One dead in Martin Co. wreck

Herald Staff Report

A San Antonio man was killed in a two vehicle collision Tuesday evening in Martin County.

According to a Department of Safety media release, Everardo V. Trevino II, 35, of San Antonio was pronounced dead by Justice of the Peace Jarrell Hedrick at the scene of the accident on Interstate 20, approximately six miles east of Stanton.

Luis Jonathon Orona, 30, of Odessa was driving eastbound on Interstate 20 in a 2013 Ford F-150 when he failed to drive in a single lane and crossed the center median into the path of a 2013 Hyundai Accent driven by Trevino, which was heading westbound at the time of the collision, the release stated.

Orona was injured and taken to Midland Memorial Hospital for treatment, according to the DPS.

Enrollment is still open for area children ages six through 12 to take part in the second Children's Miracle Theater for the Arts two-week summer theater camp.

The two-week camp will be held beginning Aug. 3-14, Monday through Friday from 6 p.m. to 8 p.m. Classes will be held at New Hope Christian School. Classes will be held under the direction of Autumn Alton, a theater major attending Canyon University in Arizona. The cost of the camp is $30 but some limited financial aid maybe available.

The non-profit, Christian based program is entering its second year. It began with a summer camp in 2014 with program creators hoping the idea would eventually flourish to become large enough to serve the area community youth.

Its mission is to encourage a love of the arts along with building personal and public speaking skills.

The summer camp will culminate in a talent showcase which will be open to the public.

Social Security disability recipients may face cuts in benefits next year

STEPHEN OHLEMACHER
 Associated Press

WASHINGTON — The 11 million Americans who receive Social Security disability face steep benefit cuts next year, the government said Wednesday, handing lawmakers a fiscal and political crisis in the middle of a presidential campaign.

The trustees who oversee Social Security and Medicare said the disability trust fund will run out of money in late 2016. That would trigger an automatic 19 percent cut in benefits, unless Congress acts.

The average monthly benefit for disabled workers and their families is $1,017. The typical beneficiary would see a reduction of $193 a month.

"Today's report shows that we must seek meaningful, in some instances even urgent, changes to ensure the program is on stable ground for future generations," said Jo Ann Jenkins, the chief executive officer of AARP.

In more bad news for beneficiaries, the trustees project there will be no cost-of-living increase in benefits at the end of the year. It would mark only the third year without an increase since automatic adjustments were adopted in 1975.

Separately, about 7 million Medicare beneficiaries could face a monthly premium increase of at least $54 for outpatient coverage. That works out to an increase of more than 50 percent.

The annual report card on the financial health of Social Security and Medicare shows that the federal government's largest benefit programs are feeling the strain of aging baby boomers as they both approach milestone anniversaries.

Medicare turns 50 at the end of the month and Social Security turns 80 two weeks later. Together, the programs accounted for more than 40 percent of federal spending last year.

There was some good news in the report: The trustees said Social Security's retirement fund has enough money to pay full benefits until 2035, a year later than they predicted last year. At that point, Social Security will collect enough in payroll taxes to pay about 75 percent of benefits.

Medicare's giant hospital trust fund is projected to be exhausted in 2030, the same date as last year's report. At that point, Medicare taxes would be enough to pay 86 percent of benefits.

Advocates for seniors say that gives policymakers plenty of time to address both programs without cutting benefits. But some in Congress note that the longer lawmakers wait, the harder it gets to address the shortfall without making significant changes.

There is an easy fix available for the disability program: Congress could shift tax revenue from Social Security's much larger retirement fund, as it has done in the past.

President Barack Obama supports the move. And acting Social Security Commissioner Carolyn Colvin said shifting the tax revenue "would have no adverse effect on the solvency of the overall Social Security program."

But Republicans say they want changes in the disability program to reduce fraud and to encourage disabled workers to re-enter the work force.

"Washington has continually kicked the can down the road, and now, as 11 million Americans face cuts to Social Security disability benefits they rely on, it is time for Congress to take action," said Sen. Rob Portman, R-Ohio.

