Farmer's Market called a success

BY LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

ELBOW COMMUNITY — It might be understating it a little to say there was some interest in last weekend's Elbow Creek Hay and Feed Farmer's Market.

"We had people here at 8 a.m. (The market was scheduled to open at 10 a.m.)," said Nancy Raney, store owner of Elbow Creek Hay and Feed.

"It's incredible. It's been great and a huge success. We have to do it again, for sure." Nancy said she thought most of the people came for the fresh produce which included cantaloupes, watermelon, onions and more, but vendors were also offering live pigs and turkeys, birdhouses, baked goods and speciality made soaps.

Among the customers was Marisue Cunningham who took a shinning to Gladys, a ball python snake. Marisue volunteered to hold and carry the relaxed reptile while her owners — Brent and Camilla Strande — visited with shoppers.

The Strandes own an urban farm in Big Spring — Hamilton Gardens — and like other vendors were promoting the idea of purchasing locally grown, organic produce.

"The really cool thing about an orchard and urban farm is when you talk local, you are talking in the neighborhood local which is really awesome, and we are really excited to get it going," Camilla said. "Definitely organic is so much healthier. The pro-

Pact ensures ambulance service in county

By STEVE REAGAN

Staff Writer

Big Spring and Howard County officials have hammered out an agreement to ensure emergency ambulance service won't stop at the city limits sign.

City council members and county commissioners recently signed off on an agreement which will guarantee continued ambulance service throughout the county.

Under the agreement — which runs until Oct. 31, 2015 — the city's emergency medical personnel will respond to all requests for ambulance service within Howard County.

In return, the county will pay the city slightly more than $370,000.

Ambulance service has historically been a deficit item in the city's budget.

While the county's contribution isn't likely to change that, it will help reduce the red ink to more acceptable levels, officials said.

The city will handle billing and fee collection for the ambulance service, but will not withhold service based on customers' ability to pay, the agreement states.

Trustees with the Coahoma Independent School District have agreed to leave the tax rate at $1.27 per $100 property valuation, a rate unchanged since 2011, according to Superintendent Dr. Amy Jacobs. That rate breaks down to $1.04 per $100 property valuation for maintenance and operation and 23 cents for debt service. Property owners will pay the same in taxes for the Howard County Volunteer Firefighters responded to a vehicle fire in the area of Highway 350 and the Old Colorado City Highway early Monday afternoon. According to Howard County Volunteer Fire Chief Tommy Sullivan, a fuel leak under the hood of the vehicle ignited the fire. The driver of the car was heading down the road when the vehicle's engine started to cut out, Sullivan said. Once the vehicle came to a stop, the fire became visible. No one was injured in the blaze, Sullivan said.

Using organic products has just been a way for life for Evelyn Dalton, who was selling some speciality soaps and organically-grown produce at the market Saturday.

“I grew up with older parents, and it was very normal for me to eat that way,” she said. “I don’t want the chemicals. I don’t want it for me. I don’t want to have it in my body and the cheapest way to do that is to grow it myself.”

Saturday’s event grew out of an online version — elbowcreek.locallygrown.net. — created by Nancy because so many of her customers have expressed an interest in purchasing locally-grown food. The next physical market will be held Aug. 16.

For more information about the market, call 432-398-5271 or 432-270-5001. Hamilton Gardens can be found online at www.facebook.com/TheHamiltonGardens. Dalton’s Facebook page is www.facebook.com/CalamityJanesFarm.

vehicle, resisting arrest, unauthorized use of a motor vehicle and parole violation.

Lopez was apprehended after a brief struggle with officers and sustained minor injuries. He was treated at Scenic Mountain Medical Center and released back into police custody, according to Sgt. Tony Everett, Big Spring police public information officer.

The chase began at 4:40 a.m., Everett said, after police spotted a 2000 White Pontiac Montana minivan which had been reported to police as stolen sometime Sunday night or Monday morning, Everett said. The vehicle was leaving the city limits heading east on Interstate 20 this morning when officers spotted it.

“Officers attempted to stop the vehicle on Interstate 20 at approximately the 182 mile marker,” Everett said. “The driver refused to stop for officers, which initiated a pursuit. The chase continued eastbound on IH-20 on the service roads all the way to Salem Road, then turned back toward the city.”

According to Everett, the pursuit lasted approximately 25 minutes before coming to an end in the 700 block of W. 15th when the stolen vehicle wrecked. The driver continued to attempt to evade the police after the wreck.

“The police unit pinned the stolen vehicle against a tree, preventing the vehicle from fleeing, causing minor cosmetic damage to the police unit,” Everett said. “The driver was apprehended after a brief struggle.”

No officers were injured in the altercation, he said.

district portion unless the value of their property increased or decreased from the previous year. Trustees will hold a public hearing on the tax rate on Aug. 26. Final adoption of the tax rate and budget will held in August.

In other business, trustees have approved to purchase attendance credits in response to being a Chapter 41 school although it is unlikely the district will need to take that action, Jacobs said. CISD technically falls into the “property rich” school status, Jacobs explained, but doesn’t have enough wealth to have to pay into the state funding system. That number is based on a formula which includes property values compared to student population, Jacobs said.

“Unless values increase greatly or our student population declines dramatically, we will not have to purchase the credits,” she said.

However, Jacobs said, trustees are required by the state to choose from several options in case the district does fall into that category. In this case, by opting to purchase attendance credits, the trustees essentially agreed to send that money to the state for redistribution.

Trustees also:

- Approved a $46,000 purchase for instillation of security cameras at all three campuses and a $20,000 expenditure for roof repairs.

• Nominated Marty Brooks to serve on the Howard County Appraisal Board. Brooks joins Jimmy Miller, the Forsan ISD nominee, for a chance to fill the position of Dale Humphries, who who resigned from the board recently. The final decision on who will serve is ultimately up to the Appraisal Board.

- Heard the House Bill 5 Community Engagement Ratings for the district. Implemented for the first time this year, the statue requires each district to designate a performance using nine factors for each campus based on criteria set by a local committee. These rating will be posted to the website, Jacobs said.

grand re-opening will be 10 a.m. to 4 p.m. Wednesday.

