Power outage

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

A blown transformer at the Big Spring Herald this morning caused more than 1,000 electrical customers to temporarily lose power and delayed publication of today's edition of the newspaper.

Shortly after 8 a.m., the transformer located adjacent to the Herald building at 710 Scurry shut down in a series of mini-explosions.

"When that happened, that caused a fault in the mainline breaker," said Jim Clements of Oncor. "That caused about 1,500 customers to lose power."

Power was quickly restored to all customers except the Herald, which remained without power until a replacement transformer could be installed.

Power was restored to the Herald at about 1:30 p.m.

Because of the outage, Herald officials said deliveries of today's edition would not be completed until this evening.

Power was lost at the Big Spring Herald for about five and a half hours today, causing late delivery to most customers. Oncor officials said about 1,500 customers were initially in the dark, but power was restored to most in short order.

18 big ones

You probably have heard by now that Big Spring High School choral students won 18 medals in state University Interscholastic League competition this week. Read about it in Sunday's Herald.

Street closings

Saturday

Runnels Street from Third to Fourth Street will be closed from 3 p.m. to midnight Saturday. All traffic will be detoured until the work is complete.

Monday

Martin Luther King (10th) Blvd. will be closed at approximately 9 a.m. Monday between Scurry and U.S. 87 to allow Texas Department of Transportation crews to complete a striping project. Workers will be marking a cross walk, stop bars and center line as well as a left turn lane.

The work should be completed and the road opened before noon.

Obituaries

Billy Lynn 'Bill' Hipp

Billy Lynn "Bill" Hipp was born Oct. 18, 1938, in Sweetwater, Texas, to Vera and N.M. Hipp. He joined his Heavenly Father on May 29, 2013, at the age of 74 years.

Billy moved with his family to Big Spring at the age of 5 years and attended Big Spring schools. He married his childhood sweetheart, Darlene (Parker) Hipp on Feb. 17, 1955. They celebrated 58 years together this year.

To this union was born three children, Gary of Coahoma, Darla of Coahoma and Ronnie and wife Joan of Sand Springs. There are nine beautiful grandchildren, Krystal Porter and husband Jacob, Riley Hipp and wife April, Rebecca Choate, Carmen Collier and husband Jeremy, Amber Holguin and husband Gordy, Travis Hipp and wife Paige, Randall Hipp and wife Tasha, Johnathan Hipp and Valarie Estill.

Billy had 14 great-grandchildren — the apples of his eye — Tavyn, Ashlyn, Dominic, Paislie, Addison, KimberLynn, Trevor, Alex, Allie, Samuel, Chloe, Trayce, Ainslee and baby Porter, due in December. He is also survived by one brother, Jackie Hipp of Massachusetts; one very special uncle, Albert Bullard of Stephenville; one sister-in-law, Linda Clack and husband Bob of Hobbs, N.M.; many nieces, nephews, cousins and a host of friends.

He was preceded in death by his parents, Vera and N.M. Hipp; his mother-in-law and father-in-law, Carl and Mae Parker; two sisters-in-law; and one brother-in-law.

Billy and Darlene first began their life journey in Midland, Texas. Billy worked for MidWest Glass for 10 years, after which he opened his own cabinet shop. Billy was a top-notch craftsman and could make anything, turning out beautiful cabinets and furniture.

In 1968 the couple returned to Big Spring to be near both sets of parents. Billy then went to work for Western Glass and in 1976 he opened Quality Glass and Mirror, which he continued to own. Billy was a fine Christian man and walked daily with the Lord. He was a member of Calvary Baptist Church for more than 30 years, having been ordained as a deacon Feb. 27, 1983.

His favorite pastimes included restoring his 1930 Ford "Model A" from the ground up, starting out with boxes of rusty parts. He delighted in driving it with his sons and grandsons during the July 4th Parade in Coahoma. Billy also loved the outdoors, raising cows and enjoying the new calves up until the recent drought. Most of all, Billy loved and enjoyed his family. What a legacy he leaves behind.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday, June 1, 2013, at the Nalley-Pickle & Welch Rosewood Chapel with the Rev. Herb McPherson officiating and the Rev. Joey Bacon assisting. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park.

The family will receive friends from 6 p.m. until 7 p.m. Friday, May 31, 2013, at the funeral home.

The family suggests memorials be made to Relay for Life, c/o Sandy Griffin, 1217 E. 17th St., Big Spring, TX 79720; or to Calvary Baptist Church, 1200 W. Fourth St., Big Spring, TX 79720.

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home & Crematory of Big Spring. Online condolences can be made at: www.npwelch.com

State briefs

Perry: Storm insurance special session possibility

AUSTIN, Texas (AP) — Gov. Rick Perry said Friday he may add reshaping the troubled Texas Windstorm Insurance Association to a special legislative session he's already convened on redistricting, but wouldn't yet say for sure whether he'll give lawmakers more to do.

Perry called the Legislature back immediately after its 140-day regular session ended Monday, giving legislators 30 extra days to approve new electoral district voting maps — and any other item of his choosing. He said it was still "a little premature" to be adding items to the agenda, but when asked specifically whether the agency known as TWIA could be one of them, answered "it's certainly possible."

The governor said it was an issue "we've spent a lot of time working on and trying to find a solution to. It's a complex issue as diverse as the state is with the huge exposure that we have along the Gulf Coast."

TWIA is a nonprofit, state-supervised insurer of last resort for people who can't get private property insurance in 14 coastal counties and part of Harris County, which includes Houston.

It is subsidized with mandatory dues from for-profit insurance companies, but has faced serious financial trouble for years. After Hurricane Ike in 2008, there were numerous allegations of collusion between claims adjusters and the association. More than 1,900 policyholders sued the association for failing to pay for legitimate damages.

Perry said he likely won't add items without first working with lawmakers to ensure there's a possibility they will actually pass legislation on them.

"We want to be relatively assured we're going to be successful," he said. "That's not to guarantee success, but there's a host of issues, and I would suggest to you that there's a long list of wants we try to distill down to the things that truly are needed in the state."

