Coahoma residents will break out the red, white and blue July 4 when they participate in the community's annual Freedom Parade.

Freedom Parade July 4

By JULIE BASS
 Staff Writer

Tractors, horses and floats, oh my. The Coahoma Freedom Parade participants are getting ready to show their patriotism on Saturday, July 4. "We have our grand marshals and our citizen of the year picked out and we usually have a good turnout of participants," said Lori Martinez, parade coordinator. "Anyone who wants to be in the parade can show up at the Coahoma High School football field by 9 a.m. We will be judging the floats and different categories and awarding 'best patriotic' before the parade starts." Floats, bicycles, tractors, classic cars, antique cars and horses are just a few of the categories that will be judged this year. "The parade will start at 10 a.m. at the football field and we will go down Main Street until we get to the railroad tracks, follow alongside the train tracks awhile and come back up to the park. At the park, there will be a cookout

Burrito Stop employees held up at knifepoint Wednesday morning

Herald Staff Report

Big Spring police are investigating an armed robbery which occurred Wednesday morning. BSPD officials said officers were dispatched to Burrito Stop, 2001 W. Third, shortly before 9 a.m. Wednesday in reference to an armed robbery. "Officers contacted the victim and were advised that an Hispanic male entered the store and brandished a knife and demanded money," a BSPD news release stated. "He took an undetermined amount of cash and fled the business on foot, going east on Third Street," the release added. The suspect is described as approximately 5-foot 4, wearing a gray hoodie, blue dress pants and white tennis shoes. His face was covered with a black and white bandana. The victim advised that the suspect spoke only in Spanish. "This investigation is ongoing and there is no further information at this time," police officials said. People with any information regarding this incident are urged to call CrimeStoppers at (432) 263-tips (8477)." Funtastic Fourth takes over downtown this weekend

By LYNDEL MOODY
 Staff Writer

Country music, food, and a good old cook-off will highlight a busy weekend as the Crossroads area kicks off the American Independence celebration this weekend with the annual ALON/7-11 Funtastic Fourth in downtown Big Spring. Opening ceremonies will be held at 5:30 p.m. Friday with Highway Run set to sing the Star Spangled Banner, the national anthem to United States. The Dance Gallery Cheer Dance and Tumbling team will also help to kick off the two-day weekend. Highway Run will take the stage for a 60-minute performance, followed by Sam Rig at 7:30; Curtis Grimes at 9 p.m. and then the Friday night headliner country music star Tracy Lawrence at 10:30 p.m. Lawrence has released nine studio albums in his long ca-career in country music which has accounted for more than 30 singles on Billboard country music charts, eight of these have reached number one. Some of his top songs are "If the Good Die Young," "Texas Tornado," and "Time Marches On."

Saturday, the activities resume at 11 a.m. with a cheer, dance and tumbling performance by Dance Gallery students at the gazebo on Scurry and Third streets.

Opening ceremonies with a military tribute honoring local U.S. Veterans begin at 5:30 p.m. Cheer Xplosion Athletics Team will help to kick off the evening's festivities.

Musical entertainment will begin at 6 p.m. with hometown country musician Jody Nix. Cory Michael will take the stage at 7:30 p.m. and country music band Restless Heart will take over for a 75 minutes show at 9 p.m.

Established in the 1980s, Restless Heart has had 26 singles enter the Billboard country charts with six number one hits. Some of their number one hits are "The Bluest Eyes in Texas," and "When She Cries."

Former Big Spring resident and Austin-based musician Mark McKinney will close out evening when he performs at 10:45 p.m. until midnight.

Music is not the only attraction, officials said, as the streets will be full of arts and craft vendors and various other merchandise. The food vendors will offer traditional fair type foods and other menu selections. The popular 7-Eleven Hot Dog eating contest will be held at 7 p.m. at the side of the main stage.

A "kidzone" will be set up; admission wristbands will be $20 each. There will be a mini ferris wheel, paddle boats, obstacle course, wild west shoot out movies, popcorn and more.

A new event has been added this year, the Crossroads Cook Off.

The meeting for the Crossroads cook-off will be at 6 p.m. in the courtyard Friday. The entry fee is $150 and there will be $5,000 in prize money guaranteed. First through fifth places will receive cash prizes and sixth through 10 places will receive certificates. Participants must cook all three meats to qualify to win Grand Champion.

The turn-in time for the meats will be on Saturday — chicken at 1 p.m., ribs at 2 p.m. and brisket at 3 p.m.

Set up for the cook-off will be after 1 p.m. on Friday and must be cleared by 9 a.m. on Sunday June 28.

