BSISD board recognizes Goliad, Washington faculty for performance score improvement

Members of the Goliad Elementary and Washington Elementary faculties were honored at Thursday's Big Spring Independent School District board meeting for their role in improving student performance and lifting their respective campuses out of the Texas Education Agency's "Improvement Required" status during the 2017-2018 school year. The two schools had languished on the "IR" list for six years, and would have been subject to TEA takeover had they remained on the list last year.

The Big Spring Independent School District Board of Trustees honored faculty members from two of the district's elementary schools at its meeting Thursday afternoon.

Teachers from Goliad and Washington elementary schools were invited to the meeting, held in the board room at Big Spring High School, to be recognized for their role in improving student performance results in the 2017-2018 school year, boosting the two schools out of "Improvement Required" status levied by the Texas Education Agency. Both schools had been on the "IR" list for six years; and, had scores remained low last year, they would have been subject to TEA takeover or other consequences.

"I felt like all those staff members at Goliad and Washington needed to be recognized in front of the school board for their outstanding accomplishments last school year," said BSISD Superintendent Jay McWilliams. "Those accomplishments led to both Washington and Goliad coming out of IR status. They've been IR for six years. They were under pressure. We were all under pressure from TEA."

Everyone knew that, if either one of those schools or both had not met standards, TEA would have been involved with our school district. So I am so excited and so proud of those people who put in the time and the effort to make sure that our schools came out of IR, and did a great job for our kids."

In other business, the school board accepted donations from two groups.

In other business, the school board accepted donations from SM Energy and Big Spring's First Christian Church.

For the past couple of years, SM Energy has been a supporter of robotics programs in Big Spring schools. At the meeting, the company presented BSISD with a check for $10,000 to help expand the robotics program into fifth and sixth grade classes at Big Spring Intermediate School.

Following the presentation from SM Energy, members of First Christian Church donated $4,000 to the district to help provide supplementary food for students involved in school or extracurricular activities.

The school board also:

- Heard a report from Howard County Elections Administrator Jodi Duck regarding planned changes to local elections procedures, including the establishment of voting centers which would do away with assigned precinct voting locations and allow voters to cast ballots at any of four centers county-wide; and new electronic voting machines being put in place that will also print a paper ballot as a failsafe measure;

- Approved expedited and general staff waivers;

- Approved an adjunct faculty agreement with Texas A&M AgriLife Extension Service;

- Discussed and approved a corrective action plan for the district's results on the Performance-Based Monitoring Analysis System (PBMAS) with regards to TEA's monitoring visit to the district;

- Held a closed executive session discussion on IT Director Corey Wood's employment contract.

helping deaf and hard-of-hearing students. A few of the planned events are still waiting on the official "ok" before they can confirm the rest of the events.

"Its a very busy time of year, and the staff and I are working hard to make sure all of these events go as planned. We are still waiting to hear back about a few of the activities we are planning," Assistant to Administrative Dean and interpreter, Shannon Creswell said.

Although not all of the details have been released on some of the activities, Shannon Creswell did explain a bit about the American Sign Language (ASL)/Deaf Night Out at Starbucks on September 27. From 6 to 8 p.m.

"Folks are more than welcome to come out. There is typically a lot of hearing impaired there that can teach a bit of sign language and help you understand a little more about their culture. SWCID Alumnus, and Starbucks Barista Heather Trojan will be our barista for the night. It is going to be a wonderful opportunity to meet some really great people and enjoy drinks at Starbucks," Creswell said.

With approximately 1 million deaf people across all age groups and people continuing to struggle, SWCID is a very important and special school that keeps doing a job that isn't found in many locations around the world, which is what makes these events so important.

"This event is nationwide, although it is something that takes place on different weeks in different areas, it is something that a lot of people really put a ton of effort in when it comes to raising awareness," Creswell added.

For more information on SWCID's Deaf Awareness Week celebration, please contact the school at 432-264-3700.

to the American Cancer Society," said Julie Alvarez. "We had a really good turn in for previous events that help bring the community together while raising donations. It would be a blessing for an even better turnout to benefit those in the Cancer Society."

Alvarez has been apart of The Relay For Life Team for over ten years. Alvarez and her two co-captains, Jessica DeLosSantos and Andrea Galvan, work together with numerous volunteers to make this event come together and happen.

"Your donations to Relay For Life help the American Cancer Society fund groundbreaking cancer research, critical patient care services, education and prevention initiatives, and so much more," said Alvarez. "We encourage the community to get out and see what we have in store. Not only may you find something you love, but it will be helping a bigger cause."

Relay For Life is the signature fundraiser for the American Cancer Society. Relay is staffed and coordinated by volunteers in thousands of communities and 27 countries. Volunteers give of their time and effort because they believe it's time to take action against cancer.

"Join us at these events to bring communities together to remember loved ones lost, honor survivors of all cancers," said Alvarez. "And raise money to help the American Cancer Society make a global impact on cancer."

Reflections: Handling Rejection

Everyone has felt rejection. For many it is first encountered on the playground. Children choosing their friends or choosing teams until one remains, unchosen, unwanted, rejected. We discover life can be like musical chairs. When the music stops there is no place to sit. All the included places are taken.

Sometimes it comes with our first applications for college. For a few, colleges and universities line up with scholarships and offers, but most must deal with rejection. Most of us have known the uncertainty of a job search. The series of rejections from interviews can be devastating to our ego. Forced into a situation where self-confidence is essential, we become anything but.

Door-to-door salesmen are familiar with rejection. It is part of the job. So are politicians and would be writers. How many ways can we be turned down and rejected?

Perhaps most devastating of all is a rejection by those who are close to us. The rejection of a mother or father, son or daughter, or spouse. These can cause wounds that last a lifetime.

It might help to realize we have company. When we are rejected we are not alone.