Fire at Houston motel injures 4 firefighters

HOUSTON (AP) — A five-alarm fire at a Houston motel has injured at least four firefighters.

The Houston Fire Department released a statement saying four firefighters have been taken to hospitals, though details about their injuries weren't provided.

The blaze broke out just after noon Friday at a restaurant and club at the Southwest Inn on U.S. 59, one of Houston's most heavily traveled expressways. Flames spread to the motel part of the building and were still shooting from the roof of the structure more than an hour later.

No cause for the blaze was immediately announced. Phone messages left with the fire department weren't immediately returned.

Court backs border-state gun sale reporting rule

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court panel Friday unanimously upheld an Obama administration requirement that dealers in southwestern border states report when customers buy multiple high-powered rifles.

The firearms industry trade group, the National Shooting Sports Foundation, and two Arizona gun sellers had argued that the administration overstepped its legal authority in the 2011 regulation, which applies to gun sellers in California, Arizona, New Mexico and Texas.

The requirement, issued in what is known as a demand letter, compels those sellers to report to the Bureau of Alcohol, Tobacco, Firearms and Explosives when anyone buys — within a five-day period — two or more semi-automatic weapons capable of accepting a detachable magazine and with a caliber greater than .22. The ATF says the requirement is needed to help stop the flow of guns to Mexican drug cartels.

Judge Karen LeCraft Henderson, writing for the three-judge appeals panel of the U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals for the District of Columbia, said the agency was within its legal authority when it issued the demand letter. She said that the Gun Control Act of 1968 "unambiguously authorizes the demand letter."

Henderson, who was appointed by Republican President George H.W. Bush, was joined by Judges Judith W. Rogers, an appointee of Democratic President Bill Clinton, and Harry T. Edwards, an appointee of Democratic President Jimmy Carter.

Take Note

• Chorus rehearsals for July 3's Pops in the Park will be held from 7 p.m. to 8:30 p.m. each Tuesday of the month — June 4, 11, 18 and 25. The location will be at the First United Methodist Church chorus rehearsal room. Enter the north door in the alleyway. Anyone who has the time to attend all four rehearsals is welcome to participate. For more information, contact Dr. Keith Graumann at 432-213-0645 or keithgraumann@yahoo.com

• Big Spring and surrounding counties are in need of foster families. Foster parents are the caretakers for the children in the community who have been abused or neglected. For more information on becoming foster parents or adoptive families, call the Children's Protective Services office at 263-9669.

• Crossroads Hospice is in need of volunteers. Volunteers are the backbone of the hospice team, by bringing light and love into people's lives. For more information on joining, contact Eva Robison at 432-263-5300 or come by 421 S. Main.

• Do you have a minute? An hour? How about making a difference in someone's life? Become a hospice volunteer. One hour a month can make a difference. Whether it's visiting a patient or working in the office or helping with a craft, you can make a difference. We can work around your schedule. If interested, please call Kara Daniels at Compass Hospice, 432-263-5999, or apply in person at 602 S. Main St.

• Mobile Meals is in need of volunteer delivery drivers. If you can donate one hour per week to help deliver meals to the elderly, call Macaria Cantu at 263-4016.

• Home Hospice is seeking volunteers. Volunteers are needed for in office duties as well as sitters, deliveries and crafts. To find out more information or to volunteer contact Manny Negron at Home Hospice by calling 264-7599.

• The Salvation Army is holding its annual fan drive and is in need of fans. Community members can donate new or used fans. Monetary donations are also welcomed. Donations can be made at the main office, located at 811 W. Fifth St., Monday through Friday between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m.

He was named Martin County Chamber of Commerce Male Student of the Year, received a "Golden G" award in English and attended the Texas Governor's School in College Station.

His extra-curricular activities included one-act play and cross-examination debate in UIL academics and cross-country and tennis in athletics.

His community activities include holding the rank of Eagle Scout for Troop 175 in Midland, Permian Basin Youth Health Service Corps and volunteering at the Martin County Hospital District and Midland Memorial Hospital, Christmas in April, Martin County Food Bank, Pennies for Leukemia and the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation.

He plans to attend Austin College in Sherman Texas this fall and major in pre-med.

Members of the Class of 2013 are Charmynee Arnold, Ellyn Avery, Breanna Burgess, Sarah Clay, Brett Glaze, Michael Jimenez, Jack Kennady, Valerie Locklar, Brandon Lucas, Veronica Marquez, Sara Marshall, Sarah Matthews, Cayley Oppgard, Brandi Pechacek, Ivan Sanjuan, Uziel Sanjuan, Savannah Sawyer, Zack Seiffert, Isaak Unger, Carey Warren, Charley Wells and Gustina Wiebe.

GHS will hold commencement exercises at 6 p.m. Saturday in the high school gymnasium.

OUR VIEW

Starting over: We're proud of you, graduates

Congratulations, graduate! You are about to take what could be the most important step in your life. Start the path toward a college degree, or learn a trade such as welding? Grab a job in the oilfield while the boom is on, or go serve your country in the armed forces?

For the high school graduate, this is definitely a turning point. Many of you will look back in 10 years or even 20, and say, “What if I had ...?” or “Why didn’t I ...?”

That is why we urge all of our high school seniors to take this time seriously. Yes, it is a busy time, but you absolutely must take time to stop and really think about where you are going. The decisions you make today will affect you for years to come, perhaps for a lifetime.

This season brings to mind more than caps, gowns and “Pomp and Circumstance.” It is often said, but it is true: Graduation is not just the end of another school year. It is a once-in-a-lifetime chance for a new beginning.

For some, this time is the opportunity to take on the responsibility of a job and a more independent life. For others, it is the end of one season of school and the move on to another level of education or training.

Sometimes, making this choice is beyond your control. Your family may need monetary help or college just isn’t affordable right now. In that case, do what you need — what you feel you have to do — but never lose sight of your dreams.

Congratulations, again! You have accomplished something for which you and your family and even your community can be proud.

DAILY PRAYER

Help us, dear Lord, to make the best decisions as we move down the road of life.