The children will have their own chance to show off their cooking skills in their own cook-off. Sign-in will be Friday between 5-5:30 p.m. Entry fee for the kids is $20.

Awards for the cook-off will be presented at 4:30 p.m. Saturday.

To sign up for the children's and adults' cook-off, visit bigspringdra.com/crossroads-cook-off-sign-ups.

As always, volunteers are need for the event. To volunteer, contact Lana Saverance at 816-1058. For any other questions, contact Christy Brorman at 466-2268. The Downtown Revitalization Committee coordinates the Fantastic Fourth each year.

after the parade and everyone is invited," said Martinez.

All proceeds from the cookout will go to the Coahoma chapter of the Lions Club. Western Bank employees will serve hamburgers, chips and a drink for $5. Right now, Coahoma

City Hall has Coahoma Freedom Parade shirts for sale. This year's shirt is red and has a picture of Quail Dobbs' face with his bull-fighting make-up on. Shirts are $15.

The grand marshals this year are Tommy Wyrick, James Lee Parrish and Joe Angel Moran, Coahoma residents who have served their country in the armed forces.

The citizen of the year is Cindy Smith, who was chosen because of her hard work and dedication to Coahoma, Martinez said.

"I can't tell you exactly how many years this parade has been going on, but I know it is 20-plus years. This parade is about patriotism. It is to celebrate freedom and honor our veterans and current military" said Martinez.

For more information about the parade, contact Martinez at 816-4555.

Virginia players celebrate beating Vanderbilt 4-2 in Game 3 of the best-of-three NCAA baseball College World Series finals at TD Ameritrade Park in Omaha, Neb., Wednesday.

Virginia wins 1st-ever CWS title

OMAHA, Neb. (AP) — Six weeks ago, it looked as though Virginia might not even qualify for its conference tournament, let alone the NCAA Tournament.

Look at the Cavaliers now.

They're national champions for the first time in baseball after finishing a magnificent postseason run with a 4-2 victory over Vanderbilt on Wednesday night.

"This team was a crazy ride this year," said coach Brian O'Connor, who was born in Omaha. "Certainly, we had a lot that went against us through the year, but this team found a way and got into the NCAA tournament. It's an amazing example of what you can do if you put your mind to it, play for each other and have each other's backs."

"Not many people thought this could happen. I couldn't have forecast it. But we're darn glad we're sitting up here with this trophy."

Freshman Pavin Smith homered and drove in three runs and Brandon Waddell turned in another strong College World Series pitching performance. The Cavaliers (44-24) prevailed in the CWS finals rematch against the defending champion Commodores and won the Atlantic Coast Conference's first title in baseball since Wake Forest in 1955.

"We were just a team that never gives up," Smith said. "Really resilient. It showed in the first inning when we were down 2-0 and didn't stop playing."

Waddell (5-5) went seven innings and allowed only two hits after Vanderbilt (51-21) scored twice in the first. He retired the last 11 batters he faced in his third CWS start and fifth of his career. Virginia won each of them.

"At this point, everything goes. If you've got anything in the tank, you're giving it," Waddell said. "You've got nothing to save it for."

Nathan Kirby, who missed nine weeks because of injury and returned to start a game in the CWS, pitched the last two innings and struck out five of his eight batters for his first save. Reliever John Kilichowski (3-4) took the loss.

When pinch-hitter Kyle Smith got caught looking at a fastball to end the game, Kirby threw his glove and hat into the air as catcher Matt Thaiss ran to the mound to embrace him.

"It was awesome to be able to close it out because I felt like that I finally got back on the mound for the eight guys behind me and the 20 guys in the dugout," Kirby said. "You basically come out and throw as hard as you can."

Virginia's 44 wins were the fewest by a national champion since the 1968 Southern California squad had 43. The Cavaliers didn't assure themselves a spot in the ACC Tournament until the last weekend of the regular season, and they entered the NCAA Tournament as a No. 3 regional seed.

The Commodores had a second straight season with more than 50 wins, and they came into Wednesday having outscored their first nine NCAA Tournament opponents 70-15. They couldn't generate much after scoring their two runs in the first.

Pavin Smith stepped up for Virginia in Game 3 after going 1 for 8 and striking out four times in the first two games of the finals. He hit a two-run homer off Walker Buehler to tie it in the fourth, singled in the go-ahead run in the fifth and flashed defensively all night at first base.

Waddell was pitching on three days' rest after working the first five innings of the Cavaliers' 5-4 win over Florida on Saturday. Before that, he and Josh Sborz combined on a two-hit, 1-0 shutout of the Gators on June 16.

