News on the whole this week has been rather good. The Alaskan pipeline was flowing on schedule at mid-week without incident. Idi Amin, the mad dog ruler of Uganda, was missing and rumored assassinated. Andrew Young, the administration bigot, hasn't yet stuck his foot in his mouth, and the queen's silver jubilee is over. The Alaskan pipeline, the largest undertaking ever by private enterprise, seems to be an unqualified success in spite of strict governmental regulations. This is a great accomplishment and an immense satisfaction to those of us who still believe in the American Dream, built on private enterprise. Perhaps this great accomplishment will give pause to those of our leaders who are hell bent to send this nation down the road to socialism.

As of mid-week, Amin had not been heard of. We can only hope the rumors of his demise at the hands of assassins is not greatly exaggerated. One thing history may say of the mad ruler, he did not discriminate. He killed black and white alike, the just and the unjust, and probably will rival only Attila the Hun in sheer brutality. Young, who thinks everybody is a racist but him, has managed to stay out of hot water this week, but the week is not over yet. He reminds me of the lunatic who thought everybody in the whole world was crazy but him. Young is completely intolerant of all but the black race. He believes in majority rule in Africa, and minority (black) rule in the United States. If this is not bigotry, what is?

And last but not least, the queen's silver anniversary week is over. Our network people have returned home and we have ceased to be bombarded with ancient ritual. We won our independence from England 200 years ago, and here we are forced to spend a week with the monarchy, which is and has been a useless, outdated institution for years. I much prefer America where every woman can be queen.

So much for my opinions on the national and international front.

Here at home in Big "O" the street paving has created some problems with tar on shoes and carpets, and cars (if they are driving too fast), but on the whole it was certainly a necessary project, and I believe, it has caused much less of a problem than in the past. Don't know what they are doing different. (CONT'D ON LAST PAGE)

MOST OF THE ACTION this week in downtown Ozona was centered around the paving of State Highway 163 and U.S. Hwy. 290 by the State Highway Department. Traffic lanes were paved separately, causing the minimum amount of inconvenience to motorists. By Wednesday, mopping up operations were well under way. The project was sorely needed and weather conditions were near perfect for a speedy finish.

Lamb To Drill In Co. Field

James L. Lamb, Jr., Midland, will drill the No. 2-25 University as a 830-foot north stepout to San Andres oil production and 1,650 feet south of San Andres gas production in the Howard Draw, Northeast field of Crockett County, 15 miles northwest of Ozona.

Location, exception to Rule No. 37, is 330 feet from the south and east lines of 25-30-University. Contract depth is 1,500 feet; ground elevation, 2,330 feet.

The field has one gas and three oil wells and also produces gas from the Queen.

Shower Adds To Ozona's Rainfall

Gusty winds Monday and throughout the night were responsible for a brief thunder shower early Tuesday morning which amounted to .29 of an inch of moisture for Ozona.

Tuesday was windy with cloud cover and showers again threatened. Although the forecast for the next two weeks called for very little if any moisture and hot temperatures.

Moore Oilers No. 1 In L. League Race

After a week of Boy Scout Camp, Little League play resumed this week in Ozona. First half champions, Moore Oil, headed the second half race with three wins and no losses after play Monday night.

In the first game Monday after the week off, Ozona Oil beat Ozona Shell 13 to zip. Winning pitcher was Diego Leal and losing pitcher was Rusty Harris. Leading hitter for Ozona Oil was Ray Lara and leading hitter for Ozona Shell was Ed Borrego.

In the second game Moore Oil made it three wins in a row for the second half of play by downing Crockett Automotive 13-2. Winning pitcher was Blake Simpson and losing pitcher was Oscar Vargas. Moore Oil players were really hot in the batter's box, Simpson having a home run and a double and Robert Massey contributing a home run.

Play ends July 5. The all stars will be chosen on the final night of play and will work-out for the final series of games, which will be in tournament form this year. Games for the western division will be held in Crane and for the eastern half in San Angelo. Tournament play will eliminate the various stages of all star games between teams and in various towns as in the past, and winners of the tournaments will meet in regional play.

