Runoff from Monday's thunderstorm caused Grafa Street to flood next to FM 700. City workers marked the street to

Storm brings hail, flash flooding

BY LYNDEL MOODY

Staff Writer

Monday was a day of extremes.

Crossroads residents woke up to hail and a downpour of rain, which caused flooding throughout the city of Big Spring, but by mid-morning, residents were greeted with blue, sunny skies.

A storm system rolled in early Monday morning dropping about 1.42 inches of rain along with hail at times at the Big Spring Airport, according to the National Weather Service in Midland. Another rain collection site five miles northeast of Big Spring received 2.55 inches of rain, the National Weather Service reports.

Flooding was reported at various parts of the city, including downtown, at Comanche Trail Park and at Trinity Memorial Park, forcing the cancelation of the annual Memorial Day ceremony. In downtown Big Spring, weather was responsible for severe damage to the old Webco building on Third Street across from the Big Spring Area Chamber of Commerce.

According to Lee Harris, who has owned the property for about two months, rainwater pooled in a section of the roof which had already been compromised because of neglect and caused the roof to collapse. Glass from the front of the building spilled out onto the street and Big Spring police were out Monday morning in the rain to keep vehicles away from the damage. Harris said he was in the process of demolishing the structure when the damage occurred.

With this latest gusher, Lake J.B. Thomas saw a small uptick in participation. According to the National Weather Service, the reservoir was reported at 75 percent full, up from 73 percent reported last week.

As of yesterday, Big Spring has officially received 5.49 inches of rainfall for the year.

And more rainfall is predicted to roll in this week.

According to the National Weather Service, isolated thunderstorms will be possible across the eastern Permian Basin and western low Rolling Plains.

Gun bills move to final vote

By JIM VERTUNO

Associated Press

AUSTIN, Texas — Two bills to expand gun rights that had been expected to fly through the Republican-controlled Texas Legislature have instead hit several snags and will need a big push during this final week of the session if they are to become law.

A so-called campus carry bill, which would allow concealed handguns in college classrooms, cleared the Senate in March and is scheduled for a House vote Tuesday. An open carry bill, which would permit guns to be carried in plain sight most everywhere, passed both chambers in different forms but ran into unexpected turbulence last week as a surprising coalition of Senate liberals and tea party conservatives teamed up for a vote to limit police oversight of the measure. Both bills now are short on time if they are to be sent to Gov. Greg Abbott, who has pledged to expand gun rights in his first session as chief executive. The regular session ends June 1. Campus carry has enjoyed majority support in the Legislature for years but has been stymied by fierce resistance from police and some higher education officials, notably within the University of Texas System. New Chancellor William McRaven, the former head of U.S. Special Operations Command who spearheaded the covert raid that killed Osama Bin Laden, has told lawmakers that allowing concealed handguns in classrooms will make universities less safe and make it harder for schools to recruit and keep top faculty and

Gun rights groups insist campus carry is an important selfdefense measure for students and staff.

BP getting credit for gulf tourism boom

By JAY REEVES

Associated Press

ORANGE BEACH, Ala. With the Memorial Day holiday here, fallout from the oil spill that left Gulf Coast beaches smeared with gooey tar balls and scared away visitors in 2010 is being credited, oddly, with something no one imagined back then: An increase in tourism in the region. Five years after the BP disaster, the petroleum giant that was vilified during heated town hall meetings for killing a way of life is now being praised by some along the coast for spending more than $230 million to help lure visitors back to an area that some feared would die because of the spill.

Questions remain about the long-term environmental impacts of the BP disaster, with a report released just last week finding a definite link between the spill and a record die-off of the bottlenose dolphins that tourists love to spot along the northern Gulf Coast. Pockets of oil still blot the sea floor and spots along Louisiana's coast.

Meanwhile, many are still wrangling with BP over spillrelated claims. Attorneys for businesses and individuals claiming damages from the spill announced a $211 million settlement last week with Transocean Ltd., owner of the failed Deepwater Horizon drilling rig. Yet, at the same time, parking lots are full outside the same coastal hotels and condominium towers that struggled for business and slashed prices while crude was pouring into the gulf off Louisiana's coast in 2010.