Amen

I love you - I love you more

When you’re young, three years seems like a lifetime. The difference between 15 and 18, or 18 and 21; the difference between a 2-year-old and a kindergartner; the difference between the first date and the wedding.

It’s been three years since my beloved friend Kath died. It feels like yesterday.

I tell my friend Sylvia, who just lost her beloved husband, Dickie, that it will hurt a little bit less each day. And that’s true. But I also tell her, because it is true, that when you lose someone you love, it never stops hurting.

Dickie was 99 and a half. He had a great life. He died at home. Who wouldn’t take it?

Kath was 59. She suffered horribly. They finally took the tubes out so she could tell them to let her go. She never got to go home. One hospital admission. Six weeks. She died in the ICU.

In the weeks and months after she died, I spent way too much time revisiting every detail of her illness. It didn’t have to be. The cancer could have, should have, been caught earlier. They should have operated right away. Why did she wait for the surgeon to get back from vacation? Why did she insist that Pat, the third member of our little troika, and I tell no one? I was mad at her doctors: at the one who didn’t insist on a scan, even though she kept coughing; at the one who went on vacation and let his residents keep poking tubes into her until the very end; at the one who didn’t come clean (until Pat and I forced the issue) on the fact that the treatments weren’t working, couldn’t work, that all the pain was for nothing.

I tell people who have suffered losses that the horrible images and awful questions that crowd your head in the days after a terrible loss ultimately recede, that time replaces them with happier memories. And that’s true, to an extent. But it’s also true that the horrible images never go away completely; that to this day, I can close my eyes and I’m in that ICU room, with her grabbing for my hand, unable to speak, desperately trying to tell me to get her out of there.

And even when I look at the happy pictures, at the one from Halloween, all smiles with her goddaughters, my daughter and Pat’s; even when I conjure up all the Passover Seders (she was a much better cook than me, now I just get it all to go from the grocery store) with the little girls crawling under the table stealing her shoes (“Where are my shoes,” she would cry out, “my beautiful shoes?”); they come with pain.

We ended every conversation the same way.

“I love you,” I would say, and she would reply, “I love you more.” It is on her gravestone.

She was full of love. She lost her mother and her sister and her father. She took care of each; she loved them more.

She had a cat named Harry. This year, at Seder, Sonny, her husband, told us that a coyote had killed Harry. I cried myself to sleep.

She was a wonderful writer. She managed to earn a living in Hollywood for three decades, working, facing rejection, picking herself up again, dealing with idiots and fools, pouring her heart into projects that mostly never got made.

She was smart and wise, about everything except that cough. I was the anxious one, seeing disaster around every corner; she would talk me down, hold my hand, make me a pot of tea. She was an optimist; lying in that hospital bed, she would talk about the vacation she and Sonny would take when this was behind them. I would bite my tongue. Should I tell her? Her father was a pharmacist. She lived with diabetes her entire life. She prided herself on her understanding of all things medical. What was there for me to tell her?

One day, in the regular room, between stints at the ICU, the loud-mouthed nurse (most of them were wonderful, just this one) with the door wide open, in his booming voice, explained to the nurse taking over “CA with mets.” Neither of us said a word. “I’m not afraid to die,” she told me, in the one conversation like that we had. “I just don’t want to live like this, always in pain.” Sometimes, when I wake up in the middle of the night, sick, my bad stomach, scared, her words echo.

I want to pick up the phone right this minute and call the number I know as well as my own — 310 553 7007. I want to tell her that I am so lonely, that I miss her so, that I need her wisdom and her humor and her love.

I want to tell her that she is still alive, inside me, inside all those she loved.

And that I love her more.

Obama declares war on terror over

In a hallmark speech last week, President Obama unilaterally declared the war on terror over. The end of that war, Obama stated, meant we could return to the halcyon days of the Clinton-era law enforcement, during which America experienced a spate of terrorist attacks ranging from the first attack on the World Trade Center in 1993 to the Khobar Towers bombing in 1996 to the bombings of American embassies in Kenya and Tanzania in 1998 to the USS Cole bombing in 2000.

What justified Obama’s announcement? Nothing, except his need to pacify his leftist base. With scandals brewing on the home front — the Internal Revenue Service targeting of conservative non-profits, the Department of Justice targeting of journalists — President Obama must shore up his left or face the prospect of being an early lame duck.

Meanwhile, the Benghazi scandal simmers in the background, a reminder that President Obama’s Middle East policy has not quelled terror but emboldened it across the region.

And so President Obama had to spin. And spin he did. He explained that America had compromised her basic values “by using torture to interrogate our enemies and detaining individuals in a way that ran counter to the rule of law.”

Mere sentences later, he claimed credit for the death of Osama Bin Laden — a killing that would not have happened without the intelligence provided by Guantanamo Bay and extreme interrogation methods. More importantly, Obama said, “the threat has shifted and evolved from the one that came to our shores on 9/11.” How, exactly? According to Obama, “the threat today is more diffuse” than it was before 9/11 — a provably false claim, considering that al-Qaida always had affiliates, al-Qaida and terrorist competitors across the globe.

The threat of terrorism predated 9/11 and always went further than al-Qaida (Hezbollah, not al-Qaida, attacked Marine barracks in Lebanon in 1983, and Yassar Arafat’s Black September, not al-Qaida, attacked the Berlin Olympics in 1972).

But in order to justify his attempts to cut national defense funding and shut down Guantanamo Bay without a viable alternative, Obama announced that the war on terror had changed on a fundamental level.

There was another reason Obama labeled the war on terror transformed: It allows him to claim that Benghazi was a black swan attack, different in kind from attacks that preceded it, and therefore unpreventable. He termed Benghazi a “localized threat.” He said it was not directed by al-Qaida (actually, it was directed by Ansar al Shariyah, an al-Qaida ally in Libya). He compared it to the Boston Marathon bombings repeatedly, trying to turn it into a random case of Islamists acting alone.

Perhaps this is a mere attempt at diversion from the president. Perhaps he doesn’t mean what he says. Or perhaps he’s dooming America to a future of increased terrorism, state-sponsored, organized or disorganized, all to avoid scandal now.