When Herman Melville wrote Moby Dick, his work was turned down by multiple publishers. It was finally accepted by Bently & Son who asked, "Does it have to be a whale?" Nevertheless they published the classic on the condition that Melville pay for the typesetting and plating himself. When 25-year-old Hemmingway wrote The Sun also Rises one publisher responded, "I find your work both tedious and offensive."

Joseph was rejection by his brothers and sold into slavery in Egypt. Paul was rejected often, stoned and left for dead, driven from city to city and imprisoned. Jesus' own brothers refused to believe in Him and His closest disciples abandoned Him. He was "despised and rejected, a man of sorrows and acquainted with grief." (Isaiah 53:3).

BILL TINSLEY

But, when we experience rejection by family, friend or the world, we can rest knowing that there is One who will not abandon us. "Can a woman forget her nursing child, and have no compassion on the son of her womb? Even these may forget, but I will not forget you. Behold I have inscribed you on the palms of my hands." (Isaiah 49:15-16).

Jesus constantly included those who were rejected: the Samaritan woman, Zacchaeus, the blind beggar, the woman caught in the act of adultery, lepers and the Gadarene demoniac. Though others might reject you, Jesus will by no means turn you away. If we come to Him in simple faith and confession, He will receive us.

We can say with the Apostle Paul, "Having predestinated us unto the adoption of children by Jesus Christ to himself, according to the good pleasure of his will, to the praise of the glory of his grace, wherein he hath made us accepted in the beloved." (Ephesians 1:5-6)

Bill Tinsley reflects on current events and life experience from a faith perspective. This week's column is written in response to a reader's request. To suggest a subject email bill@tinsley-center.com.

And It Happened This Way

By DR. LILLIAN BOHANNAN

I remember as a child of nine years old, lying in bed beside my older sister on the front screened in porch in the late summer. We had just gone to bed, and in my mind's eye, I could see Jesus, God, and the universe all in one thought. I knew they had something to do with each other. I wasn't sure what, and my nine-year old mind couldn't understand it all. I was frightened and started crying.

My sister asked me, "Why are you crying?"

I told her what had happened. She said, "You just got saved." Well, I didn't have any idea what she was talking about as she hurried me into Mom's room and declared I had just gotten saved. Mom was really excited because she thought my sister had just led me to the Lord.

I went along with everything they said and even told the pastor of our little church. He asked me if I believed in Jesus, if I knew He died for me, and did I want to be baptized. Of course I said yes.

At twelve I was baptized and spent most of my days down at the church. I went to Sunday School, Training Union, three church services every week, vacation Bible school, and every revival that came to town.

When I was 17, I went to a Christian College in Southern California, Minored in Bible, and majored in Social Work. I even married a preacher boy. So I was very saturated with God's people and church.

I tell you all this to let you know, none of this was going to get me to Heaven.

When I was twenty-four, that was fifty years ago, in January 1969, I was the social chairman of our women's group at church. I had asked a young man from my college to speak on the Christian coffee houses he ran in our town.

He came that night and I heard nothing about the coffee houses. His first question was all I could think about. "Are you 100% sure you are going to Heaven when you die?"

The more I thought about that question, the more unsure I was. I just couldn't get it out of my mind. So after the meeting I went back to my apartment, got down on my knees, and told God, "If I am not a Christian, please make me one, right now."

That night I became very sure that "...Christ died for our sins according to the scriptures: and that he was buried, and that he rose again the third day according to the scriptures:..." (I Corinthians 15) I became 100% sure I am going to Heaven when I die.

When I asked my pastor to baptize me the next Sunday morning, he almost refused to believe I had just gotten saved because I was a great fake. I lived for church. And he tried to talk me out of being baptized, thinking I was a little bit crazy.

Now my life is meant to live for Jesus, in the best possible way. He is my Help, because there is no other. Try Him you might just like it as much as I do! Maybe even more!!! Remember, "...every knee shall bow, and every tongue confess that Jesus Christ is Lord." (Philippians 2:9-11)

GOD'S DESIGN FOR MARRIAGE

How do you determine whether something is genuine or fake? Do you have to discover and learn every detail of every fake item in order to figure out if one thing is real or fake? You may have heard or read the illustration of this principle. A Treasury Department counterfeit specialist was asked how she was able so quickly to identify a fake bill. Her reply was not that she had spent so many countless hours studying every known counterfeit but, that she and her coworkers had studied what real, paper currency was like in every detail so that, when presented with a fake piece of money, they quickly knew it was not genuine.

When it comes to false teaching, or teaching that is not genuine, you first must have a standard by which you may determine whether something is the real thing or not. The standard for truth that we must look to is the Bible. Even when Jesus' teachings were attacked, he would go back to the Scriptures as the foundation. How well do we know the Bible? Do we know it well enough to be able to identify false teaching when it is presented as truth?

Matthew 19:1-6, Now when Jesus had finished these sayings, he went away from Galilee and entered the region of Judea beyond the Jordan. And large crowds followed him, and he healed them there. And Pharisees came up to him and tested him by asking, "Is it lawful to divorce one's wife for any cause?" He answered, "Have you not read that he who created them from the beginning made them male and female, and said, "Therefore a man shall leave his father and his mother and hold fast to his wife, and the two shall become one flesh"? So they are no longer two but one flesh. "What therefore God has joined together, let no man separate." (ESV)

Jesus didn't use their traditions as the standard. Jesus didn't tell them to follow their hearts and their feelings. Jesus didn't try to reassure them that ultimately God just wanted them to be happy. No, Jesus quoted from the Scriptures, because they were (and still are) the standard by which we must do things. Our first consideration Jesus goes back to the very beginning, to creation itself. According to God's design, marriage should be between one man and one woman. In other words, Biblical marriage is heterosexual.

