Four Big Spring High School 2015 graduates earned perfect their scores advance on placement tests as results show the largest number of students earning college credit since the inception of the program at the high school, according to BSHS Principal Mike Ritchey.

"This is a compliment to the rigor of our pre-AP/AP program and a compliment to our staff that have been working together for several years," Ritchey said. "I believe our curriculum is aligned to the highest level of rigor to give our students a heads up in academic success."

Elena K. Clark. Destiny I. Zamora, Corbin T. Stevens and Tvler Bryan earned a score of 5 which is considered а perfect score on their respective AP exams allowing them receive to college credit and opt out of some freshman college courses. Clark earned 5s in English language and composition and Calculus. Bryan earned a 5 in Chemistry; Corbin in Physics 1; and Zamora in Calculus.

3 killed in Martin Co. Accident

Herald Staff Report

Three people were killed Friday night in a vehicle accident on Interstate 20 in Martin County.

According to news reports, the accident occurred at mile marker 156 near Stanton. The names of the three people - two men and one woman — have not been released, according to a report by News West 9. According to DPS a white truck heading east failed to negotiate the turn near exit 156 and crossed into oncoming traffic where it collided with a Jeep Cherokee traveling west. All three deceased victims were traveling in the Jeep. The driver of the truck is said to be in stable condition, CBS 7 reports.

Jack N. Little

Jack (John) N. Little, (aka "Papasan") died peacefully at age 81, surrounded by his family on Sept. 2, 2015, in Austin, Texas after a brief illness. A memorial service celebrating Jack's life will be held at 2 p.m. Monday, Sept. 7, 2015, at Covenant Presbyterian Church in Austin, Texas. Jack will be remembered as a man who was a source of intelligent conversation sprinkled with wit, wisdom and abundant life experience. His love of learning was infectious, and his example of grace and dignity wrapped in an understated package was a joy to behold.

Jack grew up in Big Spring, Texas. He earned the rank of Eagle Scout and served as president of the student body at Big Spring High School. After graduating from high school at age 16, he attended the University of Texas in Austin , where he was elected Foreman of the Texas Cowboys, Abbot of the Friar Society and Vice President of the Student Body before graduating from UT Law School, where he served on the Texas Law Review. He was a member of Delta Tau Delta fraternity.

Jack met Gayle Harlan, the love of his life, at UT, and they # remained sweethearts for 61 years until parted by his death.

Although Gayle was from Houston, she cheerfully went to Big Spring with him when they married, as Jack wanted to practice law with his father, who specialized in the defense of civil suits.

Jack's practice blossomed and he was inducted into the American College of Trial Lawyers at the age of 41. By the time Jack retired, he had handled hundreds of cases for defendants in civil litigation in more than 30 Texas counties and in courts ranging from El Paso in the west, Abilene in the east, Amarillo in the north, and Del Rio in the south, as well the Texas Supreme Court and the U.S. Fifth Circuit.

After Jack retired, he and Gayle moved to Austin in 1996 where he devoted his time to passions and hobbies that surpassed his career ambitions. Jack enjoyed spending time with his children, grandchildren and friends. He was a member of Covenant Presbyterian Church.

Jack served as chairman of the Research Task Force of the UT Centennial Commission, and he later served on the Research Committee as a member of the UT Commission of 125.

Jack had a lifelong interest in learning. After retiring and returning to Austin, he audited courses in a variety of subjects at UT, in addition to studying university-level materials both published and online.

Jack earned a twin-engine pilot's license, a Master YMCA Scuba rating, and he was delighted when he finally learned how to (generally) remain vertical on most ski runs. Jack and Gayle traveled extensively around the world, and after brushing up on the languages he would likely encounter in other countries, Jack became proficient enough in Spanish, Italian, German and French to communicate with locals who spoke no English.

Jack is survived by his wife, Gayle; their four children, Paige Hamilton of Austin, Irene Little Flannery of New York, N.Y, Carrie Villani of Austin and her husband, Rick Villani, and John Little of Oregon; seven grandchildren, Dr. Baker Hamilton, M.D. and his wife Emily, of Boston, Captain John Wells Hamilton, on duty with the Marine Corps, John Flannery and Katie Flannery of Virginia, Emily Villani, Jack Villani and Anne Villani of Austin; and great-grandsons, James Hamilton and Jack Hamilton of Boston. Jack is also survived by his brother, James W. (Jim Bill) Little, and his wife, Nancy Little of Midland, Texas, and many nieces, nephews and cousins, as well as Tony Villani and Kent and Susan Presnell of Austin.

