Shooting inquest continues

Police officials say the investigation into the May 12 shooting of a 33-year-old Big Spring man is moving slowly, with no arrests having yet been made.

The shooting — which was reported in the 1600 block of Cardinal at approximately 3:55 p.m. — sent Toby Porter, of Big Spring, to the emergency room at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, according to police officials. Sgt. Tony Everett, public information officer with the Big Spring Police Department, said Porter was shot near a residence located at 1609 Cardinal St. "Upon arrival, officers found an adult male had been shot in the left side of the chest area," Everett said. "He was then transported to the emergency room at Scenic Mountain Medical Center, where he was listed in critical condition." Everett said Porter's condition was later upgraded after the 33-yearold man regained consciousness, and is currently doing well.

"I'm not sure if he's been able to go home from the hospital yet, but he's obviously doing much better than he was when he was taken to the emergency room," said Everett. "The last report I received on him was that he was doing very well."

Everett said investigators are interviewing witnesses to the crime, but no arrests have been made and no suspect has been identified. No other injuries were reported as a result of the shooting.

"The investigation is progressing rather slowly," said Everett. "No motive has been determined for the shooting, and no one else was injured as a result of the altercation. We're still interviewing witnesses and gathering information, how-

Lakers hold off Suns

LOS ANGELES (AP) — For a few minutes in the third quarter, the Suns actually got rolling. Grant Hill and Jason Richardson scored in a flurry of jumpers, and Phoenix forced enough turnovers and bad shots by the Lakers to tie Game 2 heading to Coach Alvin Gentry will cling to those minutes over the next three days, because not much else in the first two games of the Western Conference finals suggested Phoenix can hang with Kobe Bryant's defending NBA champions.

Pau Gasol scored 14 of his 29 points in the fourth quarter, Bryant had 21 points and 13 assists, and the Lakers roared away in the final minutes of a 124-112 victory Wednesday night for a 2-0 series lead.

Ron Artest scored 18 points in Los Angeles' eighth straight playoff victory — and their second vivisection of Phoenix's allegedly improved defense.

The Lakers made better than 57 percent of their shots and scored a jaw-dropping 252 points in the series' first two games, playing equally well in their triangle offense and their transition game. Kobe and Co. can do it all, and they do it particularly well at Staples Center crowd in the final this time of year.

"We're extremely versatile," said Bryant, who responded to the Suns' double teams by setting a career playoff high in assists — the most in the postseason by a Los Angeles player since Magic Johnson in April 1996. "We can play pretty much any style. It doesn't mean we're better than the team we're playing against, but it holds us in stretches."

Game 3 is Sunday night in Phoenix, where Gentry believes his club will match up better even if he doesn't quite know how the Suns will do it.

"We can't slow them down," Gentry said. "I thought we played well offensively, but every time we tried to make an adjustment to slow them down offensively, they would go somewhere else. There's a good reason they're the world champs, but we'll keep plugging away, keep trying."

Lamar Odom had 17 points and 11 rebounds for the Lakers, who moved within striking distance of a tantalizing NBA finals showdown with the Boston Celtics, who lead Orlando 2-0 in the East. For the second straight game, the chants rained down from the minutes: "We want Boston!" Bryant's streak of six straight 30-point games ended, yet he excelled as a creator. He set up Gasol for two tough baskets in the final minutes, with Gasol scoring with a flourish and drawing a foul each time. "We're shooting the ball very well, moving the ball really, really well," Gasol said. "Our bench is playing at a high level, and we're all stepping up."

Grant Hill scored 14 of his 23 points in the third quarter while Phoenix erased a 14-point deficit, but the Lakers went back ahead by 11 midway through the fourth with a 9-0 run. Jason Richardson scored 27 points, while Jared Dudley hit five 3-pointers — and it wasn't nearly enough to keep

"We still scored enough points tonight, but when they can score 120-something, that's asking the offense to score too much," said Phoenix's Steve Nash, who had 11 points and 15 assists with five turnovers. "If we're going to beat them, we've got to find a way to slow them down."

