Big Spring High School Band members celebrate after receiving a Division I rating — the highest possible — at the Region 6 Marching Contest in Odessa Saturday. The BSHS band now advances to Area competition.

Big Spring, Forsan bands earn top rating at marching contest

BY LYNDEL MOODY

It proved to be a tough day for bands competing in the UIL Region 6 Marching contest Saturday as judges particular in the Class 2-3A divisions were very sparing in awarding top ratings. However, Howard County schools fared well for the most part with two earning a Division I rating and a third earning Division II for their marching routines.

Big Spring High School
 A loud cheer boomed from Ratliff Stadium after results were announced that the Big Spring High School Steer band earned a Division I rating.

"This was their best performance so far," said Rocky Harris, BSHS band director. "They marched at the end of the 4A contest, and they had to do well. They did, and we got quite a lot of compliments from all the judges."

Leading the band this year are drum majors Karla Carrasco and Brianna Gonzalez. Four soloists are featured the band's Latin-themed show including Nick Connor, Joyel Martinez, Donovan Salinaz, and Kattlin Long.

With the rating, BSHS qualifies for the next step, Area competition to be held this Saturday in Lubbock. The top three out of an expected 15 to 20 bands to compete will qualify for State held later this fall.

Class 4A results were: Fort Stockton HS, 2; Pecos HS, 1; Monahans HS, 1; Andrews HS, 1; Greenwood HS, 1; Lamesa HS, 1; and Big Spring HS, 1.

Coahoma High School
 In what could be termed brutal competition, Coahoma High School received a Division II rating. The band was in good company as, out of nine bands, only three received a Division I rating. The 58-member band performed their Latin show, which includes "El Torro March," "Sway," and

Gasoline prices still falling

Special to the Herald

Average retail gasoline prices in Texas have fallen 7.7 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $2.93 a gallon Sunday, according to GasBuddy's daily survey of 13,114 gas outlets in Texas.

This compares with the national average that has fallen 6.1 cents per gallon in the last week to $3.12 per gallon, according to gasoline price website GasBuddy.com.

Including the change in gas prices in Texas during the past week, prices yesterday were 17.9 cents per gallon lower than the same day one year ago and are 22.4 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 22.9 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 23.1 cents per gallon lower than this day one year ago.

"The national average again saw a hefty decline over the last week, and we now stand a mere dime away from seeing prices nationally average under $3 a gallon," said GasBuddy.com senior petroleum analyst Patrick DeHaan.

The national average stands now at its lowest point since Jan. 18, 2011, and by the end of this week, it could stand at its lowest since late 2010.

"Every day, Americans are spending over $100 million less on their gasoline purchases than they did a year ago, some of which will be injected back into the economy in other forms, and with the economic concerns taking shape lately, it could help jolt things back in the right direction," DeHaan said.

"I still do believe that the national average will break the $3/gallon mark by around Election Day — the timing is ironic, considering the drop has nothing to do with Election Day and everything to do with current ongoings, such as a price war between some OPEC members and jitters about the health of the global economy."

Saturday wreck claims Midlander

By STEVE REAGAN
 Staff Writer

A late Saturday evening accident west of Big Spring claimed the life of a Midland man.

Alfred B. Tochterman III, 34, died from injuries sustained when his pickup collided with a tractor-trailer driven by Clint Faulkner of Big Spring at about 10:45 p.m. Saturday on State Highway 176 five miles east of Lenorah.

Department of Public Safety reports state Tochterman's vehicle was westbound on Highway 176 when it drifted into the eastbound lane and struck Faulkner's tractor-trailer, which was eastbound on the highway.

Tochterman was declared dead at the scene by Martin County Justice of the Peace Jarrell W. Hedrick and his body was transported to Stanton Memorial Funeral Home.

Road conditions were clear and dry and both drivers were wearing their seat belts at the time of the accident, the DPS report stated.

On the road to discover world's funniest person

By JOHN ROGERS
 Associated Press

LOS ANGELES — It was last summer and Israeli-Palestinian tensions were at the highest they'd been in some time when Jamie Masada hit on a formula for world peace: Forget about guns and bombs, and just tell jokes to each other.

The onetime stand-up comic is, after all, the owner of the venerable Hollywood nightclub The Laugh Factory, so the idea wasn't unfamiliar. Still, it's one thing to get a liquored-up audience laughing at lines like, "Take my mother-in-law — please."

