City may operate Senior Center

By THOMAS JENKINS
Staff Writer

The Big Spring City Council was unanimous in its support of taking over management of the Spring City Senior Citizens Center Tuesday night, going forward with provisions that could move ownership of the facility from Howard County to the municipality.

"The county is very strongly considering not continuing with the management of the Senior Citizens Center," said Mayor Russ McEwen during a council work session Tuesday night. "This is a matter I really feel strongly about. The people who are seniors in this community deserve a place to go and congregate, and in many cases, it's the only meal they get each day.

"What we're talking about doing is the city would take over the operation of the Senior Citizens Center. Our structure in municipal government lends itself to these types because we have professionals with management structure that can do this. What I'd like to do, if you are agreeable, is bring this to you."

McEwen said talks between the city and county regarding the fate

Park it — but be mindful of where.

That's the message delivered by the Big Spring City Council during a Tuesday night work session, as the group gave the go-ahead to begin a revision of the city's parking ordinance for residential homes and lots.

While the council took no formal action on the matter, Mayor Russ McEwen did instruct the city staff to begin a revision of the ordinance — originally drafted to keep area residents from parking vehicles on their lawns — to be brought back to the council for formal approval in the coming months.

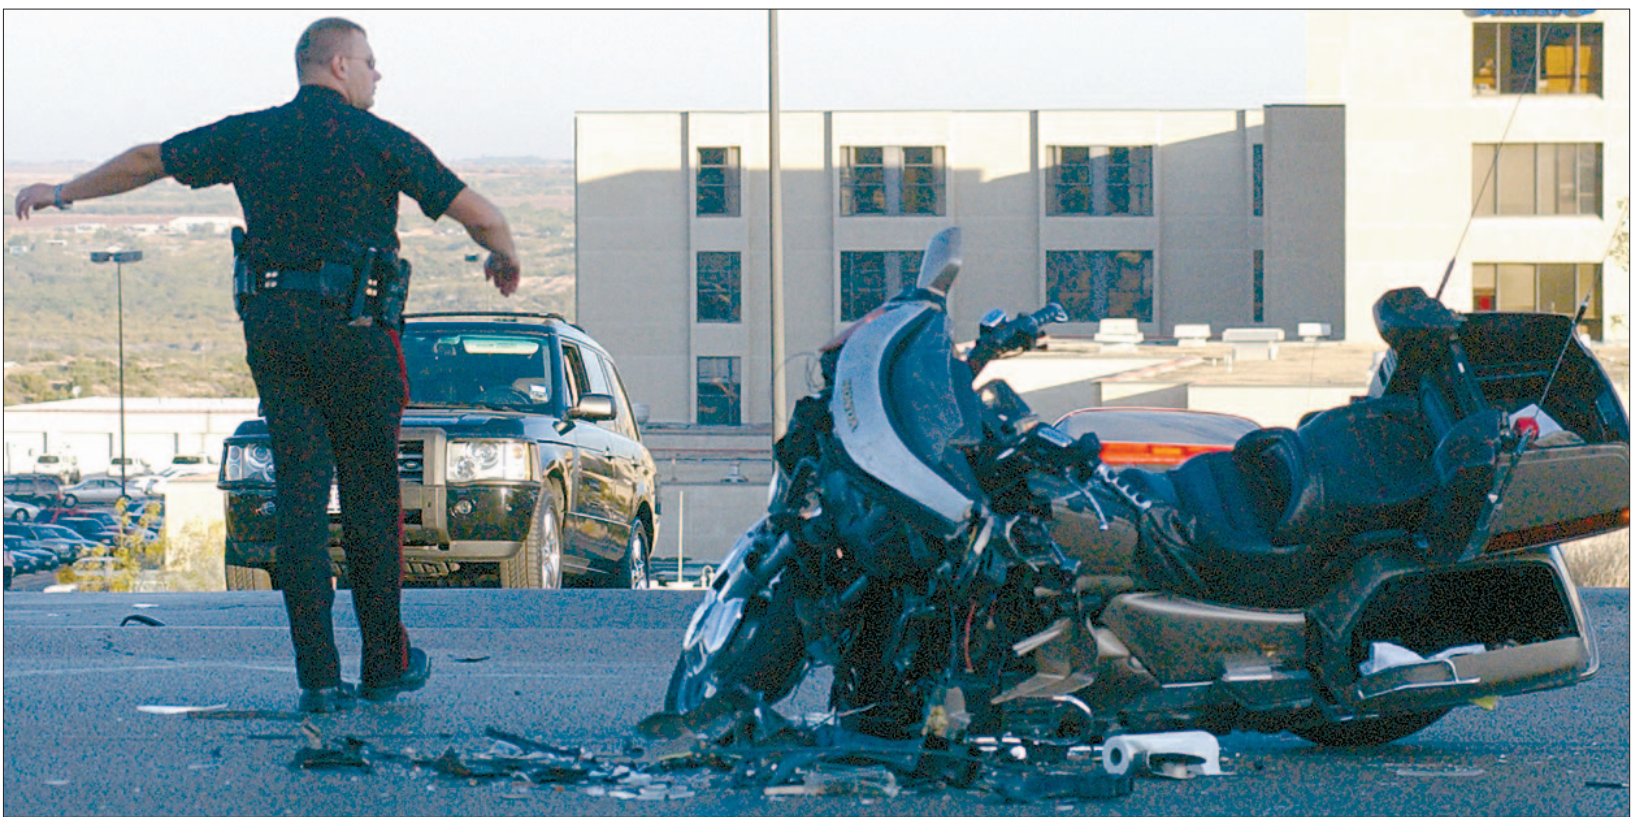

Darden

According to Todd Darden, assistant city manager, the ordinance would require improvements — ranging from gravel to concrete with a distinct border around it — be made to the parking area.

