PD building closes doors

Facility, opened in 1956, making way for law enforcement center

By THOMAS JENKINS
 Staff Writer

Today marks a first for the Crossroads area, as the Big Spring Police Department made its final move into the Troy M. Hogue Joint Law Enforcement Center, placing all local law enforcement agencies under the same roof.

The BSPD — which joins the Howard County Sheriff's Office at the newly constructed facility — announced this week the move marks the closure of the previous police department building, located in downtown Big Spring.

"The former building — located at 400 E. Fourth St. — has been the home of the Big Spring Police Department since 1956," Sgt. Tony Everett, public information officer with the BSPD, said. "For a lot of us who have come up through the BSPD ranks, this place has been like a second home for us for a very long time. However, the move to the joint law enforcement center is going to allow us to better serve the citizens of Big Spring and Howard County."

U.S. economy adds 146,000 jobs

By CHRISTOPHER RUGABER
 AP Economics Writer

WASHINGTON — The U.S. economy added 146,000 jobs in November and the unemployment rate fell to 7.7 percent, the lowest since December 2008. The government said Superstorm Sandy had only a minimal effect on the figures.

The Labor Department's report Friday offered a mixed picture of the economy.

Hiring remained steady during the storm and in the face of looming tax increases. But the government said employers added 49,000 fewer jobs in October and September than it initially estimated.

And the unemployment rate fell to a four-year low in November from 7.9 percent in October mostly because more people stopped looking for work and weren't counted as unemployed.

The report "is something of a mixed bag but, on balance, it's a positive," said Paul Ashworth, an economist at Capital Economics.

Sandy's effect on the figures was much smaller many analysts had predicted. The government noted that as long as employees worked at least one day during a pay period — two weeks for most people — its survey would have counted them as employed.

Still, there were signs that the storm disrupted economic activity. Construction employment dropped 20,000. And weather prevented 369,000 people from getting to work — the most for any month in nearly two years. These workers were still counted as employed.

Stock futures jumped after the report. Dow Jones industrial average futures were down 20 points in the minutes before the report came out at 8:30 a.m., and just afterward were up 70 points.

As money shifted into stocks, it moved out of safer bonds. The yield on the benchmark 10-year U.S. Treasury note, which moves opposite the price, rose to 1.63 percent from 1.58 percent just before the report was released. Since July, the economy has added an average of 158,000 jobs a month. That's a modest pickup from 146,000 average in the first six months of the year.

JOB

The job growth suggests that most employers aren't yet delaying hiring because of the "fiscal cliff." That's the combination of sharp tax increases and spending cuts set to take effect next year unless the White House and Congress reach a budget deal before then.

There is "no obvious impact from the looming fiscal cliff yet," Ashworth added, "but it could still have a greater effect on December's figures."

In November, retailers added 53,000 positions. Temporary help companies added 18,000 and education and health care also gained 18,000.

Auto manufacturers added nearly 10,000 jobs.

Still, overall manufacturing jobs fell 7,000. That was pushed down by a loss of 12,000 jobs in food manufacturing that likely reflects the layoff of workers at Hostess.

Sandy forced restaurants, retailers and other businesses to close in late October and early November in 24 states, particularly in the Northeast.

Ashworth noted that hiring by companies was actually better in October than the government first thought. The overall job figures were revised lower that month because governments cut about 35,000 more jobs than first estimated.

The U.S. grew at a solid 2.7 percent annual rate in the July-September quarter. But many economists say growth is slowing to a 1.5 percent rate in the October-December quarter, largely because of the storm and threat of the fiscal cliff. That's not enough growth to lower the unemployment rate.

The storm held back consumer spending and income, which drive economic growth. Consumer spending declined in October and work interruptions caused by Sandy reduced wages and salaries that month by about $18 billion at an annual rate, the government said.

Still, many say economic growth could accelerate next year if the fiscal cliff is avoided. The economy is also expected to get a boost from efforts to rebuild in the Northeast after the storm.