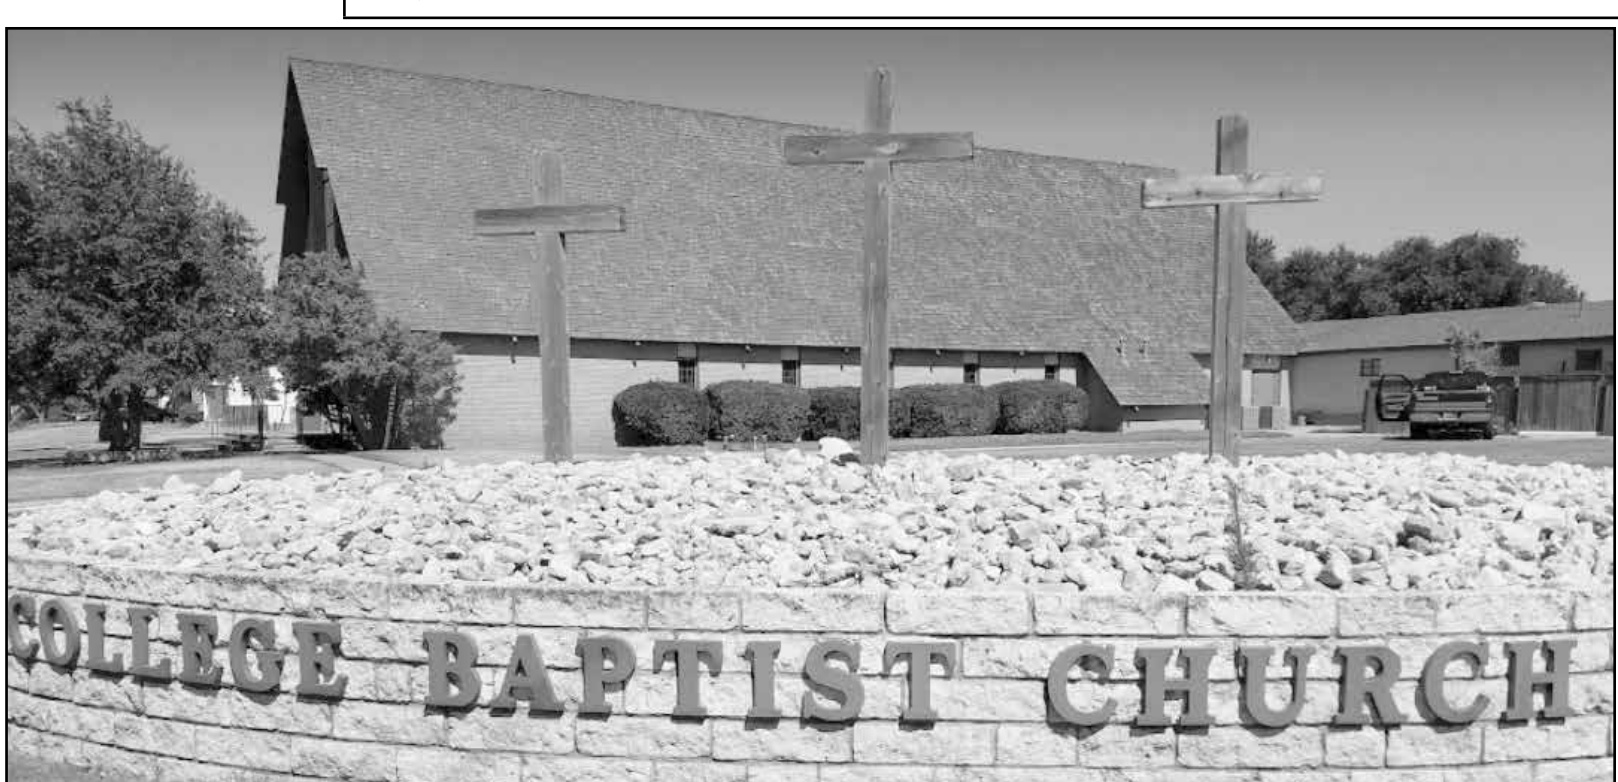

Jesus again quotes from Genesis and explains that marriage is the foundation for the family. This model is then reproduced as a man (being the product of one family) comes of age and leaves that home while a woman (being the product of another family) comes of age and leaves her family, and they are joined together by a bond which God states is intended to be permanent.

We can sum it up and say that God's design for marriage is one man and one woman for life. Instead of immediately saying, "I don't think that is right," let's remember that God's word is the standard and not what we think or feel.

Chief Of Sinners

1 Timothy 1:15 "This is a faithful saying, and worthy of all acceptance, that Christ Jesus came into the world to save sinners; of whom I am chief."

Someone asked me what I would consider myself to be - a missionary, a conference speaker, a pastor? Yes, I do partake in these religious activities and obligations, but I don't find my identity in them.

Broken, distressed, indebted and discontented - these are the words that would best describe me.

I say these things about myself because purity, faithfulness and obedience are not my forte. I say these things because my identity is God's scandalous, all-encompassing grace. I readily identify with what one pastor says - I'm so fake, I can hardly stand myself. I know, ministers are not supposed to confess intimate stuff about their personal lives.

But let me tell you why I do it.

I do it because I am a beggar telling other beggars where I found bread. I am an intense sinner telling other sinners where I find forgiveness, rest, mercy, grace and peace. I cannot teach you how to be a good spouse to your mate, or a good parent to your child. Neither can I teach you how to stop sinning, be more faithful or loving. What I can tell you is this - Christ receiveth sinful men, even me with all my sin. And if He has received me with all my sin, He can, will and has received you because He said - all those that come to me, I will in no wise cast out.

So yes, while I may occasionally wear the religious robes of missionary, pastor or conference speaker, the truth of the matter is that I am chief of sinners. But He loves me and gave Himself for me.

I will choose God over country faster than you can say treason

By Trent Reed

It seems people are more concerned about a football player kneeling during the national anthem than standing for Biblical truth. It also seems people are more worried about a business decision to use a person who has peacefully protested practices he believes are immoral and unethical than they are about standing for God.

