Supreme Court may consider abortion case

By MARK SHERMAN

Associated Press

WASHINGTON — Abortion is back before the Supreme Court, and the justices could signal by the end of June whether they are likely to take up the biggest case on the hot-button subject in nearly a quarter-century.

If the court steps in, the hearing and the eventual ruling would come amid the 2016 presidential campaign.

The court is considering an emergency appeal from abortion providers in Texas, who want the justices to block two provisions of a state law that already has forced the closure of roughly half the licensed abortion clinics in the state. Ten of the remaining 19 clinics will have to shut their doors by July 1, without an order from the Supreme Court. The Texas law is among a wave of state measures in recent years that have placed restrictions on when in a pregnancy abortions may be performed, imposed limits on Backers of the law say those are common-sense measures intended to protect women. Abortion rights groups say the regulations have only one aim: to make it harder, if not impossible, for women to get abortions in Texas.

abortions using drugs instead of surgery and increased standards for clinics and the doctors who work in them.

The Texas case involves the last of these categories. The provisions at issue require clinics to meet hospital-like surgical standards and also call on doctors who work in the clinics to have admitting privileges at a nearby hospital. Republican presidential candidate Rick Perry signed the law in 2013 when he was the state's governor.

Backers of the law say those are common-sense measures intended to protect women.

Abortion rights groups say the regulations have only one aim: to make it harder, if not impossible, for women to get abortions in Texas.

The case could be attractive to the justices because it might allow them to give more definition to the key phrase from their last big abortion ruling, Planned Parenthood v. Casey, in 1992. States generally can regulate abortion unless doing so places "an right to get an abortion.

undue burden" on a woman's "Courts have been fumbling for years about what does it mean to be undue under

Casey," said Priscilla Smith, a Yale Law School professor and defender of abortion rights. Some abortion opponents also see the case as a strong candidate for Supreme Court review. "The likelihood of this case getting to the Supreme Court is very high and I think that's a good thing," said Mike Norton, senior counsel for Alliance Defending Freedom, a Christianoriented public interest law

The justices blocked the two provisions once before, in November 2014 while the New Orleans-based 5th U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals was weighing whether those parts of the law violate a woman's right to an abortion. The appeals court upheld the provisions on June 9 and has since refused to put its ruling on hold while the clinics ready their appeal to the Supreme Court. In 2013, four justices -

Taliban suicide bomber, gunmen attack Afghan parliament as lawmakers meet inside

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — The Taliban launched a complex attack on the Afghan parliament Monday, with a suicide car bomber striking at the entrance and gunmen battling police as lawmakers were meeting inside to confirm the appointment of a defense minister, police and wit-

Interior Ministry spokesman Sediq Sediqqi said the attack began with a car bomb explosion near the entrance. Gunmen then attempted to storm the compound but were pushed back by security forces and eventually took refuge in a nearby building under construction, he said.

Sediqqi later said all seven attackers were killed by police. He said no members of parliament were wounded in the incident. "It is over now," he said.

Health Ministry spokesman Mohammad Ismail Kahousi said 18 civilians were wounded, including two women and two children.

Sidiqa Mubarez, a member of parliament, said the building was rocked by a large explosion and that some people were wounded by flying glass. She said the explosion happened shortly after Masoom Stanekzai had arrived to be confirmed as defense minister, a post that has been vacant for nine months.

Charleston shows solidarity as it prepares to bury the victims of the Emanuel church massacre

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — Bells tolled across the city, thousands linked up on a towering bridge and a historic sanctuary reopened in displays of unity as Charleston heals from a church massacre and gets set for a week of victims' funerals.

Area residents repeated messages of solidarity, love and even defiance of evil at the remembrances, hopeful their expressions would drown out the hate embodied in the slayings at Emanuel African Methodist Episcopal Church. Authorities say a white gunman was welcomed into a bible study last week at the historic black church before making racially offensive remarks and shooting nine people to death.

"Because the doors of Mother Emanuel are open on this Sunday, it sends a message to every demon in hell and on earth," said the Rev. Norvel Goff, who led the first Sunday service since the killings at the church known as "Mother Emanuel" because it is one of the oldest black congregations in the South.

During the service, many stood — some holding small children - to shout their praises or raise their hands toward the church's vaulted ceiling. For added security, police officers stood watch over

Hack? New policy? Mystery warnings appear on Instagram in North Korea that site on blacklist

PYONGYANG, North Korea (AP) — Warnings are appearing on Instagram accounts in North Korea that claim access to the popular photo-sharing app is being denied and the site blacklisted for harmful

Opening the app with mobile devices on the North Korean carrier Koryolink has resulted in a notification in English saying: "Warning! You can't connect to this website because it's in blacklist site." A similar notice in Korean says the site contains harmful content, though that is not mentioned in the English version.