CLOSES

tion," Sheriff Stan Parker said. "We were able to move the sheriff's office equipment and staff a while back, so we know full well how difficult a task this is."

According to Everett, today's move will not interrupt any of the emergency services provided locally.

"Emergency services will not be effected by the move. All 911 and non-emergency phone lines will be functioning at the joint law enforcement center,"

Everett said. "Patrol services have already been moved over to the new facility and all other BSPD divisions will begin working Monday morning at the Troy Hogue Joint Law Enforcement Center."

The new Troy Hogue Joint Law Enforcement Center — located in the 3600 block of W. Highway 80 — represents a joint venture between the city of Big Spring and Howard County, with funding for the facility coming from both government agencies. The project is estimated to cost approximately $2.7 million, with the city of Big Spring chipping in $1.7 million and the county picking up the balance.

Parker said the new facility is a step forward for law enforcement in Howard County thanks to the accessibility of information between the BSPD and sheriff's office.

"When you have investigators from both agencies working in the same building, it's a lot easier for them to share information and resources," Parker said. "It also allows us to provide services to the citizens more efficiently, since we don't have to duplicate services such as dispatch between us. It's a definite step forward for law enforcement in this area."

Phone services were installed at the Troy Hogue Law Enforcement Center during the weekend, causing an approximate 30-minute blackout on non-911 dispatch lines. Parker called the installation the last step before the PD moving into the facility.

First United Methodist Church

With great joy and a triple portion of gratitude, we salute all those many volunteers who made possible the 34th annual production of The Living Christmas Tree. The tree was loaded, the Christmas music lovely and familiar, the orchestra always superb, the setting truly beautiful. Seeing all those students from junior high, high school and college as part of the performance was indeed a bonus. Eddie Vanderwalker, minister of music, did an outstanding job of pulling it all together making this a perfect gift to our community.

Saturday at 11 a.m., Angel Tree recipients will gather in Garrett Hall for lunch, games and a visit from Santa. Sixty children of incarcerated parents will receive gifts through the Prison Fellowship Ministry. Ann Townsend was the chairperson of this project, which will bring gifts to these children bearing their parent's name.

Sunday, Pastor Bill Ivins will bring the message at both the 8:30 a.m. and 10:50 a.m. service of worship. Continuing the series "Christmas in 3-D", this week's sermon title will be "Let This Be Known To All the Earth" with scripture taken from Isaiah 12:2-6. There will be special music, including selections by the bell choir. The Advent Candle will be lit by the Faron Bell Family in the first service and by the Justin Myers family in the late service.

The youth group is collecting canned goods for local Big Spring area distribution just before Christmas to families in need. There will be boxes in both the church office and the narthex. If you have any questions please contact Beau at 432-312-7923.

Noon Bible Study and Luncheon is held on Wednesday with Pastor Bill as study leader. This week's meal will be catered by Cowboy's with serving beginning at 11:50 am. Real Life Wednesday begins at 5:30 p.m., with serving of the meal followed by Bible studies, EPIC Youth and Financial Peace. The Children's choir, "JAM" will meet from 6-7 p.m.

The Epworth Sunday School Class will meet in Garrett Hall Thursday night for dinner and the annual Christmas gift exchange.

Previews of coming attractions

Last week we finally made it to see Spielberg's movie, "Lincoln." After reading a number of Lincoln biographies, including Sandburg's "Lincoln," William Hernden's original "Life of Lincoln" and the book upon which this movie is based, Doris Kearns Goodwin's "Team of Rivals," I have to say that this movie gives the best representation of our 16th president. It is a must-see.

BILL TINSLEY

As usual, Jackie and I arrived early for the show, settling into our seats to watch the trailers of other movies soon to be released. The theater was fairly full, enough that we could hear the whispers and comments of those around us.

As each trailer played across the screen, we could hear people muttering to one another, "We have to see that one," or "That's not for us." In two minutes we were all making up our minds about other movies we might or might not like to view.

