City officials will begin finetuning the FY 2016 budget when they hold a workshop with the city council at 5:45 p.m. Tuesday in council chambers, 307 E. Fourth.

This is the first of four scheduled budget workshops this week; however, if the council follows past history, it will likely be the only session.

Council members gave their input on what they'd like to see included in the coming budget earlier this summer, and infrastructure — streets, water and sewer lines and the like — headlined most of the wish lists:

• Streets — The city currently spends $500,000 annually on sealcoating projects, but several council members would like to see more done, if possible.

surprisingly, is cost. A rough fact of life in this area, but it's estimate is that it would take about $1 million per mile to resurface, rather than sealcoat, city streets. That estimate includes replacing old water lines beneath the street and bringing curbs and sidewalks into compliance with Americans With Disability (ADA) standards.

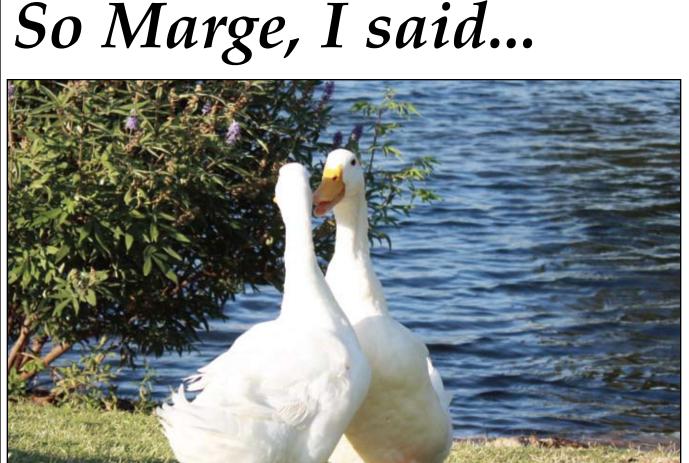

• Water lines and treatment — As any local resident knows, broken water lines The sticking point, not have been an unfortunate not as if the city hasn't been spending money to correct the problems, officials say.

City Manager Todd Darden said more than $12 million has been spent in the past year for water and sewer infrastructure upgrades, with more than $10 million in additional upgrades needed.

Other needs identified by council members included upgrading maintenance on city recreation facilities, stepping up anti-vandalism efforts and, if possible, giving property owners a break on their tax bills.

Darden said staff is still waiting for final numbers from the tax appraisal district before estimating the property tax rate this year. As for sales tax revenue, he estimates it will be similar to the $7 million the city has collected so far this fiscal year.

Gas prices head down

Special to the Herald

Average retail gasoline prices in Texas have fallen 3.1 cents per gallon in the past week, averaging $2.49/g yesterday, according to GasBuddy's daily survey of 13,114 gas outlets in Texas. This compares with the national average that has fallen 3.0 cents per gallon in the last week to $2.73/g, according to gasoline price website GasBuddy.com.

Including the change in gas prices in Texas during the past week, prices yesterday were 89.0 cents per gallon lower than the same day one year ago and are 8.6 cents per gallon lower than a month ago. The national average has decreased 5.2 cents per gallon during the last month and stands 79.1 cents per gallon lower than this day one year ago.

"All but seven states in the U.S. saw a drop in gasoline prices over the last week, with five states seeing a double digit decline per gallon," said Patrick DeHaan, GasBuddy senior petroleum analyst. "So far this July, West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude has managed just three days of increases with those increases averaging out to just 72 cents per barrel.

Texas county where inmate died has history of racial tension

MICHAEL GRACZYK

Associated Press

HEMPSTEAD. Texas (AP) – In the searing 100-degree Texas heat, Sylvester Nunn uses three worn beach umbrellas to protect himself and the produce piled in the bed of his old Chevy pickup truck as he carries on a generations-old summer tradition.

The 78-year-old is selling watermelons by the roadside just outside Hempstead, where the perfect combination of sandy soil and rainfall make this the watermelon capital of Texas. During the first half of the 20th century, the area was the nation's largest shipper of the sweet red fruit.

