Kitty's Korner

By
Kitty Montgomery

It's graduation time again, and it seems only yesterday we were bidding the class of '76 farewell. It's been fast in passing this year, and members of the class have accomplished much and leave behind an outstanding record. They have excelled in athletics, both as a class and as individuals. Their academic record has been above average, boasting more honor graduates than any other class of their size. We shall expect glowing reports from them in the future.

After commencement exercises Tuesday night, they will go their separate ways. It will be a sad, if joyous occasion, as the 55 graduates gather for their last time as a group. After graduation, it's a new beginning for each individual. There will be new friends, new associations and new surroundings for each member of the class. For the first time in each of their lives, they are entirely responsible for their future. Many things have changed, but there is no success like that brought about by hard work and constant effort.

So there you are, grad. The world is yours to conquer, but it is never going to be easy. About the best advice I can give is "strive to be the best," in whatever field you go into. If you are going to be a street sweeper, resolve to be the best; if you are going to be president, go after it with every intention of being the best. Discover everything you can about your chosen field and go at it with a vengeance. If you are undecided, get a job doing something you enjoy until inspiration comes to you. Join the Army and see the world. Higher education is not for everybody. I know as many successful people without formal education as I do those with it. Time is precious and fleeting; decide what you want and go get it. For goodness sake, don't do something just because everyone else is doing it. I'd like to see individuality make a comeback and I believe you are just the group to make a stab at it.

Thunderstorms Bring Rain To Ozona

Thunderstorms and turbulent weather have been the order of the day for Ozona over the past week, especially during the late afternoon and evening. The area escaped damage from hail and high winds, and recorded over three inches of rainfall.

Tuesday night and early Wednesday morning of last week brought the most rain with a total of 2.61 recorded by 8 a.m. Wednesday in the official gauge at the Water District office. Reports of over four inches of rainfall came from Crockett Heights.

Storm clouds began to gather shortly after midnight Sunday morning and intermittent rain and hail left .54 of an inch of rain. The hail came about 5 a.m. Sunday, but was the consistency of sleet and failed to damage plants or trees.

A Pacific front moving through the area early Monday brought gusty winds and light drizzle. By noon .20 of an inch had been recorded.

Drizzle fell throughout the morning Tuesday, but was only a trace. By afternoon the sun was out and it was hot and humid.

Tips For Gardeners

From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

This May will long be remembered for the wonderful rains at just the right time to present the most colorful and lush vegetation in many years. The many native flowers remind me of the May baskets we filled to take to our teachers. Have the children kept this up, or is it I don't hear about it? Anyway, it was great fun to make the baskets of paper and fill with flowers.

For this area, the nights temperatures have been so low it has been a little more difficult to get some seeds to germinate. Due to this you may have to replant now.

If you want some fragrant flowers for planting near a door or patio, choose from these or others, peonias, four o'clock, snapdragon, scabiosa phlox, sweet alyssum or dianthus. The dianthus, a member of the carnation family, has a pleasing spicy fragrance.

To have color in your fall garden you should get chrysanthemum divided and planted right away. Select the colors and types you like. There are low growing cushions, others are taller and may have to be staked. Different varieties may range in bloom times from mid August through November. Set the cushion mums about 2 feet apart and the taller ones 1 1/2 feet apart. Planting too close invites disease. Avoid planting them near trees where they have to compete with tree roots. When plants begin to grow, pinch out the tops. This makes a more bushy plant. You may need to tip the third time. Cultivate plants shallowly. Keep moist through the summer. A mulch will be beneficial to prevent drying out.

Another plant to bring color in the late fall is the spider-lily, hycoris radiata. Mark its location to prevent digging into the bulbs during summer gardening. It is best to plant the bulbs a little earlier than this, but in our area, they should bloom if planted now. Give them a loose, rich, well-drained soil. The planting depth is important-have about 4 inches between bottom of bulb and surface of soil. If set too deep, bulbs deplete their strength trying to reach the surface; and if too shallow they may dry out or be killed by freezes. Once they are established, do not disturb them by resetting. Either sun or light shade suits them, and mulch over the surface to keep soil cooler seems to help.

Cystic Fibrosis Drive Success

Ozona responded overwhelmingly to the Cystic Fibrosis Drive last Saturday, May 14.