"In the designated parking areas, in certain zones, they will have to have an improved surface," said Darden. "We've had numerous conversations with the city council recently about enforcement issues, and a couple of weeks ago we brought to the council a presentation that

Mavs bring back Howard, waive Mbenga

The Associated Press

DALLAS — The Dallas Mavericks are bringing back Juwan Howard after agreeing to terms with the veteran forward on Tuesday.

Howard, who played for Dallas during parts of the 2000-01 and '01-02 seasons, can't sign with the Mavericks until he clears waivers Wednesday, the same day Dallas plays its season opener at Cleveland.

"Any time you can pick up a guy with his skill set and experience, it's a no-brainer," Donnie Nelson, president of basketball operations, told The Associated Press. "When this opportunity came up, it was too good to pass up."

Nelson noted Howard's leadership and playoff experience.

"We're very familiar with him, being a former Maverick, and he can hit the ground running. The experience, his versatility and his professionalism are the things that really separate him," Nelson said.

Howard is expected to play immediately.

"You can never have enough depth at the front-line positions," Nelson said. "He provides something different from what we have. He's a guy that can extend the defense with his mid-range jump shot."

Howard and the Minnesota Timberwolves agreed to a buyout Monday, and the Cavaliers were among the teams interesting in signing him.

Center Erick Dampier and swingman Devean George won't play in the Mavericks' season opener because of injuries.

To make room for Howard, the Mavericks waived center DJ Mbenga.

Mbenga averaged 1.3 points and 0.9 rebounds in 79 games the past three seasons for the Mavericks. The 7-footer played only 21 games last season before tearing ligaments in his right knee Feb. 7. He played in only one preseason game, and had five rebounds and two blocked shots in 12 minutes.

"DJ needs an opportunity to play and develop," Nelson said in a story on the team's Web site. "We're hopeful that with playing time, whether it's in the NBA or Europe, he'll be able to join our team in the future."

Also Tuesday, the Mavs exercised their 2008-09 contract option on second-year guard Maurice Ager, their first-round pick in 2006. Only the first two years of a first-round draft pick's contract are guaranteed, while the third and fourth years are team options.

Ager averaged 2.2 points while playing 6.7 minutes a game in 32 games a rookie last season.

Rivals meet in Lenorah Thursday night

By JONATHAN HULL

Herald Sports Editor

LENORAH — Of all the rivalries in the Crossroads region, none of them may be more fierce than the rivalry shared by Garden City's Bearkats and Grady's Wildcats.

No matter the sport, the two schools compete hotly with each other. The rivalry takes center stage Thursday night on the football field of Wildcat Stadium in Lenorah.

With just two games remaining for each team, Grady and Garden City are each in the thick of a hunt for the playoffs in a district featuring four teams in the state's top 20 of the Six-man Division I rankings. However, only two of those four teams can qualify for the postseason.

As of now, Grady (2-0, 8-0) holds onto one of the playoff spots and is a half game behind first-place Rankin (3-0, 9-0). Garden City (1-1, 6-2) is coming off of a loss to Rankin and is a full game back of the Wildcats. A Bearkats loss Thursday eliminates them from playoff contention.

Thursday's game will be Garden City's fourth matchup without all-state running back Bo Eggemeyer on the field. Eggemeyer suffered an injury at work earlier in the year, prematurely ending his senior season. He was the star of last year's rivalry game, tallying 231 rushing yards and four touchdowns on 30 carries.

However, the Bearkats haven't seen their running game slow down without Eggemeyer in the backfield. Josh Colunga and Jake Schwartz have led a running back committee that has kept the Garden City offense from skipping a beat.

Colunga has led the Bearkats in rushing for two straight games, including a 112-yard and two-touchdown effort against Rankin. Schwartz leads the Bearkats in scoring, finding the end zone by running, catching and returning kickoffs and interceptions.

Garden City nearly overcame a 24-point fourth-quarter deficit against Rankin. However, the closest they could get was six points as the Red Devils ultimately put the Bearkats away, 68-54.

Spurs open title defense season with win

By ELIZABETH WHITE

Associated Press Writer

SAN ANTONIO — If only this one night, exacting San Antonio Spurs coach Gregg Popovich would give his players a break.

With their newest championship banner hanging high above the sellout crowd and the players looking like kids in a candy store as they examined their shiny new championship rings, it was understandably a challenge for the team to buckle down for a regular old basketball game.

The Spurs eventually did, beating the Portland Trail Blazers 106-97 Tuesday night. And even Popovich was willing to overlook the occasional lack of concentration.

"I think the ring ceremony is always a little bit emotional and always a lot of fun," Popovich said. "It probably keeps you from being your best as far as focus is concerned."

But losing focus to the point of losing a game is just not the Spurs' style.

"It's always a special game when you play after a ring ceremony," Parker said. "It's great memories. But we're back to work and ready to defend our title."

