VAMC tree lighting Friday

By THOMAS JENKINS
 Staff Writer
 Officials with the Big Spring VA Medical Center are inviting the community to help kick off the Christmas season Friday, Dec. 2, as the local healthcare provider will hold its annual Holiday Lighting Ceremony.
 Daniel L. Marsh, medical center director for the West Texas VA Health Care System, assisted by area children, will throw the switch on the VA Medical Center's holiday lights, according to VA officials.

 "This is something we look forward to each year," said Iva Jo Hanslik, public affairs officer for the local VA Medical Center. "Anyone who has been to or by the VA during the holidays will tell you, the lights are something very special to everyone in Big Spring, and we really enjoy being able to be a part of the holiday joy."

 Hanslik said the fun doesn't stop with the lights, which will not only illuminate the Christmas tree located inside the medical center's lobby, but also much of the facility's outside, as well.

 "Santa Claus will be taking time out of his busy schedule to be with us," Hanslik said. "He'll be there to visit with all of the children. Refreshments will be served, as well. We hope everyone in the community will come out and be a part of this wonderful celebration."

The lighting is set to take place at 6 p.m. at the VA Medical Center, located at 300 Veterans Blvd.
 For more information on the event, contact Hanslik at 432-264-4824.

Texas League of United Latin American Citizens State Director Linda Chavez, a Big Spring native, meets with members of the local LULAC chapter Saturday morning.

Blaze levels trailer

By STEVE REAGAN
 Staff Writer
 A vacant house trailer was consumed in a Saturday afternoon blaze near the intersection of Highway 87 and FM 700.

No injuries were reported in the blaze, which was reported to the Howard County Volunteer Fire Department at about 4:45 p.m. Saturday.
 "By the time the first unit arrived on scene, the trailer was fully engulfed (by the fire)," HCVFD Chief Tommy Sullivan.
 Because of high winds in excess of 30 mph, the department took an "all hands on deck" approach to fighting the fire, Sullivan said. Seven volunteer units, joined by an engine from the Big Spring Fire Department, successfully fought to keep the fire from spreading in the high winds.
 A nearby vacant building — formerly the home to Pinkie's Liquor — sustained minor fire damage to its roof — but no other structures were threatened, Sullivan said.
 "With the winds as high as they were, we weren't going to take any chances," Sullivan said. "We had every available unit out there."
 Firefighters remained on scene for

Making their voices heard

Chavez reflects on founding of local LULAC chapter

By AMANDA MORENO
 Staff Writer
 Every voice deserves to be heard. That way of thinking is what motivated Linda Chavez — Big Spring native and LULAC State Director of Texas — to organize the first Big Spring LULAC (League of United Latin American Citizens) council in 1982.
 "The hispanic population on the north side just wasn't being heard," Chavez said.

 After losing out in the 1982 Justice of the Peace election, Chavez and her supporters realized something needed to be done in order to have the voice of minorities heard.
 The first step was to contact LULAC and that is where the story takes off. After the initial contact was made, a study was done and it was determined that polarized voting — where voters cast their vote according to their racial lines — was taking place in the Howard County area, according to Chavez.

 "Even though I had the support of the hispanics, there was no way I or any other minority would be elected to an at-large office because there were fewer hispanics than anglos," Chavez said.

Arguello benefit set for Sunday

By AMANDA MORENO
 Staff Writer
 Area community members have been touched by the loss of 9-year-old Jacob Arguello and his grandmother Petra Agruello, who perished in a house fire in Coahoma Nov. 13.
 Big Spring resident Kaleb Hill has organized a benefit concert in hopes of bringing together the community one more time to help raise funds for the family. Hog Heaven Party Barn will be the venue for a benefit concert Sunday.

Mark McKinney and his guitar player, Alex Tripp Rodgers, will provide an acoustic performance. Adrian Calvo will be opening for McKinney.
 "The money raised during the event will go toward helping the Arguello family with any needs they may still have at the time," Hill said. "Some funds will also be set aside for a Jacob Arguello Scholarship in CYFA (Crossroads Youth Football Association)."
 "This family needs our help. Even

CHAVEZ

The council was formed in June 1982, a month after Chavez lost the election and not long after, in November, 1982, the council filed a lawsuit against the city of Big Spring, Big Spring Independent School District and Howard College in support of single member districts.