But it's a more troubling tradition of racial strife — that has resurfaced here in the days since a black woman named Sandra Bland died in the county jail after a traffic stop by a white state trooper.

Video of the confrontational stop ignited long-simmering passions and caused some blacks to raise their guard around law enforcement in Waller County and the county seat of Hempstead, once known as "Six Shootßer Junction" because of white supremacist violence in the 1800s.

"I've lived here my whole life," said Nunn, who is black. "I know how it could happen, but nothing's happened to me. It's been all right with me."

Other people insist the area about 50 miles northwest of Houston has left its troubled past behind.

Bland, a 2009 graduate of nearby Prairie View A&M University, had just accepted a job at her alma mater when she was jailed July 10 See, BLAND, Page 3

Remains of 36 unidentified U.S. Marines from WWII battle return

JOINT BASE PEARL HARBOR-HICKAM, Hawaii (AP) — The military and a private organization have brought home the remains of 36 Marines killed in one of World War II's bloodiest battles.

A group called History Flight recovered the remains from the remote Pacific atoll of Tarawa, the U.S. Marine Corps said. A ceremony was held Sunday in Pearl Harbor to mark their return.

History Flight has started identifying the remains, and the POW/MIA Defense Accounting Agency will complete the effort, the Marines said. The Marines plan to return the remains to their families after they've been identified.

More than 990 U.S. Marines and 30 sailors died during the threeday Battle of Tarawa in 1943. Japanese machine gun fire killed scores of Marines when their

Three days later, the woman from the Chicago suburb of Naperville was found hanged in her cell - a suicide, boats got stuck on the reef at low tide during the U.S. amphibious assault. Americans who made it to the beach faced brutal hand-tohand combat.

Only 17 of the 3,500 Japanese troops survived. Of 1,200 Korean slave laborers on the island, just 129 lived.

The U.S. quickly buried the thousands of dead on the tiny atoll. But the graves were soon disturbed as the Navy urgently built a landing strip to prepare for an attack on the next Pacific island on their path to Tokyo.

About 520 U.S. servicemen are still unaccounted for from the battle.

Preliminary work conducted by History Flight indicates the remains of 1st Lt. Alexander J. Bonnyman, Jr., Marine who was posthumously awarded the Medal of Honor, are among the 36 brought to Hawaii.

Waller County was named for Edwin Waller, a signer of the Texas Declaration of Independence from Mexico in 1836, who four years later became the first elected mayor of Austin. Whites make up 44 percent of the 47,000 residents, Hispanics 29 percent and blacks 25 percent. First settled in the early 1820s, the area became home to slavelabor cotton plantations. Hempstead was incorporated in 1858 thanks to a railroad terminus. The plantations were dismantled with the end of the Civil War in 1865. Three years later, historical records report a race riot, followed by unrest in the 1880s, when a White Man's Party was established to blunt active black political participation in the county where blacks outnumbered whites. That's when violence blamed on the Ku Klux Klan and other extremist groups gave it the "Six Shooter" sobriquet. More recently, voter intimidation and voting-rights complaints have arisen from students at Prairie View A&M University, a col-

Obama in Africa pushes for end to crippling crisis in South Sudan

ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) -President Barack Obama launched a personal push for peace in South Sudan on Monday, convening African leaders for urgent talks in neighboring Ethiopia aimed at keeping the world's newest nation from collapsing amid civil war.

"The possibilities of renewed conflict in a region that has been torn by conflict for so long, and has resulted in so many deaths, is something that requires urgent attention from all of us," Obama said. "We don't have a lot of time to wait."

The talks on South Sudan came on the sidelines of Obama's visit to Ethiopia, his second stop on a trip to East Africa. He urged Ethiopia's leaders to curb crackdowns on press freedoms and political opposition, warning that failure to do so could upend economic progress in a country seeking to move past years of poverty and famine.