Spring Creek Fellowship

Thank you to all who helped our cooking team go to Little Axe, Okla., to feed and assist those affected by the recent tornadoes in that area. Several local businesses as well as individuals collected donations of supplies and funds to help with this endeavor. We are so blessed to have so many willing to help in any way they are able.

The “Connectivity Ministry Fair” is scheduled for June 2 from 4 to 6 p.m. Find out where you can ‘plug in’ to use your skills, talents and abilities.

Big Spring Classical Academy is now pre-registering for Pre-K thru fifth grade for the fall. Visit our website at <http://bigspringclassical.org> for more information or contact Donna Sue Looney.

Ladies, Aug. 3 is the date for the “Joy Women’s Conference at Spring Creek.” An all day event from 8 a.m. until 4 p.m.

Our goal this year for “Operation Christmas Child” is 100 boxes. We will be collecting specific items for those boxes each month during the year and have a packing party Wednesday, Nov. 20.

The list for May is: small cars, balls, dolls, stuffed animals, kazoo’s, harmonicas, yo-yo’s, jump ropes, small Etch-a-Sketch, toys that light up or make noise with extra batteries, Slinky’s, etc.

“Sewing Seeds of Hope” Connection group invites you to join us Saturdays from 10 a.m. to noon. A different skill will be taught each week of the month with new skills added as requested.

Check out our Sunday School/Connection Groups with topic/subject-based studies ranging from six to nine weeks and relevant to today’s Christian adventure. Classes are available for all ages and meet from 9:15 to 10:15 a.m.

You can listen to the sermon from the previous Sunday at 9 every Sunday morning on KBYG 106.3 FM and 1400 AM.

Junk Drawers

Everybody needs a junk drawer,” says my friend Kathy, a professional organizer, “but nobody needs three junk drawers.”

I’m not sure what Kathy would say about my system. I have only one true junk drawer - the one next to the refrigerator.

It is home to an ice pick, a pair of scissors, a few jar lids, rubber bands, bread-wrappers ties, expired coupons, used birthday candle holders, cereal box prizes, and a few gadgets of unknown origin.

I can just hear Kathy saying, “If your junk drawer is too full, throw something away.” But, I’ve tried to compensate for my multiple junk drawers by sorting the junk into categories.

My hardware drawer houses all the screwdrivers and pliers that never made it back to a toolbox along with various nails, screws, picture hooks, and hardware-store stuff.

The junk drawer next to it contains umpteen packages of plastic spoons and forks, and one plastic sandwich that’s been in the family too long to be thrown away now.

Then there is the ballpoint pen drawer.

Someday, I hope to subdivide it into pens that write and those that don’t. My most useful junk drawer, however, is the one I call my husband, Dwayne’s, junk drawer.

Since he and I are the only ones living in our house, every piece of clutter that I don’t claim can go in his junk drawer.

It makes a great place to hide things in a hurry. My office, however, is another matter.

After hearing Kathy speak about piles and miles of paper, I decided to clear off my desk.

I started by trying to put away the “most frequently used” file folders that I had been keeping out for convenience, but then I had to purge my file cabinets of all the folders I made the last time I organized my office to make room for the new files.

My desk is looking better though, after several days of shredding and filing, I can see the top of my desk, and it doesn’t even need to be dusted. All those layers of paper have protected the desktop.

I’ll start on the desk drawer as soon as I get it open.

Although Kathy and all those organization experts on TV really know their business, they seem just a bit too professional for a sentimental girl like me who was raised by parents from the waste-not-want-not generation and married a pack-rat husband. However, King Solomon seems to have agreed with the organizers when he wrote about there being a time for everything under heaven: ... A time to keep, and a time to throw away. (Ecclesiastes 3:6 NASB) Sometimes the only way to clean out a junk drawer, even a spiritual one, is to throw away the things we don’t need.

CHURCH NEWS

The Chancel Choir will present the anthem "Cast Thy Burden upon the Lord" by Felix Mendelssohn, and the offertory anthem "Giver of Every Perfect Gift" by K. Lee Scott.

The Rev. Craig Hoedt will give the sermon and celebrate Communion during worship.

If you cannot attend worship, listen in on KBST 1490 AM., at 11 a.m.

If you wish to have a printed bulletin for Sunday services, call the church office at 263-4211. You may also see what's happening at the church by visiting our website: www.fpcbs.org

On our website, you can find a link that will enable you to listen to several recent sermons by the Rev. Holstedt.

Forsan Baptist Church

Vacation Bible School will be the week of June 9-16. We will have a kickoff service Sunday, June 9 at 6 p.m., and conduct VBS each weeknight from 5:30 to 8:30.

A light meal will be provided and rides are available if arranged in advance.

Sunday evenings, we are conducting a verse-by-verse survey of the Book of Romans, and Wednesdays we are in the midst of a verse-by-verse trek through the Old Testament.

We will have a youth fundraiser garage sale behind Faye's Flowers on June 22.

Times will be set for this by next week.

All proceeds will go toward the mission trip to Mobile, Ala. We are also working on creating a youth recreation area in the garage.

So far we have a ping pong table, air hockey table, TV and DVD/VCR. If you have something you would like to donate to this cause we would gladly consider making good use of it.

Our church is located at 201 Main in Forsan. Sunday school begins at 9:50 a.m., with worship services at 10:50 a.m. and 6 p.m. Wednesday youth activities will continue throughout the summer, but Wednesday night meals will be suspended until the fall. Wednesday services begin at 6 p.m.

Rides for all youth activities are available if arranged ahead of time.

Call the church at 432-457-2342 or Pastor Darren Weaver at 432-213-2348.

First United Methodist

Church

First United Methodist Church is conveniently located just off Gregg Street at the corner of Fourth and Scurry in downtown Big Spring. Sunday morning worship is at 8:30 and 10:50, with Sunday school for all ages at 9:45 a.m. A nursery is provided at all times.

The 10:50 worship service can be heard each Sunday morning on KXCS - 105.5 FM.