The hangar floor will have an epoxy coating that will increase the strength of the floor to accommodate the weight of the planes and thereby prevent cracks. It is just one of the many updates the in the works for the museum, thanks to grants and donations awarded by Big Spring Community Foundation and Big Spring resident Jerry Worthy.

Other renovations include the Hangar Exchange gift shop at the site and an online gift store. Also, in an effort to make the museum a more comfortable and esthetically pleasing experience, the windows have been replaced with solar blinds that will not only regulate the temperature to about 72 degrees, they also repel UV rays, preventing sun damage to the museum exhibits.

The Hangar 25 Air Museum exists within a World War II era hangar. The structure was built in 1942, with the opening of the Big Spring Bombardier School. The bombardier school closed in 1945 with the Allied victory of WWII. The base reopened in 1951 as Big Spring Air Force base. It was renamed in 1952 after Lt. James L. Webb who was a Big Spring native and a WWII fighter pilot. He died in a tragic accident over the coast of Japan in 1949. Webb Air Force Base closed in 1977 after the end of the Vietnam War.

In 1993, an idea was conceived to take back this piece of Big Spring.

In a few years the idea grew from a broken down old building to a fully restored WWII hangar. The project received more than $500,000 in grant money and financial assistance from the Big Spring community. With this and the help of several dedicated and determined Big Spring citizens, Hangar 25 Air Museum became a reality. The museum opened its doors in May of 1999.

In the 15 years it has been open, the museum has acquired nine aircraft, nearly 2,000 artifacts, seen 50,000 visitors, and documented the oral histories of more than 70 community veterans.

Hangar 25 Air Museum aspires to preserve the memories and legacies of these two bases and those that served here.

The museum director is Genevieve Stockburger.

SLYLOCK FOX and COMICS FOR KIDS

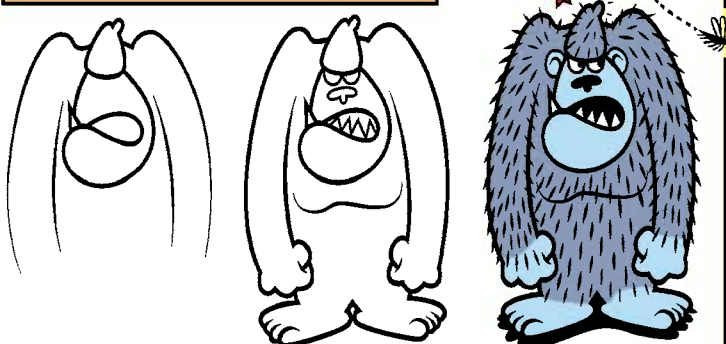

BY BOB WEBER JR.

One of these suspects robbed a jewelry store. When the thief entered the store, he did not brandish a weapon and spoke not a word, yet the clerks and customers fled. In their absence, he grabbed all the diamonds and gold he could carry. Which suspect does Slylock Fox think is the thief?

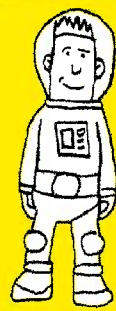

Solution -- Slylock believes everyone ran from the store to get away from the stinky skunk. Slylock suspects the skunk is the thief.

BIRD POOP: Saving a starving hawk

During July 2011, daily predictions of one hundred plus temperatures and a continuing drought became monotonous. Ominous was the red light blinking on our answering machine.

Calls regarding large birds of prey included their being found in bar ditches and barren cotton fields, at drilling sites, and along the shoulders of the Interstate. Whenever the phone rang, we anticipated another casualty.

With a call from Diane Tracy, our contact in San Angelo, came another bizarre story of an avian victim. Upon receiving a red-tailed hawk, she had recognized and treated symptoms of dehydration and starvation.

When we met in Sterling City the next day, she continued her story about the survey crew that had found the raptor. In the course of their day's work, the men had spotted the raptor leaning against a post under the shade of a tree. It was too weak to stand on its own.

Recognizing its plight, a crewman had accepted the chance of an awakening dynamo with sharp beak and talons. Instead, he had met little resistance in capturing the bird.

Magnificent in its coloration and size, the red-tail sported the typical brown upper parts, creamy under parts, streaked belly, and rufous tail. Extending its wings exposed the dark brown epaulets that enhanced the leading edges.

Normally, the flesh alongside the bird's breastbone, or keel, would be ample. Instead, its keel was well defined. It was as notable as the edge of a razor. Having exhausted the body fat that we should have felt, this hawk was weak and starving to death. For the next four days, we actively supported its need for moisture and an adequate diet.

A skilled hunter of rabbits, ground squirrels, rats, and mice, our guest would have also preyed upon snakes. However, during times of drought, this hawk had weakened when the environment no longer could sustain the food it was seeking.

To gaze at the noble bird was to try and imagine how the survey crew felt when they first saw it. Daily, they had probably seen miles of fence posts and few trees that had enough of a canopy to provide shade.

With the continuing brutal heat, their days had to have been long, dusty, and tiring. An opportunity to see any wildlife had diminished greatly. Then they happened upon the downed hawk.

At the wildlife center in Lubbock, a week passed before the red-tail had enough strength to roost on the lowest perch of a mew in the barn. As time passed, it gained not only in grams but also in an eagerness to try the limits of this enclosure.

As it rebuilt muscle tone and stamina, the hawk was relentless in its exercise regime. Moved to Weighing two and a half to three pounds, the red-tailed hawk frequents open country, mountains, rangeland, and desert terrain. Seen from below, its four-foot wingspan easily carries it to soaring heights on rising thermals.

the flight cage, and over more time, it gained the highest perches and easily flew the length. Its recovery was impressive.

Only the confining walls of the facility now limited its abilities. Standing atop a lofty perch, its appearance reflected nature's finest, and exemplified the epitome of why its specie dominates the air.