"When all voices are being heard, when people know they are being included in the political process, that makes a country more successful," Obama said during a news conference with Ethiopian Prime Minister Hailemariam Desalegn.

Ethiopia has been among the most active countries in East Africa seeking to end the crisis in South Sudan, a young nation birthed with backing from the U.S. and other nations. South Sudan's warring factions face an Aug. 17 deadline to accept a regional peace and power-sharing deal.

South Sudan was thrown into conflict in December 2013 by a clash between forces loyal to former Vice President Riek Machar, an ethnic Nuer, and President Salva Kiir, a Dinka. The fighting has spurred a humanitarian crisis that threatens the country's survival just four years after its inception.

U.S. officials have expressed pessimism about the prospects for a deal, saying the two sides are indifferent to the plight of the South Sudanese people. Even as they await the outcome of the peace process, officials say the U.S. is eying additional economic sanctions and perhaps an arms embargo to ramp up pressure on the warring factions.

Obama and Hailemariam were joined in the talks on South Sudan by the presidents of Kenya and Uganda, the chair of the African Union and Sudan's foreign minister. There were no plans for Obama or other U.S. officials to meet with representatives of South Sudan.

Obama arrived in Ethiopia late Sunday following a visit to Kenya, his father's homeland. The president is seen in Kenya as a local son and his first visit as president was treated as a homecoming.

In Ethiopia, too, Obama's visit has been eagerly anticipated. Despite a driving rain, crowds gathered along the roadways to greet him as he arrived Sunday for the first-ever visittoEthiopiabyasittingAmerican president.

Human rights groups, however, have criticized Obama for visiting Ethiopia, saying his trip lends legitimacy to an oppressive government.

Despite Ethiopia's progress, there are deep concerns about political freedoms on the heels of May elections in which the ruling party won every seat in parliament. Ethiopia is also the world's second-worst jailer of journalists in Africa, after Eritrea, according to the Committee to Protect Journalists.

Obama said he was frank in his discussions with Ethiopian leaders about the need to allow political opponents to operate freely. He defended his decision to travel to the East African nation, comparing it to U.S. engagement with China, another nation with a poor human rights record.

The FBI is leading an investigation.

"It's a sad thing," Michael Wolfe, Hempstead's mayor since 2004 and the city's third black mayor since the 1980s, said of Bland's death and the negative attention it has drawn. "It is not a true reflection of people who live here. It creates a level of animosity that may not be true. The community has changed tremendously."

District Attorney Elton Mathis acknowledges the county "does and did have a lot of things that went on here that we're not particularly proud of, as far as racial interaction."

Mathis said he could understand how some people "looking at some of the bad things in our past would jump to the conclusion that this was a murder and not a suicide."

But, he added, "people need to realize there is a new generation in con-

Astros lose 5-1 to Royals, set to face Angels in key series

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (AP) – After losing two of three to the American League-leading Kansas City Royals, the Houston Astros immediately turned their focus to their next series

The Astros finished their trip with All-Star starter Dallas Keuchel giving up four runs in the first inning in a 5-1 loss to the Royals on Sunday.

Now, Houston returns home to open a three-game series against the Los Angeles Angels on Tuesday with first place in the AL West on the line.

"We have to play the whole schedule. These are three of them," Astros manager A.J. Hinch said. "We have some more in September where we match up in our division. It'll be a fun series, two good teams. It's all part of trying to finish the season over the next couple of months rather than the next couple of days.

"We know, obviously, when we play in our division, it matters a lot. Obviously the Angels and us have been battling back and forth. It is three of 62 games left, so we've got to keep it in perspective. We want to win as many as we can. Obviously against them would be better so it's the next series on our schedule so we'll show up."

Keuchel (12-5) was tagged for a season-high 10 hits in 6 2/3 innings. He also allowed five runs, matching a season high.

"It's going to be a fight the rest of the year, just because we're in the playoff hunt and every team's looking to put their best foot forward," Keuchel said. "LA's played some tremendous ball and I think we have as well. It'll be a good AL West battle and we'll see who comes out on top."

