves, undo a button, and enjoy the attention you get.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). If you're not sure you are supposed to be there, don't go. Singles are at risk of being seduced into the classic pattern of looking for love in all the wrong places. Even so, the right people may still show up.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). As partners travel the road of life, one thing they don't need is a backseat driver. There are some things that can only be worked out solo. However, you can apply that fantastic advice to your own life with happy results.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). The ego bruises that were inflicted in your past may smart a touch now. When your soul needs a bandage, try to reach for something other than chocolate.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). In the midst of wearying activities, it's up to you to amuse yourself. Ask questions to steer dialogue in a direction you might enjoy. This day could hold some fun in it, after AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Get involved. Raise your community profile. The benefits won't be immediately clear, but the more people exposed to your charming personality, the better. The effort perks up every aspect of vour life.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Be flexible. There is a way that everyone can get what he or she want — if not exactly as each imagined it, then some close version. Capricorn cannot resist your easygoing maturity.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: You're feeling sociable, and why not? Your relationships are and your confidence is full tilt. TAURUS: Back on the range, the home front settles down, restoring your equilibrium. Mood lighting creates domestic romance. GEMINI: Happy days are here again. A quick getaway is only a hop, skip and jump away. CANCER: A delicious craving takes all your willpower to resist. Cave in. You only live once. LEO: You've got your groove back. Others are noticing the new-and-improved you. VIRGO: Let someone play the hero for a change, and receive a noble act from your everyday knight in shining armor. LIBRA: Admiration is mutual one-way admiration is better. Hang with allies who reflect your best by being their best. SCORPIO: You believe in happy endings. Release old relationships and new ones flourish. SAGITTARIUS: They're so impressed by you, you're considering enlisting them as your personal agents. CAPRICORN: Tap into your innate wellspring of well-being. Play with your passions by sharing them. AQUARIUS: Someone's caught in a compromising position. But he or she wants to make it right, and you're holding the cards. PISCES: Yo-yo diets and yo-yo relationships are doomed. Make a decision. COUPLE OFTHE

WEEKEND: Relationships are elemental to the human race, especially in the realm of Scorpio and airy Aquarius. This couple boldly experiments with the laws of attraction. The scorpion's mysterious emotional logic scrambles Aquarius's neurons, barely skimming the surface — and flustering Scorpio. Like forces of nature, Aquarius and Scorpio are worthy of one another's awe, fascination and respect.

OUR VIEWS

We salute:

Each week, the Herald salutes individuals and groups from our community and area who have been recognized for special achievements or accomplishments.

We recognize these special people for working to help make our region a better place to live, work and play

This week we salute:

- Big Spring Independent School District, which distributed more than 1,000 laptops to high school students this week.
- Defending state champion Big Spring High School cross country team on winning the ACU Invitational in Abilene Saturday, their first meet of the year.
- Gloria Garlbay, Tyler Phillips and Briana Thurman, on being awarded $1,000 academic scholarships from the Rotary Club of Big Spring.
- Sgt. Shannon White, subject of the Herald's Troop Salute feature, which began in Thursday's edition.
- · Forsan High School Homecoming nominees Tara Kuykendall, Kaela Strickland, Rowena Suazo and Rachael Wheeler, all seniors. Good luck tonight, ladies!
- The Big Spring Symphony and Symphony Guild, on the successful dinner held Thursday to get the new season under way. Don't forget, the first performance is 8 p.m. Saturday at the Big Spring Municipal Auditorium. Tickets can be purchased at the Herald and other locations throughout the community, or at the door Saturday night.

Is there an individual or organization in our community that you feel should be saluted? If so, please send us their name and why you think they should be recognized. We must have your name and telephone number and you must provide it in writing.

How To Contact Us

The Herald is always interested in our readers' opinions. In order that we might better serve your needs, we offer several ways in which you may contact us:

A SMALL PRAYER

by K. Rae Anderson

May we get as much done for You, Lord, as we can while we are on this earth.