I've seen recent social media posts by friends and family showing disdain for Colin Kaepernick's decision to begin kneeling during the anthem in protest of the oppression of people of color in the United States and ongoing issues with police brutality. Though he sought the approval from many veterans, people despise his protest, which on the national stage has been seen as being disrespectful to the military and the nation. So they protest the NFL and a sports brand.

If we saw aggressive compassion for Jesus rather than a divisive issue, we might worry less about such issues because they most likely would not exist.

How many have made this Nike campaign into a bigger deal than it should be, but say nothing about the Catholic church's sex scandal?

Yet as members of the Catholic church are protesting across the United States, speaking out against sexual abuse by church leadership, crickets chirp on social media. There's an eerie silence, aside from angry posts about Kaepernick kneeling and the occasional Tasty recipe.

"The campaign is pushing for survivor justice, transparency, accountability and civil recourse," according to Washington's Top News regarding the ffered the loss of all things and count them as rubbish, in order that I may gain Christ and be found in him, not having a righteousness of my own that comes from the law, but that which comes through faith in Christ, the righteousness from God that depends on faith - that I may know him and the power of his resurrection, and may share his sufferings, becoming like him in his death." - Philippians 3:8-10.

We should care more about God than we do about one guy upset with social injustice. That does not mean we should not care about righting injustice. It means we should look at the situation the way God does.

No brand, sports star or country should be worshipped as an idol. Remember, God has told us idolry is a sin.

Patriotism is love for one's country and there is nothing wrong with loving your country.

I love the USA and am ecstatic about the freedoms we all share. However, if it comes between God and my country, I'll choose God faster than you can say treason.

It seems people have forgotten we are "one nation under God." They have forgotten that God comes before country.

Local Christian writer creates new study group

Kathleen Maxwell-Rambie wants to help people find a way to bring God into their everyday lives.

It's the first time she has hosted a Bible study since leaving the Christian Women's Job Corps.

"A lot of my former clients asked me when I was going to teach," she said. "It's been in my heart to do, but in 2015, I was praying one morning, and I saw things in my heart that were desires - restoring people's dignity, helping people restore their value - as I was writing in my journal, I stopped and asked what it looked like - a community Bible study."

Since then, Maxwell-Rambie said she's been waiting for the right time and researching how to put a Bible study together.

"I think I teach in a very transparent and simplistic way," she said. Called The Gathering, the Bible study will start on Sept. 18 and will continue for six to eight weeks.

"My heart is to draw people of different denominations together and help them understand we serve a fun-loving God who wants a relationship with us," she said. "It's not about reading 50 scriptures a day or saying 20 prayers - it's a relationship."

The study, which grew out of columns she writes for local papers (including the Kerrville Daily Times), has several goals, including providing practical application of walking with God daily, equipping people to handle life's challenges and encouraging people to understand God's love for them.

"I think people are looking for practical tools, here's a scripture but what does that look like?" she said. Maxwell-Rambie, who has also spoken at conferences and in churches, said she feels called to host the Bible study.

"I want to use the gifts and talents God has given me to reach people and help people," she said. "I love helping people."

So far, 30 people have signed up for the Bible study, which will take place at the Kroc Center chapel.

No 4 Ohio State's last game minus Meyer a test vs No 15 TCU

By STEPHEN HAWKINS

AP Sports Writer

ARLINGTON, Texas — Ohio State has made it through two games fine without Urban Meyer. Now the No. 4 Buckeyes face their toughest test on the last Saturday before their suspended coach can return to the sideline.

No. 15 TCU (2-0) hasn't faced a disruptive defense front by Ohio State. But the Buckeyes (2-0), with their very accurate new starting quarterback Dwayne Haskins, also haven't been challenged the way they will be by coach Gary Patterson's 4-2-5 defense.

"They have all the answers. Any time a defense has been together that long, they have seen so many different things come their way," Buckeyes acting head coach Ryan Day said. "They make quick adjustments. They know exactly how you're trying to attack them."

Four seasons after Ohio State jumped over Big 12 co-champions TCU and Baylor for the fourth and final spot in the inaugural College Football Playoff, the Horned Frogs get their shot against the Buckeyes in the same stadium where Meyer led them to a national title.

There has been a building buzz around the TCU campus, only about 20 minutes from AT&T Stadium, but the Frogs don't need this as any kind of measuring stick.

TCU and Ohio State are among only five teams (Alabama, Clemson and Oklahoma are the others) who have finished in the Top 10 in the final AP poll at least three times in the past four years. The Frogs played in the Big 12 championship game last season.

"Everybody that you know of that's come from this program has put TCU where we are, and I don't think any specific game will let you know that we deserve to be at a certain place," senior center Niko Small said. "I think we've already put the tradition in and everybody knows that TCU is going to play hard regardless of who we're playing."

COLLEGE STATION, Texas — Texas A&M doesn't have a lot of time to worry about its loss to No. 2 Clemson with just one game before the Aggies travel to face top-ranked Alabama.

First, they host Louisiana-Monroe on Saturday with a chance to work on some things before that Sept. 22 trip to with that's gone," coach Jimbo Fisher said. "You can't worry about it. The past's in the past. You learn from it. You move on and you get ready to play Louisiana-Monroe."

The Warhawks, who play in the Sun Belt Conference, enter the game 2-0 after beating Southern Mississippi 21-20 last week. Coach Matt Viator knows his team is facing a huge challenge, and he shared a simple mes-defensive line. We were a little soft in our pass protection. Our quarterbacks, they got people up in their face and they ended up short-arming the ball and consequently throwing bad balls. We have to be firmer up front."

The first opportunity for that comes Saturday against UTSA.

Texas A&M gave the Tigers a scare last week, losing 28-26 in a game that would likely have gone to overtime had Kellen Mond's 2-point conversion attempt with less than a minute left not been intercepted.

UTSA football takes the field last year in the Chick-fil-A bowl.