This Sunday, Senior Pastor Bill Ivins is launching a new sermon series entitled "SOURCE: Where Do You Draw Your Power?"

Each message in the series will examine favorite Bible verses of church members and how those verses have made a positive impact in their lives.

Several people will also be sharing their testimonies as a part of the series. This Sunday's message is entitled "Dying to Live" and is based on Galatians 2:20.

Congregation members will also share in the Lord's Supper this Sunday. It is our custom to leave an offering for the poor at the communion rail when the Lord's Supper is received. Those gifts are placed in our "Helping Hands Fund" to provide assistance to those in need in Big Spring.

Tuesday, Pastor Ivins, Sandra Waggoner and Paul and Ann Townsend will travel to Amarillo for the 103rd Session of the Northwest Texas Annual (Area) Conference of the United Methodist Church. A highlight of this year's Conference will come when delegates welcome our new Bishop, Earl Bledsoe.

Everyone is invited to attend Wednesday Noon Bible Study in Garrett Hall this week. Our Minister of Discipleship, Jim Anderson, will continue a study in the Book of Hebrews. A meal is included for nominal charge and serving begins at 11:50 a.m.

Our Epic Youth Ministry, which meets each Wednesday night, will be on hiatus through early July. Students will be busy attending various camps for the next several weeks. Regular gatherings will resume July 17 when Youth Pastor Beau Niewoehner will launch a new message series that is based on the Bible mini-series recently shown on the History Channel.

Ladies, don't forget the Women's Brunch on Saturday, June 8 from 9 to 11 a.m. Guest speaker for the brunch is Carrie Littau of Canyon, Texas. Go to our website at fmcbs.com to register for the event.

Vacation Bible School is set Aug. 4 through 7. Visit our website at fmcbs.com for more information or to register your child.

Cornerstone Covenant Church

Cornerstone Covenant Church would like to invite you to join us Sunday at 10:30 a.m. for praise and worship, followed by the Word. Our 2013 vision focus is "Restoring Hope to the Hopeless." Last week, Pastor Willard concluded the series "Between the Cross to Pentecost," with part two of the previous week's message entitled "This is That: I Didn't Know." Main scripture was taken from Acts 19:1-7. This week, we will be going into a new topic entitled "No Condemnation," with the title of "Pardoned; NOT Paroled!" Main scripture will be taken from Romans 8:1.

Discipleship 101 Bible Study is held Wednesday at 7 p.m. in the main sanctuary.

Overcomers: Recovery and Restoration class continues to meet each Thursday from 6:30 to 8 p.m. in the green room of the east wing. For more convenient access to the meeting room, park in the rear of the church and enter in through the metal door across from the fellowship hall.

CCC New Member classes will begin Sunday. If you would like to find a church home and get plugged in with a membership, contact the church office at the number below to pre-register for classes.

CCC offers ministries in the following areas: New Beginnings (newborn to 18 months); Tiny Tots (19 months to kindergarten); Kovenant Kids (1st through 6th grade); Chosen Generation (7th through 12th grade); Covenant U - College Ministry (18-24 years); Men's and Women's Ministries; and Marriage Enrichment.

CCC meets on Wednesdays at 7 p.m. for Discipleship 101 Bible study and Sundays at 10:30 a.m. for worship. Sunday morning services are recorded, so if you'd like a free copy of a CD for those services, see our multimedia dept.

Mother's Lounge and Children Church are offered for both mid-week and Sunday services.

CCC is located at 706 E. 12th Street, (on the corner of 12th and Owens) For more information, contact us at 264-0015, visit us on the web at www.cccbigspring.org or check out Covenant Connect on Facebook, Twitter or Myspace.

Farm & Rural Life Mass

ST. LAWRENCE — San Angelo Bishop Michael D. Pfeifer, OMI, will be the main celebrant at the annual Farm and Rural Life Mass, at 6:30 p.m., Wednesday, June 19, at 2255 County Rd 150, Garden City, at the farm of David and Belinda Weishuhn.

"All of us are involved in some form of agricultural or rural life as we depend on our farmers and ranchers to provide the animals, the growing of the food, packaging and handling, and the transportation of these products that we all need to sustain us," said Deacon Charlie Evans, Rural Life coordinator for the Diocese of San Angelo. "God has given humans a special responsibility to care for his creation."

During the Mass, Bishop Pfeifer will pray for farmers, ranchers and others as well as bless items such as baskets of grain, fresh produce, cotton, home canned fruit or vegetables brought by people who attend the Mass.

"Our Creator has given us the gift of creation: the air we breathe, the water that sustains life, the fruits of the land that nourish us, and the entire web of life without which human life cannot flourish. All of this God created and found 'very good.' We believe our actions towards the environment and natural resources should be a sign of our respect for God's creation. Psalm 104 calls us to 'renew the face of the earth' and seek out those practices that sustain life for all," Evans said.

Bishop Pfeifer will be assisted at the Mass by the Rev. Arockiaraj Gali, pastor at St. Lawrence.

Midway Baptist Church

This will be a five day event in the Coahoma ansjd Sand Springs communities. Day one will be Saturday, June 8 from 9 to 11 a.m. in Coahoma city park.

The second day will be in Sand Springs at the open lot on Texas Road from 9 to 11 a.m. The final three days will be at the Midway Baptist Church Monday through Wednesday at 6200 S. Service Road in Sand Springs from 9 a.m. to noon.

The theme for this year is God's Backyard Bible Camp - Fun in the sun. During the Backyard Bash, kids will discover how much fun service can be and they will be challenged to serve their families, friends, neighborhoods, communities and Jesus.

Fun filled activities, games and snacks will be provided. Transportation is available. Please call 432-263-6274 if you have any questions.

All children ages 3 through sixth grade are welcome to attend. All these events are free.

Registration is required. For your convenience you may pre-registr your child/childrn at www.vacationbibleschool.com/midwaybaptistchurch

A Better Way

Last week, I slipped away with my son and son-in-law to see the new Star Trek movie, Into Darkness. We left the girls at home. They had better things to do.

