State and local health care workers are busily preparing for the onset of flu season. Unlike last year's H1N1 flu scare, which caught many health care providers short, adequate vaccination supplies will be available this season, officials said.

The Texas Department of State Health Services' Big Spring clinic will begin distributing flu vaccinations Oct. 13, said Stephanie Ferguson, RN team leader at the clinic.

This year's vaccination will me a modified version of last year's inoculation, Ferguson said.

"Our shots will have vaccination for Type A, Type B and H1N1," she said. "It's a modified version of last year's vaccinations."

Ferguson encourages everyone to be vaccinated, regardless if they received inoculations last year.

"Those shots are only good for a year, so people need to be re-immunized this year as well," she said.

The inoculations will be available each Wednesday beginning Oct. 13 from 8:30 a.m. to 11:30 a.m. And 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the TDSHS clinic, located at 501 Birdwell Lane.

There will be no mandatory fee for the vaccinations, Ferguson said.

"If people can donate $10 or $20, that's great, but we won't turn anyone away if they can't pay for the shots," she said.

Medicare and Medicaid also will be accepted, she Flu vaccinations will be available at the clinic at least through December, Ferguson said.

Other businesses and health care providers are stocking up on the vaccinations.

Kim Howell, public information director for Scenic Mountain Medical Center, said hospital officials anticipate no shortage of flu vaccinations this season. Persons should call their doctor to schedule an appointment, she aid. Several local businesses, including Leonard's Pharmacy and the pharmacy at HEB, will provide inoculations this season, officials said.

Our Views

Yes, it is a weekend for the arts

't's a weekend for the arts in our historic community. OK, that's stretching it a bit, but if you agree that country can equal cul-Lture, we're a good place to be.

For starters, or finishers in this case, there's Mustang Draw Woodcarvers Club sale, beginning at 9 a.m. Saturday at the Dora Roberts Community Center. We say "finishers" because the sale is the culmination of a weeklong event, which began Monday with lessons for the novice whittler through the more advanced carver. There were also lessons offered in various types of carving, such as caricature. Ever wanted to make a wooden replica of your mother-in-law's face?

Friday, the carving club will hold its show, handing out awards in several categories.

The sale is an interesting event. If you haven't been, you'll be amazed at what some of the guys — and gals — can do with a stick of wood and a sharp blade. They truly are works of art, and available at reasonable prices. Be there early to consider the best pieces. These make some great one-of-a-kind Christmas gifts. The sale will go on until people stop coming through the

An art sale of another kind begins Friday at the Howard County Library. It's the Friends of the Library annual book sale, and for litera ture lovers, this is like a chocolaholic walking into a candy store. There will be hard bound, soft bound, paperbacks — you name it. We've been told they have a whole bunch of books on cassette this year as well. Prices are low, low, low, so you want to take advantage.

The sale will be held from 9 a.m. until 5:30 p.m. Friday and Saturday and from 1:30 p.m. to 4 p.m. Sunday. The sale will be downstairs. Enter the door to the far right of the entrance and either use the elevator or stairs to access the basement.

If you are unfamiliar with Friends of the Library, it is a non-profit organization that helps the facility fund items it might not normally be able to afford. These have included everything from computers and photocopiers to book drops and rugs. Club members also put on and staff the popular summer reading program for children.

Lastly on our "weekend for the arts" is Harvest Saturday — annual hay rides at Big Spring State Park. OK, sitting on hay might not be "artistic" but it does take a certain skill to stay upright while going around the curves atop Scenic Mountain. And culture? Hay rides are steeped in culture. They are also steeped in many a risque story, which we won't expound upon in this venue.

The rides are at 3 p.m. and 4:30 p.m. on — well, com'on, folks, it's called Harvest Saturday.

A suggestion from Ron Alton, park director is to bring the entire family, toss in a picnic and make an afternoon of it. There is a nature trail to explore and a playground for the kiddos.

Entry is by donation, so give a lot or give a little, but have fun.

We invite you to attend one or all of these activities this weekend. They are al family oriented and can be educational as well as fun. The best part is, they're here, in Big Spring.