The Wildcats struggled to use their size and strength to their advantage in a tight-as-piano wire win over South Dakota to open the season. Then, their veteran offensive line and stout defense front were pushed around at home by Mississippi State as if the Bulldogs were simply big bullies from the SEC.

"It's not like we got knocked all over the place," Snyder said, "but we didn't get as much push as I would have liked and movement in their

Texas and USC in early-season fight for survival

By JIM VERTUNO

AP Sports Writer

AUSTIN, Texas — A Southern California-Texas rematch was supposed to be an early-season blockbuster. With both programs struggling, it feels more like a fight for survival, and the pressure is mounting to find a win to keep their seasons from spinning off course.

The No. 22 Trojans (1-1) and Longhorns (1-1) meet Saturday night with both teams facing questions about their quarterbacks and how nervous fans would react to another loss.

There's little reaction about the talent in the Trojans' J.T. Daniels, USC's first true freshman starting quarterback in a decade. It's more about how he handles the team in another pressure cooker in front of a loud crowd that will likely approach 100,000.

Daniels won his debut against UNLV but the offense struggled badly and managed just a field goal in a loss last week at Stanford. Now he faces a Texas defense that harassed and hurried Sam Darnold for most of four quarters last season before the Trojans won in double overtime.

"You just keep playing football," Daniels said. "Just because it hasn't gone good to that point doesn't mean it can't go good at any point. It takes one big play and the whole momentum shifts."

Count Texas defensive coordinator Todd Orlando among those impressed by what he's seen of Daniels so far.

"Some of the balls that he throws are better than Sam Darnold did," Orlando said. "I mean, he throws a ball and it's got a tail of smoke coming off of it. He's going to be a special, special player."

At Texas, the problem has been cleaning up a pattern of mistakes by quarterback Sam Ehlinger — mostly turnovers — that have been costly.

Ehlinger's turnover issues started against USC last season when he had two, including a fumble in the second overtime that doomed the Longhorns in a 27-24 loss, and it would prove to be a season-long problem.

He worked to clean up the mistakes in the offseason, then threw two fourth-quarter interceptions in a season-opening loss to Maryland. He had a second-half fumble against Tulsa in a game Texas led 21-0 and held on to win 28-21. Ehlinger had a stellar fourth quarter against Tulsa, directing a time-chewing drive to the Longhorns' final touchdown.

Second-year Texas coach Tom Herman saw a huge victory slip away in overtime in Southern California last season.

Fun By The Numbers

Like puzzles? Then you'll love sudoku. This mind-bending puzzle will have you hooked from the moment you square off, so sharpen your pencil and put your sudoku savvy to the test!

Here's How It Works:

Sudoku puzzles are formatted as a 9x9 grid, broken down into nine 3x3 boxes. To solve a sudoku, the numbers 1 through 9 must fill each row, column and box. You can figure out the order in which the numbers will appear by using the numeric clues already provided in the boxes. The more numbers you name, the easier it gets to solve the puzzle!

ANSWER:

Contract Bridge

By Steve Becker

Test your play

- You are declarer with the West hand at Three Notrump. North leads the four of spades, and you win South's ten with the king. How would you play the hand?

WEST ♠ A K ♥ 8 ♦ A Q 7 5 4 ♣ Q J 8 5 2	EAST ♠ 9 6 ♥ A K Q 5 ♦ 8 6 3 ♣ 10 9 7 4
---	--
- You are declarer with the West hand at Six Hearts. North leads the ace of diamonds. How would you play the hand?

WEST ♠ Q 5 ♥ K J 10 9 4 ♦ K 3 ♣ A Q 7 4	EAST ♠ A J 8 4 ♥ A 7 6 3 2 ♦ — ♣ K J 9 2

1. The initial question is whether to tackle clubs or diamonds, but it shouldn't take long to recognize the futility of trying to establish clubs. If, say, you led a club at trick two, a spade would come back, and when you led another club, the defenders would cash enough spades to set you. You therefore turn your attention to diamonds, where you have to decide the best way to tackle the suit. Oddly enough, the correct approach is not to lead a heart to dummy first, which would force you to cash the remaining top hearts prematurely before trying a diamond finesse. Instead, you should lead a low diamond from your hand at trick two, postponing the diamond finesse until the second round of the suit. After winning the spade return at trick three, you cash the A-K-Q of hearts and then take the diamond finesse. If South started with two or three diamonds including the king — which is essentially your only chance — you are home.

2. It is impossible to go down unless you lose a spade trick (because South has the king) and a trump trick (because one opponent has all three missing trumps). The problem is to make the slam even if both of these conditions exist. Ruff the diamond ace and lead a low heart to the king. If both defenders follow, your troubles are over, as you can't lose more than a spade. Now let's assume one defender shows out on the first trump lead. If it's South, you can pick up North's queen with a finesse. If instead North shows out, you will eventually lose a trump trick, but you will still make the contract by playing the king of diamonds and ace of hearts followed by four rounds of clubs. If South ruffs a club at any point, he will be forced to make a losing return, while if he does not ruff, you next throw him on lead with a trump to accomplish the same result. Note that if you play the heart ace rather than the king at trick two, the contract fails if South has the king of spades and no hearts.

Tomorrow: A trap for the unwary.

Tolerance Moon

By HOLIDAY MATHIS

There are those who fear of diversity. The good news is that this condition, which is a sign of insecurity and immaturity, can be outgrown through positive experiences and understanding. The Sagittarius moon encourages us to trust ourselves to react well to the unknown -- a confidence that translates to tolerance of one another's differences.

ARIES (March 21-April 19). While it's unnerving to lose personal items, it's also an opportunity to put better organizational systems in place. To assign a single resting place for the keys, etc. is to save hours a year searching for things.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20). Going on a tangent means you're creative and it also (SET ITAL) makes (END ITAL) you creative. Maybe it will require patience from the more linear-minded audience trying to keep up with you, but don't let that deter you.