In January, Sen. Rand Paul, R-Ky., suggested that a lot of slackers are on disability. Paul, who is running for president, joked that half the people getting benefits are either anxious or their back hurts.

The date that the disability fund will run dry is unchanged from last year's report. But as the deadline gets closer, advocates say the need to act becomes more urgent.

"The president has proposed a commonsense solution to improve the solvency of this fund in the short run so that Americans who rely on it will continue to receive the benefits they need," Treasury Secretary Jacob Lew said. "It is vital that Congress move forward to maintain the integrity of this critical program sooner rather than later."

If the retirement and disability funds were combined, they would have enough money to pay full benefits until 2034, the trustees said.

Lew noted that the life of the Medicare trust fund has been extended by 13 years since Congress passed Obama's health law. The fund is also benefiting from a slowdown in the rise of health care costs.

The Medicare premium increases would affect Part B, which provides coverage for outpatient services. For about 70 percent of beneficiaries, premium increases cannot exceed the dollar amount of their Social Security cost-of-living adjustment, or COLA. Because no COLA is currently expected for next year, increased costs of outpatient coverage would have to be spread among the remaining 30 percent.

That would result in an increase of about $54 in the base premium, bringing it to $159.30 a month. Those who would feel the impact include 2.8 million new beneficiaries, 1.6 million who pay the premium directly instead of having it deducted from their Social Security, and 3.1 million upper income beneficiaries, those making at least $85,000 for an individual and $170,000 for a married couple.

The increases for upper-income beneficiaries would be higher, up to $174 for those in the highest bracket.

Health and Human Services Secretary Sylvia M. Burwell said no final decision has been made. She said premium increases are expected to average under 5 percent a year over the long term.

Nearly 60 million people receive Social Security benefits, including 42 million retired workers and dependents, 11 million disabled workers and 6 million survivors of deceased workers.

About 55 million retirees and disabled people get Medicare. The hospital trust fund is only part of the program. Coverage for outpatient care and prescription drugs is covered by premiums and other government spending.

Andrus' tiebreaking single lifts Rangers over Rockies 10-8

DENVER (AP) — The Colorado Rockies clawed back into the game only to see it slip away in the ninth inning.

Elvis Andrus hit a tie-breaking two-run single in the ninth, and the Texas Rangers bounced back from blowing an early five-run lead to beat the Rockies 10-8 on Wednesday.

Carlos Gonzalez and Nick Hundley homered in Colorado's four-run eighth. Gonzalez's three-run shot off Tanner Scheppers (4-1) tied it at 8.

It wasn't enough for Colorado, which fell to 2-12 against the AL this season.

"What happens early in the game keeps hurting us," Gonzalez said. "Whenever we get going from the beginning, we put the other guys against the wall. Even though we scored eight runs, I believe we missed a lot of opportunities to score more runs and take control of the game."

Texas shortstop Elvis Andrus, left, congratulates second baseman Rougned Odor after a 10-8 victory Wednesday afternoon in Denver.

Rougned Odor homered and finished with three hits for the third time in the last six games for the Rangers.

Odor, who has raised his average 124 points to .268 since and Shawn Tolleson worked a perfect ninth for his 15th save.

It was the second time in the three-game series Axford being recalled from Triple-A Round Rock on June 15, led off the ninth with a walk against closer John Axford (2-3).

Adrian Beltre singled and one out later pinch-hitter Prince Fielder was intentionally walked.

Andrus singled to left on drawn-in infield to give the Rangers the lead.

Shin-Soo Choo made it 4-0 with a single, but followed with four strikeouts a day after hitting for the cycle.

Odor's solo homer in the second, his sixth of the season, made it 5-0. Colorado answered with a run in the bottom of the inning and three more in the fourth to get within a run, but Delino DeShields stole third and scored on an error in the fifth to make it 6-4.

Odor had an RBI triple in the seventh and scored on the fielder's choice to make it 8-4. He came to bat in the ninth needing a double for the cycle, but his 10-pitch walk sparked the winning rally.

"Obviously the leadoff walk doesn't help, but I got ahead of him," Axford said. "I threw a lot of strikes and he fouled a lot off. And then I was trying to get him to swing something or hit something in play. He didn't do it and he ended up walking."

