County election officials hope a full slate of state contested races will entice voters to the polls in the coming weeks.

Early voting for the Nov. 4 general election begins Monday at the county elections office, located on the first floor of the Howard County Courthouse. Voting hours are from 8 a.m. to p.m. Monday through Friday, except for Oct. 28 and 30, when the office will hold extended early voting hours (7 a.m. to 7 p.m.).

Early voting ends Oct. 31. Although there is only

Justices allow Texas use of new voter ID law

SAM HANANE

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The Supreme Court said Saturday that Texas can use its controversial new voter identification law for the November election.

A majority of the justices rejected an emergency request from the Justice Department and civil rights groups to prohibit the state from requiring voters to produce certain forms of photo identification in order to cast ballots. Three justices dissented.

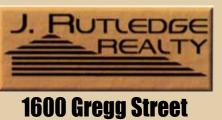

The law was struck down by a federal judge last week, but a federal appeals court had put that ruling on hold. The judge found that roughly 600,000 voters, many of them black or Latino, could be turned away at the polls because they lack acceptable identification. Early voting in Texas begins Monday.

The Supreme Court's order was unsigned, as it typically is in these situations. Justices Ruth Bader Ginsburg, Sonia Sotomayor and Elena Kagan dissented, saying they would have left the district court decision in place.

"The greatest threat to public confidence in elections in this case is the prospect of enforcing a purposefully discriminatory law, one that likely imposes an unconstitutional poll tax and risks denying the right to vote to hundreds of thousands of eligible voters," Ginsburg wrote in dissent.

Texas' law sets out seven forms of approved ID - alist that includes concealed handgun licenses but not college student IDs, which are accepted in other states to help.

Our beloved husband, brother, Dad and Grandale entered Heaven's Gates and joined his Heavenly Father Wednesday, Oct. 15, 2014. Larry Dale Worthan was born in the country outside of Levelland, Hockley County in Texas on Sept. 28, 1938, to Earl and Hazel Worthan. He was three months old before they traveled to town to take him to the doctor to register his birth and give him a name. For the first three months of his life, they called him Butch. When he was about five months old, the family moved to the farming communities of New Deal and Abernathy. In 1972, after farming several years with his father, they quit the farming business and he changed professions. Dale moved his family to Big Spring to start a career at Bob Brock Ford as a salesman and fleet manager. He loved his customers and took pride in serving them. A satisfied customer brought such joy to him. Most of his customers would say that he would have given them the coat off his back if they really needed it. He finally retired completely in 2010 after many loyal years. However, customers still called him to take care of them and he would go back down to the dealership

Dale has been a member of First Baptist Church, Big Spring since 1974. He was a member of the Abernathy Masonic Lodge, receiving the honor of Master Mason and spent a short time as a Shriner. Dale played Santa Claus for more than 50 years in Abernathy, Big Spring and St. Lawrence. As far as the family is concerned, He is Santa and we still believe! He was Santa for many years for the Big Spring Christmas parade. Dale also played Santa for the first Living Christmas Tree at the First United Methodist Church in Big Spring. He would Army Christmas Angel Tree is say, "It was an honor to be asked to share Santa experiences with families."

Dale loved sports, from his days of playing basketball in the fifth grade through high school to watching his kids and grandkids play sports. He traveled many years with the Big Spring High School band as a sponsor while his kids participated. Dale loved his many years he spent refereeing football and basketball all over the Panhandle of Texas. Dale also enjoyed the many years he spent on the air of KBST announcing the play by play of the Big Spring Steer football games and Howard College Hawk basketball games beside Winston Wrinkle.

Left to cherish his memories are his wife, Isabel Garcia Worthan; his children, Sonya Metcalf, Tammy and Jack Lockhart of Big Spring, Rory Worthan of Midland and Isaac Garcia of Big Spring; his sister and husband Earlene and Kenneth Boothe of Big Spring; a sister-in-law, Ann Worthan of Midland; his father-in-law, Jesse Garcia and Sally; and eight grandkids, Morgan Metcalf of Arlington; Clint and Aly Lockhart of Crowley; Whitney and Ryan Rodriguez of Midland; Clay Lockhart of Plainview; McKenzi Metcalf of Plainview and Drake Worthan of Big Spring. He was proud of his two great-grandkids, Harper Nicole Lockhart and Peighton Jeremiah Metcalf; plus several nieces and nephews. Dale will also be missed by all of his fourlegged friends but especially by Oscar, Bella and

Other than his parents, greeting him at the gate were his brothers, Weldon and Ancil Worthan, his sister and brother-in-law, Iva Joyce and Lee Roy Hill, and his mother-in-law, Virginia Garcia.

Funeral services will be held at 10 a.m. Monday, Oct. 20, 2014, at First Baptist Church with the Rev. Mark Lindsey officiating. Interment will follow at Trinity Memorial Park.

The family will receive friends from 4 p.m. to 6 p.m. Sunday, Oct. 19, 2014, at Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home.

Despite a recent federal court decision striking down Texas' voter ID law, voters will still be required to present valid photo identification before they will be allowed to cast a ballot, Bloom said.

"That court did overturn the law, but an appeals court issued a stay on the ruling to leave it in effect for this election," Bloom said.

Texas case was different from the clashes in North Carolina and Ohio because a federal judge held a full trial on the Texas election procedures and developed "an extensive record" finding the process discriminated against ballot access. Texas has enforced its tough voter ID in elections since the Supreme Court in June 2013 effectively eliminated the heart of the Voting Rights Act, which had prevented Texas and eight other states with histories of discrimination from changing election laws without permission. Critics of the Texas measure, though, said the new ID requirement has not been used for an election for Congress and the Senate, or a high-turnout statewide election like the race for governor. Ramos' issued her ruling on October 9. Five days later, the 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in New Orleans put her decision on hold and cited a 2006 Supreme Court opinion that warned judges not to change the rules too close to Election Day.

The challengers in Texas said that the last time the Supreme Court allowed a voting law to be used in a subsequent election after it had been found to be unconstitutional was in 1982. That case from Georgia involved an at-large election system that had been in existence since 1911.

