Sharyland restores power after wreck

Herald Staff Report

GREENWOOD — An 18-wheel water hauler flipped and struck a transmission tower along Highway 158 early Monday evening, causing approximately 8,000 Sharyland Utilities residential and business customers to be without power for more than an hour.

According to Sharyland officials, the outage occurred about 6:50 p.m. Midland County Sheriff's Office confirmed the 18-wheeler had flipped and crashed into the tower in the 7900 block of Highway 158. The medical condition of any occupants in the truck was unknown as of this morning. Power was restored to most customers by 8 p.m.

Citizens are invited to National Day of Prayer

By ANDREIA MEDLIN
 Staff Writer

"I can't think of a better time for the National Day of Prayer," said Kathryn Wiseman. This year's event will take place at noon Thursday on the east side of the Howard County Courthouse at the war memorial. The current state of the nation and the recent destructive weather in the central states will be subjects reflected on during the service, according to Wiseman. Although severe weather has not effected this area so far this year, the ongoing drought is always a concern. "We especially need to pray for rain," Wiseman said. Being thankful for the good things is also on the agenda. "God has been good to this area," said Wiseman. "We need to thank him for that." The courthouse is located at 300 S. Main.

The award-winning Big Spring High School Honor Band will present a mid-afternoon concert Thursday at St. Mary's Episcopal Church. "Please support these fine young musicians with your attendance," said Linda Hill, St. Mary's music director. wonderful music provided by Rocky Harris and his band." The 30-minute concert is scheduled to begin at 12:05 in St. Parish's sanctuary at 10th and Goliad. There is no admission charge but donations will be accepted. The program includes the "BB and CF March" by James Ord Hume/edited by Timothy Rhea. College cost to increase, board members decide

By LYNDEL MOODY
 Staff Writer

Students attending Howard College next semester will have to pay a little more per class hour as trustees with the Howard County Junior College District slightly increased across the board tuition rates Monday. "The college monitors tuition rates across the state as it makes decisions relative to tuition," said Dr. Cheryl Sparks, Howard College president. "We tend to try to keep our rates at state average. Increasing the in-district rate by $2 will likely get us right at the state rate. The out-of-district rate increase will get us to state average... the same thing with out-of-state tuition. The SWCID (SouthWest Colligate Institute for the Deaf) out-of-state tuition is set by the coordinating board and it is a university rate. It went up by $8." Trustees approved a $2 per class-hour rate increase for students who reside in-district and a $4 class

Don't procrastinate! Howard College cuts late registration

By LYNDEL MOODY
 Staff Writer

Howard College will not offer students the choice to register for classes once the 2014 fall semester begins. "We will not be having late registration," Dr. Cheryl Sparks, Howard College president, announced Monday. "This is a student success measure. We have found through our statistical reviews that our students who register late do not do well in class. We are trying to implement strategies to improve student success." Students began registering for the 2014 fall semester per-hour increase for out-of-district and out-of-state students. According to Sparks, the increase means students who take an average class load of 15 hours will pay $30 more a semester if they are in-district residents while those out-of-district and out-of-state will see a $60 increase. The new rates take effect for those students who began enrolling for the 2014 semester today. The college has seen revenue fall as the state has pulled back funding

Harold Dean Holland

Harold Dean Holland, age 77, passed peacefully from his earthly life to be present with his Lord on Sunday morning, April 27, 2014. Dean was the youngest and last surviving child of Thomas Hill Holland and Mary Lavert Lawdermilk, whose families migrated from Georgia and Mississippi to Denton Valley, Callahan County, Texas around the turn of the century. Dean was born Sept. 27, 1936, and lived his entire life in Big Spring, Texas. As a young man, he enjoyed raising chickens, playing baseball, varmint hunting, and fishing; and in his later years greatly enjoyed spending time with his grandchildren and great-grandchildren and his closest friends during morning coffee sessions at McDonald's. He retired as a gauger from the Pipeline Department of Fina Oil & Chemical Company in 1991.

Dean married his sweetheart, Edna McCartney, on April 17, 1954; and they shared 60 years together, through good times and bad, sickness and health. Dean became a Christian when he was 32 years old and was a long-time member of Midway Baptist Church. He was an honorable father, husband and grandfather, instilling Christian values in his family and extended family. He is survived by his wife, Edna, all four of his children: Kaye Edwards of San Angelo, Judy Robertson and husband, Donald ("Ducky"), of Midland, Loy of Wasilla, Alaska, Linda Hale and husband, Kevin, of Collinsville, six grandchildren: John Edwards, Jeremy and Mindy Robertson, Brian Holland, Landon and Cody Hale, 5 great-grandchildren: Savannah, Torbyn, Luke and Beau Waltenbaugh, and numerous nieces and nephews.

