GOING UP...
A building is being erected. It is made of strong materials, steel and concrete. The foundation is firm and deep. The edifice is built to endure.
We need to build our homes to endure. They need a strong foundation. They need to be built on the rock of Christ. Psalm 127:1 reads, 'Except the Lord build the house, they labour in vain that build it.' Attend church regularly that your house may be instructed in the ways of the Lord.

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE
The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

A&M researchers give results of dry-heating milo for feed

A search for a physical process to improve the utilization of grain sorghum by cattle has been going on for a long time. A POSSIBLE solution is recognized in dry heat processing of the sorghum by J. K. Riggs, J. W. Sorenson Jr. and Price Hobgood, all of Texas A&M University.

Levels of propionic acid in cattle fed the dry heat-treated grains than in those fed the nonheated grains. The resulting narrower acetic propionic acid ratio coincided with the greater efficiency of feed utilization observed by the researchers in the cattle. The cattle fed the dry heat-treated grains showed higher digestibility of dry matter, organic matter, nonprotein organic matter and nitrogen-free extract, but not fat, fiber or protein.

The study also evaluated feedlot performance and carcass characteristics of cattle fed the dry heat-processed and non-processed grain in all-concentrate finishing mixtures. Rumen volatile fatty acid levels and grain digestibility were also determined in the work done cooperatively by the Departments of Agricultural Engineering and Animal Science at A&M.

An infrared-heated reciprocating steel table machine and a gas-heated vibrating-tray conveyor machine were used in the research to determine the feasibility of using dry heat in a popping operation to process the sorghum grain for finishing beef cattle.

RESULTS of the study showed that the grain should be cleaned to assure an even flow free from foreign materials for efficient operation of the reciprocating-table machine.

A grain moisture content of 15 percent was optimum for obtaining the highest percentage of completely popped grain, which was 45 percent. The weight or bulk densities of the loose-fill samples ranged from 49 pounds per cubic foot for the original whole grain to about six pounds per cubic foot for the completely popped grain.

When compared with nonheated, dry-rolled grain, the self-feeding of the popped grain mixture, either completely or partially popped, and crimped and in all-concentrate feed mixtures to finishing steers, resulted in a significantly reduced feed intake. The reduced feed intake was accompanied by an increase in efficiency of feed utilization but an insignificant decrease in rate of gain, final weight, carcass grade dressing percent, carcass grade and fat thickness.

RUMEN samples showed significantly lower levels of acetic and isovaleric acids, but higher levels of propionic acid in cattle fed the dry heat-treated grains than in those fed the nonheated grains.

Fish stocking deadline nears

The Aug. 1 application deadline for channel catfish and hybrid sunfish for stocking purposes is drawing near, the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department reminds.

EACH YEAR, the department distributes more than three million fingerling channel catfish for stocking throughout the State.

The deadline for largemouth black bass, which spawn much earlier than catfish, was April 1. Department spokesmen said many applicants applied for catfish shipments at the same time they applied for bass. Application forms may be obtained at the Department's Austin headquarters or in the various regional offices.

The deliveries ordinarily are made during October and November.

ONE hatchery superintendent indicated this year's crop of incubator catfish is going to be a good one.

"We're in good shape right now," said James C. (Jack) Searcy of the Eagle Mountain Lake hatchery.

He said the incubators are racked up, the brooders have been returned to the holding ponds and about 430,000 young catfish are growing well.

AT EAGLE Mountain, 57 pairs of channel catfish produced 47 spawns, and 37 pairs remated for 31 additional spawns. As spawns were found in the jars, the eggs were transferred to the incubators until the young hatched.

Searcy said this year's spawn was "pretty good" despite continued cold weather in the late spring. He added that he feels he is able to grow a greater number of freshly hatched catfish to fingerling size now because of the use of wooden holding troughs and more effective control of predatory water bugs.