After Monday night, Crockett Automotive was in second place with a 2-1 record. Two teams were tied for third with 1-1 records. Ozona National and Ozona Electric. Ozona Oil was 1-2 and Ozona Shell was in the cellar with 0-3. After this week's play, a better forecast of the outcome can be made. Should Moore Oil go on to win the second half of play, they will be the outright champions and there will be no play-off. In the event another team wins the second half, there will be a play-off game for the championship. The coach and manager of the championship team will be in charge of the all stars.

Tuesday night Ozona Electric went against Ozona National Bank and Moore Oil played Ozona Shell.

Rare Civil War Weapon Is Found On Banks Of Pecos

By-Jan Naron

It lay there for so many years a thick layer of gravel had petrified into a sort of sheath, protecting it from the elements.

It was still cocked when Mrs. Jackie (Vonnie) Womack found it on the Sam Wills Ranch. It lay on the bank of the Pecos River on a gravel bar, as a long, rock-covered mass. It was obviously a gun. She picked it up and began chipping away the rock; soon it was revealed...a masterpiece, a legend.

It was a Spencer carbine, invented by a Connecticut Yankee, Christopher M. Spencer, and patented March 6, 1860.

A fine gun, the Spencer carbine housed a bore hole that ran through the butt of the stock, which received a tubular magazine, accommodating seven cartridges.

Keeping the shells constantly under pressure was a coiled follower spring. As the shooter was pulled downward on the lever-action trigger guard, the breechlock dropped and exposed the rear of the bore. The spent cartridge case was ejected, and a new one fed in from the magazine as the trigger guard was returned to its normal position. The cartridge was pushed into the chamber when the breech closed. To have the piece ready to fire, it remained only to cock the side hammer. To maintain a steady and rapid fire over a long period of time, a special cartridge box, known as the Blakeslee Quickloader, was developed for the gun.

The Spencer carbine was adopted for use in the Civil War as a direct order from President Abraham Lincoln, who greatly respected the gun, and found it an invaluable weapon. It was during the Spring of 1863 that the gun was used in such a quantity in the war that its presence was strongly felt and appreciated. It is estimated that as many as 200,000 Spencer carbines saw service in the Civil War.

At the end of the war, demand for the gun dropped, and the Federal Government began trying to sell their abundant surplus. Some citizens purchased the gun. In fact, John Wilkes Booth carried a Spencer Carbine in his holster when he shot Abraham Lincoln in the balcony of Ford Theatre.

Efforts were largely unsuccessful to sell the guns, however, and even improvements on the gun brought few sales. In 1869, all assets of the Spencer Repeating Rifle Company were placed on the auction block. The Turkish government bought 30,000 carbines at the sale, but the biggest buyer was a former shirt manufacturer named Oliver Fisher Winchester, who bought the patents as well, thus ending the day of the Spencer and making the Spencer Carbine a part of history.

Such is the instrument found by Vonnie Womack about a week ago. It is a piece of history, a relic from the past.

The finder of the gun is in the process of sending off samples of the rock encrustment to be analyzed. It will be interesting to know more about the gun that washed ashore—to know the actual age of the particular Spencer carbine.

No one can know who owned the gun. Who cocked the gun and laid it down? Was it an Indian who sought rest near the cool Pecos, but who never lived to carry his gun away? Was it a Civil War soldier who had his own reasons for leaving the gun? Did someone fall into the river, gun in hand? The mystery behind the gun may never be solved. The circumstances surrounding it may never be known—but the 100-year old (at least) Spencer carbine enveloped in rock will forever serve as a link to history.

ANTIQUITY GUN IS RARE FIND—This Spencer Carbine, at least 100 years old, was found last week on the banks of the Pecos River by Mrs. Jackie (Vonnie) Womack. Mrs. Womack holds a book of identification and illustration behind the petrified discovery.

Equalization Board To See Action

It could well be fireworks before the Fourth of July when the Commissioners Court meets as a Board of Equalization Thursday at 10:00 a.m.

The firm of Prichard and Abbott, retained by the county to assess property values for taxation, has informed the county values will be up by $15,000,000 this year. Coastal States Pipeline Co. has already informed the county that they will not accept the valuation placed on its property in the county. They claim they have been over-assessed, a county official said.