Such warnings have also appeared when websites that link to Instagram are accessed through desktops or laptops using LAN cables on the North Korean Internet provider. The warnings have been appearing on and off for at least five days.

Tech support staff at Koryolink said they were not aware of any changes in policy regarding Instagram. There has been no notice from the government or from the mobile phone service to its customers that Instagram has been blacklisted. Officials with Instagram had no comment when contacted by The Associated Press. Instagram is owned by Facebook, which is functioning normally in Pyongyang.

Bloodshed in El Salvador reaching levels last seen in 1980s civil war; no solution in sight

SAN SALVADOR, El Salvador (AP) — Word on the street is that only the girlfriends of gang members are allowed to be redheads or blondes. So in this violent place, women are scurrying to salons to give up their blond hair and highlights, to dye it all black — not out of fashion sense, but out of fear.

"They also say you can't wear yellow or red clothing," said Claudia Castellanos, a beautician at an upscale salon. "Can you believe it? They've already attacked a woman on a bus for wearing yellow."

There's no evidence the rumors are true. The gangs, sophisticated criminal organizations, even issued a statement to deny the hair-color decree.

But with violence in El Salvador reaching levels ivaling those of the civil war that ended more than boldly escaped more than two weeks ago, as officers two decades ago, few are willing to take risks.

enough to hear an appeal — said the high court probably would want to weigh in. In an earlier phase of the same case, Justice Stephen Breyer wrote that the court probably would take up the controversial provisions.

The constitutionality of the new law is a difficult question, Breyer wrote. "It is a question, I believe, that at least four members of this court will wish to consider irrespective of the 5th Circuit's ultimate decision," he said in an opinion that was joined by the other three liberal justices.

Since then, a different set of judges from the same appeals court has prevented Mississippi from enforcing its own admitting privileges requirement because doing so would close the last abortion clinic in the state.

In that case, the court said that Mississippi could not force women to cross state lines to get an abortion.

The state already was seeking Supreme Court review and the justices could say as early as Monday whether they will weigh in, although the Texas case could cause the justices to defer action in Missis-

In Texas, women in the El Paso area in the western part of the state would have to cross into New Mexico to reach the nearest clinic. The appeals court said that wasn't a problem because many Texas women in that part of the state already do so.

Justice Anthony Kennedy's views are likely to determine the outcome in this case, as in so many other divisive issues.

Kennedy was one of the three authors of the Casey opinion that reaffirmed a woman's right to an abortion and struck down a Pennsylvania requirement that women tell their husbands before getting an abortion. But he also wrote the 2007 opinion that upheld a federal ban on an abortion procedure that opponents call partial-birth abor-

Legal experts on both sides of the issue said there is no indication that Kennedy might abandon his support for abortion rights altogether. But they differ on how Kennedy will view the clinic restrictions.

"I think he's quite devoted to the Casev standard and to the sense of Casey as compromised," said Smith, the Yale Law School professor, who

tion opponent, said Kennedy generally has been willing to sustain legal restrictions on abortion. "In fact, during his tenure on the court, he has only struck down one abortion restriction, namely, the spousal notification provision at issue in Planned Parenthood v. Casey," Snead said.

Spieth wins a stunner to capture Open crown

By DOUG FERGUSON

AP Golf Writer

UNIVERSITY PLACE, Wash. — Jordan Spieth is halfway home to the Grand Slam, a prize only three of the biggest names in modern golf have ever chased.

And he still can't believe how he got there. Spieth won the U.S. Open in a heart-stopper Sunday with a turn of events even more wild than the terrain at Chambers Bay. He thought he had it won with a 25-foot birdie putt on the 16th hole. He threw away a three-shot lead one hole later. He made birdie on the final hole. And then he thought it was over as Dustin Johnson settled in over a 12-foot eagle putt for the victory.

Three putts later, Spieth was the U.S. Open champion.

"I'm still in shock," he said with the gleaming U.S. Open trophy at his side. "I've never experienced a feeling like this. It was a very intense back nine."

Spieth became only the sixth player to win the Masters and U.S. Open in the same year, and he joined Arnold Palmer, Jack Nicklaus and Tiger Woods in getting the first two legs of the modern slam that Palmer created on his way to St. Andrews in 1960.

That's the next stop for the 21-year-old Texan whose two major championships could not be any more different. A wire-to-wire runaway at Augusta National. A nail-biter on the edge of ride. Puget Sound.

And another major heartache for Johnson.

"I had all the chances in the world," said Johnson, who missed six putts inside 10 feet on the back nine and finished one shot behind.

Spieth, the youngest U.S. Open champion since Bobby Jones in 1923, did his part. Even after letting Johnson and fast-closing Louis Oosthuizen back into the game with his double bogey on the 17th hole, Spieth responded with a 3-wood that caught the backboard on the 18th hole and settled below the hole for an eagle putt. He missed it left, made birdie and walked off the green feeling more regret than excitement over his 1-under 69 for a one-shot lead with the big-hitting Johnson behind him.