Given its freedom, the red-tailed hawk gracefully rose in elevation to soaring heights denied by our severe drought. Its good fortune in being found by the survey crew enabled it to thwart the death that had awaited it. Healthy, and with all of its newfound strength and indomitable spirit, it could once more be the formidable raptor of our western skies.

Code Patrol Corner

Keep Big Spring Beautiful continues to make every effort to search every area that can make our city a more beautiful and attractive place to live.

I have noticed that garage sale signs are popping up all over the place, and advertising is illegal when posting on telephone poles. Also noticed that the Texas Department of Transportation metal boxes located on Gregg and 10th and 18th have been used to post all kind of signs including garage sales; this is a violation according to a TxDOT spokesperson. Posting these signs is not only a violation of city ordinance but makes our city unattractive. Please don't do it!

Our Code Patrol members are authorized to remove the signs from the poles and report directly to Code Enforcement. We have your address from the signs, and you will be contacted.

So, I would suggest you place your ad through the local media. Another suggestion would be make a sign in shape of arrows attach it to a small round post giving directions to the place the sale is being held. Then, a catchy way to advertise your sale, put up some flags, balloons in front yard of the sale site. Be sure to remove all advertisements when the sale is over.

If you do have to use a box to advertise, please pick it as soon as sale is over, otherwise, you could be cited for littering. We know where you live, we have your address. So, be that good citizen and help us.

We really need to work hard to make a difference in the appearance of our community, and with everyone helping this can be accomplished. Do you have a weedy yard, is there unsightly junk for all passers to see? Look at your property as if you were viewing someone else's property and what do you see? Please help to "Keep Big Spring Beautiful!"

May not be right, but 'it's in the book'

I had a memory breakthrough recently of a comical oration I used to use when entertaining family and friends. It was called It's In the Book.

Many of you may remember it. It was performed by Johnny Standley and was a number one single of the Billboard Charts in 1952. It sold over two million copies and received a gold record status. I used to enjoy using this work, along with comedian Brother Dave Garner and Justin Wilson to get a laugh or two when a crowd was gathered.

Johnny Standley was born on December 6, 1912 and died on May 27, 1992. He was a musician, actor, and comedian from Milwaukee, Wisconsin and later moved to Oklahoma City. He often performed with Dave Brubeck and Red Skelton and did many USO performances during World War II. Since this recording was made and released in 1952, I think it would be public domain by now, so I can share it with you and we can all have a comic moment of memory. The following is Johnny Standley's version of It's in the Book.

I have a message for you — a very sad message! My subject for this evening will be Little Bo Peep. It says here, "Little Bo Peep" — who was a little girl — "has lost her sheep, and doesn't know where to find them." Now that's reasonable, isn't it? It's reasonable to assume if Little Bo Peep had lost her sheep, it's only natural that she wouldn't know where to find them. That basically is reasonable, but, then it says, "leave them alone." Now that overwhelms me ... completely overwhelms me. The man said she lost her sheep, and turns right around and boldly states, "She doesn't know where to find them." And then has the stupid audacity to say, "Leave them alone!" Now, now think for a moment! Think! If the sheep were lost, and you couldn't find them, you'd have to leave them alone, wouldn't you? So, "Leave them alone." "Leave them alone." It's in the book! "Leave them alone and they" — they being the sheep — "they will come home."

Ah yes, they'll come home. Oh, there'll be a brighter day tomorrow, they will come home! It's in the book. "They will come home... a-waggin' their tails..." Pray tell me what else could they wag? "They will come home a-waggin' their tails behind them... behind them!" Did we think they'd wag them in front of them? Of course, they might have come home in reverse. They could have done that, I really don't know. But, none the less, it's in the book. As we read and re-read nursery rhymes, it is interesting and amusing how they are written.

The message is often funny and extremely confusing. Next time you are citing a nursery rhyme take a few moments to think about it and consider the message you are conveying. It may not be what we are wanting to say at all, even though it may be "in the book!"

The bidding:
South 1♥ West Pass North 4♥ East Pass

Opening lead — jack of diamonds.

Declarer starts the play of many hands knowing very little about how the unseen cards are distributed. But as the play progresses, rays of light often emerge to illuminate the landscape and help him find the winning line of play.

Take this case where South is in six hearts and West leads a diamond. Declarer wins with the ace and must avoid the loss of either a diamond or a club. This is by no means an impossible feat.

South begins by cashing the ace of hearts and ace of spades, ruffs a spade, leads a trump to the king and ruffs another spade. He then cashes the diamond king, producing this position:

North	South
♥ Q J 9	♥ 10 8 3
♦ 6	♦ 8
♣ Q 8	♣ A 7
West	East
♥ 10 9 7	♥ Q 8
♣ J 5 3	♣ K 10 9 6

Declarer now faces a crucial decision. He is sure to make the slam by guessing who has the king of clubs. If West has it, a diamond lead will force him to win and return a club from the king or concede a ruff-and-discard. If East has the king, playing the ace and another club will force him to win and yield a ruff-and-discard.

The evidence gathered to this point makes East a strong favorite to hold the king. West is known to have started with six diamonds, a heart and at least three spades, leaving him with at most three clubs. East consequently has at least six clubs and is therefore much more likely to have the king. So South plays the A-7 of clubs, and East must resign.

Tomorrow: A heart-rending tale.

News in brief

Israeli soldier missing as Gaza fighting rages on

JERUSALEM (AP) — An Israeli soldier is missing following a deadly battle in the Gaza Strip, a defense official said Tuesday as Israeli airstrikes pummeled a wide range of targets in the coastal strip and diplomatic efforts intensified to end more than two weeks of fighting that has killed at least 585 Palestinians and 29 Israelis.

The defense official told The Associated Press the soldier went missing after a deadly battle in Gaza over the weekend and it was not immediately clear if he was dead or alive. The official spoke on condition of anonymity because he was not authorized to discuss the incident with media.

The development adds a further complication to international efforts to broker a truce. U.N. chief Ban Ki-moon and U.S. Secretary of State John Kerry met in Cairo late Monday to launch the highest-level push yet to end the deadly conflict. The U.N. has said that the majority of the Palestinians killed were civilians, among them dozens of children.

