Big Spring High School's journalism teacher has been arrested on charges of conducting an improper relationship with a student.

security. The goal of our summit was to work together as a broader community of towns and counties throughout West Texas to address the challenges we face in rural America and to work collectively at all levels to make sure that we have not just viable communities, but thriving rural communities. We want a prosperous future for our small towns because they may be little, but they are filled with people who have big hearts and big dreams, and they make a huge contribution to this great country," Arrington said. "We want to identify where the pain points are, where the problems and opportunities are, and then get a plan together to take on those challenges and seize those opportunities so we can have prosperity. In rural America, we do that better than anybody."

On the issue of health care in rural America, Arrington said, "Access to health care is a real challenge for families in rural America. We have to make sure we sustain rural hospitals who have taken a beating from the regulations and mandates out of Obamacare - over $50 billion in regulatory costs. Rural hospitals can't make it work because they don't have the patient base or the tax base. I sponsored a provision in the House Farm Bill that would allow rural hospitals to refinance at lower costs so they can make ends meet and provide basic health care to families in small towns. We can't have ag and energy production without small towns that are sustainable. You can't have that sustainability without critical infrastructure investment like health care."

Discussing the opioid epidemic, Arrington said, "We as Congress have passed in a budget-neutral way over 70 pieces of legislation to address the opioid crisis. We have seen over 40,000 Americans die from drug overdose - many of whom were addicted to opioids. There are several ways to attack this problem - prevention, intervention, finding new therapies for pain management. Each community knows best how to address this challenge. Congress passed bills that mainly provide resources for them."

On the topic of economic development, Arrington said, "Tax reform that Congress passed to free up the markets and regulatory relief we passed to reduce the burden on our small businesses, family farms and community banks has been a big part of economic development for rural communities. We need to make sure that we have pro-rural America policies in place whether its tax reform, trade, deregulation, or health care so that the future of rural America and places like West Texas is bright and that our kids will have as many opportunities as we did to raise their family and make a living in all of these wonderful towns."

Anger over Ed Dept mulling federal money for guns in schools

WASHINGTON (AP) - The Education Department said Thursday that it is weighing whether to allow states to use federal funds to purchase guns for schools, prompting a storm of criticism from Democratic lawmakers and educators.

If approved, the plan would likely generate a lot of controversy at a time when a string of especially deadly school shootings earlier this year led to the rise of a powerful student-led gun control movement.

A senior Trump administration official told The Associated Press on Thursday that the agency is reviewing legislation governing federal academic enrichment grants to see if the money can be used to procure firearms.

The official, who spoke on condition of anonymity because the person was not authorized to discuss the issue publicly, said the bipartisan Every Student Success Act, passed in 2015, does not expressly prohibit or allow the use of Student Support and Academic Enrichment Grants for the purchase of firearms. The official said the agency received several letters asking it to clarify what those funds could be used for and began researching the issue.

Education Secretary Betsy DeVos, who chairs a federal commission on school safety, has previously said that schools should have the option to arm teachers. The commission, formed in the aftermath of the school shooting in Parkland, Florida, that killed 17 people, has been criticized for omitting the topic of gun control.

The plan, first reported by The New York Times, prompted swift condemnation from Democratic lawmakers and many educators on Thursday, who accused the Trump administration of wanting to deprive students of much-needed mental health support and other resources in the interests of the National Rifle Association.

House Minority Leader Nancy Pelosi, D-Calif., called the idea "one of the most egregious, short-sighted and dangerous executive branch abuses of our education system in modern history."

"Secretary DeVos continues to lead an anti-student and anti-teacher campaign on behalf of special interests and the NRA that rejects proven and effective initiatives to ensure a safe, welcoming school climate for children," she added.

Reflections: How We Conduct our Conversation

I have a habit of browsing the news. It is perhaps an addiction or obsession. I don't seem to be able to stop. I prefer written news articles, some in print, most online. Television newscasts move too slowly, too many commercials and they tend to skim the surface. Written news is usually more in depth, can be scanned much more quickly and is updated constantly online.