Republican lawmakers in Texas and elsewhere say voter ID laws are needed to reduce voter fraud. Democrats contend that such cases are extremely rare and

A CRITICAL EAR

A night on Bald Mountain ... and other places

he symphony is back and it is full throated. Any doubters should have had their skepticism muted. Last Saturday, the program was sold as selections of "scary" music; and some of the works conjured up visions of clattering bones and screaming spirits.

But some, like Smetana's "The Moldau" and Grieg's "Morning," were quite simply beautiful. Over all, it was the most tuneful offering in my memory. Who but a soulless child would not re-invision Bugs Bunny and Elmer Fudd when the strings rose with the haunting "Ride of the Valkyries?" I had to stifle an embarrassed impulse to bellow out "kill da Wabbit! kill da Wabbit!"

The tuxedoed orchestra itself seemed to take on the image of a great black and white whale rising from the depths of some ancient fjord as Sibelius' stirringly patriotic "Finlandia" filled the Garrett

I could go on about the "upclose" intimacy of the venue, the wonderful annotations the conductor, Keith Graumann, delivered in preface to his selections, as well as the skill of our fellow West Texans with their collective heads down in a determined lyrical effort to produce the best music their individual instruments would allow, but I've said enough to hopefully attract you to their holiday music in December.

In short, I liked the program: simple and familiar. Though I believe part of the job a symphony is to expand the musical palate of its subscribers, I also believe there is comfort and sensibility in presenting the more toe-tappingly familiar in the season's first offering.

Well done, I say. Thanks for reminding us that there would be little more "scarier" than the cultural vacuum that could never be filled without our very own Symphony.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Let's debate

TO THE EDITOR: This is an open letter to "Make a Challege" to my opponent Mr. Fitzgibbons to a public debate. I believe if he is to win this election, he should win it by showing the Big Spring/Howard County community his full-range of credentials and experience.

If he is to win it, let him win it, but not with slick-yard and street signs. Let's talk the issues in a public forum.

I believe Big Spring, Texas, is fixing to make a mistake; because if Mr. Robert Fitzgibbons is elected, all he will do is re-create another police department on the third floor of the Howard County Courthouse.

I don't believe that is good for Big Spring.

I, Carlos A. Leal, feel that I am the "Objective about or expe-Candidate" for the position of Howard County Justice of the Peace, Pct.1, Place 2.

Because I am university educated, have a bittersweet — like variety of experience that is better suited for this "important judicial position," for Howard County.

Therefore, let's debate in a public forum to compare credentials and qualifications.

See you there.

at Shick was a person who was in love with life and expressed that love in many ways.

His house was a labyrinth of passageways and rooms filled with bottles, fossils and all the things he collected. At Christmastime, he tied tin can lids on trees and they whirled and sparkled. When he married his wife Holly he made a cheesecloth path among the West Texas brush to the church nearby. He twisted the gest news story ever to come out of Big Spring. One Sunday morning he put a rose on his pastor's pulpit. The preacher didn't think about it but for 20 years a single rose was delivered to him, whether he was aboard ship, traveling in another state or wherever he was. Finally the word got out that the sender of the secret rose was going to be revealed in the following Sunday service. The pastor, Dr. P. D. O'Brien, asked who had been sending the rose all these 20 years. From a rear pew, Nat stood up. "Why, Nat," the preacher asked. Nat said, "I just wanted to."

Associated Press ran the story and reporters all over the country contacted Nat. They loved the story and had fun talking to Nat. Paul Harvey used the story.

Nat carved totem poles. He made his first one in 1934 and eventually made 20 of them, some taking as long as three years to complete. They are found in several cities, Six Flags Amusement Park in Arlington and even as far away as Japan.

Nat got hold of the first telephone pole in Big Spring and used it to make a totem pole 30 feet high. It was placed in the Big Spring City Park with a Boy Scout ceremony in 1939.

Nat kept it in good shape, going out every two years to repaint it and make any necessary repairs. It became a Big Spring landmark and residents were proud of it.

A few years ago, vandals chopped down the totem pole. Since Nat died in 1973, it had not had as much care as when he was alive. When the tall pole fell to the ground, it shattered because woodpeckers and termites had done their damage.

In the 60s, James Johnston was a teenager and used to go to the pole with Nat to help with the upkeep. When James, now living near Austin, learned about the vandalism, he got the pole, took it to his workshop and carefully restored it.

It is in two pieces now, one about 15 feet high and the other about half that. The poles are going on display at Big Spring's Heritage Museum on November Commemorative writing pens, made from the discarded cedar wood by District Judge Tim Yeats, will be for sale. Three other Nat Shick poles will also be on display.

e non-celebrities of the world — and there are millions of us — are fueled by whirling curiosity about show business folks of glitz and glamour abiding comfortably in luxury's lap. On familial matters of the rich and famous, we are the one between the late Henry Fonda with his daughter Jane. On a TV talk show the other night, she spoke warmly of her dad — with whom she claims she had only two serious disagreements. One was her memorable, animated — and often asinine opposition to the Vietnam War. It was heart-breaking for her dad and many other Americans. And it likely left a crack in her heart, Did she ever have detractors! She was the butt of jokes, the subject of sneers and a ready reason for ridicule.

When Al Capp — the artist/ philosopher who created Li'l Abner — went around the country committing speeches back in the '70s, Jane's name always came up. "People think I don't like Jane Fonda," he'd say. "Why, I'd like to send her a dozen roses this very night if I only knew which jail she's in!"

He also responded to questions planted in audiences. For instance, "Does your wooden leg ever bother you?" ... "Only when I forget to grease it."

Back to Jane. Now 76 and acting like it, she spoke warmly of Henry, and the eagerness with which she accepted her On Golden Pond role some 33 years ago. Maybe that "nailed down" a healing relationship with her dad in this classic movie that included Katherine Hepburn in a starring role.

During the several months of movie-making in New Hampshire, many "I'm sorries" no doubt were exchanged — her to him and him to her.