The Cake Auction over KRCT Radio Station was something new and exciting in Ozona. Twenty cakes donated by some of the finest cooks anywhere were auctioned to the highest bidder over the radio. Cakes sold from $10 to $60 with Mayfield Construction Co. being the highest bidder.

A Chinese Auction was held on the last three cakes. In this auction, everyone who bid donated their bid even though they did not receive a cake. Approximately $800 was made on the Cake Auction. Exact figures were not known at press time as some money from both events was still out.

There were 25 young people and one adult who participated in the Bike-A-Thon. Of the 26 who rode, all but four finished the 20 mile course on highway 163 south. Together these riders collected approximately $800 in pledges for Cystic Fibrosis.

Debra Says

by Debra Price

A clean, well-maintained air conditioner means more efficient cooling--and comfort--for the family. Regular inspection and cleaning of filters and grills in home air conditioner units keeps the house cooler--and saves fuel. Filters are traps for the almost invisible impurities in the air and regularly build up an accumulation of dirt.

Air conditioner filters in most units--and those in older buildings--require vacuuming and warm-water washing monthly. Shake off excess water, dry and replace filter.

An alternative to that is the disposable filter--available in various sizes, usually easy to change, and inexpensive. New homes--or recently remodeled homes--may need more frequent filter changes, or cleanings, during the first cooling season, because of extra dust in the system.

For cleaning room grills, use a soft cloth, mild soap and warm water--not waxes or cleaners. If the system seems sluggish after cleaning, call a service man certified by the manufacturer of the air conditioner--or an electrician. Since cleaning filters and grills is relatively simple, someone in the family should be responsible for giving them a frequent check.

TO FACE THE WORLD

They are now pushed out of the nest. Meantime, these baby birds are still looking to their mother, chirping for their food. She'll get it for them. But when the time comes to let them go, she will know it instinctively.

Human mothers are not always so wise. It is hard to see your children go out to face the world on their own. Sometimes your instinct is to keep them in the nest.

You have to let your children go. But will they go with a firm sense of values, level hearts and heads, knowledge of the meaning of faith?

Where to find all this? Try your church!

Teachers Must Adapt To Change In System

Skilled teachers must face major changes and adapt accordingly in all educational systems, if families are to benefit from changes in today's society, Dorothy Taylor, a family life education specialist, says.

"Adapting to change is essential to quality teaching in all facets of education—pre-schools, public schools, Extension education, community and adult education, as well as colleges and universities," she says.

"Of course, change affects teachers just as it does all other humans.

"To some teachers, change is a threat to their stability—they can't teach 'like they used to.' For other teachers, change arouses excitement—they start to pick up steam."

Still, the concern for quality underlies all teaching and part of quality teaching is being able to grow by keeping pace with change, she explains.

"If more children and families—and their different needs—are to be accommodated, more 'good' teachers are needed. For most educational systems, 'good' teachers have a price," Miss Taylor adds.

Some major changes now underway which she says will affect most educational systems, teachers, children and adults are these:

Individualizing education for each student.

Most teachers usually need help adjusting to "open school" programming aimed at individualized education. Sometimes the school plant or teaching facility-itself needs altering for more activity space.

Teaching in formal and informal teaching teams.

Team teaching capitalizes on the special talents of every teacher.

Converting to the metric system in all public schooling.

Environmental education. This is a new field of study for most and will require continued up-dating.

More parent participation in curricula.

Parents interested in having more rights in any educational system must assume more responsibility in it for changes to occur.

They will be doing this through advisory groups, as

A CRASH LANDING heavily damaged this plane Sunday night, but the pilot and a passenger walked away unharmed. The plane went down on the James Childress ranch 25 miles west of Ozona when the pilot was forced to make an emergency landing due to high winds and darkness. ### Western Artists To Be Shown At ASU In June

Over 80 works of western art including major works by such famous artists as Frederic Remington and Charles Russell will be exhibited at Angelo State University in June in connection with San Angelo's Fiesta del Concho.

The works, which include major oil paintings, pen and ink, watercolors and sculpture, are on loan to Angelo State from the Amon Carter Museum of Western Art in Fort Worth. The exhibit is valued at approximately $2 million.

The display opens for public viewing June 18. The art will remain on exhibit in the central spine of the Robert and Nona Carr Education-Fine Arts Building through the end of June.

Included in the exhibit are 10 oil paintings by Remington, among them such titles as "Cavalryman's Breakfast," "Indian Trapper," "Fall of the Cowboy" and "His First Lesson."