It's another to bring people from across the world who dislike each other together — and hope they will laugh at each other. And yet, that's what he's trying to do with what he calls the first Funniest Person in the World competition.

Masada has scoured comedy festivals from Afghanistan to South Korea and Egypt to Israel for candidates and had online voters winnow the list to 10 semi-finalists who would perform at the Laugh Factory and before a worldwide Internet audience on Oct. 20.

After online voters narrow the list to five, the finalists will travel to the Laugh Factory's sister club in Las Vegas. There, following another competition and vote, the winner will be crowned on Oct. 24, United Nations Day. "It might sound stupid," Masada says. "But some people, they sit down, they break bread together, they never hurt each other. Some people, they sit down, they laugh together, they never hurt each other."

He says he has already seen the approach work — at least on a small scale.

During the latest Palestinian-Israeli tensions, Masada, an Iranian-born Jew, got the idea of defusing them for at least one night by hosting a comedy exhibition featuring locally popular Jewish comedians sharing the stage with their Muslim counterparts.

The idea was that both sides would get together and learn a little something about each other. Instead, both sides gathered on opposite ends of the club and engaged in an unnerving stare down that prompted Masada to start the show early.

Sunda Croonquist, a black, Orthodox Jew who lives in Beverly Hills, opened things by pointing out to the audience that white people frequently mistake her for Puerto Rican: "I tell them there are two groups of people who know that I'm black."

"Other black people and the Beverly Hills Police Department," she said. Soon jokes were flying about wearing a keffiyeh, an Arab headdress, to an airport and watching people cower in fear. Or of mischievous Muslims who crank up Persian music on the car stereo because they have found it frightens white drivers even more than hip-hop.

And, suddenly, both sides were laughing.

"At the end of the night they were hugging each other," Croonquist marveled, and Masada was off in search of the world's funniest person.

Some suggested he might save time simply by putting in calls to people like Dave Chapelle, Jay Leno or numerous others who have headlined The Laugh Factory over the past 35 years. But Masada was having none of that.

The comedy impresario wanted an Olympics-style competition, and even if the contestants weren't strictly amateurs — which they aren't in the Olympics, anyway — they would be from all over the world.

So in Europe he found Mustapha El Atrassi, a French-born Muslim comic who sometimes dons a helmet and parodies the French music duo Daft Punk.

"They say we hide our faces to keep up the mystery," he tells the audience in thickly accented English as he impersonates both members of Daft Punk. "But it's not true. We just hide our faces because we are very ugly."

From Finland was Ishmo Leikola, who says he has found the solution to America's national debt problem: don't pay it. "The country has an army. The bank has four cashiers and a cleaning lady."

Masada, meanwhile, learned that comedy already is an international sport.

"I'm looking forward to the competition because the Chinese guy, the Pakistani guy are friends of mine and I've crossed paths with a couple of the others on the comedy festival circuit," one of the 10 finalists, United Arab Emirates representative Nitin Mirani, said during a phone interview — from India.

But can comedy really facilitate peace?

Mirani, for one, thinks so, if you spread the jokes far and wide enough. "I think comedy is one of the most sincere ways of entertaining and educating people," he says. "I connect with you, you connect with me and we have a good time."

The blankets and quilts will be placed under the Guild Christmas Tree at the Heritage Museum during the Tree of Lights.

Drum majors from the band are Kelli Schaedel and Heather Goodger. Both leaders earned Outstanding Drum Majors in the Class 3A division earlier this month at the Concho Classic Festival where the band earned a Division I rating.

Class 3A results were: Alpine HS, 2; Colorado HS, 1; Stanton HS, 1; Reagan County HS, 2; Coahoma HS, 2; Crane HS, 1; Grape Creek HS, 2; Kermit HS, 2; TLCA HS, 3.

A bleary-eyed Forsan

High School band took the field Saturday morning after a late night bus ride back from McCamey, where they performed at the Forsan-McCamey game.

It left earning its 17th straight Division I rating.

"We received Division I's from all the judges," said a tired Jim Rhodes, FHS band director, Saturday afternoon. "We're excited to have our 17th Division I rating in a row. The judging was very tough in our class. Only two earned a Division I."

Rhodes added the band had 100 percent participation from its members despite the late bus ride from McCamey and the early marching time

Saturday. Band students were at the high school band hall at 6 a.m. Saturday to make their competition slot.

"Even our football players, who were beat up from the game, were there," Rhodes said. "They were all real troopers."