The crowd enthusiastically

No home run? No problem for Texas

ARLINGTON (AP) — No replay was needed on the game-ending fly for the Texas Rangers it made a moot point of the ball Josh Hamilton hit over the wall that wasn't a home run.

After the Rangers beat the Baltimore Orioles 4-3 Wednesday night on a sacrifice fly by Nelson Cruz in the ninth inning, crew chief Dana DeMuth acknowledged not doing a video review of Hamilton's earlier

"It should have been a home run," DeMuth said after watching a postgame replay.

Hamilton homered in the second, then led off the fourth with an opposite-field shot that clearly sailed over the 14-foot fence in left and ricocheted back into play.

Second base umpire Doug Eddings signaled that the ball was still in play, though, and Hamilton stopped with a double. Eddings insisted when manager Ron Washington came out to question the call that the ball hit off the top of the wall.

"If (Eddings) had any doubt in his mind, all he has to do is come to me and we're going to video. That's how sure he was on it," DeMuth said. "A couple of innings that umpires erred in later there were a few players, even Baltimore players, that said it was a home run. We had the opportunity to go in and look and I did not do it. It's bad judgment by me but I have to have trust

Ramirez apologizes to teammates for outburst

ST. LOUIS (AP) — One locker stall at a time, Hanley Ramirez worked his way around the Florida clubhouse to offer his apolo-

A few hours later, the Marlins star was back in a more familiar, comfortable place: batting third and playing shortstop. The team was ready to put the unsightly outburst that led to a benching behind them.

"He told us he was sorry and he was wrong ... and he wouldn't let it happen again," teammate Wes Helms said Wednesday. "Doing it that way is a lot easier than doing it front of a whole crowd.

"Whatever way he does it, we just wanted him to do it, and he did it. So now it's done with," he Ramirez singled in his first two at-bats against Jaime Garcia of the St. Louis Cardinals. He was roundly booed before he came up the first time and there was no reaction when he stepped to the plate leading off the third.

Two days after pulling Ramirez for not hustling, manager Fredi Gonzalez handled his clearthe-air chat with the two-time All-Star like a father with a son that's been grounded. Then Gonzalez put out the lineup card that included the reigning NL batting champion, and tossed away an alternate card he had prepared just in case.

"I think we're all parents here," Gonzalez said. "Sometimes our children will say something that hurts, but it's no big deal.

"After this is all said and done. 10-15 years down the road we'll sit down and say: 'What a privilege to get a chance to manage this type of ballplayer."

Ramirez didn't play Tuesday after taking shots at his manager and teammates. Gonzalez considered the matter old news after chatting for five or 10 minutes with Ramirez in the manager's office — Ramirez stood just inside an open door — several hours before a game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

Gonzalez seemed surprised when more than a dozen members of the media were waiting for his daily briefing.

Asked whether the benching had made a point, he told reporters who had been critical of Ramirez that "you guys made the

Astros break losing skid

HOUSTON (AP) - JeffKeppinger's production helped convince the Houston Astros that they no longer needed Kaz Matsui.

Cory Sullivan hit a goahead single in the eighth inning, Keppinger drove in a career-high four runs and the Astros snapped a five-game losing streak with a 7-3 win over the Colorado Rockies Wednesday night.

After the game, the Astros waived the struggling Matsui, who was batting .141 this season and was hitless in his last 20 at-bats. The 34-year-old Matsui was in the last season of a three-year, $16.5 million contract that he signed in December 2007. Keppinger came in hitting.270 for the season and .353 on the road, third-best in the NL. General manager Ed Wade said he'll take over the full-time duties at second base.

"Keppinger's performance from the very first day of the season has been very solid and gives us comfort at the position," Wade said.

Keppinger, who's played four straight road games. for four teams in just over three full seasons, is eager to embrace his opportunity and wants to hang on to his No. 2 spot in the batting order.

"That's why I'm here," he said. "I've always looked at myself as being a second baseman, and I've strived to be a starter. I don't know if they have named a starter, but if they keep running me out there and batting me in the 2-hole, that's fine with Sullivan broke a 3-all tie with a two-out single off Esmil Rogers (0-2), scoring Tommy Manzella, who reached on Colorado's second error. Michael Bourn was intentionally walked to load the bases and Keppinger capped his big night with a three-run double to left.