Lauren Lannette Chapman

Our angel, Lauren Lannette Chapman, 46, of Weatherford, slipped away peacefully from this world to be with her Lord early Thursday morning, Sept. 3, 2015, at her home.

A celebration of her life will be held at 2:00 p.m. on Tuesday, Sept. 8, 2015, at her church home at Aledo United Methodist Church, 100 Pecan Street in Aledo, Texas. Visitation will be held from 1 p.m. until the time of the service, Tuesday, at the church. Burial will be at Trinity Memorial Park in Big Spring, Texas at 1:30 p.m., Wednesday, Sept. 9, 2015.

Lauren was born at Vandenburg AFB, Calif. She was the oldest of two daughters born to Larry and Darlene Chapman.

Lauren loved her Lord, her church, and her family. They were all part of her loving circle, and her greatest joy was our family's love for each other.

Lauren loved to travel, especially on cruises. A highlight of one cruise was parasailing in the Caribbean. She also loved roller coasters, riding every roller coaster in Las Vegas, including the ones off the top of the Stratosphere! Lauren loved music, reading, plays and the theater, and was so enjoying fostering that love in her niece, Zoe. She loved family gatherings and helping plan all the details. Lauren loved crafting and was always searching for her next project. Always a computer whiz, Lauren loved to search out interesting subjects and was constantly learning and sharing with her friends and family. Most of all, Lauren cherished time spent with her family, her friends, and her dachshunds.

Lauren was known for her loving heart, always eager to help her many friends and family members in any way possible. She loved laughter, and always saw the positive in any person or situation. She was an inspiration to everyone who knew her as she handled her many health struggles with such courage and grace, and love of life. For Lauren, the glass was always half full.

Lauren is survived by her loving parents, Larry and Darlene Chapman; her special sister, Gayla Chapman Fernandez; and by her beloved niece, Zoe Fernandez, many loving aunts and uncles, dear cousins, and a multitude of friends.

Lauren was preceded in death by paternal grandparents Dean Johnson and S.T. Johnson; maternal grandparents, Dalton and Roberta Wright; dear friend, Richard Swart, and her close dachshund companion of many years, Heidi.

Eva Lou Phillips

Eva Lou Phillips, age 92, of SiloamSprings, Ark., formerly of Elkins, Ark., and Gober, Texas went to be with her Lord and Savand the ior love of her life, Floyd, on Sept.

her husband, Floyd F. Phillips, to whom she was married to for 70 years, and one great grandson, William Colton Tyler Warford.

She was a loving wife, mother and grandmother, who opened her home to family and neighbors. She was a homemaker and loved cooking and making her famous cinnamon rolls. Her favorite pass-times were playing dominoes and Farkle and she had the uncanny ability to win every time. The grandchildren have many fond memories of spending time with grandma and grandpa. She is survived by her one son, Leslie Ray Phillips and his wife Gigi, of Roxton, Texas; one daughter, Janet Elaine Phillips Reed, of Siloam Springs, Ark.;

two nephews, Don C. Phillips and Johnny J. Phillips who she raised; five grandchildren, Bettina Logue, Dustin Burt, Tamera Phillips, Debra Phillips and John Phillips; 12 great-grandchildren and 8 great-great-grandchildren; and several nieces and nephews and many friends.

Visitation was Saturday, Sept, 5, 2015, from 2 p.m. until 4 p.m. at Memorial Funeral Home, in Springdale, Ark. Graveside services will be Tuesday, Sept. 8, 2015, at 10 a.m. at Mount Olive Memorial Park Cemetery in Big Spring, Texas, under the direction of Nalley-Pickle & Welch Funeral Home. Area law enforcement joined their fellow collegaues around the state at 11 a.m. Friday in honor of slain Harris County Deputy Darren Goforth. Texas Governor Greg Abbot called on officers across the state to turn on their emergency lights for one-minute to mark the beginning of the deputy's funeral being held in Houston. A prayer vigil is set for Saturday evening, Sept. 6, 2015 at the Heart of the City Park as a show of support for local law enforcement and for the families of two slain Texas Police officers. The event is organized by the Big Spring and Howard County LEO Wives Club. Those who attend are also asked to wear something blue.

Gas station etiquette am writing this in Carlsbad, Calif. enjoying a family reunion. Although oil is down to its lowest price per barrel in a decade, gas here is $4.29 a gallon. We passed by a Costco store yesterday and noticed about 100 cars in line to get gas for $3.39. I know the further west you go, the more you pay for gas, but this is crazy. I must say the people waiting in their cars were most patient and content to wait an hour or so to fill up.