Visitors bob in surf where oil once washed in, and some restaurants have 90-minute waits for dinner on the weekend. Tourist business has doubled in Alabama's largest beach towns since before the spill, officials say, and Pensacola Beach, Florida, is so clogged with visitors that traffic is a primary problem. Many attribute the change

The theme parks of Orlando, Florida, helped draw a record 62 million visitors to the city last year, and the U.S. Travel Association expects Americans to spend about 5 percent more this Memorial Day than But back in 2010, there were questions and fears over whether the tourist economy of the northern Gulf Coast would ever recover from the spill. Residents feared that images of oil-soaked birds and blackened beaches would permanently change travel patterns and leave towns like Gulf Shores, Alabama, and Destin, Florida, as the forgotten coast.

Ted Scarritt, who offers tourist cruises in Orange Beach aboard his 53-foot catamaran "Wild Hearts," remembers crying and praying while the spill was happening. Scarritt, who also owns a beach service company, purchased the sailboat only months before the spill and had to keep it out of the oil-marred waters that summer.

Bird Poop:

A cuckoo avoids the hail, but hits a house

uring the first half of May, the numerous forecasts for rain were both encouraging and disappointing. Mostly educated guesses seemed to predict a chance of moisture. The reality of such could have been enhanced by the simple call of "The Rain Crow."

With each day's weather channel promise had come my heightened anticipation of hearing a familiar sound of summer. From a neighborhood tree might come a guttural kuk-kuk-kuk-kuk, kowkow, followed by kowlpkowlp-kowlp-kowlp.

Yet no sound emerged. And neither did the rain.

Heard, but not seen, the Yellow-billed Cuckoo often heralds a definite change in the weather.

In years with El Nino, or just plain luck, the summer migrant is often more right than

Years ago, however, one bird was briefly sidelined from its prediction by a sudden storm laced with hail. Returning to its sanctuary in the huge pecan tree in Gloria Coffee's back yard, the bird was blown off course and slammed into one of her downstairs windows.

Hearing the impact, Gloria rushed outside to find the slender messenger lying upside down in her flowerbed. By the time she and the bird managed to get back inside, both were sopping wet.

With the ring of our doorbell came a bedraggled friend standing on the porch. Asking for help, Gloria, her upbeat personality, and whatever kind of avian life she held were always welcome.

Inside a cardboard box was one of our most elusive and secretive summer birds. As towels cradled its body, the yellow-billed cuckoo appeared to be sleeping. Actually, it had knocked itself out, and would need time to awaken, get its bearings, and recover from the stress and trauma of a jolting impact.

To be able for us to see one this closely allowed us to notice that the coloration of its back was a familiar grayish-brown.

During the next moment, the sun briefly shone through turbulent clouds. As we both moved to catch that extra light, the bird's outer color suddenly changed to an olivebrown.

Underneath, it was a creamy white. Its long tail, with white spots on the underside, was as distinctive as its rust or bronze primaries that we would see when extending its wings for any possible injury.

Its beak, from which part of its name is derived, curved downward, with the lower mandible a deep yellow. Its upper beak had a partial coloring of yellow as well.

Hours passed. Finally, the cuckoo's exploring the limits of its captivity alerted us that it had recovered. Its beak against cardboard made a very positive, welcome sound.

Finding no apparent injuries, our guest was placed in a large enclosure and tempted with mealworms. After having to hunt for tent caterpillars, grasshoppers, ants, and dragonflies, it relished the free meal. Even though Gloria's pecan and the oaks in front offered numerous little worms, the insectivore would continue searching throughout our neighborhood for its favorite delicacies.

After its release, the bird would continue its secretive hiding in trees. Only its voice would indicate its loca-

Recently, with yet another forecast of rain, gray clouds greeted my walk to the end of our driveway for the newspaper. Coming to mind were the lyrics from a song in My Fair Lady, "The rain in Spain stays mainly in the plain."

After a little research came awareness that rain doesn't fall mainly in the plains of Spain. The mountains are the recipients.

Further thinking about plains caused me to realize that here, in the United States, we have the Great Plains.