A cheap political ploy

ith the midterm elections on the horizon and politicians scrambling for votes, Democrats suddenly have developed renewed interest in immigration reform. Unfortunately, it's not because they have any hope of passing significant legislation, but because — to fool Latino voters — they have to pretend they are actually doing something. Seeing how the GOP has become self-destructive in the Latino community, Democrats simply sat on their hands for too long, expecting the Latino vote to come to them by default. Yet now that some Democrats are fighting for survival, in races in which Latino voters could make a difference, they are extending a hand, pretending to be our best amigos once again. Why else would Senate Majority Leader Harry Reid have reintroduced the pro-immigrant Development, Relief and Education for Alien Minors, or DREAM, Act only a few weeks before the elections? Why as a last-minute amendment to a major defense bill? Why now? Could it be because he desperately needs the Latino vote in his tight re-election bid in Nevada? Seeing as we've waited so long and the election is only a few weeks away, wouldn't it have made much more sense to introduce such a controversial matter after the elections, when it would be easier to reach a consensus with at least a few moderate Republicans?

Wasn't it obvious that most Republican lawmakers would reject any kind of immigration reform before the elections, especially when many of them seem to be so busy posturing for the support of xenophobic conservative extremists?

Of course it was! We didn't need Tuesday's Senate vote to know that the DREAM Act would be defeated at this time. Although this legislation has received some bipartisan support in the past, on Tuesday, Democrats couldn't get a single Republican to support attaching the DREAM Act to a defense bill in the Senate.

The Democrats knew this would happen, but they felt they had to do it — if only as a political ploy to embarrass Republi-

In fact, President Barack Obama and the Democratic leadership in Congress already are telling Latinos that — for lack of a better option — we must continue to vote for them.

"What are you going to do?" Democrats are asking Latinos.

"Cut off your nose to spite your

And they may be right! Republicans deserve to be punished for all the immigrant- and Latinobashing they have done over the past few years.

But the Democrats' sudden eagerness to fight over immigration reform before the midterm elections was clearly a cheap political ploy. It wasn't realistic to expect a pro-immigrant vote in Congress before the Nov. 2 elections. In fact, the renewed debate may have served only to alienate moderate Republicans — the same people they would need to get something done after the elections. And it is likely to be more harmful than helpful to eventually passing comprehensive immigration reform.

The DREAM Act, intended to help only a small portion of the undocumented immigrant population, should be able to breeze through Congress without problems. After all, out of some 11 million undocumented immigrants, it would grant a path to citizenship only to 800,000 youths who were brought here illegally by their parents and have been raised as Americans. You have to be totally heartless to want these young people deported back to countries they hardly know.

Nevertheless, under the current anti-immigrant climate we are enduring, heartless Republicans and opportunistic Democrats abound.

Mean-spirited Republicans claim that the DREAM Act is really a nightmare because it would be a form of amnesty that they claim would open the floodgates for other undocumented immigrants to come here in the future. The opportunistic Democrats wanted to appear as if they were trying to do in a few weeks what they had little desire to accomplish during the past few

"You have every right to keep the heat on me and keep the heat on the Democrats, and I hope you do," Obama told the Congressional Hispanic Caucus Institute at a recent gala. "But don't forget who is standing with you and who is standing against you. Don't ever believe that this election coming up doesn't matter. ... Don't forget who your friends are."

Friends?

Perhaps if he told us not to forget our Republican enemies, he would have a valid argument. But friends?

Dear Mr. President, a true amigo is one who cares about you all the time, not just when it is politically convenient.

uring the 2000 presidential campaign, Democrat Al Gore became captive of the right-wing noise machine. The activists and their media had gone honking nuts over President Clinton's sexual indiscretion. Vice President Gore thought these people mattered and so distanced his campaign from a popular Democratic president.

Never mind that 23 million jobs were added under Clinton's watch.

Never mind that Clinton was leaving the budget in surplus. Never mind that in the postscandal midterm, Democrats actually gained five seats in the House. Never mind that Clinton was leaving office with a huge 66 percent approval rating, 3 percent higher than Ronald Rush Limbaugh was enough to intimidate Al Gore. Not only did Gore keep Clinton off his campaign stages, but he took pot shots at him.

Even in the most liberal parts of America, right-wing talk dominates the airwaves. The comments on newspaper Websites are weighted with anti-liberal bile. Come an actual election, the Democrat usually wins handily, and if a Republican prevails, it's not one of the hotheads.

But Democrats are the glasshalf-empty party. (The other half is Pepto-Bismol.) It's getting late in the game to convince Democrats that the public's angst about the economy and the American future isn't all about them. They still have time to perk up.