"It was nice," Keppinger said. "I got the big hit there late in the game with two outs and gave us a little cushion going into the last inning. That's what we have been missing all year."

The Rockies have lost

"When you're scratching and clawing for every single run you can get,' manager Jim Tracy said, "mistakes that get made become maximized bigtime, and we were witnesses to something exactly like that."

Brandon Lvon (3-1) pitched a scoreless eighth and Matt Lindstrom finished for the Astros, whose 13 hits tied a season high. Houston salvaged a strong start from Felipe Paulino, who allowed two hits and struck out four in six innings.

Paulino also walked five, including two of the first three hitters he faced. Troy Tulowitzki's single in the first inning scored Dexter Fowler to make it

The Astros immediately answered off Colorado starter Greg Smith, with Bourn leading off with a single and Keppinger driving him in with a double. Houston loaded bases with one out in the second inning, and Pedro Feliz scored on Bourn's groundout for a 2-1 lead.

faced only three batters in his scoreless ninth for Texas, benefiting from a double play after Texas went ahead in the seventh on a pair of unearned runs without hitting a ball out of the infield. Matt Treanor's leadoff grounder rolled to a stop on the grass about halfway to third base for an infield hit. Julio Borbon reached on his sacrifice bunt because reliever Matt Albers' doubleclutched throw to first was late for an error. After another sacrifice bunt and an intentional walk to Young, Kinsler had an RBI groundout to tie it at 2. Vladimir Guerrero drove in the go-ahead run with a hard chopper for an infield single when third baseman Miguel Tejada got his glove on the ball but was unable to handle it.

Baltimore led 2-0 in the second after a tworun bloop hit by Izturis. That was one of four singles in the same inning that Texas starter Rich Harden got all three outs on strikeouts. Izturis tied the game at 3 with a two-out single in the eighth off Chris Ray.

Harden struck out five and allowed two runs and eight hits over 5 1-3 innings. He has three straight no-decisions, including his previous start when he left with a 9-7 lead after walking six and giving up seven runs in 2 2-3 innings.

Orioles starter Jeremy Guthrie, who had won his last two starts after an eight-game losing streak that stretched back to last season, left after six innings with a 2-1 lead. The right-hander struck out three with no walks.

News in brief

Senators push for National Guard troops on border

WASHINGTON (AP) — Homeland Security and Pentagon officials are at loggerheads over a plan to send National Guard troops to the U.S.-Mexico border, even as President Barack Obama is pledging to bolster security there.

The Guard stalemate has festered for nearly a year, and frustrated lawmakers are demanding action to stem the spread of violence and drug trafficking that has spilled across the border into their states. The inaction raises questions about whether the White House is convinced the federally funded deployment is necessary, or whether border states will be forced to bear the costs of dispatching the Guard troops on their own.

Speaking at the White House on Wednesday with Mexican President Felipe Calderon, Obama said the U.S. is committed to standing with Mexico against the drug

"As your partner, we'll give you the support you need to prevail," he said, adding that through increased law enforcement on the U.S. side of the border, "we're putting unprecedented pressure on those who traffic in drugs, guns and people."

Fueling the discord over sending the National Guard to the border was the U.S. response to the Gulf oil spill, which has included federal authorization for deploying up to 17,000 National Guard troops.

Self-regulation of safety features is norm in oil industry worldwide

STOCKHOLM (AP) — The U.S. government is not alone in ceding responsibility to the oil industry for the design of key safety features on offshore rigs, a trend coming under scrutiny worldwide folMexico.

Across the globe, industry-driven regulation is the norm, not the exception — and critics are calling for a re-examination of a system that puts crucial safety decisions into the hands of corporations motivated

An Associated Press investigation shows other nations harvesting oil and gas from offshore fields, including Britain, Norway, Australia and Canada, have moved in the same direction: Governments set the general safety standards that must be met, but leave it to rig operators to work out the details. The shift away from more heavy-handed regulation started about two decades ago and was based on the notion that oil companies best know the risks of offshore operations — and how to minimize them.