BILL TINSLEY

It was fun to connect with the old characters: Captain Kirk, Mr. Spock, "Bones" McCoy, Scotty, Mr. Sulu, Lieutenant Uhura and their nemesis, Khan.

Of course the original actors are gone, except for a cameo appearance by Leonard Nimoy as the aged Spock. Through the magic of cinema and imagination we were transported back to their youth and the beginning of the five-year voyage to "go where no man has gone before."

I didn't grow up with Star Trek.

But Gene Roddenberry's Original Series, launched in 1966, caught my imagination.

My son did grow up with Star Trek, the Next Generation, and taped every episode on VHS (if you wonder what VHS is, look in a museum).

When he was twelve, we gave him a book detailing the schematics of the Starship Enterprise.

In the Original Series most episodes had underlying moral and social themes exposing racism, bigotry, greed and blind ambition; promoting friendship, loyalty and self-sacrifice. Invariably the age-old conflict of good and evil was played out among the stars.

Often, the plot sought to reveal the conflicts resident within each of us.

Except for vastly improved special effects, this newest Star Trek movie stayed true to the original pattern.

After two hours of violence and vengeance, woven with the interplay of logic and emotion, the young Captain Kirk draws the final conclusion in his address to an assembly of Star Trek Cadets: "Our first instinct is to seek revenge when those we love are taken from us. But that's not who we are."

His conclusion echoes lessons passed down to us from centuries past, lessons lodged in history and reality.

Jesus said, "Do not resist him who is evil; but whoever slaps you on the right cheek, turn to him the other also.

And if anyone wants to sue you and take your shirt, let him have your coat also. And whoever shall force you to go one mile, go with him two." "Blessed are you when men cast insults at you, and persecute you, and say all kinds of evil against you falsely, on account of Me."

These are hard lessons in a world where senseless murder and the slaughter of innocent men, women and children has become commonplace.

Indeed, our first instinct is vengeance.

But there must be a better way. There must be a higher road.

Jesus showed us the way by how he lived, what he said, and the way he died.

When He was cursed, slapped and ridiculed with a crown of thorns, he refused to fight back.

When He was nailed to the cross, He refused to curse his tormentors and, instead, prayed for their forgiveness.

Inspired by His example and empowered by His resurrection, His followers transformed the Roman Empire within three centuries. Jesus' life and teachings inspired such social reformers as Abraham Lincoln, Harriet Beecher Stowe, Martin Luther King Jr., Mahatma Gandhi and Mother Teresa.

Most movements to free the oppressed, relieve the poor, heal the sick and care for the outcast, the widow and the orphan can trace their origins to Jesus.

Bishop charged with insurance fraud

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — A Philadelphia bishop has been charged with insurance fraud related to water damage that his Pentecostal church sustained.

State investigators say Bishop Benjamin Fisher of the Greater Bethel Temple in northeast Philadelphia claimed $77,000 in damages over a dozen events allegedly cancelled due to the damage.

The Attorney General's

Office says Fisher had "business interruption" insurance that would have paid out nearly $45,000.

Authorities say Fisher admits making up eight of the events and exaggerating the money lost on the other four.

No working phone number could be found Friday for either Fisher or the temple, and it was not immediately clear if he had a lawyer.

Fast-moving New Mexico blaze causes evacuations

PECOS, N.M. (AP) — As firefighters gained ground Friday on a wildfire in the mountains north of Los Angeles, another blaze flared up in the West. A fast-moving blaze in New Mexico's Santa Fe National Forest prompted evacuations of residences and campgrounds, threatened upscale cabins and vacation homes, and closed a highway.

Officials asked residents in 150 homes — mostly used for the summer — to evacuate as crews battled the 1,000-acre blaze near the communities of Pecos and Tres Lagunas, about 25 miles west of Santa Fe.

New Mexico State Forestry spokesman Dan Ware said the evacuations came after the fire jumped N.M. Highway 63.

Officials believe a downed power line ignited the blaze on private land Thursday. "Fire activity is picking up this morning and because of expected high winds, low humidity and increasing temperatures, the spread potential is high," Ware said.

New Mexico is in its driest two-year period in nearly 120 years of record-keeping.

It's not clear how many people were evacuated from the summer homes.

Meanwhile, crews battling the fire north of Los Angeles took advantage of cool morning weather Friday to make progress but scattered flames continued to climb hillsides.

The 1,400-acre wildfire was 15 percent contained and as many as 500 firefighters hoped to make further progress before the day turned hot and dry, U.S. Forest Service spokesman Nathan Judy said.

A flare-up prompted authorities to briefly evacuate about 25 homes along a canyon road in the Angeles National Forest in the morning, but residents were later allowed to return.

"Right now the fire's not doing a whole lot. It's just making small runs here and there," Judy said. "There's no large fire front."

He said the blaze is burning near power lines, although utilities report no damage.

In New Mexico, two helicopters and one air tanker were helping fight the wildfire in an area scattered with cabins, vacation homes and recreational ranches and camps. About 200 personnel were at the scene or mobilizing to fight the blaze, Ware said.

No injuries have been reported.

Among those evacuated were a group of seventh-graders staying at the Panchuelo Campground.

Some homeowners in the Pecos Canyon area couldn't reach their houses Thursday because emergency crews had closed off N.M. 63.

Cosmic Radio Dial Turns

Mercury and Mars change signs within a few hours of each other, dialing up a different cosmic radio station with a whole new lineup of songs. Mercury, the communication planet, slips into the emotional sign of Cancer. You can expect less talk and more soulful grooves. Mars in Gemini has us focusing our interest on the next big trend.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). The work at your fingertips may surprise you. Except, when you stop to think about it, this is exactly what you signed up for. You'll take it on with enthusiasm and have some

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). What was once a passing interest is now a steadfast commitment. So you'll do what it takes to get to the end result. Goals can't be achieved unless you stick to them.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). People will change; memories won't. That's why building memorable experiences is so important to you these days. You'll put in the extra work to make an experience truly special.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). It's easier to relate to people who are going through the same thing you're experiencing. That's why when loved ones have lives that are very different from your own, an extra effort must be made to connect.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You are willing and ready to lend a hand where you see a need. This may seem like a baseline of civility, but you'd be surprised how distracted self-involved people can be. Your example will raise the bar.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). You never know how people are going to react to questions. That's why most people don't even dare to ask; they don't want to take that social risk. You're brave, though. And besides, you just really want to know the answer.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). There's a time to wish and a time to work.