Their health care reforms guarantee access to medical care, will slow spending that is bankrupting the nation and should reduce future deficits, to

The financial reforms offer some protection against another economic freefall. These shouldn't be hard sells.

But you do have to sell them when the opposition is blasting these achievements 24/7. Sadly, few Democrats are blowing their horn, especially over health care, and some are actually running against that success. This is self-defeating behavior.

Back in March, when congressional Republicans denied Democrats an inch of cooperation on health care, their spokesmen inflated some public displeasure into surging waves of voter anger against Democrats.

Fine, that's their job. But Democrats did not have to cower when all of 300 tea party people demonstrated in March against their reforms. And so what if some loudmouths made a racket at their town hall meet ings. The rudeness probably offended many gentle folks at

Austin, 78711

Look at those polls tracking public support for health care reform. The lines closely follow the Democrats' willingness to defend what they've done. After passage, approval for the reforms rose.

Of course, this support is now inching down. When Democratic candidates back away from their party's legislation, people assume there's something wrong with it.

Nov. 2 need not be as grim a day for Democrats as they think it will be. In special congressional elections in upstate New York and western Pennsylvania — two blue-collar districts expected to go Republican Democrats won. These were real elections.

Democrats don't need a more passionate base to win elections. They need more votes. A quiet vote counts as much as a strident one. No doubt the weird Christine O'Donnell will have more enthusiastic backers in the Delaware senatorial race than Democrat Chris Coons. And chances are she'll lose.

1 cup shredded cheddar

1/2-3/4 cup of heavy cream

2 Tbls chopped green onions (greens only) salt and pepper non-stick spray

Rinse the potatoes well, leaving the skin on. Rinse the vegetables well. Cut two of the potatoes into 1/4-inch rounds and set aside. Do the same with the squash and zucchini.

In a small bowl, mix the ricotta cheese and the green onions. Preheat an oven to 350 degrees, using a 9 x 13 baking dish, sprayed with non-stick. Place the potato rounds in a single layer around the bottom and the sides. Salt and pepper heavily. Spread half of ricotta cheese mixture over the potatoes. Layer the vegetables, alternating yellow and green on top of cheese mixture in a single layer. Sprinkle half of the monterey and cheddar cheese on top. Repeat the steps starting with potatoes, ricotta, vegetables and cheese. Pour heavy cream slowly all around about half way up the baking dish.

Opening lead — king of diamonds. Perfect card play would be much easier to achieve if one could see all four hands. Without that advantage, a player might have to rely on the tiniest of clues to guide him to the right play at the crucial point. Take this case where West cashed the A-K-Q of diamonds and shifted to a trump. Declarer won with the ten and, realizing that he would lose another trick unless the queen of hearts fell when he later played the A-K, he decided to run his trumps in the hope that the defense would go wrong in their discarding.

Accordingly, South played four more rounds of trumps, on which West discarded a diamond and a club while East discarded the 2-4-5 of hearts in that order. This was now the position:

North ♥J109 ♣Q 10 West East ♥Q87 ♣K 8 ♣J 5 4 3 South ♥ÃK3

When South next led his last trump, West had a problem. He had to choose whether to unguard the hearts or the clubs, but he guessed right when he discarded the eight of clubs. As a result, declarer went down one.

West had only a tiny clue to guide him, but it was conclusive. His partner's 2-4-5 of hearts told him that East had no values in hearts, but, more importantly, it told him that the missing three of hearts was in declarer's hand. So West discarded a club knowing full well that South had the A-K-3 of hearts and that the suit had to be protected at all costs. Tomorrow: Test your play.

'Idol' names J-Lo, Perry new judges

By LYNN ELBER

AP Television Writer INGLEWOOD, lif. — Jennifer Lopez and Steven Tyler will join Randy Jackson as "American Idol" judges next season, after months of turnover and speculation about the future of TV's top-rated

With pomp rivaling that of a U.S. Supreme appointment, Fox finally assembled the new pieces of the "Idol" panel that will be returned to its original format three-member for season 10.

Actress-singer-dancer Lopez and Aerosmith frontman Tyler will have the job of trying to match the offbeat chemistry of former judges Simon Cowell and Paula

"This 'American Idol'!" host Ryan Seacrest said after the new judges joined him on stage at the Forum arena, where the final national audition for next season's singing contest was held Wednesday.

announcement was made before a crowd of several thousand who had gathered to try out, some cheering loudly for the cameras and all hoping to make it to the next round, when they'll be judged by the revamped panel. The mini-show was streamed live online by Fox.