But the Deepwater Horizon explosion on April 20 and another platform incident in the Timor Sea off Australia last year have raised concerns that Big Oil has been given too much leeway to police itself.

Thousands march in Greek general strike after riots

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — Thousands of protesters marched in central Athens on Thursday, as unions challenged harsh austerity measures in Greece by holding their fourth general strike this year.

Members of a communist-backed labor union staged an occupation of the Labor Ministry. More than 5,000 protesters chanting "Don't bow your heads" filed past the ministry, while thousands more gathered for the day's main rally to parlia-

Store owners closed up and lowered protective shutters before the march got under way. Police deployed 1,700 officers and detained 36 people in an early show of lowing the deadly blowout in the Gulf of force after violent protests two weeks ago left three people dead in a bank fire.

The strike closed schools, halted ferries and trains, and kept hospitals running on emergency staff.

Unions are protesting harsh measures imposed by the cash-strapped government. During Greece's last general strike May 5, three workers — including a pregnant woman — died when a bank was torched by rioters.

SKorea accuses North in torpedo attack on warship; Pyongyang warns of war

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — Tensions deepened Thursday on the Korean peninsula as South Korea accused North Korea of firing a torpedo that sank a naval warship, killing 46 sailors in the country's worst military disaster since the Korean President Lee Myung-bak vowed "stern action" for the provocation following the release of long-awaited results from a multinational investigation into the March 26 sinking near the Koreas' tense maritime border. North Korea, reacting swiftly, called the results a fabrication, and warned that any retaliation would trigger war. It continued to deny involvement in the sinking of the warship Cheonan.

"If the (South Korean) enemies try to deal any retaliation or punishment, or if they try sanctions or a strike on us we will answer to this with all-out war," Col. Pak In Ho of North Korea's navy told broadcaster APTN.

An international civilian-military investigation team said evidence overwhelmingly proves a North Korean submarine fired a homing torpedo that caused a massive underwater blast that tore the Cheonan apart.

Let's be good hosts for Run for the Wall aturday morning, hundreds of motorcy-clists and their support vehicles will pa-rade to Big Spring's Vietnam Memorial – the only such observance that will take place this month. The vast majority of those riders will be Vietnam era veterans.

"Run for the Wall" participants — a large group of West Coast bikers headed to Washington, D.C., Brewer approved a measure that will arrive around 10 a.m. Saturday, as the memorial will be a stopping place for the group, as it has been for the past few years, en route to the nation's capitol where they'll participate in the annual Rolling Thunder observance on Memorial Day at the Vietnam Memorial.

"Run for the Wall" began in 1989 when a couple of Vietnam veterans traveled across the country to remind Americans that thousands of men and women are still accounted for from that war.

Today the purpose is basically still the same: Promote healing among veterans and their families; call for an accounting for all POWs and MIAs; honor the memory of those killed in action from all wars; and support U.S. military personnel around

The ride's motto is "We Ride for Those Who

The procession will come into town from the west on Business 20 and FM 700. Riders will spend about an hour at the memorial before going on to Colorado City where they'll stop for a lunch break.

While Run for the Wall participants are taking part in Rolling Thunder, the Permian Basin Ride to Remember, which for several years has seen several hundred bikers take part in the ride from the Permian Basin Vietnam Memorial at Terminal to the Big Spring Vietnam Memorial, will not be coming to Big Spring.

Although the Ride to Remember will be held this year, it will be heading to Andrews instead.

We here at the Herald encourage the public join the veterans this Saturday for their brief ceremony, but please be careful and considerate of the large number of vehicles that will be involved. Let's remember to treat our visitors, as we'd hope to be treated if we were visiting their hometowns ... as honored guests.

After all, that's exactly what they are.

Some people want a race and ethnicity war in this country, and Arizona is itching to start

As if inviting demonstrations, boycotts and widespread repudiation with the infamous 1070 profiling law weren't enough, two new measures were introduced in Arizona recently to provoke even more outrage. First, the Arizona Department of Education threatened to go after teachers who have heavy foreign accents, including many recruited when the state was much more immigrant-friendly.

