

Hance-Doggett race highlights runoff

Voters will go back to the polls Saturday to settle two-man runoffs in five races — four on the Democratic Party ballot and one on the Republican Party ticket.

Congressman Kent Hance's push for the US Senate nomination highlights the Democratic runoff here, and the native son's local campaign workers are hoping for an 80% turnout in Castro County.

Hance is opposed by State Sen. Lloyd Doggett of Austin. In a five-man race, Hance came from a distant third to lead the ticket in the May 5 statewide voting as he and Doggett eliminated original front-runner Bob Krueger from contention. Hance's margin over Doggett in the May 5 primary was .07 of one percent in the closest three-way election in Texas history.

Castro County Democrats gave the Dimmitt native 91% of their votes (1,625) with a 40½% turnout in the May 5 primary. Hance's campaign workers here are hoping for a similar margin but twice as large a turnout Saturday.

"Everybody needs to know that you can vote in the runoff election whether you voted in the May primary or not," said Carl King, co-chairman of Hance's Castro County Steering Committee. "We need between 3,000 and 4,000 votes for Kent in Castro County Saturday — it's very important."

Another key race on the Democratic runoff ballot is for Hance's 19th Congressional District seat. Former Hance aide Don Richards and Lubbock attorney Thomas M. Richards are battling for the nomination after heading a five-man field in the May 5 balloting. Thomas Richards led the ticket in Castro County in the earlier balloting with Don Richards a close second (546-518), but Don Richards was the front runner district-wide.

The congressional race is the only one on the Republican Party runoff ballot. Larry Combest, Lubbock wholesaler and former aide to Sen. John Tower, and Ron Fleming, Lubbock CPA, are vying for the party nomination after leading a four-man field in the May primary. Combest led Fleming by a 3-1 margin in Castro County in the earlier voting.

Texas Democrats will also determine their party's nominees for two judgeships Saturday — both on the Court of Criminal Appeals.

Vying for the Place 2 nomination are incumbent W. C. (Bill) Davis, who has served on the court since 1978, and challenger Roy E. Greenwood, a member of the Governor's Criminal Justice Standards Committee who is urging court reforms and revision of the appellate process. The two men eliminated two other candidates in the May 5 balloting; Davis led the ticket in Castro County while Greenwood ran third here.

In the runoff for Place 3 on the Court of Criminal Appeals, Democrats will choose between incumbent Thomas B. (Tom) Thorpe and challenger Bill White, a former assistant attorney general who also advocates reform of the state's trial procedures to cut down on delays. In the May 5 balloting, White led the ticket in Castro County while Thorpe ran third as the two men led a seven-candidate field statewide.

Polling places in Saturday's runoff elections will be the same for the May 5 primary. Democrats will vote at 16 different polling sites, while all county Republicans will cast their ballots in the county commissioner's meeting room in the courthouse.

Dimmitt Mayor Pro-Tem Wayne Collins has proclaimed Saturday as "Get Out the Vote Day."

"It is the democratic right and duty of people in the United States to vote," Collins said, adding that all registered voters may cast ballots in their party's runoff election Saturday whether they voted in the May 5 primary election or not.

County hears industrial plea

MEET THE MAYOR — Alderman Wayne Collins will take over the mayor's duties for Dimmitt Friday, following the resignation of Mayor R. L. Fleming. Collins was already the mayor pro-tem, elected by his fellow aldermen when the current board was organized last month. The current mayoral term runs until next April.

Members of the Dimmitt Chamber of Commerce Industrial Committee pleaded with the County Commissioners' Court Tuesday for funds to help in the search for new industry for the county. They said they can't commit any money to the program until they get an attorney general's opinion that it's legal to use tax funds for industrial promotion. And even if they were to get a go-ahead from the attorney general, they said, there's "no way" they

Rabbit show slated here on Saturday

At least 14 breeds of domestic rabbits will be exhibited Saturday during the first annual Castro County Rabbit Show, to be held in the County Expo Building. Officials expect to have 700 to 800 rabbits competing in the show, which is an open show sanctioned by American Rabbit Breeders Association and Southern Rabbit Association.

The show, sponsored by the Castro County 4-H Rabbit Club, will begin at 9 a.m. Ribbons will be awarded.

Show officials are Menziez McWilliams, supervisor; Glenn Hatla, assistant supervisor; Diane Hatla, secretary; Bea Acker, concessions chairman; and Wanda Nelson, registration.

The Castro County 4-H Rabbit Club members will serve as a welcoming committee for all contestants in the show.

Door prizes will be awarded and a concession stand will be open.

"We would like to invite everyone to come and see the different breeds and varieties of rabbits," McWilliams said.

could spring funds loose before the beginning of the next fiscal year in October.

"The county attorney and I have talked, and feel that until we can contact the attorney general about it and get a solid opinion on the legality, we can't donate anything," County Auditor Reedford Burrous said.

The Dimmitt School Board has committed $14,000 to the Industrial Fund and the City of Dimmitt has allocated $5,000 (half of the amount requested from the city). Industrial Committee members are contacting all tax-supported entities for money for the fund, and also will ask for contributions from private industries, businesses and individuals in an attempt to "launch Dimmitt and Castro County into a new growth era."

The Industrial Committee is hoping to build a working fund of at least $49,000 to hire a professional developer to explore potential markets, procure sites, and pave the way for new industries to beef up the county's economy. The committee is seeking $14,000 from the county.

Members of the committee told the commissioners

Class of '34 will reunite

Dimmitt High School's Class of 1934 will hold its 50th year reunion Saturday and Sunday.

The reunion will include an open house from 2 to 4 p.m. Sunday in the Senior Citizens Center. The open house is will be open to all friends of class members.

The graduating class had a total of 15 students, 11 of whom are still living.

Anyone wishing more information on the reunion may call Dorothy Elder at 647-5582.

Tuesday that the county's taxable value has dropped from $375 million in 1982 to an estimated $353 million in 1984, and said the drop in the tax base has forced individual tax bills up. They said the taxes on Commissioner Edd Wilson's home have gone up 73% since 1980 and that the tax bill on Commissioner Ed Bennett's farmland was 37% higher in 1983 than in 1980, both because of a drop in the county's tax base and the tax exemptions that have gone into effect on homesteads, cattle, land and farm machinery.

"New industry would take up the slack in this tax situation," Chamber of Commerce President George Sides told the commissioners. "We need new businesses and industry in Castro County, and this (industrial development program) is the best way to go about it. It would mean future employment for our children, a better economy and a better market for our houses, as well as a better tax base."

Joining Sides in arguing the Industrial Development Committee's case before the commissioners' court were Joe Cowen, Bob Caddell, Joe Josselet and Delores Heller.

"If you really want to pursue this, there should be some way for the county to find the funds for it," Sides told the commissioners.