But lately I have questioned whether I should continue to indulge this habit. Perhaps I should quit reading the news altogether, or at least take a break. It is almost always depressing. Everyone seems angry at somebody. Everyone wants to blame somebody else for their difficulties. Politicians, athletes, actors and actresses, celebrities of every stripe. They call each other names and throw insults at one another. The world has become vitriolic.

Of course there are exceptions. But the exceptions are often drowned out by the sheer noise of name calling and accusations.

Jesus had some rather severe warnings for conduct such as this. He said, "Everyone who is angry with his brother shall be guilty before the court; and whoever says to his brother, 'You good for nothing,' shall be guilty before the Supreme Court; and whoever says, 'You fool,' shall be guilty enough to go into the fiery hell." (Matthew 5:22).

But there is a better way. Jesus demonstrated it by his life and in his death choosing to bless rather than to curse those who attacked him. The Apostle Paul explained it like this:

"Do nothing from selfishness or empty conceit, but with humility of mind let each of you regard one another as more important than himself. Do not merely look out for your own personal interests, but also for the interests of others. Have this attitude in yourselves that was also in Christ Jesus." (Philippians 2:3-5).

"Therefore laying aside falsehood, speak truth each one of you with his neighbor. ... Let no unwholesome word proceed from your mouth, but only such a word as is good for edification according to the need of the moment, so that it will give grace to those who hear. ... Let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and slander be put away from you, along with all malice. Be kind to one another, tenderhearted, forgiving, just as God in Christ has also forgiven you." (Ephesians 4:25-32).

We can do little to change what public figures may say or what is reported in the news. But we can change the conversation. At work, at home and school. When conversations become acerbic we can change the tone. We can refuse to respond in kind. We can reduce the rhetoric. "A soothing tongue is a tree of life." (Proverbs 15:4).

First Baptist Church

"And whatever you do, whether in word or deed, do it all in the name of the Lord Jesus, giving thanks to God the Father through Him." Colossians 3:17

The people of FBC invite you to worship the LORD Most High, Jehovah-Elyon, with them Sunday at 10:50 am. Music Minister Alan Schantz, will lead worshippers in a blend of classic Christian hymns, and contemporary praise and worship songs. Pastor Mark Lindsey will deliver the sermon titled "Salt and Light." Drawn from Matthew 5:13-16, this week's morning message will focus on Jesus' declaration to believers that they "are salt of the earth." Listeners will contemplate this provocative comparison to an essential element which is vital to human life, while examining Christ's expectation that His followers are to be a purifying influence in a sin-rotting world, and believers' lives should provoke thirst in others for a personal relationship with Jesus Christ. If you have mobility issues use the west circle drive, and someone will be glad to assist you inside and park your vehicle. If unable to attend, you may join the service through the live stream on the church website at: fcbigspring.org. (Click on 'MORE' tab, then 'SERMONS')

At 9:30 Sunday School groups meet throughout the building with children gathering in the Good News Garage on the first floor, and teens, college students, and adults meeting in second floor classrooms.

Say Sorry

By Dr. Lillian Bohannon

I remember when I was in Sixth Grade, I was assigned the "new" girl to show around the school and be her friend for her first day. After that day all the girls were egging us on to fight each other. We were about the same size, but neither of us wanted to fight. The girls finally trapped us both in the bathroom and told us to fight. I stood my ground and wouldn't budge. She, on the other hand, wanted them to leave us alone, so she came at me with both fists flying. I grabbed her wrists, shoved her against the wall, and as I did, her heel hit the wall, and she crumpled to her knees sobbing. I was so devastated that I had hurt her.

Naturally all the girls proclaimed me the winner. And when the teacher, Mr. Little, got wind of it, he brought us both up and asked us what happened. Silly me, I told him the whole truth. All the girls got an F in deportment except the new girl and me. I became very unpopular at that time.

Six weeks later "Ginny" called to ask if I could come to a sleepover as her way of saying sorry. I told my mom I couldn't believe we could be friends. She is still in contact with me on Facebook.