Russell oils on display will include "Crow Indians Hunting Elk," "When Horse Flesh Comes High," "Price of His Hide," "Buffalo Hunting," "In Without Knocking" and others.

Also included will be five Russell pen and ink works, five of his watercolors and some letters.

Remington sculpture brought to Angelo State will be "The Bronc Buster," "The Wicked Pony" and "The Outlaw."

Russell and Remington are among America's best known western artists. Born in St. Louis in 1864, Russell longed for a day when he could go west to become a cowboy. As a sixteenth birthday present Russell's parents allowed him to journey to Montana. Russell never returned to live in the east and kept Montana as his home for the remaining 46 years of his life.

Taking a variety of jobs in his early days in the west, Russell spent much of his free time sketching and painting the scenes around him.

Russell decided to begin painting for a living in 1893 and shortly after met and married Nancy Cooper who played a major role in his success. His work soon became well-known and he turned out paintings, magazine illustrations, sculpture, drawings and stories about the West.

He died in 1902 after a lifetime of recording a vanishing period in American history.

Frederic Remington first went west in 1881 at age 19 and also saw an age of history that was about to disappear without being recorded. He set about to keep something of it and eventually produced several thousand paintings and drawings, bronzes and writings.

Remington learned early about adventure through the stories of his father who fought with the Union Army in the Civil War. Later he attended the School of Fine Arts at Yale. He went West and found the life fascinating enough to make his home in Kansas City, painting and working at various businesses.

In the space of two years he was relatively successful. He became a respected artist and his works appeared in many major pub-

Wool May Be Phased Out Of Military Uniforms

Segments of the wool industry have been concerned lately that wool use in U.S. military uniforms may be phased out. A recent meeting at Wright-Patterson Air Force Base brought the problem into somewhat tighter focus, ending on a hopeful but not carelessly enthusiastic note.

The meeting included representatives from all branches of the military, the textile industry, and the wool producers industry. Among wool grower representatives was Helyn Kuhn, assistant executive director of the American Wool Council's Advertising and promotion department, and Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association executive secretary Bill Sims.

Reports by Sims and Ms. Kuhn indicate that the military is operating its uniform reevaluation program armed with a certain amount of inaccurate data, but that the Defense Department appears willing to consider corrective input from the wool industry.

The problem originally began partly because of government speculation that wool supplies might prove inadequate in times of emergency. As a result, various degrees of synthetic blends are being considered. The military plans to conduct live wear tests of different fabrics over a period of a year, the results to contribute to a revised uniform plan between 1980 and 1985.

The head-to-head meeting revealed that the wear tests would be extremely subjective, rather than scientific. Numerous objections to such testing, and offers of assistance by such textile representatives as Burlington Industries, resulted in the promise of a change in procedure by the military.

The entire basis for the reevaluation was questioned, with some success. The military's fear that wool production would fall short of demand by 1985 was countered by industry data showing clean wool production running more than five times current government requirements. The Blueprint for Expansion, with its goal of doubling production by 1985, was also noted.

Government data showing mill capacity at seriously low levels was questioned by the textile industry, whose representatives claimed they could process at least 10 times the current levels. Too, mills now handling synthetics could be switched to woolsens if necessary.

A cost comparison of woolsens versus synthetic fabrics was also discussed. Wool spokesmen brought out the fact that synthetics prices were rising steadily and at present competitive levels were still only allowing even the largest producers to break even. Thus, they can be expected to rise much further, especially with the tightening of petroleum supplies, their raw stock.

This dependence on petroleum, a non-renewable resource, would appear to defeat the purpose of the reevaluation, particularly since synthetics require still more energy than woolsens in processing, another point made by the wool supporters. In all, the meeting proved the wool industry representatives capable of answering satisfactorily any criticisms of their product by the military, and more important, it showed that the military was willing to listen to the suggestions of the wool industry without requiring the information in triplicate.

Belt Styles Show Variety

A variety of belt styles accent fashionably slim waists this season, Margret Ann Vanderpoorten, a clothing specialist, reports.

Style-conscious consumers can choose ready-made belts or create their own, she suggests.

"Some belts simply tie—these may be in solid color cording, leather, or in fabric to match a garment.

"Others made of ribbons and trims sewn to backing give a different and fashionable touch to a simple dress or top."