Sborz, who won three games and pitched 13 scoreless innings, was selected as the CWS

Most Outstanding Player.

Waddell got stronger after the first inning.

"I thought Waddell in a lot of ways was left for dead, but he just got himself up in the fifth, sixth and seventh and just turned the game around — went 1-2-3, 1-2-3, 1-2-3," Vandy coach Tim Corbin said. "When they brought Kirby out, he pitched with a lot of adrenaline."

Kirby struck out the side in the eighth. With a man on first, he fanned No. 1 overall draft pick Dansby Swanson for the second out.

Swanson, the 2014 CWS Most Outstanding Player, stood with his hands on his hips and shouted "No!" as first-base umpire Perry Costello ruled he didn't check his swing on the third strike, ending his final collegiate at-bat.

The Cavaliers also got another big game from Kenny Towns. He saved what would have been the go-ahead run for Vanderbilt in the fourth when he made a diving stop of a smash down the third-base line and threw out Tyler Campbell to end the inning. He later drove in an insurance run in the seventh.

"We were underdogs the whole NCAA Tournament," Pavin Smith said. "We were probably the team everybody was writing off."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Balanced Moon

HOLIDAY
MATHIS

The balanced Libra moon helps us get our footing with the recent Mars change. The key is not taking anything personally. It's liberating. When you don't take things personally, you never have to worry about why a person isn't calling you back or ponder how you should take a strange comment. What others think becomes none of your business.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). There's low-hanging fruit in front of you, and you're hungry. The question: Is this a trick? Sometimes life really is a no-brainer. Help yourself, and you'll be nothing but satisfied.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). The day brings illogical attractions. Sometimes the heart understands what the mind cannot fathom. Everything will be revealed in time. For now, try to enjoy the gigantic question mark.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The only thing worse than investing 10 hours (or weeks or years) in something that turns out to be unfulfilling and unproductive is investing 11. Don't be too stubborn to stop.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). There is more than one personality inside each person, which is why grown adults sometimes act like 2-year-olds. You will be patient and kind, tolerating a loved one's childishness.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). The new game is not about getting ahead and staying ahead -- that was the old game. The new game is finding intrigue, joy and satisfaction in the process.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Crossed lines are a danger. To avoid wasted time looking for or waiting for your loved ones, make sure you've understood what they said. Tonight, people are looking for a leader, and you have the vision.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Honesty has its own resonance. The world responds kindly to your lack of pretense. The people you encounter will feel free to open up to you whether they've known you for years or minutes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). When you consider some of your past perils, you realize that things turned out much better than they might have. This trend will continue, so go ahead and take a chance.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Stifling circumstances can be overcome. This is a mind-over-matter situation. Develop your imagination. A vision can be like an invisible key. The immaterial will unlock the material.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Explore your own code. Study your response to life. You're not a robot, but you can program yourself to some degree once you understand your operating system.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Maybe you wish you'd made a different choice. Even honorable and decent humans don't always take the best action. You'll have the chance for a do-over. Seize it.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Solo efforts meet with universal resistance, but no worries -- there will be someone to assist you in getting things done. You only have to reach out and ask.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (June 25). For the next 10 weeks, you'll be the savvy social director with all the fine ideas. Tell your crew the plan and have a blast watching it unfold. September highlights and deepens the special love in your life. November brings new financial demands, and you'll find creative ways to meet them. Want to move? Wait for the new year. Capricorn and Aquarius people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 34, 2, 15, 48 and 17.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "I have been thinking of an old high school boyfriend nonstop. I graduated 10 years ago, but lately this person has become a constant figure of my waking thoughts and my dreams, too. Do you think it means that we are cosmically linked? We are both Pisces. I read that if you dream about someone, that person is also dreaming about you, only they may not remember the dream."

Pisces is one of the most intuitive and ethereal signs, and it wouldn't surprise me at all if you and your ex are indeed meeting in dreamland. However, that you used the words "constant figure" makes me think your friend figuratively represents something affecting your current state. I get the feeling that whatever your friend represents, it will be the key that frees you from a dilemma or a stifling situation. So turn those Piscean psychic powers on yourself and ask a few questions. What is the feeling you associate with your friend? Name the qualities that this person possesses and identifying factors that stand out in your mind. It's likely these will be clues as to what you need to do or be to free yourself.

CELEBRITY PROFILES: Ricky Gervais is planning his own kidnapping in a comedy called "Special Correspondents," which he wrote, directed and starred in. The comic mastermind may be like many Cancers who develop their comedic sense out of a need to protect themselves against harsh realities. Just as a crab's best defense is a hard shell, Cancers deflect harm with humor.