The Royals got off to a fast start, scoring four times in the first inning. Keuchel allowed a total of four firstinning runs in his first 20 starts of the year.

Kansas City opened with three straight singles to load the bases. After consecutive grounders led to a pair of force outs at home, Omar Infante hit a two-run single and Cheslor Cuthbert doubled home two more runs.

Cuthbert has hit in all five of his games in the majors.

"I really didn't feel like the bases were loaded, just based on some of the contact that was being made," Keuchel said. "I felt like there were only a few hard hits all day. That's just the way it goes sometimes. You know as a ground ball pitcher they're going to find holes. I feel like they were finding every hole in the first inning, but it's my job to kind of shore up some things and sure enough, I did. It's one of those days I'd like to have the first inning back, but I battled."

Lorenzo Cain added a two-out drive in the second for his 11th homer. He had two hits after going 3 for 21 in his previous five games.

"I told Dallas on the mound in the seventh, to get us into the seventh the way he did showed a lot of perseverance," Hinch said. "I think it's easy when you get singled to death, so to speak, it's easy to cave. And Dallas didn't cave. He kept us in the game."

Houston got its only run in the second. Evan Gattis led off with a triple and scored on Colby Rasmus' single.

Yordano Ventura (5-7) pitched seven strong innings, allowing one run on six hits.

TRAINER'S ROOM

Astros: INF Jed Lowrie (right thumb ligament tear) is 2 for 7 in three games with Double-A Corpus Christi. "He hasn't fielded a ground ball yet in rehab, which I'm very frustrated with," Hinch said. After having Sunday off, Lowrie will play Monday and Tuesday and then be re-evaluated.

Royals: LF Alex Gordon (left groin strain) is throwing and hopes to take swings off the tee this week. "Baby steps," Gordon said.

UP NEXT

Astros: RHP Collin McHugh (11-5, 4.25 ERA), who is 5-2 with a 2.85 ERA in his past seven outings, starts Tuesday against the Angels.

Royals: RHP Edinson Volquez (9-5, 3.15 ERA) starts Monday at Cleveland as the Royals open a 10-game trip.

Jason Day rallies to win Canadian Open OAKVILLE, Ontario Canadian winner in 1954

(AP) - Jason Day madehimself right at home in the Canadian Open — at David Hearn's expense.

The Australian birdied the final three holes to win the national championship Sunday at Glen Abbey, spoiling Hearn's bid to become the first Canadian winner in 61 vears.

"I've never felt so much at home, and I'm not even from Canada," Day said. "I'm looking forward to coming back and defending the title here next year because I know that when I get here next year it's going to be the same. It's great to feel like a Canadian for a week."

Day made a 20-foot putt on the par-5 18th for a 4-under 68 and a one-stroke victory over two strokes ahead of Day ment. But Graham Deround, had a 72 to finish third — two strokes back. "I'm real proud of the way I played and I'm really proud to be Canadian today," Hearn said. "It was a pretty special day with all of the fans and the support that I had from beginning to finish."

at Point Grey in Vancouver, British Columbia. Carl Keffer is the only Canadian-born champion, winning in 1909 and 1914. Albert Murray, a Canadian also born in England, won in 1908 and 1913.

"It was one focused mindset the whole day today to do something really special and win the tournament," said Hearn, from Brantford – also hockey great Wayne Gretzky's hometown. "It hasn't been done in a long time, and I felt like I had the ability to do it today. I gave it my all. I didn't quite have my best game."

"It's a matter of time," fourth-place Jim Furyk said. "There are so many good Canadian players. I feel bad Mike Weir nev-Bubba Watson. Hearn, er won this golf tournaand Watson entering the Laet, David, there are a bunch of fine young players, so I'm sure it's going to happen." The 28-year-old Australian now has four PGA tour wins. "This must feel like what Tiger (Woods) did for so many times, and it feels good," Day said. "I'm going to try to do as much as I can and keep it the same and try and win."