As a side note to our "fight," my older sister would hold me by my wrists so I couldn't hit her, and that's where I learned that trick. And "Ginny" had sprained her ankle the day before, and that's why she crumpled in pain when she hit it on the wall

It's amazing what, "Say Sorry," can do. If it's said in sincerity it can bond people together in a friendship that will last a lifetime. We tell little children to say, "Sorry," all the time. If it becomes a habit in life, it leads to a lot of neat things.

Humbleness in the heart of a child leads to humbleness in the heart of an adult. Training our children in the way they should go, leads to a really good way to live. God's Word tells us that "they shall not depart from it."

It also can lead to a life of finding the Saviour and His forgiveness when we break His heart by our wrongs we commit every day. A life lived, saying "sorry" to our Creator will keep us living life to His fullness of joy. He said if we seek Him with our whole heart, and call upon the Name that is above every name, Jesus, we would be saved for all eternity.

So if you know Him as Saviour, walk with Him in sincerity and truth, and tell others about Him. If you don't know Him, Sincerely tell Him you're sorry, then walk with Him wherever He leads. He guarantees you a life abundant and eternal.

License To Sin?

Romans 3:8 "And not rather, (as we be slanderously reported, and as some affirm that we say,) Let us do evil, that good may come? whose damnation is just."

The last time I checked, everyone was doing an amazingly good job at sinning without permission. Every time we sin, we do so without a license and humans don't require the assistance of the grace of God to sin. If I wanted to sin freely, I would never hang around God, I would run as fast and far from Him as I could.

I don't want grace as a license to sin, I want grace because I sin way too much. I don't want the grace of God so I can sin without restraint. I want it because, as a dumb sheep, it affords me the ability to follow my Good Shepherd's voice.

TOM SLOAN

So, how does one preach the marvelously scandalous grace of God without it sounding like a license to sin? You don't, because you can't. Someone has said that if our preaching of grace doesn't sound like a license to sin, then we have not truly preached the gospel.

Christ died for sinners, and I have never met a lost man or woman, who upon hearing the gospel of the grace of God for the first time, have accused it of being a license to sin. But sadly, I have met many a religiously clean person who happily labels God's unconditional grace as nothing more than heresy. Look, God only offers His grace to those who are not confused about their need.

So, while the awesomely redeeming grace of God may sound horribly dangerous to certain folks, it is the best and safest news this sinner has ever heard.

Are you in need of this grace?

Word of God moves Texas ministry, and so will I-35 project

By MIKE COPELAND

Waco Tribune-Herald

WACO, Texas (AP) — Jimmy Dorrell, wearing a baseball cap, T-shirt and tennis shoes, preaches to a crowd of self-proclaimed trolls most Sunday mornings. His words are sometimes muffled by emergency sirens, blaring horns or the roar of big rigs passing overhead.

Welcome to Church Under The Bridge, which is undergoing a "beautification project," Dorrell said with a laugh. "The Texas Department of Transportation is remodeling our place at no charge to us. You can't beat that."

TxDOT's $300 million plan to widen Interstate 35 to four lanes in both directions between North Loop 340 and 12th Street in Waco means the home of Church Under The Bridge for almost 26 years, the underpass at I-35 and Fourth and Fifth streets, will be unusable for the next few years after work starts.

Dorrell has not chosen a temporary home but has a few options under consideration.

Attendance fluctuates between 200 and 300 most Sundays, depending on the weather and whether Baylor University is in session. Though membership has evolved over the years, the focus has remained on the marginalized who may feel unwelcome elsewhere. Rain or shine, in triple-digit heat or freezing temperatures, services carry on.

But a project as massive as widening I-35 is another matter.

The highway department is requiring the church to relocate during construction but has not prohibited it from returning when work is done in three to five years, TxDOT spokeswoman Jodi Wheatley said.

TxDOT has tried to keep Dorrell in the loop during every phase of the planning process, just as it has with nearby businesses, restaurants and property owners who may face challenges as the project unfolds, Wheatley said.

"They have been incredibly kind and fair in their dealings with us, which some might consider an anomaly since we are squatters," Dorrell told the Waco Tribune-Herald. "We've been invited to meetings three or four years, were told the site must be 'shovel ready' when the money is available. About five months ago, we were told they were moving forward and likely would begin work in March 2019."

Wheatley said TxDOT appreciates Dorrell's cooperation.