Tornado victims to get tax break

Unfortunately, thousands of Texas taxpayers have qualified for a major tax deduction for 1970.

THESE taxpayers are the victims of the extensive tornadoes and storms (primarily in the High Plains). They have suffered extensive property losses, many of which were not covered by insurance.

They can claim a casualty loss on their 1970 income tax return. The Internal Revenue Service has worked with community groups to schedule tax clinics in Lubbock and a number of other High Plains communities where large numbers of taxpayers are entitled to tax benefits.

IRS expects these meetings to help many taxpayers get an immediate tax benefit by simply completing a new Form W-4 and a W-4 Schedule A to reduce the tax withheld from their pay.

More than three-fifths of all land in the 50 states is privately owned. Privately owned land produces 80 percent of the game for hunting and has 85 percent of the wildlife habitat.

'Computer cow program' to be feature of A&M short course

A new way of teaching animal breeding principles, known as the Computer Cow Program, and production information on all breeds of beef cattle will be the main attractions during Texas A&M University's 20th annual Beef Cattle Short Course Aug. 17-18.

THE COMPUTER Cow Program, developed by Dr. Richard Willham of Iowa State University, was introduced at the Beef Improvement Federation meeting last April in Kansas City.

Short Course Co-Chairman L. A. Maddox, A&M Extension animal husbandman, said each breeder participating in this part of the program will be provided a calf crop from 50 cows with weaning weights, feedlot gains, yearling weights and yearling grades. From this data, the producer culls cows and selects replacement heifers and herd bull prospects for the next generation.

Using matings picked by the breeder, the computer will provide the second generation with a production record based on heritability of traits selected for, and the random change that is involved in any breeding program.

MADDOX said the system will be continued for five generations, taking a total of about 45 days to mail information to the breeder. He then makes his selection and mails it back to Texas A&M.

"We would like all Texas breeders who are working with their breed associations' performance testing programs to participate in this educational effort to teach principles of animal breeding," he said.

Breed associations, beef, dual purpose and dairy cattle have been invited to attend the short course and present the best factual, documented data on performance characteristics of their breed.

"BESIDES the usual recognized beef associations, we have acceptances from most of the associations and foundations of exotic beef breeds and three dairy breeds that will participate in the short course," Maddox said. "The information on new breeds should be of interest to commercial cattlemen as they try to plan breeding programs for the future."

Detailed short course information can be obtained by writing to Maddox or J. K. Riggs, Animal Science Department, Texas A&M University, College Station, Texas 77843.

"Rapidly increasing local community interest in small watershed development throughout the country is one reflection of public insistence upon vigorous resource conservation action." D. A. Williams, Administrator, Soil Conservation Service.

"I can think of few things more important than teaching both children and grown-ups the value of the soil. The good earth is not only the foundation of a nation's economy; it is the basis of civilization itself." - Louis Bromfield

Four members of the Dimmitt White Sox were named to the Tri-City Colt League All-Star Team Monday night in Hereford.

THE WHITE SOX and three teams from Hereford make up the Tri-City League.

Named to the all star team from Dimmitt were Gary Webb, Larry Driver, Bo Myers and Jerry Matlew.

Other members chosen to the all-star squad from the three Hereford teams were Dwaine Davison, Terry Pindokstar, Louie Burrow, Ricky Locke and Johnny Wartham of the Astros; Keith Kitchens, Sammy Ramirez, Terry Scott and Whyam Short of the Sox; and Frank Beizer Jr. and Eddie Gage of the Braves.

THE TRI-CITY All Stars will go into an area playoff against the Borger All-Stars this weekend for the chance to play in the district tournament next week in Abilene.

The first game of the Tri-City vs. Borger playoff will be at 7:30 p.m. Friday in Borger. Saturday night's game will begin at 6:30 Monday.