GEMINI (May 21-June 21). You have what it takes, out one that can be agreed upon.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22). Embrace where you're at on the optimism scale, which is determined by both genetics and experience. While obvious benefits befall optimists, there are powerful advantages that go to the trouble-seers, too.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 23). To see and deal in objective reality will save you time and money. When presented with a good-looking front, a positive spin or a distracting dance, take it for the red flag that it is.

SCORPIO (Oct. 24-Nov. 21). You know who doesn't worry, talk or fuss about being a "good person"? Good people. They know their intentions are benevolent and they don't have to talk about it. Be wary of anyone obsessed with the moral high ground.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21). While it may be scientifically unclear whether satisfied people move more, or movement produces feelings of satisfaction, the link between activity and happiness is undeniable. Move and smile.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19). You'll be surrounded by intelligent people. In fact, your presence seems to awaken the intelligence inside others and they'll show you their brightest insights and moods.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18). Deep in your heart you feel happy to help. So you don't need the gold star to tell you that people appreciate you. In fact, you might even get greater satisfaction from being invisible in the exchange.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20). There's an influx of fresh excitement this afternoon that will energize your creativity for weeks to come. Don't worry about keeping anything about this, as trying to hold on to it will be like grasping at water. Just enjoy.

TODAY'S BIRTHDAY (Sept. 14). Take on more than you think you can handle, because you'll grow into responsibilities. Besides, you've been underestimating your talent and luck. A peaceful close of 2018 allows for self-education, solo experience and soul searching. The next turn is in a direction you wouldn't have guessed. Gemini and Sagittarius adore you. Your lucky numbers are: 5, 30, 16, 33 and 1.

WEEKEND LOVE FORECAST: ARIES: Maybe you and a loved one do not fight about money, and yet when you clear the static around your finances, the relationship will get better by extension. TAURUS: Love, like food, is best used for sustenance not entertainment. GEMINI: Some people's definitions of you have confined you, and others have expanded you. CANCER: Because you believe your loved ones can do better, they will. LEO: You'll be showered with gifts, praise or invitations. Double up the pleasure when you share them. VIRGO: Even in love it's important to be mindful of your partner's time and protective of your own. LIBRA: You've a great deal of curiosity to satisfy. The adventure begins with one question. SCORPIO: Get your must-do work out of the way so you can devote yourself to love. SAGITTARIUS: Time for new rules for your relationships and yourself. CAPRICORN: A partner needs to listen to you more closely and more often. Do not impart a communication until you have a pers! on's full attention. AQUARIUS: The rules of love, social discourse and even common courtesy will be broken. And that's when the fun starts. PISCES: You'll visit your former life in some way.

COUPLE OF THE WEEKEND: As Sagittarius and Virgo share the same cosmic light this weekend (the Virgo sun bouncing from the archer's moon) there's a kinship that either develops or deepens. For this couple, it's friendship first, an alliance based in refreshing honesty. As a realist, (and perhaps the realist of the zodiac) Virgo is uniquely equipped to both challenge and accept the Sagittarian spirit, as wild as it is naturally.

Today is Friday, Sept. 14, the 257th day of 2018. There are 108 days left in the year.

Today's Highlight in History: On Sept. 14, 1901, President William McKinley died in Buffalo, New York, of gunshot wounds inflicted by an assassin; Vice President Theodore Roosevelt succeeded him.

On this date: In 1814, Francis Scott Key was inspired to write the poem "Defence of Fort McHenry" (later "The Star-Spangled Banner") after witnessing the American flag flying over the Maryland fort following a night of British naval bombardment during the War of 1812.

In 1861, the first naval engagement of the Civil War took place as the USS Colorado attacked and sank the Confederate private schooner Judah off Pensacola, Florida.

In 1927, modern dance pioneer Isadora Duncan died in Nice (nees), France, when her scarf became entangled in a wheel of the sports car she was riding in.

In 1954, the Soviet Union detonated a 40-kiloton atomic test weapon.

In 1972, the family drama series "The Waltons" premiered on CBS.

In 1975, Pope Paul VI declared Mother Elizabeth Ann Bayley Seton the first U.S.-born saint.

In 1982, Princess Grace of Monaco, formerly actress Grace Kelly, died at age 52 of injuries from a car crash the day before; Lebanon's president-elect, Bashir Gemayel (bah-SHEER' jeh-MAY'-el), was killed by a bomb.

In 1985, Shiite (SHEE'-eyet) Muslim kidnappers in Lebanon released the Rev. Benjamin Weir (weer) after holding him captive for 16 months.

In 1991, the government of South Africa, the African National Congress and the Inkatha (in-KAH'-tah) Freedom Party signed a national peace pact.

In 1994, on the 34th day of a strike by players, Acting Baseball Commissioner Bud Selig announced the 1994 season was over.

In 2001, Americans packed churches and clogged public squares on a day of remembrance for the victims of the Sept. 11 attacks. President George W. Bush prayed with his Cabinet and attended services at Washington National Cathedral, then flew to New York, where he waded into the ruins of the World Trade Center and addressed rescue workers in a flag-waving, bullhorn-wielding show of resolve. In 2012, fury over an anti-Muslim film ridiculing the Prophet Muhammad spread across the Muslim world, with deadly clashes near Western embassies in Tunisia and Sudan, an American fast-food restaurant set ablaze in Lebanon, and international peacekeepers attacked in the Sinai.

Ten years ago: Losing its devastating punch as a major hurricane, Ike nevertheless drubbed the Midwest with powerful winds and floodwaters. Carlos Zambrano pitched the first no-hitter for the Chicago Cubs in 36 years, striking out 10 in a 5-0 win over Houston in a game relocated to Milwaukee because of Hurricane Ike.

Five years ago: A diplomatic breakthrough on securing and destroying Syria's chemical weapons stockpile, negotiated by the U.S. and Russia, averted the threat of U.S. military action.