Aside from the win and the rings, there was other news to please Popovich. Star Tim Duncan had reached an agreement to stay until the end of the 2011-12 season and likely finish his career in Texas.

Duncan had 24 points and 13 rebounds as the Spurs got their title defense off to a successful start. Parker added 19 points for the Spurs and Manu Ginobili had 16 points and eight assists off the bench.

LaMarcus Aldridge led the Trail Blazers with 27 points. Martell Webster added 21 and Joel Przybilla contributed 13 points and 10 rebounds for Portland.

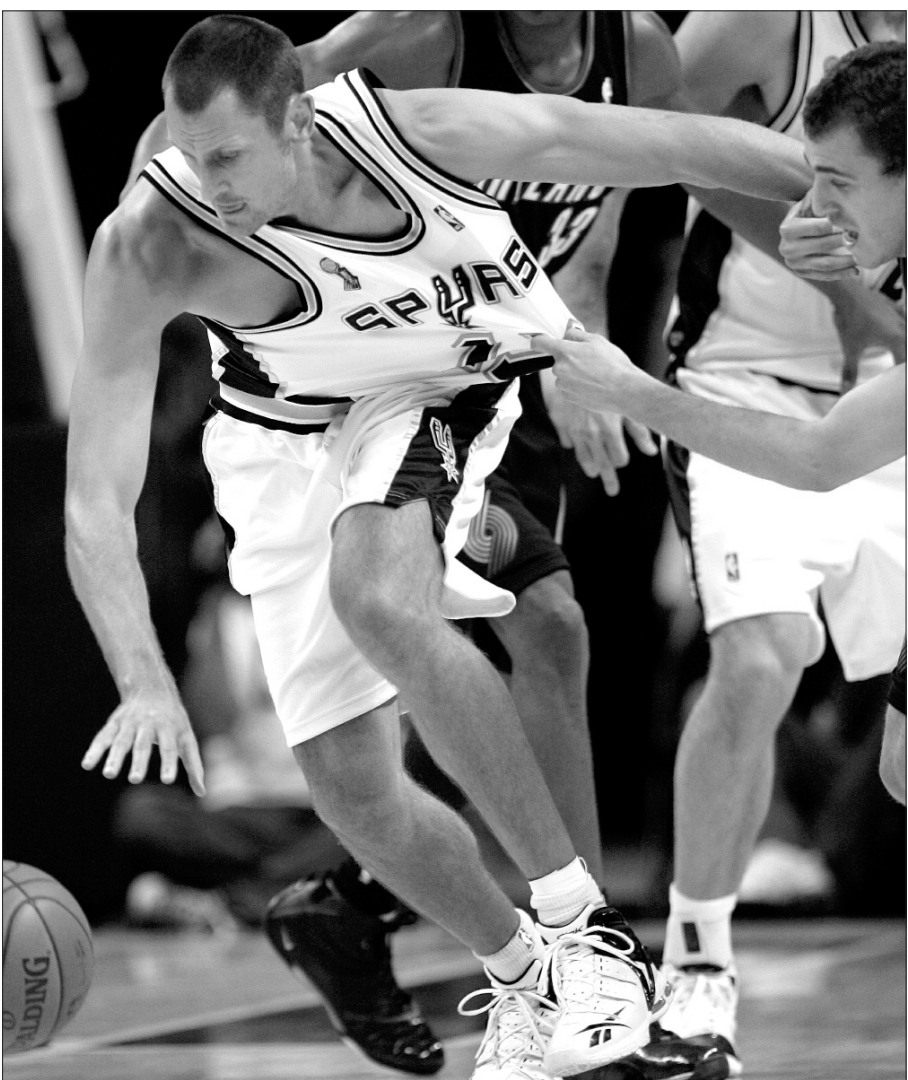

"We played a very talented team, a very young team. I think they're going to be pretty good," Parker said. "They played a tough game. They stayed in the game, and we didn't shoot the ball well from outside."

Aldridge said he's using the Spurs as motivation.

"I was so pumped and I was so excited because I feel one day we are going to be in that position where we're going to win and get our rings one night," he said. "I felt like tonight was our first step in that direction."

Despite the long-awaited ring ceremony to kick things off, the game didn't have quite the excitement that was anticipated

Adelino "Rocky" Vieira

Adelino "Rocky" Vieira, 78, of Weatherford, formerly of Big Spring accepted his final assignment Saturday, Oct. 27, 2007. He was at Plaza Medical Center in Fort Worth. Funeral Services will be at 11 a.m. Thursday at Myers & Smith Chapel with Rev. James Plagens, pastor of Sacred Heart Catholic Church, officiating. Burial with military honors will be at Trinity Memorial Park. The family will receive friends from 6 p.m. until 8 p.m. Wednesday at Myers & Smith Funeral Home.

He was born May 14, 1929, in Fall Rivers, Mass., to Sophia and Joseph Vieira. At age 17, he went into the Merchant Marine, later the Army, and then the Air Force, serving 25 years, including Korea and Vietnam. In addition to the two wars, his service to his country included duty at bases in California, New York, Florida, England, Spain and Okinawa.

He came to Big Spring in 1969, and was stationed at Webb Air Force Base. His numerous awards and medals included The Purple Heart. He lived in Big Spring until 1998, moving to Weatherford. He was a member of Immaculate Heart of Mary Catholic Church, was very active in all veterans organizations, including American Legion, Disabled American Veterans and the Veterans of Foreign Wars. He was a life member and held all offices in each of these, and on more than one occasion served as commander. He was once the commander of all three at the same time. He also served as both district and regional commander of the American Legion.