Rangers lose 13-7 by Trout and Angels

ANAHEIM, Calif. (AP) — Josh Hamilton's first series at the "Big A," since being traded away from the Angels got off to a good start for the Rangers with a pair of victories.

Then Mike Trout gave them a graphic example of why he leads the majors in home runs, and why Los Angeles leads Texas by 7 1-2 games in the AL West Trout hit a solo homer in the first inning against Nick Martinez, then added a grand slam against Spencer Patton in the sixth that helped send the Rangers to a 13-7 loss on Sunday.

"We played some good games here," said Hamilton, who was 2 for 10 in the series with a double, four strikeouts and two runs scored. "We got down in this game, but we fought back. We came out and played well the first two games. We won five games on this trip, so it's a good spot to be in at the end of the trip." Martinez (5-6) was charged with four runs and six hits in five-plus innings. The right-hander is 0-4 with a 7.01 ERA over his last six starts for the Rangers.

"I felt good overall but I had some command issues," Martinez said. "I had to make some adjustments pitching from behind."

C.J. Cron also went deep against Martinez and rookie Andrew Heaney kept his unblemished record intact, helping the Angels end a three-game skid and regain sole possession of the division lead by a full game over the Houston Astros.

Martinez was relieved by Anthony Bass after giving up a leadoff walk to Conor Gillaspie in the sixth. Bass then fielded a sacrifice bunt by Carlos Perez and threw wildly past first base, putting two men in scoring position. Daniel Robertson lined a single off Bass that loaded the bases, and Johnny Giavotella's RBI single gave the Angels a 4-3 lead.

creasing the margin to two-out walk to Ryan 8-2 and getting a curtain call from the crowd.

"I think we kind of shot ourselves in the foot there, throwing the ball away on the bunt. That kind of set the inning up," Rangers manager Jeff Banister said.

Trout drove an 0-2 pitch just above the yellow line atop the 18-foot wall in right field in the first, becoming the fastest player in Angels history to reach the 30-homer mark in a season. The reigning AL MVP did it in his 97th game, breaking the previous mark set in 2000 by Troy Glaus (100 games).

The Angels got a scare in the fourth inning when Trout came up holding his left wrist in pain after diving for a Texas Leaguer by Elvis Andrus that popped out of his glove for a single after he hit the ground.

Rua loaded the bases. Heaney, who hadn't hit a batter 34 1-3 innings over his five previous starts this season, plunked No.9 hitter Tomas Telis on the foot to force in a run that put the Rangers ahead 2-1.

The next batter was Delino DeShields, who lifted a pop fly into short left field. Shortstop Erick Aybar made an over-the-shoulder catch for the third out, a split second before he went head-over-heels in a violent collision between himself and Matt Joyce - who hit the deck in an effort to avoid him.

Both made it back to

Pat Fletcher, born in England, was the last

Trout then capped the inning with his third career slam on Patton's full-count pitch, in-

"It's still a little sore, but it's fine," Trout said.

Prince Fielder, who was hit by a pitch to open the fourth inning, advanced to second on Andrus' hit before a the dugout on their own power after spending several anxious minutes on the ground.

"They said I was out for a good couple of seconds there," Joyce said. "I was definitely dizzy right afterwards, and I really don't remember walking off the field. They said it was a mild concussion, so I'm going to see the doctor tomorrow and see where we stand."