Around thirty to forty oil company representatives will meet with the board and representatives of Prichard and Abbott, to discuss valuations of oil company property in Crockett County.

Of the $126 million assessed for taxes, nearly 85% is paid by the oil companies or oil related firms.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Fowler of Floydada and Ruidoso, N.M. spent the week here.

POWER ALKS

JOHN TOWER

WASHINGTON—Texans and all Americans by now probably have concluded that the more things change with the postal system, the more they remain the same.

It's small wonder. Pending congressional hearings into continued budget deficits and exhaustive studies conducted by the Commission on Postal Service, established last year to assess overall postal operation, point to the fact that a further overhaul of the financially-troubled mail system can be expected.

The extent of reform remains to be seen, but such efforts in the past usually have preceded an increase in the cost of first-class mail.

Larger postal revenues through stamp increases have not proved the answer to inefficiency, however. In fact, since 1971, the cost of first class postage has increased from eight to 13 cents while the service we've received in return has fallen off perceptibly. Mail reliability has never been worse.

What will it take to bring some sanity to the postal quagmire? First of all, it may require a realization that the U.S. Postal Service cannot long endure unless management adopts some very fundamental principles understood by every good businessman—the most important of which include emphasis on a productivity and adaptability to change.

The postal service, after all, was meant to operate more like a business when it received quasi-independent status in 1971. But strings to the federal government were kept intact in the form of taxpayer subsidies, and without the interjection of this money, the postal system would have been forced to close its doors long ago.

Why the poor showing? Sharply rising costs to mail and to advertise have driven many companies to seek other means to reach customers, and the result has been a steady drop in parcel post volumes.

But more importantly, new electronic communications systems have begun to attract a sizeable market for the 80 percent of the first-class mail which is business mail, and especially that part of the business mail which involves the transfer of money—checks, bank statements and the like. The postal system has been slow to recognize its potential.

Despite hard evidence that mail volumes decline as costs continue to rise, postal officials have pressed for further stamp increases and a commitment for further subsidization, in addition to more stringent measures to curb basic services such as a cutback in delivery days from six to five.

Postal management even went so far as to say a reduction in delivery days would result in a one-cent savings for Americans: the expected increase in first-class postage by 1978 could be held to two cents rather than three if one delivery day—most likely Saturday—were eliminated.

No plan could work a more severe hardship on small rural Texas communities which have little enough postal service as it is. And this plan disregards the very real public service Americans should be able to expect from the mail system—one not measured in dollar terms. It's a public service which must be preserved.

Comprehensive solutions to the ailing postal system are long overdue and no doubt some drastic action may be required. But half measures such as cutbacks in delivery days and other basic services are not the answer.

It's time that emphasis on efficiency and innovation replace bankrupt notions that stamp increases and slashed service are the only ways the postal system can become self-sustaining.

FANCY THAT!

Little Known Facts About Our Trees And Paper

Campers often enjoy themselves in forests belonging to large paper companies. Company ownership of the lands means that roads will be built, and where roads are, people can follow.

In order to continue to grow, paper companies such as International Paper must have money invested in them. In order to attract that money they have to run their plants efficiently—the new ones at more than 90 percent of capacity.

Your newspaper may be even better in the future. A new type of newsprint has been developed that will be much stronger than the present variety, with improved printability.

STATE CAPITAL Highlights AND Sidelights
by Lyndell Williams
TEXAS PRESS ASSOCIATION

AUSTIN — Gov. Dolph Briscoe cleared his desk of legislation passed during the regular session and announced he will call lawmakers back to work July 11.

Briscoe settled on the early July date for a special session on the complex issue of public school finance which evaded all earlier efforts at solution. "I think it should be possible to accomplish the work of the session in a week to 10 days," Briscoe said. "There is enough agreement that we should be able to work out a good school finance bill in a relatively short period of time . . . I am giving everybody an opportunity to plan around the (July 11) date."

House Speaker Bill Clayton and Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby have indicated they favor the legislature's early passage of something similar to the conference committee report which died on final night of the regular session. The bill provided about $900 million in additional school aid.

Briscoe saved some of the most important bills until last. Among the last measures approved were consolidation of three major state water agencies, the "sunset bill" providing for phase-out of outmoded state agencies and the new medical malpractice act.