Gonzalez's home run, his 14th, denied starter Martin Perez his first win in 15 months. Perez missed more than a year after undergoing Tommy John surgery on May 14, 2014, and returned to take the loss against Houston on Friday.

He allowed four runs — three earned — and walked four.

US ponders a shocking loss; Mexico advances with ugly win

ATLANTA (AP) — After the feel-good summer of 2014, the United States was eager to pick up another Gold Cup title and lock up its spot in the next Confederations Cup.

Instead, the Americans are dealing with one of their most shocking losses.

Giving up two first-half goals on set plays, one delivered by goalkeeper Brad Guzan's blunder on a routine throw, the U.S. fell to Jamaica 2-1 in the Gold Cup semifinals Wednesday night.

Forget another CONCACAF title.

That will go to either Mexico or Jamaica, who meet in Sunday's final at Philadelphia.

As for the Americans, it's time to figure out what went wrong after the first home loss to a Caribbean nation since a 1969 defeat to Haiti. They also face a playoff with this year's Gold Cup winner for the North and Central American and Caribbean berth in the 2017 Confederations Cup.

"We have no choice but to move ourselves forward," captain Michael Bradley said. "It's disappointing right now. That's normal."

A year ago, the American men reached the knockout round of the World Cup before losing to Belgium in extra time, giving the world's most popular game a bit more of a foothold in a country still dominated by football, baseball and basketball. Throw in this month's victory in the Women's World Cup, and U.S. soccer was really on a roll.

Well, before more than 70,000 in the sold-out Georgia Dome, the Americans were tripped up by an island nation of some 2.9 million — roughly half the population of metro Atlanta.

"The feeling right now is insane," said Giles Barnes, after scoring one of Jamaica's goals off a free kick.

Barnes' goal from 18 yards, a hooking blast that sailed over the American wall in the 36th minute, wouldn't have been possible if not for Guzan extending his right arm — and the ball — across the penalty line while making a throw.

"I was running down the field when I heard we had a free kick," said Barnes, who plays in Major League Soccer with Houston Dynamo. "I didn't know what was happening there."

The 34th-ranked Americans were stunned by the ruling.

"It's a call you don't see very often," Bradley said. "It's a call I wouldn't be making if I was a referee. But I'm not a referee."

Talk about disputed calls.

Mexico rallied for a 2-1 victory over Panama on two late penalty kicks by Andres Guardado — one in stoppage time, the other in extra time.

After Roman Torres

headed one in off a corner early in the second half, Panama nearly pulled off the second upset of the night, despite playing a man down most of the game. Luis Tejada was sent off with a red card after a hard tackle in the 25th minute.

When American referee Mark Geiger signaled a penalty kick for Mexico with the clock winding down in the second half, ruling Torres touched the ball with his hand in front of the goal while falling to the turf contesting a loose ball, the Panamanians erupted in protest. As fans showered the field with cups and trash, the two teams nearly came to blows between their benches. The match was halted for nearly 15 minutes before Guardado finally converted the penalty.

Mexico won it after Geiger awarded another kick for Harold Cummings' takedown of Javier Orozco in the penalty area, setting up Guardado's winning goal in the 105th. The weary Panamanians couldn't come back from that, but they did muster the energy to go after Geiger at the final whistle. Security officers raced onto the field to escort the referee and his crew to the safety of the locker room.

"I ask myself why did this happen?" said Panama coach Hernan Gomez through a translator. "We were doing everything well. It is very sad. We are people of football, and I still can't believe this happened. I wonder if this really happened."

Panama will take on the U.S. in the third-place game Saturday.

The Jamaicans charged onto the field with pure joy at the end of their victory, while a small contingent of fans, clad in green and gold, saluted the Reggae Boyz. Ranked 76th in the world, they became the first Caribbean nation to reach a Gold Cup final — a sporting achievement that had nothing to do with Usain Bolt.

"My phone hasn't stopped," Barnes said. "Back in Jamaica, there's got to be a party going on. Everybody knows how we are."