Both wide and narrow belts with buckles or other types of fasteners are popular, too, she said.

"On many wide belts, especially the waist-cincher type, we're seeing interlocking closures in interesting texture or color.

"On narrower belts, the buckle may be a disc or other decorative shape with a hidden fastener on the back. These work nicely with simple, understated belting, such as fabric that matches the garment or simple leather belting."

For belts with rich detail, however, simpler buckles are more attractive, Miss Vanderpoorten added.

"Also, some buckles have a rough-and-ready appearance—and these coordinate best with heavier suede and other leather-type beltings. Their special waist accent gives casual clothes a lot of interest."

For another exciting effect, today's belt wearer can "pair up" an unusual buckle with a complementary fabric for the belt—such as a nautical buckle over fabric of stars or anchors printed in a straight line to make the belt, she suggested.

Successful Garage Sales Depend On Organization

Successful garage sales depend on organization, advises Claudia Kerbel, consumer information specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. She suggests the following ideas for planning and staging a "neighborhood marketplace":

Advertise your garage sale with signs in the neighborhood (if customary), bulletin boards at community centers and grocery stores--and classified ads in the newspaper.

Most shoppers check newspaper ads weekly--advertising these days will bring your sale its widest readership.

Draw attention in the ad to big items you want to sell--list brand name, color, size or other characteristics.

Consider combining your sale with a neighbor or friend, or having a "block sale"--in which several people on the same block hold sales at the same time. Holding a sale with others provides company during the lulls and help during the crowds.

Check local ordinances for permit requirements for holding a garage sale. Many cities limit the frequency and length of a sale, as well as the number and placement of signs.

Be ready the day before by organizing the items for sale. Price all items ahead--this will keep prices reasonable, even under crowd pressure.

Expect someone to come the day before or several hours early just to get a headstart on the other shoppers.

Some experienced garage sellers will not sell ahead of their starting time to avoid selling something not intended for sale or selling below the price they would have set later.

Bargaining is part of the experience, so be flexible when you price items. Many sellers are willing to come down as much as 50 per cent. Ask about the custom in your area.

If you believe the price is right--don't budge on it until the last part of the sale. However, be sensitive to the shoppers' interests. Sometimes offering to lower the price $1 or $2 on a $20 to $30 item will be just enough to make the sale.

Art Exhibit Opens Here Saturday

W.B. "Dub" Franklin of Midland, will hold an art exhibit and sale at the Way Back When Steak Co. Saturday through Monday, from 11 a.m. until 11 p.m. each day. The restaurant, which has been open for the evening meal only, will serve lunch each day during the show.

Franklin specializes in Texas and Colorado landscapes and his work has been compared favorably to Robert Wood and Salinas.

Collectors of fine paintings, and people who want a landscape in their home, which reflects in a realistic way, places where they have been or wished they had been, are especially invited to view his work while he is here.

Franklin was born in West Texas in 1933. He, his wife and three children live in Midland. Trained as a draftsman, he followed that trade for years. In 1960, he started painting seriously, giving up his job as a draftsman and devoting all his time to being a professional artist.

He paints every day, endeavoring to make each painting better and allow it to tell its story. He usually shows in museums, galleries and banks.

Plant Mums Now For Fall Color

Chrysanthemums are a fine source of fall flowers all over Texas, and now is the time to start new plants for bloom this fall.

"If you have plants from last year, cuttings taken now can provide transplants in a few short weeks," points out Dr. William C. Welch, landscape horticulturist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Four-to-five-inch tip cuttings stripped of their lower leaves and placed in sand or a mix of half sand and half peat moss will root quickly."

"A rooting hormone is often helpful but not essential. Keep the cuttings moist during the rooting period and place them in a bright area but not in direct sun. By starting these new plants and destroying the old clumps, disease problems can often be avoided," says Welch.

Mums prefer a sunny site with well-drained soil and plenty water during the summer. Pinching the terminal buds promotes branching, more flowers and sturdier plants. However, buds should not be pinched after August 1 as this will delay flowering.

"Place the rooted cuttings 18 to 24 inches apart and apply small amounts of a complete fertilizer such as 13-13-13 several times during the summer before August 15. Watch for insects, especially aphids which can severely weaken or retard the plants," cautions Welch.