He was an avid sports fan and athlete, especially for boxing, baseball and softball. He umpired Little League and softball, both slow pitch and fast pitch, and also refereed basketball. He also held all offices in the Elks Lodge and was a member of the American Bowling Congress. After retiring from the Air Force, he was an agent for Metropolitan Life and was later with Myers & Smith Funeral Home, until retiring again in 1996 due to ill health.

He married the love of his life, Barbara Jean Gardner, Jan. 4, 1953, in Pascagoula, Miss.

He is survived by his wife, Barbara Vieira of Weatherford; seven children, Kathy Robertson and her husband George, Theresa Russell and her husband Kelly, and Tony Vieira, all of Weatherford, Mark Vieira of Atlanta, Ga., Michelle Griffith and her husband Don of Greenfield, Ind., Monalisa Ake and her husband Donny of Portales, N.M., and Todd Gardner Vieira of Morristown, Ill.; two sisters, Odelia Flukes of Middlesex, N.J., and Mary Howance of Fall River, Mass.; a sister-in-law, Bertha Vieira of Fall River, Mass.; 14 grandchildren, Joshua and Rebekah Robertson, Stephanie Hunt, Jacob Paul Fincher, Michael and Joseph Vieira, James and Kimberly Vieira, Patrick and Christopher Walter, Alicia Carson, Haleigh Bird, and Devin and Wade Gardner; and 10 great grandchildren.

In addition to his parents, he was preceded in death by two brothers, Alfred and Henry Vieira; a sister, Ailene Vieira; and two grandchildren, Cherish Roxanne Walter and Matthew Vaughn Robertson.

Arrangements are by Myers & Smith Funeral Home. Pay your respects online at www.myersandsmith.com er from last year's version of this rivalry. Tommylee Rivas passed for 384 yards and accounted for six touchdowns, completing 21 of 38 passes on the night.

Rivas has taken on a more versatile role this season with the emergence of sophomore Dylan Cox at quarterback. However, it has been Grady's performance on the defensive side of the ball that has keyed its success this season.

The Wildcats have given up more than 14 points once this season. Fifty-two of the 86 points allowed by Grady's defense came in one game against Fort Davis.

Last season, Grady headed into Garden City with the Bearkats ranked No. 1 in the state. The game was 46-43 in Garden City's favor heading into the fourth quarter.

The Bearkats outscored Grady 20-6, including the final 13 points, in the final stanza.

The loss effectively ended any playoff hopes the Wildcats might have had.

Grady gets the chance to return that favor Thursday night at 7:30 p.m.

Howard College announces Hawk Buddies Program

The Howard College Women's Basketball team is tipping off its season with the Hawk Buddies Basketball Program for girls in grades K-8.

It starts Saturday, Nov. 17 at the Dorothy Garrett Coliseum with a basketball clinic from 9 a.m. to 11:30 a.m.

Each Hawk Buddy will receive an opportunity to learn how to play the game from Howard players and coaches for a fee of $20. A T-shirt will be given to each participant that will also serve as a free family season pass when worn to Howard College home games.

A second clinic is scheduled for Jan. 12 to be followed by a pizzaparty with the women's basketball team.

Each Hawk Buddy will be recognized at halftime of the Hawks home game Jan. 21.

when it was announced the Spurs would open against the Trail Blazers, who drafted Greg Oden with the No. 1 overall pick. Oden had microfracture knee surgery this summer, ending his first season before practice even began.

"We were definitely looking forward to having Greg," Webster said. "That doesn't stop our journey. Our journey is to get to the playoffs. ... Can't say anything about championships. Mostly, we want to take this one game at a time."

With Oden out, it only seemed appropriate that this night would be all about the Spurs.

And it was, with the Spurs controlling the game until the Trail Blazers threatened with about two minutes to play in the fourth quarter. Aldridge's basket brought the Blazers within three points, the closest they'd been all quarter, with 2:01 left.

Parker made it 100-95 for San Antonio, then a goaltending call against Aldridge gave Parker another basket, putting the Spurs up 102-95 with 1:07 to play.

Brandon Roy, last season's Rookie of the Year, hit one of two free throws to make it 102-96. But another goaltending call, this time against Przybilla, gave Duncan a basket and the Spurs a 104-96 lead with 36 ticks on the clock.

"We fought the whole game, came back in the fourth quarter," Webster said. "We were so close, we just let that slip out of our hands."

Brent Barry had 12 points for San Antonio. Travis Outlaw scored 11 for Portland.

After the night's highlight, the ring ceremony, it was back to square one: 82 games, make that 81 now, to go before the Spurs can even start thinking about repeating for the first time.

Parker got off to a good start, racing up and down the court and scoring 11 points in the first quarter on 4-of-5 shooting. He and Duncan had rested often during the preseason, and in the first quarter they played with all the energy they had apparently stored up during the lay-off. The Spurs were up 29-26 after the first quarter and extended their lead to as many as 16 points in the second, going up 55-39 off Duncan's layup with 4:31 to go.

The Trail Blazers cut the lead in the third, though, as they outscored the Spurs 28-22. They got as close as 79-77 as Webster hit a 3-pointer with 33 seconds to play. The Spurs ended the quarter up 81-77.

