About Your HEALTH

Despite the fact that an effective diphtheria toxoid has been available to everyone for many years, there is still an undercurrent of diphtheria cases occurring in Texas. At the end of September, 1962, there had been seven deaths in Texas attributed to diphtheria. In 1961, because of a series of isolated outbreaks, the death toll from this disease reached 23. By the end of the first week in December, 1962, 80 cases had been reported to the State Health Department's Communicable Disease Division.

For the same period in 1961, the total was more than doubled—201 cases. State Health Department authorities speculate that the reason for this undercurrent of diphtheria cases is the fact that victims had not been immunized.

Most pediatricians suggest as a matter of course that their very young patients receive the diphtheria toxoid in combination with other vaccines and that periodic boosters be administered according to a schedule prescribed by your family doctor.

Immunity against the disease can be determined with the Schick test developed by Dr. Bela Schick, but scheduled boosters are often used in place of Schick testing. The disease occurs most frequently among children between the ages of one and 10, but can strike an entire family unprotected with diphtheria toxoid. It is spread from sneezing and coughing of a convalescent or other carrier, or less frequently, from contaminated articles. Diphtheria may develop within two to seven days following exposure. Common symptoms include headache and vomiting. If such symptoms occur, and there is a chance that the person had been exposed, a physician should be called immediately.

The disease is not only dangerous and sometimes fatal, but damaging after effects can be serious and long lasting, or even permanent. Immediate treatment is necessary to avert possible disaster. Medical care under close supervision of a doctor should be maintained until the patient is pronounced well.

Immunization against the disease can be determined with the Schick test developed by Dr. Bela Schick, but

Nazareth FHA Freshmen Learn About Children

Nazareth freshmen FHA girls completed a study of learning to enjoy and understand small children by having a party for the first grade last Friday according to Mrs. King, sponsor.

The children were divided into groups of six and two girls were assigned to each group. They told stories, taught a lesson on manners by using illustrated posters, played a quiet game.

Sister Anita, first grade teacher, demonstrated a reading and phonics lesson for the group.

Economist Takes Good Look At Ag. Prospects

The outlook for the year ahead indicates relatively small changes in farm product prices, production and marketing, says John McInnes, extension economist.

Total income of farm operators is expected to be near the levels of the past two years. The decline will continue, he adds, in both farm population and farm numbers. Thus, the average per capita income of farm people from all sources and per farm income, at a record high in 1962, will continue to rise in 1963.

Present indications point to a small increase in farm output compared with the past three years but will depend upon growing conditions and the impact of 1963 production. The economist says, "Livestock production is expected to continue upward but crop output is expected to change very little from levels of the past two years.

A gradually expanding domestic market absorbed a record quantity of farm products in 1962 and is expected to continue in the year ahead. The high level of agricultural exports is expected to be maintained by the long-range future is clouded by the developing policies of the European Common Market, McInnes says.

As for prices, McInnes says little change in prices for crops but the increase in livestock plus a relatively stable domestic demand could result in slightly lower prices. The prices paid for production items by farmers is expected to continue their steady rise and the cost-price squeeze will continue, he adds.

Total farm assets in the nation on January 1, 1962 were $7.5 billion from year earlier and $41.1 billion from 10 years ago. They increased three percent during the past year, due primarily to the increase in land prices. Farmland equities have gradually declined from $91 per $100 of total assets in 1952 to $87 per $100 of total assets in 1962, and $86 on January 1, 1963. The total debt owed by farmers and ranchmen on January 1, 1963 will be up about six percent from a year earlier, the economist reports.

Pools, Inc. operated fifty seven super markets, with division offices in four cities, Wichita Falls, Lubbock, San Antonio, and Amarillo, Texas as another division. The division manager for the Parker chain is John McInnes, Extension Economist, Texas A.M. College, who is now in charge of the Parker chain. A ticket will be given to each member at the door — to be deposited with others you accumulate.

'Chicken Farmer' Has Meeting With Producer

College Station—The "chicken farmer" of the past would not recognize the modern "poultry producer" of today as his younger contemporary. According to C. B. Ryan, Department of Poultry Science, Texas A.M. College, there has indeed been a great change in the industry since the days when raising the chickens and getting the eggs was the extent of the poultryman's job.