If you have recently received a pot of florist mums, you may be successful in transplanting them to the landscape. After the blossoms begin to fade, cut the plants back to 4 or 5 inches in height. Since there are usually three or more plants per pot, Welch advises separating them by cutting the soil ball with a sharp knife, leaving a sizable ball on each plant. If the plants have not been weakened too severely by long periods of exposure to dark areas or too much or too little water, they will usually begin growing quickly and form sizable plants in time for fall blooming, notes the horticulturist.

"Chrysanthemums are light sensitive plants and flower when the day length shortens in the fall," says Welch. "Since varieties vary as to when flowering begins, it is possible to have mums bloom from late September to heavy frost by selecting early, mid-season and late flowering types."

"Chrysanthemums can provide a lavish display of color this fall by planting fairly large masses of the same color," adds the horticulturist.

Extenders Gained In Crockett Co.

Ellenburger gas production was extended 4,505 feet southeast on the east side of the Crockett County portion of the JM multipay field with completion of Shell Oil Co. No. 19 Mitchell, 35 miles southwest of Ozona, for a calculated, absolute open flow of 9,500,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Production was from open hole at 13,387-14,450 feet, which had been acidized with 3,800 gallons and fractured with 25,000 gallons.

Location is 750 feet from the south and 553 feet from the west lines of 72-Q2-GC&SF.

Grayburg gas production was extended one location north in the onlaw (queen and Grayburg gas and Seven Rivers oil) field of Crockett County with completion of William B. Wilson, Midland, No. 1 Pecos open flow of 130,000 cubic feet of gas daily.

Production was through perforations at 1,064-172 feet, which had been acidized with 2,300 gallons and fractured with 16,700 gallons and 19,500 pounds of sand. Scheduled as a 2,000-foot wildcat, it was drilled to 1,202 feet, with 5½ inch casing set at 1,200 feet, the plugged-back depth.

Location is 1,300 feet from the north and 9,935 feet from the east lines of 69-1-I&GN.

A 3/8 mile northeast extension to Devonian production was indicated in the Ingham field of Crockett County with the flowing of gas for 24 hours at the rate of 125,000 cubic feet daily at Belco Petroleum Corp., Houston, No. 2-13 University, in 29-13-University, scheduled 8,000 foot wildcat, 25 miles west of Ozona.

Flow was through a 22-64-inch choke and perforations at 7,690-710 feet, which had been acidized with 2,000 gallons. Testing continued.

C.F. Lawrence & Associates, Inc., Midland, will drill the No. 1 Half 66-E as a ½ mile south-southwest outpost to the fivewell Fergus (Grayburg) gas field of Crockett County, eight miles south of Iraan.

Location is 1,167 feet from the south and 4,520 feet from the east lines of 66-1-I&GN. Contract depth is 1,600 feet.

The Missouri Compromise of 1820 barred slavery in the Louisiana Territory north of Arkansas but admitted Missouri as a slave state.

The state of Alaska was named for a Russian interpretation of the Aleutian name of alakshak, meaning "peninsula" or "great land."

Ranchers Need To Plan For Future

How much time do you devote to thinking about and planning for the future? Most farmers and ranchers need to give this question serious consideration because planning for the future is a key part of any business operation, says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist. "Managing change is as important in the business of farming and ranching as it is in any other business. Part of what is involved is learning to respect time, especially the manager's time," points out the Texas A&M University System specialist.

Hayenga points to a successful business consultant who said recently, "One yardstick I have found useful in assessing the real strength of a company is how much time its very best people devote to the future. Wherever I see most of the company preoccupied with today's and next month's and even this year's problems, very frequently I find an enterprise that was either in or headed for trouble. "On the other hand, the best managed corporations, I find, are those that invest substantial amounts of their most precious resource—the time of their top managers—in the future."

According to Hayenga, these companies protect their future by defining future problems and opportunities and, most important, deciding how to best shape the future instead of being shocked by it.

"A good time to do a little planning is when you are doing routine work," says the economist. "I do this when I'm driving on a highway. When I was on the farm, I thought about the future and did some planning while plowing."

What does farm planning entail? Hayenga suggests three questions to help in the planning effort.

"First, do you plan to retire in 10 or 15 years, or do you want to buy more farm or ranch land to expand your operation? This is a long range goal.

"Second, how can you best accomplish your long range goal, and what should you do this year to help you reach your goal? Your banker, attorney, family members and business associates can provide assistance."