Crime Unpredictable
Total "index" crime doubled during the last four years, and may do so again 1977-1980. City areas with 78 per cent of the population reported 78 per cent of the crime, but the violent crime rate is higher in rural areas. The C.J.D. study also revealed these findings—

—Last year, a quarter billion dollars worth of property was reported stolen in the state.

—The typical murder victim was 20-35 years old and a white male. The typical person arrested in murder cases was the same age and also white male.

—Average take in robberies was $440. About 41 per cent of Texas robberies are solved.

—Nearly 20 percent of the 187,182 burglaries were committed without need for force, and more than half were committed in daylight—the vast bulk in private residences.

Allowable Set
Texas Railroad Commission set the July oil production allowable—again at 100 per cent.

Commissioner Jim Langdon noted the U.S. is importing 38 per cent of the crude oil it needs, but said the nation could become self-sufficient if "willing to pay the price."

Langdon also proposed storage of synthetic oils, and said he will spell out his plan in writing. Total nominations of Texas crude oil purchasers for July were 3,915,851 barrels a day, a decrease of 26,543 barrels from this month.

AG Opinions
Bulk of a Mexia State School investigative report is not available to legislators or the public since it deals with personal medical records, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded: —A telephone company is authorized to lay buried telephone lines within the right-of-way of a county road without the approval of the commissioners court. However, the company must place its lines in such manner as not to inconvenience the public in use of public roads.

PRESENTED BY THE STATE BAR OF TEXAS

Q: I know a couple that has never paid income tax, and they seem to get away with it. The wife has always wanted to pay the taxes, but her husband wouldn't do it. Is she as guilty as he is? If he died, would she be responsible? And one more thing, is it my duty as a citizen to turn them in?

A: When a joint return is filed, each spouse is liable for the full amount of the tax, interest and penalties due. However, fraud penalties don't apply to a spouse who had no intention of defrauding the government. So, the wife might not be held responsible. Although you have no legal duty to report them, you can. Any one supplying helpful information to the IRS about tax evaders may receive a reward of up to 10% of the taxes collected.

Q: I moved out of an apartment a month or so ago, leaving a forwarding address. Last week a friend of mine watched the manager opening a beauty club package that was addressed to me. Is there anything I can do to stop this invasion of privacy?

A: Federal law prohibits opening or destroying the mail of another person. However, the Attorney General is the only one who can file suit. All you can do is report a suspected violation to the Postal Department. One other thing, you could institute private suit for invasion of privacy, and if you are successful, you could get damages for your "mental suffering". In most cases, though, one must base such an action on a very important, fundamental right, and it is uncertain whether the opening of a beauty club package would be a violation of such a right.

Q: My divorce became final in April of 1973. I found out the other day that my husband remarried in October of 1972! Six months before the divorce was final! I have a copy of his marriage license. Is he legally married to this other woman?

A: His marriage became valid when the prior marriage to you was dissolved. It's valid if since that time you and his present wife have lived together as husband and wife and held themselves out to others as being married.

Q: What happens to my children if my wife and I do not have a will and we die at the same time?

A: The court will appoint a guardian to take care of each child that is under 18 years of age and to administer all of their property. The Texas law sets out a list of specific relatives from which the court will appoint a guardian, depending upon which relatives are alive and able to serve. If there are no relatives, the court will use its discretion in choosing a guardian.

GOD BLESS THE MINISTERS
By Estelle D. Broadrick

(Copyrighted 1977 by Messenger Publishing House. Used by permission. Contributed by Wayne Cannon)

They try to lead - and sometimes they feel there are few followers. They must retrace their way, and seek to reach the stragglers, and find the ones who have lost their way. They must first and foremost, try to please the Lord, and this may mean displeasing many of the "flock".

They are called upon to help heal grief, broken marriages, rebellious children. They are asked sometimes to solve problems that would stagger the mind and powers of a genius.

They must pour out their strength and energy, often to unresponsive people. They often spend nights of real anguish, losing hours of sleep, bearing the burdens of others, who apparently having unloaded their burdens on the pastors, have no trouble sleeping.

They exhaust every effort to be good shepherds, to tend the sheep, to feed His sheep - while many of the flock seem intent on proving they are goats!