Tyler said he wanted to join the show because "it's being a part of something much bigger than yourself. ... I want to bring some rock to this rollercoaster and show if you've got the heart, the talent, the feeling to do this you could be the next American Idol."

"I'm so excited," said Lopez, who scored a reported $12 million to join the show. "I'm looking for the next Michael Jackson."

The likely Lopez-Tyler pairing had been reported so frequently that Fox would have had to produce Betty White and 50 Cent instead to generate any surprise.

Cowell announced last January that he planned to leave to launch a new talent show for Fox in 2011, with newcomers Ellen DeGeneres and Kara DioGuardi exiting this summer. Abdul left in 2009 over a contract dispute.

Jackson will be the original judge only when "American Idol" returns in January.

Lopez and Tyler could help "American Idol" reinvent itself for the new season, when it will try to stem a ratings slide and bring in younger viewers. The show's audience has been gradually aging, and advertisers prefer to pitch to young adults.

But Fox and the show's producers didn't match the new judges to the target audience when it comes to age: Lopez is 41 and Tyler is 62. Jackson is in the middle at age

Bulldogs, Buffs gear up for District 2-2A DII opener

Friday.

While Stanton head coach John Peterson was drilling it into his players' heads that their 4-0 record means nothing now that district play is here, Coahoma head coach Trey Gardner was constantly reminding his players the Buffs are 4-0 for a reason.

The two coaches agree on one thing, though: what happens over the next six games is ultimately all that mat-

"They can play some football and we've got to go over there with that in mind," Gardner said. "It doesn't matter who we've played or who we've beaten at this point. Everybody's 0-0 and we're trying to approach it with that attitude."

Coahoma may be the hottest team heading into District 2-2A Division II play, boasting a three-game win streak. But Stanton is the only team in the district with an unblemished record, doing it through a stingy defense, among other things.

Something's got to give at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Stanton, right?

Either the Buffs will stay undefeated or the Bulldogs will continue bowling over opponents with a first-year head coach at the helm. All in all, a win for either on Friday could be huge step toward a district title this year.

Both Peterson and Gardner are quick to praise each other's squads.

Peterson noted how the Bulldogs have been running all over opponents since the season-opening loss to Greenwood. Coahoma has scored at least 37 points in the last three game.

While size has been a disadvantage for the Bulldogs all year long, Gardner said the Buffs' front seven will be tough to deal with considering how big they are.

Stanton quarterback Tyler Fulton expects a close contest on Friday and, also doubling as a safety, he said he is well aware of Coahoma's Wing-T. "It'll be physical," Fulton said. "They'll run the ball a lot. Read our keys and we should be alright." But that Wing-T has done wonders for the Bulldogs. Coahoma has had as many as seven ball carries in that offense shred opposing defenses, including quarterback Tanner Ruiz and tailback Dakota Griffith. Pete Acosta has been

Big Spring native named to Texas Sports HOF

By STEVE REAGAN

Big Spring native Charley Johnson, who starred for three teams during a 15-year career in the National Football League, is one of nine new inductees into the Texas Sports Hall of Fame.

Johnson joins former Dallas Cowboys receiver Drew Pearson and the Cowboys' original owner, Clint Murchison, who headline this year's HOF selections.

Johnson, the son of Charles and Dorothy Johnson, graduated from Big Spring High School in 1956. He starred in four sports at BSHS, lettering in football, baseball, basketball and golf.

He went on to star at New Mexico State University, leading the Aggies to Sun Bowl berths in 1958 and 1959. He was named most valuable player of both games — victories over North Texas State and Utah State, respectively.

After graduation, he was drafted by the St. Louis Cardinals, where he played for nine years, then quarterbacked the Houston Oilers for two years before concluding his career with the Denver Broncos. He retired in 1975.

During his 15-year career, he threw for more than 24,000 yards and 170 touchdowns while posting a winning percentage of more than 60 percent. Following his retirement, he was selected to the Broncos' Ring of Honor.

Johnson, who holds a doctoral degree in chemical engineering, is currently a professor and assistant to the university president at NMSU in Las Cruces, N.M.