A third question, says the economist, is "What do you do if?" This question involves operational decisions: "How will a lack of fuel or fertilizer change my operations? Can my marketing plan be improved?"

"Farmers and ranchers face as big a challenge as any businessman in managing their future. But they need to keep a proper perspective.

Cattle Price Outlook Is Improving

Some improvement in cattle prices this spring and summer appears not only possible but highly probable, says a livestock marketing specialist.

Dr. Ed Uvacek points out that the improved outlook is a result of lower beef production, some decrease in pork output, and further increases in population and disposable income.

"Price rises for fed and feeder cattle should continue to be rather healthy through the second quarter of the year and into the early part of the third quarter," believes Uvacek. "However, there will be some weakening of prices into the fall and winter."

The specialist expects fed cattle prices to top out in July but to generally remain strong throughout the summer months.

He also points out that such strong fed cattle prices this spring could lead to increased feedlot placements and an oversupply of fed cattle by the end of the year.

"Total cattle slaughter was down 4 percent during the first three months of this year, even though fed cattle marketings were up," notes the Texas A&M University System specialist. "This means considerably less cows and nonfeds are being slaughtered than a year ago."

"Feedlots intend to market about six million head during the second quarter—April through June," notes Uvacek. "Since there is some indication that some cattle may have been marketed early, second quarter fed cattle marketings may even be lower than originally anticipated. Even the original estimate, though higher, would still produce only about 1 per cent more fed beef than a year ago. With further seasonal reductions expected in the slaughter of nonfed cattle and cows, beef production during this quarter could easily run 3 to 5 per cent below the same period a year ago," points out the specialist.

"Fed cattle marketings during the third calendar quarter should total 5.8 to 5.9 million head. This, coupled with lower pork and nonfed beef production, could sharply reduce total red meat supplies by the third quarter to levels below a year ago," adds Uvacek. "That's really encouraging and should keep price strength firm."

Soil Stewardship Week 15-22

Emphasis on man's responsibility to protect and conserve soil, water and other natural resources will be highlighted during Soil Stewardship Week, May 15-22, points out Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service which is cooperating in the observance along with Soil and Water Conservation Districts.

Theme of the nationwide observance this year is "When We Care." The theme will help everyone examine his own motives and actions in the conservation of God's manifold gifts.

During Soil Stewardship Week Americans should pause for a moment to consider their responsibilities for the protection and proper care of the Lord's earth. At a time when pressures grow on the land, it is important to remember the allegiance of all men to God and their dependence on His grace for all good things. It is vital that we offer our humble thanks to our Creator for the priceless gifts of air, soil, water and sunshine which make all living things possible.

Soil Stewardship Week has been sponsored for the past 23 years by the National Association of Conservation Districts along with almost 3,000 local districts throughout the nation.

Texas' Crude Oil Production Declines 4th Straight Year

Despite 12 months of production at or near the maximum effective recovery rate in nearly all of Texas' oil fields, the state's crude oil production last year declined for the fourth consecutive year.

The 1976 output of the nation's No. 1 oil producing state was almost 1.2 billion barrels and pushed the state's cumulative production since 1889 to just over 41.5-billion barrels. But last year's output was almost 1.2 billion barrels below 1975 production and more than 111-million barrels below the all-time peak production year of 1972.

The following table shows the amount of yearly decline in recent Texas crude oil production:

In 1976 the Production (Barrels) was 1,179,221,092 and loss from previous year (barrels) was 31,958,070.

In 1975 production, 1,211,179,171 and loss from previous year was 40,605,785. In 1974 production was 1,251,784,956 barrels and loss from previous year was 32,448,893 barrels. In 1973 production was 1,284,233,849 barrels and loss from previous year was 6,281,104 barrels. In 1972 the production was 1,290,514,953 barrels. Total loss was 111,293,861 and the average was 27,823,465.

Jack S. Blanton, Houston, president of Dallas-based Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Association, says that an acceptable national energy policy must acknowledge that the expense of exploration and production today has greatly increased the cost of replacing this oil.

"Adequate prices and other incentives to encourage petroleum development must be forthcoming. Not only production, but reserves of one of Texas' most valuable natural resources have been dropping as each year we produce more oil than we find," says Blanton, an independent oil company and refinery executive.

Crockett County, which has had recorded production since 1925, last year produced 5,119,394 barrels of crude oil at the rate of 13,987 barrels per day. Production in 1976 boosted Crockett County's production total through the end of the year to 245,085,211 barrels.