"There was one man on the city council at the time who sat down and listened to me," Chavez said. "I explained to him how he wasn't representing the entire city and that the Hispanic population wasn't being heard."

She said she explained how the language barrier and intimidation factor played a factor and stopped the majority of the Hispanic population from contacting their representatives.

"I told him if there was a hispanic on the council, someone who spoke their language and knew where they were coming from, then they would be more apt to call with their concerns and their problems," Chavez said.

After speaking with Chavez, the city was the first to settle out of court, in 1983, in regards to the lawsuit. Not long after the college and the ISD followed suit. Shortly after, in 1984, the first hispanic was elected to each of the boards.

"Once he spoke with the other city council members and shared the story I had told him about a hispanic family who had a problem and called LULAC instead of the council members they understood that they weren't representing the entire city even though they are running at large," Chavez said.

Chavez ended up losing her job — she had worked in the Justice of the Peace office as court clerk for eight and a half years — not long after the lawsuits were settled.

"Even though I was fired not long after it was worth it," Chavez said. "I feel now the hispanics have a voice and have representation."

She said even though the first LULAC council was started in the 1980s doesn't mean the issues are not the same as they were back then. Since its inception, the original council has disbanded, but Raul Marquez, another Big Spring resident, has started a new LULAC council. The local chapter has 13 members, according to Marquez and more members are being sought.

"Discrimination is still alive and well, no matter what people may think," Chavez said. "People say it's not the same as it was back then, but it is."

In the past legislative session, Chavez said there were 163 anti-Latino bills introduced. Due to the 5,000 plus active LULAC Texas membership base only one of the bills — the voter ID bill — was able to make it through. However, that bill is having to still jump hurdles and is not able to be fully enforced at this time, Chavez said.

"We still have a lot of work to do. We haven't seen anything yet, just wait until next legislative session," she said.

For those wanting to get involved, contact Marquez at 268-5842. To find out more information about LULAC go to www.txlulac.org.

"For those who are having issues locally, I am only a phone call away," Chavez said. "Big Spring is my hometown and I will never abandon it."

though there have been generous donations already made, they are still in need of things. This is a great way for the community to support this family who lost two family members in a terrible situation," Hill said.

The Arguello family won't be the only family able to benefit from this concert. Hill is also asking those attending to bring donations of non-perishable food items.

"You will not get turned away at the door if you don't have an item with you, but it's highly recommended that people bring one because it's just one more way we can lend a hand to those in need in the community," Hill said.

The doors for the concert will open at 6 p.m. and Calvio will take the stage at 7 p.m. Tickets will be available at the door for $10.

News in brief

Amid confusion, turmoil and tensions, Egyptians vote in first elections since Mubarak fall

CAIRO (AP) — Shaking off years of political apathy, Egyptians turned out in long lines at voting stations Monday in their nation's first parliamentary elections since Hosni Mubarak's ouster, a giant step toward what they hope will be a democracy after decades of dictatorship.

The landmark election has already been overshadowed by turmoil in the streets over the past week, and the population is sharply polarized and confused over the nation's direction. Still, the vote promises to be the fairest and cleanest election in Egypt in living memory.

The Muslim Brotherhood, Egypt's largest and best organized group, along with its Islamist allies are expected to do well in the vote, which has been a source of concern for secular and liberal Egyptians who fear the Brotherhood will try to implement a strict version of Islamic law in the country.

Early in the day, voters stood in lines stretching several hundred yards outside some polling centers in Cairo well before they opened at 8 a.m. local time (0600GMT), suggesting a respectable turnout. Many said they were voting for the first time, a sign of an enthusiasm that in this election one's vote mattered.

For decades, few Egyptians bothered to cast ballots because nearly every election was rigged in favor of Mubarak's ruling party, whether through bribery, ballot box stuffing or intimidation by police at the polls. Turnout was often in the single digits.

Pakistan says NATO ignored its pleas to hold off during attack that killed 24 soldiers

ISLAMABAD (AP) — The NATO airstrikes that killed 24 Pakistani soldiers went on for almost two hours and continued even after Pakistani commanders had pleaded with coalition forces to stop, the army claimed Monday in charges that could further inflame anger in Pakistan.

NATO has described the incident as "tragic and unintended" and has promised a full investigation. Unnamed Afghan officials have said that a joint Afghan-NATO force on the Afghan side of the border received incoming fire from the direction of the Pakistani posts, and called in airstrikes.