The forecast I had just seen showed this vast, flat area as stretching from the Canadian bor der to that of Mexico. Included was the Perm ian Basin.

A head scratcher: 9 brains found next to train tracks

GOUVERNEUR, N.Y. (AP) — Nine brains were found along a street in a northern New York village, but authorities say there's nothing to fear.

The brains are believed to have been part of a collection for educational or research purposes. No criminal activity is suspected. Residents discovered the brains on a street near railroad tracks in Governeur and notified police Wednesday.

A local veterinarian determined one of the brains had been professionally removed and preserved in formaldehyde. The organs are believed to be either from dogs or sheep. Mishaps with pre-human brains stored in jars of formaldehyde and reported missing were actually destroyed in 2002. Those brains had been donated for teaching and research.

Naked man rescued after getting stuck on Florida drawbridge

FORT LAUDERDALE, Fla. (AP) — Firefighters served brains are not in Florida have rescued a naked man trapped on a raised drawbridge. The South Florida Sun Sentinel quoted witnesses as saying the unidentified man was walking across the Florida East Coast Railway railroad bridge in Fort Lauderdale on Friday morning when it began to rise, forcing him to scamper to the top, about 100 feet up. The man said he had been swimming in the New River, which flows under the bridge. Officials from the Fort Lauderdale Fire Rescue Department said in a news release that the height was too much for their ladders, so two rescue workers climbed the remaining distance and secured the man with a rope harness. The bridge was then slowly lowered back down.

In October 2013, a woman taking part in a 5K walk also got caught on the bridge as it rose.

Harden helps Rockets stave Off elimination, beat Warriors HOUSTON (AP) — James through the second and missed aggressive, taking shots, getting

Harden was not happy after a poor performance in Houston's embarrassing loss to Golden State in Game 3.

Coach Kevin McHale told him the best thing to do was take that frustration out on the other

Harden did just that, scoring a playoff career-high 45 points as the Rockets led from start to finish to avoid elimination in the Western Conference finals with a 128-115 victory over the Warriors on Monday night.

"James had a phenomenal game," McHale said.

The Rockets had a big lead after tying a playoff record with 45 points in the first quarter before Stephen Curry landed on his head in a nasty spill midway about 12 minutes.

Curry said he went through the concussion protocol before

"It was all minor stuff compared to how it looked," Curry said. "But I'll get some good rest (Monday night) and be ready to go ... since it happened to now, nothing has gotten worse."

His first field goal after returning came on a 3-pointer that got Golden State within six points with less than 8 1/2 minutes remaining. But Harden, who had 17 points in the fourth quarter, scored the next seven as part of 10 straight by Houston to push the lead to 114-98.

"I always want to take it out on my opponent in a good way," Harden said. "Just being to the basket, not really forcing anything and allowing the game to come to me."

Klay Thompson had 24 points and Curry added 23 for Golden State, which moved a win away from its first trip to the NBA Finals since 1975 after routing Houston 115-80 on Saturday night to take a 3-0 lead.

But the Warriors couldn't put the Rockets away and will try again at home in Game 5 on Wednesday night.

Houston bounced back from a 3-1 deficit to the Clippers in the conference semifinals. But they face a much bigger challenge in this series, as no team in NBA history has won a playoff series

With 5 teams in NCAAs, cold-weather Big Ten hot now

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — As usual, the SEC, ACC and Pac-12 had the most teams make the NCAA baseball tournament. Right behind those warm-weather conferences, though, was the Big Ten, a league that not long ago was an afterthought on selection

The Big Ten advanced a record five teams into the field of 64 and has a national seed for the second year in a row, this time No. 6 Illinois.

"I've been in this conference for 25 years, and 10 years as a head coach, and this is the best it's been by a long shot,"

Illini coach Dan Hartleb said Monday night. "For us to have this type of year with the quality in this league, it's very satisfying, but it's not the ultimate goal."

Pac-12 champion UCLA (42-14) edged out Southeastern Conference regular-season champion LSU (48-10) for the No. 1 national seed. The other six national seeds, in order, are: Louisville, Florida, Miami, Illinois, TCU and Missouri State.