She treasures her placement on the Chinese Theater's "Walk of Fame" in Hollywood. Her hand and footprints pressed down there last year, right next to her father's, implanted in 1942. They let her add a little peace symbol — perhaps mostly to him, but to millions of others as well. That did it; I've got to watch On Golden Pond again. ... Her dad waited a long time for an Oscar, finally earning one for his crusty retired college professor role in Pond — a half-century into his acting career.

A colorful man with the Midas touch, Buffett didn't have to wait nearly so long for recognition. He has been a national figure now in the limelight for several decades, but he entertained in a different way.

Few people realize that he was behind the clever verses Burma-posts across the nation. His office confirmed to me that he indeed wrote for Burma-Shave more than 60 years ago. The signs represented an advertising budget of leanest proportions, but wound up selling boxcar loads of shaving cream, as well as amusing millions of motorists.

It doesn't strike me as the sort of thing a University of Nebraska student would have done. However, many of us had unlikely jobs for extra cash during college years. He was creative then, and remains so now, applying his genius in the business world. He has accrued billions of dollars. His record of generosity, a portfolio packed with the fruits of good judgment and his smiles and eye twinkles, make him easy to trust. We follow him eagerly, this most successful investor of the 20th century who has pledged 99 percent of his fortune to philanthropy.

He makes clever remarks and is quoted regularly. His love for humankind has long since blown past Nebraska's borders. Thank you, Warren Buffett. I wish you'd run for something. Whichever office you'd seek, you'd win in a landslide — no need for a run-off.

How fortunate America is to have men like Fonda and Buffett as icons. Most of us see them only from afar, yet, in many ways, they've seemed only heartbeats away.

Calls mount for an Ebola travel ban, but experts worry it could backfire

WASHINGTON (AP) — A ban on travel from West Africa might seem like a simple and smart response to the frightening Ebola outbreak there. It's become a central demand of Republicans on Capitol Hill and some Democrats, and is popular with the public. But health experts are nearly unanimous in saying it's a bad idea that could backfire.

The experts' key objection is that a travel ban could prevent needed medical supplies, food and health care workers from reaching Liberia, Sierra Leone and Guinea, the nations where the epidemic is at its worst. Without that aid, the deadly virus might spread to wider areas of Africa, making it even more of a threat to the U.S. and the world, experts say.

In addition, preventing people from the affected countries from traveling to the U.S. could be difficult to enforce and might generate counterproductive results, such as people lying about their travel history or attempting to evade screening.

The U.S. has not instituted a travel ban in response to a disease outbreak in recent history. The experts insist now is not the time to start, especially given that the disease is still extremely contained in the U.S. and the only people who have caught it here are two health care workers who cared for a sick patient who later died.

"If we know anything in global health it's that you can't wrap a whole region in cellophane and expect to keep out a rapidly moving infectious disease. It doesn't work that way," said Lawrence Gostin, a professor and global health expert at Georgetown University Law Center. "Ultimately people will flee one way or another, and the more infection there is and the more people there are, the more they flee and the more unsafe we are."

Officer tells investigators he feared for his life during struggle

WASHINGTON (AP) — The police officer who fatally shot an unarmed 18-year-old in a St. Louis suburb last summer has told investigators that he was pinned in his vehicle and in fear for his life as they struggled over his gun, The New York Times reported.

Ferguson, Missouri, police officer Darren Wilson has told authorities that Michael Brown reached for the gun during a scuffle, the Times reported in a story posted on its website Friday night. The officer's account to authorities did not explain why he fired at Brown multiple times after emerging from his vehicle, according to the newspaper.

The Times reported that the account of Wilson's version of events came from government officials briefed on the federal civil rights investigation into the Aug. 9 shooting that sparked racial unrest and weeks of protests, some of which turned violent. Wilson is white and Brown black.

Wilson confronted Brown and a friend while they were walking back to Brown's home from a convenience store. After the shooting, Brown died at the scene. Some witnesses have told authorities and news media that Brown had his hands raised when Wilson approached with his weapon and fired repeatedly. An independent autopsy commissioned by the family says that Brown was shot at least six times, including twice in the head.

The Times reported that Wilson has told investigators that he was trying to leave his SUV when Brown pushed him back in and that once inside the vehicle the two began to fight. Wilson told authorities that Brown punched and scratched him repeatedly, leaving swelling on his face and cuts on his neck, the Times reported.

GOP going after House Dems from districts that backed Romney, but few prove to be pushovers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans are waging a take-no-prisoners battle to boot Democrats from what they consider GOP property: seats from House districts that presidential nominee Mitt Romney carried in

Yet even with President Barack Obama's broad unpopularity clamping a lead weight to the ankles of many of his party's candidates, most of these contests are either tossups or races that Democrats have a decent chance of winning on Election Day.

Democrats hold nine Romney-won House congressional districts, dotting the country from Florida's Atlantic Ocean beaches to rural Minnesota to Arizona's border with Mexico. So far, two races seem decided: The retirements of long-time Democratic incumbents Mike McIntyre of North Carolina and Jim Matheson of Utah all but ensure GOP victories in the Nov. 4 voting.

"That is a terrific opportunity," GOP pollster David Winston said of the Democratic-held Romney districts. "But I want to emphasize, that's an opportunity, not an outcome."

The nine seats are prime targets for Republicans as they try to pad their 233-199 House majority, which excludes three vacancies.

McCamey stuns Forsan in OT

By TOMMY WELLS

Sports Editor

Heading into the week, Forsan High School head coach Jason Phillips said he expected an all-out battle from the McCamey Badgers on Friday night, and that his team would need to stay focused and put together four solid quarters of play to win.

By all accounts, the Buffaloes did just that on Friday night in McCamey.

Unfortunately for Forsan, the game went five quarters.

McCamey scored twice in the overtime period – once on offense and once on defense, and raced to a stunning 32-20 victory.

The Badgers, now 3-4 for the season, struggled to contain Jesse Cervantes and the Buffalo offense in the fourth quarter. Forsan, after falling behind by a 20-6 clip in the third quarter, rallied for two touchdowns in the final 12 minutes of regulation to force the overtime period.

start in OT. After losing five yards early in the first possession, Badger quarterback Adrian Alonzo gave McCamey the lead by tossing a 30yard scoring strike to Aliq DeLeon.

