Arrest in Pollard Chevrolet burglary made

BY LYNDEL MOODY
Staff Writer

A 32-year-old Coahoma man was arrested by the Big Spring Police in connection with a burglary at Pollard Chevrolet, according to a police press release issued Monday morning.

Nathan Kyle Miller confessed to the burglary at Pollard Chevrolet which occurred between Dec. 26 and 27 when several thousands of dollars worth of work tools were stolen from employees and a truck belonging to the business the release stated.

Miller

"The Big Spring Police Department Criminal Investigations Division immediately began investigating the crime and determined the location of the stolen vehicle by GPS coordinates," said Sgt. Tony Everett of the Big Spring Police in the release. "The stolen vehicle (2015 Chevrolet Silverado) was located in the area of the North Service Road of Interstate 20 and Birdwell Lane. Detectives continued to investigate this crime which led to the recovery of some of the tools stolen."

The investigation ultimately led detectives to speak with Miller who was already in custody and being held in the Howard County Jail, the release said.

Miller was arrested by the Howard County Sheriff's Office on Jan. 8 on a charge of reckless emission of air contaminant when he was found to be burning suspected stolen copper wire.

"Big Spring Police Department detectives interviewed Miller while he was incarcerated at the Howard County Detention Center on the 8th of Jan. which

No kill city animal shelter coming?

Big Spring city council to consider establishing a no kill shelter by 2017

By STEVE REAGAN
Staff Writer

When the Big Spring City Council meets at 5:30 p.m. Tuesday, it will consider a resolution calling for the establishment of a "no-kill" animal shelter by 2017.

The city's animal shelter currently euthanizes unclaimed homeless animals, but officials want to put an end to that practice.

"The citizens of Big Spring deserve an animal shelter that succeeds at saving the lives of homeless animals that is consistent with the most successful animal shelters in Texas," the proposed resolution reads in part.

Officials recognize that too many animals at the shelter are being put down. In addition, they concede there are policies and programs which are "proven to be effective at reducing the killing of homeless pets, including but not limited to policies and programs related to reducing intake and increasing live outcomes of impounded animals," the resolution states.

If adopted, the resolution will have the city on record as wanting to establish a no-kill shelter by Jan. 1, 2017.

In other business Tuesday, the council will consider:

- Closed sessions to consider pending litigation.

Wednesday's Powerball jackpot is world's largest at $1.3 billion

OMAHA, Neb. — Disappointed you didn't win the Powerball jackpot this weekend? Don't be.

Lottery officials say the prize has now swelled to an estimated $1.3 billion — the world's largest. Ever.

"Biggest jackpot in the history of the world. Absolutely confirmed," Texas Lottery executive director Gary Grief said.

The jackpot is so big that billboards in Texas and around the country have to advertise the price as $999 million because they're not built to show billions.

The lottery computers will handle the decimal point without a problem.

No one matched all six Powerball numbers Saturday night, leading to the astronomical prize. And that is all but certain to grow before the next drawing Wednesday, according to lottery officials.

"We've never been at these levels," said Grief, whose state lottery is part of the Multi-State Lottery Association that runs Powerball.

The odds to win are one in 292.2 million. Seventy-five percent of all the possible combinations were purchased before Saturday's drawing, Grief said, and he expects that enough tickets will be sold to cover about 80 percent by Wednesday. About 95 percent of Powerball tickets have computer-generated numbers.

"I've been in the industry over 20 years, and I've seen jackpots hit when we hardly have any of the potential numbers covered — like 5 percent of the possible combinations covered. And I've seen other jackpots when we've had 95 percent of the combinations covered and it rolls," Grief said.

Legendary musician David Bowie dies of cancer at 69

NEW YORK (AP) — David Bowie, the other-worldly musician who broke pop and rock boundaries with his creative musicianship, nonconformity, striking visuals and a genre-spanning persona he christened Ziggy Stardust, died of cancer Sunday. He was 69 and had just released a new album.