Amen

Serious business for the British n the past seven years I've been either to or through England 19 times on various missions trips. I love the history and public transportation but let me tell you, England is not as free as you might think. It's a place full of great people that live in real difficulty.

Did you know that they have a television tax there? The Brit television police go around with a gadget and if they catch you watching television and not paying taxes for the privledge, they bust ya.

Troy Brewer

The Texas Tea Party

Did you know that they tax you for the privledge of driving into London? Did you know that Gas is over $10 bucks a gallon? It cost me $22.00 for a single movie ticket and nearly all of that cost is sales tax! The bottom tax for income is 42 percent. The rat race that is London, England, happens because of the pressure to pay so much for so little and it's all taxes.

It seems somebody needs to rebel but then I remember we did back in '76. So the whole time I am in England, I can't help but think of that scene in Shanghai Knights where Owen Wilson turns to the camera and says, "This country blows!"

Depressingly True

When I heard last week that actor Owen Wilson had attempted suicide, my heart broke for him. I can't stand hopelessness. I utterly detest what this world does to people and the hurt people have.

It seems there have been a lot of high profile people that have given the solution, but life is the soluup on life lately. Fame, fortune, houses, and huge opportunities all come with a price tag that has multiple layers of teeth.

Owen slit his wrists because he wanted relief from something. Britney Spears recently checked into rehab, shaved her head, wrote 666 on her forehead and tried to hang herself with a bed sheet. Lindsay Lohan cut her wrists and Halle Berry gassed herself in a car. Tom Jones recently said that he had considered jumping in front of a train in London.

So where do you look up to for help when you are already living at the top? This is a question a lot of top entertainers are not able to answer, it seems. Do you remember what the Beetles sang in their worldwide cry for help?

"Help me if you can, I'm feeling down and I do appreciate you being round. Help me, get my feet back on the ground, won't you please help me. Help, I need somebody, Help, not just anybody, Help, you know I need someone, help.'

I wish I had the chance to speak to Brother Owen privately. I would tell him that he is not near as alone as he thinks he is. There is someone who knows what its like to be him and He is within arms reach. When you have a real personal encounter with the God that promises He is right here with us, you get courage to face those menacing insurmountable odds.

Hebrews 13:5-6

"He has said, I will never leave thee nor forsake thee. So that we may boldly say the Lord is my helper and I will not fear what man shall do unto me."

I would tell him that death is not tion. Being tormented by death and thinking that death is the answer is like somebody being plagued by debt and thinking a million dollar mortgage is the way

I would encourage him to quit thinking relief and start thinking, "Overcoming Victory." I would encourage him by saying there is real tangible help and a real hope for very real change through Christ.

Psalm 37:40

"And the LORD shall help them, and deliver them: he shall deliver them from the wicked, and save them, because they trust in him."

God is right here, if we could just grasp the reality of it.

Psalm 46:1 "God is our refuge and strength, a very present help in trouble.

I wish I could tell him how sorry I am that things are so bad and how sorry I am he has lost hope for things better. I also would want to scream at him, "You are not too messed up to have a better future!" The cry of Christianity is, there is hope that comes from one who was never messed up. There is a solution beyond our malfunc-

Owen probably won't ever read this — but you are. If you are battling crises and don't know where to turn you can call the national suicide hotline 1-800-784-2433. You can also contact us at Open Door Ministries at 817-297-6911.

God Sees you, loves you and wants you to be healed.

It's no coincidence He had you read this.

The Rev. Troy Brewer welcomes your comments. E-mail him at FFTB@OpenDoorMinistries.org.

Housing not a priority anymore uring the Depression, most folks were poor. It was awful. Home was often shabby, but at least there was a camaraderie about it. President Franklin D. Roosevelt finally put some money into public housing and became a hero.

Then came the Big War and virtually no more dwellings went up. A desperate shortage arose, and when the feds started building again in 1946 it was a joyous time.