Forsan wasn't quite as lucky on their ensuing possession. McCamey's Eric Garcia intercepted a FHS pass at the Badger 10 and returned it 90 yards for a score that sealed the stunning upset.

With the loss, Forsan suf-McCamey got off to a quick fered only its second defeat of the season, falling to 6-2 overall and to 1-1 in District 3-2A

Forsan got off to a solid start against the Badgers. Forsan scored the game's first points early in the first quarter when Cervantes broke free on a quarterback keeper and raced 43 yards for a touchdown.

The Buffaloes' PAT try failed, leaving them holding a 6-0 lead just 3 minutes into the matchup.

Late TD lifts Sands by Dawson

By TOMMY WELLS

The Sands High School Mustangs should probably be the posterchild for inventors all over the U.S. They do, after all, find new and interesting ways every week, to claim victories.

Dayton Eddleman scored on a 12yard run on the Mustangs' final offensve possession on Friday and powered the Mustangs to a nail-biting 78-70 win over the Dawson Dragons in Ackerly in a key District 6-A show-

With the victory, Sands remained atop the district standings with a perfect 2-0 record and, more importantly, moved to within a win of securing a postseason berth. Dawson fell to 1-1.

Eddleman was a one-man scoring machine for Sands. The SHS standout rushed for 275 yards against Dawson. He also passed for 168 more and a TD.

Dawson, despite touchdowns from Eddleman and Juan Diaz, jumped to the early lead. The Dragons outscored Sands by a 22-14 clip in the first 10 minutes of play.

Sands, now 3-5 for the year, roared back in the second quarter. After Diaz had opened the frame with a 12-yard TD run, Eddleman capped a 26-12 second quarter spree by running for a 1-yard score and tossing a 20-yard TD strike to Sergio Plata.

Diaz finished the game with 81 yards rushing and a pair of TDs on just 11 attempts. He also returned a kickoff 56 yards for a touchdown in the third.

STANTON - With 27 seconds on the clock and the score knotted at 20-20, Coahoma High School head coach Trey Gardner could have played it safe on Friday night in front of a large crowd at Buffalo Stadium in Stanton.

Taking a knee on third down at their own 32 would have likely meant a fourth-down punt and, in all likelihood, capped a 13-0 second-half run by the Bulldogs that could have led to an overtime period against Stanton.

With his team lined up in for the kneel down play, Gardener admitted the fear of having to punt the ball back to Stanton got the best of him. Just before the snap, he glanced at his defensive coordinator and asked if he cared if the team ran another play.

The answer he got in return? Go for Gardner didn't hesitate from there, quickly calling for a timeout.

"I'll be honest with you, I was scared to death of having to punt the ball back to them," said Gardner. " It turned out to be a good decision on our part, thank goodness."

Actually, Braxton Iden and Kyler Franks made it a great idea, and rode it to a thrilling 27-20 come-frond victory over the biggest rival in a crucial District 3-3A showdown.

Following the timeout, The Bulldogs

The Big Spring High School swim team is going to get in a little extra time in the water as they make their preparations for the upcoming district swim meet.

BSHS officials nounced recently that the Steers' swim team is adding a dual meet with Lubbock to the schedule next month. The two teams are scheduled to compete on Nov. 18 in Lubbock.

The Steers are coached by Randall Shaw.

Runner quits race to help injured opponent

By LOUISE OLESON Special to the Herald

Devils Lake High School senior Melanie Bailey said she simply "Did the right thing" Saturday while running at girls' varsity cross country at the Ponderosa Golf Course in Glyndon, Minn.

At just past the twomile mark of the 2.4-mile course, Bailey said she found the runner ahead of her, Fargo South's senior Danielle Lenoue, limping and crying, obviously in a great deal of pain. Bailey, instead of continuing on with her pace, stopped and offered help. Though the Fargo South runner kept telling her to "go on," she refused.

"She was just sobbing, I couldn't leave her," said Bailey, a former classmate of Big Spring resident Bobby Wells at Prairie View Elementary in Devils Lake, N.D.

Bailey said she tried having the Lenoue lean on her as they attempted to wak to where they could get help, but that didn't work.

"It wasn't enough," she explained.

McCamey answered back, however. The Badgers needed just 1:14 to erase the FHS lead. Alonzo ignited a 20-0 run when he hit Peyton Kennedy with a 48-yard scoring play at the 7:53 mark of the first quarter.

McCamey tacked on the ensuing PAT kick and held a 7-6 cushion.

Alonzo took over the contest from there. The MHS quarterback stretched the McCamey lead to 14-6 with a 6-yard TD run in the second quarter. He aded a 60-yard scoring run in the third quarter to hand the Badgers a 20-6 lead going into the final 12 minutes of regulation.

Cervantes and the Forsan offense proved to be equal to the challenge. Despite struggling for much of the game to move the ball, the Buffaloes reeled off a pair of touchdowns in the first 4 minutes of the fourth quarter and pulled into a 20-20 tie.

Cervantes got the Buffalo rally started just 1:54 into the fourth quarter by scoring on a 16-yard run.

Less than 2 minutes later, he pushed his way into the MHS end zone from four yards out for another TD to cut the Badgers' lead to 20-18 with 8:10 left to play.

Cervantes finished the night with a teamhigh 135 yards rushing on 20 carries.

Down by two, Forsan decided to go for the two-point cenoversion. Ryan Pearson hauled in a pass from Cervantes on the extra-point play and knotted the game at 20-20.

Offensively, the Buffaloes were limited to just 297 total yards – a pedestrian amount for a FHS team that entered the game averaging more then 40 points per outing. As a team, the Buffaloes rolled up 209 yards rushing, but were limited to just 88 through the air.

Walker Park was the Buffaloes' second-leading rusher in the affair. He finished with 72 yards on 19 attempts.

As a passer, Cervantes went 3-for-22 through the air.

Dawson's Autin De La Rosa opened the fourth by returning a SHS punt 26 yards for a touchdown. Moments later, Valero reeled off a 36-yard scamper that staked Dawson to a 70-62 advantage.