Binobili dunked with just over 10 minutes to go to give San Antonio a six-point lead, then followed with a layup 26 seconds later to put the Spurs up 88-80.

Notes: The accolades just kept coming for the Spurs. Popovich received a 2007 Distinguished Graduate Award from the U.S. Air Force Academy in Colorado. Popovich graduated from the Academy in 1970 and played basketball all four years he spent there. He later served as assistant coach of the Academy's basketball team for six years. ... Darius Washington, a Spurs' training camp invitee who impressed his way onto the team, played backup point guard to Parker and hit a 3-pointer early in the fourth that put San Antonio up 84-77. ... Portland shot 50 percent from the field but had 17 turnovers.

Rockets 95,

Lakers 93

LOS ANGELES — Shane Battier made a tiebreaking 3-pointer with 2.5 seconds left, and Houston withstood a furious rally from Kobe Bryant and the Lakers.

Bryant scored 45 points, 18 in the fourth quarter, in a rally that came up just short.

Tracy McGrady scored 30 points, Yao Ming had 25 points and 12 rebounds, and the Rockets made Rick Adelman's debut as their coach a success.

Derek Fisher, who rejoined the Lakers this summer, scored 17 points. His 3-pointer with 14 seconds left tied it at 92 after the Lakers trailed 77-63 with 7:58 left to play.

Jazz 117,

Warriors 96

OAKLAND — Carlos Boozer had 32 points and 15 rebounds, Deron Williams added 24 points and Utah jumped right back into last season's playoff form while beating Golden State.

Ronnie Brewer scored

18 points and Paul Millsap added 16 for the Jazz, who reached the Western Conference finals last spring with a five-game victory over Golden State in the second round, ending the eighth-seeded Warriors' unlikely playoff run.

Five months later in both clubs' season opener, the Jazz still had too many of the qualities lacked by the flashy Warriors, whose raucous sellout crowd was quieted well before the final buzzer.

Utah outrebounded the Warriors 56-37 and constantly capitalized on Golden State's mistakes. The Jazz led through most of the final three quarters, then coolly turned back Baron Davis' attempts to start a fourth-quarter rally.

Davis had 25 points and 10 assists for the Warriors, who ended a 13-year playoff drought and upset the top-seeded Dallas Mavericks last season before bowing out to the Jazz.

U.S. DEPARTMENT OF JUSTICE - FEDERAL BUREAU OF PRISONS
NOTICE OF AVAILABILITY OF ENVIRONMENTAL ASSESSMENT

The Federal Bureau of Prisons (BOP) has made available an Environmental Assessment (EA) regarding a proposed action by the BOP, through a third-party contractor, to install and operate an Energy Savings Performance Contracting (ESPC) project at the Federal Correctional Institution (FCI) in Big Spring, TX. Principal components of the proposed project consist of installation of programmable thermostats; HVAC modifications; energy efficient lighting upgrades; provision of low flow toilets, shower valves and other water conservation devices; use of submeters to record utility use at the five most energy intensive buildings; and up to two wind turbine generators. The objectives of the ESPC project are to reduce energy consumption to meet federal energy reduction mandates, implement renewable energy technologies, improve facility infrastructure and reduce water consumption. The EA, prepared to fulfill the requirements of the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969, studies the potential impacts of installing and operating the ESPC devices and equipment upon the natural and manmade environments. The EA will be the subject of a 30-day review period which begins October 31, 2007 and ends November 30, 2007. Comments concerning the EA and the proposed action must be received during this time to be assured of consideration and should be sent to: Wendell L. Harris, Federal Bureau of Prisons, South Central Regional Office, 4211 Cedar Springs Road, Suite 300, Dallas, TX 75219, Tel: 214-224-3487/Fax: 214-224-3365. All comments received during the review period will be taken into consideration by the BOP. Copies of the EA are available for public viewing at the Howard County Public Library, 500 South Main St., Big Spring, TX. Thank you for your interest.

realizing they have some budget constraints and it looks like it would be a logical thing for us to take it over and deal with the management of it," the mayor said.

"I don't feel like it's going to happen in the immediate future, but I think it will happen fairly quickly," he added. "We've done some inspections and looked at the property and we have some preliminary ideas for how we can proceed."

McEwen told the council one of the major concerns is whether to keep the facility where it's currently located — on the McMahon-Wrinkle Airpark — or look at moving it to a better location.

"The center is in tough shape right now," said McEwen. "And there are some discussions we need to have as to whether we upgrade what we have out there, or do we abandon it and do something at another location. This is something we'll have to look at in the future. However, I feel there are grants out there our community is not tapping into that we could use. But we would be taking it over. We would be taking over the operation and the management of the center."

As to the future of the center's current staff and administration, McEwen said talks haven't delved into who will — or will not — work at the facility.

"There haven't been any talks in terms of that," said McEwen. "We haven't gotten deeply enough into to say we would, wouldn't or anything else. That's one of the decisions we'll have to make."

County officials announced last week they will look into possibly closing a pair of county facilities — the senior center and county library, both of which fall outside mandated services the county is required by state law to provide — if the jail bond fails and triggers the permanent closure of the existing jail, which is currently under heavy scrutiny from the Texas Commission on Jail Standards.