And then, Republican Gov. Jan bans the state's schools from teaching ethnic studies.

To justify the latter, Arizona schools chief Tom Horne, a Republican running for attorney general, vilified the Tucson Unified School District's popular Mexican-American studies program, charging that it promotes racial discrimination — a perfect example of the pot calling the kettle black.

Using reverse psychology that convinced no one, Horne argued that ethnic studies programs promote "ethnic chauvinism" and that he is the one who is fighting discrimination. In the dictionary, next to the word hypocrite...

Latino students in Tucson are taught that Arizona was once part of Mexico and that they should be proud of the contributions their Latino ancestors made to the United States; in some warped minds, that's the equivalent of teaching un-American values.

Using language designed to alarm Americans about threats that don't exist, the legislation signed into law by Brewer bans state funding for schools offering courses that "promote the overthrow of the U.S. government" and "promote resentment toward a race or class of people.'

Of course, these programs do no such thing! They are about connecting students with their ethnic roots. In fact, what they do is promote tolerance for diversity. The only ones discriminating against "a race or class of people" are Horne, Brewer and the other Arizona Republicans who have declared war on all Latino immigrants.

Even "advocating ethnic solidarity" can cause Arizona schools to lose their state funding from now on. Arizona wants all new immigrants to dissolve in the so-called American melting pot, even though in the past most immigrants have been unwilling to do it.

Throughout American history, we have been proud to preserve and celebrate our very diverse ethnic roots. In ethnic communities throughout this country, people of many different backgrounds have been praised by politicians for the same "ethnic solidarity" that is now a problem to the politicians in Arizona. Obviously, their problem is with Hispanic immigrants. They fear we are "taking over." Yet you would think that in the middle of the storm created by their first piece of antiimmigrant legislation, Arizona politicians would wait at least a few months before promoting other racist measures. But nah, not Arizona. It wants to lead the anti-immigrant movement.

Even a U.N. human rights panel charged that Arizona is displaying "a disturbing pattern of legislative activity hostile to ethnic minorities and immigrants.'

The backlash against Arizona is now international.

But the Republican extremists who run that state apparently don't care about the criticism. They are tired of hiding their fear-mongering agenda, and they are bringing it out in the open. They are threatened by the growth of the U.S. Hispanic population, and what they want is clearly to turn back the clock on the civil rights Latinos and other minorities have struggled to gain in the past 50 years.

Acting like schoolyard bullies, Arizona politicians are itching to lead the fight to suppress the civil rights of Latinos.

But there will be many more demonstrations, boycotts and even lawsuits against their mean-spirited measures.

And like all schoolyard bullies, they eventually will get the beating they deserve.

Starving for attention at UC Berkeley hen some 20 UC Berkeley students announced on May 3 that they were launching a hunger strike to protest the new Arizona immigration law, they also issued a set of "demands." They demanded that Chancellor Robert Birgeneau denounce the Arizona law, rehire laid-off janitors and drop disciplinary actions against students arrested after a violent protest.

SAUNDERS

You knew how the story would end before it ended.

The administration would kowtow to student activists by agreeing to meet with them and behave as if their demands merited serious consideration. Most of the activists' impossible demands would remain Then — as happened after 10 days — in order to save face, both sides would agree to act as if they had accomplished something important, and then congratulate themselves for, well, preening.

an institution of higher learn-

And once again, the public would see UC Berkeley less as ing and more as a camp for the politically correct.

Start with the student demand that Birgeneau denounce the Arizona law. _Forget all that high-minded talk about the free exchange of ideas. These students hold university solons in such low regard that they felt free to demand that university leaders parrot their political beliefs.

No worries. The chancellor happily caved. "I made it widely known last week to our campus community that I was horrified by this law," Birgeneau wrote May 7.