But Commissioner Jimmie Howell said, "If this county spends ... tax money and it doesn't get anything accomplished, then we're going to have to tax more."

"You can't have a guarantee, but you've got to be willing to try," Josselet said.

"If you're not interested, tell us," Sides said. "Other-

One more time

When the final returns of the US Senate race were re-tallied and re-verified after the May 5 Democratic Primary Election, Kent Hance's lead over Lloyd Doggett was less than a thousand votes, out of 1.46 million cast.

That shows how important Castro County's 1,625 votes for Hance were in the first primary.

Our votes in the primary runoff Saturday will be even more important.

"In the runoff I've got to get my vote out or I'm in deep trouble," Hance has said. "I'm going to have to have a huge turnout in West Texas to offset the big built-in vote that Doggett has. I'd like to see an 80% turnout in Castro County in the runoff."

Turnout. That's where our county slipped on May 5 in its efforts to put its native son in the US Senate. We gave Hance 91% of our votes, but we had only a 40.46% turnout.

We can do better than that. We MUST do better than that Saturday.

Remember, if you didn't vote in the May 5 primary election, you can still vote in the runoff election Saturday.

We kicked off his campaign here. We've gone back to the well and have contributed an average of $3 for every man, woman and child in our county to help him in his race. But the biggest thing we can do for him now is the easiest thing — go vote for him Saturday.

It's more than a matter of provincial pride. Hance's election to the US Senate could be important to our county and to West Texas' economy in many, many ways. A vote for him is, in effect, a vote for ourselves.

Whether you vote out of pride or out of pragmatism, one thing is certain — your vote is worthless if you don't use it.

Please use your vote Saturday. Don't let anything distract you from it. Let's win one more time.

Which Richards?

The Democratic primary race for the 19th Congressional District seat started as a contest between five good men, and has now come down to a runoff between Don Richards and Thomas M. Richards.

The News is endorsing Don Richards. We feel he's the best-qualified man for the job.

As a West Texas farmboy and later as an award-winning newspaperman, Don Richards learned our area's people, our economy, our priorities and concerns.

As Congressman Kent Hance's administrative aide in Washington three years, he learned how to deal with the federal bureaucracy, how to draft and route legislation, how to cut red tape.

In recent years, working in Hance's Lubbock office, he has served as a conduit for West Texans in forwarding our concerns to Washington, and has been especially effective in helping West Texans deal with the Farmers Home Administration, and with veterans' problems. He helped coordinate this area's input to the highly beneficial PIK Program.

While doing all that, he earned a law degree with honors from the Texas Tech Law School. To his practical experience, he added the knowledge of the theory and reasoning behind our nation's laws.

Thomas M. Richards is a good man, too — an attorney, a farmer-rancher. But he has set himself up for a political backfire by trying to paint Don Richards as a liberal, big-labor candidate, and by trying to run on Congressman Kent Hance's coattails. Such tactics are too old-hat to concern the intelligent voter. For instance, the labor endorsement that Don Richards received is the same as Kent Hance received when he ran for office. And, as for any Hance connection, it clearly belongs to Don Richards.

We need the best qualified man representing us in Congress. Don Richards is the best qualified, and we urge you to vote for him in Saturday's Democratic Primary runoff election.

MEAT FOR YOUNG CHILDREN

A child is never too young to start learning good eating habits, but that doesn't mean parents should start feeding meat to their youngsters before the child is eight months old. "By eight to 10 months of age, the baby is used to eating solid foods and has a digestive system ready to absorb the protein in meats," says Marilyn Haggard, Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service nutritionist. Although meat is a good source of protein, most babies get plenty of protein from milk. The most important contribution meat can make to a baby's diet is iron because iron deficiency continues to be a health problem for many youngsters, says Haggard. Beef also provide B-complex vitamins, she adds.

4-H scholarships are more, bigger

Outstanding 4-H members from across the state will reap a bountiful harvest of scholarships at the 1984 Texas 4-H Roundup at Texas A&M University, June 5-6.

Eighty-five youths will receive scholarships totaling $498,900.

"Our 4-H scholarship programs continue to grow each year due to the tremendous support from the private sector," says Preston Sides, 4-H specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service and executive director of the Texas 4-H Foundation.

The 4-H Foundation is a non-profit organization that provides private sector support for the 4-H program in Texas and arranges for scholarship donors and numerous other gifts and awards.

By far the largest donor to the Texas scholarship program, says Sides, is the Houston Livestock Show and Rodeo, which this year is providing 50 scholarships of $8,000 each to youths who plan to major in agriculture at a Texas college or university.

1984 scholarship donors include:

— Pioneer Hi-Bred International, Plainview — one at $4,000.

— Southwestern Exposition and Fat Stock Show, Fort Worth — one at $4,000.

— Houston Livestock and Rodeo — 50 at $8,000.

— Raymond Dickson Foundation, Hallettsville — seven at $500.

— Texas Farm Bureau, Waco — two at $4,000.

— C. J. Davidson Endowment, College Station — eight at $4,000.

— Texas Feed and Grain Association, Fort Worth — one at $4,000.

— Word and Patricia Sherrill, Midland — one at $1,000.

— Floyd Lynch, College Station — one at $1,000.

— Texas 4-H Foundation Annual and Memorial Fund, College Station — one at $1,000.

— Volunteer Leaders Association of Texas — two at $1,200 (college students only).

— San Antonio Livestock Exposition — five at $6,000.

— Downtown Stock Show Auction Syndicate, Fort Worth (James M. Norman Scholarship Fund) — one at $4,000.

— Panhandle-South Plains Fair, Lubbock — four at $1,000.

"All but two of the scholarship recipients are 4-H members graduating from high school," says Sides.

"Each applicant completes a scholarship application which is screened by a committee of Extension personnel. Finalists are interviewed before the recipients are named."

The 4-H Foundation's scholarship program is one of 13 major areas of support to the Texas 4-H program, Sides adds. The program began in 1964 with two scholarships totaling $2,000.

Insects of interest Control bagworms now

By ALLEN KNUTSON
Extension Agent-
Entomology

Bagworms are one of the major pests of junipers and other trees and shrubs in Texas. Spring hatch usually begins in May on the South Plains. Insecticide control is most effective in late May and early June when the bagworms are small.

In the spring, bagworm larvae emerge from hatching eggs inside last year's bags and begin feeding on leaves. Soon they begin to construct their own protective bag of silk, twigs and leaves, making them camouflaged and hard to see. As the larvae and their bags continue to grow, control becomes more difficult.

Bagworms feed throughout the summer months, building their bags until the bags are about 1 1/2 inches long. In the fall, the bagworms become adults and mate, and the females lay eggs inside their bags. They then overwinter in these bags in trees and shrubs. Each overwintering female bag on a tree contains from 500 to 1,500 eggs.