In 1976, 27 counties produced more than 10-million barrels of crude oil, a decrease of three counties from 1975.

The following chart shows production figures for the state's top producing counties in 1976. The five, all with production in excess of 50-million barrels, occupied the same rank with their 1975 production:

First is Scurry County with 83,071,294 barrels. Second is Yoakum with 79,677,101; third, Ector, 65,593,044; Gaines, 61,016,272 and Hockley, 50,954,979 barrels.

In addition to the top five, eight other counties topped 30-million barrels in production last year. They included: Andrews, 49,704,235 barrels; Gregg, 48,907,825; Wood, 45,981,125; Refugio, 36,447,912; Crane, 36,351,590; Pecos, 33,643,903; Brazoria, 33,186,267; Harris, 31,730,710.

Gregg County, the first Texas county to produce more than two-billion barrels of crude oil in the history of recorded production, remains the all-time leader with a cumulative total through 1976 of 2,549,507,979 barrels. Ector County, through the end of last year, had produced 2,073,536,067 barrels.

Other counties with cumulative production in excess of one-billion barrels include the following:

Andrews, 1,803,287,641 barrels; Rusk, 1,582,473,149; Scurry, 1,372,606,328; Crane, 1,185,983,717; Harris, 1,164,398,276; Brazoria, 1,055,905,647.

State's Screwworm Count Up

Five laboratory identified samples from Hidalgo, Kinney, and McMullen counties during the first half of May brought the 1977 Texas screwworm case count to 13, says Dr. James E. Novy of Mission.

The veterinarian in charge of field operations for the U.S. Department of Agriculture Screwworm Eradication Program says this compares to 1,337 cases by May 13 last year. He credits much of the improvement to close observation of livestock and speedy case reporting by ranchers.

Pat Rose III collected the Kinney County sample May 9. It came from the head of a sheep 20 miles north-northwest of Bracketville, alongside Hwy. 674, and was identified May 12.

Dr. Thomas F. Ryan of Corpus Christi treated the McMullen County case the same day. It reached the laboratory May 11. Ryan took the maggots from the infested navel of one of his calves in the northeast part of McMullen County at the intersection of Highway 16 and FM 791.

On May 2 Emilio Garza Jr. treated an infested castration wound in a pig at his place north of Mission in Hidalgo County. On May 4 the lab identified the maggots he submitted as screwworms.

And, on May 1 and 2, screwworms were taken from sentinel sheep at the Scrapie Field Trials facility next to the Screwworm Eradication plant.

Novy urges all producers to be especially watchful for signs of screwworm infestation in their animals, treat wounds, and submit samples for identification. "Some entomologists feel that screwworms may be cycling in Texas at a low level. This means we face the danger of a population explosion at any time, as conditions improve as a result of recent rains."

OHS Lion Band News

Saturday, May 14, try-outs for the front line of the 1977-78 Lion Band were held. Drum majorette for the Ozona Lion Band will be Rhonda Yeager a senior. Assistant drum majorette is Corina Leal, junior. Twirlers will be Gigi McKinney, senior, head twirler; Debbie Wallace, sophomore; Molly Womack, freshman and Jennifer Marley, freshman. Rifle spinners will be Michelle Jones, senior, head; Sheri Moody, sophomore; Toi Babbitt, sophomore; Sylvia Elizondo, junior; Sherry Webster, freshman and Tilly Kramer, freshman. Congratulations to all of the front line of the Ozona Lion Band.

This year for the Ozona Lion Band has come to an end. The band has achieved one of the main goals they set out to reach by the end of the school year. This goal was to be a band exhibiting pride, enthusiasm and spirit. Each member can be proud to be a part of the band and have achieved several things such as satisfaction of doing a job as well as possible, developing strong and lasting personal relationships and having fun as a band. The band worked together and accomplished their goals.

The band wishes to thank the senior members for the fine leadership they have shown in band. They have set good examples for the classes below them. The band would like to give special thanks to the band director, Mr. Lane Scott, who has worked hard all year. But most of all, the band would like to thank the many Lion Band supporters who backed them all the way.

The band will return next year to fulfill its title as "The Pride of Lion Country" and to bring another year of excitement and entertainment for the public.

Bill On Way To Give Relief to S&G Producers

A bill now on its way to the floor of the Texas House of Representatives could provide needed relief for sheep and goat producers who border State parks and like facilities.