Israel has said its campaign, launched July 8, is aimed at stopping Hamas rocket fire into Israel — some 2,000 rockets have been launched over the past two weeks, the military says — and destroying tunnels the military says Hamas has constructed from Gaza into Israel for attacks against Israelis. Overnight, Israel bombed five mosques, a sports complex and the home of the late Hamas military chief, a Gaza police official said.

The airstrikes set off huge explosions that turned the night sky over Gaza City orange early Tuesday. The sound of the blasts mixed with the thud of shelling, often just seconds apart, and the pre-dawn call to prayer from mosque loudspeakers.

American Jews, other foreigners feel calling to serve Israeli military despite the dangers

The two Americans killed in fighting in the Gaza Strip followed in the footsteps of scores of Jews from around the world who have volunteered to fight for Israel.

Israel calls them the lone soldiers: They are men and women in the prime of their lives who have left their parents and often comfortable lives behind in places like Sydney, London, Los Angeles and elsewhere to join the Israel Defense Forces, marching in the desert and taking up arms to defend the Jewish state.

There are about 2,000 lone soldiers currently serving in the military, said Marina Rozhansky, spokeswoman at the Israel Consul General in Los Angeles. Groups for families of lone soldiers have recently started in Los Angeles and other cities, providing a support network as the fighting intensifies.

For Jews who left Israel before the age of 15 or who never lived there, their service is voluntary. For many, it is a calling, a way to get back to their roots and unite the world's Jewish population. Some have dual citizenship. Others speak little to no Hebrew and have only recently been to Israel.

Max Steinberg, 24, who grew up in Southern California's San Fernando Valley, joined six months after he visited Israel for the first time on a Birthright Israel trip with his younger brother and sister in June 2012, said Jake Steinberg, who spoke to The Associated Press hours after learning his brother, a sharpshooter in the Golani Brigade, was among 13 Israeli soldiers and scores of Palestinians over the weekend who died during the first major ground battle in two weeks of fighting between Israel and Hamas. The Jewish Journal was first to report Steinberg's death.

Train bearing bodies from Malaysia Airlines crash arrives in Kharkiv

KHARKIV, Ukraine (AP) — A train carrying the remains of people killed in the Malaysia Airlines crash arrived in the eastern Ukrainian city of Kharkiv on Wednesday on their way to the Netherlands, a journey which has been agonizingly slow for relatives of the victims.

An AP reporter saw the train Tuesday as it pulled into a station in Kharkiv, a government-controlled city where Ukrainian authorities have set up their crash investigation center.

For many, it is the next stop on their journey home to the Netherlands. Of the 298 who died, 193 were Dutch citizens.

Oleksander Kharchenko, spokesman for the state committee on the crash, said "we will do our best" to send the bodies to the Netherlands on Tuesday. Ukraine has agreed to send remains of all the victims there for identification and forensic investigation.

The train stopped overnight in the contested city of Donetsk but left around 3 a.m., the Ukrainian emergency services ministry said.

Victims' bodies, plane debris could hold vital clues to who shot down airliner over Ukraine

LONDON (AP) — "What exactly are they trying to hide?" President Barack Obama asked Monday as he demanded that Ukrainian rebels give investigators access to the wreckage of the downed jetliner.

The answer is: potentially a lot.

Aviation and defense experts say the victims' bodies could contain missile shrapnel. Chemical residue on the plane could confirm the type of weapon that brought down Malaysia Airlines Flight 17. And the location of the wreckage could yield information on how the attack unfolded.

The black boxes could offer vital clues as well. The cockpit voice recorder would record the bang of a missile. The data recorders, which register altitude and position, would be able to tie that information to the timing of a known missile launch in the area.

"You can effectively backtrack and give a relatively high degree of confidence in the location where that missile took off from," said a Manchester, England-based aviation industry consultant, Chris Yates. "If that location happens to be in rebel-held territory, which we all suspect it is, that would be the first point where you could point the finger of blame."

Immigration debate centers on 2008 law passed to address very different circumstances

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Dianne Feinstein recalls turning on her television and seeing a young Chinese girl crying before a judge, without even an interpreter to help her after surviving a harrowing journey to the U.S.

That was the genesis of a law six years ago that is now at the center of an immigration crisis at the nation's Southern border. More than 57,000 youths, mostly from Central America, have crossed into the U.S. illegally since October. Fewer than 2,000 of them have been sent back.

Immigration advocates and many Democrats insist on preserving what they describe as important protections in the 2008 law for unaccompanied youths who flee their home countries or are smuggled to the U.S.

Most Republicans and a few Democrats want to change the law to address circumstances far different from six years ago, when no more than 8,000 kids arrived at the border each year without their parents.

"The 2008 law creates a process that made sense when you're talking about a limited number of children, the victims of sex trafficking. It doesn't make sense when you talk about 50,000 unaccompanied minors," said Sen. Lindsey Graham, R-S.C. "The 2008 law wasn't designed to deal with this situation."

Detroit retirees endorse pension cuts in bankruptcy; city praises 'positive decision'

DETROIT (AP) — A year after filing for bankruptcy, Detroit is building momentum to get out, especially after workers and retirees voted in favor of major pension changes just a few weeks before a judge holds a crucial trial that could end the largest public filing in U.S. history.

Pension cuts were approved in a landslide, according to results filed shortly before midnight Monday. The tally from 60 days of voting gives the city a boost as Judge Steven Rhodes determines whether Detroit's overall strategy to eliminate or reduce $18 billion in long-term debt is fair and feasible to all creditors.

Trial starts Aug. 14.

"I want to thank city retirees and active employees who voted for casting aside the rhetoric and making an informed, positive decision about their future and the future of the city," said Kevyn Orr, the state-appointed emergency manager who has been handling Detroit's finances since March 2013.

General retirees would get a 4.5 percent pension cut and lose annual inflation adjustments. They accepted the changes with 73 percent of ballots in favor. Retired police officers and firefighters would lose only a portion of their annual cost-of-living raise. Eighty-two percent in that class voted "yes."