Ties between Pakistan and the United States were already deteriorating before the deadly attack and have sunk to new lows since, delivering a major setback to American hopes of enlisting Islamabad's help in negotiating an end to the 10-year-old Afghan war.

Army spokesman Maj. Gen. Athar Abbas said the Pakistani troops at two border posts were the victims of an unprovoked aggression. He said the attack lasted almost two hours and that commanders had contacted NATO counterparts while it was going on, asking "they get this fire to cease, but somehow it continued."

Half of states see rise in kids skipping school shots

ATLANTA (AP) — More parents are opting out of school shots for their kids. In eight states now, more than 1 in 20 public school kindergartners aren't getting all the vaccines required for attendance, an Associated Press analysis found.

That growing trend among parents seeking vaccine exemptions has health officials worried about outbreaks of diseases that once were all but stamped out.

The AP analysis found more than half of states have seen at least a slight rise in the rate of exemptions over the past five years. States with the highest exemption rates are in the West and Upper Midwest.

It's "really gotten much worse," said Mary Selecky, secretary of health for Washington state, where 6 percent of public school parents have opted out.

Rules for exemptions vary by state and can include medical, religious or — in some states — philosophical reasons.

Occupy Los Angeles protesters don't budge from City Hall lawn as deadline passes

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Wall Street protesters in Los Angeles defied the mayor's early Monday deadline to vacate their encampment near City Hall, with about 1,000 flooding into the area as hundreds of tents remained standing as they have for nearly two months.

A celebratory atmosphere filled the night with protesters milling about the park and streets by City Hall in seeming good spirits. A group on bicycles circled the block, one of them in a cow suit. Organizers led chants with a bull horn.

"The best way to keep a non-violent movement non-violent is to throw a party, and keep it festive and atmospheric," said Brian Masterson.

Police presence was slight right after the 12:01 a.m. PST Monday deadline, but it began increasing as the morning wore on.

"People have been pretty cooperative tonight. We want to keep it peaceful," police Cmdr. Andrew Smith told The Associated Press.

Back on the brink: Doctors again face steep Medicare cuts unless Congress acts before Jan. 1

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's become a symbol of sorts for the federal government's budget dysfunction: Unless Congress acts before Jan. 1, doctors will again face steep Medicare cuts that threaten to undermine health care for millions of seniors and disabled people.

This time it's a 27.4 percent cut. Last year, it was about 20 percent. The cuts are the consequence of a 1990s budget law that failed to control spending but was never repealed. Congress passes a temporary fix each time, only to grow the size of reductions required next time around. Last week's supercommittee breakdown leaves the so-called "doc fix" unresolved with time running out.

A thousand miles away in Harlan, Iowa, Dr. Don Klitgaard is trying to contain his frustration.

"I don't see how primary care doctors could take anywhere near like a 27-percent pay cut and continue to function," said Klitgaard, a family physician at a local medical center. "I assume there's going to be a temporary fix, because the health care system is going to implode without it."

Medicare patients account for about 45 percent of the visits to his clinic. Klitgaard said the irony is that he and his colleagues have been making improvements, keeping closer tabs on those with chronic illnesses in the hopes of avoiding needless hospitalizations. While that can save money for Medicare, it requires considerable upfront investment from the medical practice.

With NH newspaper endorsement in hand, Gingrich schedules town hall in South Carolina

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republican presidential contender Newt Gingrich looked to turn an endorsement from New Hampshire's largest newspaper into momentum elsewhere, heading to South Carolina for a three-day campaign swing with tea party members.

His leading rival, former Massachusetts Gov. Mitt Romney, did not schedule campaign appearances on Monday, but his advisers were working to downplay The New Hampshire Union Leader's backing of Gingrich in Romney's back yard. The newspaper's rejection of Romney, who enjoys solid polling leads in that state and has worked to line up activists, stood to potentially reshape the entire campaign.

"We don't back candidates based on popularity polls or big-shot backers. We look for conservatives of courage and conviction who are independent-minded, grounded in their core beliefs about this nation and its people, and best equipped for the job," the newspaper said in its Sunday front-page editorial.

The Union Leader's editorial is a sign that conservative concerns about Romney's shifts on crucial issues of abortion and gay rights were unlikely to fade. Those worries have led Romney to keep Iowa's Jan. 3 caucuses — where conservatives hold great sway — at arm's length.