Johnson reached the par-5 18th with a 5-iron – that's how far he smashed his tee shot on the 601-yard hole.

Make the putt and he wins the U.S. Open. Two putts would force an 18-hole playoff Monday on a course that favors

"I'm still amazed that I won, let alone that we weren't playing tomorrow," Spieth said. "So for that turnaround right there, to watch that happen, I feel for Dustin, but I haven't been able to put anything in perspective yet."

Spieth now prepares for St. Andrews, the next stop on this improbable

Woods in 2002 was the last player to get the first two legs of the slam.

The others to win the Masters and U.S. Open in the same year were Craig Wood in 1941 and Ben Hogan in 1951 and 1953. Hogan won the British Open in 1953, though he never played the PGA Championship because it was held roughly the same time as the British.

Spieth finished at 5-under 275 in winning for the third time this year. He is still No. 2 and closing fast on Rory McIlroy, who has top 10s in both majors this year without being a serious contender.

Spieth becomes the first player since Jones to make birdie on the 72nd hole to win the U.S. Open by one shot — all because of Johnson's three-putt. He also became the youngest player with two majors since Gene Sarazen in 1922.

For all the criticism of the unique course at Chambers Bay, this was the theater at its finest.

But there will be lingering questions about the condition of the greens, so bumpy that they were referred to as broccoli and Billy Horschel said he lost respect for the USGA. "As you can tell, it's very difficult to get them in the hole out there," Johnson said. "The greens were really fast and they were rolling fairly smooth, but it was still bouncing a little bit."

Daily Horoscope

off course will bring good fortune under

HOLIDAY the Jupiter MATHIS and Uranus trine. Veer-

ing off course helps you know where you are. If there's any way you can love your mistakes, you'll be better for the effort. Also, maybe what you're calling a "mistake" is actually just a choice that didn't work out as planned.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You may feel stuck today, and this is a prime opportunity to get in touch with what you really want in life. Remember what you desired so intensely? This rut is a result of drifting off track from that desire.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You are an intuitive person, but right now the quiet voice in your head is whispering something you can't quite hear. Try to feel it instead. The signal will get stronger as the week progresses.

GEMINI (May

21-June 21). New, faster and bigger is not always better. So-called technological "advances" may complicate your life in such a way that you feel you're moving backward. Do your research and keep your receipt.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). In romance stories, the main goal is to win or keep great love alive. Even though you have many different goals, it feels as though you've been cast in a romance story today.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Sometimes the things that seem very wrong with a relationship are really just a function of your mood. With good sleep, food and exercise, your spirits will rise and the dumb problems will quickly fade.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Chances are, you can remember simpler, happier times with the ones you love. Just don't lose faith that the best is still to come. Maybe it won't be as simple, but it will be more fulfilling in all its complexity.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Everyone is busy. Everyone is oblivious to the interest of others. Noticing and seizing opportunities to connect requires awareness beyond what most people possess. If you are interested, make the first move.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Relationships that last any reasonable length of time will sooner or later come up against obstacles. However, those obstacles shouldn't be at the beginning of the relationship. If they are, it's a red flag worth heeding.

SAGITTARI-US (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Don't be so concerned with avoiding pain (your own and the pain of others) that you refuse the risks that could lead to great moments and memories.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Your abilities, resources and timing may seem to be lacking, and yet this is not a good enough reason to give up. "Do what you can, with what you have, where you are." -- Theodore Roosevelt

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Many relationship experts suggest that when you're part of a couple, whatever was (SET ITAL) yours (END ITAL) becomes (SET ITAL) ours. (END ITAL) You don't always feel this is true. No matter how close you are to someone, there are things you bear alone.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Too much modesty isn't good for you, especially because you've completely earned the good karma swinging back around to you and then some! Celebrate yourself.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 22). Filled with courage, you'll gravitate toward the tough rooms where the tension is thick and the expectations are tall. This is where the talent, money and opportunity are concentrated. You'll excel, though not right away. You're ready to learn and fight this year, and you'll grow spiritually much bigger than the situation. Leo and Taurus people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 5, 47, 22, 31 and 17.

ASTROLOG-

ICAL QUESTIONS:

"I'm a nervous Cancer, and as I get older, my nerves seem to only get worse. It's not just high-pressure situations like dates, interviews or (god forbid) presentations that make me feel panicky. Ordinary circumstances also make me shake and sweat. Interacting with clerks, ordering in a restaurant, talking on the phone... I wish I could calm down, but I'm 41, and there's no sign of things changing. Any suggestions?"

Cancers are sensitive. Your sign rules the stomach, though sometimes it feels as though the butterflies therein are ruling you. Also, you tune in to your environment more acutely than most, and integrating all you feel and observe requires more energy because of this. That's one of the reasons you love to spend time in your own home, where you feel safe to process and recuperate from all you've experienced.