Bowie, whose hits included "Fame," "Heroes" and "Let's Dance," died "peacefully" and was surrounded by family, representative Steve Martin said early Monday. The singer had fought cancer for 18 months.

Long before alter egos and wild outfits became commonplace in pop, Bowie turned the music world upside down with the release of the 1972 album, "The Rise and Fall of Ziggy Stardust and the Spiders from Mars" which introduced one of music's most famous personas. Ziggy Stardust was a concept album that imagined a rock star from outer space trying to make his way in the — the red-headed, eyeliner wearing Stardust — would become an enduring part of his legacy, and a touchstone for the way entertainers packaged themselves for years to come.

Bowie turned 69 on Friday, the same day as he released a new album called "Blackstar."

"While many of you will share in this loss, we ask that you respect the family's privacy during their time of grief," said a statement issued via his social media accounts. No more details were provided.

The singer, who was born David Jones in London, came of age in the glam rock era of the early 1970s. He had a striking androgynous look in his early days and was known for changing his appearance and sounds. After Ziggy Stardust, the stuttering rock sound of "Changes" gave way to the disco soul of "Fame," co-written with John Lennon, to a droning collaboration with Brian Eno in Berlin that produced "Heroes."

He had some of his biggest successes in the early 1980s with the bombastic "Let's Dance," and a massive American tour. Another one of his definitive songs was "Under Pressure," which he recorded with Queen; Vanilla Ice would years later infamously use the song's hook for his smash hit "Ice Ice Baby."

"My entire career, I've only really worked with the same subject matter," Bowie told The Associated Press in a 2002 interview. "The trousers may change, but the actual words and subjects I've always chosen to write with are things to do with isolation, abandonment, fear and anxiety — all of the high points of one's life."

Bowie lived in West Berlin in the late 1970s and Mayor Michael Mueller said Monday that "Heroes" became "the hymn of our then-divided city and its longing for freedom."

Germany's Foreign Ministry added Bowie was "now among heroes" and thanked him for "helping to bring down the wall."

Bowie's performance of "Heroes" was also a highlight at a concert for rescue workers after the 2001 World Trade Center attacks.

"What I'm most proud of is that I can't help but notice that I've affected the vocabulary of pop music. For me, frankly, as an artist, that's the most satisfying thing for the ego," Bowie said.

He was inducted into the Rock and Roll Hall of Fame in 1996, but he didn't attend the ceremony. Madonna, another artist who knew something about changing styles to stay ahead of the curve, accepted for him and recounted how a Bowie concert changed her life when she attended it as a teenager. David Byrne, of the art rockers Talking Heads, inducted Bowie and said he gave rock music a necessary shot in the arm.

State of union in 2016: Strong job market, middling economy

WASHINGTON(AP)—President Barack Obama delivers his final State of the Union address on Tuesday night to a nation whose economy is far sturdier than it was when he took office in 2009.

Yet as 2016 begins, the stout job market is accompanied by tepid economic growth and stubbornly flat wages. More broadly, two things are on the rise, to the president's dismay: global temperatures and Americans' concerns about terrorism.

A snapshot of the country: THE BIG PICTURE

Friday's December jobs report capped a strong year in which employers added 2.65 million positions. That made 2015 the second best year since 1999 for job gains, exceeded only in 2014.

For a third straight month, the unemployment rate was 5 percent. That's the lowest three-month dip in eight years and half the 10 percent joblessness registered in October 2009, as the country began climbing out of the recession.

But average hourly pay seems stuck, sliding one cent last month to $25.24. That left the growth of average pay at 2.5 percent last year, below the 3.5 percent economists consider healthy.

The latest figures show the overall economy growing at a modest 2 percent annual rate in last year's July to September quarter, though analysts expect improvement.

THE ECONOMY, FROM OTHER ANGLES

For Wall Street, 2015 was a roller coaster. Record highs in spring were followed by an abrupt summertime swoon, prompted by worries about the strong dollar's impact on exports, China's slowing economy and sagging oil prices.