TUMBLEWEED SMITH

A couple of weeks ago I pulled into a Love's Travel Center near Weatherford where gas was $2.29, about a quarter per gallon less than the price in most service stations I passed. The place had lots of business, but I felt lucky to pull in behind a car that was at a stand-alone pump. I waited for a few minutes before I noticed the car was empty. Nobody was in it. Then a man came out of the store carrying a big bag full of merchandise and a huge drink. He was followed by a boy and a girl about 8 or 9 years old. They piled into the car and I thought they would be leaving. Boy, was I wrong.

Apparently the man just wanted to put his purchases in the car. He got out, put his credit card in the slot, punched in his zip code and started to put gas in the tank. He just parked by a pump and went shopping before getting gas. Rather than get frustrated, I decided to just sit back and watch what happened next. I didn't know what was in store for me.

He didn't just put the nozzle back in its holder when it clicked off. He filled the tank to the brim. He slowly finished and got back in the car. I saw the tail lights come on, indicating the car had started. I felt that I was finally going to be able to get gas for my car. Wrong again.

Just about the time I thought I would see the car move out of the way, a back door opened and the girl got out and ran into the store. She came back in a few minutes, probably a bathroom break.

Again I waited for the car to move. It didn't. The boy got out of the door on the other side and ran into the store, I guess for the same reason.

By his time, other pumps had become available, but I decided to stay there and observe this exciting sage to its end. I figured that was better than just sitting there fuming. It was a test of my patience and I wanted to pass it with flying colors.

Finally the boy came back and the car finally got out of the way. But it didn't leave the parking lot. The driver pulled into an empty parking space and everybody piled out of the car and went back into the store. That group may never get to where they were going. Or maybe Love's was their destination.

That group broke every rule about service station courtesy. The rule states you are supposed to pull to the most distant pump, fill your gas tank, and if you need to clean the windshield, do it while gas is passing through the hose. Don't bother topping it off. Get in your car and drive off If you need to go inside the facility, find a parking spot and get in it. Don't be a pump hog,

DAILY PRAYER

May we remain diligent about reading Your word, Lord, for our life.

he years are many since we've been able to count the number of wars worldwide on the fingers of one hand. In the 1950s, a keen observer questioned whether we'd know what to do with ourselves "if peace ever breaks out." Today, we are flummoxed by this query, since meaningful peace seems unlikely, far over the rainbow. We are a restless, shortfused culture, warring at all levels.

Christians pray for peace, whether or not the "breaking out" variety. A few dozen of us were of such mind the other day when a wonderful friend was laid to rest. H. Bryan Poff wanted to live to be 105, missing his goal by about three months. Many stories were shared about his colorful, committed life. We agreed that — as in horseshoes, hand grenades and close-to-thepin in golf — Mr. Poff's coming close to his age goal counted greatly.

This wildcatter, with a memoand pork ribs — full orders, please — as recently as two years ago. Involved in every major Texas oil discovery over a 95-year period, he was active in exploration until his death.

His regimen called for going to bed at 5 p.m., then arising at 3 a.m. for Bible study, usually in Proverbs. During the half-dozen years I knew him, he spoke only positively of his fellow man, Amen taking life "sunny side up." He found only positives in a world awash in negativity.

At his Rose Hill Cemetery graveside service, he would have noted the nice breeze, shade trees and the tranquility of the setting. He'd have liked the length of the service, too -ascant 20 minutes, as per directions.

Dr. Jimmie Nelson, officiant and close friend, spoke about Mr. Poff's frequent discussion of drilling 16 straight dry holes. "He thanked the Lord for being with him and went on to the next site." Mr. Poff believed a "short memory is a blessing in the oil business." He also considered optimism to be an important trait. "I've got both," he said.

A man of deep conviction and prayer who credited God for his long and fruitful life, Mr. Poff lived out his motto: "Always go down one more foot."

We were warned there might be gunfire across the street at the Arlington Police Academy. Another "known" commonly accepted were the noises of trains passing by and aircraft flying overhead.

Sure enough, all of this occurred. Mr. Poff would have joked that we should interpret the practice gunfire as a salute to a Texan gone home. He might have mentioned the thrill of watching trains during his youth when automobiles were rare indeed.

From the generation credited with "get a horse" expressions, he'd have marveled at a sky filled with DFW Airport traffic. He'd likewise have been supportive of the police helicopter flying above the cemetery, its noise noticed for mere seconds.

Hitting backspace on life's keyboard, "what if's" dominated. Had his burial instead of his birth occurred on Dec. 5, 1910. his grave would have been the first on the rolling hills, several miles east of the city. There was no Rose Hill Cemetery at the time; it started in 1929, 19 years after Mr. Poff's birth.