The key to living more peacefully within your own being lies in acceptance. You may always have to deal with social nervousness. Who said you shouldn't have to? Stop fighting the idea or thinking there's something wrong with you, and resolve yourself to ride it out. Keep showing up and feeling the fear -no retreat.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Soulful moonchild Mervl Streep has been tapping into her musical side more often, recently as the witch of "Into the Woods" and later this summer as a rocker who gave up everything for her musical dreams. Born when the sun, Venus and Uranus were all in maternal Cancer, Streep knows what it's like to balance artistic choices with motherhood, unlike her character in "Ricki and the Flash." If you would like to write to Holiday Mathis, please go to www.creators.com and click on "Write the Author" on the Holiday Mathis page, or you may send her a postcard in the mail. To find out more about Holiday Mathis and read her past columns, visit the

♣10 6 5 4 2 The bidding: East North South West Pass Dble Pass 6♦ Pass Pass Opening lead — king of hearts. This remarkable hand was played many years ago by Bruno Grunewald of Belgium. You might not approve of the bidding, but that's how it went.

Grunewald ruffed the opening heart lead and returned a club, winning West's king with the ace. After cashing the ace of diamonds, he reentered his hand by ruffing a heart, reducing his trump holding to the K-Q-J. There were still four trumps

Grunewald was now faced with a very difficult problem. He had to decide whether the trumps were onginally divided 3-3 or 4-2. If they were divided 3-3, he could make the slam by drawing two more rounds of trumps, cashing dummy's Q-J of clubs, then ruffing a heart with his last trump to allow him to cash the 10-6 of clubs.

After considering the matter carefully, Grunewald decided that in a hand so freakish, the diamonds were not likely to be evenly divided, in which case desperate measures would be required. Accordingly, he cashed his king of trumps, discarding a heart from dummy, and then played the Q-J of trumps, discarding dummy's A-K of spades!

As a result, Grunewald made the slam. After cashing dummy's Q-J of clubs, he led the six of spades toward his J-5. East took the queen, but, with only spades and a club left, he had to return a card South could win in his hand. So Grunewald finished with 12 tricks consisting of six diamonds, five clubs and a spade.

Had Grunewald failed to discard the A-K of spades from dummy when he did, he would have gone down!

This Date In History

Today is Monday, June 22, the 173rd day of 2015. There are 192 days left in the year. Today's Highlight

History: On June 22, 1945, the World

War II battle for Okinawa ended with an Allied victory. On this date:

In 1611, English explorer Henry Hudson, his son and several other people were set adrift in present-day Hudson Bay by mutineers aboard the Discovery; their fate remains unknown.

In 1815, Napoleon Bonaparte abdicated for a second time as Emperor of the French.

In 1870, the United States Department of Justice was created.

In 1911, Britain's King George V was crowned at Westminster Abbey.

In 1937, Joe Louis began his reign as world heavyweight boxing champion by knocking out Jim Braddock in the eighth round of their fight in Chicago (A year later on this date, Louis knocked out Max Schmeling in the first round of their rematch at Yankee Stadium.)

In 1940, during World War II, Adolf Hitler gained a stunning victory as France was forced to sign an armistice eight days after German forces overran Paris. In 1944, President Franklin

D. Roosevelt signed the Servicemen's Readjustment Act of 1944, more popularly known as the "GI Bill of Rights. In 1959, the Swedish film

"Wild Strawberries," written and directed by Ingmar Bergman, opened in New York. In 1965, movie producer David O. Selznick ("Gone with the Wind") died in Los Angeles at age 63.

In 1977, John N. Mitchell became the first former U.S. Attorney General to go to prison as he began serving a sentence for his role in the Watergate cover-up. (He was released 19 months later.)

In 1984, the British airline Virgin Atlantic began operations.

In 1995, the docudrama "Apollo 13," starring Tom Hanks and directed by Ron Howard, had its world premiere at the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences in Beverly Hills, California.

Ten years ago: White House adviser Karl Rove set off a political firestorm with a speech to the New York state Conservative Party in which he said, "Liberals saw the sav-agery of the 9/11 attacks and wanted to prepare indictments and offer therapy and understanding for our attackers' while conservatives, he said "saw the savagery of 9/11 and the attacks and prepared for war."

Five years ago: South Carolina Republicans chose Nikki Haley, a tea party favorite, to run for governor (she went on to win a runoff and the general election). Dino Ciccarelli, Cammi Granato and Angela James were elected to the Hockey Hall of Fame as players; Jimmy Devellano and the late Daryl "Doc" Seaman were elected as builders.

> Thought for Today: "If you look at life one way, there is always cause for alarm."

Elizabeth Bowen, Irish author (1899-1973).