Darren Mattocks of the Vancouver Whitecaps scored Jamaica's first goal on a 31st-minute header directly off a throw-in. Otherwise, the Americans largely dominated, finishing with a 10-3 edge in shots on goal — including eight in the second half, as they furiously pushed the attack.

Jamaican goalkeeper Ryan Thompson, who plays for the Pittsburgh Riverhounds in the third-tier United Soccer League, turned aside every shot but Bradley's goal in the 48th. Even then, Thompson stopped a couple of attempts before Bradley swooped in on the loose ball to finish.

facility's general location is provided as a public courtesy and not part of the application or notice. For exact location, refer to the application. <http://www.tceq.texas.gov/assets/public/hb610/index.html?lat=32.286944&lng=-101.327777&zoom=13&type=r>. The facility will emit the following contaminants: organic compounds, including hazardous air pollutants.

This application was submitted to the TCEQ on June 5, 2015. The application will be available for viewing and copying at the TCEQ central office, the TCEQ Midland regional office, and the Howard County Library, 500 South Main Street, Big Spring, Howard County, Texas, beginning the first day of publication of this notice. The facility's compliance file, if any exists, is available for public review in the Midland regional office of the TCEQ.

The executive director has determined the application is administratively complete and will conduct a technical review of the application.

PUBLIC COMMENT/ PUBLIC MEETING You may submit public comments, a request for a public meeting, or request a contested case hearing to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below. The TCEQ will consider all public comments in developing a final decision on the application. The deadline to submit public comments is 30 days after newspaper notice is published.

The purpose of a public meeting is to provide the opportunity to submit comments or ask questions about the application. A public meeting about the application will be held if the executive director determines that there is a significant degree of public interest in the application or if requested by a local legislator. A public meeting is not a contested case hearing.

If only comments are received on the application, the response to comments, along with notice of the executive director's action on the application, will be mailed to everyone who submitted comments or is on the mailing list for this application.

The executive director will complete the technical review, issue a preliminary decision on the application, and a Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision will be published and mailed to those who are on the mailing list for this application. That notice will contain the final deadline for submitting public comments. If a hearing request is timely filed in Response to this Notice of Receipt of Application and Intent to Obtain Air Permit, the time period for requesting a contested case hearing will be extended to thirty days after the mailing of the executive director's response to comments.

After the final deadline for public comments following the Notice of Application and Preliminary Decision, the executive director will consider the comments and prepare a response to all relevant and material, or significant public comments. If comments are received, the response to comments, along with the executive director's decision on the application, will then be mailed to everyone who submitted public comments or is on a mailing list for this application.

OPPORTUNITY FOR A CONTESTED CASE HEARING You may request a contested case hearing. A contested case hearing is a legal proceeding similar to a civil trial in state district court. Unless a written request for a contested case hearing is filed within 30 days from this notice, the executive director may approve the application. A contested case hearing will only be granted based on disputed issues of fact that are relevant and material to the Commission's decisions on the application. Further, the Commission will only grant a hearing on issues raised by you or others during the public comment period and not withdrawn.

Legals

A person who may be affected by emissions of air contaminants from the facility is entitled to request a hearing. If requesting a contested case hearing, you must submit the following: (1) your name (or for a group or association, an official representative), mailing address, daytime phone number, and fax number, if any; (2) applicant's name and permit number; (3) the statement "[I/we] request a contested case hearing"; (4) a specific description of how you would be adversely affected by the application and air emissions from the facility in a way not common to the general public; (5) the location and distance of your property relative to the facility; and (6) a description of how you use the property which may be impacted by the facility. If the request is made by a group or an association, the one or more members who have standing to request a hearing and the interests which the group or association seeks to protect, must also be identified. You may also submit your proposed adjustments to the application/permit which would satisfy your concerns.

Following the close of all applicable comment and request periods, the executive director will forward the application and any requests for contested case hearing to the Commissioners for their consideration at a scheduled Commission meeting. If a hearing is granted, the subject of a hearing will be limited to disputed issues of fact relating to relevant and material air quality concerns raised during the comment period. Issues such as property values, noise, traffic safety, and zoning are outside of the Commission's jurisdiction to address in this proceeding.