Fathers says boys accused in fatal beatings of homeless men were also once homeless

ALBUQUERQUE, N.M. (AP) — A man who says he is the father of two of three teens charged with fatally beating two homeless men says that they too were once homeless, and he has no idea what prompted the brutal Friday night attack that police say left the victims unrecognizable.

After their arrest, the 15-year-old told police that the trio had been targeting homeless people for the past year, according to a criminal complaint. He said they had attacked about 50 people over the last few months, but had never gone that far, according to the criminal complaint.

"It's so hard that he could do that to someone where ... I mean, like I said, we came from there," said Victor Prieto, who identified himself to KOB-TV as the father of the 15- and 16-year-olds accused. "You know what I mean? We're not there now, but that's where we ... We got out of there."

His sons and 18-year-old Alex Rios were charged on Monday with murder and ordered held on $5 million bonds. The Associated Press is not identifying the minors because of their age. The teens and Prieto all have different last names.

A man at the house where police found the trio Saturday declined to comment on Monday as he watched a steady stream of reporters and photographers visit a corner lot where neighbors said the homeless regularly camped without bothering anyone.

Scientists find 'genetic revelation' to the mystery of schizophrenia, seeing hints for therapy

WASHINGTON (AP) — Scientists have linked more than 100 spots in our DNA to the risk of developing schizophrenia, casting light on the mystery of what makes the disease tick.

Such work could eventually point to new treatments, although they are many years away. Already, the new results provide the first hard genetic evidence to bolster a theory connecting the immune system to the disease.

More than 100 researchers from around the world collaborated in the biggest-ever genomic mapping of schizophrenia, for which scientists had previously uncovered only about a couple of dozen risk-related genes.

The study included the genetic codes of more than 150,000 people — nearly 37,000 of them diagnosed with the disease.

Researchers found 108 genetic markers for risk of getting the disease, 83 of them not previously reported. And scientists say there are still likely more to be found.

"It's a genetic revelation; schizophrenia has been a mystery," said study co-author Steve McCarroll, director of genetics for the Broad Institute of MIT and Harvard. "Results like this give you things to work on. It takes it out of the zone of guesses about which genes are relevant."

Lady Steers' volleyball skills camp set to get under way

By TOMMY WELLS
Herald Sports Editor

Big Spring High School head volleyball coach has a simple message for younger athletes looking to improve their basic skills in the sport of volleyball. The best way to get better is to work at it.

Osbourne will help athletes take the first step – or second if they are older – on Monday when she kicks off a four-day volleyball fundamentals and skills camp. The camp is scheduled to be held from July 28 through July 31 in the Big Spring Junior High School gymnasium.

The camp, which is open to all athletes in grades 3-9, is divided into three grade divisions and will operate from 8:30 a.m. to 11 a.m. and 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. each day.

According to Osbourne, athletes in grades 3-5 will attend the camp from 8:30 a.m. to 9:30 a.m. Participants in grades 6-8 will participate from 9:45 a.m. to 11 a.m. Freshmen will attend the camp from 1 p.m. to 3:30 p.m. each day.

BSHS athletic physicals to be given on July 25

Big Spring ISD football, volleyball and cross country athletes will be able to obtain their athletic physicals on Friday at the ATC.

According to University Interscholastic League rules, athletes in grades 9-11, as well as any first-time or new athletes regardless of grade, are required to have annual physicals prior to engaging in athletic activities.

Physicals will be offered from 8:30 a.m.

to noon. Students who do not have completed physicals will not be allowed to participate in preseason practices or scrimmages.

Athletic forms can be picked up at the ATC from the trainer, athletic secretary or at the exam site. Exams must be signed by both the student and a parent/guardian.

West Texas Injury Prevention, a subdivision of Back in Motion, will be conducting the physical exams.

The cost for the camp is $25 for elementary and junior high school athletes, and $30 for high school athletes. A T-shirt can also be purchased for $10. No checks will be accepted as a method of payment.

Campers attending the skills camp will need to inform instructors of any physical problems they may have prior to participating in the event.

To enter, or for more information, contact Lynn Osbourne at (254) 246-2148.

BSHS football season tickets now on sale

By TOMMY WELLS
Herald Sports Editor

The start of the new 2014-15 school year is just weeks ago. That means two things for Big Spring High School athletics fans.

First, summer is coming to a rapid end ... and, even more importantly, it is time to renew their season tickets for the Big Spring Steers' football season.

Season tickets for the Steers are now available for the Steers' upcoming football season – a campaign that should prove to be memorable for two reasons: the team's return to the Class 4A ranks and the debut in a Murderer's Row district that features perennial powerhouses in Stephenville, Brownwood and Abilene Wylie.

To be sure, there will be plenty of bang for the buck.

Season tickets went on sale on July 21 and will be available to fans until Aug. 14. Tickets can be purchased from 7:30 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. from Monday through Thursday at the Dorothy Garrett Athletic Training Center.

The cost for the 4-game package is $20 per booklet. Each ticket booklet contains ten games to the Steers' home games.

The Steers will face four solid opponents at Memorial Stadium during the year.

The team will make their home debut on Sept. 14 when they face Hereford.

A few weeks later, Big Spring will host another

BSHS to issue equipment on Monday

The Big Spring High School coaching staff will fit players for their equipment beginning with the seniors on Monday. Seniors will be fitted from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Incoming juniors will be fitted on July 29 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m., while sophomores can pick up their gear on July 30 during the same time frame. Freshmen will be fit for equipment on July 31, from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Any players unable to make their respective slots can be fitted on Aug. 1 from 8 a.m. to 4 p.m. or Aug. 2.

Athletes throughout the area can begin preseason conditioning drills on Aug. 4.

familiar power, the Andrews Mustangs. Big Spring and Andrews were district stablemates when the Steers last in the 4A ranks.

Big Spring season-ticket holders will be in for a treat when district play rolls around as they will be guaranteed seats for both of the Steers' games against Stephenville (Oct. 24) and Brownwood (Nov. 7).