Since the bagworm only completes one generation a year and spreads very slowly from plant to plant, picking the bags off infested plants in the winter will help a lot toward controlling this pest. But if bagworms were present on the plant last year and control measures were not applied, chances are very good that an insecticide will be needed this spring. Insecticides which can be used to control bagworms include, sevin, dursban, diazinon, malathion, dylox and orthene. The biological insecticide Bacillus thuringiensis can also be used. To obtain effective control, thorough coverage of the foliage is important. Always read and follow label instructions when applying insecticides.

Doug Henry resigns post

Dimmitt High School Choral Music Director Doug Henry has resigned his position here to devote full time to a show-business career.

During almost a decade with the Dimmitt schools, Henry developed the junior high and high school choirs into award winners and founded the DHS Show Choir to give students experience in stage musical singing and dancing.

Henry has joined the Kathryn Rogers Foundation for Artists in Kansas as a professional actor and singer. He will perform at the Vassar Playhouse dinner theatre this summer, 30 miles south of Topeka. His roles will include Cornelius Hackl in "Hello, Dolly," June 12-July 1; Bert Healy in "Annie," July 3-29; Heckie in "Funny Girl" July 31-Aug. 19; and a singer-dancer in "Cole," Aug. 21-26.

Following the summer season, the company will tour the state of Kansas for six weeks with its performance of "Cole," a musical based on the life and music of American composer Cole Porter.

After the tour, the company will be based in Kansas City, where it will perform all four musicals plus three plays during the winter and early spring.

"The theatre group is much like a repertoire company — a small ensemble of actors, singers and technicians performing quality theatre musicals and plays," Henry said.

During recent years, Henry has performed in the summer musical "Texas," at the Pioneer Amphitheater in Palo Duro Canyon, and in musicals presented in Amarillo and Lubbock.

JOYCE SCHILLING and her Dimmitt High School woodworking instructor, Charles Cotter, show her award-winning highboy dresser—the 20th piece of furniture built by Joyce and her sister and four brothers in the school woodworking program.

Newest furniture piece is 20th for Schillings

By DON NELSON

When Joyce Schilling took her big, beautiful, award-winning highboy dresser home last week after showing it at state, it became the 18th piece of furniture in the Schilling home to come out of the Dimmitt High School woodworking shop.

All six of Donald and Agnes Schillings' children have gone through the school's woodworking program, and have produced 20 pieces of furniture in all, counting their junior high projects.

That's easily a family record here, according to woodworking teacher Charles Cotter, who has supervised 14 of the Schilling children's projects. It might even be a state record.

Joyce's walnut dresser—which stands seven feet high—went into the Schillings' living room.

"There was just no other place to put it," Mrs. Schilling explained. "We've got wall-to-wall wood—you wouldn't believe it. We have five projects in our living room alone."

They'll all find their way back out the door by two, three and four, though, as the Schilling children establish their own homes and take their furniture pieces with them.

Donna, who graduated in 1978 and is now a postal clerk, made three pieces of furniture in the DHS woodworking shop—a cedar chest, a secretary desk that placed second at regional, and a grandfather clock that was first at regional and third at state. She's planning to be married in November, and her award-winning furniture pieces will add a lot to her home.

Claud, who graduated in 1980 and now is a student at Texas Tech, made a night stand in junior high, a cedar chest that placed first in regional and second in state, and a dresser that placed second in regional and state.

Lee, a 1981 DHS graduate, who is now employed by Energas, made a stereo cabinet and gun rack in junior high, and in DHS turned out a standing mirror that placed third in regional and state.

Before he graduated in 1982, Doug build a gun rack and stereo cabinet in junior high, and a coffee table, gun cabinet and bookshelf in high school. His gun cabinet and bookshelf won regional and state honors. Doug is employed by Goodpasture, Inc.

Roy, who graduated in 1983 and now attends Clarendon College, has built a magazine rack (junior high), a bumperpool table which placed second in regional and third at state, a roll-top desk that was third at both regional and state, and an entertainment center that placed first at regional and second at state.

The new highboy dresser was Joyce's second project in the DHS woodworking shop. It placed second at regional and second in state. Her first project, a cedar chest, was named Best in Division at regional and placed first at state.

The piece of furniture that has gotten the most use in the Schillings' home is Roy's pool table.

"It went into the basement, and they got a lot of use out of it," Mrs. Schilling explained.

Woodworking is one of the industrial arts courses that is on the "hit list" of the Governor's Committee on Education. The thinking of the committee is that such hands-on courses should be abolished in favor of academic courses.

The Schillings hope it won't happen.

Three of the Schilling children earned National Honor Society status while making the woodworking course a regular part of their high school routine, and their mother is convinced the course has been valuable as well as practical.

"As far as I'm concerned, it's the most valuable course of all, because when they graduate they have this furniture for the rest of their lives, and it's built well enough that they can hand it down to their kids and grandkids," Mrs. Schilling said.

"I think the course teaches them a lot of skills they will need later in life," she continued. "If they ever need any furniture, they won't hesitate to jump in and build it. That applies to home remodeling, too—there are lots of uses for the basic techniques they learned."

She added, "Donna has refinished some furniture since she graduated, with what she learned in woodworking. The girls, for sure, it taught them how to use tools and how to go about building anything they want to."

"Out of all the activities in school, that's the one I'd hate worst of all to see go," Mrs. Schilling said. "They get so much out of it that they can keep with them all their lives, and they come out with something to show for what they've done. That's why we've enjoyed it."

"But gosh, I don't have any more room in the house for them to build anything else!"

The silkworm spins a thread 12,000 times as long as his body. That's comparable to a six-foot tall man spinning a thread 15 miles long.

Dimmitt school staffers receive service awards

The Dimmitt School Board hosted its annual Service Awards Breakfast Saturday morning in Richardson Elementary School cafeteria to honor the school district's teachers, administrators and staff members.

The board gave special recognition to 33 school district employees who have reached milestones in their careers with the school district, and recognized three who are retiring.

The retirees are Elberta Dyer, Richardson Elementary education secretary; Evie Froehner, curriculum director; and Estella Hottel, high school home economics teacher.

This year marked Mrs. Hottel's completion of 25 years with the DISD, and she received a standing ovation as she received a diamond-studded service pin from School Board Vice-President Fred Bruegel Jr.

Other employees received service pins for having completed 20, 15, 10 and five years with the Dimmitt Public Schools.

Recipients were: 20-year pins with green stone — Gennie Bruton, Richardson cafeteria; Dawn Goolsby, middle school resource reading; and Rhoda Mays, high school cafeteria.

15-year pins with blue stone — Mary Jo Brown, Richardson second grade; Virginia Crider, middle school fourth grade; Tina Gonzales, Richardson aide; Lindon Hollins, Richardson bilingual kindergarten; Nell Kelley, high school business; Grace Killough, middle school nurse; Hank Lynn, middle school physical education; Syd Lynn, Richardson second grade bilingual; Frances Ortega, Richardson aide; and June Parker, high school Spanish.