Pearson caught the famous Hail Mary pass from Roger Staubach that turned a nearcertain loss into a win over Minnesota in the 1975 playoffs. He played in three Super Bowls with the Cowboys, winning one. The three-time All-Pro had 7,822 career receiving yards and 48 touchdowns.

The late Murchison owned the team from 1960 to 1984, presiding over the franchise when it became known as America's Team. He hired general manager Tex Schramm, who chose Tom Landry as the team's first coach and used his marketing skills to enhance the team's image. Murchison eventually gave Landry an unprecedented 10year contract that helped sta-

The Buffs are about to go into unchartered territory.

As District 2-2A Division II play opens up, Forsan is moving from Class A to 2A football and a lot of the teams on the schedule for district play are brand new to the Buffs.

Post, Forsan's opponent at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Post, fits that description.

"It's different, we haven't played them," head coach Jason Phillips said. "We scrimmaged Anson last year, but there's several of our district teams that we don't know much about and I guess on the flip side, they don't know

But the fact Forsan can flat out score is no secret any-

Phillips hope the Buffs' offense can continue to thrive against the Antelopes, who sport a dual-threat quarterback.

That's nothing new to the Buffs, however. Sonora and Plains both had quick quarterbacks who used their feet and slowing those types of players down has been the focus in practice this week. Phillips said the key to slowing down a dual-threat quarterback — specifically when he's outside the pocket — is open-field tackling, which hasn't been the Buffs' greatest strength.

It was an issue against Plains last week, but Phillips believes his players are making the necessary improve-

"Guys looked pretty good and their attitudes have been good this week," he said. "I think we're going to be OK. We just have to make sure we're at the right place at the right time and break down and just try to keep them in as small a space as we can."

Post enters this game 1-3, but Phillips is not fooled by making plays on defense, too.

Stanton has already had multiple looks at the Wing-T, dating back to last season. The Buffs saw it against Ozona and in the playoff last year.

Gardner said he will be looking for the spread and the I-formation from Stanton Friday and experience favors the Buffs.

The Buffs' 4-0 record so far is an accomplishment, but Peterson said what Coahoma has done this season is impressive, too.

Griffith said the winning streak heading into district as the highlight of the season so far.

"It's a lot of excitement because I don't think none of us have done this before, started out like this," he said. "So it's a big deal for us."

But as the lone undefeated team heading into district, is Stanton the team to beat now?

Peterson doesn't think so. In fact, he said the Buffs will have to fend off a lot of good teams if they want to keep winning. And it starts with Coahoma.

"We respect the other teams in this district," Peterson said. "I think everyone realizes this race is wide open to anybody that wants it. First game is important. You want to get off on that good note."

the non-district record. He said the Antelopes are capable of winning any game, especially the district opener at home.

Phillips said the offense won't only keep the Buffs in the game against Post, but it could help them surprise a few teams in district play.

The difference will be focusing. Phillips said loss of focus has happened too often during non-district play and it's imperative his team doesn't get into a deep hole during games, where the Buffaloes would be forced to make a come-

Underdog is a word that gets thrown around in Forsan, too. Phillips said his players are well aware of the challenge ahead a new 2A team, but so far, they are where they want to be.

"Definitely, we'd like for our record to be better, but our two losses were against two really good teams," he said. "We made some mistakes in both games that cost us. Right now, we've kind of thrown those first four games behind us."

Week 3: Sands, Grady in action

Sands (4-0) at Buena Vista (1-3) -7:30 p.m., Friday, Imperial ACKERLY — It's easy for Sands to look at Buena Vista as an easy "W". The Longhorns are 1-3 with a crop of young players.

"On film they do some things right, but it looks like they're probably going to end up being more like a JV team than a varsity team when we get there," Sands head coach Wayne Henderson said. But the way the Mustangs week, it seems like their going against the No. 1 team in the The Longhorns might not be much of a challenge for a Top-10 team like Sands, but tude about Friday's game. Henderson said coaches have been tough on players this week, as far as the intensity in practice, conditioning drills

Henderson refuses to allow his players to get a lackluster attiand weight training. But he also said players have responded to that, making sure the undefeated Mustangs stay on top of their game.