They often preach their best sermons and pray their best prayers when few or none are listening - except God! Perhaps this is why they are inspired; this is how they are divinely led.

They take their strength from the Lord. They have found The Way, The Truth, and The Light. They seek in all ways possible to help others, stumbling along in darkness and ignorance, to find the right pathways.

They must be teachers, preachers, healers, advisors, listeners, to people who hearing, fail to heed; seeing, refuse to believe; and knowing, refuse to do.

The minister must contend with people who need prayers, but prefer pills; who need aspiration but settle for liquor or drugs; who need inspiration, but cling to their illnesses as an excuse for not thinking or not doing. And, with those who need purity, but are content with piety, and wrapped in the "rags of self-righteousness," still shiver with the cold, and wonder why...

PROTECTING YOUR HEART
A Guide To Sensible Eating

Coronary heart disease is considered to be the most serious health problem in the United States today, causing nearly 600,000 deaths each year. The major cause of heart attacks and strokes is atherosclerosis, the accumulation of fatty materials—rich in cholesterol—in the walls of the arteries. There is much controversy over the causes of atherosclerosis (and thus heart disease), but most doctors agree that there are a number of risk factors implicated.

What are the risk factors associated with coronary heart disease? The many risk factors associated with this disease include hypertension, cigarette smoking, diabetes, diet, obesity, stress, sedentary living and heredity.

What type of diet is recommended? Many physicians recommend the reduction of saturated fats and cholesterol. How can I apply these recommendations to my daily diet?

Eat sensibly! A balanced diet is the key to good eating habits. To lower saturated fat and cholesterol levels in your diet, make intelligent choices. Choose skim milk rather than whole milk and use only skim milk cheeses. Substitute fish and chicken for red meat in most meals. Lean meats can be used if all fat is removed. Use shellfish in moderation.

Tips For Gardeners
From the Ozona Garden Club by Mrs. Bailey Post

With the summer winds, hot days and very little rain, we are reminded daily there are numerous chores to be done regularly in the garden.

Floribunda roses will beat the heat, for they are well adapted to hot weather. They continue to bloom profusely after the hybrid tea roses begin a dormant period in mid-summer. Also, they make long lasting cut flowers. To conserve growth energy, always snip off flower clusters as soon as they fade. Cut back far enough to keep the height you want. If there is no rainfall, water every week or ten days. Mulches help conserve moisture.

If weeds have grown so large that pulling them is sure to disturb the roots of plants in your garden, do your weeding in the late afternoon or on a cloudy day. This will give the plants time to repair root damage.

You should hurry with those late plantings of gladiolus, cannas, caladiums, tuberose and dahlias. Long established as the most common of hardy flowers in the southern garden the long lived perennial iris is a traditional favorite.

In our area dig and divide iris from June to October. Iris tend to become crowded in growth and should be dug, divided and reset every three to five years. They may be moved at any convenient time, but many gardeners prefer to transplant about six weeks after flowering. If you intend to order new rhizomes, now is the time to make your selection while garden centers have sales.

Bearded iris, the most commonly grown in the south, need a neutral or slightly acid soil, and good drainage is very essential. Full sun is a must, so its best not to plant other flowers or plants near enough to shade iris.

Too much fertilizer is worse than none at all, yet iris need a moderate feeding. Potash and phosphorus are essential, but too much nitrogen is harmful. It produces soft growth which is susceptible to rhizome rot. Always hand cultivate bearded iris, as shallow growing rhizomes are easily injured with a sharp hoe.

To plant, open a wide shallow hole in prepared ground, and make a low ridge across the middle. Lay the rhizome along this ridge so the smaller roots extend down on both sides, and the growing end heads the way you want growth to go. Fill soil over the roots but do not cover the rhizome itself more than a half inch. Water once moderately, then not again soon. Clip the leaves to about 6 inches in fan shape.

The Ozona Garden Club wishes to thank the State Highway Department for mowing the triangle area at the Hwy. 290 and Ave. J. intersection and along Interstate 10 through Ozona. We are looking forward to this thoroughfare being sown in native grass and flowers to enhance the beauty of our city.