One year ago: CIA Director Mike Pompeo canceled a planned appearance at Harvard University over the school's decision to name Chelsea Manning a visiting fellow. Former CIA deputy director Mike Morell resigned from his post at Harvard's John F. Kennedy School of Government, saying he couldn't be part of an organization that "honors a convicted felon and leaker of classified information." More than 80 people were killed in an attack in southern Iraq targeting a restaurant frequented by Shiite Muslim pilgrims; the Islamic State group claimed responsibility.

Dalton throws 4 TD passes, leads Bengals over Ravens 34-23

By JOE KAY

AP Sports Writer

CINCINNATI — Andy Dalton has turned into a big pain for the Baltimore Ravens.

He threw four touchdown passes on Thursday night — three of them to A.J. Green — as the Cincinnati Bengals got ahead big and held on for a 34-23 victory that left them alone atop the AFC North.

It's an unaccustomed spot for Cincinnati, which is off to its first 2-0 start since it won the division title in 2015.

Coach Marvin Lewis received a contract extension in part because of Dalton's 49-yard touchdown pass to Tyler Boyd in the closing seconds of the final game at Baltimore last season, which gave the Bengals a victory and knocked the Ravens out of playoff contention. Dalton made the big plays again on Thursday, leaving the Ravens (1-1) too far behind to catch up.

"We came out hot," Dalton said. "That's exactly how we wanted to start the game. That's a big one — puts us 2-0 to start the year and gives us a leg up in the division."

Down by 21 points, the Ravens made a run at it behind Joe Flacco, who threw a pair of touchdown passes. Flacco fumbled with 2:42 to go — Shawn Williams stripped the ball from behind — setting up a field goal by Randy Bullock that closed it out.

Flacco finished 32 of 55 for 376 yards with two touchdowns, two interceptions, a fumble and four sacks.

"You better bounce back quick on a Thursday night and we didn't do it quick enough tonight," Flacco said.

Some takeaways from Cincinnati's win:

SEEING GREEN: Green set a career high with his touchdown catches of 4, 32 and 7 yards. He became the fourth Bengals receiver to catch three TD passes in a half, joining Marvin Jones (2013), Chad Johnson (2003) and Isaac Curtis (1973). Green was upset with himself after fumbling twice in a 34-23 win at Indianapolis on Sunday, and he caught everything thrown his way early on.

"It just happened to fall that way," Green said. "We were clicking on all cylinders. We were in a groove."

DALTON'S DAY: Heading into the game, Dalton had thrown more interceptions (17) than touchdowns (15) against the Ravens, including a four-interception performance at Paul Brown Stadium last year. He finished 24 of 42 for 265 yards with no interceptions and no sacks. It was the fourth time he's thrown four touchdown passes in a game. His career high is five against the Jets in 2013.

NOT THE BILLS: The Ravens were coming off their third-most lopsided win in club history, a 47-3 victory over Buffalo on Sunday. Flacco was sharp in two-plus quarters, throwing touchdown passes to three different receivers. But the Bengals gave him a tough time early, sacking him on each of Baltimore's first three possessions and forcing a pass that was picked off.

"It was tough sledding early on, and we weren't very precise," Flacco said.

He's now 8-7 after 15 games, and Longhorns fans are getting antsy for a big turnaround at a program that hasn't contended for the Big 12 title since 2013.

Another 1-2 start with a team he promised is better than last season could be ugly in Austin.

"I love our fans," Herman said. "Mack Brown told me when I got the job that this can be the greatest job in America because there's tens of millions of people that care very passionately about what happens with their Longhorn football team."

Some things to watch when the Trojans and Longhorns play:

TESTING THE SAFETIES: Injuries

and attrition have depleted the USC secondary, most notably at safety. Texas will try to exploit that with deep routes to Collin Johnson, Lil'Jordan Humphrey and speedy Devin Duvernay. Johnson had a career game against USC last season with 191 yards receiving. Humphrey has a 40-yard touchdown this season and Duvernay has a 39-yarder.

"I'm expecting speed, I'm expecting size, I'm expecting a bunch of guys that are athletes out there," Trojans defensive back C.J. Pollard said. "And they like to go deep, so we're going to have to match their speed."

CHASING DANIELS: A Texas pass rush that was supposed to be a strength is yet to appear. Senior ends Breckyn Hager and Charles Omenihu don't have a sack or a quarterback hurry in the first two games. If USC can quickly read Texas blitzes and the Longhorns can't pressure Daniels from the edge, the freshman could have a big night.

DANIELS' HAND: Daniels sat out a series against Stanford after bruising his throwing hand in the first quarter when he hit another player's helmet. USC coach Clay Helton said all seemed OK by midweek. "I didn't see any hesitation, didn't see any wincing," Helton said.

MISSING BIG FOOT: Texas clearly misses the booming, coffin-corner kicks of former punter Michael Dickson, who is now in the NFL. His cousin, Ryan Bujcevski, has struggled a bit as his replacement. The Longhorns defense realizes what a luxury it had last season when teams were often pinned inside their own 10. Texas also gave up a blocked punt last week against Tulsa.

FIELD GOALS: USC's Chase McGrath kicked the game-winning field goal in the second overtime to beat Texas last season. He's already made six of seven attempts this season, with a long kick of 47 yards, and accounted for the only points against Stanford. Field goals were an adventure for Texas last season and freshman Cameron Dicker hasn't attempted one yet.

The Wildcats (1-1) are hoping to show enough physicality that such a key is impossible, especially considering it's their last test before a trip to No. 17 West Virginia opens league play.

"Coach is right," Wildcats offensive lineman Dalton Risner said. "Whenever we says we're being soft, that's a Hall of Fame coach and our offensive line coach is telling us — that's not just the O-line, that's the entire offense. The whole offense isn't doing what we need to do. We take everything that coach says, and we work on it. What else can you do?"