Even though you're in a wistful, dreamy mood today, you also realize that wishing won't make it so. Three practical actions will move you in a positive direction.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You can believe something very different from what your friend believes and still behave in a similar way. You may find yourself wondering what matters more: what you're doing or why you're doing it.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). What one person sees as sad, another person sees as a useful opportunity. You don't bother to make a judgment about it at all, preferring to jump in and do something to make it better.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Some say it's better to lower your expectations. Others suggest getting rid of them altogether. But you have a picture in your head that you're working toward. Trust that your way is right for you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Being nice is easy for you until you find yourself among those who are naturally inclined to infringe on your space and emotional state. Those people are the ones who need your niceness the most.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Whatever path you choose, you will be judged by both supporters and critics. So there really is no "right" answer except the one that feels right to you. In the end, it's your opinion of what you do that matters most.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (May 31). Your creativity is pronounced through June, and you'll get attention for the way you use it. You'll be involved with strong personalities in July, which makes it even more satisfying when you get your own way. You'll strategize your way into a sweet position — and maybe a better home, too. August is one long adventure. Sagittarius and Pisces people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 8, 20, 13, 9 and 42.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST:
ARIES: You don't need to get or give approval — that whole exchange is not interesting to you. What you want to do is play. TAURUS: You'll share the feeling that's in your heart, but you won't use words. GEMINI: There's no substitute for firsthand experience. Get out and see different parts of the world. CANCER: You're attracted to smart people, and you'll enjoy the opportunity to get in touch with your inner nerd. LEO: You'll accurately read what another person wants — no small feat. This takes sharp observational skills. VIRGO: You will come up against someone's personal boundaries. The respect you show in this regard will cause those boundaries to shift a bit. LIBRA: You may feel like you want to learn all about a person in one night, but you can't — and that's what's so fun. Take it slow. SCORPIO: You're in a mood to share secrets, but only the lighthearted and harmless ones that will make someone laugh. SAGITTARIUS: You're more interested in adventure than love now, and that will attract both. CAPRICORN: Meeting new people is important to keeping the energy of existing relationships fresh. AQUARIUS: Break out of your group and join a new one for a few minutes. Someone special is among them. PISCES: You are not as concerned about what people think as some others you know, which is attractive unless you ignore social expectations altogether.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: Pisces and Gemini have entirely different approaches to life, and those differences make them rely on each other. Gemini is a master of lighthearted social banter, making new friends and knowing where the fun is. Pisces makes deep connections and creates fun out of nothing. With the sun in Gemini and the moon in Pisces, these two reflect each other's finest qualities this weekend.

Moreland HR backs Grimm, Rangers top D'backs 9-5

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — Justin Grimm joined the Texas rotation as a stopgap. The rookie right-hander pitched more like an ace Thursday. Mitch Moreland hit a two-run homer and Grimm took a shutout into the sixth inning to help the Rangers snap their first three-game losing streak of the season with a 9-5 interleague victory against the Arizona Diamondbacks on Thursday. Grimm (5-3) allowed four hits through five innings while Texas cooled off Arizona starter Brandon McCarthy on the way to a 9-0 lead. The AL rookie leader in wins and strikeouts was replaced after Arizona's three-run sixth, and trails only ace Yu Darvish in victories on the Texas staff. The 24-year-old Grimm, who made his debut last year, came up from the minors in April when opening day starter Matt Harrison went on the disabled list with back trouble. He figured to stick around awhile with Harrison out until at least August, and was the AL rookie of the month for April. He gave up eight hits and two earned runs with three strikeouts in his third straight May win after losses. "He's gotten better as far as confidence-wise, believing and knowing that belongs here," catcher A.J. Pierzynski said. "It just a progression with young guys. He continues to get better. You can see it in his face. You can see it when he takes the mound in his mannerisms." McCarthy (2-4) had allowed one run in 25 innings when the Rangers scored six in a

LeBron lifts Heat past Pacers, 90-79

MIAMI (AP) — LeBron James said a few words at halftime to try and coax something more out of the Miami Heat. Turns out, whatever he said was unnecessary. The look on his face was all the Heat needed. With a brilliant third quarter, James immeasurably changed not just Game 5 of the Eastern Conference finals, but quite possibly whatever's still left to decide in this series. James scored 16 of his 30 points in the decisive period, Udonis Haslem added 16 and the Heat pulled off a second-half rally to move one win away from the NBA Finals after beating the Indiana Pacers 90-79 on Thursday night.

"With LeBron, it's not what he says all the time," Haslem said. "It's just the look he gives." And that look was back when the Heat needed it most, just like last year. A year ago, the Heat lost Game 5 of the East finals at home to

Resurgent Duncan set for NBA Finals

LEBRON

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Practice between games in the Western Conference finals had long wrapped for the San Antonio Spurs, and a few players stayed around to continue working.

Those remaining were primarily end-of-rotation players such as Patty Mills and Tracy McGrady, but quietly working alone in a corner of the practice facility was the cornerstone of the franchise.

Tim Duncan was using a ball-return machine with high netting that forced him to float shot after shot into the basket. Duncan would use the floater to knock down critical baskets in two overtime victories that helped the Spurs sweep the Memphis Grizzlies and advance to their fifth NBA finals.

"I'm a competitor," Duncan said.

"I just want to play, I just want to play and try to win and try to be the best that I can. The last couple of years my game has declined and changed and I wasn't ready to let it go. I wanted to play as well as I can as long as I can."

The 37-year-old's resurgence in his 16th season isn't magic, it's mundane.

It's losing 30 pounds in the offseason, realizing his own limitations and practicing a floater on the same day he became the second-oldest player selected to the All-NBA first-team.