"If the jail bond gets defeated by a wide margin, we're going to have to take a good, hard look at county operations when the dust settles," said County Judge Mark

Barr. "We're going to have to look at our options, and there is a very real possibility we'll have to consider closing the library and the Senior Center."

Barr said closure of the library and Senior Center were both "worst case scenarios."

Also during Tuesday's meeting, the council approved first reading of a resolution that would allow municipal employees to sell unused sick leave back to the city, hoping the incentive will encourage employees not to take needless sick days.

According to Peggy Walker, city finance director, the measure will allow employees to cash in unused sick leave hours at the tune of 15 days a year, at either a 3-1 ratio, with longer tenured employees able to sell back an additional 10 days each year.

"Assuming everyone took advantage of the program the first year, we would be able to reduce the number of accumulated sick leave by 9,800 hours," said Walker. "It would cost the city approximately $110,700 the first year, and most likely decline in coming years as the accumulated balances decreased."

"It's important to remember they have the option to sell their sick leave back, but they aren't required. These figures assume 100 percent participation, but I'm sure there are a few who are looking at extended illnesses and may not want to participate."

Walker went on to say the buy-back incentive would also help decrease the number of overtime hours needed to fill positions left empty when a city employee calls in sick.

The council discussed putting a cap on the number of sick leave hours an employee hired after the implementation of such a plan could accumulate, but that idea met with mixed feelings among the staff.

"I really believe if we implement this, we can get to a point where we don't need a cap," said Walker.

The council passed first reading of the resolution by a 6-1 vote, with McEwen voting against the measure.

PARKING

outlined some of the loopholes in the current ordinance.

"There were situations where it might look like they are parking illegally in their front yard, but in fact, based on the definition of parking in a designated area, they were legal. So what we brought to the council tonight was issues that require them to have improved parking surfaces."

Councilwoman Stephanie Horton staunchly opposed the measure if it was going to affect District 1 residents, saying many low-income families in that area are already faced with choosing between food or medication and could not afford to make improvements like laying gravel or concrete to improve a parking area.

Darden proposed the council allow city residents living in SF3 or General Residential zones — found mainly in Horton's district — be allowed to keep unimproved designated parking areas as a compromise.

"Other zoned areas within the city limits — and some of them are geographically located in the north side and west side of town — can still designate an unimproved area for parking," said Darden. "That's basically what the council approved tonight, and we feel it was a good compromise for our code officers to be able to enforce this particular ordinance, as well as stop the blighted areas where people just don't care. Just like they don't care about the weeds growing or the junk vehicles or substandard structures. It's just another tool the council is giving to the staff and code enforcement to ensure our community stays economically viable."

Darden said residents in the SF3 and General Residential zones — which are typically smaller lots with smaller homes, making parking a serious issue — will be required to get a permit for the unimproved parking area.

"What we're going to ask them to do is come in and get a permit annually for that designated area," said Darden. "It will probably be around $15 for the permit fee if they approve it, and it will have to be inspected annually. And one of the things that we're going to ask is that they keep that designated area free of the vegetation so there is some definition of that outlined area."

Another issue the new ordinance, if passed, will address is parking in residential side yards, according to Darden.

"The side yard was not included in the parking," said Darden. "You could pull up on the side of your house — and the side yard is defined as the front part of the house — and a lot of people in town were just pulling up on the side yard and using that as their parking area. This ordinance will address that issue."

The council also agreed to take a second look at a revision to its purchasing policy that would allow the city staff to skip the formal bidding process on purchases under $50,000, a tool Darden said would streamline the process and allow for negotiations when they are needed.

"We recently had to go out on bid for a flocculator drive for the water plant," said Darden. "We had already budgeted $25,000 for it, and it's about a $16,000 purchase. However, because we had to get an engineer and a bid bond for a formal bid, that cost an additional $6,000. It's also taken about a month-and-a-half for the whole process to develop. That $6,000 could have gone for a piece of playground equipment."

"We're not asking for a blank check. However, it would give us the chance to negotiate with the vendors, rather than go through a sealed bid process where there's nothing we can do, and that's crucial."

State law requires municipalities use a formal bid process for any purchase more than $50,000, but allows cities to set its own limits below that mark. The city of Big Spring currently uses formal bids for any purchase more than $10,000.

vice. "The act or service must clearly exceed that which is normally required or expected, considering the individual's grade or rate, training, and experience; and it must be an important contribution of benefit to the United States and the naval service."

Micah is married to the former Heather Ann Davis from Michigan. They have a son, 5-year-old Paysen, and a daughter, 3-year-old Gracen.

Micah's parents are J. and Kathleen Epley, who live between Big Spring and Forsan. His maternal grandparents are Travis and Shirley Fryar, who have lived in and around Big Spring most of their lives, but recently moved to Midland. Travis' brother, James Fryar, lives in Big Spring with his wife Bo, who was pictured on the Herald's front page Sunday, Oct. 14, with his wood carvings.

Micah's paternal grandparents are the late Cecil and Beverly Epley, who lived in Big Spring some years ago and moved to Hico.

Micah, your home town and home county are very proud of you.

ent story to tell if West had continued with a spade at trick two. This seemingly automatic play would have given South the contract.

Declarer would have trumped and played the ace of clubs. The club situation would then have become an open book. A heart to the ace and a diamond discard on the king would be followed by a club from dummy, South taking the marked finesse against the jack to make the contract.