"This is going to be a seven-day-a-week project, with no rest on Sunday," she said. "They must move and they know it. That's not going to be a safe place to hold meetings once work begins. That big bridge is coming down, and when it does, it is going to stay down quite a long time."

Wheatley said TxDOT does not necessarily consider the church a nuisance.

"Holding services under a bridge is not something we encourage, but they've been meeting there for years, so we accept it," she said.

Dorrell said the church takes pride in keeping the area clean, "better than when we found it," which can prove challenging as churches and nonprofits statewide serve meals to congregants every Sunday. Still, attendees and volunteers tackle litter with a vengeance.

Waco businessman Mack Hardin, co-owner of Brazos Parking, an eight-acre site across Martin Luther King Jr. Boulevard from McLane Stadium, said he has offered Dorrell use of the site during I-35 construction.

"We might get in trouble with God if we're not nice to Jimmy Dorrell," Hardin said with a laugh. "Jimmy said he was walking around, looking for a place, and maybe God led him to this one. Anyway, there is no one I respect more than Jimmy. He ministers to people who might be asked to scoot over if I were to bring them to church. They are the kind of people Jesus hung around with."

Hardin said the site accommodates 133 tailgaters, 350 vehicles, 12 corporate users and 31 RV spaces on Baylor game days.

"We have owned that property many years and felt fortunate and blessed when Baylor built a stadium right across the street from us," he said. "We want to be a blessing to others, and that includes Jimmy and his ministry."

Dorrell said he appreciates the gesture and is giving the site consideration.

"The only challenge is that it might be a half-mile to a third-mile farther than other sites I've looked at, including a place behind the Texas Ranger Museum and another next to Clifton Parks Robinson Tower," at University Parks Drive and Interstate 35, he said. "I have a call in to Baylor about availability."

Dorrell said congregants who walk or ride bicycles to services might have second thoughts about a longer trek to Church Under The Bridge.

Wheatley said TxDOT has vowed to maintain access to downtown and to Baylor during construction, even to the point of asking city and community leaders to pinpoint dates of special events when it is critical to keep traffic flowing.

"Long term, I think Church Under The Bridge and other land users at that intersection will appreciate the changes," Wheatley said. "There will be more traffic control to make travel safer for pedestrians and bicyclists, including pedestrian push-buttons. There will be decorative lighting and lighting underneath the bridge, so you won't feel like you're walking into darkness."

As for Dorrell, he hopes to make the best of the situation.

"We just want to thank Texas drivers for building us a new home," he said with a laugh. "We don't have any trouble with church-state issues."

Coahoma christens their newly renovated field against Ozona

Coahoma ballcarrier twisted to the ground Thursday evening as the Coahoma varsity Bulldogs hosted the Ozona Lions in a scrimmage and first quarter live play Thursday in Coahoma. The Bulldogs will open the season next week when they take on Forsan in the much anticipated Howard County Bowl.

Special to the Herald

Coahoma High School Head Football Coach Chris Joslin seems encouraged by how his players are performing on the field.

The Bulldogs participated in a scrimmage and live first quarter match against the Ozona Lions Thursday night on the newly renovated Coahoma football field. The team looked energetic and confident as they flew around the field making plays. The Bulldogs played physical and with an intensity on that stood out on both sides of the ball.

"The first thing I think they are doing is they are playing extremely hard," Joslin said after the game. "We made mistakes, and we are going to make mistakes each week, but if we play hard we are going to overcome that. The thing about this group is they've all bought in and once they bought in, they all started playing real hard, and if they buy into their role then the sky's the limit for these guys."

The Bulldogs will officially open the season Thursday, Aug. 30, by taking on the Forsan Buffaloes in the Howard County Bowl. The game between the two Howard County schools will take place at 7:30 p.m. at Memorial Stadium located on the Howard College campus, 1001 Birdwell Lane, in Big Spring.

"We are going to treat it like a big game because in the end we want to be in the playoffs and this is going to be a playoff atmosphere," Joslin said. "If we want to do things that we talk about, we need to be in that atmosphere. We totally respect those guys (Forsan) over there because they are well coached. So it's going to be a fight."