Troops withdrawals from Iraq, Afghanistan wreak havoc on National Guard soldiers' lives

WASHINGTON (AP) — Two months ago, Demetries Lockett left his job in Michigan, turned in his cable box, sent his daughter to live with her mother, and headed for Camp Shelby in Mississippi.

As a 1st lieutenant in Michigan's National Guard, he was being deployed to Afghanistan.

But just a month after he arrived for training, the Army decided Uncle Sam didn't need him after all. Now Lockett's unemployed and back home in Harper Woods, Mich. — a victim of the Obama administration's ongoing effort to pull at least 33,000 U.S. troops out of Afghanistan by next fall.

Unlike active-duty soldiers who are stationed at U.S. military bases across the country and can be sent on a moment's notice to a conflict anywhere in the world — the nation's citizen soldiers have civilian jobs and lives they have to set aside when they get those deployment notices.

What's in a name? Retailers roll out Green Tuesday, Magenta Saturday and others

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP) — Cyber Monday. Green Tuesday. Black Friday. Magenta Saturday.

Chances are you won't find any of these holidays on your calendar. Yet retailers are coming up with names for just about every day of the week during the holiday shopping season.

During T-Mobile's "Magenta Saturday," the event named for the company's pinkish-purple logo earlier this month offered shoppers the chance to buy cellphones and some tablets on a layaway plan. Mattel lured customers in with discounts of 60 percent off toys for girls and boys on "Pink Friday" and "Blue Friday." And outdoor retailer Gander Mountain is giving shoppers deals on camouflage and other gear every Thursday through December during "Camo Thursdays."

"There are hundreds of promotions going on this time of year," says Steve Uline, head of marketing for Gander.

Texans win with 3rd-string quarterback

JACKSONVILLE (AP) — Matt Leinart and Matt Schaub stood next to each other for the final few snaps, Leinart in a sling and Schaub in a walking boot.

The scene spoke volumes about Houston's quarterback situation and playoff chances.

If the Texans are going to make the postseason for the first time in franchise history, they probably will have to do it with a third-string quarterback.

Leinart injured his throwing shoulder Sunday at Jacksonville, overshadowing Houston's 20-13 victory against Jaguars. Leinart believes he broke his collarbone, but coach Gary Kubiak said initial X-rays were inconclusive.

"There's a pretty strong possibility I probably won't be coming back this season," Leinart said. "It's pretty disappointing. It's tough to swallow, but we'll just move forward. Everything that's happened to me, this was a great opportunity. ... It's unfortunate, but I'm not going to give up. It's not my nature. I'll just keep moving this thing out one step at a time."

Assuming Leinart is done for the season, it would be a serious setback for a team that is closing in on its first AFC South title. Sure, the Texans have one of the league's best running games. But as Jacksonville showed, Arian Foster and Ben Tate will have a tough time carrying the load against eight- and nine-man fronts.

Foster ran for 65 yards and a score. Tate added 26 yards on the ground. Along with Leinart's perfect touchdown pass to Joel Dreessen and a defensive effort that included seven sacks — Connor Barwin had four of them — it was enough for Houston to win its fifth consecutive game.

But with Schaub (foot) and Leinart out, the Texans are down to T.J. Yates and newly signed Kellen Clemens.

Yates completed 8 of 15 passes for 70 yards in relief of Leinart, doing just enough to help the Texans beat the Jaguars (3-8). Houston led 20-10 at halftime, but managed just 47 yards and two first downs in the second half.

"I feel for Matt. He was playing good," Yates said. "If there's one thing that this team knows how to do, it's deal with adversity. We've taken an injury almost every game of the year and the team has rallied around each other and found a way to win."

Jacksonville's quarterback situation was a mess, too.

Coach Jack Del Rio

benched rookie Blaine Gabbert in the fourth quarter, after six sacks and an interception. Luke McCown led the team to a late field goal, but his fourth-down pass with about a minute remaining fell incomplete.

Del Rio said Gabbert remains the team's starter.

"Offensively, we just are struggling to generate enough productivity to have any fun," Del Rio said. "It's tough to win in this league when

No doubt remains: LSU is No. 1, Alabama is still No. 2

NEW YORK (AP) — The voters in The Associated Press college football poll are clear on which two teams they believe are the best in the country.

LSU is the unanimous No. 1 for a third consecutive week and Alabama received all the second-place votes for a second straight week.

The SEC West powers are on course for a rematch in the BCS championship game on Jan. 9 in New Orleans.