It might seem odd that West shifted to a heart, which would appear to be a dangerous play. But yet, as we have seen, the heart shift defeated the contract.

Such plays are not made by accident. They are based on inferential knowledge. Let's see how West reasoned in this case.

On the king of spades, East played the three and South the six. West knows that East cannot have a doubleton or he would have started a high-low. He likewise knows East does not have a singleton because that would give declarer three spade losers, which would be inconsistent with South's bidding. So South has a singleton spade.

West therefore asks himself how his side can possibly score two more tricks. The only hope lies in clubs and diamonds. West cannot know precisely what his partner's club holding might be, but it is surely in his side's best interests to sever South's communication with dummy by leading a heart before the club situation becomes exposed.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

BY HOLIDAY MATHIS
Happy Halloween, ghouls and boys! This "holy night" precedes All Saints Day, the Roman Catholic festival honoring dead saints who have attained heavenly vision. Apropos, Neptune the divine moves forward from retrograde, making an apparitional appearance on your front doorstep! Adjust your night vision, and watch for omens.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You've been looking for any reason to explore the inner world of others, and this is just the opportunity you need. So dress up as someone else, and really get into the character. Costume idea: Alien.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Your idea of a good time includes the kind of interesting twists and heart-thumping surprises that are sure to come your way today. Costume idea: Rock star.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Go along with the fun of the day. When you let yourself be surprised by images you usually only see in your dreams, deep wells of creativity awaken in you. Costume idea: Celebutante.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). You're in a versatile mood, which allows you to jump on board with the ideas that sound like the most fun. Costume idea: A member of the animal kingdom.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Not much is scaring you these days, but you'll make an exception for Halloween and let yourself be positively undone with fright for at least a second or two! Costume idea: A bad fairy.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If you can't keep a secret from someone, it may be a sign that you love the person. Or maybe you just can't keep a secret. Slip into your alter ego and see what happens then. Costume idea: Historical figure.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). All adults are sensitive and scared 7 year olds inside — something to keep in mind during today's interactions. The real ghouls and goblins are limiting beliefs. Costume idea: Movie star.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). It's your time of year, and you'll rule the room wherever you go now. Dare to be boldly theatrical, especially if no one else is. Costume idea: Something you were once afraid of.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You wake up feeling peppy, sociable and imaginative. Also, you don't mind going the creative distance to please friends. Costume idea: A zombie.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Getting your work done in record time is a prerequisite for the fun you're going to have tonight. So, you buckle down and make it happen. Costume idea: A professional nightmare.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You don't need it to be Halloween to be reminded of what you're afraid of. But you're conquering the fear, little by little every day. Costume idea: An overtly sexy version of yourself.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You've been so sweet lately that it wouldn't hurt to allow yourself a snide quip — a slightly less-than-gracious retort while you pay attention to your own needs for a moment. Costume idea: A notorious menace.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Rocker and actor Gavin Rossdale confronts shadows just like every Scorpio does — it's the gift of his sign. This no-fear attitude allows for astounding personal growth over a lifetime, making transitions such as rock star to daddy a full body-and-soul transformation. This year, he liberates an old loss, potentially bringing Gavin unprecedented joy.

Annie's Mailbox

Dear Annie: I am a very successful married father of a wonderful 3-year-old girl. I have a great wife, adorable daughter, good job — everything is going well.

I frequently pick up my daughter at day care and have started talking a lot to "Rosa," one of the mothers there. My wife and I know Rosa and her husband a little, but from the first time I saw her, something seemed to "spark" and I think she feels the same way. We've done nothing but talk when we happen to see each other, but I swear, I think about her all the time.

So what should I do about it? Neither of us is going to leave our marriages, and I'd be too guilt-ridden to have an affair, even if she'd agree. Do we just ride it out? I'm in knots when I think about her. — Confused Dad

Dear Confused: It's fairly common to develop crushes on other people, and it may happen many times over the years, but if you are married and have a family, you don't act on those impulses. Don't flirt. Don't daydream in anticipation of seeing Rosa. Remind yourself of your great wife and adorable daughter, and do nothing that will jeopardize your marriage. This infatuation will pass if you keep all conversation with Rosa superficial, spend as little time as possible in her vicinity and put the extra energy into your relationship with your wife.

Dear Annie: I am 67 and have done the paperwork to be an organ donor. My children approve of this. However, we were all under the impression that after age 70, they no longer took any organs other than corneas. When I mentioned the possibility of volunteering my body as a medical cadaver should

MARCY SUGAR

I live beyond age 70, my oldest child expressed extreme disapproval.

I will make whatever arrangements I wish, but it would be nice if the strain of disagreement on this subject could be avoided. It would be nicer-than-nice if I could allow my current arrangement to stand, regardless of how long I live.

Can you tell me if there is currently a cap on the upper age for organ donation or whom to contact to get accurate information? — N.

Dear N.: There is no age limit on being an organ donor, nor does it cost anything to be a donor. (The recipient families pay the cost of organ donation.) All potential donors are evaluated at the time of donation to be sure the organs are healthy enough for transplantation. For more information, you can contact the United Network for Organ Sharing (unos.org), P.O. Box 2484, Richmond, VA 23218, the National Kidney Foundation (kidney.org) at 1-800-622-9010 and Living Bank (livingbank.org) at 1-800-528-2971.