By year's end, the Dow Jones industrial average had faded by 2.2 percent, its first down year since 2008. And it began 2016 with steep declines fueled by continued China worries.

The jackpot has ballooned since its Nov. 4 starting point of $40 million and spurred huge ticket sales.

In Omaha, Les Wheeler said he probably overdid it by buying $30 worth of tickets for Saturday's drawing with a few friends, but they plan to do the same for this next jackpot.

"I didn't expect to win, but I had big dreams," said Wheeler, 53. He said a new home in another state away from Omaha's 16-degree temperatures were at the top of his wish list.

Saturday's winning numbers — 16-19-32-34-57 and Powerball number of 13 — did gain some people a little wealth: 25 tickets won $1 million by matching five numbers, and three other tickets won $2 million because they paid extra to multiply smaller prizes.

Darryl Collins, of Phoenix, and his husband each won $24 from the 70 Powerball tickets they bought. They plan to use that money toward buying more tickets for the new, higher jackpot. Collins said it was a shock that nobody won.

"It was like only 500 people who missed it by one number," Collins said. "It shows you how hard it is to win."

The 55-year-old real estate agent said he and his husband would definitely share the wealth.

"I would give a lot of it to family and friends," Collins said. "Who needs that much money?"

Michael Montecelo, a security guard in San Francisco's financial district, said he spent $20 on Powerball tickets and hasn't yet checked if he won anything. He said he will buy another $20 worth of tickets even if thinking about winning more than a billion dollars scares him a bit.

"I think I would go into a state of anxiety, but it would be a good anxiety," he said, smiling.

Montecelo, 50, said he would retire and donate some of that money and work on administering the rest.

"I would have to open an office and get a team of experts. I think my job would be to keep tabs on that money," he said. "That would be a full-time job."

The record jackpot lured an unprecedented frenzy of purchases. Between Jan. 6 and Saturday's drawings, more than $900 million in Powerball tickets were sold.

Officials expect similar sales before the next drawing, but Grief said it's hard to predict how excitement about the record jackpot will boost sales.

"It's exponentially greater than any sales that any of the states involved have ever seen," he said.

Dorothy Garrett Coliseum has been the site of many classic Howard College-Midland College showdowns over the years — contests full of exciting, nail-biting finishes.

That wasn't the case Saturday.

The confines of Garrett Coliseum were anything but friendly to the Hawks and Lady Hawks, as Midland College came in and took both West Midland Junior College Athletic Conference games by comfortable margins: Midland won the women's game by a final of 67-35, while the Chaparrals easily defeated Howard, 72-41 in the men's nightcap.

The only difference in the two games was how Midland fashioned its big leads — in the women's game, Midland stormed out the gate, building a 34-point lead after the first half, while the Midland men blew open a fairly tight game by out-scoring Howard, 43-20, in the second half.

Other than that, the major culprit was obvious in both cases: Howard's offense was practically non-existent. The Lady Hawks shot only 25 percent from the field, while the HC men fared even worse, successfully completing only 20.8 percent of their field goal attempts.

Midland held a notable height advantage in both contests, but that only told part of the story, Howard coaches conceded.

"I think they got us on our heels and really pushed the ball hard at us," HC Women's Coach Earl Diddle said. "At the beginning, they did a great job of going high-low and we didn't get back fast enough on defense, which was how they were able to go on a 30-8 run on us. They just got position on us, and they have such great size, if you don't get your defense set, you're at a big disadvantage."

To Howard Men's Coach Scott Raines, it wasn't so much what Howard was unable to do as what Midland prevented the Hawks from doing — the Chaparrals (14-3 overall, 2-1 in conference play) effectively shut down the Hawks' perimeter game, holding Howard to only 7 of 31 from beyond the three-point arc.

"I thought Midland was brilliant. They really guarded us well, played hard and deserved to win the game," Raines said. "I'm actually really proud of the way our guys played (Saturday). I thought our guys defended and did all the things they needed to do; you just need to get the ball in the basket. Some of that was us missing shots and some of that was Midland just doing a great job defensively."