The Australian writer, Michael Frost, argues that Christians and churches are like movie trailers for the kingdom. We are to live in such a way that when others see us they say, "I want to be a part of that," or "I wish the world was like that."

This is what Jesus meant when he said, "Let your light so shine that men may see your good works and glorify your Father who is in heaven."

Whether we like it or not, our churches and our lives are being viewed like movie trailers by others. When non-believers look at our churches and our lives, they are whispering to themselves and to one another saying, "I'll have to check that out," or, "I wouldn't want to be part of that."

Jesus presented the clearest preview of the kingdom. He invited others to look at his life

When Santa disappoints

An unannounced visit from Santa was not really a surprise. After all, the jolly old elf does pop in now and then this time of the year. But to the bright-eyed tyke who sat a few rows in front of me at a Christmas concert, Santa's sudden appearance was thrilling.

BONNIE WHEAT

Restrained by his mother, the little boy stood up in his seat and waved to Santa. Watching with anticipation, he saw Santa pass out candy canes to all the children in his view. But the eager tot was too far away to be seen by the bearded elf in the red suit. As the choir sang the final words of "Here Comes Santa Clause," the sound of "Ho, Ho, Ho" grew faint in the distance.

Still holding out his hand in more of a grasp than a wave, the child watched Santa disappear. Holding back the tears, he turned around and sat down. But the sparkle in his eyes had faded away.

TINSLEY

to see what the kingdom looks like. He said, "The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor." (Luke 4:18-21).

The early followers of Jesus practiced kingdom living in such a way that others were drawn to them and to their churches. This is why the Christian faith exploded in the first three centuries. People saw previews of the kingdom practiced in the churches and the lives of believers and they wanted to be part of it.

This is also the reason Christianity is stumbling in our day. Too often churches and Christians are selfish and self-centered, fighting among themselves and with others for dominance and control. When others see this, like patrons at a theater, they whisper to themselves, "That's not for me."

Every church and every believer must live in such a way that others see God's kingdom on earth as it is in heaven. This is what Paul meant when he said, "But thanks be to God, who ... manifests through us the sweet aroma of the knowledge of Him in every place. For we are a fragrance of Christ to God among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing." (2 Cor. 2:14-15).

Soon after I witnessed the scene of the disappointing Santa, I heard a ridiculously optimistic tune called "Santa Baby" on the radio. The female vocalist was trying to entice Santa into leaving her a fur coat, a diamond ring, a yacht, a light blue '54 convertible, the deed to a platinum mine and a stack of signed blank checks. After submitting her want list to Santa, she instructed him to "hurry down the chimney tonight." Sometimes, all of us look for a Santa to make us happy. Whether our Santa wears a red suit or not, we often depend on our spouses, families and friends to provide joy that cannot be delivered. We go beyond the material things that we covet and expect our loved ones to meet our emotional needs as well. We seek external solutions to our internal problems, negating the need to examine our own hearts.

King David, a man of great wealth and many sorrows, knew the way to find joy in his life. He wrote, "Delight yourself in the Lord; and He will give you the desires of your heart." (Psalm 37:4 NASB).

When we delight in the things of the Lord, our want lists change. We no longer focus on the external things that we think would make us happy. God gives us the desires of our hearts when our hearts desire Him. Santa may disappoint us, but God gives contentment from the inside out.

Mayo’s 23 leads Mavs past skidding Suns

PHOENIX (AP) — Fans were guaranteed a good time or their money back at the Phoenix Suns’ game against Dallas.

They were not guaranteed a victory, and they didn’t get one — just another failed Phoenix comeback.

A tough, fall-away 21-footer by O.J. Mayo proved to be the difference as the Mavericks handed the Suns their fifth loss in a row, 97-94 on Thursday night.

It was a nice bounce-back for a Dallas team beaten by 22 by the Clippers in Los Angeles 24 hours earlier, the Mavericks’ fourth loss in five games.

“After playing a game last night we could have made a lot of excuses for ourselves as far as we had a tough game last night and didn’t play well, but we flushed it and we came today with a lot of energy,” Mayo said.