There is a friend who sticks closer than a brother (Prov. 18:24b), and for Dean, this friend was Roosevelt Shaw. Thank you, our friend in Christ, for your loyalty to our loved one. He was blessed by your abiding friendship.

Arrangements are under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home, with family visitation from 6 to 8 p.m. Tuesday, April 29, 2014, at the funeral home in Big Spring, Texas.

Services will be in the Rosewood Chapel at 10 a.m. Wednesday, April 30, 2014 with interment at Trinity Memorial Park. The family suggests memorials be made to a favorite charity. Online condolences may be made at www.npwelch.com note provided by Reed states "the liturgical music of the Eastern Orthodox Church is entirely vocal, admitting no instrumental music into the services." The piece "has captured the sonorities, rhythmic inflections, clarity, and flowing phrases of the human voice in his composition."

The band will also perform "Undertow" (2008) by John Mackey, which was commissioned by the Hill Country Middle School Band, Cheryl Floyd and Charles Fischer, conductors. The program note by Jake Wallace describes "Undertow" as "the metric pattern for the piece is an alternation of 7/8 and 4/4 time, which provides an agitated "out-of-step" pulsation throughout. The energetic opening melody cycles through several repetitions before washing away into a gentle stream of percussive eighth notes. From here, a countermelody emerges that slowly ratchets the energy back up to its original level, where the initial melody returns to round out the explosive conclusion."

today and will continue until through August. The college does offer students who register after the deadline an alternative, Sparks said.

"We will, in the event a student enrolls late, have 12-week sessions that have now been implemented to accommodate those individuals," she said.

According to Sparks, Howard College is joining a trend of higher education institutions across the nation.

"More and more colleges — not only in the state of Texas but across the county — are implementing this move to not have late registration," she said. "We are trying to get students to think in terms of late registration is the week before class starts as opposed to the week after it starts. We are trying to change the mindset of the student to be here the first day of class when our faculty begins the process."

for community colleges and student enrollment has started to dip from historic highs.

"As we have seen decreased revenue with what has happened not only with enrollment but also as the state appropriations have shifted more to the local areas, as far as what happens to tuition and fees and as well as taxes, tuition has been going up across the state," Sparks said.

"Our board has been clear in wanting to keep tuition as low as possible so we are accessible to students. That is why we always monitor very closely what is happening in the West Texas area as well what's happening across the state. We are still significantly less than a university."

Trustees also increased boarding cost for students living in the dormitory at both the Big Spring and SWCID campuses to reflect increases for services that provide students with meals. Housing costs increased $30 for the Big Spring campus and $36 at SWCID.

In other business, trustees approved:

• Faculty contracts.

Bird Poop: Inca dove one of the smallest

When it's April, expect the unexpected. Showers materialize into dust, and the word "breezy" turns into "windy." Weather forecasters must have permanent wrinkles etched in their faces from missed predictions. If ever there were a paradox, it is April. With a forecast of showers to dampen egg hunts, the Easter weekend was no exception. By mid-morning on Saturday, winds and clouds were noticeable.

About eight inches long and weighing less than two ounces, the Inca dove is one of our smallest doves and is often called a scaled dove. In flight, its long tail is graced with white edges.

Anyone who had planned an outdoor event such as this would have his or her fingers crossed. With the unstable prediction lasting through Sunday, most folks took it in stride. For the avian population, it was a portent of things to come.

Having been asked to help corral much younger children for a morning event, a sixth-grader-to-be was reluctant. Aspiring to appear older than his years, he silently resented having to oversee them. As the boys and girls scurried to gather as many of the colorful symbols of the season as possible, they seemed oblivious to the strong, southerly gusts laden with pollen.

Finally, his responsibility was finished. He could go home and get dirty. Throughout the rest of the day, the boy enjoyed this freedom by roaming throughout the neighborhood. Friends joined him for an impromptu baseball game in a vacant lot. Finally, dusty, hungry, and tired, he made sure he was home in time for his family's evening meal.

As he crossed the street and headed for his driveway, a movement caught his eye. Underneath a large red oak was a small, brownish-gray bird.

It didn't fly as he slowly approached it. With its head bobbing back and forth, it walked instead toward the end of a decorative rock. Then it was gone.

He carefully tiptoed up to the massive stone that lay between the bird and himself. Not wanting to frighten it, he slowly leaned over the rock.

Glancing downward, he saw a huddled mass of feathers.