Dear Annie: I'll put up a crisp Ben Franklin that the grandpa who yelled about the wet towel on the wood floor is a total and absolute jackass in every aspect of his life. A hardwood floor is only that. A relationship with a granddaughter is something to cherish. You are correct that she should write him a letter. However, instead of groveling to the materially obsessed old grump, she should give him a bit of his own medicine and tell him to fold his hardwood floor five ways and sit on it. — Wilmington, N.C.

Dear N.C.: We agree that Grandpa overreacted (and you could be right about his personality), but a 17-year-old girl should not be disrespectful toward other people's property simply because the relationship is valued. That kind of message says that when people love you, you can treat them poorly. She is old enough to take responsibility for her actions, even (and especially) when they involve her grandparents.

Dear Readers: It's Halloween today. Be sure to dress your trick-or-treaters in flame-retardant costumes that don't obstruct walking or vision, and please, parents, walk with them. Be careful. Have fun.

Here's why you need the county library

You really missed some bargains the last week of our book sale. The Friends of the Library have now packed away some "keepers" and the rest have been disposed.

We cannot take donations at this time, as our space to store them is very limited. I certainly do appreciate all the donations of materials, the time that the Friends have spent manning the book sale and of course, you, the purchasers. The Friends (and the Library) couldn't do it without you. Thanks so very much.

If you missed reading the column in our usual Wednesday spot (it was taken up by the propositions up for vote), then I hope that you read it in the Sunday (weekend) edition of the Herald. Johnny did a superb job on "what you can do in the library."

As many of you know, Howard County is faced with the issue of building a new jail. I urge you to vote your conscience. Judge Barr and Commissioners Crooker and Simer have both said that if the jail bond issue does not pass, then it is quite possible that both the Library and the Senior Citizens Center would close.

Obviously, I would not like for that to happen.

When I first heard the news while on vacation, I was not completely surprised and did not view it as a "scare" tactic as so many have. It is a reality check.

What do you do when your personal budget is confronted by a completely unforeseen call upon it?

Perhaps a sudden medical or transportation emergency that while you have the funds to pay for it, it will put a dent in your everyday activities. You can't take the kids out to the movies (along with the popcorn/candy/pop) because it costs too much. You cannot run over to Midland to go shopping or see the Monster Truck Rally in Odessa. It is because you do not have the discretionary funds to do so.

The county is in the same situation. If the bond issue does not pass and the jail is closed down, they are faced with the cost of housing the prisoners outside the county.

It takes money to do that, and that money will have to come from somewhere. In the budget workshops for 2007-2008 FY, I was asked to cut almost one-third of the Library's budget. While I was able to cut some program costs, the majority of the cuts came from staff positions. You will notice that we do not have the same smiling faces serving the public; our hours have been decreased and volunteers from the RSVP program have stepped into fill the gap. The state does not require a county to fund or have a library. Most counties or cities that do fund them consider libraries to be a valuable asset to their residents.

The Library serves the citizens of Howard County and will continue to do so. During the past fiscal year (October 2006 to September 2007) the Library provided the following services: 64,133 items were checked out, 6,504 reference requests were filled, 9,624 persons used the public Internet computers, 2,308 faxes were sent and received and 1,141 children participated in programs at the Library. Some 48,448 copies were made, 1,525 persons used the community rooms and 330 inter-library loans were made; $7,489.85 in fines were collected and $595 in donations were received by the Library.

This is what you will miss if the Library closes: a quiet place to read or study. You will miss checking out, returning, renewing or reserving books.

You will miss reading magazines and newspapers. You won't be able to do research on anything from a class assignment to a personal hobby. You won't be able to surf the Internet or check your e-mail. You won't be able to read a bestseller or any book from our collection which includes children's books, young adult books, mysteries, westerns, science fiction, romances and classics to name a few.

You will lose wi-fi access for your laptop. You will lose the ability to read an exchange paperback, to check out audio books, DVDs and videos.

You will not be able to make color or plain copies. You won't be able to do research using the rolls of microfilm of the Big Spring Herald that date back to 1908. You won't be able to search through one of our 160 Texas phone books to find a number or an address. You will lose access to TexShare Databases — The TexShare Databases are a program of the Texas State Library and Archives Commission in partnership with your local library. This program allows you to search multiple information resources in one setting. You will lose the ability to research the business, health, literature, current events, history, science, education, professional journals, encyclopedias, newspapers and magazines databases.

You won't be able to do research on your family heritage by utilizing the many volumes in our Genealogy Room. You won't be able to send or receive a fax. You won't be able to reserve one of our rooms for a meeting. Computer problems at home, or don't have a computer? Then you won't be able to use one of ours, which are equipped with Microsoft Word, Power Point, Excel, and Office in addition to several other software programs. Still more to lose? No Wednesday morning story time or Summer

Reading Program.

This is a very gloomy picture I have painted and some will view it as scare tactics. I just want the residents of Howard County to see what they will lose.

Remember, our hours have changed. Monday through Friday we are open 10 a.m. until 6 p.m. with the Internet/video room closing during lunch (noon to 2 p.m.) and at 5:30 in the evening. Saturday hours are 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the Internet/video room closing at 1:30.

The Library is located at 500 S. Main St. Our phone number is 264-2260. The Web site is www.howardcounty.lib.tx.us.

Hollis McCright is director of the Howard County Library.