Class 2A results are: Forsan HS, 1; McCamey HS, 2; Iraan-Sheffield HS, 3; Ozaona HS, 3; and Irion County HS, 1.

This competition marks the end of marching contest season for both Coahoma and Forsan as this is not an advancing state year for either class.

Lady Steers move to within 1 win of 2-4A crown

By TOMMY WELLS

The Big Spring High School Lady Steers put themselves into position to make a little history. The Lady Steers can become the first BSHS team to clinch a district championship this season on Tuesday night thanks to a solid effort over the weekend in Lubbock.

Backed by 22 assists from Emilie Smith and a team-high 13 kills from senior Erin Pollard, Big Spring rolled to a 3-0 victory over Lubbock Estacado in District 2-4A volleyball action. The Lady Steers pounded out wins of 25-17, 25-22, 25-20.

With the victory, Big Spring improved to 7-0 in district play. A win over Levelland on Tuesday in the Steer Gym would enable the Lady Steers to clinch the district crown by giving them a two-game lead over the Loboettes with just two games remaining in the regular season.

Big Spring d. Estacado	25-17, 25-22, 25-2.

Despite taking the lead early, Estacado couldn't hang with Big Spring. The Lady Steers used key runs in each set to nail down the win.

The Lady Steers, now 18-17 overall, extended their dominance in district play with a 3-0 sweep. Big Spring has won 21 of the 22 sets its has played during 2-4A action. The squad's only loss set came against Sweetwater in a 3-1 win.

Big Spring's matchup with Levelland will get under way at 5 p.m. with the junior varsity and freshman games.

Murray carries Cowboys past Giants

ARLINGTON, Texas (AP) — If Tony Romo really is becoming the second option in the Dallas offense, he's perfectly happy handing the leading role to DeMarco Murray.

"I love that kid," Romo said after the two paired up to produce all four touchdowns in the Cowboys' sixth straight victory, 31-21 over the New York Giants on Sunday. "He really exemplifies everything you want in a player. He's hard-working. He's humble. He's a team-first guy. He's talented. He's explosive."

And now Murray is the first running back in NFL history to start a season with seven straight 100-yard games, breaking Hall of Famer Jim Brown's 56-year-old record. Murray ran for 128 yards and a late touchdown that came after a replay reversal, which denied Romo his fourth touchdown pass.

"I think we did it as a group," said Murray, the NFL rushing leader with 913 yards. "It's hard for me to accept this individually."

Romo settled for three scoring tosses, and the Cowboys (6-1) kept rolling after beating Super Bowl champion Seattle on the road last week. It's their best start since winning six of their first seven on the way to a 13-3 finish in 2007, when they were the top seed in the NFC before losing to New York in their first playoff game.

"I think our record is above what we could have expected, but we have it and it's a credit to a team that's building in their confidence," owner Jerry Jones said. "That wasn't the same team that went to Seattle, that came home from Seattle, and I know this team, the Giants, had a lot to say, a lot to prove today."

Eli Manning had three touchdown passes for the Giants (3-4), who have lost road games to the NFC East's top two teams in consecutive weeks. New York now has two-game skids on either side of a three-game winning streak.

"We've lost a couple important games in a row, but we have a lot of games to play," coach Tom Coughlin said. "We're going to have to do something about it. Our consistency has to be there."

Second-year Dallas tight end Gavin Escobar had his first two-touchdown game, and Dez Bryant finished with a season-high 151 yards receiving. Romo was 17 of 23 for 279 yards with an interception.

Forsan quarterback Jesse Cervantes looks for a place to run during the Buffaloes' 32-20 OT loss to McCamey on Friday. The Buffaloes will look to get back on track this Friday when they host district-leading Ozona at Buffalo Christoval, 42-22, last week.

Tannehill leads Dolphins past Bears

CHICAGO (AP) — Ryan Tannehill was sure he was going to hand the ball off. Then he saw the defense, and he knew what he had to do.

Tannehill had a 30-yard run on a fourth-and-1 play in the third quarter of the Miami Dolphins' 27-14 victory over the listless Chicago Bears on Sunday.

The clutch keeper was part of a big day for the third-year quarterback, who threw for 277 yards and two touchdowns. He also had six carries for 48 yards, keeping Chicago off balance by using his legs on a couple of key plays.

"He's a good athlete and he makes good decisions," Miami coach Joe Philbin said. "When you combine those two things, we're not looking to run him 30 times a game, but if it's there and that's what the defense gives us, the ability to use his speed and athleticism is a plus."