A promoter of peace for the Prince of Peace, he learned long ago about the importance of being still. Despite unavoidable noises during the service, we were of like mind to be still. We shared Mr. Poff's ever-present faith in God, who has intervened in the affairs of mankind throughout history and is still in charge.

After 9-11, Mr. Poff sponsored a twice-monthly prayer breakfast at his beloved Petroleum Club, where he was a charter member It met until his health rendered him unable to attend early last year.

Attendees were from all walks of life — it was a "whosoever will, may come" time for food fellowship and Bible study led by Dr. Nelson, who was the teacher for a half-dozen years.

To end the memorial service, Dennis Bell, a bible study participant who visited Mr. Poff regularly, voiced the closing prayer. He's a BNSF Railway executive. As he spoke, a train passed by. No one seemed to notice. For a few brief and shining moments that afternoon, peace had broken out.

Keep kids safe around water this labor day Texas on pace to surpass last year in child drowning deaths

Special to the Herald

Labor Day is the holiday that signals the end of summer and many families will head to the water to cool off, but the Texas Department of Family and Protective Services (DFPS) urges Texans to help keep the holiday a happy one by watching kids around water at all times.

"Labor Day is the last big weekend of summer, so we can't afford to let down our guard this weekend," says DFPS Commissioner John Specia. "Too many children have already lost their lives."

Texas is on pace so far in 2015 to surpass last year's total of 73 child drownings but is well below the alltime high of 90 set in 2011. Sixty-eight children have drowned in Texas so far this year. The Dallas-Fort Worth area leads the state with 25 child drownings this year, followed by the Houston area with 15.

Unfortunately, drowning is one of the leading causes of accidental death among young children and most of these tragedies happen from Memorial Day weekend to Labor Day. Swimming pools are by far the most likely place where children drown. This year, 33 Texas children and teens have drowned in swimming pools, 22 in lakes, ponds, and other natural waterways, 8 died in bathtubs, and 5 drowned in various locations.

Toddlers and preschoolers are the most at risk, but this year an unusuhave also drowned.

Children under a year old most often drown indoors (bathtubs, buckets, or toilets), while older children and teens usually drown outdoors. Most young children who drown are in the care of one or both parents at the time and are out of sight less than five minutes.

Basic Water Safety Tips

Inside the house

• Never leave small children alone near any container of water. This includes toilets, tubs, aquariums, or mop buckets.

· Keep bathroom doors closed and secure toilet lids with lid locks.

• Never leave a baby alone in a bath for any reason. Get the things you need before running water. Infants can drown in any amount of water. If you must leave the room, take the child with you.

• Warn babysitters or caregivers about the dangers of water to young children and stress the need for constant supervision.

• Make sure small children cannot leave the house through pet doors or unlocked doors and reach pools or hot tubs.

Outside the house

• Never leave children alone around ally high number of teenagers (10) water whether it is in a pool, wading pool, drainage ditch, creek, pond or lake.

> Constantly watch children who are swimming or playing in water. They need an adult or certified lifeguard watching and within reach.

> • Secure access to swimming pools. Use fences, self-closing and latching gates, and water surface alarms.

> • Completely remove the pool cover when the pool is in use.

> > 57 Raven

DOWN

• Store water toys away from the water, when not in use, so they don't attract a small child.

 Don't assume young children will use good judgment and caution around water.

• Be ready for emergencies. Keep emergency telephone numbers handy and learn CPR.

• Find out if your child's friends or neighbors have pools.

Big Spring runs over rival Monahans 32-13 ing touchdown.

By Taylor Ellis Sports Editor

After a crushing 62-6 loss at the hands of Kerrville Tivy, Big Spring responded against their rival Monahans Friday night at Memorial Stadium.

Fans got a taste of what head coach Phillip Richey believes this year's team identity will be, a dominant running game and stout defense.

Junior Preston Alexander

struggled to get things going in the first half with just 22 yards on nine carries, including a fumble at the Big Spring 14 yard line. In the second half Alexander put that behind him and rushed for 135 yards four and touchdowns.

"My team needed me," Alexander said. "I've been on varsity for three years and my team needed me to be a leader."

Alexander limped off the field early in the fourth quarter with an apparent cramp. Six plays later he returned to the game, rushing three times for 26 yards and the game-seal-

Senior quarterback Garrett Wigington continued to improve in his new position, completing six of eight pass attempts for 169 yards and touchdown, а the first passing touchdown of his career. Despite the improvement,

"Defense kept us in the game and gave us a chance to win the game. Once the offense got started we had some big plays and put the pressure on them," Ritchey said.

Wigington knows he has a lot more room to improve. ter each week you got to get better, even if you are feeling more comfortable," Wingington said.