Alabama (11-1) finished its regular season with a 42-14 victory against Auburn on Saturday, a day after LSU (12-0) beat Arkansas 41-17 to clinch a spot in the Southeastern Conference title game against No. 12 Georgia.

At this point, even with a loss to the Bulldogs in Atlanta, LSU might move on to the national championship game.

Oklahoma State moved up to No. 3 in the Top 25 during an off week, taking advantage of Arkansas' tumble from No. 3 to No. 6 after the Razorbacks lost at LSU on Friday.

Stanford (1,281) is No. 4, just five points behind Oklahoma State (1,286). Virginia Tech is No. 5.

No. 7 Houston (12-0) is the only other undefeated team in major college football. The Cougars play No. 24 Southern Mississippi in the Conference USA title game on Saturday, with a chance to earn their first BCS bid, and the league's first spot in the Bowl Championship Series, too.

Brady, Patriots ground Eagles

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Tom Brady had his way against the Philadelphia Eagles — again.

Brady threw for 361 yards and three touchdowns and the New England Patriots beat the Eagles 38-20 Sunday in a rematch of the 2005 Super Bowl.

Filling in for the injured Michael Vick for the second straight game, Vince Young couldn't keep Philadelphia's fading playoff hopes alive despite throwing for a career-best 400 yards passing. The Eagles (4-7) are all-but-mathematically eliminated from playoff contention in a season that began with Super Bowl expectations.

Angry fans made their feelings known about coach Andy Reid, chanting "Fire Andy!" in the second half.

The defending NFC East champions fell to 1-5 at home and have lost eight of nine at the Linc, including a playoff loss to Green Bay last January.

Down 10-0 early, the AFC East-leading Patriots rallied behind Patriots scored on five of its next six possessions, excluding a kneel-down at the end of the first half.

Brady and coach Bill Belichick improved to 4-0 against Reid's Eagles, including a 24-21 win for their third NFL title in four years after the 2004 season.

Brady finished 24 of 34, Deion Branch had 125 yards receiving and Wes Welker caught eight passes for 115 yards and two TDs.

Brady, a two-time NFL MVP, has completed 67.3 percent of his passes for 1,232 yards, nine TDs and no interceptions in four career games against Philadelphia.

Young led the Eagles to a 17-10 win against the New York Giants last week in his first start in nearly a year. He put up decent numbers against the worst-ranked defense in the league, but couldn't overcome another inept performance by the Eagles' defense.

Young finished 26 of 48. It was just his third career game over 300 yards.

Vick broke two lower ribs in a loss to Arizona on Nov. 13. He got hurt on the second play of that game and stayed in, but hasn't practiced the last two weeks. It's uncertain whether Vick can play when Philadelphia visits Seattle on Thursday night.

After a fast start, the

Colts still tumbling downward

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — The Carolina Panthers finally found somewhere they could pull out a victory on the road: Indianapolis, home of the winless Colts.

DeAngelo Williams ran for two touchdowns and Cam Newton added another, leading the Panthers to a 27-19 win Sunday, their first outside of Charlotte, N.C., in nearly two years.

"This is something we can build off of, use as a springboard as we go forward," coach Ron Rivera said. "It's not where you are now — it's where you're headed."

The Panthers (3-8) last won on the road Dec. 27, 2009, beating the New York Giants 41-9.

Williams rushed 15 times for 69 yards. Jonathan Stewart ran 10 times for 70 yards, and Newton finished with nine carries for 53 yards.

The Panthers piled up a season-high 201 yards rushing, didn't want to put our guard down," Newton said. "I'm proud of this team, how we kept battling."

Manning

Indy is 0-11 for the first time since 1986. The Colts produced just 1 yard in the first quarter, drawing boos from a near-capacity crowd, and had only 142 total yards entering the third quarter.

But it was a far better performance than what the fans had seen.

After losing their last four games by a combined 137-27, the Colts finally scored an offensive touchdown early in the second period, ending a nine-quarter drought.