Tomorrow's Horoscope

sism in the Fire-Sign Sky

As for the people who seem

HOLIDAY to be in MATHIS MATHIS themselves, there's something oddly attractive about them at first. If you accidentally become enamored, you're not to be blamed as long as the fiery Sagittarius moon and the Leo sun rule the sky. Just know that it's hard to get back home when you're traveling down a one-way street.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). You can't hide something that's not there. It's why emptiness is so embarrassing. It's why people feel driven to fill it with just about anything around. Be sensitive to lack. Everyone lacks something.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). You may be by yourself for hours today, but you won't feel lonely, largely because your noble thoughts and extraordinary interests keep you company. GEMINI (May 21-June 21). The amateurs complain that they weren't meant for this activity or that one. It's not true. It doesn't matter what you're doing; you shine through it. You can't help but be you.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Thomas Jefferson suggested that the best government governs the least. He trusted human nature and expected that people usually will discipline themselves. Do you think that's true? Today will make you wonder.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). Here's a case for articulation and specificity: The right words ring through you, resonating with your very being and shaking loose the tarnishing muck. Those words that are close but not right have no resonance.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). When inaction is the norm, it takes boldness -- some would say insanity -- to act. You have the guts to make a difference. You'll set the wheels in motion and be admired.

Friend in Need

Dear Friend:

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). The most exciting person to be around is the one who challenges you, catches you off guard and makes you feel alive. Such a person will come into your life within the week.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). Invest what you have in a safe bet, or in the ordinary things on which you would normally focus your energy. If you don't have the goods yet, build them and grow them before promising them away. Stay debt-free.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Look ahead and decide whether you have the means to get there or not. This is no time for conjecture. You can't jump a chasm in two leaps.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). A wise man said that love is life. However, "love" is also one of the most ambiguous words in the human language. You'll explore what it means to you and come up with a few defining principles.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Destiny suggests you'll be rekindling the past. It takes a long time to know someone, and if vou've been apart for a few years, the gettingto-know-you process must happen all over again, as people change.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Your love life has been a combination of exhilarating highs and disheartening lows, so much so that you welcome the easy, uneventful, coasting sensation you'll get today.

TODAY'S BIRTH-DAY (July 27). Your superpowers surge as planets dose you with constellation elation. Your cash flow will increase steadily. September will highlight the visionary part of you. Go forward -- you'll meet the right person to take your plan all the way. You may have mad chemistry with someone, but good relationships require much more. Cancer and Scorpio people adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 3, 50, 22, 27 and 31.

ASTROLOGICAL QUESTIONS: "Dear Holiday: As Christians,

we are not supposed to read horoscopes. (Not only that, but I had a bad experience with them several years ago.) But it seems like every time I meet someone I like, my curiosity gets the best of me. I started reading yours in our local newspaper. So far I have found your horoscope to be very accurate for my zodiac (Cancer). I have even acted on what was said on someone else's reading (Scorpio), and it turned out just the way you said. At this time, I'm not taking the readings too seriously only because I don't need another emotional breakdown, but I just thought you might like to know that so far you're doing well."

I'm happy to hear that you're gaining some insight by reading about your sign and also Scorpio -- two water signs that are deeply and inexplicably connected. I encourage you to always do what you feel drawn to and never give a horoscope, an astrologer or anyone else for that matter more power than your own intuition.

I believe you are being divinely guided to read and do what is helpful and peaceful for you.

CELEBRITY PRO-FILES: From "SNL" to "Up All Night," Maya Rudolph has a talent for making people laugh in the p.m. hours. Look for this Leo star to appear with her "SNL" sisters Amy Poehler and Tina Fey in the upcoming comedy "Sisters." Born into a show-business family, Rudolph also has the stars for entertainment, with her natal sun, Mercury and Mars in Leo. Her moon in Aquarius shows madcap creativity.

Dear R.J.: We hope this works for you, but we aren't optimistic. Nonetheless, your granddaughter isn't entirely wrong. Birthday gifts that are opened in front of the givers with appropriate verbal thanks offered at the time do not require a written thank-you note afterward, although that is always a nice touch and makes a good impression. What we find tacky is the lavish birthday party for a year-old baby that includes 100 guests.

This response did not sit well with Grieve, who retreated to five clubs. After two passes, East — with 21 high-card points, including the A-K of trumps - doubled. This proved to be a grievous error when the contract turned out to be unbeatable.