Getting comfortable or cocky is not an option for Sands at this point. "We talked to the kids about that a bunch this week." Henderson said. "I've told them, it doesn't matter whether you're playing the No. 1 team or the No. 2-under team, you've got to have the same attitude and the same work ethic no matter what." The Mustangs are No. 9 in the state, though, and they're showing no signs of slowing down with standout running back Junior Rogers getting healthier and Landon Parker playing well. After Friday's game against Buena Vista, Sands has Dawson and then district play follows that. Henderson said he is not surprised his team is where it is at this point in the season coaches predicated that much during two-a-days.

Being one of the top teams in the state is nothing new to Sands, Henderson said. But the head coach can remember his team stumbling with a target on its back.

So Henderson said the goal this year is to get to the Grady game undefeated and Friday's game against Buena Vista could be another step in the right direction for the Mustangs.

LENORAH — The Wildcats expect to face a team that has come on as of late in Ropes. The Eagles bounced back from a close 90-88 loss to Ira and blanked Whitharrell 46-0.

"They're getting better every week," head coach Brad Cox said. "Early on they weren't playing that well. They've really been playing well as of late. So we've got our work cut out for us. It's going to be a good game. We're going tot have to play well to get it done."

It seems like Grady is getting better, too. The Wildcats have blasted their last two opponents — Rankin and Trinity after dropping a game against Meadow, which is ranked in the top 10 in the state.

Quarterback Shane Teague, tailback Joe Cook and wideout Jacob Rodriguez continue to lead the team. Last week against Trinity, Cook led the Wildcats in rushing and receiving, accumulating five carries for 108 yards and four touchdowns along with three catches for 87 yards.

Rangers drop magic number to 4 ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) —

Crazy plays just seem to find Jeff Francoeur ever since he joined the Texas Rangers. He can't complain as long as he keeps his new club cruising down its path to the playoffs. Francoeur doubled to lead off the 12th inning and eventually scored on Jeff Mathis' passed ball, and the Rangers trimmed their magic number for clinching the AL West to four with a 2-1 victory over the Los Angeles Angels on Wednesday night.

The Rangers snapped a threegame skid with two unearned runs, finally rallying to win after eight scoreless innings including 16 consecutive outs heading into the 12th.

After Francoeur alertly capitalized on Mathis' mistake on an easily catchable pitch, Texas avoided a series sweep and extended its division lead over Oakland to eight games heading into a four-game series at the Coliseum.

"It's a strange way to win, because you're expecting a curveball to get away, not a fastball," said Francoeur, who won a game against the Yankees 11 days earlier when closer Mariano Rivera hit him with a pitch with the bases loaded. "I didn't hesitate, though. It was a good opportunity."

record set by Seattle's Kazuhiro Sasaki in 2000 with his 37th save for Texas, which can clinch its first AL West title since 1999 with two wins over the Athletics. The magic number already dropped earlier Wednesday with Oakland's 4-3 loss to the White Sox.

"You can kind of taste it now," Francoeur said. "It would be nice to get the first two and wrap it up. We know if we can get two wins out of four, we can spend the last week getting ourselves prepared and ready for the playoffs."

Long after starters C.J. Wilson and Dan Haren finished Neftali Feliz tied the rookie their duel through seven tight innings, Francoeur's hit led off the 12th against Matt Palmer (1-2). Chris Davis drew a walk and Bengie Molina's bunt advanced both runners, but pinch-hitter Mitch Moreland struck out.

Mathis then flubbed a chesthigh pitch to Julio Borbon, allowing Francoeur to score with a slide.

"I just missed it, to be honest," Mathis said. "Wasn't no cross-up, nothing. It was a little cutter, and I just misjudged where it was. To come back like that and tie the game up with the homer, scrapping and clawing like that, to miss a ball like that is tough."

Phillies beat Braves 1-0 for 10th straight win

PHILADELPHIA (AP) Roy Oswalt watched get it done, the better Philadelphia's two aces do their job, Charlie Manuel said. then he outdid them.

Oswalt and a pair of relievers combined on a one-hitter and the NL East-leading Phillies beat Atlanta 1-0 Wednesday night for their 10th straight win, increasing their bulge over the Braves to six games.

Raul Ibanez hit an RBI double with two outs in the eighth inning for the only run, helping the two-time NL champions reduce their magic number for clinching their fourth straight division title to four. It was the Phillies' first home sweep over the Braves since 2001.

"I think the faster we other off we'll be," manager

> Oswalt allowed just one hit — a clean double by Martin Prado in the fourth — and one walk in seven scoreless innings.