"Water impounded to prevent floods can also provide habitat for game and fish, recreation for people, water for the community and the essential ingredient for industrial development," Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman

Scripture-movie story of Israel to be shown here

"His Land," a one-hour color movie described as "a musical journey into the soul of a nation," will be shown Saturday at 8:30 p.m. in the First Baptist Church of Dimmitt.

"HIS LAND" is the story of Israel, from ancient to modern times. The movie begins with a panoramic view of ancient Israel, a barren land scarred by centuries of war and neglect. Suddenly movement of a different sort appears on screen, and a startling transformation begins to take place, emphasizing the dramatic rebirth of the nation of Israel.

Through the eye of the camera and the words of the Scriptures, the viewer sees graphically that the Israel of today is a living testimony to the words of the prophets when they proclaimed that Israel would take her place among the nations of the world.

The movie stars Cliff Barrows and popular English actor Cliff Richard, who sings a number of new Ralph Carmichael songs — some of which were actually written on location. These co-stars help conduct the viewer along the vibrant streets and lonely solitary paths of the nation whose destiny is a daily topic all over the world. The movie traces the same path taken by Jesus and the prophets: Galilee, the wilderness, Jerusalem, the Mount of Olives.

"THE WORDS of Scripture come to life as the two men reflect upon the events that in recent years have confirmed many of the ancient prophecies," Dr. Raymond M. Perkins, pastor of the local church, observed.

"Through this movie, you can witness the fact that out of death and desolation a new land is emerging, a 'land of milk and honey,' where the future climactic events of history will take place."

NEWS

Greetings Comrades.

Our last regular meeting was July 6. It opened in due form and I must say the attendance was very good considering that this is the season of working till sundown.

Actually there wasn't much business to discuss. Charles Wilkerson gave a short talk on the State V.F.W. Convention he attended in Amarillo. He related the resolutions adopted by this convention to be presented to the Dept. Convention to be held in Miami, Florida. Went on to describe the awards banquet and the procedures used to determine the places for our future State Conventions.

The highlight of our meeting was the reading of the awards won by our post, Castro Memorial, has won in the past year. The outstanding award were presented was the "Honor Roll Post." This means our post has performed all the prescribed duties, functions, and civic programs as established by the State Dept.

This is the award we have worked so hard all year long to get; that's why we are so proud of it.

Comrades we are starting our new year as far as the V.F.W. is concerned. Commander Howard stated at the last meeting that we've had a good year so let's keep it that way. If any of you have any ideas that will do as a civic program for the good of the public or to better the V.F.W., please come to our next regular meeting August 3, and present it. We need new ideas so don't keep them bottled up till someone else comes out with it.

Well that's about all the news but don't forget our "Game Night" on Wednesday; starting time is 8:30. Y'all bring a guest when you come. See you then.

State drownings pass 130 mark

Drownings in Texas have taken the lives of 134 persons so far this year, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

WITH THE exception of a few freak accidents most of the drownings were the tragic ends to what started as outdoor pleasure outings.

Swimming, boating, wading and fishing were activities which all figured in recent drownings.

Picnicking also figured in two recent drownings of toddlers who wandered away from their elders.

Forty-one of this year's drownings were boating accidents. Of these, six persons were in violation of the law which requires that a Coast Guard approved life saving device be on board for each person in the boat.

SWIMMING accidents accounted for 35 drownings this year. In most cases the victim misjudged his abilities to get himself out of trouble.

Last year 516 persons drowned in Texas.

Financial Facts

By Willis A. Hawkins, Jr.

Do you know how long we've been calling our paper money "Greenbacks"?

It may surprise you to know the term is as old as our national currency. The first issue of United States paper money was the series of Demand Notes of 1861. Because of obvious reasons, the note acquired the nickname "Greenback."

An interesting fact to note is that our first Greenback Dollar wasn't actually even a dollar. The Demand Notes of 1861 were only issued in five, ten and twenty dollar denominations.

The original Greenbacks were unique to American currency. Unlike the paper money issued after 1861, they were signed by hand by employees of the Treasury on behalf of the Treasury officials.