10-year pins with red stone

— Ruth Cochran, middle school librarian; Charles Cotter, high school industrial arts; Paula Espinoza, TMR center aide; J'Lyn Ryan, high school business; Ascencion Vargas, middle school custodian; and Zona Vilas, middle school seventh English.

Five-year pins — Danna Beck, high school social studies; Gladys Fortenberry, Richardson reading resource; Diana Gonzales, Richardson cafeteria; Charlene Howell, high school cafeteria; Thelma Hutchison, Richardson cafeteria; Avie Lewis, Richardson music; Cecelia Presas, Richardson cafeteria; George Rasor, high school math/coach; Glenda Sims, middle school reading and G/T; Cathy Thames, Richardson second grade; John VanNatta, middle school math; Mae VanNatta, Richardson kindergarten; and Yvonna Van-

Story, high school English. Supt. Robert Ryan recognized Nathan "Corky" Lockmiller as the district's new curriculum director, and said the staff of Richardson Elementary "will see a drastic change" next fall as the result of renovation work that started this week.

"We will all see change of one form or another," Ryan added. "Change is imminent — it's here. Starting with the in-service training Aug. 20 and continuing throughout the year, we'll be working on many changes in education."

Ryan encouraged teachers to develop a "positive mental attitude" to face these changes.

School Board Secretary Deanne Clark gave the invocation and Board President Charles Wales gave the welcome before Bruegel presented the service awards.

wise we're wasting our time and yours." He added, "If the county doesn't contribute, the Industrial Commission will probably cease to be, because I don't think we can get the $14,000 from private sources."

"My hands are tied," Howell answered. "I can't do anything about it one way or another until we get a legal ruling on it, and until we do, I don't want to commit one way or the other."

In other business Tuesday, the commissioners:

— Learned from County Clerk Joy Jones that Texas State Library historians will be here today (Thursday) to inventory the county's old records.

— Received a cost estimate on erecting a sign directing traffic to the County Expo Building from Highway 385, but decided to see if Dimmitt High School's industrial arts department would make the sign if the county furnishes materials, instead of paying to have it made commercially.

— Heard a report by County Treasurer Oleta Raper on work that needs to be done on courthouse facilities for the county to comply with guidelines for receiving federal Revenue Sharing funds — mainly, facilities to make the courthouse and its services more accessible to handicapped people.

— Accepted the resignation of County Veterans Service Officer Bedford W. Smith, who has served in the post 13 years, and voted to advertise for applicants for the position.

GOOD REASONS FOR USING CREDIT

Certain circumstances make borrowing financially sound, says Nancy Granovsky, a home economist and family finance expert with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service. Some of the best reasons to use credit include anticipated price increases that can justify extra interest expenses; borrowing for major events in life such as starting a new job; a genuine emergency; making essential, big-ticket purchases that you could not pay for with cash on hand; taking advantage of attractive seasonal sales or specials on which you can save money; or borrowing for educational purposes. Credit can be a valuable resource that helps families reach goals. But overuse of credit can also result in financial disaster, says Granovsky.

Fire calls

The county tanker and pumper along with 15 men from the Dimmitt Volunteer Fire Dept. reported to a diesel fire on the Melvin Barton farm at 3 p.m. Monday.

The fire had apparently started from burning trash that got out of control. The fire spread to a barn. A storage room inside the barn was damaged, but no injuries were reported.

At 5:45 p.m. last Thursday, firemen reported to 104 NW 6th to a house fire. An electrical motor on an evaporative cooler had caught fire on the roof of the house. No damage was reported in the fire.

Manslaughter charge filed in road death

The Dept. of Public Safety has filed a charge of involuntary manslaughter against the man who was driving the pickup in which Douglas Garibaldi was killed May 13.

The charge was filed against Primitivo Peralez Sanchez, 29, of Dimmitt, after blood tests indicated he was intoxicated at the time of the fatal accident, local DPS troopers said.

Garibaldi, 20, who was a senior in Dimmitt High School, was killed when he was thrown out of the pickup as it lurched along a bar ditch on an unpaved county road east of Dimmitt. DPS Trooper Rick Bentley said Garibaldi apparently died of head and neck injuries.

Sanchez is free on $5,000 bond pending Grand Jury action on the felony charge.

212 Demos vote absentee

The County Clerk's Office reported Wednesday morning that 212 had voted absentee in the Democratic Primary runoff — more than twice as many as voted absentee in the May 5 election. Of those 212 voters, 184 cast their ballots in the clerk's office and 28 used mail-out ballots.

Deputy Clerk Elsie Maxwell said she felt the surge in Democratic absentee voting was due more to local interest in Kent Hance's US Senate race than to vacation schedules.

In the Republican Primary runoff, 15 had voted absentee by Wednesday morning — seven in person and eight by mail.

Wednesday was the final day for casting absentee ballots.

Social Security in Castro County

By Terry J. Clements

Although home health care has been covered by Medicare since it began in 1965, it is often overlooked by people who are considering their health care options. Home health care was developed as an alternative to inpatient care in a hospital or skilled nursing facility. This coverage is for persons who do not need fulltime inpatient care, but do have an illness or injury which prevents leaving home.

People who need part-time skilled health services in their home can receive them from a home health agency which takes part in Medicare. Such an agency is a public or private organization specializing in providing skilled nursing services and other health care services to patients in their own homes.

When eligibility conditions are met, home health care can be covered under both hospital insurance and medical insurance. Medicare now covers unlimited home health care up to the approved charge limits.

When home health care is covered, Medicare can pay for part-time skilled nursing services, physical therapy, and speech therapy. If one of these services is needed, Medicare can also pay for part-time services of an occupational therapist, home health aide, or medical social worker, as well as for medical appliances furnished by the agency.

If you have a question concerning home health care or a Social Security matter please call us at 293-4371. If you need to visit the office address is 1401-B West 5th Street in Plainview.

Mustang Long night for naught

The Dodgers and Yankees had two hours of batting practice last Thursday before league officials called the game after three innings on the time rule with the Yanks leading 19-18.

It was ruled an incomplete game, with the rest of it to be played at a later date if necessary.

The night became a wash-out when the second game — the Cards vs. Rangers — was weathered out by the big "dust blow" that was followed by a thundershower. Less than a full inning of the second game was played.

In the Monday night games last week, the Cards walloped the Yanks 18-4 and the Dodgers topped the Rangers 13-8.

After a scoreless first inning, the Cards built a 13-0 lead before the Yanks scored their first run in the bottom of the fourth. The Cards retaliated with five runs in the fifth, and the Yanks finished out the game with a three-run rally in the bottom of the final inning.

The Dodgers never trailed in their 13-8 win over the Rangers, but it wasn't that easy. A big six-run first inning put the Dodgers in the driver's seat and helped them hold off the Rangers later.