Why push a California university toff to make a statement on an Arizona law? _Hunger striker Alejandro Lara-Briseno told me, "We don't abide by these geographical divisions." Did Lara-Briseno read Arizona

Senate Bill 1070? "I've read parts of it," he answered. "I'm in the middle of my aca-

It's only 17 pages long. He replied, "It may be 17 pages, but I also have many academic responsibilities." Many have lauded Lara-Briseno for his personal sacrifice. Indeed, he says he will not eat until May 20, when he visits a sister in Arizona. (I hope he changes his mind for the sake of his health.) I would be more impressed if he had read the bill and demonstrated an understanding of federal immigration law. But after two weeks of protest, it still hasn't occurred to him that he ought to be informed about the very law he is protesting. There is some light in this dark tale.

The university did not give in to the hunger strikers' demands on student discipline.

But I don't see why Birgeneau released his Arizona statement or why he agreed to meet the students. "We were concerned about their health and welfare," spokeswoman Claire Holmes explained, "and also, they raised some important issues for key members of our community.'

And: "It was congruent with his values to take this very seriously."

Problem: This demandfest represents the sort of behavior an institution of higher learning should not take seriously — unless the administration wants to pay to police more of the same. Lesson learned: You can't go wrong making childish demands and flouting the rules at UC Berkeley. Intellectual rigor not required.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

It's the last day of the 2010 solar transit through Taurus. You've learned something about what you want, and you've made a series of steps -however small they may be -- in the direction of those goals. Tonight

the sun moves into Gemini, and a new way of thinking will begin to percolate, which will be apparent in our dreams. ARIES (March 21-April 19). You are on a hot streak. You're moving up at work, your significant other finds you irresistible, and even parking places appear right where they should. This won't last forever, but it will last a while longer. Notice it.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). 'Tis the season of the flirt. Put on those new clothes, and go make some people love you! Who are you kidding? You're an old pro at this. Your springtime shine will turn more than one lucky head.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Changes in seasons are accompanied by changes in your professional life. You'll be getting some juicy assignments at work, and when you apply yourself, you'll make a stellar impression.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Your heart is a fiddle, and someone else is holding the bow. That someone else is calling the tune; you're making the music. What a perfect combination you are.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You like being around fun-loving people, but lately someone you know has gone from "wildly amusing" to "potentially dangerous." Be cautiously observant as you decide whether or not to intervene.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Someone keeps crossing your mind for apparently no reason. There is a reason, though. You won't find out what it is until you reach out to that person. Do it soon.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your usual grace and manners could be challenged by a spell of awkwardness. Perhaps this comes about because you really care about what a certain person thinks of you. You'll work through it quickly.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). If you were a pop song, your chorus would hang in a listener's mind long after you were gone. You can't help it if you make an impression on everyone you meet. You're super-

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Few things are as precious as being around people you love and who love you back. You may go out into a world of uncertainty, but knowing you come home to an oasis of love and support will make

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Childish games are still fun to you. You are a thumbwar veteran. You still beat kids at rock-paperscissors. Your refusal to grow up keeps you young and will prompt an unexpected opportunity today.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your life could use new influences. The people you meet will be interesting, but you could find even more sustenance in a good read. The next book you pick up will hit home.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Your perspective isn't wildly off, but you could use some objective affirmation. You have at least one friend who will tell you honestly whether you are right or wrong -- and whether those jeans really flatter you.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 20). You listen to your own advice and do as your conscience dictates. You move constantly toward inspiration and inspire others, too. Family will delight you. There is an everincreasing flow of love and respect through your group. June and November celebrations are particularly sweet. A sale brings a windfall in October. Libra and Leo people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 20, 14, 3, 44 and 17.

ASTROLOGICAL TOPIC: Sunday in Astrology: (Why are we addressing Sunday on a Thursday? Because we always post the forecast for the week ahead on Sunday, so poor Sunday has been left out of our astrological topics. Sorry, Sunday!) As the word suggests, Sunday is named after that big, beautiful source of life on our planet, the sun. Traditionally, the sun is associated with joy and well-being. This is a day for relaxing and re-energizing your body, mind and spirit -- recharging the batteries for the week ahead. If going to church gives you a sense of inner peace, it's a fine time to go, and afterward, leave a few hours for play. Adults sometimes forget the importance of play for renewal and rejuvenation. Play is vital to maintaining balance in the body. The more laughter and levity the better. Of course, each person has a different way of getting to that buoyant mood. What are the activities you find most enjoyable? For some, it's hiking or paintball. Others like doing a crossword or jigsaw puzzle, going out for brunch with loved ones, seeing a performance, playing music, walking the dog Ö anything you find fun and stimulating falls into the category and is perfect Sunday behavior. The important part is that it's about you and that it feeds the core of your being -- the sun inside you.