Euing, Simonton win GCC's 'Memorial' title

Brad Euing and Will Simonton rallied to card a 68 over the final half of the Gaines County Golf Course last weekend and claimed a narrow win in the "Memorial 2014" tournament.

Euing and Simonton had entered the final round two strokes off the pace of John Castillo and Vince Carlisle, who grabbed the early lead with a first round mark of 64.

Baylor has different take defending the Big 12 title

DALLAS (AP) — Coach Art Briles and Baylor arrived at Big 12 football media days as defending champions for the first time.

Briles has a slightly different take on the Bears' newfound standing.

"How can you defend and protect something that nobody can take? 2013 is gone forever. That title is ours," Briles said Monday. "We're attacking 2014 just like everybody else. That's our mindset with our players, and that's the way they've been approaching everything."

The first of five coaches on the podium for the first day, Briles used a baseball analogy in that leadoff role.

"The thing that's a little different is, I don't know what the commissioner expected, but we're not going to try to bunt or get a single. I promise you that," he said. "We're swinging for the fences. So maybe he should have put us fourth because that's just the way we approach the game."

Even with quarterback Bryce Petty and receiver Antwan Goodley back, Baylor was picked second in the Big 12 media preseason poll behind Oklahoma. The Bears won 11 games last season before losing 52-42 to UCF in the Fiesta Bowl.

Kansas State and Texas, who will join the Sooners for the second day at the Omni Dallas Hotel, were picked third and fourth, respectively.

Oklahoma State opens Aug. 30 against defending national champion Florida State and Heisman Trophy winner Jameis Winston in Arlington, Texas.

The Cowboys will have less available practice time once school starts after falling below the NCAA minimum standard with their Academic Progress Rate score over a four-year period. They can work only 18 hours a week, instead of the standard 20 under NCAA rules, though coach Mike Gundy said that won't be too much of an issue.

"We haven't used the 20 hours in a number of years. And when you put it down on paper, we end up being about 45 minutes short," Gundy said. "We'll incorporate a few new things in two-

Galloway named to TSWA All-State squad

Forsan High School senior Clayton Galloway continued to add to his already impressive baseball resume when he was named to the Texas Sports Writers Association's Class A All-State Baseball Team.

Galloway was one of three pitchers named to the Class A honorable mention squad. Joining him on the HM squad were Keren's Brett Anderson, Sundown's Cameron Chance and Dawson's Trent Underwood.

BS softball teams finish season with solid effort

The Big Spring Girls Softball Association All-Stars made sure everyone knew their names this season by turning in exceptional postseason efforts at every age level.

The softball teams recently wrapped up their seasons by competing in a tournament in Amarillo on July 13.

The BSGSA 8-and-Under team highlighted the finishing third in the consolation bracket.

"Out of 17 teams from across West Texas and the Plains, our girls did an amazing job," said Amanda Sepeda.

Big Spring's 10-and-Under, 12-and-Under and 14-and-Under teams all finished fourth in their respective brackets in tournament action.

NOTICE OF APPLICATION FOR FLUID INJECTION WELL PERMIT
ConocoPhillips Company, 3300 N. "A" Street, Building 6, Midland, Texas 78705 is applying to the Railroad Commission of Texas for a permit to inject a fluid into a formation which is productive of oil and gas. The applicant proposes to inject fluid into the San Andres and grayburg formations. The proposed injection well, the Settles, W.R. -A-#103W (42-227-31575), is located 1.6 miles west of Forsan, Texas in the Howard-Glasscock (Consolidated) Field in Howard County, Texas. Fluid will be injected into the subsurface depth interval from 1228 feet to 3900 feet.
LEGAIL AUTHORITY: Chapter 27 of the Texas Water Code, as amended, Title 3 of the Texas Natural Resources Code, as amended, and the Statewide Rules of the Oil and Gas Division of the Railroad Commission of Texas.
Requests for a public hearing from persons who can show they are adversely affected or requests for further information concerning any aspect of the application should be submitted in writing, within fifteen days of publication, to the Environmental Services Section, Oil and Gas Division, Railroad Commission of Texas, P.O. Box 12967, Austin, Texas 78711 (Telephone 512.463.6792).

Dear Annie: My husband and I are middle-aged empty nesters. A few years ago, we sold our old place and built our dream home. The problem is, our neighbors have three young boys who can't seem to stay out of our yard.

We spent a fortune planting and landscaping, and they walk through our flower gardens and mulch beds and climb on our newly planted trees. I recently heard that the neighbors are adopting two Yorkshire terrier puppies. I can only expect that the dogs will follow the boys into our yard.

These boys play with the children who live on the other side of our house. (Those kids are not a problem.) We have asked the parents to have the boys walk the perimeter of our yard or use the sidewalk to reach their friends, but the kids seem clueless, and the mother appears overwhelmed. What is acceptable for us to do in order to take back control of our yard? -- Kids and Dogs and Neighbors, Oh My Dear Kids and Dogs: We appreciate that you want to maintain good relations with the neighbors and that you understand how challenging a household of active boys can be. Nonetheless, your yard is your property.

KATHY MITCHELL

Give the parents another chance, asking their assistance in teaching their children to use the sidewalk. (We'd avoid the temptation of asking them to skirt the perimeter, unless you can turn it into a game.) You also could monitor your yard more closely, stopping the boys when you see them and escorting them to the sidewalk. If these efforts do not achieve the desired results, your best bet is a fence, either around the entire yard or as a smaller barrier around the flowerbeds and growing trees that you need to protect.

Dear Annie: I enjoy reading your daily column. On Memorial Day, you printed the poem "In Flanders Field," written in 1915 during the First World War by Lt. Col. John McRae, a surgeon in the Canadian forces.

Unfortunately, the last line was omitted. The second-to-last line is: "We shall not sleep, though poppies grow," and the last line is: "In Flanders Field," an emphatic ending to the beautiful, moving poem. -- A Proud Canadian

Dear Canadian: You weren't the only reader who pointed out that the last three very important words were inadvertently left off the final version. We apologize for the error. As anyone who has ever typed a letter and sent it knows, these things happen. Thanks for keeping us on our toes so we can make the correction.