The Rangers scored three runs in the bottom of the first, then pushed across another run in the second to pull within 4-6. But the Dodgers added three runs in the top of the third to gain the five-run advantage that would be their final margin of victory. After the Rangers got a goose egg in the bottom of the third, the two teams pushed across four runs a piece in the fourth.

Tennis camp, tourneys scheduled at Nazareth

Astros win two during wild week

The Yankees led off their game against the Braves with a 10-run first inning Friday evening, then coasted to a 17-2 victory.

In Friday's late game, the Astros erased a 4-2 deficit and went ahead of the Rangers to stay with a seven-run rally in the bottom of the third inning. The Rangers pulled back to within a run at 8-9 on the strength of a four-run fourth, but the Astros responded with three runs in the bottom of the inning, then held the Rangers to a single run in the top of the fifth to gain a 12-9 victory.

Tuesday night's league action last week started with home runs and ended with a protest.

In the 6 o'clock game, Adrian Falcon knocked a homer for the Astros in the top of the first, then Freddie Martinez hit a two-run homer for the Yankees in the bottom of the first.

The Yankees owned a 5-4 lead at the end of the big first inning, but the Astros held the Yanks scoreless the rest of the way while posting a run in the second, six in the fourth and four in the fifth to take a 15-5 victory.

In the 8 o'clock game, the Braves came from a 6-3 deficit to overtake the Rangers in the top of the seventh, but the Rangers coach protested a call after his shortstop and a Braves base runner collided during a play. League officials later erased the final inning and ruled that it would have to be replayed later.

Mother-son tourney set

A mother-son tennis doubles tournament, sponsored by the Castro County Tennis Association, will be held on Saturday at the Dimmitt High School tennis courts starting at 9 a.m.

Entries should be turned in by June 1 to A'llan Bradley, Jean Petty or Joe King. Entry fee for each team entered will be $5.

If you would like to play and need a partner, arrangements can be made by calling King, Petty or Bradley.

All ages are welcome to play, and separate divisions will be made for more advanced players.

Soybean prices likely to go up

Continuing reductions in soybean supplies could create active trading and push prices up.

"Total available soybean supplies now stand at 735 million bushels," says Johnny Feagan, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, Texas A&M University System. "Prices should stay strong until demand is reduced by higher prices and new soybean crops start moving to market."

However, competing grains such as corn and wheat could keep bean prices in check. In fact, Feagan says, corn supplies and use alone could lower soybean prices in the near future.

Soybean meal stocks are up by 15% over a month ago, which indicates that both domestic use and exports are down. Higher prices per ton have forced users to reduce or shift to other forms of protein in their feeds, says the economist.

"The strong dollar also provides a basis for importers to shift to other countries for their protein supplies," adds Feagan.

Soyoil stocks are down 13% from last year. Reduced supplies and higher prices have reduced domestic use and exports. The average price for soybean oil was near 30 cents per pound compared with 20.5 cents a year ago.

"Stronger oil and meal prices have jumped to more than $8 per bushel in recent trading."

Under normal conditions about 68 million acres of soybeans should be planted in the US this year, says the economist. However, this acreage could increase if Midwestern farmers cannot plant their total corn acreage due to weather problems.

"Texas farmers holding beans in inventory should give special attention to use and planting information from the Midwest," advises Feagan. "Any major changes should develop over the next two months and provide some indications of price direction for the remainder of this marketing year."

GRANDCHILDREN of Martha Schulte stand beside the sign that greeted her when she returned home from a rehabilitation center in Denver Monday, after five months of hospitalization and therapy following a December highway accident.

Accident victim gets big homecoming Monday

Martha Schulte, 63, returned home to Nazareth Monday afternoon, after spending three months in an Amarillo hospital and 2½ months in a physical rehabilitation center in Denver.

center for rehabilitation, therapy and training.

While in the Denver center, she was visited by one of her children every week.

On Monday, her son and daughter-in-law, Clyde and Lisa Schulte, drove her home from Denver. She was met by a host of family and friends at her home. The first thing she saw upon entering the gates of her home was a sign that said "Welcome Home Mom, Grandma and Dear Friend."

She also found 22 yellow ribbons — one for each of her grandchildren — tied around a sign bearing the name of the ranch.

Her family and friends have done a lot of work on her home and have kept the yard up during her absence, waiting for the day when she would be able to return home.

Methodists attend annual conference

Delegates from the United Methodist Churches of Dimmitt and Hart are attending the Northwest Texas Annual conference in Abilene this week.

Representing the First United Methodist Church of Dimmitt are Rev. Vernon O'Kelly, pastor, Frank and Shirley Wise and Nolan Froehner. Delegates from the First United Methodist Church of Hart are Rev. Steve Ulrey, pastor, and Robert Hawkins.

A highlight of the annual conference is the premier performance of a drama production entitled "The Lines of Grace," commissioned for the observance of the bicentennial year of the United Methodist Church in the U.S.

The production was presented by the AD Players of Houston Wednesday evening in the Abilene Civic Center.

All business and committee sessions of the conference are being held in St. Paul United Methodist Church in Abilene.

Rev. O'Kelly of Dimmitt

will take part in sessions of the Conference Board of Pensions and the Commission on Higher Education, two of the district and conference committees on which he serves. Lay delegates are taking part in general policy and business sessions and workshops reflecting all phases of UMC activity.

The conference opened Wednesday with an address by Bishop Louis W. Schowengerdt, who presented the State of the Church address.

Ordination of new ministers is set for 7:30 tonight (Thursday) in the church auditorium.

Guest speaker for the conference is Dr. Harry Vanderpool, pastor of the Central United Methodist Church of Albuquerque, who will officiate at the ordination service and will address worship services Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

Appointment of ministers to churches within the conference for the coming year will be announced Saturday, the final day of the annual conference.

Ron Fleming cites experience

Experience is the issue that Republican Congressional candidate Ron Fleming is focusing on in the June 2nd run-off election between himself and Larry Combest.

According to Fleming, Combest has only been in the area for six years, and his experience with the people of West Texas is limited. Most of his campaign has been built in Washington, 2,000 miles away from this area.

"I have lived in West Texas all of my life," Fleming said during a visit to Dimmitt last Thursday. "I represent every kind of profession. I know what their concerns are. As my campaign slogan says: 'Let's send a West Texan to Washington.'"

An Amendment to balance the budget is also on Fleming's list of issues. As a certified CPA, Fleming is in favor of a flat-rate income tax of 10% that would encourage growth, profits, and savings, and would benefit society as a whole. "I believe all wages, whether unemployment or not, should be subject to a 10% tax rate," Fleming stated.

Another major issue that Fleming is stressing in this election is the problems facing agriculture. An agricultural policy that includes the following points is needed, according to Fleming: supply-demand coordination; provision for the US to compete effectively for world markets with the EEC and other producing countries; limit large, price-depressing shipments of cotton goods from China; and more effective research as it relates to the small farmer for both crops and livestock. Fleming also feels that the farmer needs to be able to borrow money at rates that are affordable.