The tournament opens Friday with 16 four-team, double-elimination regionals. Bestof-three super regionthose winners moving to the College World Series in Omaha.

National seeds that win their regionals play at home in super regionals. Since the NCAA went to its current tournament format in 1999, only one No. 1 national seed — Miami in 1999 has won the championship.

The SEC and Atlantic Coast Conference each have seven teams in the tournament and the Pac-12 has six.

Until this year, the Big Ten had never had more than three qualifiers. The big breakthrough als are next week, with came in 2013, when Indiana became the first Big Ten team since Michigan in 1984 to reach the CWS. Last year Indiana was the first Big Ten team to earn a national seed, at No. 4, but the Hoosiers were upset in regionals.

Illinois (47-8-1) is in the tournament for the 11th time but will host its first regional. The Illini had the nation's longest win streak this season at 27 games that ended in the Big Ten tournament.

Iowa (39-16) made the tournament for the first time since 1990 and will be the No. 2 regional State site. Michigan (37-23) won the Big Ten tournament to receive an automatic bid and will be the No. 3 regional seed at Louisville.

Indiana (34-22) won 11 of its last 14 games under first-year coach Chris Lemonis to get a No. 3 regional seed at Vanderbilt. Maryland (39-21) is the No. 3 regional seed at UCLA.

"That conference has done a really good job with promoting facilities, promoting players and TV exposure," UCLA coach John Savage said. "They're a legitimate baseball con-seed at the Missouri ference right now. It seems like the depth of the conference is vastly improved."

UCLA's dominance in the Pac-12 this spring impressed the Division I Baseball Committee so much that the Bruins earned the No. 1 national seed for the first time. A year ago, they followed up their 2013 national championship with a 25-30-1 record that kept them out of the tournament. "We knew we were going to have a good team," Savage said. "We knew we had some play

Hamilton hitless, but red-hot Rangers win 6th straight game

Hamilton has played in two World Series, appeared in five All-Star Games and won a Most Valuable Player Award. Yet he still had to fight off nerves in his return to the majors Monday.

"It was good to get the first atbat out of the way, I was a little nervous up there," Hamilton said after the Rangers sixth straight win, a 10-8 victory over the Cleveland Indians. "After that, second at-bat I was feeling pretty good. It was just good to be out there. It was good to feel the energy in the dugout." Hamilton, slowed this season league rehab assignment on by shoulder surgery, was 0 for CLEVELAND (AP) — Josh 3 with two strikeouts and a fifth and started Monday's walk and scored a run. He also reached on a key error in the seventh inning that led to the winning run.

The 2010 AL MVP came up with runners on first and second and two outs in the seventh inning with the score 8-all. He hit an easy tapper back to pitcher Zach McAllister, whose throw was well over the head of first baseman Carlos Santana for a two-base error. Prince Fielder scored. Hamilton was traded from the Angels back to Texas in late April. He finished a minor game in left field. He was moved to right in the ninth inning. The Rangers didn't arrive in Cleveland until 4 a.m. after completing a three-game sweep in Yankee Stadium on Sunday night, but they looked like a refreshed bunch in Hamilton's return.

"Mentality's everything," he said. "You start winning some ballgames, guys get a lot of confidence. It goes from hitting to pitching to playing defense, so I like it, man. I like winning and the situation I'm in. Guys are hungry and I

O's beat Astros, hand Keuchel firet defeat NUUUIIUI

BALTIMORE (AP) — With the exception of two mighty the Baltimore did very little Orioles offensively against Dallas Keuchel.

Baltimore didn't strand a runner and never got one in scoring position. In six of eight innings, the Orioles sent only three batters to the

Yet, thanks to two-run homers by Caleb Joseph and Steve Pearce, the Orioles dealt Keuchel his first loss in a 4-3 victory over the Houston Astros on Monday.

Keuchel (6-1) came in with a 1.67 ERA and had won three straight starts. The left-hander allowed just one home run in nine appearances this season before Joseph connected in the second inning and Pearce went deep in the seventh.

"I think the game was more about they took advantage of every opportunity they had, which weren't many," Astros manager A.J. Hinch said. "Two pitches up. Timely hitting for them."