> Atlanta began the day with a one-game lead over San Diego in the wild-card race.

> While the Braves used two rookies - Mike Minor and Brandon Beachy, who made his major league debut on Monday — to start the first two games of a crucial series, the Phillies adjusted their rotation so their three aces would pitch.

"I didn't want them to do something I couldn't do," Oswalt said. "I'm trying to push them as much as possible and they're doing that off me. Anytime you feed off each other, it helps down the stretch."

Ryan Madson (6-2) pitched a perfect eighth for the win. Brad Lidge finished for his 26th save in 31 chances, earning a save in each game of this series. He retired Prado on a shallow fly to right to leave the tying run at second.

The Phillies are 44-15 since July 21, when they trailed the Braves by seven games. They are 18-3 in September.

A crowd of 45,310 was the 120th straight sellout at Citizens Bank Park. Fans waved their whiteandred "Fightin' Phils" rally towels, and chant-"Sweep! Sweep!"

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Instead of being who you think you should be, just be who you are. This takes great courage. But in the end, it's easier on you, not to mention the others. Everyone around you will feel more comfortable being themselves, too.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If you don't know what to do next, follow your desire. Maybe your dreams are not as selfish as you think they are. Maybe they were given to you as a kind of compass to help you find your way through life's labyrinth.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You may be disappointed by someone's work, but don't show it. Take the stance of a professional manager. Be objective — this isn't personal. Point out what's going right, offer criticism, and make a new request.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Sometimes you skip along life's feels like vou are crawling. You'll experience both modes of movement over the course of the day. But as long as you are moving forward, it is, as they say, "all good.'

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). In professional matters, you take into consideration how your decisions will affect your immediate team and also the "team atlarge," which includes your suppliers, customers and Mother Earth herself.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). It might feel as though taking time for yourself means you will miss out on other opportunities. However, you will enjoy your connections with others much more after you've invested in your own well-being.

AQUARIUS 20-Feb. 18). You may have relied on one who is not the most qualified person to help you. There is no one who knows you better than you know yourself. Take back the power you have given away.

PISCES 19-March 20). Too much energy gets wasted in exchanging horror stories. The negativity can only taint your fun. Tonight, relate strictly the happy things that happened during the day.

TODAY'S DAY (Sept. 23). You'll finally have the time to do what you want. All you have to do is make the time, and the world complies. The next 10 weeks bring many long, meaningful conversations that cement bonds of affection and also lead you to explore new path, and other times it interests. December brings an impressive payday. ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "I start my day off by reading my horoscope. This habit colors my day in interesting ways. Sometimes it makes me feel fanciful, alert, imaginative and adventurous. Sometimes it's just a funny thing to talk about with my friends. Most times, something about my horoscope will ring true with me as I read, or will happen to me during the day. Other times, it's just off. I was wondering whether you could tell me what my rising sign is. Maybe this makes a difference. And what difference does a rising sign make?" — Leo

Astrology Fan When people ask what your sign is, they generally mean your sun sign, which is also called your natal sign. Your "rising sign," also called your "ascendant," is the zodiac sign rising on the eastern horizon at the time and location of your birth. Your rising sign informs how others perceive you. It deals with the impressions you make, your appearance and the atmosphere you create when you walk into a room. There are many online astrological calculators to help you find out what your rising sign is. Many readers enjoy reading the horoscopes for both their sun sign and their rising sign. CELEBRITY PRO-FILES: Springsteen sings right to the hearts of his listeners, and he has a shelf full of Grammy Awards to prove it. #### not was expected to Ann survive, but she did. LANDERS After seva l e r months in a coma and two years in a rehabilitation hospital, she is home with us. Shawna is a quadriplegic and is dependent on a ventilator, but she is otherwise the same person she always was.

My husband, our son and I have managed to create a life for her. My concern is my husband's family. They have completely abandoned us since Shawna's accident. They say it is "too hard" for them to be around her and see her "like that," and have not been in contact with us for three years, even though they live less than an hour away. It makes me angry to see my husband and children treated so shabbily. My husband needs their support, and my children have lost their grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins.

I know I cannot change these people, but please tell others who experience this type of tragedy support those in It means so much. It is not easy to explain to Shawna why these family members no longer care about her.

She is still the same loving, caring young lady she once was —only her body doesn't work anymore.