Valero accounted for the bulk of the Dragons 323 yards rushing in the contest. The DHS spreadback finished the affair with 316 yards and six TDs on 23 carries.

Eddleman managed to get the Mustangs offense in gear again from there. After reeling off a 42-yard scoring run that tied the game at 70-70, Eddleman closed out the win minutes later with his seventh rushing touchdown of the contest.

Deryk Renteria also contributed to the SHS victory, converting five extra-point kicks for 10 points.

Sands will return to play on Oct. 24 when it travels to face defending Div. II six-man state champion Grandfalls-Royalty. The game will be played in Grandfalls.

snapped the ball to quarterback Braxton Iden, who darted up the middle for a 29-yard gain. Stanton was flagged for a facemasking penalty at the end of the run, moving the Bulldogs to the Stanton 25 with less than 20 seconds to play.

Iden's run started a three-play effort that enabled Coahoma to steal away a win.

On the next play from scrimmage, Iden stunned the crowd by tossing a 22-yard pass over the middle to Franks. Franks' reception pushed the Bulldogs to the SHS 9 and gave CHS a first down with 9 seconds left.

From there, Iden took the next snap from center, turned to his right and faked a handoff to Joe Melendez before rolling out of the pocket to his left and high-stepping into the end zone for the game-winning touchdown with just 3 seconds left in regulation.

"It turned out good for us," said Iden. "We fought back and got it in when we had to."

Iden's TD capped a 20-0 run in the final two quarters of play and vaulted the Bulldogs to a 2-0 record in district play, and to 6-1 record overall.

The Bulldogs were doing anything but celebrating early in the game. Stanton, aided by a pair of costly turnovers, raced to a commanding 20-7 lead in the first half.

Coahoma drew first blood in the showdown. After the Bulldog defense had held on a 4thand-7 play at its own 31, the CHS offense found its stride. Coahoma marched its second possession of the game 69 yards in nine plays to grab a 7-0 cushion.

Franks provided the Bulldogs with a huge spark early in the drive. After a holding penalty had put the team in a deep hole, the junior running back reeled off a 26-yard scamper to the Stanton 29. Five plays later, Iden raced 16 yards for the game's first score.

Philip Bacon's PAT kick staked Coahoma to a 7-0 lead with 1:08 left in the first quarter.

Coahoma didn't have much reason to celebrate from there. The Buffaloes used a pair of turnovers to reel off 20 straight points in the second quarter.

Stanton didn't need any help in answering Coahoma's initial score. The Buffaloes covered an onside kick attempt on the ensuing kickoff and then raced 57 yards in five plays to draw even at 7-7.

Jonathan Tomlinson brought Stanton even on the first play of the second quarter by hauling in a 24-yard strike from SHS quarterback K.J. Glaspie.

The Bulldogs gave Stanton plenty of help from there. Coahoma fumbled away its next two possessions.

Glaspie scooped up a fumble on the third play of Coahoma's next series. His recovery set the SHS offense up at the Bulldogs' 29.

Stanton, now 2-5 overall and 0-2 in district, dug deep in its bag of tricks moments later to make the turnover sting. After gaining a total of two yards on their first three plays following the fumble recovery, Glaspie rifled a short pass to Jonathan Tomlinson in the right flats. Tomlinson alertly lateraled the ball to sophomore running back Alex Martinez, who danced his way into the end zone to complete the 29-yard hook-and-lateral play.

Martinez's TD gave Stanton a surprising 13-7 cushion with 8:08 left in the first half.

The Buffaloes were far from through. Just two minutes after Martinez's TD play, Stanton defensive back Caleb Arndt recovered a Coahoma fumble at the SHS 24.

14-plays later, Martinez took a pitch from Glaspie around the right side for two yards and a touchdown.

His second rushing TD of the game pushed Stanton's lead to 20-7 with 32 seconds left in the opening half.

Despite being down by two touchdowns, Gardner said his team didn't panic. The team simply went into the half and vowed to work hard to protect the ball.

"We didn't have a great first half," said Gardner. "Offensively, we just tried to cut down on the errors we were making. They responded and did a great job of staying in the fight, which is something they have done all year."

Coahoma answered the buzzer for the second half with a renewed passion. The Bulldogs took the kick and promptly reeled off a 10-play, 70yard scoring drive that cut the Buffaloes' lead to 20-13.

After beginning the drive with a penalty, Iden hooked up with Franks on a 25-yard pass play to give Coahoma a new set of downs at the Stanton 45. One play later, he scrambled for 13 more.

Moments later, Benjamin Chapa hauled in a 10-yard pass at the Buffalo 19 on a 4th-and-5 play.

Franks did the rest from there, scampering 19 yards for a touchdown on the next snap of the ball.

The Bulldogs managed to tie the game midway through the fourth quarter on a 22-yard pass from Iden to Franks.

Franks' second TD of the game knotted the score at 20-20 with 7:39 left in the game.

Both teams held the ball briefly from there, running off all but 45 seconds before Glaspie was called on to punt the ball deep into the Bulldogs' end with just 45 seconds left.

After a pair of incomplete passing attempts on first and second down, Iden stepped to the line of scrimmage with the intent to kneel on the ball and force the game into OT.

Gardner, however, changed his mind.

Learning Spanish at the Source

By ANDREIA MEDLIN

trip abroad is an opportunity anyone should embrace if given the chance.

Howard County Deputy Clerk Itzel Gomez did just that this summer when she took a two-month trip to Madrid, Spain. "I wanted to study

accurate Spanish," Itzel

explained, but learning money she raised on her Spanish at its source wasn't the only reason she wanted to visit the country. "It will help with my job and I wanted to expand my horizons too."

Traveling to a country 5,791 miles away can be costly, but 21 year-old was determined. With the help of her sister, who is stationed at the U.S. Air Force base in Madrid and married to a US Ambassador, and own with extra jobs and selling homemade burritos, Itzel was able to make the trip.

"It's expensive, but I stayed with my sister which helped a lot," she said. "It cost about $3,000 to $4,000, but if I hadn't stayed with her it could have been double or triple that amount."