This week Wigington had no turnovers, looked more comfortable and had two completions for 60-plus yards.

"Garret had a great game," Richey said. "He directed the offense well, was great managing the clock late in the game letting the time wind down and he's developing and improving. We all are improving."

Junior wide receiver Daniel Luna led all receivers in receptions and yards with three catches for 156 yards. He went untouched for 80 yards, catching a pass on a deep slant for Big Spring's first score at the start of the second quarter. He also added a late game interception, which set of Alexander's fourth and final touchdown run.

The game was tied 7-7 at halftime, but Monahans could just of easily been leading. Monahans had three red zone trips in the first half, but came away with just a touchdown that was a perfect pass and catch over the middle against tight Steer coverage. Big Spring was also the beneficiary of two dropped passes by the Lobos that resulted in scores.

Offensively Monahans struggled to move the ball in the second half as effectively as they did in the first. On their first drive of the third quarter a Monahans receiver simply went up and attacked the ball at its highest point in the corner of the end zone, but a failed two-point conversion left the game at 14-13.

That was Monahans final trip to Big Spring's red zone.

"Defense kept us in the game and gave us a chance to win the game. Once the offense got started we had some big plays and put the pressure on them," Ritchey said.

After the kickoff was returned to Monahan's 40, Big Spring scored in just five plays. This time Big Spring wouldn't have a second half collapse.

"We've had this done to us by Monahans," Ritchey said. "They think we melt in the second half so we challenged our kids all week long to close out the game."

Life SPRR HERALD Keep Big Spring Beautiful: "The view is up to YOU!"

Keep Big Spring Beautiful is an affiliate in Gold Standing with Keep Texas Beautiful. The group is dedicated to encouraging everyone in Big Spring to take personal responsibility for keeping Big Spring beautiful.

"Big Spring has the potential to be the prettiest city in West Texas. God gave us two mountains and scattered canyons and arroyos throughout the city," said KBSB president, Lisa Brooks. "Big Spring has a city park that is second to none. Everyone who enjoys fishing, disc golf, feeding the ducks, kayaking, birthday parties, etc., in the park should love Comanche Trail Park enough to never throw trash on the ground."

Alon USA donated some barrels and Superod printed the big "Think Clean and Green" stickers for KBSB. The barrels were decorated and placed around the park to help the visitors help keep the park clean.

The Main Street median was the groups big project of the year. There are plans to plant crepe myrtle bushes in the entire length of the median. Faux turf will be used in the end sections to help keep the weeds away.

The slogan this year is: "The View is up to YOU – Don't litter" which was placed on many business marquees to get the word out and support the community.

Approximately 25-30 members attend the meetings on the first Monday of each month in the Cactus room at Howard College. The meetings are at noon.

"This month it (the meeting) is postponed to Sept. 14 and will be in the Howard College Tumbleweed Room."

For more information on how to help Keep Big Spring Beautiful or to volunteer, contact Brooks at 432-935-2646.

Story and cover by JULIE BASS

Photos by Julie Bass, Lyndel Moody and Courtesy Photos Top right - clockwise: Volunteers gather for a meal together. Workers put stickers on barrels to make more trash cans for the Comanche Trail Park. Trash cans were placed all over the park so that park visitors could dispose of their trash. The big project this year has been the Main Street Median. Several groups and volunteers came together to clean up the Comanche Trail Lake. Volunteers pose together during the "Don't Mess with Texas Trash off" in dowtown Big Spring.

2C Without a doubt: proof of historical Jesus

o you believe that there was a man named George Washington who lived in the 18th century? I would assume that 99.99 percent of Americans do. Well, have you seen him? Have you touched him? Did you ever have a conversation with him?

No, you say. Then how do you really know he existed? Maybe he was a fabricated character, the product of the revolutionists to give a face to their cause. Maybe he was fashioned by taking the best attributes of the leaders of the rebellion and putting them all into one individual.

The colonists needed an image of honesty and honor, someone they would follow in this experiment of society that could result in their punishment and even death at the hands of the British government.

Do you still believe that there was a man named George Washington who led the Colonial Army and became the first President of the United States? So do I. I believe it, just as you, because there is evidence for it.

That was a couple of hundred years ago, but what about a couple of thousand years ago? Do you believe that Jesus really lived and walked and talked on the earth?

There are many who are trying to create doubt to that fact or to outright deny it. This is not a new thing, however. It was happening even toward the end of the first century. The Apostle John wrote to Christians in the letter we know as 1 John so that they would not have any doubts concerning their Lord.