Of course in those days the tenants were mostly white (read: "deserving"), and public support for assisted housing was strong. In the North, blacks were relegated to slums and in the South to shanties. But times change. Over the decades, often with a push from urban renewal, blacks and Latinos gradually filled up those subsidized units. And somewhere along the way, possibly with the invention of the house trailer, a tipping point was reached and whites wouldn't even apply anymore. Their home might be physically deplorable, but at least it wasn't a "project."

Politics followed suit. Once popular, public housing became anathema. Money for new units gradually dried up and money for maintenance soon dwindled. It wasn't long before cities began tearing down decayed units. Sometimes they'd put up one new unit for every four demolished, sometimes

But eventually another fine program came along in public housing's place: Section 8. No one has ever heard of Sections 7 or 9, but 8 was a winner. It subsidizes landlords to take in low income tenants who meet state and federal qualifications. For a while, it kept myriad condo booms alive when sales were slow.

Part of the genius of Section 8 is that the landlords select their own tenants. Naturally, they are not allowed to discriminate racially, but surely, no one would think of doing that in any case. Still, as you might expect, black tenants have a way of ending up in black buildings and white tenants in white buildings. Indeed my own cousin even now lives upstairs over J. Crew. Nature takes its course.

Unfortunately, however, support for all subsidized housing has now wilted. Whether black, white, Latino, homeless, disabled, big family, little family, young, or ancient, our attention has "moved forward" to other things. We have police and security and college and wars to worry about. Suffering citizens without a decent place to live are a sadness, but then there's never enough money for everything, is there?

Nor enough tolerance. Suburbs contrive zoning regulations to make sure that apartments and trailers are no longer allowed. If Earl wants to clean our school, or Jose wants to trim our hedge, they'll just have to buy a jalopy so they can get out here from the city or in from the farm.

Yes, there are towns with a conscience. Their latest terminology is "workforce housing." It speaks of police officers, firefighters and teachers. Very sympathetic figures. To the degree that this works, it forces developers to make provision for folks in those pay ranges.

Poor folk though, are just out of luck. And the homeless are fortunate merely to find a bunk in the shelter, let alone a room at the SRO.

Welfare reform has increased destitution and hardship, health care reform has left more lowincome people sick, and illegal immigration has stiffened competition for bum dwellings and lousy jobs. Maybe we need another depression to restore some public compassion, since America seems remarkably immune to most compassion just now.

Test Your Play

The bidding has been: North South 2 💠 4 💠 Pass North leads the king of clubs How would you play the hand? West ♠ A K J 7 ♠ Q 10 ♥ K 6 4 ♦QJ9863 ♦ A 10 7 5 2 ♣Q83 2. You are declarer with the West hand at Six Spades, and North leads the queen of hearts, which you ruff. When you next play the ace of spades, North discards a low heart. How would you continue?

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Five Diamonds.

West East ♠ A K Q 10 7 3 ♥K962 ♦ A Q 8 6 ♣A K J 9 4 ♣Q 10 2

1. Ruff the club, lead the queen of diamonds and finesse if North follows low. If the finesse succeeds, you score 12 tricks by playing another round of trumps and cashing four spades, discarding two hearts from dummy.

If the diamond finesse fails, losing to the singleton king, you're still on firm ground, since the only tricks you can lose are a diamond and a heart. (If North shows out on the queen-of-diamonds lead, you put up dummy's ace and run your spades to assure 11 tricks.)

If you did not take the diamond finesse, the contract would go down if North turned up with the K-x of trumps and a doubleton spade, and South had the ace of hearts 2. Cross to dummy with a club, finesse the ten of spades, cash the K-Q and run the clubs until South ruffs with his last trump. That is the only trick you will lose. Played this way, you are certain of the slam, come what may Even if South had no clubs and ruffed the first club lead, you would still prevail by later leading a diamond to the king and taking the marked trump finesse.

The trap to avoid is entering dummy with a diamond at trick three instead of a club. If South had ◆ J9862 ♥ Axxx ◆ xx ♣ xx, you would lose the slam by crossing to dummy with a diamond first since South could then prevent you from ever discarding your fourth diamond on a club.