theme-oriented it takes care of the carnivore, red meat eater, steak lover or whatever you like to call yourself. I first made this recipe using ribeye steaks, but as cost went up and hours decreased, so did my meat-buying budget. I use beef fajita meat, Hill Country brand from H-E-B. You can use the cut you like and can afford, like ribeye, t-bone, sirloin or New York strip. It's all red meat and it will all be eaten. I use a lot of the same seasoning, but the flavors combined give it a different taste. As to what to serve with this, whatever you like will do. I like to serve a baked sweet potato or mashed sweet potato. Peel the sweet potato, boil in a pot until fork tender, mash with a little butter, milk and small amount of brown sugar. The richness of the potato is a nice contrast from the seasonings of the steak. Enjoy.

MEXICAN STEAK Steaks or fajita meat amount you need chilli powder cumin paprika garlic powder crush red pepper flakes (optional)

To prepare: lay out the meat and on one side squeeze some of the lime juice. Sprinkle all of the dry ingrediants and add some chopped cilantro, pressing it into the meat. Turn meat over and repeat. Place in a freezer ziplock bag and marinate in refrigerator for 4-24 hours, turning occasionally. Remove meat from refrigerator and let sit at room temperature for about 30 minutes before placing on the grill. Cook on grill according to your preference.

I make a green sauce by boiling jalapenos, onions and garlic cloves until tender. You can de-seed the jalapenos if you like. I scoop out veggies and puree in a blender using some of the boiled water to thin it out. Put it on the meat or use it as a dipping sauce.

NOTICE OF DRAFT FEDERAL OPERATING PERMIT AND ACID RAIN PERMIT DRAFT PERMIT NO.: 091

APPLICATION AND DRAFT PER-MIT. Power Resources, Ltd., P.O. Box 2700, Big Spring, Texas 79721, an Electric Services facility, has applied to the Texas Commison Environmental Quality (TCEQ) for a renewal of Federal Operating Permit and Acid Rain Permit (herein referred to as Permit) No. 091, Application No. 14585, to authorize operation of the C.R. Wing Cogereration Plant. The area addressed by the applicaiton is located at northwest corner of Alon Refinery, 2 miles east of Big Spring and 1/4 mile north of Interstate 20, in Big Spring, Howard County, Texas 79720. This application was received by the TCEQ on December 15, 2009.

The purpose of a federal operating permit is to improve overall compliance with the rules governing air pollution control by clearly listing all requirements, applicable defined in Title 30 Texas Administrative Code § 122.10 (30 TAC § 122.10). The draft permit, if approved, will codify the conditions under which the area must operate. The permit will not authorize new construction. The executive director has completed the technical review of the application and has made a preliminary decision to prepare a draft permit for public comment and review. The executive director recommends issuance of this draft permit. The permit application, statement of basis and draft permit will be available for viewing and copying at the TCEQ Office, 12100 Park 35 Building E, First Floor, Circle, Austin, Texas; the TCEQ Midland Regional Office, 3300 North A Street, Building 4-107, Midland, 79705-5406; and the Texas Howard County Public Library, 500
Main Street, Big Spring, Texas, beginning the first day of publication of this notice. At the TCEQ Central and Regional Office, relevant supporting materials for the draft permit, as well as the New Source Review permits which have been incorporated by reference, may be reviewed and copied. Any person with difficulties obtaining these materials due to travel constraints may contact the TCEQ Central Office file room at (512)239-1540.

PUBLIC COMMENT/NOTICE AND COMMENT HEARING. person may submit written comments on the draft permit. Comments relating to the accuracy, completeness and appropriateness of the permit conditions may result in changes to the draft permit.