Keuchel gave up six hits, struck out three and walked one over eight innings in his first complete game of 2015 and seventh of his career.

"To beat a good pitcher like him, it's really a challenge," manager Orioles Buck Showalter said.

"But in order to beat him, you have to pitch well. That's what our four guys Orioles starter Wei-Yin Chen allowed three runs and 11 hits in five innings. Only once before had the left-hander surrendered more hits in a game, but he kept the damage to a minimum by repeatedly working out of jams. "They had their pops at Wei-Yin but he held them when he had to," Showalter BradBrach(2-0)pitchedtwo scoreless innings of relief and Oliver Drake worked a perfect eighth before Zach Britton got three straight outs for his 11th save.

The victory comes after Baltimore dropped two of three against the lowly Marlins.

"Hopefully today is the start of something," Pearce said. "We have a good team, we have a good hitting team. We just haven't had consistency all year. Right now is a good time to get hot as any."

George Springer had a season-high three hits and a homer for the Astros, who stranded seven and went 1 for 11 with runners in scoring position.

Keuchel retired 11 straight batters until the seventh, when Delmon Young singled with one out and Pearce drove the a two-seam fastball over the wall in right-center to erase a 3-2 deficit.

The Astros squandered scoring opportunities until the fifth inning, when Chris Carter hit a two-out, opposite-field bloop single to right field that brought in two runs for a 3-2 lead.

Houston got singles from the first two batters in both the first and second innings but could not score.

Boundary Moon

Contrary o what children believe. saying "no" isn't unkind We can't all get what we want all the time, and if we could, the world would be a HoLIDAY horrible Mathis place to live.

Drawing boundaries

isn't about restricting or dominating others; it's about honoring your own spirit. Such are the themes while the busy Virgo moon lays down some rules

ARIES (March 21-April 19). Those close to you will sense how you're feeling. Then again, so will complete strangers, and perhaps with even more accuracy. If influencing others is on the agenda, be sure to put yourself in a terrific mood before you leave the house.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). There's a chant inside you, a mantra repeated from morning to night, waxing and waning in intensity throughout the day. This inside talk is not necessarily true. Challenge it.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). When you reach out in joy and curiosity, life meets vou with enthusiasm and inclusiveness. You don't require the people you meet to delight you, but they will anyway!

CANCER (June 22-July 22). The work you do today to accept your thoughts and manage your expectations will lead to your next leap in emotional maturity. It is said that the strong master others, but the powerful master themselves.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Neutrality is not negativity. Don't confuse the two. Someone's neutral feelings toward you could turn positive with a smile and a kind word. Try that before you assume a person doesn't like you.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Do birds change their tune? Sure, they do it all the time in their efforts to communicate clearly to one another. You'll change your tune, too. It's not duplicitous; it's accommodating.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The things that seem like tiny coincidences are not. They are evidence of your role in a larger web of consciousness. When what you think of materializes in some funny way, it's a wink from the universe to you.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Your social icebreaker will be a joke that's self-deprecating, but only slightly. Go too far with that, and it seems disingenuous. Tonight, what's fun is also good for you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Crushes are not only for schoolgirls. They're for anyone who's ever been infected by someone's person and gotten carried away with the impression in spite of themselves. Someone's crushing on you

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You can always reinvent yourself, but it's more difficult in familiar settings. That's why the new environment today is an opportunity not to be missed!

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). You've been an angel before. Remember when you appeared at the right time to help someone? You'll be an angel again as you stay aware of your environment and respond accord-

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). There's no need to swim upstream right now. There's a time to find your inner salmon, but this isn't it. You're not being called back to the shore where you were born, so float along today.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY

(May 26). James Carville said, "The best time to plant an oak tree was 25 years ago. The second best time is today." You'll seize your moments to lay down your legacy. Compassion will guide your choices this summer. You'll create, make more money and grow your family. September and January bring a call to adventure. Scorpio and Leo people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 40, 17, 30, 28 and 19.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "Why was I born without willpower? I'm a Virgo. My sign is supposed to have self-discipline. Also, you have often written about how Virgos are health conscious. This doesn't describe me at all. I am more than 100 pounds overweight, so how can this be true? And how can a Virgo attain self-control?"