The dove-like bird was much smaller than the white wing and mourning doves he had seen in the neighborhood.

Can it fly, he wondered? If it couldn't, he didn't want to leave it so close to the street.

Deciding to let it see him approach, he stepped backward and walked to the south part of the yard. Even though the bird faced in his direction and saw him coming, it did not attempt to get away.

He then chose to leave the rock and come back to the opposite end. As his hand closed over the bird, he felt little resistance.

When the phone rang, a familiar voice apologized for having to call during a holiday weekend. Asking if he and his son could bring a bird was one of many requests we would receive during one of our windiest times of the year.

Extending each wing exposed the distinctive rust color that is one of an Inca dove's identifying features. Not finding any obvious fracture left me to think it had probably bruised the leading edge of one or both of its wings.

Then my spreading its long tail exposed white feathers on each side.

Next, I pointed out the dark edges of its perfectly layered feathers that gave it a scaly appearance. Even though its feathers were a brownish-gray, their dark edges made them look like they were heavily barred above and below.

Watching my every move as I had examined the Inca dove, the father and son seemed relieved to learn that with time, the smallest of doves could be airborne again.

In a large enclosure, the Inca rested with its head pulled in against its breast. Ignoring the food and water we offered, it only accessed the lowest roost.

Late on the second day, it stood between the food and water dishes. At least if it drank it would ingest the food supplement I had added to its water.

Around noon of the third day, we noticed it kept repositioning its feet on one of the roosts. Then it jumped down to the floor. Scattered seeds at least indicated its interest in the available food.

To access the highest roost at the end of the container, the bird had to fly. Late the afternoon of the fourth day we found it perched at that elevation. We also noticed the ample supply of grains had been depleted.

For the next two days, the Inca ate, drank, flew and perched. Droppings were normal, and it was displaying an anxious avoidance of people whenever present.

Having seen Inca doves feeding and traveling in flocks, we recognized its need for social interaction with others of its specie. On acreage owned by a friend north of town, it was released in a known area frequented by Inca and mourning doves.

That Easter weekend, the father and son had gained confidence in their ability to help wildlife. For us, an admiration had grown for the compassion they had displayed.

Live each day like it is your last

I recently read a question: If you knew that you would die tomorrow, what would you do today? This question really made my mind spin; what would I do today?

Some say, "Live every day as if it was your last day on Earth!" Thousands of people will die tomorrow. Are they aware of it today? Unless we suffer from a fatal illness, we might not even think about the possibility of "kicking the bucket" in the next 24 hours. Should we be more concerned?

DARRELL RYAN

What are the three or more things we would want to have done when the moment of "departure" arrives? I'm thinking about our relationships with fellow human beings, unfinished business, notes of appreciation, love letters, words of encouragement, sharing our life experiences.

Have we let certain people know how much we appreciate them? Would we be proud of what we did? Would we be happy to leave the world in the way that people know us? Have we enjoyed our life as much as possible?

Those are all valid questions that we should ask ourselves.

We have heard this comment thousands of times: life is short or we only live once. Why not act like it was true? Why not be happier; do what we would like to do; stop accepting an average life and start having an awesome one and doing it today, tomorrow may be too late.

We never know what tomorrow will bring or if there will be a tomorrow.

Each day is special, a gift, and we must do our best to enjoy it. When we are feeling frustrated, anxious, down, or angry, allow it for a moment, acknowledge the feeling, take a deep breath, and let it go. Life is too short to hold on to negativity.

If today were our last, how would we want to spend it? Who would we contact to let them know how we feel?

We need to take a few moments, every chance we get, to share our message with those we love. Let them know how much we love them, how much we care, because we never know what tomorrow will bring.

If we never think about what we would do if we knew our time was nearing its end then we have robbed ourselves and our loved ones of the power of last moments. We have robbed ourselves of the opportunity to live fully in the present, savoring the things we cherish most and robbing ourselves of the most touching and beautiful moments of life.

We do this all of the time, to ourselves and those whom we love, if we don't speak the truth about death and its timing. To be told we probably only have another month left, could prove to be among the best therapies that our doctor could ever give us.

Because of those words, each day, each hour, each second of that month would be seen in a different light than any time that had ever passed before. Each moment cherished, devoured hungrily, and deeply savored. Precious time, never squandered, but focused only on those things which matter most.

There is no reason why we cannot consciously apply the urgency that death brings to our everyday lives, and indeed we should. Steve Jobs was fond of saying, "Live everyday as though it is your last, and one day, you will be right."