Mayo scored 23 points, including that go-ahead jumper with 35 seconds to go. Brandon Wright and Darren Collison scored 16 apiece for Dallas. Wright’s total was a season high. Chris Kaman added 15 points.

“We played one of our strongest-willed games,”

Dallas coach Rick Carlisle said. “Difficult situation, losing time coming off the back-to-back and a rough one last night. Everybody played with a lot of heart, a lot of guts. It was really a war of attrition out there with the injuries and all the stuff going on. Everybody hung in and we found a way and it’s a huge win for us.”

Markieff Morris had 15 points and a career-best 17 rebounds for the Suns, who rallied from 15 down in the third quarter to tie it in the final minute.

Kaman (sprained ankle) and Shawn Marion (strained right groin) left the game with injuries for Dallas, as did P.J. Tucker (sprained knee) and Jermaine O’Neal (eye) for Phoenix.

The game was played on “money-back guarantee night,” when those who bought a ticket could get their money back if they didn’t have a good time. The Suns said it was the first promotion of its kind in the NBA.

It was the first game back for Phoenix after a 1-5 road trip that included a strong game

Notre Dame’s Te’o eyes Heisman trophy after Maxwell win

LAKE BUENA VISTA, Fla. (AP) — Manti Te’o is one of the most important leaders for undefeated Notre Dame, having played in a ton of big games for the Fighting Irish.

Even so, he had a tough time processing this victory.

The senior linebacker was “at a loss for words” after capturing the Maxwell Award as the nation’s most outstanding player, one of three honorees he received at the 22nd Home Depot College Football Awards show Thursday night at Disney World.

“The last time I ever dreamt of winning that award was on a video game,” he said. “So to win it is a mind-blowing experience.”

Te’o now has won six major awards since the end of Notre Dame’s regular season, also taking home the Bednarik Award for top defensive player and Walter Camp Foundation player of the year award on Thursday. He became the first defensive player to win the Maxwell Award since 1980, ending a string of nine straight quarterbacks.

Next up is the Heisman Trophy ceremony on Saturday night, with Te’o and Texas A&M quarterback Johnny Manziel considered the favorites. Then Te’o will try to help the Fighting Irish dethrone defending champion Alabama in the BCS national championship game.

While Te’o and Notre Dame certainly had a big night, so did Texas A&M. Manziel won the Davey O’Brien National Quarterback Award and junior offensive lineman Luke Joeckel took home the Outland Trophy for the nation’s best interior lineman.

Manziel acknowledged he will be nervous Saturday knowing he has a chance to win college football’s most hallowed individual honor. Kansas State quarterback Collin Klein is the third finalist for the Heisman Trophy.

Three sophomores have won the Heisman, including Tim Tebow in 2007, Sam Bradford in 2008 and Mark Ingram in 2009. The best a first-year player has ever done is second.

“I had high expectations, but I never would have expected this for myself,” said Manziel.

Romo, Cowboys trying to hang on in uneven season

IRVING, Texas (AP) — Tony Romo threw 13 interceptions in the first seven games and has just two since. He was booed lustily in two mistake-filled home losses, then broke Troy Aikman’s franchise record for touchdowns in the most efficient outing of his career.

The Dallas quarterback has used phrases such as “exhausting my brain” while the Cowboys have lived on the edge of the playoff chase, and their penchant for falling behind looked like it might wear out his right arm.

Romo won’t call this up-and-down grind tougher than any other in six years of trying to get the Cowboys even remotely close to a Super Bowl for the first time since the 1995 season. It sure looks like it, though — even sounds like it.

“I constantly analyze what our team needs or what can help our football team, what we may need to change to help what or who we are and what this team needs to do to get better,” said Romo, who is a year away from the end of his contract and now the married father of an 8-month old boy. “That’s always in my brain. How can I do it? How can I help others? You think about it constantly.”