Balancing the budget with the flat-rate income tax could possibly help with the farmers' problems with borrowing money. Fleming's major interest in this run-off election, along with agriculture and the flat-rate income tax, is the comparison in terms of experience between himself and his opposing candidate — Combest.

FLEMING VISITS — County Republican Chairman Deanne Clark visits with Ron Fleming, Republican candidate for US Representative in Congress, 19th District, during his campaign stop here last Thursday.

day. Fleming faces Larry Combest in the only race on the Republican ballot in Saturday's primary runoff election. Combest visited in Dimmitt two weeks ago.

CUFUPU

Clean Up, Fix Up, Pride Up

Dimmitt is a cleaner and prettier place because of the cooperative efforts of some ambitious citizens who worked hard in our most recent CUFUPU campaign, directed by Joe Higgs.

The Mayor's Council for Beautification gives a hearty "Thank You!" to Joe for his superb efforts in this year's campaign. The campaign theme this year was "Since Cleanliness Is Next to Godliness...Let's Make Dimmitt a More Heavenly Place to Live."

Many citizens worked on April 28 in a united effort to clean up Dimmitt. Some of the businesses and individuals who helped were Thriftway, Dimmitt Welding & Electric, Killingsworth's True Value Hardware, Bruegel & Sons elevator, City of Dimmitt, Kids, Inc., Bob Ellis, Jeff Robertson, Jimmy Ross, Ralph Lambright, the Thomas Family, the Mohon Family, Higginbotham-Bartlett Co., the Mullins Family, Wayne Collins, and more.

The Mayor's Council for Beautification thanks everyone who helped to clean up Dimmitt. Keeping Dimmitt clean and free of weeds requires year-round effort by everyone.

So even though the clean-up week is over, the work is not over. Please be vigilant in keeping your home and business clean and free of weeds.

The Mayor's Council urges you to get the "barrel fever." Purchase half whiskey barrels or other big pots, and plant flowers in them. Joe Higgs is the barrel chairman for downtown Dimmitt. You can already see the benefit of this project. Barrels are an easy way to spruce up your place. You must, however, keep them well watered to get good results. Your participation in this project is what makes it a true success.

Again, the MBC encourages each of you to keep weeds cut and bag your trash. But please do not use volatile ester sprays which drift and kill your and your neighbor's trees and shrubs.

Let's continue to plant, pick up, tie up, trim, mow, fertilize and water. Let's make Dimmitt more beautiful and clean as each week passes!

Police calls

It was a quiet Memorial Day weekend for local law enforcement agencies.

Only four persons were jailed during the week, on charges of disorderly conduct, a traffic warrant and two DWI incidents.

Host families needed for French students

Nacel Cultural Exchanges, a non-profit organization now in its fourth year in Texas and Arkansas, is seeking host families for 125 French students ages 13-19 in its annual exchange program July 1-July 28.

Interested families should contact Sue Kimbro, 2105 Wood St., Texarkana, Tx 75501, (214/794-8273).

"Families are especially needed for boys" said Mrs. Kimbro, who explained that most of the applications she has received are requests for girls and that 60% of the French students are boys. Students are matched to families according to preferences expressed by families and mutual interests.

For the past 27 years the purpose of Nacel has been to foster international understanding by arranging four-week summer homestays in France and the US. This July, 5,300 French students will experience our culture by living with American families at the same time that 1,400 American students will be living with French families. Students from this summer's host families will be offered the opportunity to take part in the 1985 reciprocal French Homestay Program.

Already, 65 families in northern Texas and in Arkansas have applied to host these French teens coming to this area; but 60 additional families are still needed to host.

"Being part of a family is the best way to experience a country's culture and language," said Mrs. Kimbro, a high school French teacher, who has coordinated the Nacel Exchange for the past four years. "Hosting gives us a chance to show people the best of our country...our families."

The French students, who have studied English for three to eight years, provide their own airfare, insurance, and spending money, and the American families provide the welcome and include them in their daily lives for the month of July.

Interested families should contact Sue Kimbro, 2105 Wood St., Texarkana, Tx 75501, (214/794-8273).

Fall classes will begin in September.

Huseman, Acker marry in Holy Family Church

Christine Huseman and Alan Acker exchanged wedding vows Saturday afternoon in a formal, double-ring ceremony in the Holy Family Catholic Church of Nazareth with Father Harold Waldow officiating.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Robert Huseman, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Luke Acker.

Apricot and ivory gladiolas decorated the front and side altars of the church. Mary Lynn Olvera served as organist.

The bride was given in marriage by her oldest brother, Terry Huseman of Canyon. Her bridal gown was fashioned of white organza over satin. Silk venetian lace and embroidery accented the scalloped, V-shaped neckline and formed a flounce at the waist. The long sleeves of organza featured wide lace cuffs and a slash from shoulder to wrist. Formal in length, the gown had a cathedral-length train. Her matching veil bore accents of pearls and Venice lace, and her cascade bouquet of apricot and ivory silk roses was accented with ivory baby's breath.

Matron of honor was Linda Gressett of Panhandle, sister of the bride, Rachel Huseman of Nazareth, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Melissa Lee of Perryton, niece of the bride, was flower girl. The bride's attendants wore full-length gowns of apricot silk, styled with an Empire waistline and accented with a wide ruffle and lace inset.

Doug Campsey of Coleman, Okla., served as best man, and groomsman was Doug Acker of Lubbock, brother of the groom. Ryan

MRS. ALAN ACKER

Correction

In a photo of state award-winning woodworking projects in last week's issue, Debora Jordan — who was shown with her walnut china cabinet with hutch top — was incorrectly identified as Debora Johnson.

Miss Jordan, who has just finished her junior year, is the daughter of Lewis and Alice Jordan. The News regrets the error.

Congratulations Seniors! May you be successful in your endeavors in life.

Kate Beecher and I were lucky to receive tickets to attend the Dimmitt High School Commencement ceremonies. I enjoy hearing Zella Ellison and Deanne Clark playing "Pomp and Circumstance" and there was an extra this year with the Bell Choir from the First United Methodist Church under the direction of Jane O'Kelly.

We visited with Pia Naasman Moberg, Dimmitt's first exchange student, who was visiting Dickie Holcomb. We also visited with the Holcomb family who came in for Brad Holcomb's graduation.

Dr. Keitha (Davis) Scott flew in for the weekend to visit her mother, Aural Davis, and her sister, Susie Phillips and family in Amarillo. Keitha also visited with a former classmate, Pia Naasman Moberg, who was here for her daughter, Nina Moberg's graduation.