MAILING LIST In addition to submitting public comments, you may ask to be placed on a mailing list to receive future public notices for this specific application mailed by the Office of the Chief Clerk by sending a written request to the Office of the Chief Clerk at the address below.

AGENCY CONTACTS AND INFORMATION Public comments and requests must be submitted either electronically at www.tceq.texas.gov/about/comments.html, or in writing to the Texas Commission on Environmental Quality, Office of the Chief Clerk, MC-105, P.O. Box 13087, Austin, Texas 78711-3087. If you communicate with the TCEQ electronically, please be aware that your email address, like your physical mailing address, will become part of the agency's public record. For more information about this permit application or the permitting process, please call the Public Education Program toll free at 18006874040. Si desea información en Español, puede llamar al 1-800-687-4040.

Further information may also be obtained from KEL-TECH, INC., P.O. Box 11383, Midland, Texas 79702-8383 or by calling Mr. James Smith, Golder Associates Inc., at (281) 821-6868.

Mercury Follows the Sun

MATHIS

Yesterday the sun left Cancer, the sign of home in general, to cross the threshold of Leo, the home of the sun specifically. This started an energizing shift, and Mercury continues the trend, sending communication power to the lionhearted part of the sky. People will be prone to exaggeration in the weeks to come. Try to have fun with that.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You appreciate the differences between yourself and others. Your sophistication of thought allows you to consider opinions you don't share. You'll land on a brilliant solution to a pressing problem.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You've already tried to solve the issue by applying your best efforts. Now try to solve it by doing, literally, the very least you can do. Relax. With a leisurely approach you may stumble onto the path of least resistance.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It is a talent to know when to stop and when to persist. When you heed the whisper in your heart, you won't stop short of a victory, nor will you continue down paths that lead nowhere.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). So, you'll hear "no" along the way -- maybe more times today than you'd like. Reinterpret the response. Maybe it means there's something better for you around the corner. Or maybe it simply means "not yet."

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Try to rest -- just

hand in hand now. VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). There is plenty of time to visit with the people who are important to you, even if it feels like you're far too busy for that today. The break you take will invigorate you.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). You have a talent for dealing with reserved personalities. You don't expect these types to make the same efforts that others would. It will be up to you to draw these quiet souls out.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). The bright ideas come to you first today, but if you don't act on them right away, they will flit like butterflies to the other colorful and open flowers around you.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Freedom is a frame of mind. It is conceivable that the person with hundreds of opportunities still doesn't feel as free as the one with three choices.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Conflict is disagreement; confrontation is the expectation of disagreement. Avoid conflict, but embrace confrontation. When you ask nicely and without judgment, you'll likely get what you want.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). There are times to be open-minded about who you are, but not now. Stand strong. Maintain your own vision of yourself, and use it as a shield to keep the rest of the world from imposing their view of you.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Mountains sing songs. Rivers give dissertations. Buildings tell secrets. The landscape and environment will seem to speak to you. Trust your interpretation of this.

the next 10 weeks. Take extra measures to keep your career on track during this exciting period for your personal life. September brings a reunion. November is your chance at a prize you've had your eye on since childhood. Virgo and Sagittarius people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 1, 50, 33, 21 and 19.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "Whenever I talk to my boyfriend about something that upsets me, he tops the story, telling me about something that happened to him. Why does he have to do that? I feel like he's competing with me or trying to teach me a lesson or something, and I don't like it. All I want is for him to listen. My boyfriend is a Capricorn, and I'm a Gemini."

It's likely that your Capricorn doesn't want to compete with you at all. What he's doing is trying to make you feel better by letting you know that he's been there, too. He hopes his story will help you see a solution to your problem. He's relating to you. Your Capricorn is highly responsible and probably feels like if he just listens without offering solutions or anecdotes, you'll think him unhelpful or maybe even weak and inept. You need to let him know your Gemini beliefs about communication -- that just talking things through can be healing all on its own. Gently let him know that the best thing he can do when you're expressing your upset is to listen until you're finished talking and say "I hear you."