Heard favorably by the House Agriculture Committee, HSR 58, sponsored by Rep. Dan Kubiak, would direct the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department to control predatory animals on such state lands. Kubiak, in his introduction of the measure, stated that both the Parks and Wildlife Commission and State Land Commissioner Bob Armstrong had voiced an intent to cooperate in the control endeavor. Neither Armstrong or the Parks Department, he said, foresaw any problems with the measure, adding their understanding of the severity of such predator problems.

The resolution passed the Ag Committee without opposition, and with the support of the wool and mohair industry, represented by Texas Sheep and Goat Raisers' Association Executive Secretary Bill Sims. Sims told committee members that unrestricted predator population growth on many State lands results in an oversupply, the excess spilling over onto private land in search of food.

"Unfortunately," explained Sims, "in many cases the new food source turns out to be sheep and goats." He cited examples of the effects of such spillovers from both state and federal lands. Big Bend National Park and the Black Gap Wildlife Area border lands on which sheep and goats numbered in the hundreds of thousands in the 1940s. Today, Sims pointed out, the entire area produces less than 10,000 head.

Though Kubiak's resolution would have no effect on federal facilities, the predator threat is the same, and the size and locations of such areas make them excellent as examples. Sheep and goat production in Coryell County, once a major region for the industry, has dwindled to almost nothing since the establishment of Fort Hood. Public testimony has placed the blame on predators that flourish at the installation.

The Kubiak resolution would not affect state-owned land leased for grazing, concerning itself instead with parks, wildlife areas and management areas. Sims spoke for wool and mohair producers in his closing, when he said, "We in the sheep and goat industry have enough problems controlling predators without the State of Texas raising them. It is the responsibility of the State to control predators on State lands to the extent that they will not leave the confines of these lands and cause undue financial hardship to Texas sheep and goat producers."

Predator Problems Still Hanging On

While conditions continue to look brighter for the industry's feeders, predator problems and short lamb crops are still plaguing Texas' sheep and lamb producers, Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown commented today.

The 64,000 sheep and lambs on feed in Texas May 1, though some 11 per cent below the previous month, were still up again, by 12 per cent, from a year ago.

"Increases in feeding represent one industry recovery signal for which sheep and lamb people have been searching. But, on the other hand, experts see little hope this year of turning around the trend toward continually declining sheep and lamb numbers," Brown explained.

Indications are that the 1977 lamb crop, though better than earlier predicted, will still be lower than a year ago and will continue to reflect the cutback in numbers which began in 1960.

Coyotes, the subject of a recently released U.S. Department of Agriculture report, have been identified as the largest single cause of lamb and sheep deaths in 1974, costing the industry and consumers more than $37 million.

"And the predator problem continues to plague producers, particularly here in Texas where lambing and grazing often occur on open ranges," Brown said.

Other causes cited for the decline in the Texas sheep and lamb industry include increased production costs and taxes, scarce labor, higher grazing fees, and poisonous plants.

Mrs. Jerrie Mock was the first woman pilot to fly around the world. The flight lasted 29 days, 11 hours and 59 minutes, beginning and ending in Columbus, Ohio.

George Allen To Receive Tech Degree

More than 2,000 students will receive bachelor's, master's and doctor's degrees in commencement exercises at Texas Tech University this spring. Among the graduates will be George E. Allen, son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Allen, who will receive his degree in mechanical engineering.

The 1,000th doctorate and the 10,000th master's degree will be conferred this spring.

Hearing Set For Alien Employment

Ranchmen in Crockett County who have been employing aliens for temporary work will be interested in an upcoming public hearing dealing with this particular matter.

A public hearing on the employment of aliens for temporary farm jobs will be held in San Antonio, May 27-28, announces Billy Reagor, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The hearing will begin at 9:30 a.m. each day in the San Antonio Convention Center in Hemis-Fair Plaza.

The hearing will be conducted by U.S. Department of Labor officials. The Labor Department published on January 25 revised rules and regulations for certifying temporary employment of aliens in agricultural and logging operations. The proposed regulations, if allowed to become effective, could greatly curtail the use of any temporary employment of aliens for seasonal agricultural work, points out the agent.

So, the agent encourages all ranchmen who may be affected by changes regarding the employment of aliens for temporary work to attend the upcoming hearing in San Antonio and to voice their opinions.