Dwight Freeney recorded his first sack since Oct. 9, and, in the final minutes, Indy had two chances to force overtime. Both ended with interceptions in the

Tomorrow's Horoscope

These last days of November are like the downhill swing of a rollercoaster. Saturn and Jupiter roll out a fantastic calendar of events, and the momentum is strong. The world outside seems like a hot blur, while our focus on internal sensations and feelings is all too vivid. In fact, we might need to scream about it some.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your day will be uneven. If the mood starts to take a turn for the worse, you can steer it back to a positive place. Just remember what you were doing when things were going right, and do more of that.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). A difference of opinion will arise, and you really need to work it out in order to make your life run smoothly. Instead of debating, agree to flip a coin and let the fates decide.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You'll find it remarkably easy to take hold of situations and guide them in the direction you want to go. You will be warm and patient, bringing out the best in others.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). When you're having fun with your work, you'll get more accomplished. Put the fun in consciously, or you'll be led off course by far less interesting distractions that rob you of both joy and productivity.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You recognize that things are working according to a system. You're willing to learn the system because it's interesting to you and also because you sense the huge advantage this will give you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). In order to see a person, you must be able to look beyond the mask. But most people won't let you pull their mask away. If you're disarming, they will drop it long enough for you to get a glimpse.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Your friendliness will make you an excellent candidate for a leadership position. You'll have an easy time assembling the right team for a job. People want to please you because it seems reasonably easy to do.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). If you look ahead and plan for any kind of weather, it really won't matter if it rains on your parade. People will come anyway. They'll bring their umbrellas, and the band will march on.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). You'll chip away at a problem. When you get instruction in the matter, you'll only hear what you can understand. Try to note when you're not getting it so that you can circle around later and crack the code.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You wish you could be there to make another person happy, comfortable, safe and protected at every turn. You can't. No one can do this for another person at all times. Trust that your best effort is good enough.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Some people around you are more concerned with being cool than they are with bettering themselves and their situation. You want a better life, and you're willing to work toward getting it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). There's excitement ahead. It wouldn't be happening like this had you not been willing to make a change many weeks back. Your spirit of adventure is commendable.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY: (Nov. 28). Though you can be remarkably tenderhearted, your year will be characterized by mental and physical toughness. You'll stomp through obstacles like a soldier in boot camp. You'll apply tenacity to make money in December. January brings happy family news. Your environment gets a makeover in May. Gemini and Aries people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 30, 1, 24, 39 and 18.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: I was not expecting these in my email. I never know what I'm going to get!

Q: Hi, Holiday. I was fishing the other day in a river, and a beaver swam up to me and just sat there floating and staring at me. Do you think he was trying to tell me telepathically that tree bark is not all that good?

A: If that is the message you were getting, in my humble opinion, it's a sign that you have the power to expand another being's experience, to bring new sustenance and spice to someone else's busy world.

Q: So, Holiday, when is Wilco going to release an album?

A: You're adorable. Wilco's eighth studio album, The Whole Love, was just released on Sept. 27, 2011. Do you really need another album now, two months later? Well, I don't blame you if you do. They are a phenomenal band. My prediction is that their next album will come out in late 2013, early 2014.

Thank you for your questions, dear mysterious readers!

Annie's Mailbox ®: Advice for those in need

Dear Annie: My husband and I are raising our two teenage grandchildren. Our grandson is 15 and recently started going out with a girl. They attend the same school and are Facebook friends. We don't know this girl, but after their first outing to a mall, she posted pictures of them kissing. The following weekend, they went to the movies, and she posted another kissing picture. She posts nonstop on his page about how he's made her life better, and she texts him constantly.

We think this is rather disrespectful on both their parts: hers for thinking these are acceptable public displays, and his for thinking we wouldn't care. Our grandson says it's unreasonable for us to limit his phone and text usage with this girl. The other unspeakable thing, apparently, is that we have access to his Facebook account. We were told we're old-fashioned because we want to meet the girl and her parents. This girl's parents don't know or care what she posts.

Are we true dinosaurs to think there should be limits for teens and that parents should know what their kids are doing on the Internet? What is reasonable in today's world? We trust our grandson, but we also remember what it was like for us at that age, and we didn't have 24/7 access. I've become the evil ogre because I have taken a stand, and now the girl is posting comments about me, saying we're interfering with their relationship. How do I deal with this? -- Not on My Watch

Dear Not: Teenagers push parents in order to see what the boundaries are. Having no limits creates confusion and insecurity. Embrace your inner ogre. The world can be a dangerous place, and 15-year-olds do not have the best judgment. The Internet makes it likely that your grandson may regret some of what is floating around that he cannot control. It is your job to protect him.