Debra Says

Remove mildew from clothing immediately and better yet, prevent it-as it can stain clothing permanently without proper attention.

Remember, mildew grows in damp, warm, dark, and poorly ventilated places. It often leaves a musty odor and can eat holes in fabric if left too long.

Fabrics most susceptible to mildew are the natural fibers-cotton, wool, linen and silk-and cellulosic man-made, including rayon, acetate, and triacetate.

To prevent mildew stains remember the following: Make sure laundered clothing is completely dry before storing in closets or drawers.

Never store soiled clothing. Be sure to dry clothing that is wet or soiled before putting in a hamper.

If possible, store clothing in a well ventilated closet or leave the door open periodically to prevent moisture build-up in closed areas.

Dampen clothing for ironing only as you are ready to iron-for example, using a spray pump bottle. Do not predampen a lot of clothes thinking you will iron them all at once.

When storing clothing use a mildew inhibitor, such as paradichlorobenzene or paraformaldehyde, in the drawer or closet. These may be obtained at your local food markets or drug stores. Read the instructions before using to prevent clothing damage or health hazards.

To remove mildew stains, follow these steps:

Remove the stain as soon as it is discovered. Moisten stain as soon as it is discovered.

Moisten stain with a mixture of lemon juice and salt, if the garment is laundable. If not, moisten with detergent and water. Rinse and allow it to dry in the sun.

If stain still remains, use a mixture of two tablespoons peroxygen bleach and one pint hot water if fabric can take it-if not, use lukewarm water--for thirty minutes.

As a last resort, use a solution of two tablespoons chlorine bleach in one quart water for fifteen minutes. Never use chlorine bleach on silk, wool, or spandex.

Keep On Going

They were marching down Main Street, and right at the height of the parade the tuba player blew a sour note. A really sour note.

People snickered. Some burst out laughing. But, regardless, they had to hand it to the tuba player... he kept right on blowing, right on going.

Makes you stop and think. Sure, it's natural to laugh at someone else's sour note. But how about our own mistakes? No one can get through life without them — that's sure.

The question is, do you stop or do you keep on trying, keep on going? If you've been in church lately, you'll know the answer to that one.

SPRAY NOW! This year, conditions look good for mesquite control with herbicides. It may be wise to spray mesquite early this month, because of possible insect and or hail damage to the mesquite leaves. The most important part of mesquite control is what is done after the brush is sprayed. Rancher can expect an increase of production of desirable forage if all livestock are removed from the pasture, after spraying, for approximately 90 days or longer. ASCS Release.

Study Shows Public Unaware Of Legal Rights

To exercise legal rights, families need a working knowledge of the law—something most people may not have, says Debby Johnson, a family life education specialist. Citing an Oregon study on the public's knowledge of family law recently, she said respondents generally answered only half of the questions correctly. "This study shows a definite need for more general legal information affecting families and individuals. "Public oriented information which outlines one's legal rights would enable many people to seek an attorney when the need arises. "Of course, such material should not attempt to usurp the role of an attorney—rather, it should help families avoid problems that need a competent attorney's expertise," she said. Regarding the Oregon study, she said it indicated that two-thirds or more of the respondents were aware of current laws relating to venereal disease treatment for minors, age of legal adulthood, rights of welfare families to decide about birth control, and rights of illegitimate children. "On the other hand, about two-thirds of the respondents were misinformed or incorrect in several vital areas—rights relating to minors' rights to birth control information, minors' rights to medical treatment, and questions concerning voluntary sterilization. No relationship was found between age, education, religion—and the level of knowledge of family law. However, women generally scored higher than men did, the specialist added. "It should be pointed out that there are no nationally established precedents or norms as to the public's knowledge of the law—therefore, we cannot say that these findings prove knowledge or ignorance of the law. "We can say they are consistent with previous research findings that most people can answer only about half of the questions correctly," she said. The study further reported that when asked the sources of their information about the law, respondents said they rely on the newspaper for most of their information. This was followed by television and radio second, and friends and family third.