Ron Rankin, son of Kathy Poer and Oleta Gollehon's grandson, graduated from Caprock High School at the Civic Center in Amarillo on Thursday night and received the Eldon Durrett scholarship for $2,000. Seventy-four boys applied for this scholarship and only three boys received the award. This is help for deserving boys and their grades and character are among the qualities considered in selecting these boys for the award. Congratulations Ron!

Kim Weatherford was home over Memorial weekend to visit her mother and brother, Mary Lou and Kyle Weatherford. Kim lives in Emporia, Kan., and works for Daniel's International of South Carolina, a construction company that builds nuclear power plants. Kim talked to her Dad, Joe Weatherford Saturday morning. He was in south Carolina at the time he called. She also talked to her sister Jan Perry who lives in Longview. Kim and Mary Lou went shopping in Amarillo Saturday and visited Mary Lou's mother who is in a nursing home there. They visited Sunday with Joe's parents Dub and Rene Albright and also Joe's grandmother. Kim left Monday for Emporia and will be back to work on Tuesday.

Joy Barker met her sister Donna Aven from San Antonio at the airport in Amarillo Friday evening and they both went on to Sayre, Okla. to visit their parents Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lamm. Joy returned home Sunday evening by way of the airport in Amarillo where Donna caught a flight back to San Antonio.

Morgan and Geneva Dennis have returned from Goldthwaite where they attended the graduation exercises for their grandson, Eric Dennis, son of Dr. Douglas and Mona Dennis. Eric graduated from Goldthwaite High School as an honor student, being in the top five of the class. Geneva said it was extremely dry in that area — no wild flowers were blooming and there was a water shortage.

Jauvada Curtiss and her granddaughter, Kelli Curtiss, spent the Memorial Day weekend with Morgan and Geneva Dennis, also Debbie Dennis from Lubbock.

Betty Cartwright entertained relatives and friends honoring Bridgette Lowe after graduation. Pick up foods were served to Karen Grayson from Slaton, Kim Allison from Lubbock, Brittany Lowe from Idalou and Todd Hatla from Dimmitt.

Several Dimmitt relatives attended the graduation of Gavin Moore in Sunray. Gavin is the son of Gary and Judy Moore, grandson of Bob and Phyllis Mooney and great grandson of Elmer and Mauzee Youts. Others attending were: Clara Gladden, Rachel Burnett, Susie Bell, Don and Paralyne Moore, Monty, Max, and Mandy Moore.

Connie Ivey, Wilton Graef and her family, Lisa and Anton, drove to Lamoni, Iowa for Brent Graef's graduation from Graceland College on May 20. Brent, David, and Brent's friend from college came home with the group by way of Tonkawa, Okla. to visit Raneal Perry and her family. Raneal entertained their High School choir with a breakfast while the Dimmitt relatives were there. They served about 50 people — can you imagine scrambling that many eggs!

David Graef has been attending Graceland College and will graduate next year. Carl Graef will graduate from Hale Center High School on Wednesday with several honors, as well as being valedictorian. Congratulations, Carl!

Elbert and Geneva DeLozier entertained their niece and husband, Janice and Phil Onsley, from Mobile, Ala. last week. They had been vacationing on the West Coast and came by Dimmitt on their way home.

Kim Frye, homemaking teacher in Dimmitt last year, was celebrating her last day in Dimmitt by eating out with her grandmother, Mrs. Truitt Boothe. Kim is the daughter of George and Aundra Frye from Summerfield.

Dr. Beth Vaughan-Wrobel (Charlene Vaughan) from Garland has been visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Vaughan and her sister Sherri Baldrige and family, Garry and Kevin. Betty Vaughan's sister, Aileen Tillson, came over from Plainview to visit and Linda Withers and Ioma Stokes enjoyed lunch with the group one day while Charlene was here.

Jettie Sheffy took her 11-year-old grandson, Tim Gregg, from Electra fishing at Clarendon. Tim caught a 7½ lb. catfish so they froze it so he could take it home to show his family and friends. They caught 17½ lbs. of fish. The Dimmitt Bridge Club met in the home of Ralph and Avis Smith for a delicious Chinese dinner. They served Teriyaki chicken and rice, Chinese Noodle salad, broccoli, and Millionaire pie to John and Sue Merritt, Goldman and Carole Dyer, Harold and Shirley Stephens, Russel and Myrtle Lois Moran, Ted and Dorothy Sheffy, and Aural Davis.

Jim and Ellen Hrabal hosted a Bon Voyage party for Wayne and Mary Thomas at the community center in Hereford. Dips and snacks were served to their friends and everyone wished them a good trip.

Several Dimmitt women attended the Seminar on Financial Planning sponsored by the officers and directors of the First State Bank of Tulia on Wednesday afternoon. Guest speakers were Mrs. Debbie Adair with the Texas American Bank in Amarillo and Stephen L. Rohde, J. D. With Evans and Rohde Attorneys at Law in Tulia. Beth Hodges, Senior vice-president of the First National Bank in Panhandle and daughter of Beral Hance, was one of the hostesses. There were three tables of pickup foods including chicken puffs, a meat log and crackers, dainty party cookies, chocolate covered crumb balls, a fruit plate of pineapple, strawberries, frosted grapes, nuts, and banana slush and coffee. The tables were so pretty with huge bouquets of yellow and orchid gladiolas.

Those going from Dimmitt were: Beral Hance, Gladys Leeth, Cletha George, Leada Hance, Betty Freeman, Geneva Dobbs, Mrs. Ginn, Joy Jones, Maxine Ballard, Irene Carpenter, and Mary Edna Hendrix. About 135 women attended the meeting.

The Thursday Bridge Club met at the Senior Citizens Center for lunch and a fun day of bridge playing. Lora-nell Hamilton was hostess. Johnnie Vannoy won high score and Josie Bradford won second high. Others playing were: Beash Bradford, Faun Welker, Betty Cartwright, Elizabeth Huck-abay, Sal DiCuffa, Jean Christian, Cleo Forson, and Emily Clingsmith.

The sixth grade students of the Gifted and Talented class gave a surprise appreciation party for Mrs. Glenda Sims on Wednesday. They put up signs to thank Mrs. Sims for all her hard work in helping the students the past two years. There was a cake with "Report Card for Mrs. Sims A+" on it. They also wrote a poem for Mrs. Sims. Mrs. Sims has guided the students in extra studies for the past two years. Their most recent project has been to direct the plays they wrote earlier in the year. The sixth grade G.T. students are Kristi Sims, Cory Joiner, Jennifer Hanners and Barry Hill.

Susan Coleman was surprised and duly initiated into the thirty-year-old age group on Tuesday evening. While she and her family were at little Garland's baseball game, friends gathered and put up signs to wish Susan a happy birthday. Lisa and John Thomas brought a beautiful cake shaped in the numerals three and zero.

Man's triumph over a Menace to Life...