The Demand Notes also backed the Treasury Seal and had the serial number imprinted only once.

4-H dress revue to be next week

By IRENE KEATING
I would like to remind you that the 4-H Dress Revue will be held July 24th at Easter Community Building. Anyone who is interested is welcome to come at 4:30 and see what the girls have made.

With the number of items on the market constantly growing it is important that we use all possible resources to help us. There are several nation-wide consumer research organizations that test all categories of items and make reports. We have access in this in magazines such as Consumer Reports. Few of us subscribe to this but it is in our local library and I feel like you should take advantage of it. You can find out all kinds of interesting things.

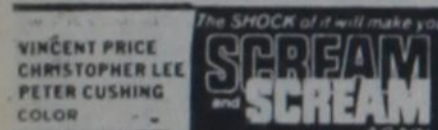

More and more women in our country who have pre-school children are working outside the home.

Many of them work at school as teachers aides but their children still need to be left with substitute mothers. There seems to be a shortage of persons available to keep children, particularly those under two or three. I would like to see one or two women, who are willing to accept the responsibility of nursery age children, set up a day care nursery. If they were dedicated they would always be full and think of the benefits to those of us who have small children. Children enjoy learning to play with others. They learn to share, cooperate, take turns and many other things. Those of us who work and have small children are all concerned that our children are well cared for while we're away from them. I'd like for some of you women who are interested in small children to think this over. There is definitely a need for a competent nursery in Dimmitt. In an informal survey done in late 1968 by the Family Living Committee there were about 450 working mothers and over half of them had pre-school children.

I realize that running a nursery would be a full time job but for a woman who wants to land use as trustee-ship, to be used and handed down in a productive condition to succeeding generations, becomes imperative. Man expresses his moral obligations to posterity most surely through the earth. The fertile or sterile lands which are passed on to feed future blood descendants, our most direct link with the future. . . W. C. Lowdermilk

Tops Club crowns Shirley Wise as six-month queen

July 6 was a big night for 22 members of the Dimmitt SOS Tops Club. Everyone weighed in first, then went to the First United Methodist Church. Each member brought a salad and a gift. The gift was to be exchanged when secret pals were revealed.

THIS WAS the night for revealing the Six Months Queen, who receives a special charm and all of the money in the pig. Mrs. Shirley Wise was revealed as the queen and she received $20.88. Her weight loss was 16 pounds. She was also queen for the months of March with a loss of 5 1/2 pounds, and also June, with a loss of 5 1/2 pounds. She received charms for these honors, also.

Other monthly queens to receive charms were Francis Goodwin, April; and Pat Bull, May.

Lyn Day received three charms. She has attended eight consecutive meetings, and had eight straight weight losses and has lost her first 10 pounds.

Leida Stephens was queen for the week of July 6. Her loss was 4 1/2 pounds.

The new meeting place is in the First United Methodist Church at 7:30 p.m. each Monday.

Do you qualify as a smart shopper at your store's vegetable counter?

There are no set rules in buying vegetables because they all have individual characteristics and values, but Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist, gives these tips on vegetable and meat buying in this week's market.

"VEGETABLE quality on the table starts with quality vegetables in the field," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Truck farmers apply the latest technology to produce an array of high quality fresh vegetables for the market.

"Weather conditions have a great deal to do with what will or will not be available as well as the quality of the products."

Seasonality of products is not as important as it used to be, due to improved transportation and packaging, she said, adding that it is well to remember that vegetables produced at great distances will seldom be as fresh and flavorful as the vegetables produced nearby and in season.

"WHEN buying vegetables, look for freshness, handle with care and avoid decay," Mrs. Clyatt said. "A bright, lively color and crispness are signs of freshness. Usually vegetables are at their best quality and price at the peak of the season."