Homemakers Urged To Save Time; Energy

A recent survey of house-keeping tasks may inspire new ideas for cutting down their demand on most homemakers' total time and energy usage, says Lynn White, a family resource management specialist. Homemakers spend about one-third of their time on laundry—and another 20 per cent on vacuuming, sweeping, scouring and washing—according to the survey by the Market Research Corporation of America. Based on the report's findings, Mrs. White says that to save the most time and energy, reduce the tasks that take the most—by using the most efficient products and operating procedures. "For example, dishwashing and laundry are two housekeeping practices that require a good job the first time around. "Teaming efficient cleaning products with the cool-dry dishwasher cycle and the cool-rinse laundry cycle does the job—and saves energy." Although dishwashing is a daily activity, the survey reported that most homemakers perform that task 11 times a week—those with automatic dishwashers use them 42 per cent of the time and wash dishes by hand 58 per cent. Laundry loads washed weekly ranged from four to nine loads—with 83 per cent machine washed and four per cent of those done in a laundromat. A wide range of laundry products do all that washing, according to the survey. Bleach is used by 53 per cent of the homemakers, rinse-fabric softeners by 43 per cent, dryer products by 21 per cent, pretreatment products by 41 per cent, and 46 per cent use a soil-spot remover.

married, how's he going to find new Luchenbachs? Will the people who are going to follow Hondo Crouch in Texas Morning fame have just as good a chance now as they would have before? I hope his new wife will treat him right. I hope she will let him wander off to strange little places no one knows about to find his news. Maybe she will. Surely she will. She might even go with him. But I doubt it. I just doubt it—he wrote it right there in black and white—she doesn't believe there's such a place as some place he's found somewhere. That doesn't sound to me like she's as much as frontiersman as he is. All this makes me weary. It's just too much for me to take at one time. All this time, I've been going along my way, merrily enjoying life and reading Rick Smith, I've been his biggest fan. I've never missed an article. I even considered submitting a guest feature to his column while he was "on vacation". Once I went into the Standard office just to catch a glimpse of him writing his article. Traitor! I never would have thought a guy of such character and talent would stoop so low as to tell us he was going on vacation, then sneak off and get married without first warning us—I mean far in advance. You just never know.

Jottings From Jan

By-Jan Naron

They're fine instruments. When they're turned off. Okay, I'll admit it—C.B.'s are great for flagging down help when your car stalls 16 miles from anywhere, on an almost deserted highway, like 290. And they're fine when you want to tell Ethyl to bring an extra loaf of bread from the grocery store after her hair appointment, so you won't have to take your hair out of rollers just to trace down a loaf. They are even remotely alright when driving down the road alone looking for "Smokies". But when I'm on my way to San Angelo and Jerry Jeff Walker is trying to sing on the radio, please turn that contraption off!!!

Now, when they first came out, I was just as big a ratchet jaw as the next person. I even had a handle. Don't ask me what it was, because the thought embarrasses me now. At this point, my CB is just so much more of a space robber. Wouldn't I love to trade the thing in on an 8-track tape player with two speakers to put in the back of my car. Ooh, the thought gives me shivers. To be able to listen to something that makes sense and half soothes my nerves for a change, they're shot after driving to San Angelo and back. I'd better stop thinking about it or I'll start crying.

But imagine not even having a CB. Imagine not having that cute little antenna sticking up off the back of my car. Imagine not feeling like a high-speed beetle running down the highway. Imagine seeing an old friend when driving home from Ft. Stockton, and not being able to talk to them. Not being able to talk about "old Mrs. Grier", the history teacher you had back "in the stone ages". Imagine meeting a Highway Patrol car head-on when you're going 98 mph. I'm scared. I better keep my CB. Maybe I can put a tape player in the glove compartment. If I can't fit it in there, I better forget it. I mean, which is worse, having a massive coronary as a result of no soothing music to listen to on the way to Angelo, or having a massive coronary as a result of getting a $35.00 ticket for excessive speeding? Take your pick.

SSSS This is awful. It's about the worst thing that could have happened. He's getting married. Rick Smith is getting married. No, I don't have a crush on the author of Texas Morning. So stop dialing the telephone. There's nothing to gossip about. It's just that I've spent so many valuable minutes reading his column in the Standard. I'm happy for him—really am. But when he gets

Fire Dept. Elects Officers

Annual election of officers was held last week for the Ozona Volunteer Fire Department, with most officers re-elected to previous posts. Re-elected were Dorris Haire, fire chief; Dick Kirby and Jim Marks, assistant chiefs; Doyle Lovell, president; Bob Falkner, secretary; Steve Kenley, fire marshal.

retired after over 30 years service with the department and asked that he be removed from active service. Cooper is a charter member of the fire department and over the years has held most all the offices, including chief.