It is too late for our family to get back together, Ann, but maybe others will benefit from our sad experience and not estrange themselves from each other in times of need.

You can use my name. They already know my feelings. I don't care if they see this in the paper. — Karen in Troy, Mich.

Dear Karen in Troy: I am at a loss to find the words to express my sorrow at the way your husband's family has abandoned you. What a cold and heartless bunch they are. I do hope you have caring friends and neighbors who are giving you emotional support, and that Shawna's friends are droppingby. Meanwhile, please know my thoughts and prayers are with you and your dear daughter — and so are those of my millions of readers.

Time for a new season

Area squads gear up for District 2-2A DII play

Anson Tigers 2010 non-district record: 2-2 Players to watch: QB Austin Baccus, OL Hunter Heidenheimer Head coach Chad Terry and the Tigers have been on a tear of their own as of late. Anson started the season at 0-2, but the Tigers have bounced back over the last two weeks with a 32-8 win over Quanah and a 19-14 win over Jim Ned last week. The Tigers hope to keep things rolling during District 2-2A Division II play, where they start on the road against Hawley.

Coahoma Bulldogs 2010 non-district record: 3-1 Players to watch: QB Tanner Ruiz, DB Pete

First-year head coach, coming off a 5-5 season, installing a completely new system on offense, it sounds like the Bulldogs weren't supposed to be this good. But head coach Trey

Gardner stuck to the plan and his players bought in, and as a result, Coahoma is scoring a lot of points and possibly entering district play as the hottest team, riding a three-game win streak. Gardner said every team in this district is dangerous and it should be interesting to see how it plays out. "I would go so far to say we might have the toughest district in Region 1," he said.

underdogs in this district, but one thing he said his opponents can't do is overlook the offense. Phillips hopes the Buffs' offense continues to thrive as they've earned the reputation of a potent offense during nondistrict play. In their two wins, they've put up 40 and 45 points. "It's going to be interesting," he said. "But I don't think you can drop Idalou out of that front-runner spot yet. We're trying to make sure we get for teams going to the

Hawley Bearcats 2010 non-district record: 1-3 Players to watch: WR Billy Brosh, DE Jacob New

The Bearcats earned their first win of the season at Rotan 3834, so they may be heading into district with some muchneeded momentum. But it's possible the non-district record doesn't represent what Hawley can really be this season. One of the Bearcats' losses came from Hamlin in a 7-6 game.

Hawley is putting in a new offense the Wing-T — and defense, too and it's taking time for the systems to set in. Head coach Brad Schoomaker said. "It is an offense that is productive and we just have to get there."

Idalou Wildcats 2010 non-district record: 1-3 Players to watch: LB Brent Turner, FS Tyler Dowdy

Ask any other coach in the district and they have no problems admitting Idalou is the team to beat this year. So why are the Wildcats 1-3? Most coaches are not fooled by the record, which came through a tough non-district schedule. The Wildcats have played Lubbock

Cooper, Littlefield, Lubbock Roosevelt and Friona. Head coach Johnny Taylor said the expectations at Idalou are high as usual, and it's no surprise the other coaches in the district name his team as the favorite. But he's hoping things start coming together after a tough non-district slate.

Post Antelopes 2010 non-district record: 1-3 Players to watch: RB Ernest Saldivar, LB Ben Mason

The two teams expected to roll into district play on a good note have done the opposite so far. One of those teams is Post. Head coach Chris Jones said usually, Idalou and Post have very few problems during non-district play, but youth has played a factor for his team so far this season. The Antelopes welcome Forsan for their District 2-2A Division II opener at 7:30 p.m. on Friday in Stanton Buffaloes 2010 non-district record: 4-0 Players to watch: QB

Tyler Fulton

The Buffs enter district play without a loss no other team in the district can say that at this point. But head coach John Peterson is not trying to put too much stock in the Buffaloes' 4-0 start. He said the real test comes comes when they face Coahoma in a matchup of the undefeated team and the team on a threegame winning streak. But so far, the Buffs have wins over Grape Creek, Reagan County, Ozona and McCamey. And it seems like they've been cruising through the schedule courtesy of the defense. The Buffs haven't allowed more than seven points in the last three contests, and they allowed 14 in the first game of the season against Grape Creek. Not only have the Buffs been led by defense, but quarterback Tyler Fulton has impressed.