Dear Annie: "Concerned Reader" suggested that "Need Help," the teenager with mood swings, painful headaches and weakness, be tested for Lyme disease.

I also would like to suggest looking at food allergies. My daughter spent six months in misery and endured countless doctor appointments and medications in order to diagnose and treat her constant headaches and stomach pain. We finally saw a naturopath, who suggested dropping gluten and dairy from her diet. After only a few days, we saw improvement, and after a month, she was back to normal.

Remember that gluten is in many products that you would not expect, so do your research and eliminate all gluten to ensure a good "test." Then after a period of time, do a gluten "challenge." If your symptoms return, then you have your culprit.

Watching your child suffer and failing to help them find relief is a terrible experience. -- NCGS (Non-Celiac Gluten Sensitive) Mom in Oregon

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Leo Sun of Reverse-Order Bucket Lists

Popular author and blogger Jenny Lawson recently revealed, "I do my bucket list in reverse order (writing down the items I want to accomplish after I've already accomplished them) so that I'm always caught up." The sun's shift from Cancer to passionate Leo inspires exciting unplanned action worthy of a reverse-order bucket list.

HOLIDAY
MATHIS

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Your friends are important to you, but they'll never know unless you tell them with words, deeds and gifts. Go there. Tell them sincerely, because this is when they will appreciate the gesture the most.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). It's as though you have lavender-scented oxygen and are inhaling life on a whole new level. Breathe it all in with the relish of a first breath. And look out for those Gemini, Libra and Aquarius people as you do!

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You'll be invigorated by your team. Sure, some of them are loopy, and others are bossy, but the overall effect will be enthusiasm. Go with it! Acting with decisiveness will inspire the group's confidence in you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Some associate the moon with madness, others with romance. Your ruling luminary does command oceans to swell, and your beauty follows the trend. You'll have all of the magnetic power of the moon today -- and it's heavenly.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Should you stretch, learn and grow, or should you stay comfortable and contained? It sounds like a trick question, and yet there are times when it's better -- and it's a very legitimate choice -- to stay comfortable and contained.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Today you may interact with someone as creative and diverse as you are, and it will be important that you stay focused on your own scene. One topic will lead to another, but bring it back to yours.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Plan, take action and complete the mission. This is easy when it's a doable task: grocery shopping, cleaning the house, calling your relatives. It's all important, but only as important as you make it.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Don't take the blame for someone else's mistake, but don't call it out, either. There is a way to be classy and discreet. As you duck out of a bad situation, just know that justice always wins in the end.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your fanciful mood creates a reality that you and yours would love to inhabit. At the right time, you'll bring this down to earth. Before that, it's frothy fun.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). The one who doesn't get you seems like an idiot. But have you considered that you are not so easily discerned? Your beautiful complications are not for the faint of heart or the simple of mind.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). What you know and what you don't know come together in a yin-yang kind of configuration, and you'll likely be happy with it. Why mess with balance? Seek to know more another day.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). The old saw goes: The audience can't see and hear at the same time. So if you're delivering important information, which you will be today, make sure you're not distracting the listener with anything extraneous.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (July 22). You'll gain rapport with people who are very different from you and win new customers and fans. This translates into money in the bank in August and a vastly expanding network throughout your solar year. October is for getting the training you need to make a career change. November shows you deeply in love. Virgo and Libra people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 2, 34, 48, 18 and 5.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "Are fairies real? My grandmother swears she has seen them on three different occasions in her garden. She says they don't look like the fairies in movies and in books, with dragonfly-type wings and the like. She says they are more like intelligent beings of geometric energy. She says they are more like organized lights than small humans with wings. What do you think? Is she telling stories? And if fairies do exist, why?"

According to Scottish and Irish lore, should you ever come across a fairy, there are two rules that are important to follow. First, don't ask the fairy its name. Second, never call it a fairy. "Wee folk" is acceptable, and so is the Gaelic "sidhe." I find these rules interesting, as they suggest that it's bad luck to ask the sidhe to define itself, and it's bad luck for you to try to define it by putting it into the fairy category.

Are the sidhe real? For me, there are too many possibilities and multiple realities to rule out such stories. Also, it's just more fun to believe!

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Selena Gomez made her debut in the entertainment world on "Barney and Friends" and went on to rule the Disney Channel as Alex in "Wizards of Waverly Place." The multiplatinum-selling pop star and on-again-off-again girlfriend of Justin Bieber was born when the sun, Mercury and Venus were all in the charismatic station of Leo -- so the desire to entertain is written in her stars.

This Date In History

Today is Tuesday, July 22, the 203rd day of 2014. There are 162 days left in the year. Today's Highlight in History: On July 22, 1934, bank robber John Dillinger was shot to death by federal agents outside Chicago's Biograph Theater, where he had just seen the Clark Gable movie "Manhattan Melodrama." On this date: In 1587, an English colony fated to vanish under mysterious circumstances was established on Roanoke Island off North Carolina. In 1796, Cleveland, Ohio, was founded by General Moses Cleaveland (correct). In 1893, Wellesley College professor Katharine Lee Bates visited the summit of Pikes Peak, where she was inspired to write the original version of her poem "America the Beautiful." In 1916, a bomb went off during a Preparedness Day parade in San Francisco, killing 10 people. In 1933, American aviator Wiley Post completed the first solo flight around the world as he returned to New York's Floyd Bennett Field after traveling for 7 days, 18 and 3/4 hours. In 1943, American forces led by Gen. George S. Patton captured Palermo, Sicily, during World War II. In 1944, the Bretton Woods Monetary Conference concluded in New Hampshire with an agreement to establish the International Monetary Fund and the World Bank.

Mikolas pitches Rangers past Yankees

NEW YORK (AP) — Miles Mikolas didn't need to look into the batter's box to know who was stepping in with the bases loaded in the fifth inning. The roaring crowd said it all.