Dee Keilers was elected to replace Cooper as training chief. New chaplin for the department is Rev. Larry Bailey, new pastor of Ozona United Methodist Church.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Garza and children of San Marcos, are here vacationing and visiting relatives.

Jody Naron To Range Camp

Jody Naron, local F.F.A. member, was chosen to attend Range Camp at Junction, June 26-July 1. Selection was based on outstanding projects and interest in range management. Jody is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John Naron of Ozona.

Jody's local sponsor is Crockett County Soil and Water Conservation District, a strong supporter of range education and leadership development of local youth.

The weeklong Range Camp, sponsored by Texas Section, Society for Range Management, is arranged to honor outstanding range and ranch youth and provide them an opportunity for complementary training in range management and leadership skills. According to Dan Rodgers, Range Camp Chairman of College Station, participants will learn to identify range plants, evaluate rangeland potential and current condition, manage wildlife habitat and practice ranch planning. Leadership training will feature workshops in interpersonal relations, communications skills and group leading practice. Field trips away from camp will include tours of Kerr Wildlife Management Area and a Kimble County ranch.

Range Camp instructors include Extension Service range specialists, teachers from Texas A&M and Texas Tech, range Conservationists of Soil Conservation Service, a VoAg instructor and County Extension Agent and other members of Texas Section, Society for Range Management.

This will be the twenty-third consecutive year for the Youth Range Camp, all held at the Texas Tech Center at Junction. More than 700 youth have benefited.

Houseguest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kyle this week is her sister, Mrs. Kathryn Cagle of Marlin.

PROPER INSULATION...

Keeps in the Cool Air You've Paid For

- ★ Proper insulation helps to keep OUT heat in the summer, helps to reduce outside noises, absorbs inside sounds, and can save over 40% on energy costs on both cooling and heating.
- ★ Insulation comes in rolls, loose-fill or batts. Insulation is labeled with a R value showing its ability to resist heat. The better its insulating value, the higher the number. R values up to R 30 in the ceiling and R 20 in walls are now being recommended for new construction in this area.
- ★ Insulation can pay for itself with the savings from operating costs in about 1½ years. Your home will be cleaner because insulation will help to keep dust and dirt pollution from sifting in.

Kitty's Korner

We who drive to work are getting a little upset about the parking around the square. We all try to park there in order to give our customers access to our various businesses, unless, of course, we are lucky enough to have our own parking spaces behind our various establishments. We are not, few are. We are used to the peddlers who arrive in the summer as regular as the sun comes up in the mornings, but we have a new problem this summer. Workers arrive to find campers, trucks, buses, etc. parked at odd angles, taking up all the parking room. We think they are people who drive to the park early in the morning and ride to their jobs with someone else. Whatever the cause, we'd appreciate it if they would park elsewhere or at least angle in to the proper space and not take up two spaces with one vehicle.

2 Injured In Friday Auto Wreck

Two women were injured Friday in a one-vehicle roll-over on I-10, 12 miles east of Ozona.

Mrs. Gertrude L. Barr of Mequon, Wis. was west bound in a 1977 Pontiac when gusty winds caused over-control of the vehicle. It slid sideways into the north bar ditch and overturned coming to rest on its top. Mrs. Barr was treated and released at Crockett County Hospital. A passenger in the car, Jean Margaret Barr, a college professor at UT in Austin, was transferred to a San Angelo doctor's office to have a broken arm set. She was in good condition.

The accident was investigated by Trooper Dale Burger, DPS.

LETTERS

Dear Editor:
Thanks for your wonderful help in informing cattlemen about the Beef Referendum and in getting them out to register.

Scattered returns indicate that about 18% of all Texas cattlemen and about 11% of all U.S. cattlemen registered. Final figures will be available by mid-week.

We're excited! And friends like you made it possible. We appreciate your great support of the cattle industry.