I'm getting from your letter that being overweight bothers you and that you'd like to have more self-discipline, and these qualities are very much in line with the energy of Virgo. The key to selfcontrol is always in the present moment. "Now" is the only moment we can influence. However, with good preparation, you can set yourself up for success in the "now" moment. For instance, if you have healthy foods around you that you eat frequently throughout the day, your body won't get so hungry that you cave in and drive through the fast-food line. If you have your water bottle out and remind yourself to drink plenty of water all day long, you won't mistake feelings of thirst for feelings of hunger and eat more than you need. Consider how you are currently setting yourself up for success or failure, and make adjustments as needed.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Versatile Gemini actress Helena Bonham Carter recently played the fanciful fairy godmother in 'Cinderella" and will follow the role with a dramatic turn in "Suffragette," a film about the foot soldiers of the early feminist movement. Carter was born when the moon was in Leo, the sign of the entertainer. Her Mars in Taurus, the sign of the throat, suggests that singing will continue to bring career If you would like to write to Holiday Mathis, please go to www. creators.com and click on "Write the Author" on the Holiday Mathis page

Annie's Mailbox ®

Dear Annie: My husband and I meet up with a group of family and close friends every week for lunch.

One couple in this group (a close family member and her spouse) constantly blow their noses during our get-togethers. They use cloth handkerchiefs, which are then reused multiple times, and her husband picks his nose, as well. It is nauseating to all of us, not to mention to other diners nearby. A few of the couples have told us they will not attend any more lunches unless absolutely necessary.

We do not want a family feud, but I think we need to do something before our social gatherings fall apart. The one with the most appalling manners is a college graduate with an excellent job. You would think he would know better, but it's difficult to tell him anything How do we fix this without alienating them altogether? -- Sickened and Frustrated

Dear Sickened: People who believe they are entitled to nauseate others because they have sinus issues are not likely to listen to anyone. Some friends and family tolerate these unpleasant encounters because they value the person enough to put up with the constant nose blowing, no matter how unappetizing. Yet these tolerated friends do not seem to give the same value to their companions' sensitivities. (There is no excuse for picking one's nose.)

While we understand and sympathize with folks who have terrible allergies and need to dab at their noses frequently, that is not the same as major nose and throat clearing where mucus exits the system. For those moments, a trip to the restroom is called for, even if that means absenting yourself from the table more often than you'd like. The other alternative, of course, is to meet at a place where you will not be eating. It's the combination of food and snot that makes this so unpleas-

Dear Annie: This is for "Hopeless." who likes a bov who asked for her phone number, and now she is waiting for him to call, which

I could have written that letter. I, too, liked a guy, and after six months, he asked a mutual friend for my phone number. But he never called. Another six months went by while I waited. Finally, I asked him out.

It turns out, he was so shy he couldn't make the call. Even after we began dating, it took him three years to ask me to marry him because he was so afraid I'd turn him down -- even though we were only seeing each other and I loved him.

So, I'd like to tell her to hang in there. Her guy may be terribly shy and inexperienced, so be patient and take it slow. If he's anything like my guy, he'll be worth the wait. We've been married for 30 years now and are still going strong. -- Been There

Dear Been: A lot of young women don't realize that guys can be shy, no matter how sure of themselves they may seem on the surface. It takes courage to ask a girl out, and rejection can be hard to take. Women have lived with this for centuries, but we don't always consider that guys may have the same insecurities.

During Mark Twain's days as a newspaperman, he was the editor of a small Missouri paper.

One day, he received a letter from a subscriber stating that he had found a spider in his paper and asked if this was an omen of good or bad luck.

Twain replied, "Finding a spider in your paper is neither good nor bad luck. The spider was merely looking over our paper to see which merchant was not advertising so that he could go to that store, spin his web across the door and lead a life of undisturbed peace

IN MAY?

In History Today is Tuesday, May 26,

the 146th day of 2015. There are 219 days left in the year. Today's Highlight

This Date

On May 26, 1940, Operation Dynamo, the evacuation of some 338,000 Allied troops from Dunkirk, France, began during World War II. On this date:

In 1521, Martin Luther was banned by the Edict of Worms (vohrms) because of his religious beliefs and writings.