Neither Howard team has time to dwell on Saturday's game as they travel to Borger tonight to take on Frank Phillips College.

Neither Diddle or Raines expects their teams to suffer emotional hangovers.

"I just told them they have about an hour to feel sorry for themselves and they have to start getting ready for Frank Phillips," Raines said. "We just have to get past this ... I think our guys are pretty forward-facing and they'll be fine Monday."

"I think in the second half (Saturday), we were a little better," Diddle said. "I think there were some positives we can take out of tonight ... We've just got to move on."

Howard's women (12-6 overall, 2-1 in conference) take on Frank Phillips at 5:45 p.m., while the HC men (11-6, 1-2) play at 7:30 p.m.

Seahawks escape with 10-9 win over Vikings after Walsh miss

By DAVE CAMPBELL

AP Pro Football Writer

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Russell Wilson and the Seattle Seahawks needed more than three quarters to warm up at Minnesota, their quest to avenge last year's Super Bowl loss nearly frozen before it began.

The Vikings, after gritting through this grind-it-out wild-card round playoff game, booted their chance to beat the two-time defending NFC champions. Blair Walsh's 27-yard field goal try into the frigid wind hooked left with 22 seconds remaining, handing the Seahawks a 10-9 victory over the stunned Vikings on a Sunday in below-zero weather that tied for the third-coldest NFL game on record.

"A lot of people would've folded up and said, 'That's it,' but we've got a team full of fighters," Seahawks cornerback Richard Sherman said.

The Seahawks (11-6) didn't score until Russell Wilson's short touchdown pass to Doug Baldwin early in the fourth quarter. Then, a fumble by Adrian Peterson for the Vikings on the next possession set up a field goal by Steven Hauschka.

The Vikings (11-6) took the ball for the deciding drive with 1:42 left at their 39 and, aided by a pass interference penalty on Kam Chancellor, drove deep into Seattle's territory. After draining the clock for the seemingly inevitable win, Walsh simply missed the winner after making all three of his earlier attempts.

"That's called grace," Chancellor said. "That's all it is."

Seattle will play next weekend at Carolina, where the Panthers had a first-round bye in balmy mid-50s weather.

"I think we were fortunate that we got the win," Seahawks coach

Pete Carroll said. "A lot of those times, guys make those kicks. There's a high percentage that they make them, but you've still got to do it."

Walsh didn't hide. Holder Jeff Locke had the laces turned in, not out, but there were no excuses to be made.

"You're confident, but you never think that you have it or take it for granted," Walsh said, subdued with glassy eyes in the locker room afterward. "I just didn't put a swing on it that would be acceptable by anybody's standards."

NOTES: Previous record cold games for each franchise: Vikings, minus-2 degrees (Dec. 3, 1972, vs. Chicago). Seahawks, 16 degrees (Dec. 3, 2006, at Denver). ... Lockett's catch (35 yards) was the longest play of the game, followed by Rudolph's reception (24 yards).

In playoff mode, Aaron Rodgers, Packers beat Redskins

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — Green Bay Packers coach Mike McCarthy doesn't want to hear any more about his team's two losses to end the regular season — or the anemic offense that caused them.

After the Packers beat the Washington Redskins 35-18 Sunday to reach the divisional round, McCarthy and his players were quick to put all their recent struggles in the rearview mirror.

"You don't have to talk about the regular season no more," McCarthy said. "The playoffs are different."

Green Bay set up a rematch with the NFC West champion Arizona Cardinals on Saturday night.

Green Bay lost 38-8 at Arizona in Week 16, so this is a chance for some redemption.

"There's not too many times you have an opportunity to go back and have a redo," McCarthy said.

Left guard Josh Sitton wants to re-watch the film before he explains how the Packers can improve. That will be part of the preparation, but McCarthy has his players well-versed on not looking back.

"You get in the postseason, everybody has an equal opportunity," receiver James Jones said. "Everybody is 0-0."