Cowboys move on at center with ill Frederick on their mind

By SCHUYLER DIXON

AP Pro Football Writer

FRISCO, Texas — A year ago, Dallas Cowboys offensive lineman Joe Looney grabbed the spotlight during training camp as the prankster who took the field in star running back Ezekiel Elliott's jersey, his cover blown by the gut sticking out under No. 21.

Now that Looney has become the starting center under the serious circumstances of Travis Frederick's battle against a rare neurological disorder, the career backup plans to keep his sense of humor.

"Things are still the same," Looney said Thursday, almost exactly a year after a similar throng of reporters surrounded his locker to discuss his antics in practice at team headquarters.

"Football is a game. And I'm going to come out here and have fun every day doing it. Sometimes it's not going to be perfect. But at the end of the day, this is a game and I've got to enjoy it."

Looney and the rest of the Cowboys will have Frederick on their mind as they prepare to start the regular season. The 27-year-old Frederick will likely miss the visit to Carolina on Sept. 9 and any number of games after that.

The Cowboys simply don't know how long Frederick will be out as he undergoes treatment for Guillain-Barre Syndrome, an auto-immune condition that causes the body to attack a network of nerves around the brain and spinal cord.

Weakness is one of the primary symptoms, in some cases signaled by burning sensations similar to what football players call "stingers," usually injuries around the neck. That's what Frederick was describing to the team when the Cowboys were still in California for training camp.

Frederick was cleared by a specialist in the Los Angeles area over concerns about his neck. But symptoms persisted after the Cowboys returned to Texas. He got the diagnosis this week and was in his third day of treatment Thursday.

The 2016 All-Pro said in a statement issued by the team that treatment will continue for several days. And while Frederick and his teammates are optimistic he will return soon, nobody can say when.

Most people recover from even the most severe cases of the disease, but some will continue to have some degree of weakness, according to the National Institute for Neurological Disorders and Stroke.

Level: Advanced

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. Each number can appear only once in each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Test your play

1. You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the K-Q of clubs, which you duck, and then the jack, on which South shows out. How would you play the hand?

- |             |             |
|-------------|-------------|
| WEST | EAST |
| ♠ K J 10 5  | ♠ Q 8 2     |
| ♥ A K 8     | ♥ Q 6 5 4   |
| ♦ A Q       | ♦ J 7 4 3   |
| ♣ A 9 4 2   | ♣ 8 6       |

2. You are declarer with the West hand at Four Hearts, and North leads the five of hearts. You win South's nine and return a high heart. North takes the ace and returns the heart eight, which you win, South having discarded two diamonds. How would you play the hand?

- |                |              |
|----------------|--------------|
| WEST    | EAST  |
| ♠ K 10         | ♠ J 7 5      |
| ♥ K Q J 10 4 3 | ♥ 7 6 2      |
| ♦ K 6          | ♦ A 4        |
| ♣ J 8 6        | ♣ A K 10 9 3 |

1. If North has the ace of spades, you cannot make the contract, so you must assume South has the ace.

However, it would be wrong to lead a spade at this point because South would win and most likely return a diamond. You would then be faced with the critical decision of whether to take the diamond finesse or rely on a 3-3 heart break instead — and you would have no way of knowing which to do.

You can avoid this dilemma by first cashing the A-K-Q of hearts. If the suit divides 3-3, you cash the fourth heart and then force out the ace of spades to assure nine tricks. If the hearts turn out to be divided 4-2, you can then fall back on the diamond finesse to try to make the contract.

By testing the hearts before attacking spades, you give yourself two chances to succeed instead of just one.

2. There is a possibility of scoring the rest of the tricks by taking a club finesse, but there is also the possibility of going down if the finesse loses to the queen and South returns a spade, putting you in position to lose two spade tricks.

However, you can guarantee the contract against any lie of the cards by crossing to dummy with a diamond and leading a low spade toward your hand. Let's assume South follows low and you lose the ten to the queen.

This is no great hardship because whatever North returns, you win and next concede the king of spades to the ace, establishing dummy's jack as a trick on which you can discard a club. The most you can lose on this line of play is a heart and two spades.