Listening to more than 45,000 New York Yankees fans try to urge Derek Jeter to get one more big hit motivated the young right-hander. Mikolas got Jeter to ground into a double play, then pitched smoothly into the eighth inning Monday night to lead the Texas Rangers to a 4-2 victory.

"That's a big situation, a big jam to get out of," Mikolas said. "It almost makes me as a pitcher want to compete a little harder, let the fans down."

Mikolas (1-2) slapped his glove and pumped his fist twice while letting out a shout of approval as he left the field. Then he retired his final seven batters.

Mikolas' mom, fiance, sister and stepdad led a group up from Florida to see him win for the first time since Aug. 21, 2012, with San Diego. Mikolas won twice in 25 relief appearances for the Padres that year. He's had little success this season, coming in with a 10.05 ERA in three starts.

Trailing by one with none on and two outs in the sixth, Texas got run-scoring singles from Geovany Soto, Rougned Odor and Shin-Soo Choo to go ahead in only its third win in 17 July games.

Adrian Beltre drove in the Rangers' first run with a fielder's choice in the third inning on one of New York's five errors — three by starting pitcher Shane Greene (2-1).

"It was an ugly game on our part," manager Joe Girardi said.

Second baseman Brian Roberts and Jeter, the shortstop, made the other errors for the Yankees, who had not committed five in a nine-inning game since Aug. 20, 1998, against Minnesota.

Mikolas yielded two runs, including Jacoby Ellsbury's homer, and four hits in a career-high 7 1-3 innings to outlast Greene in a matchup of 25-year-old pitchers getting a shot because of injury-wrecked rotations.

Joakim Soria gave up a single to Kelly Johnson and plunked pinch-hitter Brian McCann with a pitch before getting Yangervis Solarte to fly out for his 17th save.

Winners of only five of their last 25 games, the Rangers then broke through against Greene in his first appearance at Yankee Stadium.

Soto struck out with runners on first and third in the second — they were there thanks to two poor throws to first base by Greene — but came through with the tying hit in the sixth, a single to left after Jake Smolinski singled.

Frenship's Schuster scores 16 as North beats South

SAN ANTONIO (AP) — Marcos Schuster of Frenship scored 16 points to earn Most Valuable Player honors for the North as the squad beat the South, 118-101, in the Texas High School Coaches Association All-Star Basketball Game in San Antonio on Monday night.

The 6-foot-2 Lubbock Christian signee hit 6-of-7 from the floor, including 3-of-4 from beyond the 3-point arc.

San Antonio MacArthur's Marcus Harris led the South with 17 points, and Zach Dumas of Huffman Hargrave won team MVP with 16 points in 15 minutes.

It took just a few possessions during his team's 37-point first quarter to see why Erick Neal decided to stick with basketball instead of following his identical twin brother into college football.

Neal, a two-sport Class 4A standout at Dallas Lincoln, scored nine points and had six assists with four steals and two blocks in 18 minutes

During a two-minute span of the first quarter, Neal assisted on a look-away, behind-the-head lob pass that Shane Johnson of Shoemaker was easily able to lay in. Neal followed that with a steal and pass to San Saba's Kelan Verette for the assist and later drove the lane and put the ball under his legs for a show-boat layup.

Neal, a 5-10 point guard, is signed to play at Texas Arlington.

Neal's brother Derrick also starred for a Lincoln basketball team that counts the NBA's Chris Bosh as a product from its 2002 team, but Derrick has signed to play football at Kansas.

Neal got no rest during halftime. On Xavier Adams' opening attempt of the slam-dunk contest, Neal drove the baseline and lofted the ball precisely off the thin side of the backboard. Adams grabbed it and stuffed it through.

Ortiz passes Yaz with 453rd career homer

TORONTO (AP) — Red Sox slugger David Ortiz has passed Boston great Carl Yastrzemski on baseball's career home run chart.

One inning after matching Yastrzemski with No. 452 on Monday night, Ortiz connected again to take over sole possession of 36th place.

Adam Dunn of the Chicago White Sox is next on the list. He entered play Monday with 454 homers.

Big Papi hit a two-run shot to center field off Toronto Blue Jays left-hander Brad Mills in the fourth inning. Ortiz took Mills deep for another two-run drive in his next at-bat for his third multihomer game this season and the 44th of his career.

Ortiz has 22 homers this year, and 395 with Boston. He hit 58 for the Minnesota Twins before joining the Red Sox.

Ted Williams holds the Red Sox record with 521 home runs.

Big 12 assigns 1st female football official

DALLAS (AP) — The Big 12 Conference has assigned a female official to work one of its games for the first time in league history.

Commissioner Bob Bowlsby said Monday that Catherine "Cat" Conti will be on the crew for Kansas' season opener at home Sept. 6 against Southeast Missouri State.

Bowlsby says Big 12 officiating supervisor

Walt Anderson assigned Conti "because she is just a darned good official."

Bowlsby says Conti, a Southland Conference official, has paid her dues.

...days prior to school starting, when we don't have any limitations, and we'll move forward. I've challenged the players with accepting responsibility to make up for that time during the week."

TCU won three consecutive Mountain West Conference titles before switching conferences two years ago, but is 6-12 in Big 12 games and coming off its first losing season since 2004. Coach Gary Patterson, the former defensive coordinator who directs that side of the ball, made a significant change in hiring co-offensive coordinators Doug Meacham and Sonny Cumbie this offseason to install a more up-tempo offense. "Truly a change of philosophy," Patterson said. "It's about scoring points. We can't turn the ball over. And then on defense, it's still about stopping the run, still about making people kick field goals and don't give up the big play."

Texas Tech won its first seven games last season for new coach Kliff Kingsbury, then lost five Big 12 games in

Kingsbury said that season-ending victory "was huge" for the team and quarterback Davis Webb, who capped his freshman season as the bowl offensive MVP. Webb goes into this season clearly established as the No. 1 quarterback after Michael Brewer left during the off-season.

"I've been excited for Davis, to watch the progress he had," Kingsbury said. "Having not been named a starter, he never pouted, never shut it down, just kept working."