Bruising and damage can be prevented by being careful with the vegetables, she said. Don't buy because of low price, but rather, buy only what can be stored in the refrigerator or can be used without waste, Mrs. Clyatt said. Most fresh vegetables can be stored for two to five days, except for root vegetables which can be stored from one to several weeks, she continued.

"It's 'penny foolish' to buy fresh vegetables affected by decay," Mrs. Clyatt said. "Even when the decayed area is trimmed, rapid deterioration spreads. A few cents extra is a good investment."

THE VEGETABLES in season and the most economically priced now include carrots, corn, cabbage, head lettuce, mustard greens, collards, green onions, radishes, dry yellow onions and potatoes, both red and russets, she said.

"Purple hull and blackeye peas, yellow and zucchini squash, cucumbers, bell peppers and okra are in less plentiful supply but prices on these items should be lower as they become more readily available," she noted.

Watermelons, cantaloupes, and honeydew melons are available at attractive prices at many markets, and oranges, bananas and pineapples are moderately priced. Mrs. Clyatt said. First of the season Bing cherries, peaches, apricots, blueberries and several varieties of plums are mostly in the high price bracket as yet, she said.

"MEAT CUTS most often featured include chuck roasts and steaks, round steaks and ground beef," Mrs. Clyatt noted. "In the pork department look to shoulder roasts and steaks, rib and loin chops, picnics and canned hams as good choices, price-wise. If you are looking for easy-to-fix and easy-to-store meats, then consider cold cuts."

On the Go
Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cooper of Osceola, Wisc. were visitors in the home of her brother, Fred Waggoner and family this week.

"The dimensions of the resource job we face are staggering. Land today has new values beyond the production of food and fiber. It is looked upon as a source of community stability and economic growth, as the development base for new jobs, for recreational opportunities, for living and working space and other benefits that relate to nonfarm as well as to farm and ranch people." — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman

Girlstown project here leads to yacht meeting

Mrs. Mary Hall of Dimmitt didn't realize, when her picture appeared in the News last December with a stack of Christmas packages for Girlstown, that it would lead to a yacht cruise in the Gulf Coast.

BUT THAT'S what happened to her during her recent vacation, when she was invited to take part in a "floating group-think session" with 27 other ladies from five states to lay future plans for supporting Girlstown.

Mrs. Hall went to the Coast to visit her daughters, Mrs. Carl Spencer of Alvin and Mrs. Gene Perdus of Eldorado, Ark. The Girlstown session aboard the 85-ft. yacht was arranged to coincide with her vacation.

Here's how it all came about: AFTER Mrs. Hall had coordinated the successful Christmas program here for Girlstown — which resulted $430 in cash contributions and more than 300 gifts — the News printed her photo with the wrapped gifts, just before they were shipped to Girlstown.

Her son-in-law in Alvin, Carl Spencer, clipped the photo from the News and put it on the bulletin board at his company, Kay Oil & Service Co. in Houston. The employees there, who already had heard of Girlstown from the Spencers, were quite impressed with Dimmitt's community project.

Mrs. Hall's daughter and Mrs. Gus Worthman of Houston, who is president of Girlstown, decided that someone from Dimmitt could give some good ideas to Girlstown boosters in the Houston area. So, when they learned Mrs. Hall would be visiting her daughter there in June, they set up a party for her — aboard the Kay Oil Co.'s 85-ft. yacht.

WHEN MRS. HALL arrived and was taken by her daughter to LaMarque to board the yacht, she found herself the guest of honor among a group of 28 ladies that included some of the most influential women in the Houston area and nine former Girlstown girls from three states.

On Monday, June 21, the ladies cruised 14 hours from LaMarque to Boca Chica, below Padre Island, "and all we talked about was Girlstown, and how we could help make it bigger and better," she said.

The nine former Girlstown girls, Mrs. Hall said, "would be a credit to any mother. They were wonderful girls, they were airline hostesses and nurses — one had just returned from being an Army nurse in Vietnam — ad they were the nicest young women you've ever met."