"Today's poultry producer is often a college graduate or at least has received some scientific training in poultry science, says Ryan. In the future more and more education will be necessary for the poultryman who is to compete economically in the business, he adds.

The future college graduate in poultry science will have a better knowledge of the anatomy and physiology of the chicken and turkey which will enable him to deal with the problems of poultry production. And yet, he must have more than just technical knowledge to compete in the industry in the future, Ryan says. He will need to know about the business world around him and be able to discuss any phase of his job intelligently. This graduate in the field will need more training in English, mathematics, the humanities, science, business administration and strengthened agricultural curriculum.

Due to a demand for researchers in the poultry industry, Ryan is offering a greater number of graduates with advanced degrees in the future and they will learn to be team men, Ryan believes.

"Don't take Poultry Science as a career, but as a stepping stone to the future if you are looking for an easy course. The intensified training will make it more difficult, not easier," is Ryan's advice to future poultrymen.

Senator YARBOROUGH'S REPORT

On January 14, the first day for the introduction of bills in the U. S. Senate in this 88th Session, 14 bills were introduced. The bill for veterans of the so-called Cold War, H. R. 10000, introduced by Sen. Yarbrough, is the most important of these bills. It is the bill which would provide a single veteran pay to $110 a month... a bill to provide for the education of veterans for each day of military service for the time between January 21, 1953 and July 1, 1963. This is the period between the end of the Korean Conflict and the termination of the GI Bill and the termination of the GI Bill.

This is the third session of Congress in which I have introduced the Cold War GI Bill. Although the legislative barricades have been hard to pass, the popularity and the justice of this bill are greater than ever, and knowledge of it grows at home and in the Congress.

Investment Credit is Important Tax Change

Several changes made by Congress in the tax legislation for '63 will affect depreciation and tax credit on certain assets used in the farm and ranch operation as well as other business comments Charles Hotel, County Agent.

A complete treatment of changes in tax law is explained in the 1963 Farmers Tax Guide. Copies of this official Internal Revenue Service bulletin are available in the County Extension office. Discussion follows an Investment Credit—An Important Tax Change says Charles Hotel.

What about this investment credit provision? First, it is a tax credit of 7 percent, computed on the purchase or investment in depreciable, personal property during 1962 and thereafter. Livestock including race horses are excluded from the eligible items, however. The credit is given only for the tax year in which the business asset is acquired. Items such as tractors, combines, trucks, cotton harvesters, etc., are eligible. An example might be used to clarify the application of the investment credit. Assume that a tractor is purchased in November 1962 for $5000, with no trade-in involved. The useful life of the asset determines the amount of tax credit allowed. If the tractor is set up on a life of 8 years, a full 7 percent of the purchase price or $350 is credited on the tax due from the taxpayer for 1962 business operations. If the asset has a determined life of 5 years, only a third of this amount is allowed as tax credit. Asset having 6 or 7 year life entitle the purchaser to two-thirds of the $350.00 tax credit. Keys to Find Happiness
Do you know how to find happiness?
An old Chinese saying which is said to be true today but used very seldom is: Enjoy yourself; it is later than you think. By taking a little time from work to realize this, a person is more apt to keep pace with himself, and make it with others.

Journalism Becomes A Profession
Journalism is hardly a profession until 170. Up to that time, news pamphlets of the day contained little more than political propaganda and court gossip. They were published by political parties and political party back writers. But between 170 and 1770, freedom of speech became the privilege of the most English speaking countries, newspaper and journals became more independent. This move towards a free press was aided by the Revolutionary War in America, the French Revolution, and the fight for freedom of the press waged in England by John Wilkes and Henry Woodfall. When the London Times sent correspondents to the European continent, it marked the first time that a war was reported directly to the people by persons not concerned with the fighting.

Senior of the Week
Why this excitement? I asked. Out of all the mass confusion some one finally told me there was a baby boy born. Of course, I had to know all the facts, so they told me the baby was Harley Daniel, and he was born to Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Daniel in Bowling, Oklahoma, on September 11, 1944.