Grieve won the diamond lead with the ace, cashed the ace of hearts, ruffed a heart, ruffed a spade and ruffed another heart on which the king fell. He then gave up two trump tricks to make five clubs doubled, plus 750.

ran errands together, and when she was seriously ill, I spent countless hours visiting, reading to her and just being there. I donated to her charities, sang in her choir, and we always had fun together.

But after I was diagnosed with the same illness (now recovered), she visited me only twice and now seems too busy to get together. That would be bad enough. But the real problem is that she texts me often to say how much she misses me or to ask for a favor, but apparently never wants to see me. It's a sad reminder of how little she is willing to do to maintain the friendship.

maintenance. Some people become so busy that they neglect people who are otherwise important to them, and don't recognize that this behavior is hurtful. For them, texting becomes a convenient substitute for faceto-face interactions that require scheduling and organization. You won't know whether this is the case unless you ask your friend directly. We hope she will be completely honest about the reasons for her dismissive attitude. At the very least, you will be able to determine how much she cares by how sincerely apologetic she is and whether she does anything to remedy the situation. After all, what do you have to lose?

thank-you notes for the lovely presents, she informed me that "this isn't done for birthdays" and the subject was closed.

I am livid over this pompous act of entitlement by my usually kind and thoughtful grandchild. But this is a pattern I have seen with lots of children who were never taught how to express gratitude well, and this lack of training is passing to the next generation.

I have come up with a solution that I can live with. I am having "Thank You" notes printed with my grandchildren's names, adding Forever stamps and handing them out at Christmas. -- R.J.

This dramatic deal occurred in a playoff match to determine the team to represent the United States in the 1973 world championship At the first table, Bill Grieve, playing with George Rapee, overcalled East's two-notrump opening with three clubs, intending to show a genuine club suit. But Rapee thought three clubs was the Landy Convention, showing length in both majors, and he jumped to four spades.

	the second	table, the	e bidding
went: West		East	South
Pass	Pass	2 NT	Pass
3 ♣ 3 NT	Pass	3♦	Pass

John Swanson, playing with Paul Soloway, was South at this table and elected to pass two notrump because he was playing Landy and knew his partner would read three clubs as an artificial bid.

When the bidding died at three notrump, Swanson passed again — this time because he thought he had a good chance to beat the contract with a club lead. This proved to be an illusion when declarer won the club queen with the king, drove out the ace of diamonds and romped home with nine tricks to produce a total gain of 1,350 points for his team.

World in brief

Obama in Ethiopia for talks with leaders on counterterrorism, human rights concerns ADDIS ABABA, Ethiopia (AP) President Barack Obama huddled with Ethiopia's leaders Monday for talks on counterterrorism, human rights and regional security issues, including the crisis in neighboring South Sudan.

Obama's visit marks the first visit by a sitting U.S. president to Ethiopia. He arrived at the National Palace in the capital of Addis Ababa for a bilateral meeting with Prime Minister Hailemariam Desalegn, followed by a joint news conference.

Later Monday, Obama was to convene a meeting of African leaders on the situation in South Sudan. The world's newest nation has been gripped by civil war for months, spurred by a conflict between warring factions in the government.

South Sudan is facing an Aug. 17 deadline to accept a peace and power-sharing agreement, though U.S. officials say they're pessimistic a deal will be reached. Obama's meeting with regional leaders is aimed in part at considering an international response if the deadline passes without a deal.

Obama arrived in Ethiopia on Sunday night after a stop in Kenya, his late father's homeland.

AP investigation: Slave fishing boats tracked to Papua New Guinea after fleeing Indonesia

YANGON, Myanmar (AP) - From space, thefishing boats are just little white specks floating in a vast stretch of blue water off Papua New Guinea. But zoom in and there's the critical evidence: Two trawlers loading slave-caught seafood onto a massive refrigerated cargo ship.

The trawlers fled a slave island in Indonesia with captives of a brutal Southeast Asian trafficking ring whose catch reaches the United States. Hundreds of men were freed after they were discovered there earlier this year, but 34 boats loaded with workers left for new fishing grounds before help arrived — they remain missing.