She enrolled at Ele Madrid, where she completed a 10 hour Spanish immersion program designed to provide a complete cultural experience. The students are fully integrated with the Spanish course abroad and are provided an opportunity to experience life in a foreign country.

Itzel also tutored students in English for a friend of her sister's who houses foreign exchange students. A task that wasn't easy, she soon discovered. "I'm used to Tex-Mex," she explained. "Not accurate Spanish."

While she was focused on completing the program, the scenery and surroundings were not lost on her. She traveled to several towns to do some sight seeing including the Alcazar de Segovia in Segovia, Spain. Which is, according to Wikipedia, is "a castle, located in the old city of Segovia, Spain. "If you go to a grocery store you're not allowed to touch the fruit. You have to ask for what you wantandan employee gets it for you," she explained.

But despite having a little trouble at the grocery store, the trip was enjoyable and the differences in culture proved to be an eyeopener.

Big Spring Art Association

The Big Spring Art Association's September meeting was delightful, exhilarating, fun and much more! After the business part of the meeting was taken care of, Linda Rupard (program chairman) introduced artist Marvin Stevenson. Mr. Stevenson is a Texas watercolorist.

While painting a hibiscus (which he called a red flower), he shared his philosophy of painting. Although it involves his knowledge of art, his main goal is to have fun. Mrs. Stevenson was in attendance also. Mrs. Stevenson encouraged her husband to paint flowers because not everyone wanted a cowboy. Mrs. Stevenson is a photographer in her own right. Their works have been published in several books. We thoroughly enjoyed them.

Our next meeting is Tuesday, Oct. 21. If you have an interest in art of any kind and would like to share your art with like minded people, the Big Spring Art Association would be glad to have you. We are looking forward to another great meeting.

Our own Kay Smith, local artist, will be demonstrating. Kay has lots of accolades in her arsenal. She is an award winning artist whose work has been included in 12 publications. In addition, she is a contributing writer for Living Magazine, the Herald's monthly magazine and has illustrated two children's books.

Locally her art appears around town and can be seen at permanent locations such as Prosperity Bank, Heart of the City realtors, Red Mesa Grill, Big Spring Country Club and her own studio, Brushworks.

It is there she does custom commissions, framing, and painting lessons. She also teaches across Texas, New Mexico, and Florida and is an online instructor for Wet Canvas. Along with Carole Berry and Linda Rupard, she is co-founder of the Caboose Society, a local group promoting water media since 1997. Signature status has been earned with 8 fine art organizations. Licensing agreements vary with images on wine bottles, paper products and greeting cards. Online galleries can be seen with Daily Painters and Artspan.

Quickly paired with the British Anacreontic tune, the song was first publicly performed within a month of its creation.

The song not only gave us our national motto, In God Is Our Trust, but also inspired a new wave of national pride which caused the flag to become the most iconic emblem of the United States.

As was Francis Scott Key, Britton was born in Frederick, Md.

The chapter voted to contribute to a DAR Magazine ad honoring District X chairman Shirley Dobson of San Angelo and to the President General's project in honor of the first PG from Texas, Lynn Forney Young.

Jessica Williams was voted the chapter's 2014 outstanding junior member. Clara Lewis won the door prize, which included the official 200th Anniversary of The Star-Spangled Banner commemorative events guide from Fort McHenry.

The next meeting will be Nov. 8.

(AP) — A pet parrot that spoke with a British accent when it disappeared from its home four years ago has been reunited with its owner – and the bird now speaks Spanish.

The reunion was brought about by a Southern California veterinarian who mistook Nigel, an African grey parrot, for her own missing bird, the Daily Breeze reported Sunday.

Teresa Micco tracked Nigel's microchip to Darren Chick, a Brit who lives in Torrance.

"I introduced myself and said, 'Have you lost a bird?"' Micco told the newspaper. "He initially said, 'No.' But he thought I meant recently." When she verified she had his African grey parrot, "He looked at me like I was crazy."

BBB warns of the top 10 risky famous faces

Celebrity gossip may seem enticing at times but unfortunately many celebrities' faces come with the risk of phishing or malware. Most people are unaware of the risks that exist when searching for celebrity and entertainment news. "Click baiting" is a way to get someone's attention online. They engage with potential identity theft victims by offering something that is too intriguing to ignore like messages that claim new videos, shocking information or scandalous news. Often, click bait leads to a sketchy website or a link that downloads malware on the user's computer or smart phone.

pany McAfee has identified the "Most Dangerous Celebrities" whose names and images are most widely used by scammers as click bait. The riskiest personalities on the web are:

found on official video sites and don't require you to download anything. • Beware of clicking on third party links. Before you click, hoover the cursor over the link to see where it will take you. Don't click on links leading to unfamiliar websites. You should access content directly from official websites of content providers. For example, visit ABC.com to find Jimmy Kimmel's latest episodes. Always use password protection on your phone and other mobile devices. If you don't and your phone is lost or stolen, anyone who picks up the device could have access to your personal information online. • Using the cloud is like using someone else's computer – and some friends may have good security while others may not. Consumers should treat the cloud as any other asset that requires protecting. • Don't click just because a "friend" shared it. It might not actually be your friends who are liking or sharing on social media. Their account may have been hacked and scammers are attempting to spread phishing or malware links.

AgriLife Extension service to offer food manager course

Special to the Herald

LAMESA — Statistics indicate that foodborne illness continues to be a health issue in the United States. Each year, one in six Americans will become sick, 128,000 will become hospitalized, and 3,000 will die due to a foodborne illness.

Under the Texas Department of State Health Services jurisdiction, each food establishment is required to have one certified food manager on

Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service, Dawson County, is offering a professional food manager certification training course. This program will be offered for $125 on Nov. 12-13 in Lamesa.

Cost includes training, materials and a national food manager certification examination. The food manager's certification will be valid for five years. Contact Courtney Levens at the Extension Office, 806-872-3444, for more information, location of class and to register.

Registration deadline is Oct. 31.

This program will provide valuable education regarding the safe handling of food.