Stand Up and Be Counted
Consensus blanks were passed out Monday of this week, to the youngest member of each family in school. Is it a problem for you to fill in? You do not know what all the initials mean? Perhaps this will help you.

North Grade News
The Social Studies Club had a very interesting year. They were just visiting. They also went through the fire station and what some of the other city offices. Janice Baldwin is a new member of the club.

Congratulations
The origin of football can be traced back to the ancient Greeks and Romans, who played some very similar games. Football-like games were also popular during the Middle Ages, particularly in England and Italy.

Personality of the Week
There are many people in the world, and there are as many personalities as there are people. The world would be much better if it were made up of people like that of Nikita Khrushchev and Fidel Castro, who have a personality like that of a certain boy who was born in Clovis, New Mexico, on May 8, 1947.

2-2 Record
Meow Cats Meow, eat Friona was the cry heard in the girls dressing room before the game between Friona and Dimmitt Friday night. The Bobbies ran off and left Friona early in the first of the game. The score at the half was 2-24 in Dimmitts favor. The Squaw came back fighting, but little good it did them. The final score was 46-32. In Messenger led the Bobbies back to Friona, and was in the game. Linda McCollum scored 13 and Sharon Lilley 11 points.

Wade Mills

Supervisor a year later, he was elected to a five-year term on the Board, a term which he is still serving. This gives Mills approximately six and one-half years service on the Board. In his work as a Supervisor, Mills has been the Board's mainstay in attendance. His attendance mark for regular meetings stands above the 98 per cent mark, and has attended every special meeting and every District function since his election.

Mills has served two years as a member of the Board, two years as Vice-Chairman of the Board, and two years as its chairman.

Mills was appointed as the District's delegate to the State Convention at San Antonio in January. This was the fifth State Association meeting he has attended.

Mills is a director of the Castro County Farm Bureau; Grain Sorghum Producers Association; Irrigation Gas Users Association; and is serving as Chairman of the Castro County 4-Point Soil Fertility Program. He has been instrumental in the work done to initiate a watershed project on Running Water Draw, a project which has been deemed feasible under P.L. 566.

As to his own conservation program, Mills is carrying out a complete conservation program according to Pete Wright, local SCS director. On his farm, he has approximately 500 acres of native grassland on the land he owns, and 160 acres of cropland he rents. He has completed the application of a basic conservation plan on all of this acreage according to Wright.

His farm land is planted to a rotation of wheat, grain sorghums, and soybeans. Since he grows only 70 acres of soybeans, Mills uses interplanted cowpeas in his grain sorghum to help maintain the fertility of his soil. This practice is one which Mills feels is too important to leave out says Wright. He also uses commercial fertilizers to add to crop yields.

Mills has been very outspoken through the years against the burning of residues from crops. As Mills puts it, "You can't be taking out all the time." He manages his crop residues with sweeps, shredders and discs. He has also established three grassed waterways to protect land from erosion by water from other farms.

One of the outstanding parts of his water conservation program is the use of water from a Playa Lake on his farm home. Utilizing a lake pump, portable pipe, and a little extra work, Mills was able to put a six-inch application of water on 400 acres during the summer of 1966. This system was also used to irrigate 20 acres with a 4" application, utilizing the tailwater from a 35 acre field on his neighbor's farm. As a bit of humor, Mills has this to say, "I think it kind of burned him up to see me use this tailwater after it ran into the lake. Anyhow, he cut down on the tailwater to the point I had to turn on a well."

Mills has done an outstanding job for conservation, as this award shows, both as a Supervisor and a farmer.

As to the future, Mills commented, "We, the people of the Running Water Soil Conservation District, as well as people all over Texas and the United States, have an obligation to fulfill in the conservation of our most valuable natural resources, namely soil and water. It is a job too big for one man or one group. It is a job requiring everyone all the time. And the longer we wait to get started, the longer it will take to catch up. This is an unending job which can and will be done. I only hope we see more and more done each day by the people. I know the District Supervisor must furnish the leadership along the way and only hope the Running Water SCD can do its job."