In 1865, Confederate forces west of the Mississippi surrendered in New Orleans.

In 1868, the impeachment trial of President Andrew Johnson ended with his acquittal on the remaining charges.

In 1913, Actors' Equity Association was organized by a group of actors at the Pabst Grand Circle Hotel in New

1938, the House In Un-American Activities Committee was established by

In 1942, the U.S. War Department formally established the Armed Forces Radio Service (AFRS). The Tule (TOO'-lee) Lake Segregation Center for Japanese-American wartime internees opened in northern California. In 1954, explosions rocked the aircraft carrier USS Bennington off Rhode Island, killing 103 sailors. (The initial blast was blamed on leaking catapult fluid ignited by the flames of a jet.) In 1960, U.N. Ambassador

Henry Cabot Lodge accused the Soviets of hiding a microphone inside a wood carving of the Great Seal of the United States that had been presented to the U.S. Embassy in Moscow. In 1969, the Apollo 10 astronauts returned to Earth after a successful eight-day dress rehearsal for the first manned moon landing. In 1972, President Richard M. Nixon and Soviet leader Leonid Brezhnev signed the Anti-Ballistic Missile Treaty in Moscow. (The U.S. withdrew from the treaty in 2002.) In 1981, 14 people were killed when a Marine jet crashed onto the flight deck of the aircraft carrier USS Nimitz off Florida.

In 1994, Michael Jackson and Lisa Marie Presley were married in the Dominican Republic. (The marriage, however, ended in 1996.)

One year ago: Pope Francis honored Jews killed in the Holocaust and in terrorist attacks during a visit to the Yad Vashem Holocaust memorial in Jerusalem as he wrapped up his Mideast pilgrimage. Egypt began holding a threeday presidential election (former military chief Abdel-Fattah el-Sissi emerged the landslide winner).

Thought for Today:

"Courage is being scared to death ,Äî and saddling up anyway." ,Äî John Wayne, American actor (born this date in 1907, died 1979).

ers back, and we knew we were healthy. But to go from the top of the mountain in '13 to the bottom in '14 and then back in '15, at least to this point, feels pretty good. The Pac-12 coaches predicted us to win the league. I think that's kind of a telling sign. You still have to go out and do it and have things go your way."

The Bruins have bounced back on the strength of a pitching staff that leads the nation with a 2.16 ERA and a much-improved offense that's batting .285 and averaging better than six runs a

This is the third time since 2010 that UCLA has earned a national seed. UCLA starts the tournament in Los Angeles against Cal State Bakersfield.

LSU coach Paul Mainieri's team has been the consensus No. 1 in the major polls for a month. He said he had no problem with the selection committee's decision on national seedings. The Tigers have one of the country's most powerful offenses, batting .320 and scoring 7.2 runs a game. They lost to Florida in the semifinals of the SEC tournament.

"A lot was made of, 'Are we going to be the No. 1 overall seed?' I wasn't the it," Mainieri said. "UCLA a row.

is very deserving of that honor. We would have been deserving as well. It really doesn't matter."

Defending national champion Vanderbilt was among a group of teams considered for one of the last two national seeds. The Commodores, runners-up to Florida in the SEC tournament, start the NCAA tournament at home against Lipscomb.

Teams making their first appearances are conference champions tournament Radford (Big South) Florida A&M (MEAC), Houston Baptist (Southland) and Cal State Bakersfield (WAC).

Miami is in the tournament for a record 43rd consecutive year. Florida State least bit concerned about qualified for a 38th year in after trailing 3-0.

Dwight Howard had 14 points and 12 rebounds, and received a flagrant 1 foul early in the third quarter after throwing an elbow at Andrew Bogut's head. He would be suspended by accumulation of flagrant foul points if the NBA upgrades it to a flagrant 2 after review.

"I hope not," Howard said when asked about that possibility. "But there's nothing I can do about it at this point. It's never my intention to hurt anybody on the floor. My reaction was to try to get him off me, but I can't react that way." The Warriors made 20 3-pointers and Houston had 17 to set an

NBA record for most 3-pointers combined in a playoff game.