Grant approved for Eisenhower memorial

WASHINGTON (AP) A key arts panel has ing the Paris Catacombs approved a revised design for a memorial to honor President Dwight D. Eisenhower in Washington, which could clear the way for groundbreaking.

The U.S. Commission of Fine Arts voted Thursday to approve Frank Gehry's design. A federal planning agency also recently approved the design.

Gehry designed a memorial park with statues of Eisenhower. A large metal tapestry depicting the Kansas landscape of his boyhood home would serve as the backdrop.

Exhibits include dog paintings, dog sculptures and displays about famous dogs. But what really makes this St. Louis museum unique is the visitors: Dogs are welcome, and curators aren't worried about the canines knocking things over or making a mess.

"We do it and have been doing it for many years, and to my knowledge it's never caused a problem," said Stephen George, executive director of the American Kennel Club Museum of "The dogs are trained and socialized well. Little dogs, big dogs, inbetween dogs. ... We have dogs here virtually every day," he said, adding with a laugh that people are more likely to cause problems in

The museum, housed in an 1853 historic home in Queeny Park, is affiliated with the American Kennel Club. Its exhibits include a Hall of Fame that honors champion dogs from various competitions, with dogs from pop culture, such as Rin Tin Tin, and service dogs of distinction, like those that have done searchand-rescue work.

The museum also hosts guest dogs so visitors can learn about various breeds, and offers space for dog club meetings and dog trainings. A lecture series includes an upcoming program Nov. 2 on Jim the Wonder Dog, who lived in Marshall, Missouri, and gained a reputation in the 1930s for supposedly being able to predict competition winners and the gender of unborn babies.

The museum was founded in 1982 in New York City, but moved to St. Louis a few years later. George, who took over the museum about a year ago, says the museum still relatively unknown. It attracts about 10,000 visitors annually, but he hopes to broaden the outreach.

One of the most striking things about dog paintings is how hard it is to guess their age. When art depicts people or objects, there are often clues to the era from dress or decor. But a dog painted in the 19th century may not appear all that different from a dog painted in the 21st century.

The museum relies on donations and bequests, and it doesn't claim to have a comprehensive survey of famous dog art, there are no William Wegman weimaraners

Paris Catacombs to be open Halloween

PARIS (AP) As if visitin the daytime wasn't creepy enough, you can now visit the underground maze of skeletons after nightfall, too. That is if you dare defy The Eisenhower Memorial Commission that's the warning at the the empire of Death."

The subterranean tunmeters (1.2 miles), cradle the bones of some 6 million Parisians from centuries past and once gave refuge to smug-

Twenty meters (66 feet) beneath the French capital's medieval streets, labyrinthine walls of bones and skulls bring visitors into the city of the dead, in a spooky atmosphere that attracts history enthusiasts as well as visitors looking for a chilling place to celebrate Halloween.

The site used to close at 5 p.m., but is now staying open until 8 p.m. The change is mainly aimed at allowing more people to visit and reducing long lines, but it also adds to the thrill: entering and leaving the catacombs after dark feels different from doing it in daylight.

Human remains started to be transferred to the former underground quarries of Paris in 1786, when the main cemetery of Paris, the Cemetery of Innocents, was closed for public health reasons. From 1809 on, the catacombs were rearranged into organized galleries, with piled bones forming walls and pillars, and even some artistic shapes made of femurs and skulls.

Sacred and profane maxims and poems are posted around the galleries, such as: "Think in the morning that perhaps you won't survive until evening, and in the evening that perhaps you won't survive until morning."

Guillaume,

director Catacombs, stressed the philosophical nature of the unusual tourist site. "The place was not conceived to be a horror place, but as a reflection on the meaning of life and death," she said.

Sylvie Robin, the Catacombs' curator, described the extensive smuggling that went on in the tunnels in the past and contributed to its scary reputation. "That's the origin of all the legends," she said, because the smugglers used to scare the Parisians with lights and noises, so that no one would come and see what they were doing.

Maui birthday invite washes ashore in California

A Central California outing turned into a mystery after a bottle turned up with an invitation to a party in Hawaii, four years ago.

David Wilson of Nipomo says he and his family went to Shell Beach on Sunday to fish but it was too

Wilson lost his sandal to a wave, but it brought him something else. While feeling for the shoe, he found a plastic bottle sealed with a cork. Inside was a tattered piece of paper dated 2010 from Maui.

It appears to be a hand-written invitation to a birthday party from a little girl named Safina. Her mother's name is Kim and their last name may Woodstocker.

KEYT-TV says there were phone numbers on the paper they've been disconnected.

Police: McDonald's kidnapping from bad marijuana

SANTA FE, N.M. (AP) Police say a dispute at a Santa Fe McDonald's wasn't over a Quarter Pounder but a pound of weed.

The Santa Fe New Mexican reports 41-year-old Khadijah Sharif was arrested Wednesday after authorities say she held an 18-year-old at gunpoint over $2,500 of "bad marijuana."

According police, Sharif confronted Obadiah Boon at the McDonald's and demanded her money back or better weed. Boon told police Sharif was holding him against his will with a gun and wasn't going to let him go until she got her money back. Police say officers later confiscated a Glock 199 mm pistol from Sharif. Sharif is facing a number of charges including kidnapping and conspiracy. She is being held without bond.

It was not known if she had an attorney.

Encourage Kids to Give Back This Halloween

(Family Features) As they gear up for Halloween this year, kids across the United States can make a difference in the lives of kids around the world by raising funds for those in need.

Trick-or-Treat UNICEF, a 64-year-old American tradition, is a program that provides donations of medicine, nutrition, clean water, emergency relief and education to children around the world. Below are some of the ways families involved.

Donations go digital In addition to going door-to-door with traditional orange boxes to collect coins UNICEF, for the first time kids and parents can now set up individual fundraising pages on Crowdrise for their friends and family memdonate. to Participants also can turn their Halloween parties into Trick-or-Treat for UNICEF fundraisers by creating a donation page and including a link to it in their party invitation. To get started, visit www.trickortreatforunicef.org" www.trickor-

Is It Hearing Loss... or Just Ear Wax?