John A. Robinson, RN, commented in his book "On My Journey Home:" "Make the most out of each day you have. Do not live to die, die to live each day to its fullest. Say what you need to say and do what you need to do, because at any time, that chance can become history without warning."

mother told police she was resting and had put the infant in a crib to sleep.

Police say her 7-year-old daughter took the baby out to play and he somehow got out of the backyard.

Roberson tied for 8th after 1st round

By TOMMY WELLS

Sports Editor
Big Spring High School's Devin Roberson kept his quest for a medal at the Class 3A state golf tournament alive on Monday morning by turning in a solid opening round at the Hyatt Regency Lost Pines course.

A senior at BSHS, Roberson fired a 7-over par 79 over the first 18 holes of the meet and finished in a seven-way tie for eighth in the individual medalist standings. He went into today's final round just eighth strokes behind tournament leader Tanner Napier of Paris.

Napier was the lone golfer to finish under par during the wind-swept first round. He finished at 1 under with a round of 71, and went into the final round with a three stroke lead over Boerne's Caden Wylie.

Roberson is making his first appearance at the state meet as an individual. He was part of the BSHS golf team that advanced to the state meet in each of the previous two years.

With his first round total,

Roberson entered the final 18 holes of the meet tied with Fredericksburg's Hudson Ross, Bridge City's Skylar Petroski, Llano's Holden Simpson and Chance Craig and Pleasant Grove's Jon Beck.

Andrews' G.K. Morrison, the Region I-3A champion, also played well in the first round. He fired a 3-over-par 75 and went into today's final round in a tie with Argyle's Nick Louie for third in the individual standings.

Morrison's teammates, Casey Fowler and Erik Walinder were tied for seventh with rounds of 78.

Llano held the lead in the team standings through the first 18 holes of play. The team had all five players card rounds of 80 or lower and posted a mark of 313.

Llano took a slim 5-stroke advantage over Argyle and Pleasant Grove into Tuesday's final round. Andrews is currently fourth in the standings at 324, 11 strokes off the lead.

Roberson is the 18-year-old son of BSHS coach Nick Roberson and his wife, Anne.

The Forsan High School 4x200-meter relay team earned the chance to live a dream on Saturday evening at the Region I-1A Track and Field Championships at Ratliff Stadium in Odessa.

It's a dream they hope goes very fast in Austin.

Forsan's Carlee Daniel,

Madi Roman, Brittney Hergert and Raegan Haggard joined teammate Jeremy Cervantes in punching tickets to the Class A state track meet with stellar efforts at the Region I-1A Track and Field Championships at Ratliff Stadium in Odessa. to the state meet, which will be held on May 9-10 at the University of Texas' Mike A. Myers Stadium.

The Lady Buffalo 4x100-meter relay squad was among the Region I-1A meet's top squads. The team put together a run of 51.49 seconds and finished only behind Van Horn, which garnered the gold medal with a time of 50.48.

Cervantes garnered his ticket to state by running his way to a silver medal in the mile.

Hergert, Daniel and Haggard also did well in their individual events at the regional meet and helped the Lady Buffs finish ninth in the overall team standings with 27.5 points.

The Forsan High School Lady Buffaloes can officially get into the playoff mode now.

After days of endless waiting, the state-ranked Lady Buffaloes learned who it will face in the first-round of the Class A softball state playoffs this weekend.

The name of Forsan's next target? The Van Horn Lady Eagles.

Forsan, now 24-4 overall, is scheduled to play Van Horn in a best-of-three series, beginning Friday in Pecos. The three games will be played at the Pecos High School softball complex.

The Lady Buffaloes, who were ranked 10th in the Texas Girls Coaches Association's postseason rankings, will begin their postseason run on 5 p.m. on Friday. The second game of the series will be staged at 1 p.m. on Saturday. A third game, if needed, will be played 30 minutes after the completion of the second game.

Van Horn earned the right to face Forsan by defeating Eldorado. The Lady Eagles are the District 1-A.

Should Forsan win its showdown with Van Horn, the Lady Buffaloes would advance to face either Ozona or Haskell in the regional quarterfinals on May 10.

West Pass

Opening lead — five of spades.

On some deals, declarer can justifiably claim to have been done in by bad luck. This was seemingly the case in today's deal, where South was in three notrump and West led a spade.

East won with the ace and returned the nine, declarer's jack losing to the queen. Back came the ten of spades to the king, establishing West's suit, and South now had to decide whether to play diamonds or clubs next.

Correctly, he opted for a diamond finesse, to reduce the danger of West's gaining the lead. But when he led a diamond to the jack, East won with the queen and returned a club.