ALSO in the entourage were ladies from Arizona, Mississippi, Arkansas, and Louisiana, as well as Texas.

"There was one lady there from Mississippi who had never heard of Girlstown until her nephew married a girl who had been raised there. She's so proud of that niece of hers that she's popping her buttons, and she's ready to get up on a soapbox for Girlstown anytime. That's the kind of ladies we had on this cruise."

Girlstown was also the discussion topic of a second cruise five days later, with 11 ladies aboard to discuss "ways and means" for Girlstown.

"THEY WERE really impressed with what Dimmitt had done for Girlstown last Christmas," Mrs. Hall said, "and they wanted to know all about our town, what it's like, and all I could tell them about Girlstown, too."

Mrs. Hall has been a volunteer worker for Girlstown "ever since I've been in West Texas," about 10 years.

"I believe our meeting there will result in more money and more buildings for Girlstown," she said. "I told the ladies that the main things that are needed there now — and this is my own opinion — are a recreation building and a storm shelter. The girls don't have enough room to do their homework, and a recreation building would get the recreation out of the dorms and let those who need to study, do so.

"THEY WERE all interested in seeing Girlstown grow," she added. "They think we've got an ideal location — it's out in the country where the girls can get a taste of good, wholesome living."

The Girlstown "exes," she said, make up one of the closest sororities in the world. "They're all proud of Girlstown and of the Whiteface schools, and what was done for them there. And every one of them asks about Edwina, who has been the cook at Girlstown for about 20 years — she has done wonders for those girls, which most people don't know about."

As a result of the get-together cruise, Mrs. Hall said, she feels there will be a more organized effort on Girlstown's behalf in the future.

"WHAT THIS cruise resulted in was some good, hard, straight thinking on how we can help Girlstown and get the word out," she said. "And when you get your support spread out that far — all the way to Houston, and Phoenix and Las Vegas — it's bound to help."

Next in line, in background, is Mrs. Betty Harris with "Wendy," who doesn't seem too worried about the needle. Dr. Hill reported that 130 dogs and five cats received their rabies inoculations and city pet-license tags during the five-hours clinic. Assisting with the inoculations and registrations were Police Chief W. W. Jones, Mrs. Rex Cowart and Mrs. C. B. Welch

The view from your library

By MARY EDNA HENDRIX Three more weeks and the Summer Reading Program will be over! We have several who signed from this program and have not been back to the library. I would like to encourage those who have not read any books to do so since the Friends of the Library has asked that each child read at least three books before attending the party at the bank on August 5th at 9:30 a.m. Certificates will be given to those who have read twelve books or more, but each child can attend the party if he has read at least three books during these two months. We have had 225 to sign for the Summer Reading Program, but 31 of these have not reported having read a book. Get on the ball kids and get at least three books read before August 5th, so you can attend the party! We received a few more books this week. Most of them were children's books, and they were checked out as soon as I could get them on the shelves! Keep reading kids! You will be glad you did!

Farm Safety Week to begin Sunday

"The efficiency of American agriculture and the quality of life for agricultural workers is threatened today by the continued high rate of farm accidents. Both the human and the financial costs of these accidents are intolerable," noted President Nixon in his proclamation designating the week of July 19-25 as National Farm Safety Week. HE ADDED that a quarter century of experience in organizing for rural safety has shown that most farm accidents could be prevented through the use of sensible practices and protective devices. Safety information and mechanical safeguards are readily available and their consistent use should be actively encouraged, he said. GOVERNOR Preston Smith, in his proclamation, calls on Texans to reverse the farm accident trend. He urges all farm and ranch families to become more safety conscious — to take advantage of modern technology designed to remove many of the hazards in agricultural enterprises and to make use of the "Slow Moving Vehicle" emblem on their equipment when moving it on the state's rural highways. The Texas Farm and Ranch Safety Council notes that the theme for this year's national week is "Protection! Make it Work for Safety."