A person who may be affected by the emission of air pollutants from the permitted area may request a notice and comment hearing. The purpose of the notice and comment hearing is to provide an additional opportunity to submit comments on the draft permit. The permit may be changed based on comments pertaining to whether the permit provides for compliance with 30 TAC Chapter 122 (examples may include that the permit does not contain all applicable requirements or the public notice procedures were not satisfied). The TCEQ may grant a notice and comment hearaing on the application if a written hearing request is rexeived within 30 days after publication of the newspaper notice. The hearing request must include the basis for the request, including a description of how the person may be affected by the emission of air pollutants from the application area. The request should also specify the conditions of the draft permit that are inappropriate or specify how the preliminary decision to issue or deny the permit is inappropriate. reasonably ascertainable issues must be raised and all reasonably available arguments must be submitted by the end of the public comment period. If a notice and comment hearing is granted, all individuals that submitted written comments or a hearing request will receive written notice of the hearing. This notice will identify the date, time and location for the hearing. Written public comments and/or requests for a notice and comment hearing should be submitted to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality. Office of the Chief Clerk, www.tceq/state.tx.us/about/comments.html and received within 30 days from the date of newspaper publication of this notice.

A notice of proposed final action that includes a response to comments and identification of any changes to the draft permit will be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments, a hearing request, or requested to be on the mailing list for this application. This mailing will also provide instructions for public petitions to the U.S. Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) to request that EPA object to the issuance of the proposed permit. After receiving a petition, the EPA may only object to the issuance of a permit which is not in compliance with the applicable requirements or the requirements of 30 TAC

Chapter 122. MAILING LIST. In addition to submitting public comments, a person may ask to be placed on a mailing list for this application by sending a request to the TCEQ Office of the Chief Clerk at the address above. Those on the mailing list will receive copies of future public notices (if any) mailed by the Chief Clerk for this application.

INFORMATION. For additional information about this permit application or the permitting process, please contact the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of Public Assistance, MC-108, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087 or toll free at 1-800-687-4040. General information about the TCEQ can be found at www.tceq.state.tx.us. Si desea informacion en Espanol, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040.

West can do no better than resign gracefully. He must either return a diamond into the A-Q or lead a club, allowing declarer to trump in dummy while discarding the queen of diamonds. Either way, the slam is home.

South reaches six hearts after West has overcalled in clubs, and the king of clubs is led. Declarer sees at once that the success of the slam depends on avoiding two diamond losers. Normally, he would consider trying a diamond finesse, but in view of West's vulnerable overcall, the chance of the finesse succeeding is rather slim. An alternative is there-The ideal solution would be to force West to lead a diamond into the A-O at some stage, which would ensure the slam. But to achieve such a denouement, West would have to be put on lead at a point where he had no choice but to make a losing return. The desired position can be reached if declarer times his play correctly. The club lead is taken by dummy's ace, and a diamond is discarded. South then ruffs a club, plays the A-K of trumps and ruffs another club. The A-K of spades are cashed, and a spade is ruffed in dummy. With five tricks remaining, the preparation is complete. Dummy has a trump, three diamonds and the ten of clubs, while South has two trumps and the A-Q-6 of diamonds. The ten of clubs is led, but instead of ruffing it, a diamond is discarded, thrusting West into the lead.

By Steve Becker

In History Today is Thursday, May 20, the 140th day of 2010. There are 225 days left in the year. Today's Highlight History:

On May 20, 1961, a white mob attacked a busload of Freedom Riders in Montgomery, Ala., prompting the federal government to send in U.S. marshals to restore order.

On this date:

In 1506, explorer Christopher Columbus died in Spain. In 1861, North Carolina voted to secede from the Union.

In 1902, the United States ended a three-year military presence in Cuba as the Republic of Cuba was established under its first elected president, Tomas Estrada Palma.

In 1927, Charles Lindbergh took off from Roosevelt Field in Long Island, N.Y., aboard the Spirit of St. Louis on his historic solo flight to France.

In 1932, Amelia Earhart took ff from Newfoundland to solo across the Atlantic. (Because of weather and equipment problems, Earhart set down in Northern Ireland instead of her intended destination, France.) In 1939, regular trans-Atlan-