Tomorrow: The telltale heart.

Tomorrow's Horoscope

Early Virgo Sun

By HOLIDAY MATHIS

These early days of the Virgo sun favor improvement. It all starts with what we give our attention to. It has more to do with where we are and our role in it than it does with any kind of internal fortitude. To control where our attention flows, we need to change the environment. It's far easier than willing ourselves to behave differently than we naturally do.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). The sight of your loved one has a completeness that cannot be matched by the sight of any other person in the world. Do not doubt the power of recognition. It's a force that can bring the world alive.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Sometimes it's better to experience things silently than to articulate them. Also, don't be too quick to put a name on things today. Things may be what you call them, but they are also more and other than that.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). It is easy to see the goal at the end of a short vision. You've already pondered the big picture enough this week. In other words, keep it simple. Clarity of vision will depend on brevity of mission.

CANCER (June 22-July 22). Keeping love interesting will pretty straightforward. Common interests are at the heart of it. But don't stop with just one. Always be searching for and creating new common ground.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22). While some people seem to be born with confidence, it is far more likely that confidence is earned through the combination of failure and the resilience and fortitude to keep at it.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Oddly, it will be easier to give your unconditional love and acceptance to someone you don't know very well than to the people you absolutely adore. It is almost impossible to extract your expectations from the love you give.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). Finish what you started. It's partially about pride and being true to your word. The other part of you just realizes that if you don't finish, you can't move on. And it's really time for that.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You'll get more accomplished because you let go and realize the importance of the task is relative and temporal. The best results will come from a relaxed place.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). Life can be complicated and moods can be difficult to manage, but not today. You've made your mind up to be happy and the rest of you will carry out with the directive.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). Behaviors continue until there's a reason they can't anymore. It's an excellent day for setting boundaries. It will solve problems, and what you decide will stick.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). The excitement mounts toward a special event. The work you do today will make it all the more special. Also, you will be commended for planning ahead instead of leaving it all until the last minute.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). Your direction may not be so sure, but you'll get a better idea as you go. So don't wait to be certain about the destination. It will reveal itself to you in the perfect time.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Aug. 24). This is among your most spontaneous and eventful years because you don't overthink the good luck. You jump in, and enjoy the carnival ride. There's something to settle in September before you can move forward in the relationship. You'll make more than two key deals before 2019 that set you up for a lucrative year. Libra and Leo adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 9, 20, 45, 33 and 17.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: Someone special picks up on your energy as you walk by. TAURUS: "No drama" is your rule and you'll stick to it, passing up chances to get involved in what is sure to be a downward spiral. GEMINI: You are attractive and in demand, which makes you slow to add new people to your world. You're holding out for someone very special. CANCER: You can appreciate casual interest, but intensity might scare you off. LEO: A person you admire will notice wonderful things in you that you didn't even know were there. VIRGO: The other person wants love and companionship as much as you do, but has a funny way of showing it. LIBRA: Attractions will arise out of unlikely scenarios and could even start out with some kind of argument. SCORPIO: Fun people have an advantage with you. SAGITTARIUS: Your secret is safe with no one; don't tell it. CAPRICORN: Loved ones would travel to be with you. Do you want that? If so, make it known. AQUARIUS: Do not underestimate the! power of eye contact and face-to-face interaction. PISCES: The cutest things in life -- that's what will bring you and a new person together.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: Where the water meets the shore, things change. Slowly, over time, the waves can take cliffs down to fine sand. This is the gentle manner in which the water sign Pisces influences the earth sign Virgo -- lovingly, almost subliminally leading Virgo to a dreamy world. Virgo gives Pisces assurance and stability. The full moon in Pisces will reflect the lovely Virgo sun, bringing together these zodiac opposites.

GOLF

PARAMUS, N.J. (AP) — Tiger Woods failed to carry any momentum he had from his last tournament into the start of the FedEx Cup playoffs. Neither did Sean O'Hair. That was only good news for one of them in The Northern Trust.

O'Hair missed the cut last week and saw his FedEx Cup standing slip to No. 121, meaning he has to play well this week or his season is over. O'Hair shot a 5-under 66, giving him a share of the lead with Kevin Tway, Jamie Lovemark and Vaughn Taylor.