Annie's Mailbox

Dear Annie: My husband and I have been married for nine years. When we were dating, we had the best conversations. He would remember events that happened in my life and would follow up with questions later. He talked about things going on in his life and would include me in the conversation, asking my opinion.

After we married, he has either stopped listening to what I say or doesn't really care anymore. He constantly asks me the same questions over and over, and can't seem to remember the answers I give him. Yet he can quote you chapter and verse about any celebrity -- where they went to school, who they married, who their children are -- as though they are his best friends.

I've asked him how he can remember all of that trivia, but can't remember things I tell him that touch our lives. He said that he found celebrities interesting. I guess that means our lives are not important enough to matter.

I don't know what to make of this and sometimes feel as though I've been duped. Where is the guy I dated? How do I not take this personally? -- What Happened?

Dear What: You are not alone. This type of spouse-deafness happens in many marriages. While you were dating, your husband paid more attention to your conversation partly because he was still trying to woo you, and partly because your life was separate from his. You were his "celebrity." Now the conversations likely revolve around more mundane matters.

Please don't take this too personally. It's irritating, but common, and isn't worth getting upset over. Discuss unimportant things with your family or girlfriends. Wait until your husband expresses an interest before offering information. You cannot force him to be more attentive, but do ask him to set aside 15 minutes a day for the two of you to look into each other's eyes and listen to whatever the other person says. (And if you have any celebrity news, add it to your report on the car repairs.)

Dear Annie: I read the letter from "Sickened and Frustrated" whose family member and her spouse constantly blow their noses and clear their throats at family gatherings in restaurants.

I would like to know why the majority of well-mannered people are not entitled to tell the nauseatingly stubborn and selfish couple to please stay home? Why are people so afraid of offending the offenders who couldn't care less? They need to learn they are not compatible with dining out.

Your suggestion to remake the social occasion without food sounds like political correctness. -- Not So Accommodating

Dear Not So: It has nothing to do with "political correctness." Most people include family members at family gatherings, so if dining out with them is the problem, it is simple enough to remedy. But if no one will tell them that their behavior needs refinement, or if they refuse to stop nauseating everyone else, your suggestion to not invite them is one possible solution.

Annie's Mailbox is written by Kathy Mitchell and Marcy Sugar, longtime editors of the Ann Landers column. The bidding:
East South West North
Pass 2 NT Pass 3 NT
Opening lead — six of hearts.
When declarer has a choice of several ways to play a hand, his best bet is to rely on mathematical probabilities.
Sometimes, making this determination is difficult, but in the great majority of cases — even if you're not a whiz at math — finding the correct percentage play can be resolved on a common-sense basis.
Consider this deal where South was in three notrump. He won the heart lead in dummy, counted eight sure tricks and saw that a ninth might come from either a successful club finesse or a 3-3 diamond break.

Declarer knew he had a 50 percent chance of winning the club finesse but only a 36 percent chance of finding a 3-3 diamond division. So at trick two he led a club to the queen. West took the king and returned a heart, and three notrump went down one.
South's failure to make the contract was a case of misapplied knowledge. Mathematically, his thinking was correct, but it didn't go quite far enough.
After winning the heart lead, declarer should have played the K-Q-A of diamonds, in that order. As it happens, the suit would have divided 3-3, and he would have had nine tricks without risking the club finesse. If the diamonds failed to break, he would still have had the club finesse to fall back on.
By tackling diamonds first, South could have given himself two chances for the contract instead of only one, and would have elevated his chances from 50 percent to 68 percent.

This Date In History

Today is Thursday, June 25, the 176th day of 2015. There are 189 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History:

On June 25, 1950, war broke out in Korea as forces from the communist North invaded the South.

On this date:

In 1788, Virginia ratified the U.S. Constitution.

In 1876, Lt. Col. Colonel George A. Custer and his 7th Cavalry were wiped out by Sioux and Cheyenne Indians in the Battle of the Little Bighorn in Montana.

In 1910, President William Howard Taft signed the White-Slave Traffic Act, more popularly known as the Mann Act, which made it illegal to transport women across state lines for "immoral" purposes.

In 1938, the Fair Labor Standards Act of 1938 was enacted.

In 1943, Congress passed, over President Franklin D. Roosevelt's veto, the Smith-Connally Anti-Strike Act, which allowed the federal government to seize and operate privately owned war plants facing labor strikes.