SETTLED SIGNAL-CALLER
The Wildcats have alternated between Skylar Thompson and Alex Delton under center this season, but Snyder said he'll try to stick with a clear-cut starter on Saturday. That means Thompson will not only start the game but won't have to worry about looking over his shoulder.

"It's not that cut and dry," Snyder said. "When you're not playing well, that's true for everybody."

DEFENSIVE DUMPS
Led by first-round pick Marcus Davenport, the Roadrunners finished last season eighth nationally in scoring defense (19.0 points per game) and held eight of its 11 opponents to 300 yards or fewer in total offense. This season, they've allowed an average of 43 points and 498.5 yards to a pair of Power Five opponents with another on deck.

SULLIVAN TO PLAY
Talented linebacker Elijah Sullivan is expected to play for Kansas State. He dealt with an unspecified injury that limited him against the Bulldogs.

"Elijah made some mistakes in the game," Snyder said, "but one thing is that he is a pretty athletic young guy. He runs quite well, and he is a good lateral player from sideline to sideline. He made some plays on the boundary coming from the middle of the field that were pretty big for us."

TOUGH TUNE-UP
The Roadrunners still have another game before Conference USA play, but that's the I-35 Showdown with Texas State. This is most certainly the most challenging game left on the schedule, and a final opportunity for UTSA to get a statement win.

RESPECT
Wilson spoke glowingly this week of Snyder, who began his career in Manhattan while the Roadrunners' coach was still in high school.

"A living legend. A guy that has done it 25-plus years in a very volatile profession," he said. "A guy that has done it steadily, consistently, the right way. When you think of Bill Snyder, you think of someone of tremendous class, that is well-prepared, and you'd better play well — you'd better be prepared — because you know they will."

A&M

"He's taken a football team and totally transformed it into a football team where they can line up toe to toe and really run the football better than Clemson ran the football against that front and hold Clemson to barely over 100 yards rushing," he said.

Despite the meeting with Alabama looming, the Aggies are being careful this week to concentrate on the task at hand and not take Saturday's game lightly.

"We have to prepare every single week the same it doesn't matter who you're playing," Mond said. "So that's the mindset that we're taking. Make adjustments, correct things from the Clemson tape and get better."

NICE DIGS
Viator has been a visiting coach at Kyle Field before, bringing McNeese State to face the Aggies when he was the team's offensive coordinator in 2001. He has fond memories of that trip and is looking forward to another visit.

"I've been fortunate to go to a lot of places and play and I can't think of one I've enjoyed more than Texas A&M," he said. "Their crowd, of course I like the tradition, the pageantry, the whole deal, it's just a fantastic place to play football."

PILING UP YARDS
Before 2018 the Aggies had never had a 500-yard rushing game and a 400-yard passing game in the same decade. Now just two games into this season they've accomplished both. Texas A&M had 503 yards rushing against Northwestern State in the opener and Mond threw for a career-high 430 yards last week against Clemson. Texas A&M ranks third in the nation, averaging 629.5 yards of offense a game.

DEFENSIVE STAR
Louisiana-Monroe is led on defense by lineman Donald Louis Jr. who had three tackles for losses and two sacks — both career highs — last week. The defense had a lot of big plays and finished with five sacks, two interceptions and two fumble recoveries.

SERIES HISTORY
The Aggies have won all three meetings against Louisiana-Monroe, outscoring the Warhawks 106-47. However, the last time these teams met it was a close game with the Aggies escaping with a 21-16 victory on Nov. 1, 2014.

Greg Schiano said Bosa is "playing at a very high level" even while teams use multiple players to try to slow him down. "We are going to have to be aware of that because I think it will get more and more creative every week because he is such a special player," Schiano said.

SPECIAL SCORES
TCU has had punt returns for touchdowns in its past three games, by three different players. The Horned Frogs are the only FBS school since 1996 to do that. KaVontae Turpin had a 78-yard punt return for a TD last week against SMU. Turpin's four career punt returns for a TD are a school record, as are his five special teams touchdowns.

CONTAINING ROBINSON
Containing TCUs dual-threat quarterback Shawn Robinson will be a different challenge for Ohio State. The sophomore passed for 146 yards, a touchdown and an interception, and also rushed for 67 yards and another score in TCU's 42-12 rain-soaked win over SMU. Schiano said a running quarterback "changes all the math" because a defender has to account for him at all times.

Both teams played at AT&T Stadium last December: TCU lost to Oklahoma in the Big 12 title game, and Ohio State beat USC 24-7 in the Cotton Bowl. The Buckeyes' only other game there was that CFP tile game in January 2015. TCU is 2-2 in the home stadium of the NFL's Dallas Cowboys.

Meyer will wrap up his three-game suspension for mismanaging domestic-abuse allegations and other misconduct by former assistant Zach Smith, though the head coach has been able to take part in Ohio State practices since after the season opener.

Another person who will be nowhere nearby Saturday night is Gordon Gee, the man who gets a lot of credit for this Top 25 matchup coming together.

Gee's "Little Sisters of the Poor" remark as Ohio State's president nearly eight years ago came before the Frogs finished their undefeated 2010 season with a Rose Bowl victory, and before they were in the Big 12. When the athletic directors from TCU and Ohio State were at the same meeting in early 2011, they went from chatting to deciding to play each other in the future.

"I was privileged to serve as president of The Ohio State University for 14 years and I love the Buckeyes! I am also now privileged to be in the Big 12 and serve as chairman of the conference, and I have great admiration for TCU and its football program," said Gee, now president at West Virginia. "In deference to both teams, I will be watching the WVU women's soccer game on Saturday."

Some other things to know when Ohio State plays TCU for the first time since 1973, and first time ever away from Columbus, Ohio:

DISRUPTIVE BOSA

As expected, Ohio State's All-American defensive end Nick Bosa has been hard to stop. He already has five tackles for loss and three sacks among his nine tackles in two games. Defensive coordinator