Because of the games and throws that got away, the Cowboys (6-6) may not survive another loss as they begin the final quarter of the season Sunday at Cincinnati (7-5). Dallas hasn’t reached the post-season since 2009, when Romo had his only playoff victory and just the second for the Cowboys since their last Super Bowl win.

If the Cowboys are going anywhere, Romo will probably have to be the one leading them.

One of his classic scrambles and completions was the most important play in a win over Philadelphia that started the current 3-1 stretch. The injury-depleted Dallas defense couldn’t stop the Dallas defense in the rematch as Romo kept pace until a big defensive touchdown gave the Cowboys a cushion.

One of Romo’s two interceptions in the past five games helped Washington take a 28-3 halftime lead on Thanksgiving, but he came back with three second-half touchdowns and had the Cowboys within seven when a defensive letdown put the Redskins back in control.

In the second halves of his past two games, Romo has thrown for 513 yards and six touchdowns with one interception, and he now has 168 career TDs, three more than Aikman, a three-time Super Bowl winner.

"I think more than anything else, he's taking care of the ball and still making plays," Dallas coach Jason Garrett said.

"When Tony's playing his best, he's able to do that. We never want to stifle him, but we believe that he can play the way he plays and still minimize the bad plays."

The turnovers are down even though defenses targeted Romo while not having to worry as much about a compromised Dallas running attack. DeMarco Murray missed six games with a sprained right foot, and the Cowboys rushed for more than 100 yards just once without him.

Murray's first play back Sunday against Philadelphia snapped a streak of 52 straight snaps where Romo didn't hand off, and he carried for 14 yards. Murray ended up getting the ball the first three Dallas plays and finished with 23 carries for 83 yards. Oh, and the Cowboys rushed for 100 yards again — and would have approached 150 if not for a couple of fluky negative plays.

It may not be a coincidence that with Murray behind him again, Romo was 10 of 10 in the second half of a 38-33 win over the Eagles. Plus, he didn't have to throw as much. He was 22 of 27 after tossing 112 passes in a span of five days.

"He's a smart quarterback," Murray said. "You definitely have to have your 'A' game with him because there are times he's calling the play and he'll change it up to another play, a different protection he wants you to stay in. So you definitely have to know what you're doing when you're out there with him."

The Cowboys have had injury issues in the offensive line all season, and while the number of sacks on Romo isn't overwhelming — 28, or slightly more than two per game — he has been on the run and knocked down a lot.

MAVS

at Memphis, where the Suns led by 16 before losing in overtime. One of those losses was a 40-point blowout in Detroit. The others all went down to the wire.

"It's always the same story," the Suns' Goran Dragic said. "We came up short. ... When you're down so many points and you're battling, your energy is going away because you're trying to get back in the game."

Morris' 3-pointer cut Dallas' lead to 87-85 with a minute to go, then Shannon Brown stole Collison's pass and was fouled. Brown made two free throws with 48.5 seconds left to tie it at 87.

But with Sebastian Telfair guarding him closely, Mayo knocked down the tough shot to put the Mavericks back ahead for good.

Dragic, who scored 15 points but shot only 5 of 14, missed an open driving layup that would have tied it.

"He (Mayo) made that tough shot and we missed an easy layup," Dragic said, "and there goes the game."

Dallas sealed it with eight free throws in the final 19.3 seconds — four by Collison and four by Vince Carter.

Trailing 44-40 at half-time, the Mavericks ran past Phoenix 23-4 to start the third quarter, opening a 63-48 lead with 3:50 to go in the period. Mayo sank his third 3-pointer of the night — in four tries — and Wright, who had not played in three of the previous four games, made consecutive baskets, on a dunk and a layup, to cap the outburst.

Phoenix missed 13 of its first 14 shots in the quarter and went 7 minutes without a field goal.

Dragic and Tucker hit 3s to bring the Suns out of their funk enough to cut the lead to 69-62 after three.

Jared Dudley opened the fourth quarter with a 3-pointer, then Telfair's layup cut it to 71-67. Consecutive baskets by Wright boosted the lead to 81-71 with 5:40 to play.