Sharks have always been man's enemies in the sea. They are a danger to the shipwrecked, and occasionally threaten the lives of swimmers along our coastal waters. Sharks are only one of the many dangers that man faces every day. The world, today, is in a turmoil and we must be alert and on guard for the enemies' moves. Now is the time to trust in the Lord and to seek His help.

"Unto thee, O Lord, do I lift up my soul. O my God, I trust in thee; let me not be ashamed, let not mine enemies triumph over me."

Psalm 25, 1-2

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

The cake was decorated with flowers and rainbows. Other friends brought homemade ice cream. So when Susan came in from the ball game, she was greeted with a loud "Surprise!" After ice cream and cake, Susan opened her lovely gifts including a magnifying glass, some memory pills, some false teeth cleaner, some color to cover her gray hair, some support hose and a hair net. The Joe Higgs gave her a beautiful potted plant. Some of the friends and family attending were: Joe and Pam Josselet, John and Lisa Thomas, W. J. and Sara Hill, Frank and Shirley Wise, Gary and Ronda Wise and Ruth Coleman.

Beral Hance's granddaughter Tracey Compton came by from Denver, Colo., Friday to visit Beral. She had been in Denver to spend some time with her mother Linda Hance, who had major surgery. Earlene Taylor Gee from Tyler is spending some time with Linda now. Beral's daughter, Beth Hodges from Panhandle and Beth's daughter Sheralynn Bowersock and little son Kent Andrew from Wichita Falls spent Saturday with Beral, then Beral's daughter-in-law and granddaughter, Carol and Susan Hance from Lubbock came up to visit Sunday. Carol and Susan also visited with Carol's mother Nancy Hays, brother John and Carolyn Hays and sister Mary and Dan McWhorter and families in Hereford.

The parlor of Hereford's First Baptist Church was the setting for the wedding Saturday evening of Oleta Rebecca Gollehon of Dimmitt and Guy Richard Walsler of Hereford.

Rev. Joe Higgs of Dimmitt's First Baptist Church performed the ceremony before two marble columns holding vases of dried floral arrangements.

Approximately 50 members of the couple's families witnessed the ceremony and enjoyed the family picture-taking and reception afterward.

The bride wore a claret-colored chiffon dress with Ultraseud trim, and carried a pink rose and baby's breath bouquet.

Four of the couple's children provided music for the wedding. They were Mrs. Ken (Jan) Walsler, Ben Gollehon, Mrs. Bill (Ann) Murphy and Mrs. John (Kathy) Poer. Their musical selections included "Hawaiian Love Song," "Let the Rest of the World Go By," "When I Look at You" and "Be My Life's Companion."

The registry and reception tables both featured spring floral arrangements in pastel shades. Guests were registered by the bride's grandson, Ron Rankin of Amarillo, son of Kathy Poer.

The serving table at the reception was covered with a lace cloth and contained spring flowers, a punchbowl and a two-tiered cake topped by a special Jonathan and David figurine of a bride and groom.

Serving cake and punch at the reception were the groom's granddaughter, Dianne Walsler, and the bride's granddaughter, Tricia Touchstone.

1984 FED CATTLE SURVEY

In Southwestern Public Service Area

Where 4,575,821 Cattle Were Fed in 1983

More than 4½ million cattle moved through feedlots in Southwestern Public Service Co.'s service territory in 1983, the company's latest annual Fed Cattle Survey shows.

SPS serves a 70,000-square-mile area in the Texas Panhandle and South Plains, eastern New Mexico, the Oklahoma Panhandle, and southwestern Kansas. The area last year produced 4,575,821 fed cattle, 6% more than in 1982.

SPS surveyed 111 feedlots in our four states; 96 of the feedlots have a capacity of more than 5,000 head. Total capacity of the feedlots in 1983, 2,494,000 head, was down slightly from total capacity in 1982, when lots could carry 2,516,000 head.

The number of cattle slaughtered at packing plants in the SPS service area in 1983, 4,721,699, was 713,621 head higher than in 1982, said Seth Thomason, SPS manager for agricultural and industrial power. There are 16 beef packing plants in the SPS service area, he said, with an annual slaughter capability of 4,942,813 head.

"Requests for this survey come from all across the nation," Thomason said. "It's an excellent way for us to tell others about our area's capabilities in the beef industry, and it helps stimulate the area economy and create new jobs."

The survey lists each feedlot in the SPS area, and the lot capacities and number of cattle fed, by counties. Three counties in New Mexico, three in Oklahoma and 27 in Texas are listed.

Charts of the capacity of feedlots, number of feedlots surveyed, number of feedlots custom feeding, and number of feedlots with a capacity of 1,000 head or more, are included in the report.

Copies of the report and survey are available at Southwestern Public Service Co. offices.

SPS also has produced a wall poster-map showing locations of all the major cattle feedlots and packing plants in the four-state area. The poster-map is free at SPS district offices, Thomason said. It also is available through Thomason's office at SPS headquarters, Tyler at Sixth St., Amarillo, 79170.

The poster-map, about 23 by 27 inches, is suitable for framing. Similar maps were issued by SPS in 1976 and 1982. They have been used by bankers, ranchers and farmers, trucking companies, feedlots and packing plants, government officials and others with a vital interest in the feed cattle industry, Thomason said.

Mongolia is more than twice as large as the state of Texas. However, the city of Houston has more people than live in all of Mongolia.

Pest scout workshop scheduled

Cotton, corn and sorghum producers in Castro County are again receiving a special invitation to take part in the annual High Plains Scout Training Workshop to increase the effectiveness of their pest management programs.

The workshop will be held Friday at the Hale County Agricultural Center in Plainview, Allen Knutson, county Extension agent-entomology, said. The center is on US 87 Business Route south of the city.

The workshop, conducted by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, was first held in 1973 to train scouts in the pest management programs conducted by Extension Service, part of the Texas A&M University System.

In subsequent years, it has expanded to include scouts employed by consultants, aerial applicators and others, as well as producers who want to learn how to scout their own fields for insects. The workshop focuses on perfecting skills in identifying crop pests and making timely pest management decisions which can protect investments and yield, and hold down production costs, Knutson said.

The workshop begins at 8:30 a.m. with Dr. Pat Morrison, Extension entomologist, outlining the scope of the workshop and explaining pest management concepts. Dr. James Leser, Extension entomologist, will discuss thrips in cotton. Cotton fleahoppers will be discussed by Dale Spurgeon, Extension agent-entomology for Crosby and Floyd counties. Morrison will discuss sorghum pests.

The afternoon segment will open with a presentation on corn pests by Allen Knutson, Extension agent-entomology for Castro and Lamb Counties. Greg Cronholm, Extension agent-entomology for Hale and Swisher Counties, will discuss pests of sunflowers and soybeans.

The daylong workshop will conclude with a hands-on session. In this, participants will learn how to determine the percent square set for cotton and will identify insect specimens.