The Dolphins (3-3) were working with a 14-7 lead when Tannehill faked a handoff to Lamar Miller on a zone read play and ran around the other side all the way to the Chicago 9. Miller finished the 13-play, 83-yard drive with a 2-yard touchdown run with 31 seconds left in the period.

"I told the guys up front that it was going to be a 90-percent chance I am going to give this ball, just to get the first down, because (it was) a full yard," said Tannehill, who connected on his first 14 passes and was 25 of 32 overall. "Just by the look they gave us it ended up being a keep and a big play."

The Bears (3-4) remained winless in three home games and have dropped five of their last seven at Soldier Field, dating to last year. Matt Forte scored two touchdowns, and Jeremiah Ratliff finished with a career-best 3 1/2 sacks.

Miami bounced back from a brutal 27-24 loss to Green Bay last weekend. It looked as if the Dolphins were on their way to a big win over the Packers before Aaron Rodgers threw a 4-yard touchdown pass in the final seconds.

"We weren't going to let that affect the rest of our season," Tannehill said. "We were going to let it inspire us the rest of the season. It speaks to the character we have on this team."

The Dolphins are at Jacksonville this Sunday.

Royals, fans bond over improbable playoff run

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) — The game had been over for hours. Kauffman Stadium had gone dark. The roars of a sold-out crowd, which had rooted the Kansas City Royals to a sweep of the mighty Los Angeles Angels, had drifted away into the cool night air.

A few miles away, at a bar and grill called McFadden's, the party was just beginning.

Greg Holland had showed up, the All-Star closer watching with a grin as highlights of the game played on television. Salvador Perez and Jarrod Dyson, both integral parts in the Royals' playoff push, posed with fans for more pictures than they could count. First baseman Eric Hosmer put down his credit card and for a full hour picked up the tab for hundreds of strangers.

"It's fun to get to enjoy it with the whole entire city. It's a special time," Hosmer said a few days later. "I think the buildup to this, it's been so long. They've been hungry for a winner. What we're doing now has just been a blast."

So much so that Hosmer didn't mind his credit card taking a hit — he shared the $15,000 bar bill with some teammates — after beating the Angels in their AL Divisional Series.

"We realize how bad the fans want it, how bad the city wants it," Hosmer explained. "I think this team symbolizes the atti-

Texas Tech player injured in shooting

LUBBOCK, Texas (AP) — Lubbock officials say a standout Texas Tech University football player has been hospitalized and released after suffering a laceration during an off-campus shooting.

University spokesman Blayne Beal tells the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal (<http://bit.ly/1qYcAuz>) that junior wide receiver Jakeem Grant is "doing well" after being hospitalized Sunday morning. Grant is Tech's leading receiver with 50 catches for 629 yards and five touchdowns.

Beal didn't say how the Saturday night incident will affect Grant's role on the team.

Police Lt. Bryan Taylor says it's unclear what cut Grant. He says more than 20 rounds were fired from multiple weapons during a party at El Fronteriso.

Taylor says a second person was injured but the wound wasn't life threatening.

Gratitude Moon

When presented with "before" and "after" pictures, do you often like the less polished "before" better? Think of today as the "before" picture. Maybe there is a lot you'd like to change about your world, but there's an awful lot of good in the way things are now, too. The grounded Virgo moon encourages appreciation and gratitude.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You'll win the challenge that's thrown your way this morning. It's as though the job was custom-made to cater to your strengths and

Dear Annie: I've been in an abusive marriage for nearly 15 years, and I can't take another day. My husband has never hit me. It's all mental and emotional abuse. He calls me horrible names in front of our children. He has constant tantrums where he screams, throws things, breaks things and threatens me, saying if I leave, he'll kill me, destroy my life and take our children away. I have no access to money, and he has driven all of my friends away.

I have nowhere to go. There are no shelters in my rural area, and I'm scared of what he may do when I leave. However, I'm determined. I've written him a very long letter explaining why and promising that I don't want any money from him, so he doesn't have to worry about that. And I plan to give him this letter in the next few days. I want to hand it to him. I don't want to be sneaky and leave the letter and walk out the door. But I'm afraid.

I don't have anyone to discuss these things with.