Yes, you should have access to his Facebook page (although we don't recommend posting on it), and it's fine to limit his phone privileges because texting costs money. Invite the girl for dinner so you can get to know her. You don't need to meet her parents, but you ought to have a way to contact them. Most importantly, talk to your grandson about your concerns, especially about this girl's aggressive behavior, which is all about her social status, without any concern for him.

Dear Annie: It soon will be Christmas. We have four wonderful grandsons in another state, but we are tired of not receiving thank-you notes for gifts.

I sent one grandson a present for his 14th birthday, and he never acknowledged it. A week later, I emailed my daughter about it and received a Facebook post "thank you" from him. This is not acceptable. I taught my daughter manners, but I think she's just too lazy to train her children.

Do I continue with the gifts? Send a box of thank-you cards? Please help. -- Frustrated Grandmother in Florida

Dear Grandma: You are not obligated to send gifts to grandchildren who don't acknowledge them, but first explain directly what you expect. A handwritten thank-you note would be lovely, but is less likely to happen. Please allow them to use email to say thank you, and let them know that if you don't hear from them, you will assume they no longer want any gifts from you.

Dear Annie: I am responding to "Confused," who was upset that her friend used the name of her deceased father when naming her dog.

We adopted a dog from the pound and named it "Alice." We then discovered that our vet's wife's name is Alice. He didn't seem too happy about it and asked why we did that. I don't think you can be expected to please everyone. -- Can't Win you're not scoring. ... We are working hard at it, but we are just not making enough plays."

Leinart, making his first start in two years, was hit hard by defensive end Jeremy Mincey late in the second quarter. He went to the sideline, headed to the locker room for tests and did not return.

Leinart completed 10 of 13 passes for 57 yards and a touchdown, a 20-yard pass to Dreessen under heavy pressure. He got hurt on the next possession.

Yates replaced him and drove the Texans into position for a field goal that put them ahead 20-10 at the break.

Jacksonville outgained Houston 255-215 in total yards. But Josh Scobee missed a 55-yard field goal and tight end Mercedes Lewis dropped a pass in the end zone with no one around him. It was the latest in a growing list of drops for the former Pro Bowl tight end. His latest one prompted Jacksonville to settle for a short field goal.

"It was a leak here, a leak there and we never really got clicking," guard Uche Nwaneri said.

McCown, named the starter five days before the season opener and then benched after two games, was 7 of 11 passing for 62 yards in two series. Gabbert was 13 of 29 for 136 yards.

Maurice Jones-Drew was the lone bright spot for Jacksonville's offense. He ran 18 times for 99 yards and caught four passes for 67 more.

"A quarterback is only as good as the players around him," Jones-Drew said. "When they pull your quarterback, they are saying something about you. It's not the quarterback. We have to continue to work to get better with whoever is going to be the starter next week."

Jacksonville's only touchdown came on Ashton Youboty's 38-yard fumble return on the opening series. Foster fumbled for the first time in 172 carries this season, coughing up the ball on Paul Posluszny's tackle.

Foster bounced back with a 43-yard gain on the next possession and later scored on a 1-yard plunge. It was his fifth consecutive game with a rushing touchdown.

"I'm very proud of this team," Kubiak said. "It's hard to win in this league, and when you face some of the adversity we've faced and will be facing again, and to continue to find a way to win, that's a sign of a very solid football team."

Notes: Texans WR Andre Johnson, back in the starting lineup after missing six games because of a hamstring injury, caught two passes for 22 yards.

Rackers' 53-yard FG tied the franchise record.

Jaguars C Brad Meester played in his 172nd career game, breaking the previous franchise record held by Jimmy Smith. ... Jones-Drew has 1,040 yards rushing, his third consecutive 1,000-yard season.

"At least we put ourselves in position to win it in the second half," said Curtis Painter, who was 15 of 29 for 226 yards with one TD and the two interceptions. "But we were in it. We had a shot at the end, just came up a little short."

Newton was 20 of 27 for 208 yards, and Steve Smith caught three passes for 68 to top the 1,000-yard mark. But the Panthers wore down Indy's defense with run after run.

In the final quarter, the Panthers kept giving themselves what seemed like a comfortable cushion against the NFL's lone winless team only for the Colts to rally.

Williams scored his second touchdown early in the fourth to make it 24-13. Painter then hooked up with Reggie Wayne, who slipped a tackle in the middle of the field, turned left and sprinted into the end zone for a 56-yard TD. The 2-point conversion pass failed, making it 24-19.