CELEBRITY PROFILES: With his stint as the world's most famous wizard far behind him, Daniel Radcliffe will play Igor in the upcoming "Victor Frankenstein" film, a story told from Igor's perspective. Radcliffe was born when the sun, Mercury, Venus and Mars were all in Leo, the sign of the entertainer. His natal Saturn, Uranus and Neptune are all in Capricorn, the sign of business moguls.

Opening lead — jack of spades.

crosses to the ace of clubs and plays the ace of hearts, on which West shows out. South must now go down one, regardless of what he does next. It is certainly easy to blame the outcome on the unlucky division in hearts — the suit could have been divided 3-3, or either defender might have been dealt the singleton or doubleton jack. But the fact is that, from the word "go," South can absolutely guarantee nine tricks by means of a perfectly simple play. All he has to do is cash the king of hearts at trick two and overtake the queen with the ace at trick three. He then plays the ten of hearts to force out the jack and in that way assures himself of nine tricks comprised of three spades, four hearts and the two minor-suit aces.

While it is granted that there is a natural reluctance to spend the queen and ace of hearts on the same trick, that is scarcely a good excuse for failing to make the play, which guarantees the contract against any division of the opposing cards. The overtrick that might be lost by this seemingly extravagant expenditure is well worth the price. Indeed, the failure to overtake the queen of hearts amounts to being penny-wise and pound-foolish.

Tomorrow: Bidding quiz.

Parent's Corner: Getting to the root of the story

I enjoy a good cookout on these summer evenings but I have discovered that anytime after 5 p.m. I can no longer drink any beverage containing caffeine or I have trouble getting to sleep later that evening. Root beer or lemonade have become my beverages of choice; however, as I was sipping on an A&W Root Beer, I realized that I had enjoyed this sweet drink for many years but had no idea of its origin. So I decided to do a bit of investigation, and now I'd like to share what I discovered. I learned that in 1919, as a parade was being held in Lodi, Calif., to honor returning World War I veterans, a man by the name of Roy Allen decided to set up a roadside drink stand and offer passersby a new thick and creamy root beer drink he had created. His ploy was so successful that he decided to open a permanent root beer stand in Lodi. In 1921, with sales soaring, Mr. Allen couldn't keep up with the demand for his product, so he contracted with the J. Hungerford Smith Company to produce his savory concoction. He was then approached by Frank Wright who wanted to partner with him in the venture, so in 1922, Allen and Wright combined their initials to name the beverage A&W Root Beer. The business was so successful that soon a second root beer stand was opened in Sacramento and featured the very first "drive-in" concept with curbside service. Two years later, in 1924, Allen bought out Wright and created America's first franchised restaurant chain, and to ensure quality he sold A&W

Root Beer concentrate exclusively to these franchises. By 1933, there were more than 170 franchised A&W Root Beer outlets. The root beer was the only common menu, and many of the outlets chose to begin selling food along with the root beer. The 1930s was a difficult time for restaurants to flourish, especially with the sugar rationing during World War II, but A&W Root Beer stands continued to increase in number and by 1950 more than 450 franchises were open. At that time Mr. Allen decided to retire and sold his business to Gene Hurtz, but a few years later, Mr. Hurtz sold the business to the J. Hungerford Smith Company, who was still producing the root beer beverage. In 1963, the company was sold to the United Fruit Company, but the only place one could get a frosty mug of A&W Root Beer was on tap at an A&W Root Beer Restaurant, so in 1971, to meet the demands of the American public, the company changed its name to the United Brands Company. It then created the A & W Distributing Company for the purpose of making A & W Root Beer available in bottles and cans, which became an instant hit. Then the A&W Root Beer Company adopted a new trademark, changed its name to A&W International, Inc. and began the process of becoming a full-fledged restaurant and food service organization with a standard core menu, much of what is seen today. The A&W Root Beer marketing concept has been a leader in the fast food business, but the sweet taste of root beer is still the same beverage that it was back in 1919. So next time you sip on an A&W you can rest assured that you are experiencing the same taste that your grandparents did all those years ago. Too bad it didn't originate in Texas.