There were false teachers denying the deity and/or the humanity of Jesus. John writes, That which was from the beginning, which we have heard, which we have seen with our eyes, which we looked upon and have touched with our hands, concerning the word of life — the life was made manifest, and we have seen it, and testify to it and proclaim to you the eternal life, which was with the Father and was made manifest to us — that which we have seen and heard we proclaim also to you, so that you too may have fellowship with us; and indeed our fellowship is with the Father and with his Son Jesus Christ. And we are writing these things so that your joy may be complete (1 John 1:1-4 ESV).

John wanted people to know that Jesus was not some "made-up" person. He is the Son of God (God Himself. John 1:1) who became a man (Philippians 2:5-8) in order to redeem all of humanity! Notice how John witnesses (gives testimony) for Jesus being a real person: heard, seen with our eyes, touched with our hands. I have never heard, seen, or touched George Washington with my own ears, eyes, and hands. Neither have I heard, seen, or touched Jesus with my own ears, eyes, and hands, but I believe that He is the Son of God, God in the flesh, and that He died to make atonement for the sins of the world. We have the evidence of those eve witnesses. We have the word of God (2 Timothy 3:16-17). Do not let anyone or anything cause you to doubt!

Wigington speaks at Kiwanis Club

Big Spring ISD superintendent talks about new programs aimed at improving student academics

By JULIE BASS

Staff Writer

On Thursday, Kiwanis Club members got a chance to visit with Chris Wigington, Big Spring ISD Superintendent, during the weekly meeting.

Wigington shared with the group some of the changes going on throughout the campuses such as techniques that have been working to help raise scores and get the students more involved with their schools. "The time of teachers coming in to the classroom. telling the kids to be quiet, and teaching from the front of the class are over. It does not work with these kids. So our teachers encourage the students to join in the conversation, the teachers walk around the class using the 'power zone' to be among the students," said Wigington. Wigington said that students are writing in every class now, to include math classes. The teachers now inform the students of what will happen in the class that day, how it will be taught and what they want the students to gain from the lesson. At the end of the lesson, teachers ask questions, the students that can answer go about the day as planned, the students who did not quite understand are pulled to the side and shown the information in a different way. "When you have 20 students in a class, you have to teach it (the lesson) 20 different ways because you have 20 kids who learn differently. We need to make sure our teachers learn how their students learn so that they can reach them all," Wiginton said. A new program this year that has the students' attention is the Riding for the Brand program. When a student is caught doing something right, the teachers and staff fill out a ticket, one copy is kept by the teacher, the other copy goes to the principal.

"We need to reinforce positive behavior. At the end of every six-weeks, we will put all of those tickets in for a drawing. The winner will receive a prize, In the meantime, the kids who receive a Riding for the Brand, will get to either go through the tunnel at a football game or cheerlead during the games. Their parents can get into the game for free on these nights," said Wigington. "Our goal this year is 'One heartbeat. All campuses, teachers and community pulling in one direction." Another program that is not new, but encouraged because of positive results is Watch Dogs. Watch Dogs are when the Dad's come to the school to volunteer. They can spend their 45 minutes with their child volunteering in the classroom and spending that time together. "We always welcome volunteers. Those kids light up when a new person shows up and is willing to to just read to them. Anyone who is interested in being a volunteer can go to the schools and visit with the principal. If anyone wants to donate prizes such as coupons or little things, we will take any donations. Just go to the school's principal and ask how you can help," Wigington said.

Boneless pork chop, potatoes/AuGratin, black eyed peas, mandarin oranges, cornbread and milk.

Jesus presented the clearest preview of the Kingdom. He invited others to look at his life to see what the Kingdom looks like. He said, "The Spirit of the Lord is on me, because he has anointed me to proclaim good news to the poor. He has sent me to proclaim freedom for the prisoners and recovery of sight for the blind, to set the oppressed free, to proclaim the year of the Lord's favor." (Luke 4:18-21).

LIFE

The early followers of Jesus practiced Kingdom living in such a way that others were drawn to them and to their churches. This is why the Christian faith exploded in the first three centuries. People saw previews of the Kingdom practiced in the churches and the lives of believers, and they wanted to be part of it. This is also the reason Christianity is stumbling in our day. Too often churches and Christians are selfish and self-centered, fighting among themselves and with others for dominance and control. When others see this, like patrons at a theater, they whisper to themselves, "That's not for me."

Every church and every believer must live in such a way that others see God's Kingdom on earth as it is in heaven. This is what Paul meant when he said, "But thanks be to God, who ... manifests through us the sweet aroma of the knowledge of Him in every place. For we are a fragrance of Christ to God among those who are being saved and among those who are perishing." (2 Cor. 2:14-15).