"The greatest players have that drive," Spurs coach Gregg Popovich said. "You can name them, about eight or 10 of them in this modern era starting with Magic, Bird, and all those guys, and you add Michael and whoever; about eight or 10 of those guys that have unbelievable character and professionalism.

"They last a little bit longer and they do it at a high level because it's just how they're built. They have that kind of competitiveness and heart and feel the responsibility to their teammates and Timmy is certainly one of those guys."

Duncan is averaging 17.6 points, 9.2 rebounds and 2.1 assists in the postseason, almost identical to his regular-season numbers if 17.8 points and 9.9 rebounds.

The days when Duncan was the primary offensive threat on teams led by David Robinson, Avery Johnson and Bruce Bowen are gone, replaced by the whirling dervish that is Tony Parker and the outside shooting of Danny Green, Kawhi Leonard, Matt Bonner and Gary Neal.

In between those eras, Duncan established an unquestionable Hall of Fame career.

A defensive stopper, he also has become one of the game's best passing big men and a jumper off the backboard became his signature shot.

He is a 14-time All-Star, three-time NBA Finals MVP and has been selected to the All-NBA first team 10 times.

"Bob Pettit was a great scorer and rebounder. Karl Malone was a more powerful player, but they didn't have the versatility Tim does," Hall of Fame coach Jack Ramsay said. "Kevin McHale was probably the best low-post, back-to-basket big forward, and he was a good defender, but he, too, couldn't do the things Duncan can do."

But prior to this season, knee and back injuries severely limited Duncan's game.

He hadn't earned an All-NBA First-Team selection since 2007 and averaged 13.4 and 15.4 points in his previous two seasons.

Boston, and needed a road win to extend the series and save what became a championship season. James scored 45 points in that win-or-else game against the Celtics, and the expression on his face — a steely stare, chilling and emotionless — is simply known around the Heat now as "The Look," immortalized by a larger-than-life photo on the wall leading to the team locker room.

This year, Game 6 of the East finals won't be accompanied by the potential for dire consequences. The Heat lead the series 3-2, with a chance to finish it off in Indiana on Saturday night and move on to a finals matchup with the San Antonio Spurs.

"That's what I came here for, to be able to compete for a championship each and every year," James said. "I'm one step away from doing it once again. It's not promised. It's not promised at all. I made a tough decision. Obviously, I think we all know the story. I envisioned something that was bigger as far as a team ... and we've got an opportunity as a team, once again, for the third year straight to make a trip to the NBA Finals."

Indiana was up 46-40 early in the third, surely sensing a chance to grab control of the series. Over the next 11 minutes, the Heat outscored the Pacers 30-10, with James either scoring or accounting for 25 Miami points. He shot 7 for 10 in the third quarter; the Pacers shot 3 for 14. He had four rebounds in the quarter; the Pacers, as a team, grabbed six. He had four assists in the quarter; the Pacers had one.

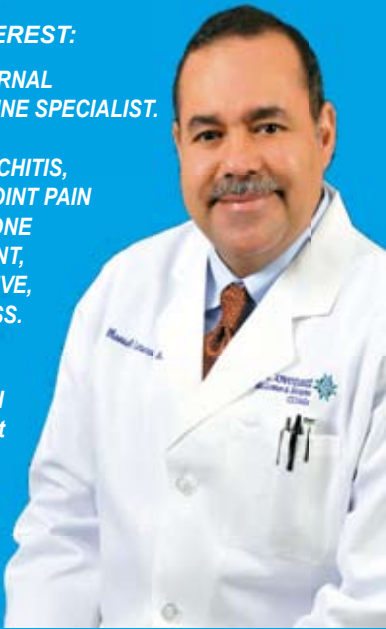

It was dominance. "That's LeBron showing his greatness and making it look easy," Heat coach Erik Spoelstra said. "What we talked about was doing whatever it takes and competing for each other without leaving anything out there. His engine in that third quarter was incredible. He was tireless, he was making plays on both ends of the court, rebounding, covering so much ground defensively and then making virtually every play for us offensively. It's really remarkable."

RANGERS

span of four outs in the second and third.

The outburst started when center fielder A.J. Pollock misplayed a line drive by Nelson Cruz into a double. Pierzynski brought Cruz home with a double and scored on a two-out single from Leonys Martin.

The Rangers went up 6-0 in the third on three straight-run-scoring hits — a double from Adrian Beltre, a single by Cruz and a two-run homer from Moreland that hit near the top of the foul pole in the top.

McCarthy lost for the first time since April 26 in his shortest outing of the season. He gave up nine hits and six runs in just 2 2-3 innings.

"I didn't have any life on my stuff," said McCarthy, whose ERA at Rangers Ballpark is 7.65 in four starts since he left Texas in 2009. "It was a fight for me. A good lineup hits those pitches. It's not an easy lineup to get out."

Grimm lost his shut-out when he gave up four straight hits in the sixth, starting with a double from Paul Goldschmidt, who tied a career high with four hits. An error by Martin in center on a single by Miguel Montero led to an unearned run.

"It's just all about battling and competing against these guys," Grimm said. "Be aggressive with them, but not overly aggressive obviously."

The Rangers beat the Diamondbacks after they were swept in a doubleheader in Arizona on Monday and had the first of two games in Texas rained out Wednesday night.

Moreland was hit by a pitch on the shoulder by reliever Josh Collmenter the next time he came up after his 11th home run and scored on a two-run single from Elvis Andrus that made it 9-0. "Honestly, I hadn't even thought about us losing three games," Moreland said. "We're going to go out and play our style of ball. We got out of it for a couple of games, but came back out today and made it work and it was a good win for us."

The Diamondbacks got within 9-5 in the seventh on RBI singles from Goldschmidt and Martin Prado off Texas reliever Michael Kirkman. Neal Cotts replaced Kirkman with two outs and struck out Montero with the tying run on deck.

Texas prospect Jurickson Profar had a career-high three hits a day after learning that his stay with the Rangers would be at least two weeks longer because second baseman Ian Kinsler's rib injury has been slow to heal.

Moreland and David Murphy, who hit his fifth homer, were among four Rangers with two hits.