Again South had a choice — he could play East for the king of clubs, or he could put up the ace and hope both the heart and diamond suits would behave favorably. However, the club finesse offered the better chance, so South played low and wound up down two.

It is true that declarer ran into very bad luck. Just about everything that could go wrong did go wrong. The spade finesse lost, the diamond finesse lost, the club finessc lost and even the heart finesse would have lost had South tried it. Nor did the diamonds break 3-3.

But despite all this, South should have made the contract. All he had to do was to win East's spade return with the king at trick two, cross to dummy with a diamond, lead the jack of clubs and finesse. Even if the finesse lost, declarer would be assured of nine tricks in the form of four clubs, two hearts, two diamonds and a spade.

In effect, South jeopardized the contract when he played the spade jack at trick two. He had a sure thing by rejecting the finesse, and he should have done so.

Tomorrow: The better way.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Eclipse Patterns

The solar eclipse in Taurus made auspicious connections, setting a pattern of positive and steady forward movement. Neptune, the planet of dreams, and Jupiter, the good luck planet, will voice their agreement. Good things can and will happen as we set our intentions on doing that which will benefit the most people.

HOLIDAY MATHIS

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Complex challenges abound, and you know better than to believe in a one-solution-fits-all scenario. You'll take each one as it comes and carefully sort everything out. This is how you become someone's hero.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Believing in yourself is beside the point today. You just have to get in there and do the job. Having done something is the best evidence you have that it can be done again.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You want to perfect your skills before you jump into the ring

"for real," but "for real" will happen sooner than you think. There won't be time for perfection, but there will be plenty of time to get good enough.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Your choices will affect people, a responsibility you don't take lightly. You keep thinking about what would be the best option for everyone involved. You'll go far with this intention.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You're not enjoying yourself as much as you could be. Relieve the pressure. Can you shake it off? Can someone take it for you? Figure out what needs to happen to lighten your load.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). New on the scene, you'll respectfully fit into a situation and fulfill the needs of those who are already established. You can always show off later if you want, but there's no benefit to doing so today.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Run your plan by a few people before you give it a whirl. Pay especially close attention to the response of your water-sign friends: Cancer, Scorpio and Pisces. They may even have some eerily psychic advice.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You may be afraid that if you're not tough on yourself you'll go soft. But there are benefits to loosening your grip on the controls. For starters, less stress equals better health.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). For now, be open-minded and investigate options you might not have considered before. You think you want freedom, but you'll thrive in a highly structured environment and enjoy it thoroughly.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). New ventures always come with a certain amount of chaos, and today's amount will feel just right: enough to keep you excited but not enough to overwhelm you.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). When you feel the rub between you and a certain someone, don't take it as a sign that the relationship is doomed. The opposite may be true. You can't polish a jewel without friction.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). You'll act first, and if there is to be any support for your actions, it will come only after your plan is already in motion. Then you'll have to re-evaluate to decide whether or not you still want the support.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (April 29). A hobby or talent will take focus in May, connecting you with opportunities for growth and change. You may even move to take advantage of an opportunity. June will be a celebration of love. Younger people and teammates will make you proud. Dealings in July set you up for a November victory. Capricorn and Aquarius people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 40, 3, 14, 37 and 45.

VENUS IN PISCES: Are you putting a great deal of energy into your love life these days? Many people are on "coast" as Venus transits through Pisces, the sign that likes to go with the flow. Venus in Pisces is like a supermodel in a T-shirt: a stunningly beautiful effect with minimal effort.

Pisces is a wise, fluid part of the sky, highlighting the more creative and sensitive aspects of love. On Friday, this tone changes. The masculine energy of Aries is not the same kind of comfortable fit. Relationships get tumultuous, finicky and feisty in the four weeks during which Venus moves through the realm of the Aries warrior. The next three days are a chance to prepare for a potentially bumpy ride.

Whatever state your love life is in now, take stock. Moments of reflection are favored, as is talking to a trusted friend or mentor. Journal writing has huge benefits. Many people don't realize their deeper feelings about relationships because they don't take the time to connect with what's going on at a subconscious level. If you can relax and get honest with yourself, what you learn may be healing, surprising, cathartic or just interesting.

CELEBRITY PROFILES:

Taurus comedy king Jerry Seinfeld stands out from his fellow comedians in many ways, including his emphasis on keeping his material clean. The web series "Comedians in Cars Getting Coffee" features conversations between Seinfeld and friends while getting coffee in a classic car. Incidentally, fellow comic Jay Leno is another Taurus who shares an appreciation for classic cars.