Job scams, fake online listings

ooking for a job or internship can be tough time-consuming. Unfortunately, and scammers know this and advertise jobs where legitimate employers do — online, in newspapers, on TV and on the radio. If you are on the hunt for a job, Better Business Bureau serving Central, Coastal, Southwest Texas and the Permian Basin advises you to beware of job scams.

According to the Federal Trade scammers Commission, will promote outdated or fake job openings, or charge upfront fees for services or training materials. They will claim they can guarantee job placement after you pay; however, the promised job never materializes and the company does not return your calls. If you need to pay to get the job or have to provide your credit card or bank account number, that is a red flag.

HEATHER MASSEY

In 2014, BBB received over 300 consumer complaints against job listing and advisory services nationwide. Most complaints reported issues with advertising and billing or collection. This year alone, over 60 employment-related scams have been reported through BBB's Scam Tracker, an online interactive map and resource for consumers to find and report scams. In Texas, employment scams have been reported as recent as August 2015.

Before you enlist help from a job placement business, BBB advises you:

• Research the business first. If a company or organization is mentioned in an ad or interview, contact that company directly to find out if the company is really hiring through the service.

• Get details in writing. If you use services from a job placement firm, find out the cost, what you will get and if you or the company that hires you pays. If the service doesn't find a job for you or provides any real leads, what happens? If they are reluctant to answer your questions, or give confusing answers, you may be hesitant to work with them.

• Get a copy of the contract and read it carefully. Take the time to read the contract. A legitimate company won't pressure you into signing then and there. Also, make sure any promises including refund promises — are in writing. Some listing services and "consultants" write ads to sound like jobs, but they are really selling general information about getting a job - information you can find on your own for free.

• Know the difference between "job placement" and "job counseling". Executive or career #### counseling services help people with career directions and decisions. They may offer services like skills identification and self-evaluation, resume preparation, cover letter writing, interview technique, and general information about companies or organizations in a particular location or job field. However, job placement is not guaranteed and counseling service fees can be expensive.

• Protect your identity. Don't give out your credit card or bank account information over the phone to a company unless you are familiar with them and have agreed to pay for something.

 Don't pay upfront fees. Beware of any company that wants you to pay fees upfront. Employers and employment firms shouldn't ask you to pay for the promise of a job.

If you have been targeted by a job scam, you can file a complaint with the FTC and your local BBB. For issues with employment service companies, you can contact the Texas Attorney General or the Texas Workforce Commission. To find or report a scam, visit bbb.org/central-texas.

U.S. jobless rate falls to 7-year low

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. unemployment rate fell to a seven-year low in August as employers added a modest 173,000 jobs, a key piece of evidence for the Federal Reserve in deciding whether to raise interest rates from record lows later this month.

The jobless rate fell to 5.1 percent — a level the Fed says is consistent with a normal economy — from 5.3 percent in July, the government said Friday. It's the lowest unemployment rate since April 2008.

Though hiring in August was the slowest in five months, the government revised up its estimates of job growth for June and July by a combined 44,000. From June through August, a robust 221,000 jobs a month were added, up from a 189,000 average from March through May.

Friday's report appeared neither so strong nor so weak as to tilt the Fed decisively toward either a rate hike or against one. But it is one of the last snapshots of the economy Fed policymakers can weigh before their Sept. 16-17 meeting.

Before proceeding with the play, declarer should formulate a general plan that makes allowance for the various ways in which the opposing cards may be divided. He might not be able to come up with a plan that guarantees success against all possible distributions, but he should try to find the line of play that gives him the best chance to succeed

Consider this deal where West led a diamond against South's four-heart contract. Declarer won East's nine with the queen and could count 12 tricks if the diamonds were divided West's opening lead, however, had all the earmarks of a singleton, and if it was, the contract was in distinct jeopardy.

Declarer's task, therefore, was to seek a line of play that would succeed against a 4-1 diamond break as well as a normal 3-2 division. Accordingly, he cashed the A-K of hearts and was gratified to see both opponents follow suit. He then abandoned further trump leads, leaving a heart at large and the jack in dummy as a later entry, and led the eight of diamonds.

This gave West a chance to ruff, but if he did, dummy would follow low, and declarer would wind up with 11 tricks five hearts, five diamonds and a club. And if West discarded instead, South would win in dummy, ruff a low diamond high, cross to the jack of hearts and again finish with 11 tricks. West's play was therefore immaterial

Note that if declarer had not taken the trouble to assess the situation and had instead blithely drawn three rounds of trumps at the outset, he would have gone down. The 4-1 diamond break plus the unfavorable location of the ace of spades would have limited him to nine tricks.