ASCS Office Names Undesirable Wheat Varieties

The wheat varieties designated as "undesirable" under the 1963 price support operation are the same as for the 1962 program, Charley E. Hill, County Office Manager, Castro County ASCS, reminded farmers. The discount of 20 cents per bushel for the varieties also is unchanged from this year's program. As in the past, these varieties will not be eligible for quality premiums.

Varieties grown in Texas, Castro County, which are designated as "undesirable" under the 1963 program include the following:

Class: Hard Red Winter

Variety: Blue Jacket, Cache (except in Utah and Idaho), Chiefkan, Cimarron, Early Blackhull, Kan King, Karlof MC 22, New Chief, Pawnee Sel. 33, Purkof, Red Chief, Red Hull, Red Jacket, Stafford, Wasatch (except in Utah, Idaho and Colorado), and Yogo.

Altogether, 37 varieties were designated as undesirable for 1963 support operation. They were found to have distinct undesirable milling and baking quality.

Charley E. Hill said that notice of the discount which will apply to 1963-crop price support for the undesirable varieties was given as early as last August as a means of discouraging their production and lessening the possibility of U. S. wheat of inferior quality finding its way into domestic and export channels.

He said that representatives of crop improvement associations have supported this action to help improve the over-all quality of U. S. wheat production.

Acres of the undesirable varieties have been declining in recent years, and the discount in the price support program has been credited with speeding up this trend. Application of the 20-cent-per-bushel discount to producer support rates will be the same as under the 1962 operation.

As in the past the 1963 program regulations for price support will require the producer to certify production of undesirable varieties based on his knowledge of the varieties he seeded and harvested. Because wheat varieties are difficult to determine from threshed samples, additional information may be required in certain instances in support of the certification.

1963 Wheat, Barley and Diverted Acreage Performance:

Charley Hill, ASCS manager announced, "We have begun measuring Wheat, Wheat Diverted Acres and Barley in Castro County. It will be necessary that you designate your Wheat Diverted Acreage at the time your wheat is measured if you signed up to participate in the 1963 Wheat Stabilization Program."

"Your continued cooperation in helping the reporters to locate all of your fields and make the necessary measurements will be appreciated and reduce the number of errors.

Jerry Leinen placed third with his Hampshire lamb. Lester Schulte won second with a Fine Wool lamb.

Holly Sugar Corp.

efficient processes and techniques in sugar production.

As the only such facility in the Southwest, the Holly plant will be an important source of sugar serving consumers in Texas, New Mexico, and Oklahoma. Sugar will be available in an assortment of types and consumer-size packages and in bulk and liquid forms for industrial users.

Holly's decision to construct the plant followed passage of the new national Sugar Act in 1962. The new law contains provisions designed to encourage expansion of the beet sugar industry as a guarantee of domestic supplies at all times. The law established acreage reserves to be committed for a 3-year period to new producing areas to be served by new processing facilities such as Holly will construct at Hereford.

"Although the U.S. Department of Agriculture committed less sugar beet acreage than was requested by Holly, the Texas Beet Growers Association, and the Curry (New Mexico) Sugar Beet Association in a joint application to the government, Holly is proceeding with construction confident that the commitment will be only a starting point and that there is an excellent chance the acreage commitment will be enlarged at least by the time the new plant begins operations," the spokesman said today.

The Holly officers explained that, while the application filed with the Department of Agriculture asked for the acreage equivalent of 65,000 tons of sugar, the Department committed the acreage equivalent of 50,000 tons, plus approximately 3,600 tons of sugar. The Department committed the acreage equivalent of 50,000 tons, plus approximately 3,600 tons acreage equivalent current production by growers who ship their beets out of the state for processing.

"Since the Department stated in its Decision on our application that it was committing 50,000 tons equivalent 'at this time,' and since it is clear that the Secretary of Agriculture has the power under the law to commit the full 65,000 tons equivalent, we believe there is excellent reason to expect that the present commitment will be enlarged," Messrs. Shoup and O'Rourke said. "Holly Sugar, and the farmers in the West-eastern New Mexico area to be served, fully intend to press a still pending application for this increase in the commitment."

While the Department of Agriculture's commitment for the Hereford plant was made to begin with the 1964 crop year, Holly officials said they had been assured the commitment could be applied commencing in 1965, should any unavoidable delay in construction