Annie's Mailbox

My mother said she didn't want to hear it and it was my problem. Please help me. -- Too Scared To Leave

Dear Too Scared: Please do not do anything rash. Before you leave, you need to have your next step planned and ready, whether it is finding a shelter, staying with friends or relatives, or leaving town. It would be unwise to hand your abusive husband a letter and walk out the door. We know you want to do the honorable thing, but your safety is more important right now. We urge you to call the National Domestic Violence Hotline (thehotline.org) at 1-800-799-SAFE. Someone there will guide you through the process.

Dear Annie: My husband and I are retired and live in upstate New York with our son and his family. Our son broke his back and neck in a freak accident. He has fully recovered, but now is addicted to pain medication. He has no job and no insurance.

Is there any way to get him the help he needs to be a functioning adult again? He would give anything to be better, but can't afford the treatment. -- Desperately Concerned Mom

Dear Mom: This must be a terribly difficult situation for everyone, but the fact that your son wants to get better is encouraging. Please look into state-funded drug and alcohol rehab centers through the Substance Abuse and Mental Health Services Administration at findtreatment.samhsa.gov, or call their treatment referral line at 1-800-662-HELP. We'll be thinking of you.

Dear Annie: "Best Friend in Trouble" was pretty sure her best friend's husband was cheating on her with his sister-in-law. She asked whether she should tell her friend. I say, "YES!" I wish someone had told me when my husband was cheating. At a company holiday party, I actually sat next to the woman my husband was having an affair with. Probably everyone in the room knew except me.

One of my good friends discovered his wife was cheating when he contracted an STD. Another found out when his wife became pregnant. He'd had a vasectomy.

I've known a few people who have cheated, and let me tell you, if they don't get caught, they keep right on doing it. After I realized my husband was seeing another woman, I learned that my own sister knew he was cheating and didn't tell me. I could never forgive her for keeping it a secret.

I wish I had known sooner. "Best Friend" should tell her friend what she knows and then let the wife decide what she wants to do about it. -- Still Smarting develop an area of weakness at the same time.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You're too hard on yourself, expecting maximum productivity without giving yourself a break. What about excitement and fun? They're not going to sneak up on you. You have to actively make them a priority.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). There's an idea in the works, not yet fully formed -- this will be the answer that helps you improve your life. For now, just stay open-minded, curious and willing to make adjustments.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Playing games will sharpen your mind and skills, as well as bond you to your fellow players. Share the games you love with the people you love, and life suddenly turns sunny and sweet.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Much will be offered to you, and yet you're wise to be extremely discerning. Try not to accept anything that might drag you down. If it doesn't have real and lasting value, you don't need it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). If you're getting it wrong several times in a row, chalk it up to experience. Give yourself a break, and then try again. If you don't give up, you'll eventually improve.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). When the things you do to make yourself feel better wind up making you feel worse instead, it's a sign that it's time to find more suitable ways to unwind and enjoy life.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Gather up some positive thoughts to help you get through the hectic morning. Then, after lunch, something wonderful will happen as a direct result of your stellar attitude.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Luxury and comfort cannot bring you happiness, which is why it is pointless to pursue them today. What will bring you happiness is something to get interested in and excited about.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). It's like the world is a small school today. Word will get around quickly, so it's important to behave in a manner you would want to be well known for.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You are generous, and you have good ideas that those you want to help would be wise to follow. You will help another person find prosperity and thusly improve the world.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). There's something on your mind and heart, and you'll do well to quietly send it upward, asking for spiritual help. The prayers you say will change and empower you to do more than you thought you could.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Oct. 20). The huge project you take on will inspire you to rise to the occasion. You'll reassemble your team of supporters and add to the numbers in November. You'll make a grand entrance in December. February brings a political change. In this new climate, you can claim leadership over an area dear to your heart. Aquarius and Capricorn people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 2, 14, 33, 28 and 19.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "I think my sister is addicted to her psychic. She talks to her every month, and in between psychic consultations, she consults an online I Ching, tarot and the like. She seems not to want to make a single decision without asking her psychic. She even asks her psychic questions like, 'Is my husband cheating on me?' and 'Is my child skipping school?' She's a Scorpio, and I'm a Gemini. I don't know why her habit bugs me so much. I guess I'm just worried about her."

I understand your concern. Without question, the best way to find out whether your child is skipping school is to call the school.