Carolina answered with Kealoha Pilares' 81-yard kickoff return, which led to a 41-yard field goal.

Painter, however, got the Colts back into scoring position before Chris Gamble picked off an underthrown ball in the end zone, right in front of Pierre Garcon.

It still wasn't over.

The Colts forced a punt, and Painter got Indy back inside the Carolina 5 with about a minute to go. But when Austin Collie couldn't hang onto Painter's pass, Sherrod Martin snagged it out of the air and toe-tapped the end line for an interception to finally give Carolina the rare road victory.

"In light of what happened the first half of the season, how close we had come and not gotten it done, we came in at the half, we talked about what we had to do when we came out," Rivera said. "And we did it."

The Panthers jumped to a 10-0 lead thanks to Olindo Mare's 40-yard field goal and Newton's dancing 14-yard run into the end zone.

Donald Brown answered with a 17-yard scoring burst for the Colts, and Adam Vinatieri tied the score at 10 with a 31-yard field goal late in the first half.

Carolina broke the tie with a nifty 25-yard run from Williams, who sidestepped one defender in the middle of the field, cut right and outran the Colts defense for the score.

Notes: Peyton Manning joined former receiver Marvin Harrison during the induction ceremony into the Colts' Ring of Honor. ... Indy also honored three-time Cup champion Tony Stewart during the break for the two-minute warning at the end of the first half.

Colts defensive back Steve Brown injured his quadriceps in the first half and fullback Ryan Mahaffey left in the third quarter with a concussion.

Pilares had a long punt return called back in the first half because of an illegal block.

Newton has now rushed for 10 TDs this season. Only two quarterbacks have ever had more — Kordell Stewart (11) with Pittsburgh in 1997 and Steve Grogan (12) with New England in 1976.

Eagles fizzled.

Brady engineered a 70-yard drive capped by BenJarvus Green-Ellis' 4-yard TD run to cut it to 10-7. The Pats converted two third downs on the drive, including two by penalty.

Helped by a missed call, New England's defense then forced a three-and-out. Young was sacked by Rob Ninkovich, who spun the quarterback down by pulling his facemask. But the referees didn't see it, eliciting loud boos from the crowd when the replay was shown on the video screen.

One play after just-signed Tiquan Underwood dropped a wide-open pass, Brady connected with Branch for 63 yards to the Eagles 1 on a third-and-13. Green-Ellis scored on the next play to put the Patriots up 14-10.

Antwaun Molden intercepted Young's deep pass intended for DeSean Jackson on Philadelphia's next play and returned it 27 yards to the Eagles 34. But the Patriots couldn't convert the turnover into points. Stephen Gostkowski missed a 39-yard field goal wide right.

No problem for Brady and Co.

The Eagles went three-and-out again, and the Patriots went to a no-huddle when they got the ball back.

Welker blew past the secondary and Brady hit his wide-open target in stride for a 41-yard TD pass to give New England a 21-10 lead.

DeSean Jackson dropped what should've been a 4-yard TD pass and the Eagles settled for a 22-yard field goal to get within 21-13.

It was the second time in the first half that Jackson appeared to shy away from contact and dropped a pass across the middle. Fans let him hear it with a chorus of boos. Jackson, a two-time Pro Bowl pick, is in the final year of his rookie contract and has been unhappy that he didn't get a new deal. He dropped a deep pass that should've been a TD in the third quarter.

The Patriots got the ball to start the second half and Brady led them into the end zone again, tossing a 9-yard TD pass to Welker for a 31-13 lead.

Brady threw a 24-yard TD pass to Rob Gronkowski to extend it to 38-13 in the fourth quarter.

Young came out firing. He tossed a 22-yard pass to Brent Celek on the first play from scrimmage.

Then he connected with Riley Cooper for 58 yards to the Patriots 4. LeSean McCoy ran in from the 2 to give the Eagles a 7-0 lead.

Young hit Jackson for a 44-yard gain to the Patriots 36 on the first play of the next series. The Eagles' drive stalled at the 25 after three consecutive dropped passes, and Alex Henery kicked a 43-yard field goal to make it 10-0.

Besides Vick, the Eagles didn't have leading receiver Jeremy Maclin or nickel cornerback Dominique Rodgers-Cromartie. Cornerback Nnamdi Asomugha didn't start after injuring his knee in practice, though he played in some situations.