The Warriors used the Hack-A-Shaq technique on Josh Smith and got two 3-pointers from Curry to go on a 10-2 run to get within 10 with 4 minutes remaining.

A dunk by Andre Iguodala got them within eight with about 2 minutes left, but Harden answered with a 3-pointer to shut the door.

Curry was injured after he jumped in the air as Trevor Ariza was about to go up for a shot. Ariza saw him and stopped abruptly, causing Curry to be upended in midair when he crashed into Ariza's shoulder. His head hit the court and it propelled him up and back onto the floor, where he remained for several minutes.

want to go out there and fight and play hard and have fun."

Rangers manager Jeff Banister told Hamilton before the game to fit in and play his game.

"First major league game back, looked fine," Banister said. "More than anything else had a great smile on his face, had some energy. He came in and did exactly what we asked him to do, give us what he could give us today and be one of 25."

Hamilton struck out in his first at-bat on four pitches.

He walked on a 3-2 pitch to load the bases in the third when Texas scored four times to take a 7-5 lead. Hamilton struck out again in the fifth.

The Indians had won six in a row.

Fielder hit his fourth home run in four games for the Rangers. He hit an RBI single that tied it earlier in the seventh before the costly error.

Elvis Andrus homered and he and Fielder each drove in three runs. Adrian Beltre also connected for Texas.

Santana and Roberto Perez homered for the Indians while Jason Kipnis and Michael Brantley had RBI doubles.

Tanner Scheppers (1-0) pitched 1 1-3 innings for the Rangers. Shawn Tolleson pitched the ninth for his fourth save.

Marc Rzepczynski (1-2) also committed a throwing error in the seventh.

Fielder and Adrian Beltre hit back-to-back home runs in first as Texas took a 3-0 lead.

TOUGH ATTEMPT

Hamilton couldn't come up with a sliding attempt at a catch on Kipnis' line drive that went for an RBI double in the second. "Haven't had a ball hit to me like that in a long time," he said. "Any other time, you take a little bit better route. Off the bat I thought it was maybe going in the gap. Took a hard left on me, so that's something you work on in batting practice, taking balls off the bat and getting those jumps and those reads." TRAINER'S ROOM:

Rangers: Texas placed RHP Neftali Feliz on the 15-day disabled list. The right-hander has an abscess on his right side and had surgery in New York on Saturday. Feliz is 1-2 with a 5.09 ERA and six saves.

Indians: C Yan Gomes

wasn't in the lineup after playing for the first time Sunday since spraining his right knee April 11. Manager Terry Francona said Gomes will catch every other day for a week or two and could also be used at DH.

UP NEXT

Rangers: LHP Wandy short stint.

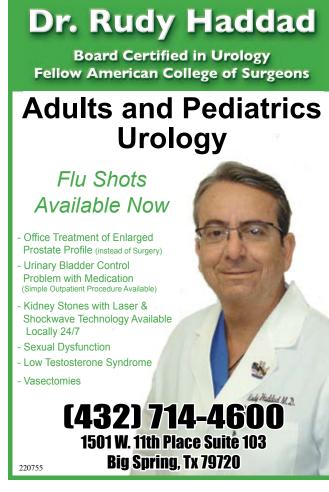

Rodriguez allowed five runs and eight hits, both season highs, in an 8-3 loss to the Indians on May 15 in Texas.

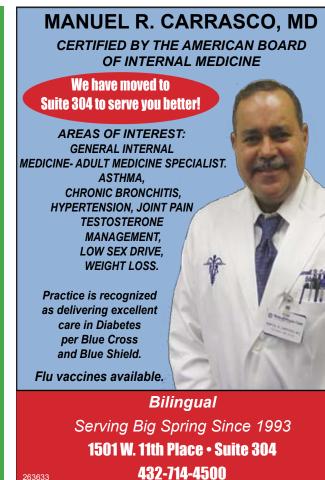

Indians: RHP Danny Salazar was rocked against the Rangers on May 16 in Texas, allowing seven runs, including two homers in a