Woods, playing for the first time since his runner-up finish at the PGA Championship, had a 71. He was five shots behind and in a tie for 60th.

REGINA, Saskatchewan (AP) — Ariya Jutanugarn birdied five of her last eight holes for an 8-under 64 and a share of the CP Women's Open lead at rain-softened Wascana Country Club. Nasa Hataoka and Mariajo Uribe joined the second-ranked Jutanugarn atop the leaderboard, with Canadian star Brooke Henderson and three-time champion Lydia Ko two strokes back.

VYSOKY UJEZD, Czech Republic (AP) — John Daly matched the course record with an 8-under 64 for a share of the first-round lead in the Czech Masters at Albatross Golf Resort. The 52-year-old Daly was tied with European Ryder Cup hopeful Thomas Pieters of Belgium, Callum Tarren of England and Gavin Green of Malaysia.

TENNIS

NEW YORK (AP) — Serena and Venus Williams could be headed toward their earliest Grand Slam meeting in 20 years, facing a potential third-round matchup at the U.S. Open.

If the sisters do play each other, the winner might face No. 1-ranked Simona Halep in the fourth round.

That section of the women's draw, and a possible Roger Federer-Novak Djokovic quarterfinal showdown in the men's, provided the most intrigue when the brackets were revealed for the last major of the year.

This marks Serena's return to Flushing Meadows after missing the hard-court tournament in 2017 — she gave birth to her daughter last Sept. 1.

The 36-year-old American has won six of her 23 Grand Slam titles at the U.S. Open and was given the No. 17 seed by the U.S. Tennis Association — nine places above her current ranking.

Venus, who won five of her seven Grand Slam singles trophies in New York, is ranked and seeded 16th. She faces a tricky first-round match against Svetlana Kuznetsova, whose two major championships include the 2004 U.S. Open.

Kuznetsova was given a wild-card entry for the tournament, where main-draw play begins Monday.

GYMNASTICS

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — A former head coach of Michigan State's gymnastics team was charged with lying to an investigator when she denied that witnesses told her years ago about being sexually assaulted by ex-sports doctor Larry Nassar.

A charging document does not specify how many witnesses allegedly reported Nassar to Kathie Ann Klages, or when they did so. But former gymnast Larissa Boyce has said she told Klages of Nassar's abuse in 1997, when Boyce was 16 — 19 years before he was first criminally charged with sexual abuse.

Klages, who resigned in 2017 after she was suspended for defending the now-imprisoned Nassar, is now the third person other than Nassar to face criminal charges related to his serial molestation of young female athletes under the guise of treatment. Numerous other people have lost their jobs or been sued.

If convicted of lying to a peace officer, the 63-year-old Klages could face up to four years in prison.

PRO BASKETBALL

FORT YATES, N.D. (AP) — Boston Celtics star Kyrie Irving and his older sister were officially welcomed into their mother's Standing Rock Sioux tribe.

The All-Star guard and his sister, model Asia Irving, visited the tribe's reservation that straddles the North Dakota-South Dakota border and took part in a ceremony recognizing their tribal heritage and support for the tribe's long battle against the Dakota Access oil pipeline.

In front of a packed auditorium, they were honored with Lakota names during a ritual that tribal spokeswoman Danielle Finn said "is a very special rite of passage for a Lakota person." While standing on a bison pelt, the siblings were smudged with sacred grasses, presented with traditional quilts and eagle feathers, and given names associated with their White Mountain family.

Kyrie Irving's Lakota name, Hela, means "Little Mountain." Asia Irving's name, Tatanka Winyan, means "Buffalo Woman."

BASEBALL

CHICAGO (AP) — White Sox rookie pitcher Michael Kopech apologized for racist and homophobic tweets he posted as 17-year-old and has since deleted. The tweets from 2013 surfaced Tuesday as Kopech made his major league debut.

PRO FOOTBALL

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — Gil Brandt and Pat Bowlen have been nominated for the Pro Football Hall of Fame as contributors to the game.