In 1959, spree killer Charles Starkweather, 20, was put to death in Nebraska's electric chair. Eamon de Valera was inaugurated as president of Ireland.

In 1962, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that recitation of a state-sponsored prayer in New York State public schools was unconstitutional.

In 1975, the government of Indian Prime Minister Indira Gandhi declared a state of emergency aimed at cracking down on political opponents. (The state of emergency was lifted in March 1977.)

In 1981, the U.S. Supreme Court ruled that male-only draft registration was constitutional.

In 1990, the U.S. Supreme Court, in its first "right-to-die" decision, ruled that family members could be barred from ending the lives of persistently comatose relatives who had not made their wishes known conclusively. African National Congress leader Nelson Mandela met with President George H.W. Bush at the White House.

In 1995, Warren Burger, the 15th chief justice of the United States, died in Washington at age 87.

In 2009, death claimed Michael Jackson, the "King of Pop," in Los Angeles at age 50 and actress Farrah Fawcett in Santa Monica, California, at age 62.

Ten years ago: The NAACP selected retired Verizon executive Bruce S. Gordon to be its new president (however, Gordon abruptly resigned in March 2007). Stage and screen actor John Fiedler, 80, died in Englewood, New Jersey.

Five years ago: Group of Eight leaders, including President Barack Obama, began meeting in Huntsville, Ontario, Canada. BP said its effort to drill a relief well through 2 1/2 miles of rock to stop the oil spill in the Gulf of Mexico was on target for completion by mid-August.

Thought for Today: "A straight line is the shortest in morals as in mathematics."

Maria Edgeworth, Anglo-Irish novelist (1767-1849).

Parent's Corner: Love begins with you

A concept that is difficult to understand is "Love your neighbor as yourself." This is a universal teaching which helps us to focus on our self-worth. However, as an educator I have found that many people misunderstand this concept. Most of us were taught to focus on our neighbor and not on ourselves. As children we are told not to brag or be selfish. While teenagers, wanting to be accepted, we may have minimized our accomplishments to avoid appearing conceited. As adults we may have developed a false humility to avoid looking prideful.

DARRELL RYAN

We may even develop a concept that we do not like ourselves and believe that we don't deserve anything good. Self-esteem suffers while self-worth is forgotten.

The reality is that loving your neighbor as yourself begins with you. You must love and value yourself if you are to really love others. You have to respect yourself and acknowledge your own self-worth. You must take care of yourself so that you can love and help your neighbor. This does not make you selfish; it makes you responsible. Don't lose your self-worth.

Each day make sure that you take care of yourself so that you will be able to take care of your neighbor. Self-worth differs from self-esteem. Self-worth is what you are born with. As one of the creations of the universe you are worthwhile and have value, which cannot be taken from you.

You can't lose it, but you can lose sight of it. You can forget your value.

I heard a story the other day of a well-known speaker who started off his seminar by holding up a $20 bill. In the room of 200, he asked, "Who would like this $20 bill?" Hands started going up. He said, "I am going to give this $20 to one of you but first, let me do this. He proceeded to crumple up the $20 dollar bill. He then asked, "Who still wants it?"

Hands were still up in the air. Well, he replied, "What if I do this?" And he dropped it on the ground and started to grind it into the floor with his shoe. He picked it up, now crumpled and dirty. "Now, who still wants it?" Still the hands went into the air.

"My friends, we have all learned a very valuable lesson. No matter what I did to the money, you still wanted it because it did not decrease in value." It was still worth $20. Many times in our lives, we are dropped, crumpled, and ground into the dirt by the decisions we make and the circumstances that come our way.

We feel as though we are worthless.

But no matter what has happened or what will happen, we will never lose our value. Dirty or clean, crumpled or finely creased, we are still priceless to those who really love us. Others may detest our actions and devalue our decisions, but the worth of our lives comes not in what we do or who we know, but by who we are.

Always keep in mind "that what lies behind us and what lies before us are tiny matters compared to what lies within us" — a quote attributed with Ralph Waldo Emerson.

Each of us is special; we must never forget it. We may have made a mess of our lives but we can always begin again.

We must learn to count our blessings, not our problems. U.S. Army

Gen. Norman Schwarzkopf once said, "You can't help someone get up a hill without getting closer to the top yourself!"

May we have the courage, even if our dreams may have been broken into a thousand pieces, to never be afraid to pick up those pieces and begin again; and may we remember what it isn't always enough to be forgiven by others.

We must also learn to forgive ourselves. A good thing to remember is that we can never be lonely if we like the person we are alone with; and we are often alone with ourselves.