Your Scorpio sister seems to have lost touch with her intuition. You won't be able to help her break her habit if she doesn't want to; however, you can share with her the criteria for a good psychic. A good psychic should help a person feel more in touch with his or her intuition, not less. A good psychic creates a safe place for spiritual connection and invites the highest good to come of it. A good psychic does NOT create dependency or make others feel powerless or in the dark.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Former "The Office" co-star John Krasinski is now a producer of two new NBC comedies. Born when the sun and the moon were in Libra, Krasinski is a talented diplomat, partner and team player with a special knack for healthy partnership and collaboration -- qualities he'll also apply well as a husband to Emily Blunt and a new father to baby Hazel.

She won the club lead with the king, cashed the A-Q of trumps and ace of diamonds, then ruffed a diamond. After playing a club to dummy's ace, she ruffed another diamond. She then cashed the ace of hearts before ruffing her last club in dummy, and led the four of hearts. When East followed with the five, Mrs. Sobel played the six! When the six held, she had the rest of the tricks.

Of course, anyone seeing the adverse cards would have done just as well. But Mrs. Sobel accomplished the feat without that advantage, and, furthermore, her play of the six was not just a shot in the dark. On the contrary, she was 100 percent certain that the deep finesse would succeed. It was really just a matter of simple arithmetic.

Mrs. Sobel knew that West had started with seven clubs, since East had shown out on the second round of the suit. She also knew that West had started with two trumps and had followed to three rounds of diamonds and one round of hearts.

All 13 of West's cards were thus accounted for at the point when Mrs. Sobel led the four of hearts from dummy. Finessing the six was therefore guaranteed, as well as necessary, to bring in the grand slam.

Opening lead — queen of clubs.
This remarkable deal was played many years ago by one of the game's all-time greats, Helen Sobel. She was in seven spades, and West led the queen of clubs. It can be seen that if South cashes two top hearts after drawing trumps, the contract fails because of the 4-1 heart division. However, Mrs. Sobel made the grand slam — without seeing the East-West cards — and she did so in a perfectly

Keselowski keeps hopes alive ROYALS

TALLADEGA, Ala. (AP) — Brad Keselowski packed a punch on the track, the only place that mattered after a controversial week.

Pushed around in the garage, he came out fighting like a champion at Talladega Superspeedway, where his win Sunday staved off elimination and pushed him into the third round of the Chase for the Sprint Cup championship.

"There's a part of me that's come to accept that this isn't going to be easy," Keselowski said, referring to both his week and his career.

Fined $50,000 by NASCAR this week for his post-race meltdown at Charlotte, Keselowski's professionalism had been under attack and his season was slipping away. He reported for work at Talladega, where he had to win to remain in contention.

It was no easy task as Jimmie Johnson and Dale Earnhardt Jr. were in the same must-win position, and hadn't been knocked around all week the way Keselowski was for losing his cool at Charlotte.

"I'll take the 50 grand and the win this week, wouldn't you?" Keselowski team owner Roger Penske said. The owner and driver can just take the fine out of the winner's check of $288,361.

But Penske, winner of the IndyCar title this year with Will Power, strongly defended the driver who gave him his first career Cup title two seasons ago.

"These guys are jealous of the job he's done this year," Penske said. "He's won six races. He's made poles. He's been up front. Nobody likes to see a guy win like that.

"I want him to get mad. I don't want him to take it. We talked about it (last week). I said, 'Brad, put it in the rearview mirror.'" Joey Logano and Kevin Harvick, the winners of the first two races in the second round, also advanced to the third three-race round along with Ryan Newman, Carl Edwards, Jeff Gordon, Denny Hamlin and Kenseth. The field will be cut to four after the ninth race.

tude of this city — tough, we're not going to quit and we're going to fight to the end. It's a pretty special bond we've created."

As the Royals prepare to play the San Francisco Giants in the World Series on Tuesday night, capping their first post-season appearance since winning the title in 1985, the relationship they have established with their fans harkens back to a bygone era.

It's reminiscent of a time when players lived in the same neighborhood as working-class fans, because they too were working class. When they had to find offseason jobs just to make ends meet, long before million-dollar contracts. When you walked into the barbershop or the supermarket and would see Duke Snider or Red Schoendienst getting a trim or perusing the vegetables.

Only now, players and fans are connecting over drinks at a bar in the trendy Power and Light District of Kansas City. Or they're connecting on Twitter.

Didn't hear about that one? Well, life-long Royals fan Nicholas Knapple didn't have the cash for playoff tickets, so he messaged a few players on Twitter with a plea. One of them was Brandon Finnegan. The rookie pitcher promptly hooked him up.