New collars monitor pets for pain, problems

LOS ANGELES (AP) – You can use wearables with GPS to keep track of wandering dogs. Others help you track animals' physical activity.

Now, two companies have the latest in wearable pet technology: collars that can check for a fever, monitor pulse and respiration, and even indicate if your pet is in pain.

PetPace, based in Burlington, Massachusetts, has a medical collar that can measure a dog's vital signs and other information to look for signs of pain. Irregularities trigger a notice by phone, text or email. Voyce, created by I4C Innovations Inc., and based in Chantilly, Virginia, has a consumer version that tracks similar information. It also has a Voyce Pro that is available to veterinarians to surgery or long-term illness.

Both smart collars can be programmed to monitor for a pet's specific illness. Dogs and cats over 8 pounds can use them.

Kenneth Herring, who lives outside Detroit, uses PetPace to monitor his 5-year-old dog, Jack, as part of a test case to see how effective the collar is in helping detect epilepsy.

When Jack has a seizure, he keels over on his side, drools and may lose consciousness, Herring said. So far, his twitching limbs and lack of motion have been enough to trigger an alert. and PetPace plans to use what they learn from Jack to tailor the collar to other dogs with epilepsy.

Michelle Saltzman, of Bedford, prescribe for pets recovering from Massachusetts, uses PetPace for Lucas, a 10-year-old beagle she adopted in October. Lucas has a heart murmur and suffers from fainting spells. and the monitor allows Saltzman to leave the dog home alone without worrying.

> PetPace's medical monitoring collar came out three years ago and has been tested on thousands of dogs. Voyce for pet owners was introduced in the spring, followed by a professional version for veterinarians in July. More than 100 animal hospitals have signed on to use Voyce Pro, said Emily Hartman, director of product management for I4C Innovations.

> PetPace collars are available at petpace.com for $150 per collar and $15 a month, while Voyce is available at voyce.com for $200 and $9.95 a month.

Herring said the smart collars do have limitations, including batteries that last anywhere from two days to eight weeks, depending on how much data they are asked to measure and deliver. Some of Jack's vitals are checked every two minutes and some are checked every 15 minutes, so the batteries drain in two days and it takes two hours to recharge ,Äî time when Jack does not have the collar on, Herring said.

One of the reasons PetPace did not put GPS on its smart collar was to save on battery power, said Dr. Asaf Dagan, PetPace's chief veterinary scientist and co-founder.

Many millennials see themselves as self-absorbed, wasteful

WASHINGTON (AP) - Even millennials don't think much of their generation, according to a new poll Thursday.

A Pew Research Center study showed that millennials, generally defined as those ages 18-34 ,had far more negative views of their generation compared to Generation Xers, baby boomers or other age groups. More than half of millennials, 59 percent, described their generation as "self-absorbed," while almost half or 49 percent said they were "wasteful," and 43 percent said they were "greedy."

Around 30 percent of Generation Xers , those ages 35-50 , said their own generation was self-absorbed and wasteful, and 20 percent of the baby boomers said the same about their age cohort.

Millennials "stand out in their willingness to ascribe negative stereotypes to their own generation," the study said.

The older the group, the more positively they saw themselves, the Pew study found.

For example, the so-called "Silent Generation", those ages 70-87, overwhelmingly described themselves as hard-working, responsible and patriotic, at 83 percent, 78 percent and 73 percent respectively. The baby boomers were not far behind, picking those same three words to describe themselves, at 77 percent, 66 percent and 52 percent, respectively.

But the millennials and Gen Xers were not quite so positive about themselves: only 12 percent of the millennials and 26 percent of Generation X say they are patriotic; 24 percent of the millennials and 43 percent of the Gen Xers say they're responsible; and 36 percent of the millennials and 54 percent of Generation X say they are hard-working.

In fact, the highest-ranking positive traits the millennials came up with for themselves were "environmentally conscious" at 40 percent and "idealistic" at 39 percent.

Many millennials don't even want to be identified as such, with 60 percent not considering themselves to be part of the "millennial generation."

Instead, 33 percent say they are part of Generation X.

The "Silent Generation" also didn't want to identify with its generation. Like the millennials, only 18 percent of the Silent Generation considered themselves part of that group. Instead, more identified as being with the baby boomers at 34 percent or the "Greatest demographic older Generation" at 34 percent.

Generational identity was strongest among the baby boomers, with 79 percent of those within the applicable age group identifying with the "babyboom" generation.

The poll was conducted using Pew's American Trends Panel among 3,147 respondents, initially selected over the phone but mostly interviewed online.

The margin of error is plus or minus 2.4 percentage points.