Currently a consultant to the NFL and one of the key figures in the staging of the draft, Brandt was one of the key contributors to the building of the Dallas Cowboys. As vice president of player personnel from 1960-89, Brandt helped Dallas grow into one of the most powerful and popular sports franchises in America.

Bowlen, the longtime owner of the Denver Broncos, is the only owner in NFL history with 300 overall victories during his first 30 seasons. Under his leadership, the Broncos had a sensational run of success, winning three Super Bowls and seven conference titles.

ALLEN PARK, Mich. (AP) — The Detroit Lions bolstered their depth at linebacker by acquiring Eli Harold in a trade with San Francisco. Detroit gave the 49ers a draft pick, which was not disclosed.

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Pro Bowl kicker Chris Boswell and the Steelers agreed to a five-year contract that runs through the 2022 season.

Pittsburgh also signed inside linebacker Vince Williams to a four-year deal that will run through the 2021 season. Williams had a career-high eight sacks in 2017.

WOMEN'S BASKETBALL

UNCASVILLE, Conn. (AP) — Brittney Griner and Diana Taurasi each scored 27 points to help the Phoenix Mercury beat the Connecticut Sun 96-86 in the second round of the WNBA playoffs. Taurasi improved to 13-0 in deciding playoff games. The Mercury will face Seattle in the conference semifinals, starting Sunday.

WASHINGTON (AP) — Elena Delle Donne had 19 points and 12 rebounds as the Washington Mystics routed the Los Angeles Sparks 96-64 in the second round of the WNBA playoffs.

Los Angeles and Minnesota — the past three WNBA champions — have both been eliminated from the postseason. Washington will open a best-of-five series against Atlanta on Sunday, aiming for its first WNBA Finals appearance.

COWBOYS

Former NFL lineman Mark Schlereth missed the second half of the 1993 season with Washington because of Guillain-Barre and wrote on Twitter that he didn't fully regain his strength for a year. But Schlereth played until 2000 and won two Super Bowls with Denver after the diagnosis.

"It's tough," said 2014 All-Pro guard Zack Martin, one of Frederick's best friends on the team. "During training camp, he really didn't know what was going on. He was kind of telling us how he was feeling. It's tough that he didn't know until a couple of days ago."

Owner Jerry Jones said he was relieved to get the diagnosis but deflected several questions about the severity of the illness, which likely will determine how long Frederick is out. Frederick said he was encouraged by doctors telling him they thought they caught the disease early.

In retrospect, there was a telling moment early in camp in California when Frederick was uncharacteristically pushed back several feet right after the snap by defensive tackle Antwaun Woods in one-on-one drills. A frustrated Frederick shoved Woods, causing a brief scuffle.

"It's amazing to me that he's been out here going through two-a-days and creating half the fights because he probably wasn't satisfied within himself how he was responding (as) I look back on it," Jones said. "But that's Frederick."

Jones didn't want to discuss the idea of adding another center, although the Cowboys did sign undrafted rookie Jacob Ohnesorge this week.

"I haven't and I don't have a plan as to how we'll work through this relative to the position on the team," Jones said.

Martin, the right guard, has taken snaps at center occasionally since joining Dallas but is still viewed as an emergency option. He will miss the rest of the preseason but expects to be ready for the opener after hyperextending his left knee in the exhibition loss to Cincinnati last weekend.

Looney, who turns 28 next week, has started 13 of 59 games in six years. He has played all 32 games in two seasons with the Cowboys, with three starts. Looney started a career-best six games in his only season with Tennessee in 2015.

"Joe's played more football with the ones this year than he ever has," coach Jason Garrett said. "I think we're playing better in combination because of the reps he's gotten. He's a veteran. He's poised. He's composed. He's smart. I think he's fit in really well."

The 315-pound Looney didn't fit into Elliott's jersey very well. The increased importance of his role — replacing a four-time Pro Bowl player who hasn't missed a game in five seasons — doesn't mean Looney has stopped thinking about his next gag.

"You've got to be the same person every day," he said. "It's unfortunate what's going on right now. We're praying for Travis and wish nothing but the best for him. I'm definitely going to crack some jokes when I see him."

The Cowboys can use the humor right now.