After a four-month investigation, The Associated Press has found that at least some of them ended up in a narrow, dangerous strait nearly 1,000 miles away. The proof comes from accounts from recently returned slaves, satellite beacon tracking, government records, interviews with business insiders and fishing licenses. The location is also confirmed in images from space taken by one of the world's highest resolution satellite cameras, upon the AP's request.

The skippers have changed their ships' names and flags to evade authorities, but hiding is easy in the world's broad oceans. Traffickers operate with impunity across boundaries as fluid as the waters. Laws are few and hardly enforced. And depleted fish stocks have pushed boats farther out into seas that seldom are even glimpsed, let alone governed.

This lack of regulation means that even with the men located, bringing them to safety may prove elusive.

Greece's beleaguered boat makers, yacht merchants worry luxury tax hike may torpedo business

ATHENS, Greece (AP) — At its height eight ago, George years Kranitis' 10,000 sq. foot family-owned shipyard Nireus in Patra, Greece's third-largest city, employed some 35 people and sold around 340 boats annually.

But after years of biting recession, Kranitis has had to fire almost everyone.

And if that wasn't enough, things just got a whole lot more taxing — literally.

In order to get its third financial bailout in five years, Greece's government has had to introduce a series of economic reforms and austerity measures - just to get discussions started.

One involves the extension of an annual luxury tax to all recreational boats over 16.4 feet (5 meters), so it's not just your average Catamaran that's a feature across countless harbours in the Aegean Sea.

2 lives cut short: Family and friends remember the young women killed inside a movie theater

LAFAYETTE, La. (AP) One was a talented artist who sang in an all-female band and planted trees to beautify her neighborhood. Another was studying to be a radiology technician and looking forward to a future with a longtime boyfriend.

Jillian Johnson, 33, and Mayci Breaux, 21, were shot and killed last Thursday while watching the movie "Trainwreck" at The Grand 16 movie theater in Lafayette, leaving stunned friends and family questioning how two lives off to such promising starts could end so tragically.

John Police say Russell Houser, 59, stood up about 20 minutes into the movie and began firing before ultimately taking his own life.

Funerals for both women were scheduled for Monday.

Friends of Johnson, like Pudd Sharp, remembered her as a woman of talent and warmth. At an event to remember the victims he pointed out people wearing T-shirts she designed and described her as a funny, talented and welcoming woman. He said she was a "tastemaker," the type of person that if you showed up at a club or restaurant or an event and she was there, you knew you were in the right place.

In Afghanistan, a country awash with weapons, government bans toy guns

KABUL, Afghanistan (AP) — The weapons of Afghanistan's long decades of war can be seen almost everywhere, from the burned-out hulks of Soviet tanks to the Kalashnikov assault rifles slung over policemen's shoulders and helicopter gunships roaring overhead.

It should be no surprise then that young children play "police and Taliban," chasing each other around with toy guns and weaponry designed to mimic the real thing. And like the real war, there have been casualties.

At least 184 people, nearly all children, suffered eye injuries over the recent Eid al-Fitr holiday from toy weapons that fire BB pellets and rubber shot, health officials said.

The Kurdish People's Protection Units, or YPG, said the Sunday night shelling on the border village of Til Findire targeted one of their vehicles. It said Til Findire is east of the border town of Kobani, where the Kurds handed a major defeat to the Islamic State group earlier this year.

In cross-border strikes since Friday, Turkey has targeted both Kurdish fighters as well as the IS group, stepping up its involvement in Syria's increasingly complex civil war. The Syrian Kurds are among most effective the ground forces battling the IS group, but Turkey fears they could revive an insurgency against Ankara in pursuit of an independent state.

On Monday the YPG and Syrian rebels captured the town of Sareen in northern Syria, which had been held by the Islamic State group, according to The Britain-based Syrian Observatory for Human Rights and the Aleppo Media Center in Syria, two activist groups that track the civil war.