Wax build-up can cause temporary hearing loss.

- Extra wax can harden in the ear canal and block the ear.
- Incorrect cleaning can cause wax to be pushed deeper into the canal.
- Symptoms include earache, sensation that the ear is plugged, noises in the ear, partial hearing loss.

West North East South Pass Opening lead — king of spades. Here is a dream hand played once upon a time by Dorothy Hayden Truscott. She didn't actually play the hand — it occurred in one of her rare bridge dreams — but it features a play the likes of which you've probably never seen. Mrs. Truscott held the East cards, and South got to five diamonds on the bidding shown. West led the king of spades and continued with the ace.

king and tried a trump finesse, losing to West's queen. Back came a second heart, on which declarer played dummy's jack. He reasoned that playing the king and discarding one club wouldn't help him a bit, because he had two small clubs to worry about, so one discard was virtually useless. South therefore finessed the jack, and Mrs. Truscott — in her dream – followed low. South discarded a club on the jack of hearts and then because he did not know that the clubs were so favorably divided, and naturally thought West had at least one more heart — continued with the ace of hearts, on which he discarded his remaining small club. West ruffed, and declarer went down one. Of course, had Mrs. Truscott played her queen of hearts on dummy's jack, as she surely would have had she been awake, South would have ruffed and made the contract by drawing trumps and playing the A-K of clubs. The moral of the story seems to be that it's much easier to play good bridge when you're asleep than when you're awake! Tomorrow: Famous Hand.

illnesses are real and treatment is available. According to the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration, one in five people ages 18 to 25 experienced a mental illness in the past year, and more than 66 percent did not receive treatment. These reports highlight the need for young adults to recognize the symptoms of depression and anxiety in themselves and others and seek treatment. October is Depression Awareness Month, which is a great time to reach out for help. extremely bossy and always involved in projects. For some reason, she expects me to do all of her legwork and, of course, takes full credit.

I work from home. She doesn't like taking no for an answer, so she constantly texts, calls and hounds me until I give in. How can I politely tell her that I'm too busy and would prefer that she leave me alone? -- Sick of Being Bossed in N.Y.

Dear Sick: You need a tougher spine. She will never give up if she knows you will eventually give in. Prove her wrong. Keep saying no. Don't answer her texts or calls. Write "Sorry, I can't help you" on a piece of paper and read it to her as many times as necessary. It will take a while, but you can do this. Hang in there.

Dear Annie: Like

"Stunned in Texas," I also have a problem with these mass invitations to bridal or baby showers. In such cases, I will send a card, but not a gift. However, when I do attend a baby shower, I give a baby gift and also a "Daddy" gift -- a book for him to read to his newborn child. -- B.H. in Louisiana

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Humor is your best defense system today. Apply it to perpetuate a certain frame of mind, to avoid falling into the emotional abyss called "deadly serious" or to state the truth in a less

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Enjoy yourself. That's a novel idea these days as you work so hard to fulfill all of your commitments and responsibilities. What if you made a commitment to fun? Too decadent? Try threatening way.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). Your life is like a full cup. There's so much in it right now that it has to be carried very carefully and steadily. Don't rush to make a fast move in any direction. When in doubt, stillness is the answer.

CANCER (June 22-July

22). You're a creative force. The best way to stifle a creative force is to give it lots of rules and guidelines and requirements. If someone is making you feel less than free to create, that person is not the right partner for you.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). You don't always understand poetry. In fact, it often seems impossible to understand. But there will be something that makes perfect sense precisely because it speaks to you poetically today.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If only one person is to blame, there's no fight. When the argument goes on and on, it's a sure sign that the blame is shared, and so it's only right that the fight, which today will feel quite like a dance, should be balanced, as well.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You may find it difficult to stay present and do what makes you happy right now when you are more aware than ever that you're going to spend the rest of your life in the future. Planning is the order of the day.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Those things that are meant to distract us from what pulls us down are important, if only for the function they serve. You'll think about this as someone shares a seemingly superfluous detail with you. It matters

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Your love is not blind as love tends to be, and you even may worry that it's a little too filled with vision today. You see up close intimately, and you see a distant future, too.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-

Jan. 19). Be open to all of the suggestions, even the ones from people who aren't normally wise, helpful or even sensible. Some of the best words will come from the mouths of babes.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Your popularity depends on diplomacy. Not saying everything you know, pretending you don't know, slanting your talk in a favorable direction -- you'll be good at this.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Operating in society can be downright challenging. You may get the chance to show your stellar manners by having to put up with (or more likely ignore) other people's bad manners.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 19). You've set your mind to maximum enjoyment and minimum stress, and that's how you'll go into this new year. November brings a special friendship. Family happenings keep December adventurous. You'll be promoted in January and start saving extra money for a longterm goal. An important deal will close in March. Pisces and Scorpio people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 10, 3, 22, 39 and 5.

FORECAST FOR THE WEEK AHEAD: How do you deal with change? Does thinking about it put butterflies in your stomach? Do you close your eyes and jump? Or do you take slow, tiptoe baby steps into the new situation testing the waters as you go? Whatever your process, get ready, because we're all about to go through it with this week's Scorpio shift. Scorpio is the part of the sky that rules birth and death, the extremes of transformation. This is not to be taken too literally, however. Every time we grow, we say goodbye to the person we were. Even the most incremental change represents a new you.

And since you cannot inhabit the old you and the new you at the same time, there's a little death with every new incarnation. Thursday, October 23, gets the makeover party started with the partial solar eclipse and the new Scorpio moon. The sun and Venus both enter Scorpio on Thursday, too. These rapid-fire astral events give Thursday an exciting quality. If it were a movie, the musical score would be full orchestration with lots of suspense and dynamics and a surprise, jump-out-of-your-seat emphasis. Breathe, relax and enjoy the entertainment.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Ty Pennington has transformed the lives of thousands of people while winning Emmys and inspiring millions of television viewers along the way. Now helming his own lines, from fabrics to furniture, the home-improvement guru embodies his sun and Mercurv (communication) in Libra, the sign of beauty and fine design. It's also easy to see the influence
